Students outside an after-bars party on Ninth Street Friday night, continue their celebration despite a break-up incident

Unruly mob injures officers

CRYSTAL PHILPOTT
by editor

Two Charleston police officers were injured after being hit on the head with beer bottles at a party they went to break-up on Ninth Street around 2 a.m. Saturday.

One officer received a parietal fracture on his forehead after a bottle thrown from the crowd hit him on the forehead, while the other officer received a contusion on the back of his head from another bottle thrown through the crowd, said Charleston Police Chief Maurice Johnson.

Only the first officer, however, required treatment at Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center, Johnson said. The officers had responded to a noise-complaint at 1605 Ninth St., Johnson said, and were attempting to break up the party when the crowd became violent toward the officers.

People were yelling at them, throwing beer bottles and throwing beer on them, he said.

"A bunch of guys hollered 'let's get 'em' and a bottle was thrown from the crowd," Johnson said.

Terry Zeman, an Eastern senior who lives at the house, said when the officers attempted to remove the keg and tapper from the party, people became even more aggressive in their efforts to throw beer on the police.

"Everyone was dousing the cops. Beer was running in their eyes," Zeman said. "They couldn't see to take the tapper off. They were dripping wet. They were soaking wet."

"The crowd was yelling 'stone 'em, stone 'em.' The whole crowd was screaming at the cops. The cops were scared," Zeman said.

Johnson said the officers were confiscating the keg because minors were discovered at the party.

Zeman said the crowd, which he estimated to be about 400 people, became even angrier when the officers tried to take the keg.

"Two guys came and took the keg out of the back of the car and outran the cops with it. They were running down the street with the keg," he said.

Zeman was later arrested by the officers for alleged mob action, a misdemeanor.

Other residents from the house paid Zeman's $100 bail bond shortly after his arrest Saturday, Zeman said.

However, while at the police station, Zeman said he was intimidated. "Oh, yes. I was scared. I was scared," he said.

"It's something I'm very disappointed in the students," Johnson said. "We don't like to go to these parties. But if they get too noisy, we have to. All we want them to do is break up the party. We're not asking a lot. Just that they break it up."

Johnson said the Charleston police had never had a situation like the one Saturday morning.

"I'm not trying to threaten anybody, but we'll do what we have to do. Beating up my officers is like beating up my kids. We don't want to take drastic measures in the situation, but my officers are not going to be beat up. I don't intend for it to happen again," Johnson said.

"If they want to do stuff like this, let them go back to the city (where, unlike Charleston, situations like Saturday's are more common).

"It's really unfortunate that these 200 kids (at the party) have to make it look bad for the whole 10,000 (Eastern students)," Johnson said.

He said the case is still under investigation. Whether more arrests will be made in connection with the case will be determined by any findings made, he said.

Rives seeks approval of BOG for 'Greek Court' project

BILL DENNIS
Administration editor

... tentative approval for an on-campus greek housing project is being sought by the Board of Governors at Monday meeting, even before a survey to determine support for the project is completed.

Eastern President Stanley Rives said the BOG, Eastern's governing body, will be asked to give initial approval for the estimated $2.5 million "Greek Court" project at Monday's meeting. They will also vote on $300 to hire Upchurch & Associates of Mattoon for preliminary design work for the project, to be built between Ninth Street and Carman halls.

However, a survey to determine support for the project has yet to be completed. Sherrie Sanders, chair of the Greek Court committee, said questionnaires have been sent to executive officers of Eastern's fraternities and sororities. The surveys are to be returned to her office by Friday.

Sanders said a decision on who would administer the project, either the student housing office or student activities, is "very much down the road." Both student housing and student activities are under the jurisdiction of Glenn Williams, vice president of student affairs.

However, Sigma Nu President Tim Taylor said Williams told him in April the facility would be administered as student housing and would have to abide by the same rules as residence halls. Williams was unavailable for comment.

The survey attempts to address questions students have about a possible loss of control. Among other things, questions include:

•Whether advantages to a "greek row" include a better living environment, better relationships with residents and city officials and improved greek unity?

•Whether disadvantages include loss of control to the university, an anti-alcohol policy, having to live under a house mother/graduate student, distance from campus, an increase in housing bonds, having just remodeled present house, or a greater cost than

Tuition hike not as high

By BILL DENNIS
Administration editor

Eastern students may fare better than other university students in Illinois when it comes to a possible tuition increase for spring.

The $50 to $75 spring tuition increase predicted by Eastern President Stanley Rives Wednesday is lower than increases either approved or planned by other four-year universities, officials said Friday.

Rives said Wednesday he doubted the board would approve a hike as large as the $150 per semester increase approved for the University of Illinois last week, in part because Eastern received the lowest percentage cut in appropriations of Illinois universities.

Although Rives predicted $50 to $75 for the possible tuition increase, he said no figures have been decided on by the CAP, Chancellor and Presidents, who will make a recommendation to the Board of Governors at its October meeting.

Southern Illinois University and the three-school Board of Regents are also considering tuition increases at levels greater than Rives' prediction.

SIU's Board of Trustees will vote in October on a $100 per semester increase for students on the Carbondale campus and a $67 per quarter ($200 per year) increase for the Edwardsville campus, said SIU spokesperson Cathy Walsh.

The BOR will also vote on tuition increases for its three member schools at its meeting Friday, said Warren Harden, Illinois State University vice president for business and finance.

Students at ISU and Northern Illinois University face a $150 per semester increase, while Sangamon State University students face a $100 per semester increase.

The BOG, Eastern's governing body, will discuss tuition increases for Eastern, Chicago State University,

Fire harms Carlinville high school

CARLINVILLE (AP)—Fire swept through the only high school in this small Southern Illinois town early Sunday, burning classrooms, caving in part of the roof and forcing officials to cancel classes for Monday, authorities said.

No one was injured, and there was apparently no one in the building when the blaze broke out in the three-story school attic shortly after midnight, said Macoupin County Sheriff's Department dispatcher Bob Stratton.

"It started in the attic, but it destroyed the third floor and some classrooms on the second, too," he said.

Robertson garners Iowa straw poll

AMES, Iowa (AP)—Television evangelist Pat Robertson gave his backers and emotional charge with a call for "moral strength" and won an easy victory in a straw poll of activists who gathered to listen to seven GOP presidential hopefuls.

