Band trip to Longview hits a few sour notes

(Editor's note: Eastern News reporter Carol Carpenter is also a member of the marching band) by Carol Carpenter

When we found out that the Marching Blue was going to Longview, Texas, for the NCAA Division II national football championship game, several non-band members said the band would party the whole trip.

Boy were they wrong.

We were delayed time after time by jackknifed trucks, icy hills the buses could not maneuver alone, missing seats and traffic accidents.

In fact, we ended up taking 23½ hours to complete a trip which was supposed to take 16 hours. It was as though someone was trying to get rid of us.

It all started in front of the Doudna Fine Arts Building at midnight Thursday when, after loading the four buses, we discovered that the last couple seats of bus No. 3 had been taken out for a clothes rack.

In other words, No. 3 had three too many people and not enough seats. After juggling people around on the other buses we were on our way.

When we arrived in St. Louis, we were delayed more than 45 minutes so two seats could be put back in bus No. 3.

Worse yet, the bus company almost would not let us continue our trip because their check had been made out incorrectly.

We were allowed to go on, though, and we made it the rest of the way through Missouri without any other incidents although the roads were pretty slick.

But the real trouble began in Arkansas, where we had to wait about 15 to 20 minutes while a jackknifed truck was pulled out of a ditch.

Then, shortly after we were on our way, buses 2, 3 and 4 could not make it

Merchant gives lettered T-shirts to gridgers

by Cheryl Bennett

Although Eastern students showed their excitement over Eastern's NCAA championship more exuberantly than most Charleston residents, two city natives celebrated the victory in their own way.

Nancy and Jack Beabout, owners of Nancy's Lettering Shop, were watching the game on television when they turned to each other with an idea to show their excitement.

Nancy Beabout said they both thought that if Eastern won the game they would print up and donate T-shirts to the players and coaches at the airport that night.

Beabout said the two had been following the games and wanted the team to know they were behind it.

Beabout said they had used the slogan "It's Hard to be Humble When You're Number One!" previously but that it seemed very appropriate for the team.

She said they printed up about 50 T-shirts even though they were not sure how many coaches accompanied the team. Beabout said they were short, but plan to print up additional T-shirts for the coaches they missed.

Had Nancy's Lettering Shop sold the T-shirts over the counter, the store would have made about $100 to $200.

"It's like we tell the high schools around here. If we can do anything for the school like lettering or donating T-shirts, we will. We can't give the schools cash so we try to give them something to show that we back them," Beabout said.

Students may recognize the Beabouts' work since they also did the lettering for the blue and white shirts sold in the University Union.

The shirts said "EIU is Number One" inside of the numeral one.

Beabout added she and her husband got the idea to donate the shirts to the football team because they are proud of its members.

"You know this put Charleston on the map," she said.

Senate ERA vote doubtful

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - Supporters of the federal Equal Rights Amendment said Monday they no longer expect to call the ERA for a vote in the Illinois Senate this month, in what may be a major setback for ERA prospects in Illinois for the next two years.

“We do not expect a vote on Wednesday,” said Diane Monk, a spokeswoman for Senate President Thomas C. Hynes, who two weeks ago said he hoped the amendment would be called Wednesday in the votes were there to pass it.

“Support has increased, but the consensus of all supporting groups is that it probably would be more prudent to wait until the new session,” said Ms. Monk.

Official gives guilty plea

CHICAGO (AP) - A Joliet cement union official pleaded guilty Monday to taking $9,300 in payoffs from construction companies.

Theodore W. Petro, 51, entered the plea in U.S. District Court before Judge John F. Grady to one count of racketeering for engaging in a pattern of corrupt activity and one count of income tax evasion for failing to report the payoffs.

Grady set Jan. 17 for sentencing.

Mary Stowell, assistant U.S. attorney, told Grady that Petro received 31 payments ranging from $50 to $3,000 between 1969 and 1975 while he was the business representative for Cement Masons Union Local 161 in Joliet.

Explosions start oil fires

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) - A huge fire broke out Monday night after a series of explosions at the main storage depot of four major oil companies about five miles from the center of Salisbury.

The fire began at about 9:15 p.m. local time - 2:15 p.m. EST - and was still burning 90 minutes later. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

A police spokesman said the fire started after a small explosion that was followed by other explosions. The fire raised suspicions of sabotage by black nationalist guerrillas who are stepping up their six-year war against the Salisbury government. Police and fire officials refused comment.

Body thieves plead guilty

VEVEY, Switzerland (AP) - Two men told a court Monday they acted alone to steal the body of Charlie Chaplin. But a judge hinted the body snatchers might be protecting someone in the bungled ransom plot.

Roman Wardas, 24, of Poland, and Bulgarian-born Gancho Ganev, 38, admitted their guilt in the macabre scheme, saying they felt the March 1 theft would earn them a share of the reported $100 million the world-famous comedian left his family. The refugees insisted no one else was involved.

Wardas said he was the man who called the Chaplin family home and family attorneys over a 10-week period to negotiate a ransom. He was arrested in a telephone booth while making a ransom call.

‘Stupid’ shootings occur

A cat-and-mouse chase between two cars on an interstate highway boiled into anger and before it was over gunshots were fired and two men lay seriously wounded.

In a separate incident, a motorist was killed by gunshots after his stalled vehicle blocked traffic on an icy street on the South Side of Chicago.

“The whole thing was just...stupid,” said Elgin Police Lt. J.W. Smith, describing an incident Sunday night which began on Interstate 90 and ended in the parking lot of an Elgin restaurant.

Verlyn Saylors, 27, of Carpentersville, and Charles Foland, 46, of East Dundee who is Saylors’ father-in-law, were each shot in the stomach in the parking lot.

Kennedy hires expert, heightens speculation

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who insists he's not running for president, has hired a young political expert in yet another move bound to heighten speculation about his 1980 presidential intentions. Is he running or isn't he?

Even his wife says she doesn't know for sure.

"I have no idea, but every time I pick up a newspaper he's on page one," Joan Kennedy said Monday. "I talk to him all the time, but not about that."

Even though Kennedy keeps denying he's a presidential candidate, he does things candidates are expected to do.

