Crowning of king, queen kicks off 1998 Homecoming

Dreams came true Sunday night in Lantz Gymnasium for two Eastern students who were crowned 1998 Homecoming king and queen.

Neal Perry, a junior political science major from Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Kelly Wieczorek, a senior elementary education major from Sigma Kappa, were crowned king and queen while the song "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" rang through the gymnasium.

"I'm very proud to represent Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Kappa," Perry said. "I would have never gotten here without their support."

Wieczorek said she is looking forward to the Homecoming week and cheering on the football team.

"I was extremely shocked and so happy that my friends were there and my mom," she said.

The theme for the week is "EIU ... A Story Yet To Be Told" and the theme for coronation "Some-where Over the Rainbow ... Where Dreams Come True." Homecoming Coordinator Melissa Girten welcomed the audience and said the theme represents the potential of Eastern students. Girten and Tracy Bentson, Homecoming Coordinator elect recognized the Homecoming committee for their hard work which began in March. The committee was composed of 29 students.

"The theme reflects that although our successes are many, the best is 4 senate members removed

Student Senate cites lack of participation, low GPAs as reasons for expulsion

By Joe Sanner
Student government editor

Four Student Senate members have been removed from their seats in the senate; one because of a lack of participation and three because of low grade point averages.

The seats cannot be filled because the senate members' expulsions occurred after the fifth week of the semester, bringing about great concern from remaining senators and protest from one removed senate member.

"I do kind of feel like it's hampering our efforts," said Senate Speaker Keith Cosentino. "It's just going to take a little more effort from each of the current senators to fill some of the voids."

Internal Affairs Chair Melissa Girten said she also feels the open seats will be bad for the senate. She said one removed senator feels he was wrongly removed.

"He has some serious issues with my policy," she said. "If they aren't signed up (for office hours), I don't know if they have completed an office hour."

Senate members are required to complete one office hour per week and are removed after missing three.

Curt Richardson, the at-large senator and senior political science major, who was removed because he allegedly did not complete an adequate number of office hours, said he does not agree with the process used to remove him.

"I was removed because of the claim that I had three absences from office hours," he said. "My problem is that I claimed I wasn't (absent); they claimed I was."

"What upset me was that I had been in there and done my office hours and had people verify me being in there."

Richardson said senators are required to sign a sheet to prove they were present during their assigned hours.

"My problem was that Monday I looked for the sheet and it was not posted at all," Richardson said. "I told (Girten) the sheet was

From psychology to policing, Vogt's done it all

1990 graduate turned Eastern police officer says 'every day is different'

By Joe Sanner
Staff editor

When Eric Vogt graduated from Eastern, he had no intention of becoming a police officer.

Vogt graduated in 1990 with a degree in psychology, which he said gives him an advantage that other officers may not possess.

"I use my skills in psychology every day on this job," he said. "It's just like what I used to do."

Monday profile

Vogt was an counselor of adolescents and therapist for six years until he decided to become a police officer.

"I worked in a locked residential center with very, very violent kids - drug addicts and things like that," he said. "Sometimes we had to restrain them."

"I was able to stop them, but I wasn't allowed to defend myself," Vogt said. "I wanted to do the same things, but I wanted to be able to protect myself."

Vogt has been an Eastern police officer for more than two years and he said it is important for all officers to understand the students on campus and sometimes "cut them some slack."

"We're not out here to hammer them," he said. "We're out here to make them think; I give a lot of warnings."

"I'm what you call a community police officer," he said. "That's what we all are."

Vogt said being a community police officer can mean anything from helping someone fix a flat tire to just giving out warnings.

"If you treat them with respect, they treat you with respect," he said.

yet to come," Girten said.

Lantz Gymnasium was decorated with rainbows made of balloons and music from the Wizard of Oz played throughout coronation.

The introduction of king, queen and freshman attendant candidates were given by Starrin Kinser and Julie Marcol.

"Tonight marks a time honored tradition of electing our homecoming court," Marcol said.

The 22 queen candidates and 19 king candidates represented student organizations, residence halls and Greek organizations. The winners were based 25 percent on student votes and 75 percent on interviews.

"All of the candidates represent the finest at EIU," Kinser said.

The second runners up were Ryan J. Struebing, a junior communications disorders major representing Delta Sigma Phi and Sara Groom, a senior finance major representing Delta Zeta.

The first runners up were Steve Zielinski, a senior speech communications major and Lambda Chi Alpha member, and Jen Polkow, a senior speech communications major representing Alpha Sigma Tau.

The freshman attendants were Paul Lytle, a political science and fine arts major representing Pi Kappa Alpha and Jill Turnage, undecided major representing Sigma Kappa.

The winners of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union window painting contest were for Recognized Student Organizations Epsilon Sigma Alpha and Black Student Union and Black Greek Council.

The winner for residence halls was Carman Hall. The winners for Greek organizations were Alpha Sigma Alpha and Sigma Nu.

The leaders for the Homecoming spirit points for Recognized Student Organizations is Epsilon Sigma Alpha, for residence halls Andrews and Thomas Halls and for Greek organizations Alpha Sigma Alpha and Sigma Nu.

"I think (coronation) went really well. I'm thrilled with the attendance," Girten said. "It couldn't have started off Homecoming better."

Officer

Vogt said even though they like to treat students with respect, officers must still be very careful on the job.

"A traffic stop can be very dangerous," he said. "You never know what you're going to come up against."

"A lot of officers have gotten hurt on traffic stops," he said. "There's nothing routine about a traffic stop."

While on his patrol late Thursday night, Vogt was extremely cautious about pulling people over.

When he pulled one car over for running a stop sign, he made sure he stayed toward the back of the car - out of the driver's sight - when approaching the car.

"I have to keep way back so they have to turn around to see me when I approach," Vogt said. "You have to do paper work and keep an eye on them at all times. These are things they teach us at the police academy."

Vogt said that Eastern police officers have received calls for almost everything.

Eastern police officer Eric Vogt is one of many campus police officers who patrol the campus to ensure safety.

