Eligibility rules rest with senate—Cook

by Nancy Yamin

In an unexpected move, Student Senate Adviser Don Cook addressed the senate concerning his responsibilities as adviser at the senate meeting Wednesday.

Cook told senators in the future the senate should not request that the adviser take on the responsibility of making the decision of who is eligible to hold a senate seat.

The final decision should be made by the senate and not by the adviser, Cook said.

Concerning the student government constitution and bylaws Cook told the senate, "You made them, you enforce them."

Cook would not comment after the meeting as to why he made his statement.

Senate Speaker Glenn Good also briefly discussed the issue of eligibility earlier in the meeting "so recent decisions concerning candidate eligibility would not appear to have been made behind closed doors."

Good said two candidates who were originally running for positions on the senate would not appear on the ballot due to low grade point averages. He would not release the names of the two students.

In other action, the Student Senate unanimously passed a resolution asking Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin to veto the credit-no credit proposal which was approved by the Council on Academic Affairs last week.

Student Body President Terry Teele asked the senate to pass a resolution because of concerns he had about the proposal.

Teele said credit-no credit discriminates against students taking the option because they would not receive credit for a D while a student taking the class under normal conditions does receive credit.

The credit-no credit option is changing the philosophy of what is passing and what is failing, he noted.

In other business, Teele nominated junior Shernita Banks, sophomore Madeleine Doubek, and senior Natalie Scott to be candidates for the campus advisory committee to select a new president to replace Marvin.

In addition, the senate nominated three candidates for the committee including senior John Cole, junior Matt Glover and sophomore Glenn Good.

These six candidates will be placed on a special ballot and Eastern students will elect three of them during the April 20 student government election.

Teele also encouraged senators to attend Lobby Day April 19 when students from all Illinois schools will lobby in Springfield to support a tax increase to prevent a tuition hike.

City might have been able to save insurance money

by H.E. Meeker

Charleston might have saved approximately $30,000 in insurance premiums had it joined the Risk Management Association last July, a former Charleston official and an insurance representative said Wednesday.

Larry Stoever, former Charleston city planner, and Jo Pearson, representative for Risk Management Association, a municipal insurance organization, said a comprehensive insurance plan was drawn up for the Charleston City Council in July 1982 offering substantial savings for the city, but the plan was rejected.

Charleston Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer said the offer was rejected because membership in the insurance association could have led to extra costs and therefore was not a bargain over the city's current insurance coverage.

Pearson said Risk Management Association is an insurance pool of Illinois municipalities, based in Danville, Peoria and Chicago, and is directed by Management Services Corporation.

There are currently 94 members in the municipal insurance pool. Members receive comprehensive coverage for liability, workman's compensation, heavy equipment and vehicle insurance, she said.

Pearson said Risk Management Association submitted an offer to Charleston in July 1982 that would have saved $32,000 in premium payments amounting to approximately $128,000.

Richard Williams of Richard Williams Insurance, 715 Sixth St., handles part of Charleston's insurance coverage. Williams said insurance premiums now cost the city $87,000 because of reductions in workman's compensation rate costs.

Charleston has been purchasing insurance without bidding for the last 40 years. Pfeiffer said two insurance agencies receive the commissions and distribute "brokerage commissions" to other Charleston agencies, which do not write the policies.

Stoever said he suggested to the council that it join the association in April 1982 and July 1982. Stoever said he thought joining the association would help cut budget deficits.

Stoever said he tried to get the association's offer on the city council agenda several times, but the council "turned it down."

Insurance agent: coverage plan for charleston 'fairly common'

by Ed Mazzocco

Although questions have been raised recently concerning Charleston's policy of purchasing insurance without bids, one local insurance agent called the city's system "fairly common practice."

"Because it is such a rough market, it is fairly common practice for small communities to buy insurance inside their own community," said Richard Williams of Williams Insurance, 715 Sixth St.

Williams, who handles part of Charleston's insurance coverage, said Wednesday that the only problem with opening bids is that there are not a lot of companies who want to pick up liability insurance for the city.

"If the city opened bids, it would have to find some reputable companies. It is nice that Charleston buys things locally and does not take the business out," Williams added.

Considering the possibility of other agencies offering lower rates, Williams said, "Maybe Pfeiffer, who was accounts and finance commissioner last summer, said the offer was rejected because it was not a great bargain.

"They're an assessable association. If they misfigure and lose money, then members can be assessed for losses," he said.

Williams said the association may or may not have saved the city on premium payments.

"If any city has a horrendous loss, then all the member cities must share in the loss," he said.

Williams added there are other hidden extra costs in association membership. For example, city employees may be required to do certain paperwork which the insurance broker would complete under Charleston's system, he said.

However, Mattoon Mayor Roger Dettro said Mattoon has saved 25 percent on premium payments since joining the association and that members do not normally pay for extra losses.

Dettro said the Risk Management Association will contract with other insurance companies to pick up excess losses on city claims.

Mattoon joined the association in 1982. Dettro said there are three advantages for municipalities.

- The association automatically offers a 25 percent discount on new members' premiums.
- In some cases, municipalities receive more coverage than is needed.
- There are no problems with receiving claim payments.

Dettro was president of the Illinois Municipal League from September 1980 to October 1981. He said he delayed advocating Mattoon's joining the Risk Management Association until his term ended with the municipal league.

The association is governed by the municipal league. The league formed the association in 1980 because it was very difficult for municipalities to afford or acquire the coverage they needed, Dettro said.

"At that time, it was extremely difficult for municipalities to acquire the coverage they needed without paying exorbitant premiums," Dettro said.

Dettro said he asked former Charleston Mayor Bob Hickman to join the association. Hickman could not be reached for comment Wednesday evening.

there is another company who is lower, and there are probably some that are higher."

He added, "Instead of scattering the insurance all over, it is good to know who has it and where to go if there are questions."