By hiring the political expert, Carl Wagner, Kennedy is getting a man well-known as a liberal. Wagner's friends say he also was sought by the Carter White House.

Tom Southwick, Kennedy's press secretary, said Wagner, 33, will join the senator's staff next week "to keep track of governors and other out-of-state officials, as well as help the senator with his speaking schedule."

Kennedy hasn't had such an aide since before the 1976 presidential elections. "It was a matter of finding the right person," Southwick said.

If he's not running for president, why does the Massachusetts Democrat need a $40,000-a-year political expert to help him keep in touch with out-of-state politicians?

"Because," Southwick said, "there are many things we're involved with legislatively, like welfare and national health insurance, that involve these people."

Southwick said hiring Wagner has nothing to do with any presidential campaign.

Wagner also discounted speculation that he will help Kennedy run for president in the next election.

"I have no expectation that I'll be doing anything regarding 1980."

Baritone star to be featured

One of the country's top baritone saxophonists, Burce Johnstone, will be featured in the Winter Jazz Band Festival at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Dvorak Fine Arts Concert Hall.

Also appearing in the festival, sponsored by the music department, will be two Eastern jazz bands, Jan Fairies, secretary of the music department, said.

Johnstone has played with other jazz performers such as Dexter Gordon, Ben Webster, the Woody Herman Herd and Maynard Ferguson.

Eastern Jazz Band I, led by Allan Horney, director of jazz bands, will perform "Chief's Blues" and "Send in the Clowns."

Jazz Band II, led by graduate student Jeff Pellaton, will play "Blues for Poland," and the Count Basie classic, "All of Me."

Admission is free to the public.

Paper storage only bad point in good text plan

We agree that the proposed increase in Textbook Library fees is a relatively inexpensive solution to the library's financial problems.

The preservation of the Textbook Library, although it will require a fee increase, is much less costly to students than a sudden switch to a purchase system as most universities use.

And we are glad a new Textbook Library will be built to accommodate the heavy load which now is placing dangerous stress on the present library.

However, we think administrators—particularly Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams, who proposed the fee increase—should have consulted with student publication leaders before deciding to store newsprint in the new library.

While storage space is desperately needed for the half-ton rolls of paper used to print the Eastern News and other campus publications, such space must be carefully chosen to insure that the paper can be moved easily to the press.

Both Dan Thornburgh, journalism department chairman, and David Reed, student publications adviser, last week pointed out that the feasibility of storing paper in the new Textbook Library has not been adequately considered.

But except for that oversight, we think Williams' proposal to increase fees by $3 a semester for library operations and between $2.25 and $3.65 a year to build the new structure is sound.

As mentioned above, the fee to build the new library is necessary since the present edifice cannot safely handle the number of books stored between semesters.

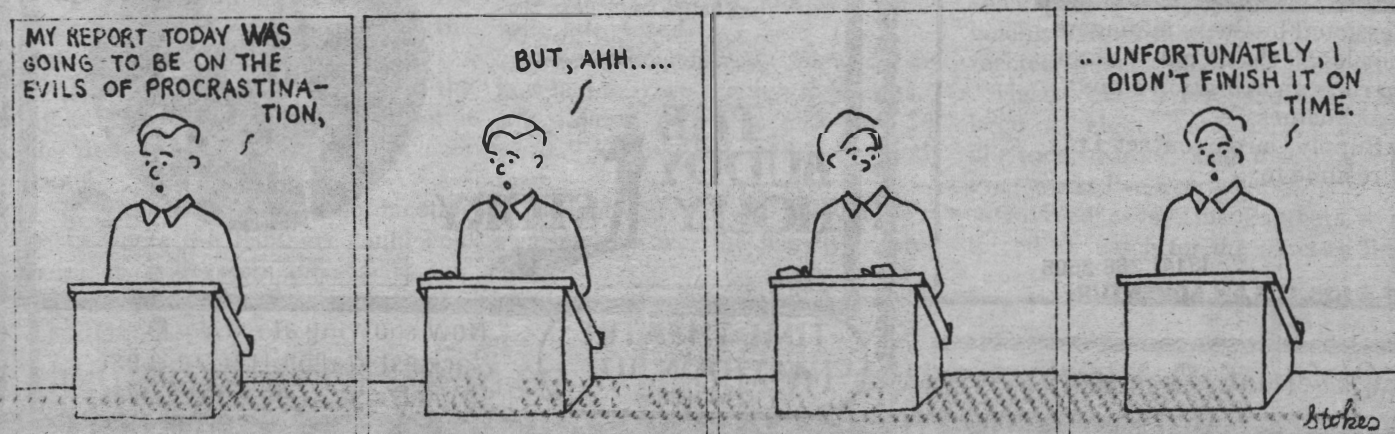

The increase in operational fees will alleviate the textbook moratorium imposed late last spring because the library had run out of funds to purchase new books.

Although the moratorium was necessary, we agree with students and faculty that any lid on buying new books must be temporary at best.

We are also glad that Williams and President Daniel E. Marvin have consulted with student and faculty leaders in the process of making a decision.

The Textbook Library is one of many good reasons to attend school at Eastern and we applaud student leaders and administrators for their efforts to keep the rental system at a relatively low cost.

Masked

Editor:

Masking tape—that wonderful material that sticks forever - on walls for hanging posters, - on windows for hanging Christmas lights and on sidewalks.

As one walks across campus names of various candidates for Homecoming queen and Student Senate can be read on sidewalks in this glorious material - masking tape.

There's even a happy birthday Suzy-Q displayed in the same manner.

I understand campaigning in this fashion; as walking over these names every day several times in fact does make one familiar with them.

I don't feel that I should have to look at those names for weeks and months after the elections - not to mention the birthday message.

To me it represents pollution and defacing of the campus. I thought all people of our generation were aware of and against pollution.

Of course, it's possible that I'm the only one who thinks it is pollution.

Nevertheless, I think the same person who put the tape down on the sidewalk should also pick it up, and preferably before snow falls and it clogs up the snow plows, which means we all will have to wade to class.

If you don't want anybody to know it's you, do it in the middle of the night - the same time you apparently put the tape there.

I can't tell you how sick I am of walking over election PR and I seriously hope that the matter is taken care of soon.