"We've been called for rodents and stuff in the dorms," he said. "You name it, we've been called to it."

"We had a call once about a guy in a dress flashing people," he said. "You get all sorts of weird calls."

While on patrol Thursday night, Vogt stopped at a couple of discrete spots to look for people running stop signs.

Vogt said he didn't mind telling people where the officer's hiding spots are. He said if people know where the traps are, they might actually stop at those intersections.

"That's our goal," he said. "It's not to catch people, it's to get them to stop."

He sat for a few minutes at a rights were denied and that's what angers me."

Richardson said he has consulted an attorney from the legal counsel department and is considering taking the matter to the Student Supreme Court.

"There is a way for me to file an appeal with the Student Supreme Court, but (the court) has not considered these cases in eight or nine years," he said.

"By the time they address these issues, it will be too late."

Cosentino said it was unfortunate that Richardson had to be removed, but that it was for the best.

"There's a system set up for the semester," Cosentino said. "He didn't follow it. You only have to do one hour a week. It's a hard thing to miss."

Cosentino said he doesn't believe fulfilling office hours has been a problem.

"This is just kind of a unique situation," he said.

"It's unfortunate when they do (miss hours), but we want to make sure senators are serving students responsibly."

Cosentino said that senate members Bill Gruen and Melissa Girten may be drawing up a proposal to move the deadline for filling removed seats back to the seventh or eighth week of the semester.

Cosentino would not release any information on the other three removed senate members, but he said they were removed because of low grade point averages.

Senate members must maintain at least a 2.25 GPA.

"This is a student-oriented senate," Cosentino said. "We should have the students' best interests in mind all the time."

"From now on, it's going to be strictly enforced," he said. "I think we have to have respectable GPAs to be a respectable Student Senate."

not posted so I couldn't sign it.

"She admitted to not posting it," he said. "If you expect people to sign the sheet and be responsible for their office hours, you should have it up that morning."

The student senate bylaws outline the procedure for removing senators.

The bylaw requires that senate members be voted out, unless they are being removed for low GPAs or missing office hours.

Richardson said since it was not proven he had missed his office hours, there should have been a vote to remove him.

"To me, there's no way of retribution for what happened to me," he said.

"I feel this is done with just not obeying the principles of fairness and justice. My due process parking lot at the corner of Ninth Street and Hayes Avenue and was surprisingly lenient about stopping at the intersection.

There were many instances when he could have easily pulled a car over, but he decided instead to cut them some slack.

"It all depends on the roll," he said. "A certain roll will get you a written warning, a certain roll will get you a verbal warning, a certain roll will get you a campus citation and a certain roll will get you a state citation."

"A lot of times we will cut students a break and write them a campus instead of a state citation," he said. "That way I won't have to take their license, their insurance won't go up and their parents won't find out about it. We can only do that if they're a student."

Vogt attended Eastern from 1986 to 1990 to get his psychology degree and after working in that field for six years, he said he does not at all regret his decision to become a police officer.

"This is the only job I've ever had where I actually enjoy going to work," he said. "Every day is differ-

Germany on the Square

Kyle Tryon, a Charleston resident, enjoys the warm temperatures on Saturday after sampling the authentic German foods served at Oktoberfest, held at Marianne's Euro Deli.

Local deli hosts Oktoberfest with authentic German food

By Nicole Meinheit
City editor

Charleston hosted a little piece of Germany this weekend at Marianne's Euro Deli. Seating spilled over onto the sidewalk in front of Marianne's as Marianne Farrar, owner of the deli, served traditional German meals. "I'll bring the food; the fun comes by itself," Farrar said. Polka music was played all day and offered customers the opportunity to partake in traditional Polka dancing. Scott Johnston and James Sails, organizers of the biweekly Farmers Market on Monroe Avenue, were sending their customers across the street to the Oktoberfest. Gwen Little, physical education instructor, and her daughter-in-law Angela Little, of Decatur were told about the Oktoberfest from Johnston. "There are a lot of little German towns," Angela Little said. "I just went to one in Oregon, but this is much better." Sails said he had the opportunity to attend Oktoberfest in Munich, Germany, while he was serving the U.S. Army stationed in Germany. "It's fantastical, because you go there and there are just acres and acres of Oktoberfest stuff," Sails said. The first Oktoberfest was celebrated about 800 years ago to celebrate King Ludwig of Bayern's marriage, Farrar said. Sails said the food was similar to the food he ate at Oktoberfest in Munich. "It is really authentic. You can't get more authentic than someone who is from Germany," Sails said. Marianne came to the United States in the 1970's and has worked in the food service industry for the past 25 years, she said. Oktoberfest is one of the festivals Farrar and other business owners on the Square are working to make annual events, she said. "What I'm trying to do here is have an annual event coming to the town," Farrar said. Altamont, a town of 2,000 people, holds an annual Schuetsenfest and on the day of the festival they have thousands of people, Farrar said. "You can imagine the revenue this town is getting," Farrar said. Farrar hopes to bring that kind of revenue to the Square. "(I want) to make the square known to the public as more than just the court house," Farrar said. Marianne's was not the only business on the Square celebrating Oktoberfest; other business offered specials and the Uptowner had specials on German beer all day.

LGBAU urges students to show support through jeans

By Amy Thon
Campus editor

Eastern will celebrate National Coming Out Day today with the second annual Jeans Day sponsored by the Lesbian Gays Bisexual Allies Union. Students are encouraged to wear jeans to show their support of homosexuals. "If you support gays and lesbians, it is very important you wear jeans that day," said Allison Toth an ally to LGBAU and president of the group.

Toth said she became involved last fall when she saw how little support gays and lesbians received from students.

"When I came to the group last fall, it was because of jeans day," Toth said. "Seeing everyone wear anything but jeans infuriated me as an ally."

Toth said she wanted to stress that the day is not just for gays and lesbians but for anyone who supports them as well.

"People often say that they would have worn jeans if they knew it wasn't an event for just gays and lesbians," she said.