Robertson got a third of the votes in the straw poll Saturday at the state GOP's "Cavalcade of Stars," outdistancing Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole and Vice President George Bush. Former secretary of state Alexander Haig was the only candidate who did not attend the state GOP's Cavalcade of Stars.

Vietnam releases war prisoners and grants amnesty for others

BANGKOK, THAILAND (AP)—Vietnam is releasing 6,685 prisoners, including generals and senior officials of the South Vietnamese regime it toppled in 1975, the official Vietnam News Agency said Sunday.

The agency said the communist government ordered the amnesty and reduced terms for 5,320 other prisoners to mark two anniversaries. It said some of the prisoners already were freed.

Among those granted amnesty were 480 military and civilian personnel of the former South Vietnamese government, including two ministers, 18 administrative officials, nine officers of general rank, 248 field officers and 117 junior officers, it said.

"They were all convicted of crimes against the people," said the agency, monitored Bangkok. "However, the government applied a lenient policy toward them by sending them to re-education camps. In the process, they have shown their resolve to mend their ways."

Hanoi officials said recently that about 7,000 prisoners remained in re-education.

Chicago schools remain closed

CHICAGO (AP)—Striking teachers and the school board remained at a contract stalemate Sunday, making it likely classes would remain cancelled for Monday and even longer, officials said.

"It doesn't look good," board spokesman Robert Saigh said

Sunday after a 10-hour negotiating session Saturday produced little progress. He said no contract talks had been scheduled by Sunday afternoon and neither side knew whether federal mediator Wesley Jennings would call them back to the bargaining table before Monday.

Saigh said minor progress was made on non-monetary issues during Saturday's session, but declined to provide details.

Saturday's 10-hour negotiating session was the first between the school board and the 28,000-member Chicago Teachers Union since the strike began Tuesday.

Trophy needs funding

By MIKE HELENTHAL
Staff writer

Plans for a traveling "living" trophy between Eastern and Western Illinois University are complete—except for where the money will come from, said Roger Thomson, student senator and Student Awareness Committee chair.

"If we can come up with the money there's nothing standing in our way," Thomson said.

Thomson said the "living" trophy idea was first conceived when he asked Eastern President Stanley Rives for some platform ideas for Thomson's campaign for student body president during the spring 1987 semester.

Rives stressed in the meeting that Eastern lacks tradition, therefore, the "living" trophy is designed to "improve relations between the two BOG schools and to promote tradition and school spirit at Eastern," Thomson said.

The basic idea is whenever Eastern plays Western in football, members of the losing school's Student Senate buys a white oak tree and travels to the winning school's campus to plant it, Thomson said.

After the tree is planted, the visiting senate members would sit in on the other senate meeting to "see how it operates and to get some exchange of new ideas," he added.

Thomson said both schools would also have a hanging plaque bearing the name of the winning school and the year that they won engraved on it.

Although Thomson has yet to find a financial supporter for the project, he has figured the costs for it. "The tree would cost $90 dollars for every year that Eastern loses, and it would be $130 for the plaque which would be a one-time shot," Thomson said.

He said he will be looking into the chances of an outside athletic booster organization, such as the Panther Club, to fund the plan or hopes the senate will be able to supply the money.

Polling site discussed

By BRUCE UNDERWOOD
Staff writer

Students accustomed to voting in Buzzard Building may find the polls have been moved for the next student government election.

The possibility of moving the Buzzard poll has been considered by Elections Committee Chair Lori Lockman and has been brought to the attention of the Student Senate.

Considerations of moving the polling site surfaced after senate members heard of complaints and negative comments regarding the size of the polling place and low voter turnout.

Lockman said the Buzzard poll has the lowest voter turnout out of all the student government election polling places.

She said she would like to see higher voter turnout in the fall elections and plans to investigate the possibility of moving the poll.

Student Body President Deb Camren said the general consensus of the senate is to move the poll to another location. She said she would favor any move to increase student participation in the election process.

A meeting has been set for 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Walkway to discuss possible locations and alternatives to moving the poll.

Students interested in providing input should contact Lockman in the student government office located on the second floor in the Union.

Eventsful sales begin in Union after three-week delay

By TINA POSZICH
Staff writer

If students seem disorganized this year, it may be due to the lateness of Eventsfuls, a date book containing Eastern events that has been distributed each fall for about 10 years.

The sale of Eventsfuls, usually the first week of classes, will begin Monday in the Union bookstore and ticket office while supplies last, said senior Kristie Gebhardt, the University Board public relations coordinator who oversees the book's production.

"In the past they have been sold at tables in the Union during limited times," Gebhardt said.

"They should've been in by Aug. 18, but somehow production got two weeks behind schedule," Gebhardt said.

"The books went in for publication six weeks ago at United Graphics in Mattoon," said Anita Craig, director of student activities.

However, there has been a hang-up. The problem has been with the company subcontracted by United Graphics to handle the spiral wire binding, she said.

"We've had delays in the past," Craig said, "because we have transportation and work time (at the subcontracted companies) to contend with."

Craig said they will receive a partial shipment of 500 books Friday while the remaining books will be shipped Monday. She estimated the total number of Eventsfuls will be close to 2,000, which is comparable to previous years' orders.

This year's price, $3.50, is also comparable to past Eventsfuls. The cost is the same as last year even though production costs have increased. Craig said students will pay the same price because the book is underwritten by advertisers.

"The books are really a service to the students," Craig said, "They're not out for profit making."

Gebhardt has placed advertisements in the paper to inform students of the sales. "Otherwise, freshmen won't know what they are," she said.

However, not all students were aware that such a date book exists.

Freshman Christy Richter, a business major, said her roommate told her about the Eventsfuls so she is waiting to buy one. In the meantime: "I'm just writing my assignments on a piece of paper and putting it on my bulletin board."

Senior Cindy Geragosian, a psychology major, said the delay will have a negative effect on sales.

"I definitely think it's going to affect the sales because people look forward to buying them so they can get organized," Geragosian said, adding: "I know of a lot of people who bought their own (similar books) because they got tired of waiting."

Correction

In Friday's edition of The Daily Eastern News, it was incorrectly stated in a story about an accident involving race car driver Roberto Guerrero that a spectator was killed during the accident. The spectator was killed earlier this year during the Indianapolis 500. The News regrets the error.

Time for the annual teacher's strike

Does anybody know what season of the year it is?