Audience couldn't leave that country boy alone

The increasing popularity of country music among college students was demonstrated Wednesday night when the Charlie Daniels Band descended upon Lantz Gym.

From the moment Daniels strolled onto the stage the crowd was definitely his.

When the band burst into the lively, spirited music which it is famous for, the crowd immediately jumped to their feet, clapping hands raised above their heads.

It was indeed difficult not to clap in time with such Daniels Band favorites as "Trudy," "Saddletramp" and "Leave this Old Long-Haired Country Boy Alone."

The audience had been suitably warmed up by one of the local favorites, Appaloosa.

The crowd appreciated the bouncy country displayed by the group which often appears at Ted's Warehouse. After all, they were there to hear country music.

Which is why the second warm-up band, Buck Acre did not really rouse the crowd. The audience accepted the band, but didn't really get into it. Cowboy hat fans do not want to hear rock.

So by the time the Daniels Band swung into its third piece of the night, "Trudy," the audience was in seventh heaven.

This continued through to the fifth song, "Saddletramp," which kept the audience jumping around, immensely enjoying the 10-minute instrumental and explosive drum solo.

But what the country lovin' fans came to see was that ole country boy play that fiddle.

And Daniels didn't disappoint them.

Daniels first said, "We'd like to wish you luck in Longview, Texas," and then whipped out his fiddle, throwing the crowd into a frenzy, especially when they recognized the first strains of Daniels' theme song, "Redneck Fiddlin' Man."

But the crowd wanted more. The Daniels Band walked off stage only to be drawn back on by the matches and lighters which lit up the gym and the continuous screams of "more, more," by the crowd.

The self-pronounced redneck walked back on stage amid yells and screams from the fans, who were again on their feet, for the encore they had been waiting for, "The South's Gonna Do It Again."

Daniels' six square dancers also swung around and do-si-doeed for the second time, making the crowd even wilder.

"Thank you, Charleston!" Daniels bellowed. "I love you all!"

And the country boy with the wide-brimmed black cowboy hat strolled off the stage for the final time.

Foreman memorial formed for daughters

by Mark Cully

A memorial fund is being formed for the daughters of a former Charleston High School teacher and coach who was killed along with his wife in a car accident over the Thanksgiving weekend.

The fund will be used to help send the daughters of the late Paul and Doris Foreman to "the college of their choice," Sue O'Brien, an organizer of the fund, said recently.

Three daughters survived the Foremans. They are Sherri, 19, Cathy, 17, and Christie, 11.

The other sponsors of the fund are Kansas City Royals pitcher Marty Pattin and Red Freeland, owner of Freeland Chevrolet, O'Brien said.

All three of the organizers were friends of Foreman.

Foreman, who received a bachelor's, master's and a specialist's degree from Eastern, was principal at Harrisburg High School at the time of his death, O'Brien said.

While at Harrisburg, Foreman was president of the Illinois Principals Association and a member of the North Central Committee.

Before Foreman took his job at Harrisburg, he taught and coached at Charleston High School, where Pattin played baseball under him.

"I was very fond of him," Pattin said, "He was my first high school baseball coach and taught me a lot of things that have stayed with me throughout my career."

O'Brien added, "He helped a lot of kids in student teaching and in getting jobs. He was really a big booster for Eastern."

O'Brien said there is now about $300 in the fund and that anyone interested in donating to the fund can send his check, made out to the "Foreman Memorial Fund", to the Charleston National Bank.

"Any contribution, great or small, will be appreciated," O'Brien added.

United Way exceeds goal this year

by Deborah Weston

The eastern Coles County chapter of the United Way exceeded its fund-raising goal this year, a spokesman for the drive, said Monday.

Spokesman Jeff Baker said the exact total is not available yet, but he anticipates that it will be somewhere between $45,000 and $50,000.

The 1978 eastern Coles County fund-raising goal was set for $45,000.

He said the exact total should be in early next year since donations are still coming in.

Baker said he is very pleased with this year's drive because last year's drive fell about $19,000 short of its $44,000 goal.

He said this year's drive, which included Eastern as well as the Charleston community, was better organized and "the people did the job."

Baker said if the goal had not been reached, money would be dispersed to agencies on a percentage of the amount they requested and the amount raised in the drive.

Since this year's goal was reached, each agency will receive 100 percent of their requested amounts.

Agencies to benefit from the drive include: Red Cross, Learning Disabilities, Hour House, Coles County Women Against Rape, USO, Help Line, Parents Group for Mentally Retarded, Right to Read, Boys Scouts, Girls Scout, and Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

Internship program to start in spring

by Tom Thiede

An administrative internship program designed to prepare faculty and civil service workers for entry-level administrative positions should begin in spring, Robert Barger, affirmative action director, said recently.

The Faculty Senate and President Daniel E. Marvin recently approved the final draft of the program, which was proposed by the Affirmative Action Advisory Committee, Barger said.

Eastern staff members, it is especially designed for women and minority faculty who are often handicapped in gaining entry-level positions in higher education administration, Barger said.

The program is designed to fulfill affirmative action in the recruitment and admission of women and minorities, Barger said.

The program should also provide a pool of people among the faculty who have preparation for administration, Barger said.

City Council extends bid time

by Kirby Pringle

The Charleston City Council has extended the time to receive bids for the proposed side-channel reservoir and will probably readvertise for the bids nationally, a city official said last week.

Since no reservoir bids were received by the Dec. 5 deadline, the council extended the date for the bids to be submitted to Dec. 19, which is the next regular meeting date of the council.

City engineer Buddy Reed said, "I think when the council advertises for bids this time, they'll probably advertise nationally."

Reed said the Army Corps of Pink Panther workshop slated

Attention girls: put on your prettiest smile, limber up your joints, and practice walking with a book on your head and you will be ready to tryout for the '79 Pink Panther squad.

Harold Hillyer, band director, said Monday a workshop will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Buzzard Educational Building South Gym.

Hillyer said the purpose of the workshop is to teach prospective Pink Panthers various kicks and a marching and dancing routine which the girls will be judged on the following night at tryouts.

Tryouts will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Buzzard Educational Building South Gym.

The girls will be judged on personal appearance, crowd appeal and their ability to do the various kicks.

