Students go to Springfield to push for income tax jump

By BILL LOOBY
Government editor

SPRINGFIELD — Approximately 500 Illinois college students gathered in Springfield to tell legislators "We're back, and we're not going to go away."

Students assembled at the state capitol for a "Day of Action" to urge law-makers to pass an income tax increase for education.

A distinguished list of dignitaries, including former presidential candidate John Anderson, spoke to the throng of students and faculty at the rally held on the east steps of the Capitol.

Underpaid teachers, students and teachers alike leaving the state for better opportunities, and severely underfunded schools were the topics of the speakers at the rally.

Anderson excited the raucous crowd saying "I was shocked to learn that we (Illinois) are not going forward, but retreating (education in the state). I'm ashamed."

Anderson, an unsuccessful independent candidate for the presidency in 1980, said "this is an issue (education) on which everyone, young or old, black or white, Democrat or Republican, has to unite."

Illinois Student Association President David Starrett peaked the crowd reaction when he said "we're here because the General Assembly needs to see a crisis. If the General Assembly needs to see 1,000 people at its doorstep we'll provide it."

The size of the group from Eastern is unknown but Student Body President Deb Camren and Board of Governors Representative Mike Riordan were present along with Student Senator Patty Kennedy and Lynette Woods.

Riordan said he was not sure of the number of Eastern students at the rally saying the University Democrats might have brought people over.

He said plans included speaking to Mike Madigan, who works as an Appropriations Analyst for the Senate Republican Staff in Springfield, about the possible availability of legislators later in the day. Riordan said the students from Eastern would be going to their own legislators along with Rep. Mike Weaver and Rep. Harry "Babe" Woodyard.

Madigan, former Student Body President at Eastern, said about the chances of a tax increase in the General Assembly, "It's my impression there is a lot of support for a tax increase among the legislators."

"It's unclear to me whether the tax increase would be earmarked for education," Madigan said.

Cost of housing increasing for 1988-89 by 3.8 percent

By JEFF MADSEN
Campus editor

When students sign their 1988-89 residence hall contracts this week, they may have noticed they'll be paying $88 more for room and board than they did for the 1987-88 school year.

Room and board cost jumped 3.8 percent from $2,300 to $2,388 to "meet the rising cost of inflation," Housing Director Lou Hencken said Wednesday.

The bottom line is we're just keeping up with inflation. Prices have just kept increasing. Things are going to cost more next year than they did this year," Hencken said.

Hencken used Carman Hall as an analogy to illustrate how prices have consistently increased for almost two decades.

"When we built Carman Hall in 1970, it cost us $5 million. If we were to build a building today identical to Carman Hall, I'd guess it would cost $13 million," he said.

The Board of Governors, Eastern's governing body, is expected to approve the housing increase when they meet Tuesday in Springfield.

Eastern President Stan Rives said Tuesday he will propose the $88 increase to the BOG.

"Our room and board rates will remain the lowest in the state of Illinois. I think our increases are reasonable enough that they (BOG) will give them fair consideration," Rives said in an earlier interview.

Hencken added "we do not anticipate any problem" with the BOG approving the increase.

"Over the last 13 years, we've had an average increase of 5.7 percent," he said. "The highest was in 1980, when it went up 12.5 percent. Inflation was also really high that year."

Currently, Eastern's room and board rates are the lowest of the state universities at $2,300. The University of Illinois, which has the highest rate, charges $3,260 for two semesters of room and board.

"I'd imagine all the other schools are planning increases too. It's all to keep up with the cost of inflation," Hencken said. "Our high occupancy is what keeps our rates so low."

Payton involved in shooting

DECATUR (AP)—Former Chicago Bears running back Walter Payton was involved in the accidental shooting of a man at Payton's suburban restaurant Wednesday, according to broadcast reports.

WMAQ-TV reported that the victim was shot by a gun that accidentally discharged when another man handed Payton a gun about 3 p.m. The gun allegedly was a part of Payton's collection.