Well it's not ski season. Nor is it Spuds MacKenzie season. It's almost the fall season, but it certainly isn't the season to be jolly.

And why not? Well looking at my sportsman's calendar it is easy to see that this is the strike season.

Every year about this time thousands of people threaten to strike, be they teachers or football players or bowlers.

It is the teaching profession and those they affect that is perhaps most volatile.

Every year hundreds of mothers wash, scrub and cry over thousands of sons and daughters before sending their children off to school where they will learn to become flag-waving, American citizens. And almost without fail, every year these children will have to wait days, weeks and sometimes months before entering school.

The effects of a walkout are numerous on a young mind. First of all, a young student, who is already experiencing pangs of anxiety over entering school, may become disillusioned on the value of an education. With no classes to attend, young people remain on the streets where they may find the taste of a sip of whiskey more appealing than returning to school.

In Chicago (that great city by the lake), 430,000 students in 594 schools will be affected by what may prove to be the longest strike in that city's history. Not only are the students going to be scared, but the teachers will be as well.

It's like getting in a huge fight with your boss once a year—more often than not nothing more than an increased blood pressure is achieved.

Closer to here the effects of a prolonged strike are easily seen. In Mattoon, for example, the strike season is a popular time of year. In 1984 and again last year picket lines were drawn. The 1986 strike, which lasted 30 days and affected more than 4,000 students, also forced the transfer of about 30 Eastern student teachers.

It is no wonder qualified teachers are lacking. A 30-day strike and eventual transfer to an unfamiliar school all before a student teacher is even through with school, would certainly have irreversible consequences upon the person's desire to teach.

As if the annual threat by teachers of a strike is not bad enough, sports teams are joining the ranks of people who call strike season their favorite time of year.

The men that throw that pigskin around on Sunday and Monday, and then put white powder in their nose during the rest of the week, are also threatening to strike.

Although the effects of a football strike are miniscule compared to those of a teachers' strike, it is disturbing to see both professions using innocent bystanders. If you will, as pawns that can be discarded at a moment's notice as a means to achieve their own personal goals.

The only people that should be thinking about strikes in the fall are baseball players—unless your name is Lucky.

Constitution's vagueness is its greatness

For the past two centuries these words, "We the people in order to form a more perfect Union," and the thousands of others that follow them in the U.S. Constitution have been debated, interpreted, misinterpreted, fought for and copied. It has been the topic of countless conversations by rich and poor, black and white, young and old.

This Thursday marks the bicentennial of the approval of the Constitution by the Constitutional Convention. Though it was approved by the members of this delegation it still had to be sent to the states to be ratified.

The original document has been amended 26 times in the past 200 years, yet it still remains essentially the same instrument by which our government operates.

Despite its longevity, there has been a debate during the past few years promulgated by the Reagan Administration and several conservative scholars about interpretation of the Constitution.

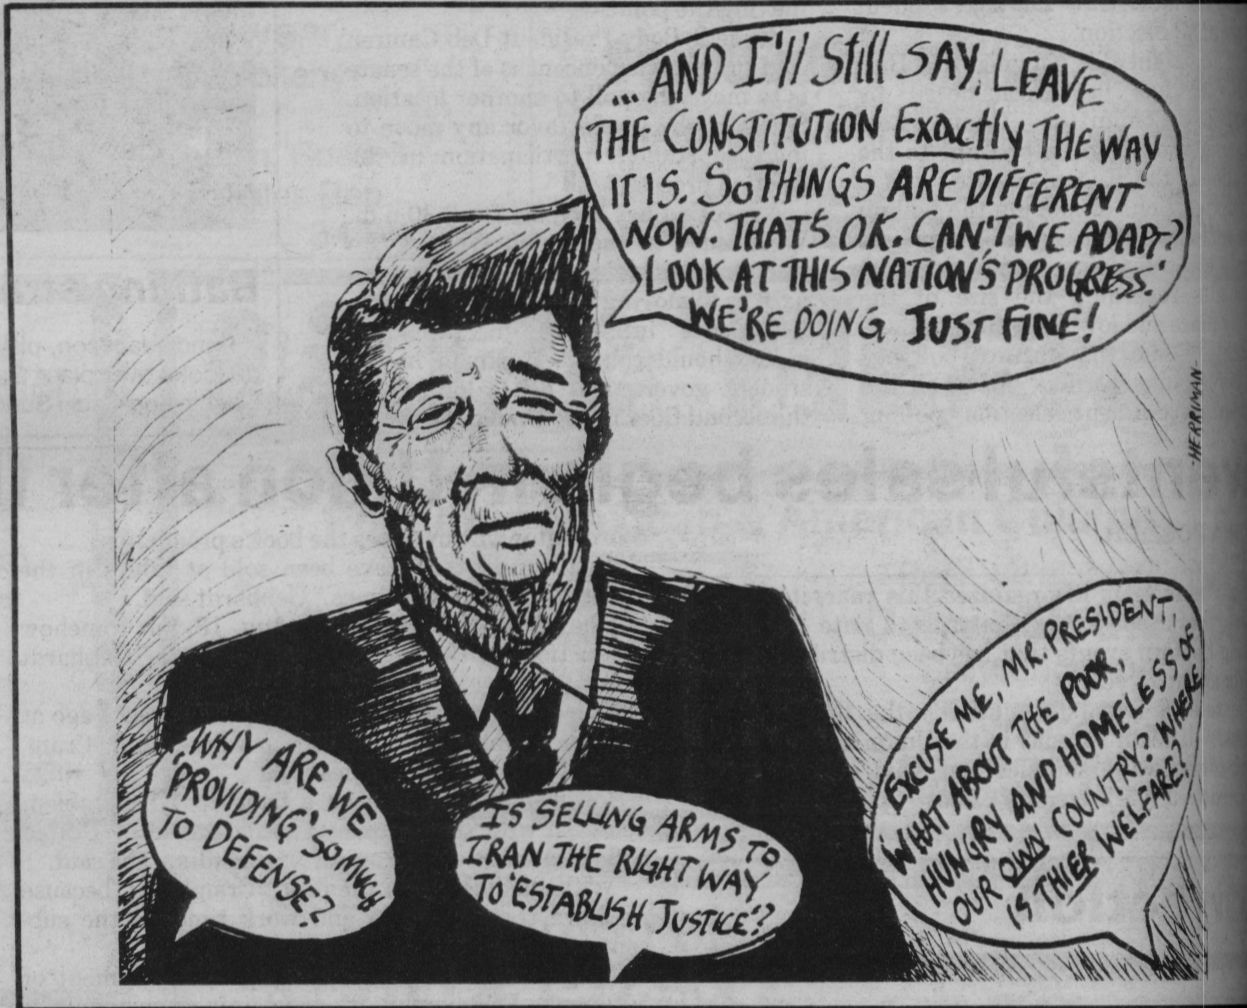

They contend that any case coming before the Supreme Court should be judged by the Constitution's exact letter rather than reading between its lines as is often done by the high court.