Bill Hall of Leland Hall Insurance, 1010 Lincoln Ave., said guidelines would have to be set to establish which companies would be eligible to submit bids if insurance coverage were open to bids.

"Bids outside of the city take money away from the city. If there is bidding outside of Charleston the people involved should be very cautious," Hall said.

Ronnie Lanman, Lanman Real Estate, 915 Lincoln Ave., said, "I don't know of a better system" than Charleston's current insurance purchasing practice.

"The lowest bidder is not always the wisest one to choose. Everyone has to make a profit, or they're not in the business," Lanman added.

Police seize, question Walesa

GDANSK, Poland—Lech Walesa, chief of the outlawed Solidarity labor federation, was seized and interrogated by police for nearly five hours Wednesday about a clandestine meeting with underground union leaders.

“As a free man, I have a right to meet with anyone, even criminal elements, so long as the meeting has no criminal intent,” Walesa told reporters after he returned to his apartment in the early evening.

Walesa, who disclosed Tuesday he had met with the Solidarity underground over the weekend, said he was too tired to discuss the police interrogation and would hold a news conference next Wednesday.

Walesa’s spokesman, Adam Kinaszewski, said, Walesa “didn’t confirm or deny” to the police that he met with the Solidarity underground. “He simply refused to make any kind of statement to police.”

Site given for Jewish museum

WASHINGTON—Speaking in Yiddish on the steps of the Capitol Wednesday, a young Democratic congressman from Connecticut asked Jewish survivors of the Holocaust to remember the gentiles who risked their lives to save Jews—like his father—from the Nazis.

Rep. Sam Gejdenson, born in 1948 in a camp for displaced persons in Germany, won the hearts of his audience of thousands by speaking to them in a fading language once known to virtually every Jew in pre-World War II Europe.

Gejdenson took part in a ceremony in which the government turned over to the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Council two abandoned government buildings near the Jefferson Memorial.

They will become the site of a Holocaust museum and memorial, to be built with $75 million raised in private contributions.

Record life expectancy foreseen

NEW YORK—A baby born in America in 1982 could expect to live 74.5 years, a record U.S. life expectancy, according to preliminary calculations released Wednesday by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

By sex, life expectancy was estimated at 78.2 years for girls, an increase of about 16 weeks from 1981, and 70.7 years for boys, or about 21 weeks more than 1981.

Women who reach age 25 have an additional 54.6 years on average and men an additional 47.8, according to Metropolitan’s actuarial tables.

Dioxin discovered at sewer site

SAUGET, Ill.—Dioxin-contaminated soil found at a sewer construction site will be dug up and stored pending final disposal, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency said Wednesday.

The agency said Friday that dioxin has been detected in soil samples at levels as high as 100 parts per billion, but is thought to be concentrated in a small area.

The U.S. Center for Disease Control in Atlanta has said that dioxin levels of more than 1 part per billion could pose a health risk.

Washington pledges to heal city

CHICAGO (AP)—Mayor-elect Harold Washington promised an “open-hand, healing” administration for the nation’s second-largest city Wednesday, but his defeated Republican opponent snubbed a promised unity luncheon and left for a Florida vacation.

Bernard Epton, bitter in defeat of his quest to be the city’s first Republican mayor in 52 years, offered no concession. He dispatched his brother to the reconciliation meeting, breaking a pledge made on election eve to attend win or lose.

Washington said he was not offended by Epton’s absence.

Some Democrats who bolted in the election remained on the sidelines as Washington declared the vaunted Chicago Machine, which he had promised to dismantle, “mortally wounded.”

“The machine is not dead; it is mortally wounded and like most wounded animals, it will drift off into the woods and die,” he declared.

Meanwhile, Alderman Roman Pucinski, an outspoken critic of the mayor-elect, promised to work with the city’s first black mayor. Pucinski said how Washington conducts his administration would be the key in allaying fears among whites.

The 60-year-old, two-term congressman captured virtually unanimous black support but won the backing of only 18 percent of white voters. He said people are “a little tired” of the tensions that surfaced in his contest with Epton and promised to move swiftly to bring the city together.

“The damage, I think, can be assuaged very quickly by an open-hand, healing, unifying attitude,” Washington said on CBS Morning News. “It will take a little more time; it won’t go on ad infinitum.”

Nevertheless, Washington said Chicago residents must deal with racial divisions. “They can’t bury it because that wouldn’t solve the problem.”

Both Mayor Jane M. Byrne and Cook County State’s Attorney Richard M. Daley, defeated by Washington in the Feb. 22 primary, attended the unity luncheon at the Conrad Hilton. Byrne promised she would be as helpful as possible, while Daley urged the city’s voters to join ranks.

The city council met Wednesday and set April 29 for Washington’s inauguration to the $60,000-a-year post.

Senate panel slows budget cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican-controlled Senate Budget Committee sheathed President Reagan’s budget knife on welfare, food stamps and other key social programs on Wednesday as it tentatively crafted an overall spending program containing $12.7 billion more than he wants for non-defense items.

The committee had voted previously to slash Reagan’s proposed 10 percent defense buildup for next year to 5 percent.

The latest changes were drafted by committee chairman Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-New Mexico, and embraced by both sides. Republicans hold a 12-10 majority.

Details include:

- Instead of Reagan’s proposed $31 billion reductions in Medicare, Medicaid and other health programs over five years, the committee supported cuts of $14 billion.
- It rejected Reagan’s proposed cuts in welfare, food stamps and subsidized housing. The president wanted to trim food stamps by $1.1 billion, claiming that could be saved from “waste and corruption.” But a Congressional Budget Office study issued earlier Wednesday said such a cut, in a program now costing $12 billion, would fall upon the nation’s poorest families.