LGBAU will hold its regular weekly meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the Paris Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

"We have our regular weekly meeting on Mondays," Toth said. "That meeting will be a special one. We will be able to talk about the results of the day. Anyone who is interested can come."

A panel discussion will be held following the meeting at 9:30 p.m. in Pemberton Hall to discuss the results of the day.

Toth said she is hoping the day will raise awareness on campus. She said too many people are indifferent and the day will force them to think about what gay and lesbian students face every day.

"It definitely wakes people up to homophobia that exists on our campus," Toth said. "This is what's going on and you have to think about it."

Support our Panthers

Homecoming this year should display a weekend full of student-body pride in Eastern's campus.

Recently, tailgating turnouts have been at a bare minimum, but Homecoming should turn the spectator count around.

This is one weekend when the teams of Eastern need fellow-Panther support more than ever.

There will be many different activities going on to help entice the campus and community into participation as well.

Many groups and organizations have been working and planning on various entertainment events to help create memories for everyone. They deserve participation results along with the teams.

For all the adventurous spirits out there, there are Fun Games containing items such as whip cream, chocolate syrup and vegetable oil to be included with a slip and slide. There will also be football players dressed up as cheerleaders and vice versa. How is that for memories?

Other more traditional events will go on such as the following: greek organizations, student groups and residence halls competing for spirit points all week; "Fractured Fairy Tales" at 3 p.m. today in the South Quad; a pep rally and bonfire at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Lawson-Taylor tennis courts; a Homecoming "celebrity server" pancake breakfast at 7 a.m. Saturday in the Rathskeller; the Homecoming parade at 9:30 a.m. Saturday; the Homecoming kickoff activity at noon Saturday at O'Brien Stadium including free food and live radio broadcasting from WMCI; and the Homecoming football game at 1:30 p.m. between Eastern and Illinois State University.

With a week full of events, surely there is something to interest everyone. So please, go out and support our Panthers and join in on all the fun and games.

Today's quote

Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey, where wealth accumulates, and men decay; princes and lords may flourish, or may fade; a breath can make them, as a breath has made; but a bold peasantry, their country's pride, when once destroyed, can never be supplied.

LOOK around you – IT'S KHAKI LAND

I stumbled out of bed on Oct. 9, 1997, and zombie-walked to my 8 a.m. class wearing what I'd had on the day before. I think I had a nice flannel ensemble going that day, my pants and shirt in two different kinds of plaid.

Like many people, I'd forgotten it was Eastern's Coming Out Day, or as it turned out, Eastern's Wear Jeans if You're Gay Day. It was too early to think.

I trudged back home after class, no more awake than I was before, with the intention of going back to bed. I walked past an acquaintance and offered a heartfelt grunt of acknowledgment.

I recall thinking that he looked really stupid in his white, collared, button-down shirt and gray sweatpants, but I opted not to say anything, taking into account my own stylish wardrobe.

"So, not wearing jeans today, huh?" he said with a doltsish grin.

I grunted again indolently. The jeans-day thing dawned on me. So did the fact that almost everyone around me at that moment, as well as about 20 people in my 8 a.m. class, had put on either sweatpants or khakis that morning. The campus grounds of Eastern had become Khaki Land for a day.

And today, Oct. 12, 1998, Khaki Land emerges again. Look around you and count the khakis, the sweatpants, the shorts. Almost all of these people woke up today and purposely avoided denim. Many of them are pissed that they've been "forced" into making a statement, that they've been inconvenienced because the "gays" picked something as basic as jeans for "their day."

Khaki Land spread like an airborne virus on Oct. 9, 1997. It was the first year for jeans. In the past, people were asked to show their support by wearing clothes of a certain color, usually green.

Chuck Burke
Editor in chief

"The decision to make jeans the calling card of Coming Out Day was genius, whether or not any foresight of its impact was involved."

Changing to jeans brought Coming Out Day to a whole new level. The efforts of the relatively few people who were awake enough in the morning to remember to put on a green shirt can barely be compared to the impact witnessed on campus on Oct. 9, 1997.

As the misconstrued explanations of what wearing jeans on that day actually meant, more students went home in between classes and changed their pants. It was a concerted effort to express their non-support of homosexual rights. Or a half-desperate attempt to ensure that nobody would mistakenly perceive them to be homosexual.

It was a day, for some, of staunch moral and political statements for or against the rights of lesbians and gays. For others, it was a day of pathetic self-consciousness and discomfort.

The decision to make jeans the calling card of Coming Out Day was genius, whether or not any foresight of its impact was involved. Choosing jeans took Coming Out Day much further than the issue of support for homosexuals' rights.

Because pretty much everyone wears jeans, everyone must partake in the observance of Coming Out Day. All people on this campus today are indicating whether they are for or against supporting the rights of lesbians and gays.

Even the people who don't know about today – everyone's looking at their pants, too.

So, there's no way around it. Everyone is saying something today – consciously or tacitly – with their pants. Those in jeans are saying they're not against homosexuals' rights. And those in Khaki Land have gone out of their way today to let everybody know that they are.

Columbus Day formed in honor of a 'butcher'

Today we celebrate Columbus Day, a time to remember the "founder" of the Americas. The funny thing is when he came here to claim this land in the name of the queen, there were already people here. How do you claim something that belongs to someone else?

Everyone knows that, but most people put that aside.

I wonder how many people here know that November has been selected as Native American Heritage Month (it has to do with Thanksgiving).

I doubt very many people know this and I also doubt if it is known that very many celebrate or even recognize it as such (don't bother looking; you won't find it on the calendar).

Yet, in some cities they hold parades to honor this BUTCHER. Give

Your turn

Letters to the editor

the devil his due: There were many historic people as bad throughout history and even one who stands out in my mind as maybe even worse. You will find that one on the $20 bill, but that is a different story.

No native person I know of holds any regard for Columbus except maybe contempt, but yet because of this holiday their children are excused from school in remembrance of this person. Try explaining to a native child why society honors Columbus when he murdered so many.

I think this very wrong and near criminal to force native people into honoring or even remembering his existence.