This doctrine is called original intent. Theirs is the belief that the Constitution isn't open for interpretation to meet contemporary needs and understanding. Anything not specified in it should be corrected by either Congressional legislation or amendments to the Constitution.

The process of amending the Constitution is long and would be impractical to implement everytime a new situation arises before the Supreme Court. Since less than 10 percent of all bills introduced to the Congress actually become law that option is unreliable.

The original articles of the Constitution were deliberately written vaguely. This allows past, present and future generations the opportunity to draw their own conclusions about the personal freedoms, guarantees and limitations on government offered in the Constitution and its amendments.

The original intent doctrine has flaws. Most obvious of which is no one can know what was on the framers' minds when they wrote the Constitution, except that the United States finally had a government of its own and was free from tyranny.

Your turn

Not all fraternities like Delta Sigma Pi

Editor:
I am writing in regard to the editorial that appeared Friday concerning the system of fraternities and sororities at Eastern. The editorial discusses the hazing carried on by a professional business fraternity, Delta Sigma Pi, and attempts to link the practice to social fraternities and sororities.

Although it may be inaccurate to say there is no hazing on campus, the hazing is extremely minor compared to the incidents discussed in the editorial that Delta Sigma Pi was guilty of.

As for my own fraternity, Sigma Nu, it was founded on the principle of no hazing. It is misleading on the part of The Daily Eastern News to link the business organization with Sigma Nu and the other groups set up by the Interfraternity Council and the Panhellenic Council, which have extremely different purposes.

The editorial fails to show the positive side of pledging a fraternity or sorority. By becoming involved with the greek system, a student has a chance to make lifetime friends. He or she has the opportunity to become involved in the community through numerous community service and charitable projects performed by the greek organizations at Eastern. The student will have the chance to develop leadership skills that will be an asset in his or her later career.

Tim Taylor
President, Sigma Nu

Letters submitted without a name (or a pseudonym) or without a telephone number or other means of verifying authorships will not be published.

Marble Arts enters fifth year with new exhibits

TINA PAULEY

The Marble Arts Center has begun its fifth year with new exhibits, staff members and volunteers from the retired Senior Volunteers Program.

Beginning Friday, Charleston artist Jerry Griffith's watercolor paintings will be exhibited in the TAC Brainard Gallery.

As a self-proclaimed, part-time artist, Griffith is a psychologist at Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center where he is also director of Psychology and Social Services. He said his paintings in the exhibit are primarily seascapes and landscapes.

Also included in the exhibit will be Ebru marbled pieces by Griffith. He said Ebru is a "form of a process of marbling which originated in Turkey."

Griffith said the process involves an image being created with floating pigments on the surface of a sizing solution made of water and powdered glue, which is applied to another surface treated with alum.

After the design is created the solution is then rinsed off, he said. He noted that some fine papers at the beginning of leather-bound books are samples of marbling.

A public reception for Griffith will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday at the center. At the reception, the current exhibitions of 19th and 20th Century Prints and American Scene Prints will be presented.

The exhibit, from the Collection of the University Art Museum, Berkeley, Calif., has been on display since Aug. Included in the exhibit are 50 works in oil, watercolor, lithographs, engravings and other mediums by such artists as Vincent van Gogh, Camille Pissaro and Marc Chagall. The prints will remain on display until Oct. 11.

Griffith will present a slide lecture on his paintings at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the TAC. Results of a survey he conducted of artists nationwide will be discussed during the lecture.

He said he used a survey method called "The Artist Self Appraisal Inventory" to study part-time artists such as himself at workshops around the country. The survey "samples backgrounds, activities and lifetime goals" of those artists, Griffith said. Results of the survey are to be published in "American Artist" magazine.

His paintings will remain on exhibit through Oct. 18.

A slide lecture by printmaker Mark Pascale will be presented at 7 p.m. on Sept. 29 at the TAC. Entitled "An Artist's Point of View," the lecture is planned in conjunction with the 19th and 20th Century Prints exhibit as well as a film, "100 Years of Modern Art: 1870-1970," which will be shown at 7 p.m. on Sept. 22.

Also on display from Aug. 22 through Oct. 11 are American Scene Prints from the TAC Permanent Collection. Works by American artists during the 1930s and 40s are included in the 20-piece exhibition.

The TAC now has a new registrar, David Poole; sales/gallery coordinator, Barbara Watts; and graduate assistant, Stephen Ahlfield. They join two student workers, secretary Edie Malehorn, 25 RSVP workers and director Michael Watts in the operation of the center.

Watts said he is currently interviewing applicants for the position of curator of education.

Malehorn said a reception for "all contributing members from the beginning (of the center) through now," will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. on Oct.

23 to celebrate the fifth anniversary of the center's dedication.

She said the center annually displays "The International Children's Show" featuring art work from 30 area schools and one or more international schools in the late spring.

The chance to see all the center's exhibits is one advantage to volunteering at the center, RSVP worker Orene Gray said.

She works at the center as a receptionist for a few hours a day, as do all the RSVP workers.

RSVP is directed by the Coles County Council on Aging, said Florence Wiley, a RSVP worker.

The TAC is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays and 1 to 4 p.m. Sundays. The center is closed on Mondays.

PR costs state $13 million

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Illinois spent more than $13 million last year hiring private public relations firms to promote everything from tourism to the fight against AIDS, a newspaper reported Sunday.

State officials say hiring top public relations firms is necessary to conduct media campaigns that state spokesmen can't handle. They say the firms also are used to tap private sector resources and skills to promote state programs to the public.

"You're competing with cars, soaps and cereals for people's attention," said Dean Schott, who has moved from spokesman for the Department of Public Health to chief of communications for the Department of Public Aid.

"You have to get the experts in there to be competing successfully," he said.