Engineers, which is handling the project, had been undecided with what to do with the disposal of waste materials from the project, and that is one reason the council did not receive any bids for the project.

"I don't have any idea when the Corps will make their decision, but I know that their indecision has discouraged contractors from bidding because final costs could change the Army's decision," Reed said.

The reservoir is designed to alleviate Charleston's critical water shortage. The Embarras River will be channelled into Lake Charleston and the lake will be made into a holding reservoir for the water supply.

Reed added that bids for the project were previously advertised in all of Illinois, northwest Indiana and eastern Missouri.

HEW grant to fund education program

Eastern recently received a grant of $28,835 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the cooperative education program.

Cooperative education is a program that allows students to receive first hand knowledge of their major discipline and is closely related to internships, Leonard Wood, director of the cooperative education program, said Monday.

Students can earn up to three semester hours on the program, one per semester for three semesters and they are usually paid by their employer while on the program, Wood said.

The program, which was started five years ago as a pilot, has been funded by HEW for the past three years, Woods said.

Woods commented that he has started putting the application together for next year already.

The money received this year will be used for administrative costs and is particularly used for travel to see students involved in the program first hand.

There are 126 students involved in the program at the moment, which is an increase from the past years.

Weight program slated

Many Eastern students have no doubt put on a number of calories in the midst of recent weekend grid football parties, and more fattening days are coming up with the holidays. For relief from all the hearty delights, Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center may have the answer come January.

The health center's weight control program will be held weekly instead of bi-weekly beginning next month.

The sessions are currently being held at 3:30 p.m. every second and fourth Tuesday of each month at the hospital.

Patricia Weber, a registered dietician, directs the program, which molds an individual diet to meet any person's needs.

In the first session, a new client is weighed and a complete dietary history is taken. From this information, the specialized diet is arranged.

Registration fee for the program is $5, and cost for the follow-up weekly check-ups is $1.50

Details of the program can be obtained from Weber by calling 348-2278 from Charleston and 258-2278 from Mattoon.

New clients must have permission of their physician to participate in the program.

up an icy hill.

All three buses were stopped on the hill and none of the drivers could get out of their seats because, each time they let up on the brake, the buses slid closer to the ditch. Finally, all three were pulled up the hill by a snow plow.

After Arkansas came Texas, where we had to make a detour around a wreck and then buses 3 - the one I was on - and 4 got lost in the middle of nowhere. After we discovered we were lost and got back on the right track, bus 3 almost slid off an icy bridge.

After awhile, we thought we never would find Longview. But buses 1 and 2 arrived in Longview after 22½ hours on the road - it was only supposed to take 16 -- and buses 3 and 4 arrived after 23½ hours of traveling.

Being in a band that gets to perform at a championship game is something very exciting, especially when television cameras are around.

When Harold Hillyer, our band director, got up and yelled "Let's go," we knew this was it. After silently rehearsing in our minds when and where to turn, we went out there and did our best performance. We worked hard and we're proud of ourselves.

While in Longview, one of the greatest things that happened was that everywhere we went we were escorted by three motorcycle policemen. If that doesn't make you feel important, nothing will.

The Longview trip was great and I wouldn't have missed it for the world.