- Committee members voted to provide $1.7 billion more for education than Reagan wanted, junking his proposed cuts in guaranteed student loans.
- The panel rejected entirely Reagan’s plan to revise the Civil Service retirement system.
- In place of his proposal for a one-year freeze on cost-of-living increases for federal retirees, the panel endorsed a six-month delay.
- The committee voted to spend $300 million more in 1984 than Reagan wants for child nutrition programs. It also rejected Reagan’s call for a cut of more than $600 million in low-income energy assistance.

Voters approve consumer board

Voters in 111 Illinois communities overwhelmingly approved referendums asking the General Assembly to set up a citizens’ utility board to argue for consumers in utility rate cases, a key supporter of the plan said Wednesday.

“It’s a resounding victory for consumers and big defeat for utilities,” said Patrick Quinn, director of the Coalition for Political Honesty that pushed the measure.

About 1 million voters were eligible to cast advisory ballots on whether the legislature should set up the board, which would represent consumer interests during utility rate hearings before the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Under the plan, citizens would underwrite a team of lawyers, accountants and technical specialists to counter similar teams that represent utility companies seeking ICC approval for rate increases.

Utility customers could join the organization for $5 a year and would vote for a 22-member board of directors.

School board names successor

by Gary Burrows
Gene Scholes, director of Eastern's audio visual center, was appointed Wednesday as Jim Wickham's successor on the Charleston School Board.
Scholes was selected Monday by a 4-1 margin to finish Wickham's term. Wickham resigned last month to take the city council position of accounts and finance commissioner.
Alvin Coartney, school board president, said he believed that "Gene is a strong person who will fall right in with the things we've got to do."
"He's familiar with the programs and the school system and is aware of what the board is trying to do in the community," he said.
Coartney added that Scholes was selected from ten candidates to fill Wickham's term, which ends in November.

Scholes said, "I think they invited me to consider the position because a lot of people know that I have an active interest in the Charleston schools."
Scholes said he will run for a full-term board position in November. Running for the full-term position was an application requirement, he added.
Before working at Eastern, Scholes was employed as an industrial arts instructor, an assistant high school principal, a elementary-junior high school principal and a truancy officer.
Scholes has also served as president of the Citizens' Consulting Council to the Charleston School Board.

CAA to review possible classes

by Linda Wagner
The Council on Academic Affairs Thursday will discuss approval of five proposed courses which would be implemented by spring 1984.
CAA Chairman David Buchanan said the council will discuss each proposed course individually before taking any action on its implementation.
Buchanan said the physical education department has asked the CAA to consider a proposal which would revise the physical education major.
In addition, the CAA will consider two proposed physical education courses, PED 1950, "Tap Dance," and PED 3460, "Soccer Coaching."
The physical education department has also requested "modification" of PED 4340, "General Principles of Exercise Physiological," Buchanan said. The modification would mean changing the course from two to three credit hours.
Buchanan said the CAA will also discuss implementing three new honors program courses.

Buchanan said the honors program course proposals have been "developed at the suggestion of students in honors programs and by the honors council."
The proposed courses include ENG 2603 (H), "Honors Mythology;" THA 2240 (H), "Introduction to the Theatre;" and PLS 1003 (H), "Current Problems in Politics."
The CAA will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room.

COTE reviews future of teacher education

by Sheila Billerbeck
The future of Eastern's teacher education program was discussed by the Council on Teacher Education Tuesday.
Ron Leathers, assistant to the dean of the School of Education, discussed with COTE members a planning statement on enrollment, teacher education program-improvement strategies and off-campus teacher education programs.
The planning statement, which was drafted by the COTE and School of Education departments, was presented to Stanley Rives, provost and vice president of academic affairs, Leathers said.
The planning statement is an "internal document representing Eastern's School of Education's views concerning the future of professional education," he added.
"We're concerned with the quality of teacher education and the quality of the new teachers being produced today and prepared for tomorrow," Leathers said.
Leathers said his analysis of national enrollment projections indicates that Eastern should develop a contingency plan in anticipation of an enrollment decline of 10 to 15 percent.
However, Leathers said a nation-wide teacher shortage is expected due to predicted enrollment decreases. He added that the national teacher shortage will reach "serious" proportions by 1984.
"We are already experiencing shortages in mathematics, agriculture, chemistry, physics and industrial arts," Leathers said.
"We're reasonably confident that we will maintain our level of teacher education placement in the future," he said.
Also, Leathers pointed out there will be a growing demand for secondary education teachers throughout the 1980s and 1990s.
At the graduate school level, Leathers said the School of Education should be concerned with furthering students professional abilities.
"Many teachers want a chance to come back and continue education in their selected field," he added.
Currently, he said the school has been actively involved with the current "national thrust" for professional education and the establishment of higher, more rigorous standards for education majors and education programs.
"We want to increase the quality in what we're already doing, not necessarily improving by creating new programs," he noted.
Leathers said standards for admission into teacher education are "just about average compared to schools around the nation."
However, he added that Eastern's School of Education is concerned with the current available funding to support off-campus and summer school programs.
Joley said it costs students from 45 to 90 percent less to take a class at the University of Illinois, Illinois State University and Sangamon State University compared to one of Eastern's off-campus classes.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported Wednesday in The Daily Eastern News election guide that Eastern's student government elections would be conducted April 17. The election is scheduled for April 20.

Executive office endorsements

As a service to our student readers, The Daily Eastern News editorial board offers the following executive office endorsements and opinions for this year's student government election.

We hope students will use the following endorsements and opinions as a guide when casting their ballots April 20.

The six candidates running for the four executive office positions were interviewed by The Daily Eastern News editorial board Monday night.

The candidates were asked to present their goals and views on topics such as the Illinois Student Association, the credit-no credit proposal and improving communication with students, administrators, city council members and state legislators.

The candidates also fielded questions dealing specifically with the office they are seeking.

Those interviews and past coverage of the candidates form the basis for our endorsements and opinions.