Why have a Columbus Day anyway? What did he do that was worth remembering him in this way?

He was lost when he accidentally stumbled into this place. He certainly wasn't the first outsider to come here either. Vikings even tried to colonize here before Columbus was even born.

Columbus was a butcher who tortured, enslaved and murdered thousands of people. He was so bad, in fact, that he was chastised by his own people. Yeah, let's honor THIS guy.

Today, Columbus Day, I remember him in my usual custom, to not speak. This is our way of mourning. I once again stand with my brothers and sisters and call for the abolishment of this so called holiday ... Miigwech.

Students today will attempt to relearn the principle of right and wrong, as the philosophy department hosts a special program.

"Getting it Right: Is an Action's Rightness Determined by its Consequences?" will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. today in Lecture Room 18 on the lower level of Booth Library.

Panelists Grant Sterling, Jonelle DePetro and Frederick Rauscher, all philosophy professors, will discuss the debate of right and wrong and individual morals.

Each panelist is scheduled to speak for about 10 minutes before opening the panel to audience questions.

"Anyone with an interest in morality and the right thing to do is encouraged to attend," Sterling said.

He said the panel consists of three people with diverse beliefs about the topic.

He said one panelist believes consequences define actions, another member disagrees and the third panelist remains neutral.

"This should make for an interesting discussion" he said.

There is no cost to attend the forum, which is sponsored by the Philosophy Forum and the philosophy honors society, Phi Sigma Tau.

Tickets on sale for step show

Prices half off if bought early

Eastern's Black Greek Council is ready to start the semester off with its first step show, "Step show '98: The History, The Culture, The Art."

Three sororities and four fraternities are scheduled to compete in the event scheduled for 9 p.m. Saturday in the Lantz Gymnasium.

The Delta Sigma Theta, Sigma Gamma Rho and Zeta Phi Beta sororities and the Kappa Alpha Psi, Beta Phi Pi and Pi Beta Sigma fraternities will all be competing in the step show. The Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity will be performing an exhibition show.

"Stepping is an African tradition of dance. Every step we do is correlated with tradition," said Matthew Manuel, a senior consumer affairs major and promotions chair for the step show.

The event winners will win a $250 cash prize, a plaque and a traveling trophy. Second place winners will receive $75 and third place winners receive $50.

Manuel said he expects about 2,000 people to attend.

"In the past we have held the step show on Friday, but because the show is on Saturday, a lot of alumni will be able to come to the show," Manuel said.

Zeta Phi Beta will be back this year to defend its sorority title, however defending fraternity champions will not be able to defend their title.

Manuel said many of the groups have been practicing since the summer months for the show.

"They have been working very hard," Manuel said.

Tickets are on sale from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Union Box Office today. Tickets are $5 for greeks with IDs, $7 for the general public and $10 at the door.

Nominations being accepted for award

Livingston C. Lord Distinguished Service Award to honor individual's service to help university

Dan Ochwat
Staff writer

Eastern is now accepting nominations for the Livingston C. Lord Distinguished Service Award to honor a recognized individual, active or retired, for service to the university.

Nominations are to be handed in to Jill Nilsen, acting vice president for external relations, by Nov. 6.

Nilsen said the university is requesting nominations from the university community, faculty and staff, as well as administrators.

The Livingston C. Lord Distinguished Service Award is given annually and also will be given along with the Distinguished Service Awards for faculty, administration and civil service.

These awards for faculty are the highest honors Eastern bestows on an employee or a member of the community, a press release said.

The recipients of these awards must be full-time employees and have a minimum of 10 years of service at Eastern.

Nominations must be in the form of a letter describing the nominee's past service that reaches Eastern standards.

A press release said the criteria for selecting a nominee is in three areas: university service, professional service and public service.

Eastern's criteria for university service includes demonstration of exemplary service beyond regular duties; performance of duties in a conscientious manner that promotes the well-being of the university, demonstration of job performance through attendance, efficiency and rapport with associates and the public, leadership positions on committees and in other types of service and memberships on campus committees.

Eastern's criteria for professional service includes participation in professional organizations, service connected with the individual's professional area other than on university, college or departmental committees and professional publications, a press release said.

The recipients of the awards will receive a plaque and a monetary award and the awards will be given at a banquet on Dec. 1, Nilsen said.

National Coming Out Day panel discussion tonight

By Alice Hosty
Staff writer

Homosexual trivia, information about homosexuality and personal coming out stories are among the topics to be discussed today in a panel commemorating National Coming Out Day.

"Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Homosexuality but Were Afraid to Ask" will be held today at 9:30 p.m. in the lobby of Pemberton Hall.

Six Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Allies Union members will share their personal stories and answer questions about homosexuality.

"Anyone who has curiosity or unanswered questions about homosexuality and wants answers without fear of persecution is welcome to attend," said LGBAU Educational Director Moran Beasley.

Allison Toth, president of LGBAU, said the panel should attract interest with a new feature.

"This year we're adding a question-answer type trivia game that will test how much people know or think they know about homosexuality," Toth said. "Some people are not as educated as they think and hopefully this will raise awareness of the issues."

After a brief opening statement and the trivia game, the panel members will share their stories and answer questions from the audience.

Pamphlets and other information about the LGBAU's programs will be available, including "Safe Zone" stickers.

"Safe Zone stickers offer a safe harbor for gays and lesbians and are great for identifying allies," Toth said.

Beasley said the LGBAU hopes to reach as many as 3,000 students through this and other panels planned for this year.

UNIVERSITY ADMISSION TO TEACHER EDUCATION MEETING

Students must formally apply for the University Admission to Teacher Education to initiate the Selection Process. This is done by attending a University Admission to Teacher Education Meeting. The College of Education and Professional Studies schedules meetings each semester. The required formal application form is distributed and collected at the meetings, the rules and regulations concerning selection, admission to and retention in teacher education are explained. Additional required forms are also explained and provided.