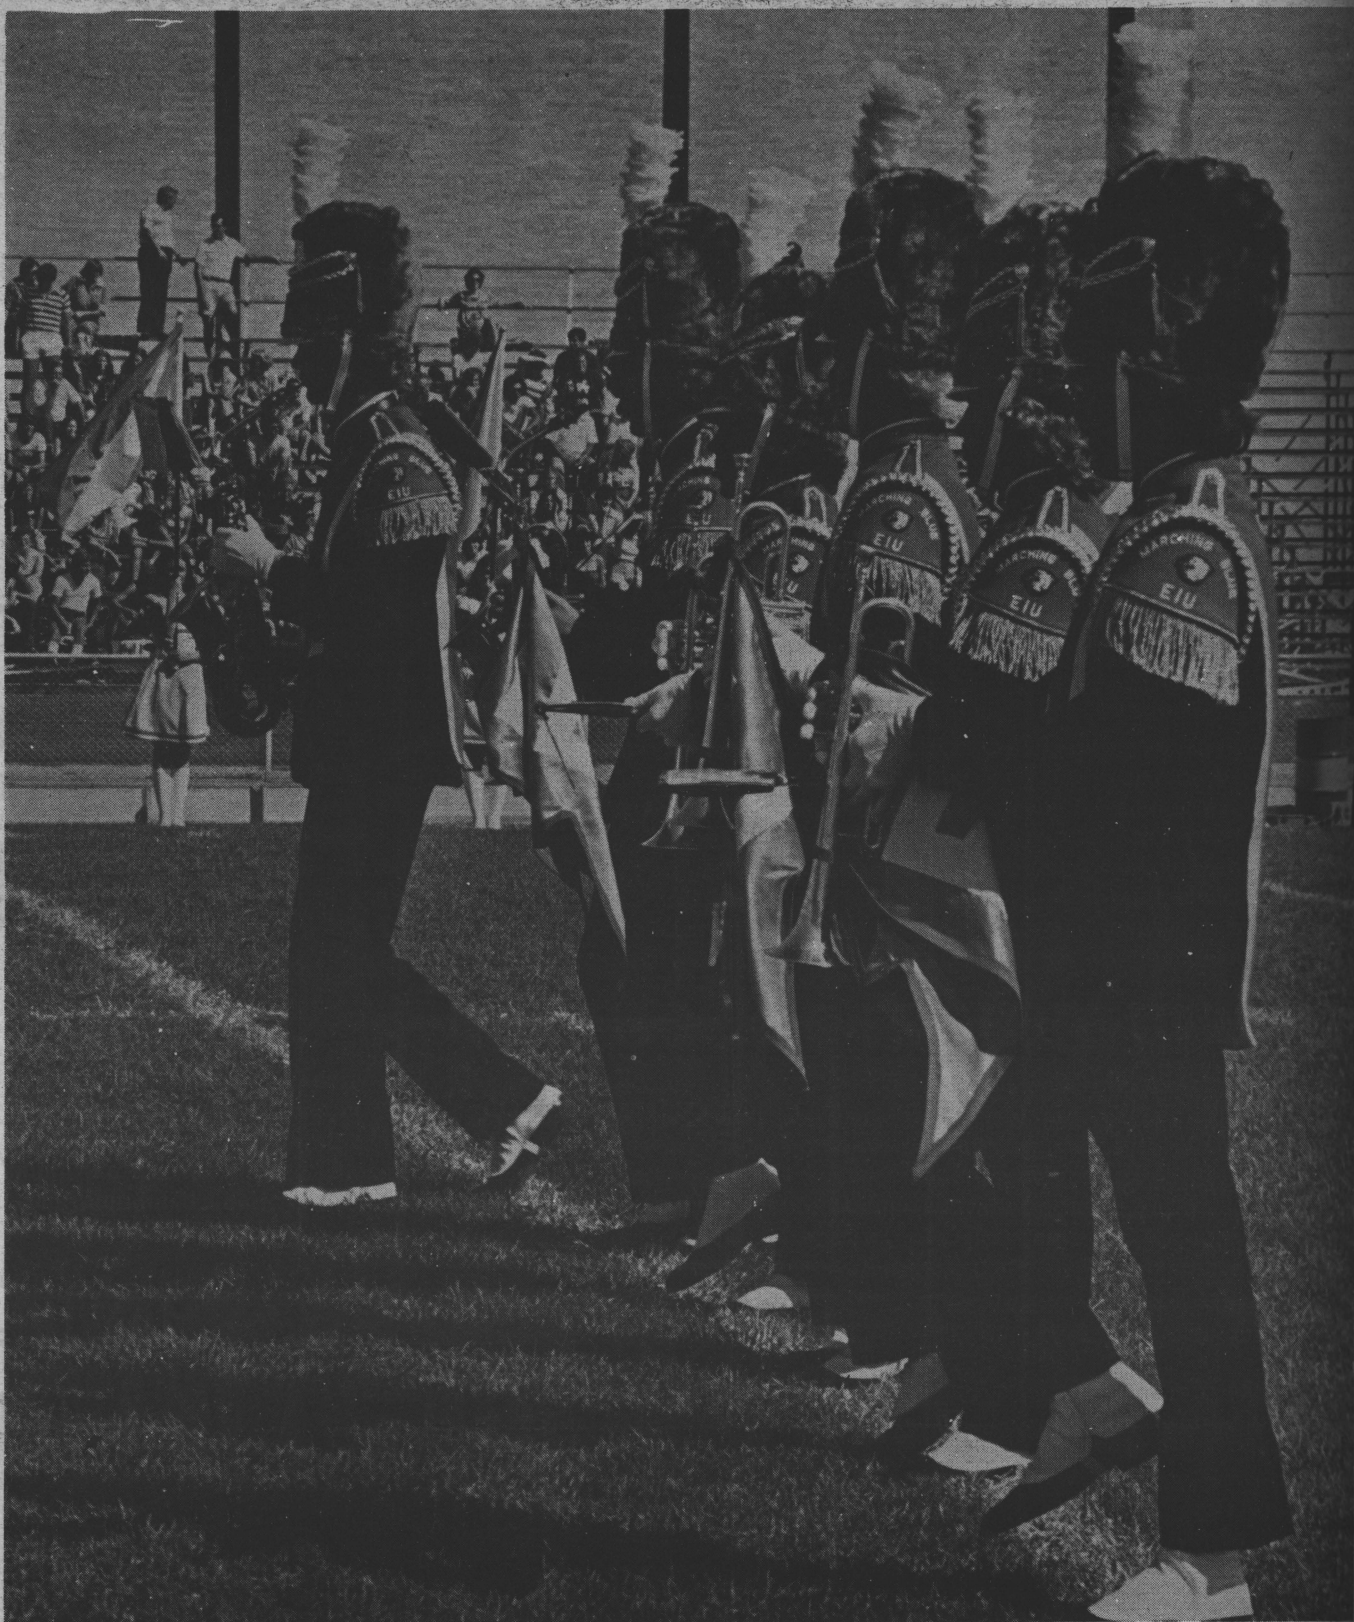

But not everything we do is fun.

Have you ever burnt up or frozen in a scratchy uniform with a stiff collar? Or have you ever tried to play an ice cold instrument with fingers and lips that you can't feel?

Perhaps the most pleasant experience is to have your shoes sucked off your feet by the mud on the field while you're trying to keep in step and do a zig-zag drill.

Don't get me wrong. I love marching band and would never quit, but we do work hard and go through many unpleasantities to entertain people.

Going to Texas, though, was fun!

These are just a few of Eastern's band members who took the trip to Longview, Texas to perform before the game and at halftime of the national championship game. (News photo by Bob Kasinecz)

COTE to view finalists

by Ed Mazzocco

For the first time this semester a student member will attend the Council on Teacher Education meeting Tuesday.

The COTE will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

Former Student Body President Tom Holden said Monday there are two spots on COTE for student members, but he was able to fill only one seat.

Holden said Robert Shuff, Faculty Senate Chairman, recommended three individuals to sit on the COTE, but none of them were able to participate.

Senior In a Grant was able to fit the meeting into her schedule and will regularly attend the meetings next semester, Holden, who made the appointment, said.

COTE Chairman Kathlene Shank said the council is very concerned about student involvement and would belted out another hot disco number for couples to hustle across the floor by.

E.L. Krackers? No, but close. It was like students to attend the meetings.

The COTE Tuesday will vote on whether to accept a course in educational guidance concerning family counseling and an art course in three dimensional design, Shank said.

Shank also said she asked Louis Grado, chairman of the elementary education department, to send faculty from the department to discuss a proposal requiring mathematics in the elementary education area, and three new courses in special education studies.

The COTE will also discuss a proposed new field of specialization in aquatic physical education; new courses in educational psychology and secondary education and new interdisciplinary fields for junior high school majors, Shank said.

Shank said faculty from the psychology department will be present to discuss the process of certifying school psychologists.

the grand opening of Thomas Hall's rec room-turned disco as of Thursday night.

The grand opening was held by Thomas Hall to introduce and show off to South quad residents its newest addition to its rec room. The new equipment includes a new stereo system, a disc jockey booth, color organ, flashing police and mirror lights.