Because two candidates are running unopposed, Meg Hart for Executive Vice President and Gail Redeker for Financial

Vice President, the editorial board offers its opinions on how they could best serve student government next year.

We welcome your comments on our endorsements and opinions and will accept all letters to the editor concerning the election that are submitted before noon on Monday, April 18.

Because we have received a large amount of letters before election day in the past, a shorter letter, rather than a longer one, will have a better chance of being printed. The last day we will print letters to the editor pertaining to the candidates will be Tuesday, April 19.

No election letters will be printed on election day, April 20.

In addition to voting on student government positions, you will be voting on positions for the campus' presidential search committee.

The editorial board will also endorse candidates for the committee. Those endorsements will appear in Monday's Daily Eastern News and again, we welcome your opinions. However, we will not print any letters to the editor pertaining to the committee candidates on election day.

On election day, we hope that you consider our endorsements and opinions when casting your vote. We feel our comments on the candidates will give you a better understanding of their ideas and qualifications and assist you in your decisions.

We gave you our opinions. Now, let's hear from you.

President

John Cole's business-orientated approach to student government, frugality with student fees and past experience indicate he is the best candidate for student body president.

The News votes unanimously to endorse Cole over his opponent, Jim Schobert, because Cole's student government experience is more diverse and extensive.

In terms of experience, Cole has executive office experience as financial vice president and chairman of the Apportionment Board, and extensive committee experience including serving on the housing committee, public relations committee and as co-chairman of the auditing committee.

While Schobert also has a good, solid background in student government, his is not as extensive as Cole's and does not include any experience in an executive office.

Schobert's goals for the office are centered mainly around improving communications with students and administrators. Cole's goals, while incorporating the idea of better communication, are more specific and purposeful.

Cole plans to work on a newsletter that will inform the Eastern community of the activities of Student Senate. We feel this is an excellent way to keep the student body informed and spark more interest in student government.

The idea of the newsletter goes along with Cole's goal of upgrading and expanding senate committee work and student interest in those endeavors.

Another of Cole's goals is the formation of a presidents committee, consisting of area student body presidents, that would meet to generate and exchange ideas.

Cole also plans on having the Board of Governors representative, the Illinois Student Association representative and the Student Senate Legislative Committee work closely together in obtaining more Illinois State Scholarship Commission monies for public universities.

We believe Cole will accomplish what he sets out to do and will benefit the students of Eastern.

Financial vice president

Gail Redeker, financial vice president candidate, lacks Apportionment Board experience but has the initiative and potential to fill the position.

Experience with the operations of the AB is necessary to fill the position of financial vice president because the holder of that office also serves as the AB chairman and the AB is responsible for allocating approximately $298,884 of student fee money each year.

Redeker has University of Missouri student government budgeting and finance experience but is, presently, unfamiliar with Eastern's system.

However, Redeker has recently been working closely with current Financial Vice President John Cole to familiarize herself with the AB board. We believe Redeker has the ability to absorb and put into use Cole's extensive knowledge of the inner workings of the AB's financial system.

Redeker has already begun to formulate ideas for improving communications between the AB and its funded groups. We like Redeker's idea of sending out bimonthly financial statements to all AB groups. This type of system should alleviate the problem of groups overspending their budgets by mid-semester.

We also agree with Redeker's proposal to freeze the accounts of groups that are overextending their budgets until their accounts are in order.

In our opinion, with Cole's help, Redeker will be able to gain the experience and knowledge she needs to fill the position.

BOG representative

The News unanimously endorses junior Philip Montgomery for the office of Board of Governors representative.

It is disappointing that neither Montgomery nor his opponent, senior Bob Erio, possess a strong understanding of the way the BOG and the rest of the higher education hierarchy functions; and that Erio has never attended a BOG meeting, while Montgomery has attended only one which was held at Eastern.

But we believe Montgomery has proven himself to be a responsible student leader in the past and has good, specific goals for the office of BOG representative in the future.

Montgomery's goal of breaking down the Illinois State Scholarship Commission's funding into separate budgets for private and public universities is an excellent one which, at the very least, should bring administrators' attention to the funding inequities of the ISSC.

Erio believes the ISSC break-down concept could never be realized and his lack of determination to even attempt the project leads us to doubt Erio has the dedication to fight for student interests.

Montgomery, who is currently chairman of the Student Senate Legislative Committee, believes the BOG representative should be made a permanent member of this committee. We believe this to be an excellent idea at a time when lobbying for higher education funding is crucial.

Montgomery's plans to testify to the legislature on the students' behalf, to schedule more student lobby days and to take students with him to various BOG meetings are all sound methods of emphasizing the students' needs to state leaders.

In addition, Montgomery is dedicated to fighting for one student vote representing the five student BOG members and looking into allocations to stop BOG waste spending.

We believe Montgomery to be the more dedicated candidate with motivation to overcome his lack of knowledge and be a productive representative.

Executive vice president

The News bases its opinion that Meg Hart is a qualified candidate for the office of executive vice president on Hart's past student government experience and her innovative ideas for the position.

Hart has been actively involved in student government for two years and during that time period she has shown a great deal of drive and initiative in performing her many duties.

Besides being a student senator, she was very instrumental in the development of the Off-Campus Student Housing Association, has served on the Residence Hall Association for two years and has experience with student-faculty boards.

Hart's goals for the position of executive vice president include instituting an attendance policy for all student-faculty boards and attracting a more diverse group of people to serve on those boards.

Keeping lines of communication open with board members is one of Hart's major goals. She plans to have regular conferences with the faculty chairman of each board and attend as many board meetings as her schedule allows.

She also favors putting more students on the Union Board because the workings of that board and the University Board, which promotes student activities, are so closely related.

Hart's energy, drive and experience will serve her and Eastern students well in the office of executive vice president.