The station quoted the police chief, Al Alley, as saying that the shooting was accidental and that no charges would be filed.

Decatur Fire Capt. John Fields said the victim was shot in the left leg at the knee.

Police declined further comment but said the chief would have a news conference later.

The man who was shot was not immediately identified and was taken from Studebaker's restaurant to the emergency room at Northwestern Community Hospital in Arlington Heights, said Gail Hillary, a nursing supervisor.

WMAQ-TV reported that the victim was the restaurant's manager. "The patient is not in a life-threatening situation," Mrs. Hillary said.

Schools favoring increase unite for Day of Action rally

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Hundreds of students, faculty and staff members from Illinois public universities rallied Wednesday at the Capitol to support a tax increase that would ease higher education's cash crunch.

Chanting "Bucks for Brains" and "Mom's Not Rich," a crowd of about 300 people, many in T-shirts and blue jeans, heard more than a dozen speakers declare that students alone can't bear the rising cost of higher education.

"If the General Assembly needs to see a crisis to secure Illinois' future, if legislators need to see 1,000 people on their doorstep telling them that there's a terrible problem—then that's what we'll provide," David Starrett, president of the Illinois Student Association, told the cheering crowd.

A tax increase also would halt the exodus of teachers leaving Illinois for better working conditions elsewhere, said union leaders representing faculty and staff members.

"There have been no salary raises for faculty and staff in 20 months," said

Mitch Vogel, president of the University Professionals of Illinois.

Vogel displayed petitions he said carried more than 10,000 signatures of citizens who support more funds for higher education.

The petitions didn't mention a tax increase, but Vogel said it's "implicit" that more funding would require an increase in the state income tax.

Rally participants fanned out through the Capitol after receiving "lobbying kits" with 12 facts about higher education and tips on how to be effective in convincing lawmakers of the need for a tax increase.

Meanwhile, arrests were reported Wednesday in DeKalb as students from Northern Illinois University staged a related demonstration.

Several hundred students began demonstrating on the NIU campus, but later marched into downtown DeKalb, where about 100 of them blocked the main street, Illinois 38, said university spokeswoman Kit Hakanson.

Marines engage in jungle firefight

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP)—About 100 U.S. Marines engaged in a two-hour firefight Tuesday night with about 40 unidentified intruders at a military fuel tank farm in a jungle area, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

Col. Ron Sconyers, chief public affairs officer for the U.S. Southern Command, told a news conference there were no apparent injuries on either side in the second reported incident of its kind in two day at the tank farm in Howard Air Force Base.

The first firefight took place at the Arriajan Tank Farm, an 800-acre depot where a marine was shot and killed Monday night while investigating what U.S. officials called a suspected break-in by six to eight camouflaged men.

A Defense Department spokesman in Washington said the victim appeared to have been shot accidentally by fellow Marine guards.

Reagan learns of falsified quotes through Larry Speakes' new book

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Reagan said Wednesday he did not learn until recently that his former spokesman, Larry Speakes, had put words in his mouth on at least two occasions while briefing reporters on presidential meetings.

Reagan did not directly answer, however, when asked whether he approved of the practice or would allow it to continue. His current spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater, has condemned any such procedure and said he never would do it.

Speakes says in his new book,

"Speaking Out," that he once attributed remarks made by Secretary of State George P. Shultz to the president and once collaborated with an aide in making up quotes which he then credited to Reagan.

Reagan's first comment on the book came in a question-and-answer session after a speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Katherine Fanning, editor of the Christian Science Monitor and president of the editors' group, asked Reagan, "Did you approve of that process, and would you continue to allow that to happen in your White House?" "I was not aware of that and just learned it recently," the president responded, "as all the rest of you did. And I can tell you right now that I have no affection for these kiss-and-tell books that are being written, and I find it entirely fiction."

Speakes, in an interview on Tuesday, said, "I generally told him what I had done and the reasons for doing it. He never objected to these cases where I said, 'I've gone ahead and done this.'"