The stereo system sits inside the DJ booth where one or several persons can select and play the music.

Power is generated through the color organ making it possible to "see" the music being played as the lights flash to the rhythm of the music. A suspended mirror ball swirls lights across the room and is accompanied by flashing strobe lights.

Eastern's Physical Plant agreed to do the electrical work for Thomas Hall to keep the lighting system within university safety standards, Ted Phillips, Thomas Hall dorm counselor, said Thursday.

Residents paid approximately $450 in activity fees for the lights and the sockets, he said.

The new stereo system was also purchased by residents through activity fees and foosball table money. The stereo, used for the first time Thursday night, cost about $1,260, he added.

Phillips said he has not heard of any complaints from residents about their activity fees going towards the disco room.

Chris Woods, a Thomas Hall executive council member, said Friday the majority of the residents are pleased with the disco room and he knew of only a few objections.

"I think the room impresses most guys because no other dorm has got anything like it. Even people outside of the dorm say it's great," Woods said.

The idea for the color organ came up last year from a number of residents. Woods said council members took the proposal back to their floors for a response, and then approved it.

"Now the room is booked for every weekend," Woods said.

The room is shared by residents of Andrews Hall for parties of their own because Andrews Hall is the sister dorm of Thomas.

Phillips said he expects to use the room every weekend for keggers and that when the weather gets colder he wants to have dances every other week on a week night.

Shuttlebirds cop win at WIU quadrangular

by Bill Jeffers

MACOMB—Barb Klien and Marcia Metzger each scored 13½ points in leading the women's badminton team to a slim 106-103 victory over Western Illinois in a quadrangular meet held Saturday at Macomb.

Southern Illinois and Ball State were left in the shadows as they finished with 30 and 18 points respectively.

In 1st flight singles competition Kay Metzger won her first two matches before losing in the finals to Malone of WIU 11-3 and 11-8. Lisa Young won her first match before being defeated by Malone again, 11-7, 11-12, and 11-5 in the semi-finals.

"I am very happy with the way the scores turned out, but the team members feel as if we could have done better in some instances," team captain Kay Metzger commented. "I was real pleased with the 3rd and 4th flight players for pulling us through this weekend."

In 3rd flight play Klien beat all comers from the three other teams as did Marcia Metzger in 4th flight competition to win their flight's championships rather easily.

Nancy Szarzynski defeated teammate Kathy Sprehe to win the JV singles title and they teamed together to win the JV doubles championship.

"Everyone contributed to the team scoring by winning in both singles and doubles competition at least twice," coach Bob Hussey said. "Eight of the matches we lost went 3 games and were closely contested," Hussey said.

In the 1st flight of doubles, Metzger and Sue Gonnella won their first match before being defeated in the semi-finals while Sue Field and Lisa Young won their two matches before being defeated in the semis.

Bad weather keeps wrestlers sidelined

Eastern's wrestlers were unable to compete in this weekend's six-team Central Missouri Tournament due to severe weather conditions.

The six teams included Western Illinois, Nebraska-Ohama, Central Missouri, Southeast Missouri, SIU-Edwardsville and Eastern.

"This would have been a very good tournament for us, because I believe Eastern as a team would have won," head coach Ron Clinton said.

"SIU-Edwardsville and Eastern the top two teams at this tournament were unable to attend because of weather conditions," Clinton said.

Eastern next competes at 7 p.m. Friday in a dual meet against Indiana University at Lantz gym.

Tankers beat Missouri-Rolla and ISU

by Matt Davidson

Eastern's men's swim team chalked up two impressive dual meet wins over Missouri-Rolla and Illinois State on Saturday.

Friday's meet with Missouri-Rolla was cancelled due to the bad weather. However, since both squads had scheduled meets on Saturday it was decided that the times for each meet would count for Friday's postponed meet. The results were called in over the telephone with the teams comparing times.

The Panthers completely overwhelmed Rolla by a score of 73 to 40 in Saturday's meet at the Lantz pool. In the meet with Illinois State the Panthers dominated once again as they handed the Redbirds a 67 to 45 defeat.

In the meet with ISU Eastern had some outstanding individual performances. Senior All-American Dave Watson set a new team and pool record in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 21.6. In the process Watson qualified for the nationals with his superb performance. He also added a first in the 100 yard freestyle to his list of accomplishments.

"It was the outstanding swim of the day," head coach Ray Padovan said of Watson's feat.

The 400 yard medley relay team of Bill Spangler, Steve Boone, Tim Bird, and Tim Ward took top honors in that event.

Another senior, all-american Joe Nitch won the 1000-yard freestyle while taking second place in the 500 yard freestyle.

Other first place finishers in the meet were freshman Dave Gibson in the 200-yard butterfly, Tom Hussey in the 200 yard backstroke, and Mike Roessler in the 200 yard breaststroke.

Eastern's Al Cymbal took first place in the one meter diving competition.

The Panthers also had many second place finishes led by Boone and Spangler in individual events. Boone placed in the 200 yard breaststroke while Spangler finished in the backstroke.

Also taking seconds were Eric Swanson in the one- and three-meter diving competition and Mike Foley in the 200 yard freestyle.

Padovan was understandably pleased after the strong showing by his tankers.

"We had some real good swims," he said. "Our young people did an excellent job."

"I thought it was going to be a real, real close meet," Padovan said. "We haven't beaten ISU in three years."

Padovan wasn't clear on how his team defeated the Redbirds so soundly but did offer an explanation.

"I think it was a combination of us being better and them just not being as good as they usually are," he said.

The swimmers will not be in action again until January 12th, when they compete in the Illinois Intercollegiate in Chicago.

NCAA title special to Panther s' Norris

by Carl Gerdovich

Saturday's NCAA championship win certainly was a bit special for Eastern's Panthers, but the title meant a little more to offensive tackle Bob Norris.

Throughout the entire football season, the Panthers had been overlooked and a statement from recently-fired Western Illinois University head coach Bill Shanahan didn't give Eastern a chance against Delaware either.

Shanahan not only predicted a Panther loss in the title matchup, but the former head mentor also discouraged Eastern's Norris from directing his service to the Leatherneck football program.