Workshop on agriculture slated

by Diane Nowak

The impact of urbanization on the farmer, the nutrition value and cost of school meals and the political economy are some of the topics that will be discussed at the Illinois Public Policy Conference Thursday and Friday at Eastern.

The eighth annual "United States Agricultural Policies: Policy Victims and Policy Beneficiaries" conference, which is sponsored by Eastern's political science department, will be conducted in the meeting rooms located on the third floor of the Union addition, Larry Thorsen, political science department chairman, said Wednesday.

Thorsen added that the purpose of the conference is "to make information available to students and community experts in the agricultural policy."

People participating in the conference will present and discuss a prepared paper with Eastern students and faculty members during the sessions, Thorsen said.

Thorsen added the session titled "Acreage-Reduction and Payment-In-Kind Programs" will be of greater interest to the community farmers.

"The PIK is a current federal program under which farmers will not plant some of their land," Thorsen said, "Instead of money, they receive grain to sell on the market."

He added the conference sessions will begin at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Although there is not an admission fee, Thorsen said a voluntary $5 contribution will be requested.

"People are free to attend one or a few sessions of their choice," Thorsen said. "I hope that everyone will attend because it is good to hear from the experts in these fields."

Funk, pop musical performance set by Popular Demandd

The Chicago band Popular Demandd will perform a variety of music styles for Eastern students Thursday evening.

The seven-piece band plays soul, funk music and pop music, University Board Adviser Booker Suggs said.

Suggs said the band has performed at Chicago nightclubs and at other universities.

The band is being sponsored by the UB Human Potential Committee in conjunction with the Miller Brewing Co., he added.

The free performance will be from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday on the Library Quad, Suggs said.

He added that the rain location for the concert is McAfee North Gym.

Triad holds second annual mock wedding ceremony

by Mary Alice Flock

White lace, wedding bells and rice helped to add a touch of authenticity to the Triad's Second Annual Mock Wedding.

Senior Linda Swope, Triad president, said the purpose of the wedding, "was to provide a hall activity and a social event to get the residents of Weller, McKinney and Ford Halls involved and better acquainted."

Sunday's ceremony, conducted in the Union Ballroom, was complete with a justice of the peace, a bridal party, relatives and even the traditional wedding song, "Here Comes the Bride."

Mark Hudson, Weller Hall counselor, acted as the ceremony's justice of the peace.

The bride and groom, whose identities were not disclosed before the ceremony, were freshman Patti Carneal and junior Joe Fordonski.

Both Carneal and Fordonski said they were nervous about "getting married." However, Fordonski said, "Now, I'm prepared for the real thing."

Triad residents also served as members of the wedding party, which consisted of seven bridesmaids, seven groomsmen, four ushers, a flower girl, a ring bearer and the parents of the bride and groom.

Some area businesses made contributions to the event.

Owners of Coffey's Flower Shop and Greenhouse, 1335 Monroe Ave., donated the ceremony's floral pieces, Swope said.

Becker's House of Fashion, in Mattoon, furnished the bride's wedding gown. Triad's building foreman, Phil Cutwright, provided the groom's tuxedo, she said.

Dresses for the bridesmaids were donated by Eastern's Delta Zeta sorority, she added.

Following the ceremony, the Triad food service hosted a reception with cake and punch, Swope said.

Freshman Ann Peifer, Triad resident, said, "This was my first time attending a mock wedding. I had fun. I'm looking forward to next year's."

Sophomore Julie Tater, a Triad resident, who also saw the first Triad mock wedding, said she liked both weddings equally.

Swope will be working on the plans for next year's wedding soon.

Students to give choral concert

Two groups of student singers and an instrumental ensemble from Eastern will make music together to perform a choral concert Thursday.

The Eastern Chamber Singers, the Oratorio Chorus and a brass and wind ensemble will perform a variety of pieces, Cindy Eubanks of the music department said.

Faculty member John Maharg will conduct the Chamber Singers in some classical pieces and one jazz arrangement, she said.

The classical pieces include "Liebeslieder Walzer," the "12th Madrigal" and "Campion Suite." The jazz arrangement will be "Deep River," she said.

Eubanks added that senior Carolyn Young and graduate student Patricia Cunningham will each conduct one Chamber Singers' piece.

The Oratorio Chorus will be conducted by faculty member Robert E. Snyder. The group will sing "Mass in A minor" and will be accompanied by a brass and woodwind ensemble, Eubanks said.

The free concert will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Dvorak Concert Hall.

AB to discuss funds for UB video group

The Apportionment Board Thursday will discuss the allocation of funds for the University Board's videotape committee, AB Vice Chairman John Modder said recently.

At last week's AB meeting, Financial Vice President John Cole said the AB will discuss a $500 budget shortfall for the campus radio station WELH.

The AB will meet at 7 p.m. in the Nicola-Tuscola room of the Union addition.

Nod of approval given to center

by Vicki Vass

Eastern's Counseling Center received accreditation in March by the International Association of Counseling Services.

Counseling Center Director Bud Sanders said this is the center's first accreditation. "We have applied before, but haven't received accreditation until now," he said.

"We are very glad to receive this. We worked hard. Dr. Margaret Soderberg and Vice President (for Academic Affairs Stanley) Rives were very supportive. We're glad for Eastern," he added.

Sanders said the center first had to go through a period of self-study. "First we had to take a real soul-searching look at ourselves, then someone came in and took a look. We worked out improvements so the student can be pretty sure of getting good help," Sanders noted.

Sanders said the center offers individual and group counseling for students with personal, vocational and educational concerns or problems.

The accreditation association includes counseling centers in the United States and some European and Canadian centers, Sanders added.

Junior college program slated

by Frank Garvin

Eastern will host the annual Illinois Community College Association conference Friday and Saturday for junior college students interested in a four-year college journalism major, a spokesman said Wednesday.