Students who have not previously applied must attend a meeting. The following meetings are available Fall 1998 to initiate the selection process:

Tuesday, Oct. 13, 1998,
1501 Buzzard Hall Auditorium 1-1:50 p.m.
Thursday, Oct. 15, 1998,
1501 Buzzard Hall Auditorium 2-2:50 p.m.

The next opportunity to initiate the "Selection Process" and apply for University Admission to Teacher Education will be during the Spring Semester, 1999. Attending this meeting is one of the required steps for University Admission to Teacher Education.

Rams regain winning touch

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Suddenly, the home-field advantage is back for the St. Louis Rams.

The Rams (2-3) forced five turnovers in a 30-10 victory over the

New York Jets on Sunday that ended an eight-game losing streak at the Trans World Dome. Amp Lee, playing a prominent role at running back due to injuries, ran for two touchdowns, and St. Louis played error-free ball.

Jets quarterback Glenn Foley, who missed the previous two games with a rib-cage injury, had a miserable day.

Foley was 5-for-15 for 76 yards and two interceptions, each of which led to a St. Louis touchdown, before coach Bill Parcells yanked him in favor of Vinny Testaverde with 3:13 to go in the third quarter and the Jets (2-3) trailing 23-3.

Testaverde didn't do much better, going 9-for-18 for 96 yards and another big turnover.

Roman Phifer forced a fumble on a flea-flicker attempt and D'Marco Farr returned the ball 16 yards to the 12, setting up Lee's second touchdown on fourth-and-inches that made it 30-3 with 14:22 left.

Lee, the Rams' third-down back, scored his first rushing touchdowns since Dec. 3, 1995, when he played for Minnesota.

He got every-down status after Robert Holcombe strained his Achilles' tendon and Jerald Moore hurt his shoulder, even though both eventually returned.

Lee finished with 53 yards on nine carries, plus six catches for 62 yards.

The Rams hadn't won at home since a 13-3 victory over the New York Giants on Sept. 21, 1997.

All of the eight losses could have gone either way, with a combined differential of 48 points, but the situation contributed to 9,499 no-shows that marred the team's 28th consecutive sellout.

Tony Banks was 18-for-24 for 171 yards and a touchdown. He had 15 straight completions in one stretch.

The Jets, who have lost five straight to the Rams, have 16 turnovers in the first five games. Playing without running back Curtis Martin, out with a thigh injury after successive 100-yard games, didn't hurt New York too much.

His replacement, Leon Johnson, rushed for 56 yards on 13 carries and had a 17-yard touchdown catch in the fourth quarter.

The Rams handed the Jets the first three points when Farr was called for offside on a punt from the St. Louis 40.

With the extra 5 yards, the Jets called on kicker John Hall, who kicked a 54-yard field goal.

The rest was all St. Louis.

Todd Lyght knocked the ball loose from Foley on a sack and Mike D. Jones recovered, returning the ball 5 yards to the 6 to set up a 7-yard scoring pass from Banks to Derrick Harris.

Jeff Wilkins had a 52-yard field goal and Lee scored on a 1-yard run set up by his 29-yard catch in the second quarter for a 17-3 lead at the break.

Wilkins' field goal was set up by an interception in the end zone by Eric Hill on a ball tipped by teammate Kevin Carter, and a face mask penalty on Wayne Chrebet that gave the Rams possession at their 35.

Bears struggle in loss

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) - When Chicago Bears coach Dave Wannstedt said the Arizona Cardinals had a lot of weapons, he didn't know the half of it.

Arizona unveiled two secret weapons on Sunday.

Linebacker Ronald McKinnon had three interceptions and returned a blocked punt 31 yards, and little-used Mario Bates scored two touchdowns as the Cardinals beat the Bears 20-7.

McKinnon, the Cardinals' leading tackler who also caused a fumble, had one interception in the first quarter, another at the end of the second and the last in the third. It was an unprecedented showing for a Cardinals linebacker.

Then he topped himself, showing his moves in the fourth quarter, when Chicago's Ricky Bell blocked a punt by Scott Player. McKinnon grabbed it out of the air, shook off a tackler at the sideline, and cut back to midfield on the return to gain a first down.

Bates had seen nothing but special teams action in five previous games.

He got his first carry as a Cardinal in the first quarter and scored on a pair of 2-yard runs in the second quarter.

Joe Nedney accounted for the other points with 49- and 40-yard field goals.

The Bears (1-5) avoided their first shutout loss since 1989 when Erik Kramer threw a 79-yard pass to Bobby Engram with 2:30 remaining. But it was a rare let-down for the Arizona defense.

The Cardinals (3-3) forced eight turnovers - four interceptions off Kramer, who had thrown just two in five previous games - and four fumble recoveries.

Three interceptions and two recovered fumbles led to a 17-0 first-half lead.

The Cardinals also borrowed a page from the Bears with a solid ground game. Adrian Murrell ran for 26 of his 67 yards on his first three carries, and the effect of the bigger, stronger Bates in short-yardage situations was devastating.

He ran in untouched for his first TD, then dove into the end zone for his second. Bates' first score followed Simeon Rice's 29-yard fumble return.

Arizona got the ball back when Glyn Milburn fumbled the ensuing kickoff return, and Kwamie Lassiter recovered. The Cardinals covered 14 yards in four plays for Bates' second TD.

The Cardinals' first two interceptions brought bad luck. Aeneas Williams stepped in front of Conway at the Arizona 2-yard line and returned it 15 yards.

Alou chooses Expos over Dodgers

MONTREAL (AP) - Felipe Alou was 10 minutes away from accepting a job as manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers when the Expos came in with an offer that would keep him in Montreal.

"I'm glad to say I'll stay at home," Alou said Sunday after agreeing to a three-year contract to remain manager of the Expos.

"But I have to be honest - I thought I was gone."

In fact, Alou was booked on a flight to Los Angeles when the Expos called.

"But some Expos people requested that I wait because they had something to offer me," Alou said.

General manager Jim Beattie and Mark Routenberg, a member of the Expos' ownership group, met with Alou at his Florida home on Friday and convinced him to stay.