The cost of hiring a private public relations firm can run from a few thousand dollars for posters and pamphlets to more than $12 million for one campaign to entice tourists to the Land of Lincoln, the Champaign News-Gazette reported.

While virtually every state department is manned with its own public information officers, more and more public relations tasks are being farmed out to private firms, state officials say.

"You want to be able to enlist the most professional help available at the least cost," said Jo Warfield, director of communications for the Department of Children and Family Services.

Private companies can often add the slick packaging and flair needed to appeal to the public, and often at less cost to an agency than hiring temporary employees, Ms. Warfield said.

Whatever the attraction, private firms are getting plenty of state tax dollars, the newspaper said. For example:

•Jan Zechman & Associates Advertising Inc. of Chicago leads the pack with a more than $12 million contract last year to promote Illinois to tourists. The agency coined the "Illinois, You Put Me In A Happy State" campaign in 1986.

Governors State University, Western Illinois University and Northeastern Illinois University at 8:30 a.m. Monday at the Oak Brook Hills Hotel and Conference Center, 1909 Spring Road, Oak Brook.

However, Eastern students already face a 4-percent tuition increase approved by the BOG last year, before a budget dispute between Gov. James Thompson and legislators resulted in slashes in higher education funding.

Eastern's tuition rates for 1987-88 jumped $60 for in-state lower division students and $36 for in-state upper division students following board action last year.

In other business, the board will vote on a 25 percent increase in Eastern's 1989 operating budget. In a prepared statement, Chancellor Thomas Layzell said the BOG is seeking a "significant" 22.4 percent overall increase in order to restore funds cut from 1988 appropriations.

•Who should enforce the housing policy, the greek adviser, house mother/graduate student, chapter president, chapter adviser or other?

•Would the residents be willing to pay up to $50 more per semester?

•Should smaller chapters be allowed to build houses that would hold fewer members?

Taylor said the one and one half-year-old fraternity is "very much in favor" of Greek Court, considering they do not have a house, however, he said he foresees problems if alcohol is banned from greek court.

Banning alcohol from greek row would be comparable to the situation at Illinois Wesleyan where all alcohol is banned, Taylor said. There, greeks often drive several miles to drink, and then return drunk, he said.

Taylor said he hopes an agreement can be worked out allowing alcohol on a limited basis to avoid such a situation.

Delta Tau Delta president John Huber said they still have a three-year commitment to their present house at 1707 Ninth St. But after the lease ends, they would be interested.

"Considering the zoning and city ordinance problems in this city, it might be beneficial to get all the fraternities and sororities in one location," Huber said. The DTDs were forced to move from their house at 6 E. Lincoln after owner Robert Carlise decided not to renew their lease.

Rives said the proposed greek complex will initially consist of eight units containing 30-50 students each. The number of units could expand depending on interest shown by fraternities and sororities. He said involvement in the project is voluntary.

Student committees strive to improve campus

By JEFF MADSEN
Staff writer

Together, the seven standing committees within the Student Senate are responsible for the majority of work accomplished in the senate every year.

They spearhead fundraising campaigns, organize student elections, serve as liaisons with state and local government officials and attempt to make campus life easier and convenient.

The Minority and International Relations committee, co-chaired by senators Andrea Pyle and John Cosenza, is responsible for involving international and minority students within the campus.

Pyle and Cosenza work together with the Black Student Union and International Minority Students to sponsor cookouts, to take trips to Springfield to familiarize international students with state government and to organize the BSU fashion show.

The Student Legislative Committee is the university's liaison with state and local government officials. According to Senator Bill Helmbacher, the co-chair with Tom Green, one of this year's largest goals is repairing sidewalks and installing more lights near Ninth Street and East halls.

"The lighting they have in those areas is very minimal and with the campus lighting program, we're going to try and change that," Helmbacher said.

The Housing Committee works hand-in-hand with the Residence Hall Association and serves as a mediator between off-campus tenants and their landlords.

"Our major function is to keep up the relationship between on and off-campus housing with the university," said committee chair Patty Kennedy, adding she would like to change the housing bi-laws in the constitution this year.

"Every February, we sponsor a housing fest, which is essentially a seminar for off-campus tenants and their landlords. We provide them all with housing booklets and give them information on services like garbage disposal, leases and legal services," she said.

The Student Awareness Committee, which focuses on one of the senate's largest concerns this year, is chaired by Senator Roger Thomson and serves as the liaison between the senate and the student body.

"We're responsible for investigating any areas where a student's personal freedom is concerned," Thomson said, adding that his committee is responsible for the student newsletter and helping with voter registration drives.

The University Relations committee, on the other hand, is the liaison between the student body and the university administration. This year, it is one of the driving forces behind the upcoming campus carnival on Sept. 26-27. But, chair Tim Taylor has already set some goals to concentrate on this year.

"I'd like to get the drain fixed in the south quad. Every time it rains, it floods really bad. I'd also like to do something about the parking sticker lines. This year it was ridiculous the way they had it set up. People were camping out in front of the Union at 5 a.m. just to get a sticker," Taylor said.

The Elections Committee is the primary organizer of the student body elections each spring and fall. It coordinates the entire election from taking care of the ballots to figuring out what day the election will be held.

"This year, I'd really like to see a big voter turnout. The spring elections always get a big turnout, but the fall elections really don't," said chair Lori Lockman, who added she would like to find another polling place other than Buzzard Building.

"I've heard a lot of negative comments about Buzzard Hall because its so small and they really don't get a big turnout there," Lockman said.

The seventh committee is the Academic Affairs Committee. Chaired by Senator John Barrett, it is responsible for students' academic interests.

"We're going to work on a way so students can evaluate their textbooks and we're hoping to implement that this fall," Barrett said.