The conference, sponsored by Eastern's journalism department in cooperation with the ICCJA, was organized by an Eastern public relations class.

Karen LeBica, a junior in the public relations class, said "about 150 community college students will probably attend the conference."

Junior Jackie McBlain, also a public relations student, added the conference will consist of "tours, workshops and a banquet at the Mattoon Holiday Inn."

She said that guest speakers will conduct the workshops.

Some of the workshop speakers will include Jerry Fallstrom and Dan Hagan of the Charleston Times-Courier, former Daily Eastern News Editor in Chief Lola Burnham, photo-journalism teacher Mike Smeltzer and acting journalism department chairman Peter Voelz," she said.

The conference will begin at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, McBlain said.

Orator to focus on Caribbean

Changes in the Caribbean environment will be the topic discussed during the geography-sponsored lecture Thursday, Douglas Meyer, geography coordinator, said Wednesday.

Meyer said Charles Alexander, who is a University of Illinois geography instructor, will conduct the lecture.

The purpose of Alexander's lecture, titled "The Physical Environment of the Arid Islands in the Caribbean as Perceived by Europeans," is to "make people more aware of the past and present Caribbean environment," Meyer said.

The lecture will begin at 7 p.m. Thursday in room 332 of the Science Building, he added.

The Music Man:

Hit play brings back memories of the 'good old days'

A foot-tapping, hand-clapping performance of "The Music Man" has brought excitement to Charleston.

The Charleston High School production, under the direction of music teacher Alice Jayne Swickard and her assistant director, Eastern Junior Shelley Williams, is one of the most electric shows the high school has produced since it suffered drastic budget cuts in the 1970s.

The play was previewed for a crowd of senior citizens Tuesday night.

The play, which cost $900 in royalty fees to produce, is highlighted by excellent casting, performing and scenery.

The scenery, designed by Eastern graduate Harold Truitt and built by David Swickard with student volunteers, lends a rustic atmosphere that allows one to feel at home in River City, Iowa—where the play takes place.

The play's plot is simple. Professor Harold Hill, a "swindling" salesman, is attempting to procure money from the good citizens of River City by forming a boy's band. However, to do this he must fool Marian Paroo, the local librarian and piano instructor.

Tim Woodall (Harold Hill) and Kris Halsey (Miss Paroo) show a certain "chemistry" in their work together, especially in the scene when they kiss on a footbridge. They display maturity in their stage presence, making it easy to forget that these are high school kids, not trained actors.

Woodall succeeds in manipulating the audience

Review:

Becky Lawson

with his excellent voice. His energy dominates throughout the show as he portrays the high-intensity salesman with the fortitude required. All of his singing numbers are well done, but his rendition of "Marian the Librarian" deserves special praise.

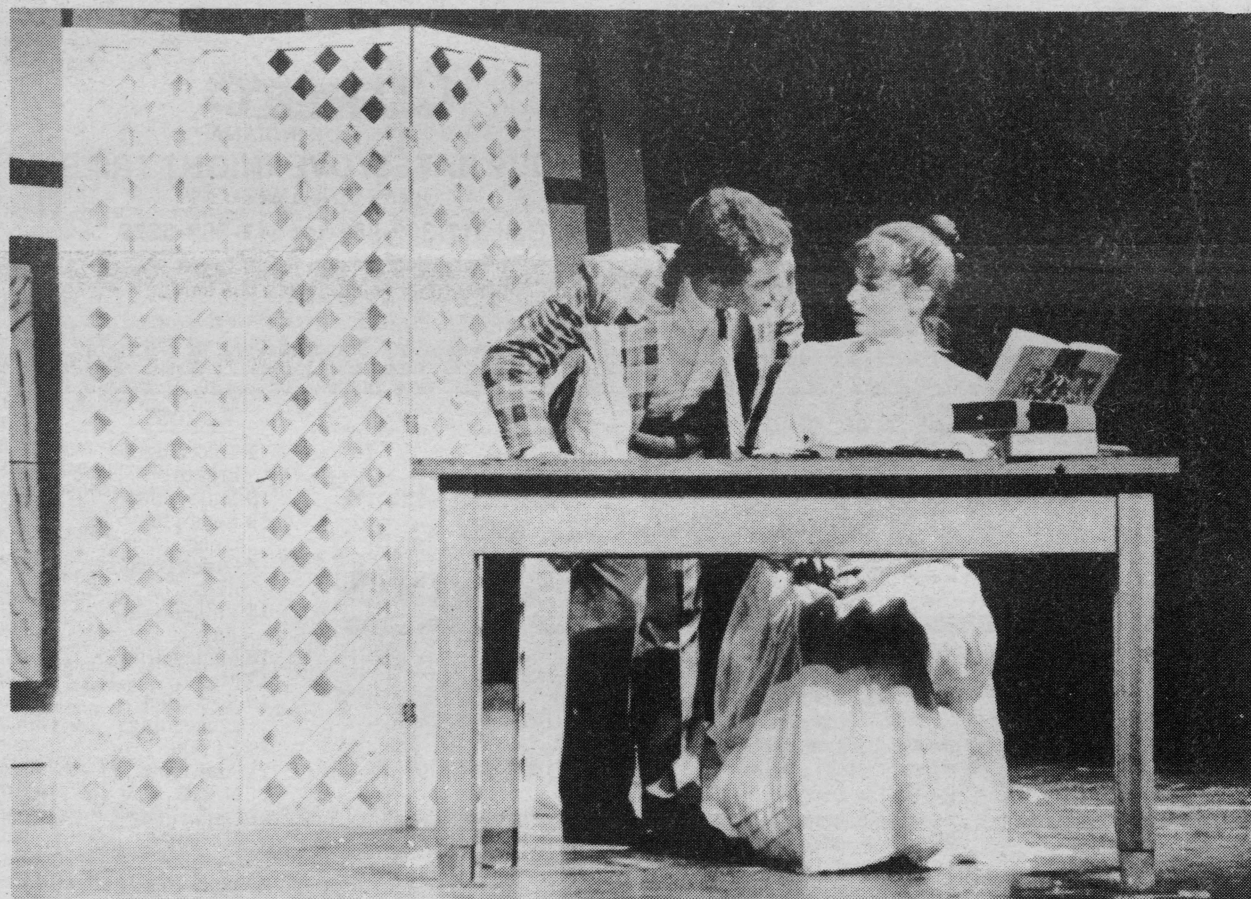

Halsey's portrayal of an old maid trying to give the annoying salesman the brush-off is especially credible. "Goodnight My Someone," sung by Halsey and Liane Kramer, is moving.