"He (Shanahan) told me I wouldn't be able to play for him until I was at least a junior," Norris said. "He didn't think I was good enough."

Norris visited WIU's campus last January during the recruiting season after narrowing his choices to two schools-Eastern and Western. Besides a scholarship offer, his decision dealt with the opportunity to play.

"Shanahan thought overall I hadn't come from a very good high school program. He thought my strength and overall talent needed work," Norris said.

The freshman tackle came to Eastern from Pittsfield, Ill. where he played for Dennis Heiman, who also played for Darrell Mudra at WIU.

I'm not one to knock anyone. I felt if that's what he thought, fine. But that motivated me," the freshman added.

The former head coaches' attitude towards Norris didn't really upset him, but certainly inspired his attitude toward the game.

"It wasn't so much a bitter feeling, but instead it motivated me enough to go out and prove I could play," Norris said.

"I don't like being told I'm not good enough. If I want something in life, it really motivates me to after it," Norris explained.

Norris was recruited for defensive reasons. However, after choosing to play for Eastern the Panther coaching staff decided to transfer the 6-4, 255 freshman to offense.

"We saw Bob had great explosiveness. When he hit those sleds he moved them five yards. We knew right there he had to be an offensive player," offensive line coach Joe Taylor said.

"His strength showed he had the ability to become one of the best offensive linemen ever at Eastern," Taylor added.

Norris respected the coaches decision and worked his hardest at reaching his goal.

"The coaches here have really fired me up. That's another reason for me wanting to play at Eastern," Norris said. "They're very patient coaches and are willing to work with you."

Taylor said Norris received the chance to play as a regular when an injury sidelined Stan Gunn. However, Taylor also said Norris' success didn't come overnight.

As for being set aside at Western, Taylor didn't comment but did say the freshman's ability was there.

"Bob really worked at it and his ability helped. Once a guy has the tools, time is all it takes to develop him," the line coach said.

"The good thing about Bob is, he can be a mean guy, and that's what it takes. If he gets mad, he'll destroy his opponent the next play," Taylor said.

enough," Fisher said.

"52 points is just too low for a college game," Fisher said. "We had a lot of open shots but just couldn't hit."

For the game Eastern shot 20 out of 46 from the floor for 43 percent while Murray State shot 29 out of 53 for 47 percent.

"At one point we came within four points but then the players didn't adjust on the press. We also needed more outside shooting," Fisher said.

Murray State, a division I school held the Panthers without a free throw in the first half by committing only four fouls the entire period.

The Panthers face another tough division I school when they take on the Redbirds of Illinois State at 5 p.m. Friday in Normal.

"I'm pretty sure they will play us in a man to man defense so we have a lot of work ahead," Fisher said.

Eastern's women's junior varsity basketball team play their third home game of the season when they take on Parkland Junior College at 7 p.m. in Lantz gym Tuesday night.

"When I saw them play they played a 2-3 zone the entire game, pressing off and on," Beth Carpenter J.V. coach and Assistant varsity said.

"Our greatest asset is our quickness. We can fastbreak a lot of teams and Parkland played a real slow game, if we play our fast paced game we should be able to throw them off."

YEAH, THIS IS RICK RED-FERN OVER AT THE "POST." I'D LIKE TO TALK TO MR. DIGGS ABOUT HIS RE-ELECTION..

AN AMAZING EFFORT! NEVER SEEN ANYTHING LIKE IT! WITHOUT EVEN CAMPAIGNING, HE PULLED 80% OF THE VOTE!

BUT HOW DO YOU EXPLAIN THAT? WHY WOULD 80% OF THE ELECTORATE VOTE FOR A CONVICTED FELON?

I CAN TELL YOU, BUT IT HAS TO BE OFF THE RECORD.

VERY WELL.

HE'S A HECK OF A GUY.

NOW, WAIT A MINUTE! YOU EXPECT ME TO SIT ON THAT?

Warring tabbed by AP for All-American honor

James Warring

by Carl Gerdovich

Eastern split end James Warring received another football honor Monday being named to the Associated Press College Division All-American team.

Warring was also named to the Kodak All-American team last week.

The team was picked by various AP sportswriters from around the country, which included the 6-4, 195 pound Warring from Miami, Fla.

Warring caught 81 passes on the season for 1,201 yards and 15 touchdowns. Included in those impressive statistics were six receptions for 82 yards in the Panthers 10-9 NCAA II championship win over the University of Delaware Saturday in Longview, Texas.

"I feel glad and very proud about being named to the team, but I also feel disappointed that none of the offensive linemen were named to the team too," Warring said Monday.

"This offensive line of ours is one of the best in the country. Without those guys the offensive can't do a thing," Warring added.

One week earlier in the semi-final win over Youngstown State, Warring caught 10 passes for 107 yards, being named the "Offensive Player of the Game" by ABC-television.

During the season he was also named Mid-Continent Conference Offensive Player of the Week twice, averaging 15.8 yards per catch.

Panther runningback Poke Cobb was also honored, being named to the

All-American second team.

Other players named to the first team All-America team included Delaware quarterback Jeff Komlo, who was also named to the Kodak All-American team with Warring a week ago.

On the season, Komlo threw for 2,675 yards and 20 touchdowns including a 21 for 35 afternoon for 250 yards against Eastern in the championship game.

Eastern surges past Cheyney State 66-59

by Brad Patterson

The Eastern Panthers put together two big surges in the second half and came from behind to topple the defending NCAA Division II national champion Cheyney State 66-59 Monday at Lantz Gym.

The Panthers trailed 49-47 with 7:40 remaining in the contest, but then ran off nine straight unanswered points to take a 56-49 lead. Mike Pickens scored six points in the stretch to bring Eastern from behind.

After William Sloan hit from outside, and Charles Murphy connected on two free throws, the Wolves trailed by only 56-53.

Eastern then went on a 10-2 spree which salted the game away. Jim Williams tipped in a miss, and then Lance Jones and Pickens scored at the front end of fast breaks to clinch the win for the Panthers, now 4-2 on the season.

There were a number of contributing factors to the victory, among the most notable individual performances was Williams' 17 rebounds to go with his 11 points, and James Oldham's 15 points off the bench.