Women's league celebrates 25th anniversary

For 25 years the Coles County League of Women Voters has encouraged women to vote, but their involvement in the community doesn't stop there. They were instrumental in getting the referendum passed for the addition to Charleston High School," said the member Rose Mary Shepherd. Shepherd, who is also the regional superintendent of schools, said, "The league was also instrumental in getting Charleston School Board to establish kindergarten before it was mandatory." League members gathered Saturday at the Charleston home of 2nd Vice President Olga Durham to celebrate the organization's 25th birthday. The Coles County League of Women Voters first started as the Charleston League of Women Voters in 1962. "We decided that we would like to have women have an organization, and we had an organizational meeting," said Doris Steinmetz, a 25-year member of the league. "We had to have 25 people to be an official league, and we had to do a study of the city, entitled "Know Your City," Steinmetz added. Steinmetz, who has held several offices in the organization, said individual leagues of Women Voters were usually in towns larger than

Charleston. "We worried that we wouldn't be able to sustain one. "The National League of Women Voters gave us considerable help," Steinmetz said, adding, "A national representative came down to help us." The league became the Coles County League of Women Voters about five years ago, Durham said. She cited recent issues the league has worked on. "We've been working on the illegal trash dumping and inoperable motor vehicle ordinance. It's a continuing project to try to get the dump areas cleaned up. Once one person starts (dumping waste), it just grows." Trash dumps "become eyesores and dangers for children. The landscape really looks desolate," Durham said. The Coles County League of Women Voters also supports a council-manager form of government for Charleston. Durham said a council-manager form of government has direct control of the day-to-day management of the city, while the council performs the legislative duties for the city. Charleston is currently run under a commission form of government where each commissioner is responsible for his own department within the city. Deloris Cooper, an active league member in the early 1970s, said, "I think it's a very good organization. An understanding of things going on in the community and the state is important."

Faculty members to give presentations at convention

sports editor

Two Eastern instructors will give presentations at a two-day educational conference Thursday in Springfield. The conference is being held to aid rural and small school educators in "learning and enhancing the educational services provided by rural and small schools," said Board of Governors spokesman Pamela Meyer. Karl Konrad, Radio and Television Center producer/director and German instructor, and John Beabout, director of the Radio and Television Center, will both give presentations on the use of video technology as an instructional aid. BOG Chair Nancy Froelich said the conference would reaffirm the BOG college's commitment to rural and small school districts. Konrad will discuss video technology and its application to foreign languages and international studies. Starting a video-foreign exchange with other countries will be the focus of the presentation, Konrad said. By supplementing existing foreign language or even geography classes, Konrad says educators may want to think of starting a "video-letter exchange, matching students of the same age, but in different countries to pose questions of exchange partners." "If it gets down to a question of money, they (small schools or districts) can do it (a video exchange) with existing equipment," Konrad said. Beabout will serve on a panel to discuss educational television. He will discuss classroom instruction, support materials, classroom management and integration with curricular objectives.

Broncos blitz Seahawks 40-17 on opening day

DENVER (AP)—John Elway threw for 338 yards and four touchdowns, Rich Karlis kicked four field goals and Dennis Smith forced two third-quarter turnovers as Denver routed Seattle 40-17.

Elway completed 22 of 32 passes and had touchdown completions of 72 yards to Steve Sewell, four yards to Steve Watson, five yards to Orson Mobley and 59 yards to Vance Johnson as Denver scored 33 straight points after trailing 17-7 in the second quarter. The Broncos didn't have to punt until 10:52 remained in the game.

Elway was helped by a defense that forced three turnovers in a 10-minute stretch at the end of the first half and beginning of the second and had five in all. The turnovers led to 27 Denver points.

Los Angeles Raiders 20, Green Bay 0

Marcus Allen rushed for 136 yards and a touchdown on a career-high 33 carries and Vann McElroy returned an interception 35 yards for a touchdown as the Los Angeles Raiders blanked Green Bay.

The Raiders intercepted quarterback Randy Wright three times in their NFL season-opening victory over the Packers, who were bogged down by their own mistakes, including 12 penalties for 72 yards.

Wright, booed by Green Bay fans, completed eight of 21 passes for 99 yards before being replaced in the fourth quarter by rookie Don Majkowski.

Sunday's loss was the first time the Packers had been shut out since Dec. 10, 1978.

Allen had 97 yards on 19 carries in the first half and the Raiders grabbed a 7-0 halftime lead on his one-yard touchdown with 2:12 left in the second quarter.

Cincinnati Bengals 23, Indianapolis Colts 21

Boomer Esiason threw two touchdown passes in the first quarter and Jim Breech kicked a 20-yard field goal after a fight-marred fourth-quarter drive, helping Cincinnati beat Indianapolis.

On the first play of the final quarter, with Indianapolis leading 14-13, the Colts' Dave Ahrens was called for unnecessary roughness on a tackle of James Brooks. Players from both sides began fighting, and Indianapolis linebacker Cliff Odom and Cincinnati fullback Larry Kinnebrew were ejected.

Five plays after play resumed, Esiason passed 20 yards to Mike Martin at the Indianapolis one, and three plays after that, Breech kicked the go-ahead field goal.

Brooks caught an 18-yard scoring pass from Esiason in the first quarter and ran one yard for his second touchdown with 7:50 remaining.

New England Patriots 28, Miami Dolphins 21

New England scored twice within 50 seconds of the third quarter on Tony Collins' seven-yard run and Ronnie Lippett's 20-yard interception return against Miami.

Dan Marino, who missed most of the preseason with a dislocated finger, threw three touchdown passes that gave the Dolphins a 21-14 halftime lead.

Marino went out with an apparent eye injury with 2:22 left in the game and backup quarterback Don Strock led the Dolphins to the Patriots' three-yard line with five seconds left, but his pass into the end zone was incomplete.

With the score tied 21-21, Marino threw a short pass to Bruce Hardy, who deflected it toward Lippett. The cornerback raced untouched to his first NFL touchdown with 7:52 left in the third period.

Houston Oilers 20, Los Angeles Rams 16

Warren Moon threw fourth-quarter touchdown passes of three yards to Jamie Williams and 59 yards to Ernie Givens, rallying Houston over the Los Angeles Rams.

Bear-Giant game matches two past NFL champions

CHICAGO (AP)—The rarity of an NFL season opener between the last two Super Bowl champions will add to the extravaganza Monday night when the New York Giants meet the Chicago Bears.

"I doubt if the game will be as good as the Super Bowl," Bears Coach Mike Ditka said. "It's like a Super Bowl."

While the nation's fans have two weeks to wet their appetites for a Super Bowl game, the anticipation of this game began when the league schedule was announced last spring.

It will mark only the second time that successive Super Bowl champions have met in the following season-opening game.

Two years ago, the Bears defeated the Giants 21-0 in the playoffs and went on to capture the Super Bowl with a 46-10 drubbing of the New England Patriots.