Darren Tuggle, portraying a former salesman friend of Hill who has gone straight, steals the show several times. His energy and exuberance make his number "Shipoopee" shine. Throughout the entire play one awaits Tuggle's next entrance and next antic. He makes his role one of the most memorable.

Junior high student Dirk Garner's portrayal of Winthrop Paroo is delightful. He plays the troubled boy with ease, charms the audience into sympathizing with his character who has an enchanting lisp.

Charleston High School's performance of The Music Man is a show that brings back memories of the good old days and makes one forget the troubled ones of today.

The Music Man will be presented April 14, 15 and 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the CHS auditorium. Tickets are $1 for children, $1.50 for students and $2 for adults.

Second round

Hawks to open series with Stars

CHICAGO (AP)—Both the Chicago Black Hawks and Minnesota North Stars struggled more in the first round of the National Hockey League playoffs than most people expected they would. Now, things figure to get even tougher.

The Black Hawks and North Stars, the top two teams in the Norris Division, went through difficult four-game series in the opening round of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Chicago, which finished 39 points ahead of St. Louis in the division race, lost the first game to the Blues and were hard put to win twice in St. Louis to take the series. Minnesota was 28 points better than Toronto but need three 5-4 victories—including two in overtime—to advance.

Thursday night, the North Stars visit Chicago for the opener of what may be an intense, physical best-of-seven quarterfinal series.

Also opening Thursday are the Boston Bruins-Buffalo Sabres, New York Rangers-New York Islanders and Edmonton Oilers-Calgary Flames matchups. The second games will be played Friday.

"Our team got used to playing tight games," said Minnesota General Manager Lou Nanne, who has gone behind the bench to aid Coach Murray Oliver. "That's got to be a help. We went through a grueling series."

"Our team played very consistently, very physical, very disciplined. That's what you need to do to win in the playoffs."

There is no love lost between these two rivals. Last year, in a brutal opening-round series, the Black Hawks upset the North Stars. This season, Minnesota had the edge in the series 4-3-1, including a 4-3 decision on March 21 in a game which was marred by a bench-clearing brawl.

The North Stars' major concern will be to slow down Chicago's high-scoring trio of Denis Savard 35-86-121, Al Secord 54-32-86 and rookie Steve Larmer 43-47-90. The Black Hawks must deal with Minnesota's front-line balance and the resurgence of center Bobby Smith, who was a terror against Toronto 4-2-6, two game winners.

Two

thern Michigan would eventually like to do. "We're doing all right as long as we have friends that will play us, but a conference is important," he said.

According to Eastern Athletic Director R.C. Johnson, AMCU reaction to Northern Michigan's possible membership application was favorable.

Johnson said some athletic directors have noted that Northern Michigan will have a tough time gaining acceptance because of traveling reasons.

"When Northern Michigan was in the MCC it was a great football conference, but they chose to drop out and play schools in the state," Johnson said. "Now they want to start playing us."

"I think they would add some prestige to the conference, but I have mixed emotions because of the costs of traveling to Marquette, Mich.," Johnson added.

Canale said Northern Michigan, unlike SIU-E, will have to convince the AMCU members that its location is not a big problem.

Northern Michigan must receive 12 of the current 16 conference votes from member athletic directors and presidents to gain membership in the AMCU.

Following the voting, Northern Michigan would have to deal with the "two-point predictor" which prohibits recruiting anyone with less than a C grade point average and would have to change its schedule.

McMurray to ce surgery

ern all-conference offensive Alvin McMurray will be out for weeks following a broken ankle he suffered during Tuesday's spring football game.

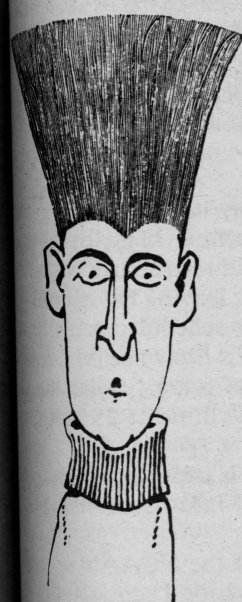

He broke the fibula and a pin was inserted, team physician Dr. Jerry Heath said. "He'll probably be in a cast for three to six weeks."

Despite the injury, Heath said he expects McMurray to be able to come back next fall with no physical difficulties.

With surgery this shouldn't hinder McMurray from coming back in the fall and could help him start working out on his own in six weeks after the cast is removed, Heath noted.

As a sophomore, McMurray started the game as the Panthers' right

Eastern signs cager Emro to letter of intent

by Kirby Flowers

Gavit High School basketball standout, Todd Emro, became the first Eastern basketball recruit to sign a national letter of intent Wednesday, Head Coach Rick Samuels announced.

The 6-foot-6, 220 pound forward from Hammond, Ind., is the first official Panther recruit to sign this spring. He had made a verbal agreement with Eastern in December.

However, Emro injured his knee last January and underwent cartilage surgery which knocked him out for the remainder of the season.

Despite the injury, the coaching staff hopes that Emro can eventually fill the power-forward spot for the Panthers and judging from his recent athletic accomplishments, he could have the muscle for the position.