"The Dodgers were coming in on the next plane from Santo Domingo to finalize the agreement," Alou said. "But the Expos made an awesome offer."

"There was about a 10-minute difference. Otherwise, I'd be on a flight to L.A."

Alou's contract is believed to be worth about $2 million per year. Los Angeles was reported to have offered the 63-year-old manager a three-year contract worth a total of $3.5 million to $4 million.

The contract includes escape clauses that will allow him to go to another team if the club is sold and moves to another city.

Dodgers general manager Kevin Malone said the Expos told Alou they were willing to almost double whatever the Dodgers offered.

"We're not surprised," Malone said from his home in Los Angeles on Sunday. "He felt obligated to stay. He didn't want to be the reason for the organization not surviving in Montreal. They were laying the guilt trip on him. If he left, there was a good possibility the franchise would not survive in Montreal. He didn't want to be responsible, feel guilty about it."

Malone said Davey Johnson and Kevin Kennedy now are among a half-dozen candidates to manage the Dodgers. Last week, the Dodgers said interim manager Glenn Hoffman would be a coach next year.

Malone said Alou's choice to stay in Montreal exemplified why the Dodgers coveted him.

Tough weekend for cross country teams at Indiana State

By Matt Wilson
Sports editor

The Eastern cross country teams spent the weekend in Terre Haute, Ind. competing at the Indiana State Invitational.

The men took fourth out of nine teams in the 8,000 meter run, while the women took seventh out of 11 teams in the 5,000 meter run.

The men finished with a total team time of 2:11:07.21, while host Indiana State won the meet with a time of 2:08:29.77. Eastern had four runners finish in the top 25 of the meet.

The top finisher for the men was junior Ryan Boyles, who took 10th place out of 85 runners. Boyles finished with a time of 25:52.56.

Coming in four places behind Boyles was freshman Jason Bialka, who finished the race with a time of 26:15.67. The third Panther to finish was freshman Eric Wheller, who crossed the line in a time of 26:28.65, which was good enough for 19th place.

Taking the 24th spot for Eastern was sophomore Ryan Hall, who finished with a time of 26:39.94.

The women finished with a total team time of 1:40:33.76 and also had a runner finish in 10th place. Senior Susan Langer showed her experience by taking that spot with a time of 19:04.40.

But after Langer, the next highest finisher was freshman Beth Martin, who crossed the finish line with a time of 20:08.28. Coming in behind Martin was freshman Lauren Rapacki, who took the 54th spot with a time of 20:23.37.

The Hilltoppers answered five minutes later on a goal by sophomore Scott Gardner. Gardner goal was on a header off of Matt Hawkey's corner kick.

Ben Buerger gave Western Kentucky the lead on an unassisted goal halfway through the second half.

"The last goal we gave up Waguespack went up vertically, and ended up horizontal," McClements said. "It should have been a foul."

Eastern was called for 20 fouls including three yellow cards compared to Western Kentucky's 17 fouls and one yellow.

Despite the tightly called game, the Panthers mounted a comeback attempt, but Hilltopper goalkeeper Ryan Lossie made key saves on shots by Tim Fredin and Kyle Mittendorf late in the second half to preserve the victory for Western Kentucky.

"It's tough, but we feel like we will be all right," McClements said.

"Hopefully we will be ready for Bradley in two weeks."

Ohio State not happy in win

CHAMPAIGN (AP) - A weak running game. Too many penalties. A defense that could have been crisper.

Yeah sure, Ohio State (5-0, 2-0 Big Ten) beat Illinois 41-0 Saturday. But instead of celebrating the lopsided win over the Illini (2-4, 1-2), the Buckeyes could not stop talking about their mistakes.

Maybe that's how they plan on remaining No. 1 in the country.

"You can never be satisfied. We get satisfied and complacent, that's when we'll get stunned," said safety David Moore. "We have a reputation to uphold."

The Buckeyes committed 11 penalties - including roughing the kicker and excessive celebration after a touchdown - for a loss of 104 yards.

"Kids continue to make mistakes in the open field. We are concerned and will continue to be concerned until we get it corrected," said Ohio State coach John Cooper. "There's an old saying that nothing catches up with you until it catches up with you."

Cooper was also disappointed in the rushing game.

Although the Buckeyes finished with 161 yards rushing, the passing game was obviously the main weapon with 357 yards.

The Buckeyes also failed repeatedly during a possession in the first quarter to run in a touchdown from the 1-yard line. Eventually, a short pass did the trick.

Ohio State's first three points came on its first possession of the game from Dan Stultz's 40-yard field goal.

Quarterback Joe Germaine threw three touchdown passes for the Buckeyes' next 21 points. First, it was a 1-yard pass to John Lumpkin with 2:52 left in the first quarter.

Four minutes into the second quarter, Germaine threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to David Boston.

"They've got weapons everywhere," said Illinois coach Ron Turner.

Although Germaine threw for 307 yards, completing 17-of-28, he was not entirely happy.

"I don't think I'll ever be as good as I want to be," Germaine said.

Panthers capture first in OVC despite week off

Eastern Kentucky, Murray State fall in league games

By Chad Merda
Managing editor

The Eastern football team is now in sole possession of first place – even though it had the weekend off.

Murray State and Eastern Kentucky both entered the weekend undefeated in the Ohio Valley Conference, just as the Panthers (4-1, 2-0).

But the two conference rivals suffered losses, which moves Middle Tennessee (3-3, 3-1) into second behind the Panthers.

The Panthers now apparently control their own destiny – since 1990, all of the OVC champions have gone undefeated in conference play.

Tennessee State 31, Eastern Kentucky 21

The win for Tennessee State is its first in 11 games against the Colonels and State is now 3-2 overall and 1-1 in conference. Eastern Kentucky has the same record as well, but is sure to drop from its No. 8 spot in the polls with the loss to unranked Tennessee State.

It is the Tigers' first winning record since seven games into the '96 campaign when they were 4-3 and it's only the Colonels' third OVC loss at home in the decade.