The Giants extended their winning streak to 12 games last season with a 39-20 triumph over the Denver Broncos in the Super Bowl.

The only other time successive Super Bowl champions have met in a season-opener was in 1982 when the Los Angeles Raiders defeated the defending champion San Francisco 49ers 23-17. The Bears will be aiming for an unprecedented fourth straight NFL defensive title. They set an NFL record by allowing only 187 points for a 16-game season last year.

The Bears also are trying to become the first team to lead the league in rushing five straight years—and that worries Giants Coach Bill Parcells.

Panthers face challenge at U of I golf tournament

By DAVID LINDQUIST
Staff writer

On Sept. 8, the University of Indianapolis golf team won the Eastern Fall Invitational tournament at Mattoon Country Club.

Eastern's squad plays in the University of Indianapolis Invitational tournament Monday in hopes of returning the favor.

The tournament will be played at Prestwick Country Club in Indianapolis, a course that no Eastern golf team has played on.

"We're looking forward to the tournament," Lueken said. "This will be our toughest competition on our fall schedule."

Freshman Dean Grunewald has recorded the lowest scores in Eastern's first two tournaments, shooting 76 at the Eastern tournament and 79 at Lewis University on Sept. 10.

"Grunewald's on a hot streak," Lueken said. "He was real comfortable playing at Lewis."

Co-Captains Todd Bittle and Jeff Schafer will also be part of the six-man squad. Lueken sends to Indianapolis.

Bittle has turned in scores of 77 and 79 in Eastern's first two outings and Schafer continues to improve after off-season back surgery.

Lueken said that Schafer was stiff at the Lewis tournament, but shot a practice round of 76 on Friday.

Eastern in middle of pack SIU cross country meet

LAGATTOLLA

Eastern men's cross country team traveled to Southern Illinois University in Edwardsville Saturday and finished out of 16 teams. The team placed seventh with a total of 46 points, compared to Eastern's 10th place.

The purpose of the cross country season is to peak at the time," said junior Matt Craft of the seventh place Panther harrier was senior John Wells, finishing 26th with a time of 27:07. The winning runner was Southern Indiana's Mike Orban who turned in a time of 25:50.

The other scoring Panthers were junior Tom Buchanan (32nd, 27:16), senior Scott Colver (34th, 27:18), sophomore Terry Goodin (38th, 27:25), and senior Jim Maton (43rd, 27:35).

Junior Andy Howard took 52nd place overall in the time of 27:52 to place as the Panthers' sixth man.

The Panther finish also came without runners Bryan Reed,

Al Oaks, Mike Young and Shannon Hough, who are recuperating from injuries and did not compete in the meet.

The harriers competed with Southern Indiana, Air Force Academy, Northwest Missouri State, Western Illinois, Southern Illinois-Edwardsville, Washington University, and Missouri-Rolla among others.

Next week, the Panther will split their squad with part of the team traveling to Kenosha, Wis. for the Midwest Collegiate Championship and the others to Decatur and the Millikin Classic.

Cardinals defeat Dallas 24-13

ST. LOUIS (AP)—For Neil Lomax, a St. Louis Cardinals comeback who's had more than ups in recent years, the comeback victory was worth the wait.

This is the best feeling I've experienced in the last years," Lomax said after leading St. Louis from behind in the final two minutes of a 24-13 victory over the Dallas Cowboys. "It's a joy to beat Dallas the way the ones calling the timeouts. I was just trying to make the last play last."

"We gave it away... we just didn't do the job. When we had to score the points, we couldn't do it," said Cowboys Coach Tom Landry.

"It's always disappointing to lose, but there's not much you can do about it when the game's over."

St. Louis coach Gene Stallings, a former Dallas assistant, revelled in his first victory over Landry and the Cowboys in three tries.

"They worried me all the time (during his tenure as Dallas defensive coach)," Stallings said of Lomax and Green, the leaders of the Cardinals' comeback. "Now I'm glad I've got them. We made some plays today, and now we're a bit more confident."

It was St. Louis' first victory in a home opener since they defeated the Atlanta Falcons 23-20 in 1975.

Rash of injuries continue to hurt Lady Panthers

By JAMES BETZOLD
Staff writer

Injuries continued to plague the Eastern women's cross country team Friday at the Bradley Open in Peoria.

Freshman Debbie Leslie, going into the race with a sore foot, was unable to continue after two miles when the condition worsened.

Despite the rash of injuries, Craft said that his team did improve on its two previous performances.

"We did run better than in the past," Craft said. "It would be better if we could get all these injuries out of the way. It seems like we have somebody hurt every meet."

Last week at the Murray State Triangular in Murray, Ky., sophomore Pam Kinkelaar stepped in a hole and was unable to finish the race. At Aug. 30th's Early Runner Invitational, freshman Christine Slabich injured her knee and is still unable to compete.

Once again, the top finisher for the Lady Panthers was freshman Laurie Mizener with a time of 19:34, good enough for 10th place. Mizener was also running with a slight leg injury suffered in a fall last week.

Mizener was Eastern's top finisher in the last two meets.

"She's a tough gal," said Craft. "She has a certain toughness that makes her compete when she's hurt."

Although the number of Lady Panther injuries is piling up, Craft is happy to see his team battle through adversity.

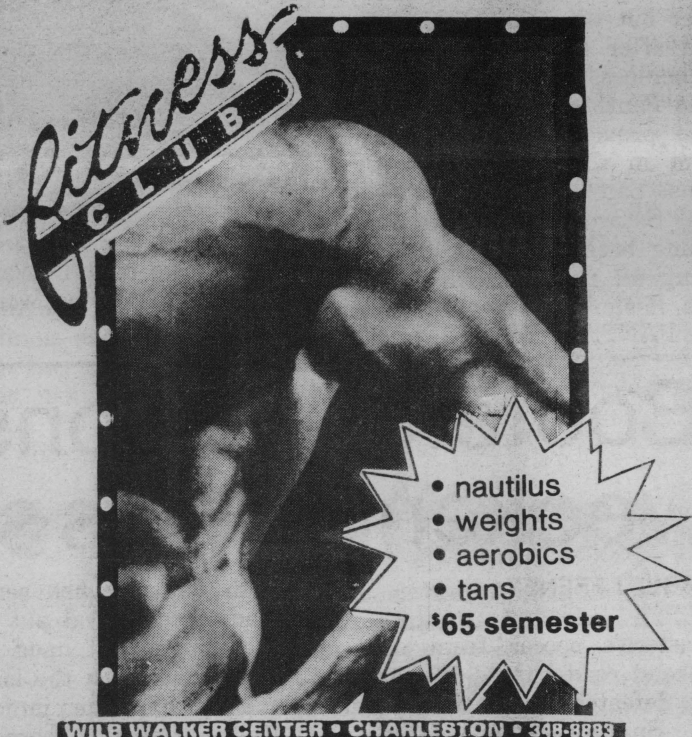

"A coach has to admire a team running through these injuries," Craft said. "I think we'll get through this. I don't know when, but I hope it will be soon. Until then, we'll just have to work around it."