Oldham led the Panthers in scoring, followed closely by Jones who turned in his best performance of the season with 14 points.

Jones added six assists and played an errorless floor game.

"I thought all the guards played really well," head coach Don Eddy said. "Lance and Jimi had exceptional games, and Pickens did a real good job when he came back in."

fouls. He returned to score 12 points on five of seven shooting from the floor, and grabbed six rebounds.

Another highlight was the defensive job Tom Thigpen turned in on Cheyney State star Andrew Fields. Fields came into the game highly-touted, but was limited to only 10 points by Thigpen.

"A lot of people overlook Thig because he is having trouble putting the ball into the basket," Eddy said. "He did an excellent job on Fields tonight."

The Panthers won the game despite playing without Craig DeWitt, who did not dress due to the effects of the bout he is fighting with mononucleosis.

Eastern's leading scorer Dennis Mumford scored only two points, as he was hampered by foul problems all evening.

"We have a lot of confidence in our bench," Eddy said. "Craig doesn't play, and Dennis gets into foul problems, and we still beat a really good team."

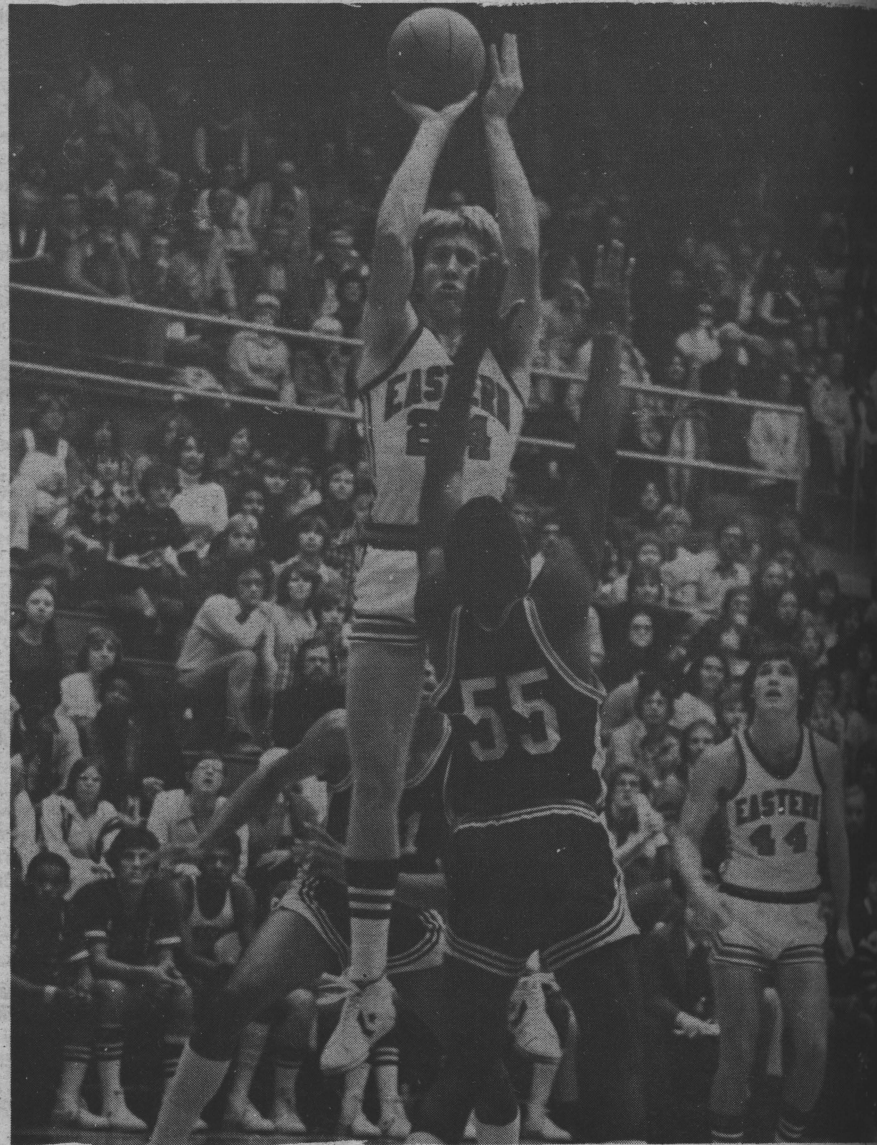

The Panthers also corrected the season long problem of turnovers, committing only 15 in the game.

"Pickens and Jones neither one committed a turnover, which is a good sign," Eddy said.

Charles Murphy led the losers with 22 points, most of them from long range.

The Panthers managed to grab a slim one point lead at the first half buzzer, as Oldham threw in a rebound to give Eastern a 31-30 lead.

The Panthers increased the lead to six early in the second half, before falling behind, and having to rally to pull out the win.

Women cagers fall to Racers for 2nd defeat

by Vickie Woodbury

Key turnovers and poor shooting from the floor added up to a 64-52 defeat dealt to the women Panthers by the Murray State Pacers at Lantz gym Monday.

At the final buzzer the cagers were faced with a season high of 35 turnovers that resulted in their second loss this season. The first loss came earlier this season at the hands of William Woods in the holiday tournament.

"We haven't been up against a man to man defense that much," Head Coach Melinda Fisher said, "and it killed us." We weren't patient enough and we forced bad shots."

The Panthers saw deadly shooting from reserve guards Cindy Barrix, a senior, and sophomore Laura Lynn who scored 12 and 6 respectively.

The pair didn't see much action in the first half but came off the bench in the second half to spark the team to victory.

After a time out called by Murray State mid-way in the second half, Eastern watched a six-point lead dwindle to two and 25 seconds later, the Panthers were fighting back from a 38-34 Murray State lead.

Eastern jumped out early in the game with a seven-point lead but could not sustain the scoring drive because of turnovers. Murray State capitalized on those turnovers to end the half tied at 26-26.

Fisher, even though losing by 12 points, cited the performances of Jo Huber who dropped in 12 points and Jody Furry who netted 12.

"Jo plays the post-forward position and is our most consistent scorer, but I don't think we are hitting our post (See WOMEN, page 10)