"This is the biggest win we've had since I've been here and maybe the biggest ever for Tennessee State," Tiger head coach L.C. Cole said in a press release.

The Tigers jumped out to a 17-0 lead in the first half and never trailed. Senior back DeJuan Marshall ran for 111 yards in the game after having only 77 on the season entering Saturday's contest.

Eastern Kentucky controlled the ball for nearly 40 minutes and senior receiver Rondel Menendez had 150 receiving yards and it was the fourth straight game in which he broke the 100-yard mark.

Middle Tennessee 35, Murray State 14

The Blue Raiders scored on five of its first six possessions against No. 12 ranked Murray State – four of Middle's scoring drives were over 75 yards.

On its first drive, Murray marched 70 yards downfield for a score, but the Blue Raider defense prevented the Racers from scoring until 1:49 remained in the game.

Junior back Torin Kirtsey led the Middle Tennessee attack and scored three first-half touchdowns to give the Blue Raiders a 21-7 halftime lead. Kirtsey also threw a 79-yard touchdown to Hansford Johnson in the fourth quarter.

Murray State quarterback Justin Fuente, who leads the conference in touchdown passes with 15, threw a touchdown and has engineered at least one scoring strike in each game this season.

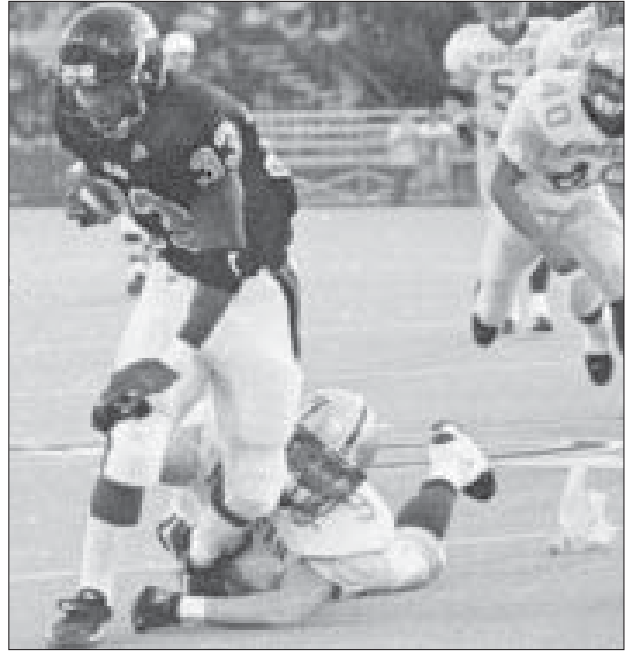

The Racers' defense came up with four sacks but also gave up 468 yards of offense to Middle.

Southeast Missouri 29, Tennessee Tech 24

SEMO boosted its conference record to 2-2 while Tech is still in search of its first OVC win at 0-3 and 1-4 overall.

Freshman quarterback Bobby Brune came up big for SEMO as he engineered the Indians' game-winning 72-yard drive in the fourth quarter. The Indian defense limited Tech to only 210 total yards of offense.

The difference in the game proved to be a blocked punt by the Indians K.D. Koleosho in the first quarter that he also recovered for a touchdown.

Tech's only lead of the game came with 8:52 remaining in the game when linebacker Chad Evitts had a 26-yard interception return for a touchdown.

Samford 24, Tennessee-Martin 13

The Skyhawks were down 21-0 at halftime but drew the score to 21-13 with 10 minutes left in the game. The loss drops Tennessee-Martin to 0-5 overall.

Junior Skyhawk quarterback John Repella went 12-of-21 for 252 yards in the second half.

Martin's defense limited Sanford to only 76 yards in the second half.

per game average, as it began its offensive assault.

After a flurry of action, Aussin teamed up with Strother as Aussin fed senior Tracie Strother a pass and she knocked it in the net. The score remained that way until halftime.

The Panthers seemed more aggressive the second half and came out playing a much more physical game.

"We have dominated three games and lost this year," head coach Steve Ballard said. "We didn't play with a lot of intensity today, but we were good enough to win."

With 30 minutes left in the second half, Eastern began pouring on the offense once more. A bombardment of shots would not get past the Morehead keeper until a corner kick set up the final goal of the game for Eastern.

Aussin took a corner kick and centered it to senior Diane Markus who then headed it past the goalie for the final score and her second of the weekend.

"I am extremely pleased with two wins this weekend," Ballard said. "It was a good parents and senior weekend and everyone got to play."

Saturday's MVC action against Arkansas-Little Rock saw fewer shots (13) from the Panthers, but the result was the same. Eastern jumped out to a 2-0 lead before Arkansas woke up and began scoring a few of its own.

Aussin put Eastern on the board first when senior Amy Koudelka served her a pass from the side and she shot the ball past sophomore goalkeeper Courtnie Prather.

Aussin then would turn around 30 minutes later and take a corner kick that would set up Markus for a shot that she blazed by the opponents keeper.

Arkansas-LR would then come back with two quick goals of its own before halftime. Junior Leslie Hawkins was awarded a penalty kick that she made count with a blistering shot past junior goalkeeper Jessica Graczyk. Then, five minutes later, freshman Kelli Johnson found daylight during a scramble in front of the Panther net to tie the score at two even.

The Panthers came out playing aggressive after halftime when Aussin tapped a pass to Koudelka and she blasted a shot into the goal.

Aussin got into the action once more when Strother fed her a pass and she took a fast break and ripped a shot past the goalkeeper to score the final goal of the game.

"Basically with this win we are in the MVC tournament," Ballard said. "What we want to do is shoot for the first or second seed, so this Friday at Creighton will be a huge game for us. The main thing that we have to do now is keep our intensity up and maintain our level of play."

Women sweep weekend

Victory secures second place finish in OVC

By Chad Verbais
 Staff Writer

Women's soccer continued its winning streak as it swept the competition this weekend at Lakeside Field.

The Panthers beat Arkansas-Little Rock 4-2 on Saturday and Morehead State 3-1 on Sunday. Eastern is 6-1-1 over the last eight games.