Panthers beat NMSU 16-10 for year's first win

Eastern's Bob Spoo receives first victory as collegiate head coach

By BARRY BOTTINO
Sports editor

KIRKSVILLE, Mo.—For Eastern head coach Bob Spoo, Saturday was a day he will never forget.

Spoo got his first collegiate win Saturday in front of a crowd of 5,300 at Stokes Stadium in Kirksville, Mo. as the Panthers defeated Northeast Missouri 16-10.

"Oh, it just feels great," said Spoo of the victory, which evened Eastern's season record at 1-1.

"We battled and battled and battled. Somebody said as we were coming in from pre-game practice that if we fight them long enough then everything will take care of itself and that's what happened.

"I'm proud of these guys. It's their first win of the year and at least it shows that we're never going to give up in any football game.

"We know we've got to get better but it's a lot easier to build after a win than it is another loss," Spoo said.

The Panther running game, which provided a three-yard output in the season opener against San Jose State, came alive Saturday with senior running back DuWayne Pitts leading all rushers with 146 yards. Eastern amassed a total (See PANTHERS, Page 13)

Booters' Wisconsin weekend yields split

By BRENT FEENEY
Staff writer

Eastern's soccer team split its weekend road trip to Wisconsin as they defeated Wisconsin-Milwaukee 1-0 Sunday after falling to Wisconsin 4-2 on Friday night.

The results leave the Panthers with a record of 2-1-1.

Of more importance to the booters, however, was an injury to senior goalkeeper Mark Simpson, who hurt his ribs in a collision on Friday night.

"As far as Simpson's injury goes, Callipari said: "Mark may not need any X-rays, but he's really hurting. We'll have to wait and see how he is."

But the kickers also welcomed back their other senior, defender John Glendinning, who played well, assistant coach Guy Callipari said.

"John was coming off a back injury," Callipari said. "He really played well Friday. It may take him a game or two to really get himself together, but it looks like the layoff didn't hurt him."

"Barring injury, the defense looks really solid," Callipari added.

Friday night, Canadian sophomore forward Dave Kompare opened the scoring when he headed in a rebound off the crossbar from a Glendinning shot in the 18th minute to give Eastern a 1-0 lead.

The Badgers tied the score in the 27th minute when senior forward Andy Rechtenwal put a cross into the upper right hand corner, then took the lead in the last minute of the first half when junior midfielder Keith Grosse scored to give Wisconsin a 2-1 halftime lead.

Eastern equaled the score at two when junior Bill Trager, playing in his first game as a Panther, took a feed from Mark Noffert and scored at 65:02.

But the Badgers hit the cords with 13:12 left, when junior forward Mike Mihm scored what proved to be the winner on a crossing shot. Junior midfielder Jeff Schiedemeyer then scored an insurance goal at 8:30 when the Panthers were caught pushing up in an effort to force overtime.

"We just got caught pushing up trying to score," Callipari said. "It was just one of those things."

Sunday afternoon, sophomore Garry Laidlaw scored the only goal at 21:07 when he took a cross from freshman Erik Proffitt and put it home.

In that game, backup goalie Mike Barclay came in for Simpson and played what Callipari called "a great game in goal. He made some big saves for us. In fact, our goal came right after Mike had stopped a guy at point-blank range. It gave us a big lift."

Volleyball squad captures DePaul tournament trophy

By MIKE FITZGERALD
Staff writer

Eastern's volleyball team opened its quest for a winning season this weekend by winning the DePaul Invitational Tournament for the second year in a row.

The Panthers, 4-1, having lost their opening match Friday, won their first three matches Saturday to set up a showdown with Mississippi.

Eastern beat the Rebels 15-12, 15-10 and 15-3 to claim its second tournament championship.

"It was a balanced effort," said Eastern coach Betty Ralston. "We played eight players most of the time and we did get a good effort out of everyone that did play."

The Panthers experienced "opening night jitters" in their 8-15, 16-14, 15-7, 4-15 and 1-15 loss to Auburn on Friday.

But with their nerves calmer on Saturday, the Panthers rolled over DePaul 15-7, 15-11 and 15-12 to wind up pool play.

Having finished second in its pool, Eastern beat Marquette 15-7, 15-4 and 15-12 in the quarterfinals and beat Butler 15-11, 15-0 and 15-12 in the semi-finals.

Laura Bruce, a junior outside hitter, paved the way for Eastern's title defense with 11 kills against DePaul and Marquette, 15 kills and a .750 hitting percentage against Butler and eight kills in the title game against Mississippi.

Bruce, whose .491 hitting percentage during the tournament led the team, gave her teammates a lot of credit for her performance.

"I felt I had a good tournament. There was great passing, great blocking and great serving. Everybody contributed to our wins," Bruce said.

Eastern also received production from middle-hitters Gianna Galanti and Gina Knoke.

Galanti posted a .351 hitting percentage and Knoke a .318 hitting percentage for the tournament.

The Panther freshman also played a key role in the title defense.

Diane Kruto, an outside hitter, had eight kills and five service aces in a game against Butler. She also had three aces against Mississippi.

Deanna Lund, a middle-hitter, had six kills and a .317 hitting percentage for the tournament.

"Lund and Kruto played every match and made a contribution. Kruto's serving confused the other teams and kept them off balance," Ralston said.

Even though the tournament format changed from a round-robin tournament into a six-team, two-round double-elimination format, it did not draw complaints from the players.

"It was harder because we had to play four matches on Saturday and it was tiring," Bruce said. "But it is kind of nice because we got to play more matches. It makes the tournament more of a challenge."

Eastern returns to action Friday when it hosts the Eastern Illinois CoorsCoors Light Classic in the gym.