"Todd is on record throwing the shot put 56 feet this spring and has gone over 60 (feet) in practice so that indicates the leg is sound and developing strength," Samuels said.

"He is a strong player," Samuels continued. He is "a power forward who hasn't developed his potential primarily because he's been unable to play recently."

In addition, Emro averaged 12 points and hauled down seven rebounds per game his junior year, which impressed the Panther coaching staff. "He's a good shooter and can put the ball on the floor," Samuels noted.

Consequently, Eastern's coaching staff has landed the top recruit they were after, but considering last year's recruitment there is little room for anyone else.

Due to the returning talented Panther unit, Eastern's recruitment will be somewhat limited this year, because there are less scholarships available for future Eastern cagers this season.

Last year Eastern notched the 10th best recruiting season in the Midwest according to the Chicago Sun-Times.

The Panther coaching staff's list of recruits from last year is headed by 6-foot-10 center Kevin Duckworth, 6-foot-4 guard Tim Wyss, and forward Jeff Hippen and J.T. Coleman.

Duckworth earned a starting position in the Panther line up, while Wyss was used primarily as a spark plug, but did start occasionally. Eastern fans should look forward to seeing both players for the next three years.

Eastern also has starters Dan Crook, Tim Dykstra and Dirk Anderson returning next season. Also returning for the Panthers are four players who were red-shirted last season.

Raiders awarded damages in suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A federal jury awarded damages of $11.5 million to the Los Angeles raiders and $4.8 million to the Los Angeles Coliseum Wednesday in their antitrust suit against the National Football League, with the amounts automatically trebled to about $49 million total.

The verdict in U.S. District Court came in the damages phase of the antitrust suit won by the Raiders and the Coliseum against the NFL last spring.

The Raiders had asked about $20 million from the league and the Coliseum asked approximately what it was awarded.

In antitrust cases, damages awarded by juries are automatically tripled unless reduced by the presiding judge. They were not in this instance.

The damages phase of the antitrust trial, with Judge Harry Pregerson presiding, lasted 17 days and the jury of six women deliberated 24 hours.

That was more than four times longer than it took them to find last spring the NFL had violated federal antitrust laws by blocking the Raiders move from Oakland in 1980.

The Raiders managing general partner, Al Davis, was in the courtroom when the damages verdict was announced.

Maxwell Blecher, attorney for the Coliseum, appeared well satisfied, but he had said, "It's a certainty the NFL will appeal."

Last May 7, the same jury found the NFL's rule 4.3 was in violation of antitrust law. It was also determined the league had not acted with "good faith and fair dealing" in handling the Raiders' situation.

Panther squads lose games to rain

Wednesday's baseball and softball games were canceled because of rain, further hindering play for Eastern's teams, which have been plagued by rain and poor field conditions all season.

The Panther baseball team was slated to host a twinbill against Indiana State 1 p.m. at Monier Field, while Eastern's softballers were scheduled to play Evansville University 2 p.m. at Lantz Field.

Eastern baseball coach Tom McDevitt said the games would not be rescheduled, but added that the two clubs could possibly get together in the future.

The Panthers softball coach Deanna D'Abbraccio said the softball game would not be rescheduled either, and added that "another game simply couldn't be fit into our schedule."

"We aren't very happy with the cancellation," D'Abbraccio said. "At this point in the season any game we miss is going to hurt us."

With Wednesday's cancellation, the Panther softball team will now turn their attention to Friday and Saturday's four-team, Southern Illinois-Carbondale tournament.

In addition, Eastern's baseball squad will try to put the rainy weather behind them this Saturday when the Panthers host Southern Illinois-Edwardsville in a double-header at Monier Field.

Two schools look to AMCU for near future

by John Humenik

If granted NCAA Division I status, Northern Michigan and Southern Illinois-Edwardsville could be involved in the expansion of the eight-school Association of Mid-Continent Universities.

Northern Michigan Athletic Director Gil Canale said Wednesday his school is definitely considering joining the Division I AMCU in the next two years.

Southern Illinois-Edwardsville has already applied for acceptance into the AMCU and should join the conference next year after it obtains Division I status from the NCAA classification committee.

SIU-E will join current members Eastern Michigan University of Illinois-Chicago, Cleveland State, University of Northern Iowa, Southwest Missouri State, Valparaiso University, Western Illinois and Wisconsin-Green Bay.

However, Canale said Northern Michigan would only apply for acceptance into the AMCU and the Mid-Continent Conference if the current NCAA Division I system is restructured.

"We're taking a wait-and-see attitude right now," Canale said. "We would love to get into a conference, because that's the only way you're going to survive financially."

"I don't want to put my basketball program in Division I and that's the same with my other sports," Canale said. "If they would restructure basketball to I-AA we would consider leaving Division II."

The NCAA Council has scheduled meetings Monday through Wednesday in Shawnee Mission, Kansas, to organize an agenda for a special meeting of Division I and I-AA schools June 24-25 in Kansas City, Mo.

Canale said the NCAA is expected to propose restructuring of Division I into its current two-level system for football.

If the proposal passes at the NCAA's special convention in January, all Division I schools will fall to either the I-A and I-AA grouping for basketball and football.

Canale said he believes any restructuring would create conflict among schools which have received Division I status but might be dropped to I-AA pending.

Northern Michigan was part of the former Mid-Continent Division II conference but had to pull out when the league's members filed for Division I-AA status.

Currently, the MCC includes Eastern Michigan, Western Illinois, Southwest Missouri and the University of Northern Iowa.

"It was a good thing for everyone involved," Canale said. "Obviously, the MCC had no respect. It would be fantastic to rejoin the conference."

Canale said Northern Michigan, which plays at Michigan State and the University of Michigan for basketball, is having no problems scheduling games as an independent Division II school.

Canale said joining a conference is something he would like to see happen.