Senior Beth Aussin had a huge weekend, scoring two goals and adding four assists.

The wins give Eastern an 8-4-1 record overall and 3-0-1 in the MVC. The victory over Morehead finished out Ohio Valley Conference action for the Panthers, and they finished in second place with a record of 3-1.

Eastern came ready to play against Morehead on Sunday. The Panthers pummeled junior goalie Jennifer Gordon with 34 shots, and the Eagles managed to muster only seven shots the entire game.

The Panthers used a constant pressure to keep the Lady Eagles running in circles, and although Eastern scored only three goals, Morehead should consider itself lucky the score wasn't greater.

Senior Alma Ayala was the first to strike when she took a pass from senior Tracie Strother and slipped a shot past Gordon to put the Panthers up 1-0.

However, Morehead was not going to let Eastern cruise to an easy victory. Minutes later freshman Theresa Iwu fed sophomore Jessica McAnnar a pass and she tapped it past Panther goalkeeper Kate Binder to knot the score at one.

Eastern then tested the Morehead goalie, who is ranked ninth nationally with a 10.2 saves

Men suffer first losses of season

Panthers no longer unbeaten after tough weekend on road

By David Pump
 Associate sports editor

It didn't take long for the Panther men's soccer team to go from unbeaten to having two losses. In two Missouri Valley Conference games, the Panthers managed only one goal while allowing five in losses to Vanderbilt and Western Kentucky.

"It was a very, very disappointing result against Western Kentucky, but Vandy played well and we got beat," Eastern coach Tim McClements said.

Eastern (9-2-1, 0-2) entered the weekend as the 14th best defensive team in the nation, but fell Sunday to Vanderbilt (9-3, 2-0) 3-0, marking the most goals scored against the Panthers this season.

The Commodores entered the contest defeating previously unbeaten Bradley 2-1 on Friday and didn't waste any time getting to Panther goalkeeper Ryan Waguespack. Vandy netted two goals in the first half, and one more in the second before Matt Evers took over as Eastern's keeper.

Waguespack made three saves, but gave up three goals in the contest. Evers only had to make one save in his 12 minutes of play, but McClements said there is no goalkeeping controversy.

"We were down, and we gave the guys an opportunity to get some experience," McClements said.

Jason Ferreri scored the first goal of the contest on a penalty kick. Travis Weeks scored eight minutes later on a header. Josh Epstein was credited with the assist. Nik DeMello scored the final goal of the contest and was assisted by Phillip Stack.

A goal by senior Jeff Nix, his 11th, wasn't enough Friday as Eastern lost for the first time this season, 2-1 at Western Kentucky.

The loss ended a 10-game unbeaten streak, one of the nation's longest, and gave Western Kentucky (8-4, 1-0) only its second Missouri Valley Conference win ever.

Eastern opened the scoring in the first half on a header by Nix. The goal was set up off of Mike Czarnecki's free kick.

Volleyball wins two, remains front runner

Weekend sweep keeps Panthers in first place

By Matt Wilson
 Sports editor

The Panther volleyball team continued its dominance of the Ohio Valley Conference with two road wins this past weekend.

Eastern defeated Tennessee-Martin 15-2, 15-10 and 18-16 on Saturday afternoon to up its OVC-leading record to 9-0 and 13-3 overall. Eastern needed four games to defeat Murray State on Friday as it won 15-13, 15-13, 6-15 and 15-13.

The 9-0 conference record is the best start ever for an Eastern team.

"I would like to go through the regular season undefeated but we still have some tough matches and we have to take them one at a time," Panther head coach Betty Ralston said. "We're on the top rung and I've been telling the players that the teams are going to be trying to pull us down the rung. We have to stay tough and positive."

But these two wins did not come without a cost, as junior setter Cari Stuchly suffered a torn quad muscle in the fourth game of the Murray State game. Stuchly will be out for at least a couple of weeks.

"It doesn't come at a good time because we had Stuchly and Gen Ramos working a 6-2 offense," Ralston said. "Now where going to have to go to a 5-1 offense and work with Meleah (Cutler) and Kim DeMage on setting."

In the third game at Martin, the Skyhawks were serving with a 15-14 lead and Eastern was able to accomplish a side out and eventually win the game.

Eastern was led by senior outside hitter Missy Hollenkamp who had her second double-double of the weekend with 17 kills and 14 digs. The other senior on the team, middle hitter Sherry Austin, also helped in the win as she accomplished 13 kills and nine blocks. Of the 51 kills in the game, 30 of them came from the two seniors.

Eastern had a chance to use that 5-1 offense in the game Saturday afternoon and Ralston said it worked out well and there were no major problems.

Tennessee-Martin had two people with double-doubles in the loss.

Jodie Hempen had 17 kills and 14 digs, while Brooke Burton had 16 kills and 11 digs.

With the loss, the Skyhawks dropped their record to 2-5 in the OVC and 9-10 overall.

Eastern began the weekend with a four-game victory over Murray State. After winning the first two games, Murray came back to win the third game and was up 13-7 in the fourth game. But Eastern scored the last eight points of the game to win the match.

Hollenkamp had her first double-double of the weekend with 13 kills and 20 digs. Austin also had 16 kills and five blocks. Junior outside hitter Meleah Cutler also reached double figures for kills for the Panthers as she put down 11 on the night.

Stuchly was at the Murray game and made her presence known, as she had 28 assists on the day. Ramos also had 18 assists on the day.

Murray out-killed the Panthers in the game, as it had 68 kills compared to the Panther's 62. Junior Krista Shumard led the Racers with a game-high 19 kills, while freshman Audrey Nelson had 18 on the night.

Ralston said she has not seen a change in the team's attitude now that Eastern is 9-0.

"We really have no time to have a complacent attitude," she said. "Losing Cari will bring us back down to Earth. We are not overconfident because we still have some things to work on this week."

Eastern looks to continue its winning ways when it hosts Indiana State at 7 p.m. Tuesday.