Healthy hygiene stressed

Forty Eastern students will apply what they've learned in a school health methods class and teach it to about 225 grade school students in an elementary school health fair from 1 to 3 p.m. Thursday at Carl Sandburg School, 1925 Reynolds Dr.

Bobbie Ogletree, a health studies instructor, said students from the health methods class and volunteers from the Eta Sigma Gamma and Delta Psi Kappa honorary fraternities will sponsor the health fair to "teach simple, short messages about health in a fair-type atmosphere."

"We'll have about 11 different booths set up in the gym. Each booth has a specific health message and the kids will participate in some kind of health activity there," Ogletree said.

Ogletree said health topics include bicycle safety, nutritional health and dental health.

CHICAGO (AP)—Former Gov. Dan Walker, serving time in federal prison for bank fraud, says in an open letter to U.S. Attorney General Meese that an effective prison system would offer immediate relief for the problem of overcrowded prisons.

Walker has suggested a "prison-building program and, commendably, alternative sentences including community service," Walker, 65.

"However, I believe you have overlooked relief involving the inmates that can be obtained immediately."

Candidates will speak

By JEFF BRITT

Candidates for Student Government positions will present their platforms in a Candidates' Forum at 7 p.m. Thursday in Union Ballroom, elections chair Roger Thompson said at Wednesday's senate meeting.

Thomson said candidates for senator positions will have three minutes to speak and candidates for executive offices will have five minutes.

"They will present their goals they want to accomplish and they'll respond to questions," Thomson said.

In addition to the four executive office seats—student body president, executive vice president, financial vice president and Board of Governors representative—seven at-large senator seats are open, five off campus seats, six residence hall seats and one residence hall seat for one semester.

Also, the senate approved the budgets of six program boards as approved by the Apportionment Board, which included cuts in the budgets of Players theater group and the University Board.

Careful policy in Afghanistan has paid off for U.S.

In 1979, the pro-Soviet People's Democratic Party seized power in the Asian nation of Afghanistan creating a one-party, Soviet-backed government.

After a bloody coup in December, 40,000 Soviet troops invaded the nation setting up a puppet government under President Babrak Karmi, who has been replaced by Najibullah, touching off armed resistance in the form of an Islamic Jihad, or holy war.

Calling themselves the Afghan Mujahdeen, these displaced Afghan freedom fighters have held out for nine years against communist aggression. And with U.S. diplomatic, financial and military support, these guerrilla fighters have repelled the Soviet army—at a high cost nonetheless.

Beginning May 15, Mikhail S. Gorbachev will begin extracting more than 100,000 Soviet troops under a peace plan endorsed by all sides—except the guerillas who refuse to stop shooting until the last invader has left.

The U.N. mediated plan calls for safe return of all refugees, guarantees by the United States and Soviet Union, non-interference between Afghan and Pakistani affairs and an agreement that the United States and Soviet Union will match each others reduction's in aid packages.

This bloody conflict is the Russian version of Vietnam. The Red Army will go home in defeat and, perhaps with the new era of glasnost, the Soviet people will see and hear the truth as Americans did in the 1960's.

This bloody conflict is an American victory in that communist aggression has been curtailed. It shows that such policies do work when carried out for the duration.

However, the bloodshed in Afghanistan will not stop when the Soviet flag is struck down in Kabul.

As the Soviet Union and U.S. will still be allowed to supply arms to the factions they support, the four distinct camps wrestling for control will have weapons to resort to if the political process deteriorates.

While it is positive that the Superpowers are retracting their meat hooks to allow the people of Afghanistan to work out their own problems, the U.S. would be wise to be frugal with their future policy.

The chanting of "Ruskie go home" may be echoed by "Yankee go home" in the rugged mountains of Afghanistan. While it is doubtful that Soviet influence will remain in Afghanistan, civil war seems inevitable.

No competition for the job is a joke

Student Government elections are coming soon.

"Who cares?," is the answer that probably comes to most students' minds. That has been demonstrated by the number of students running for positions in student government.

Mike Riordan, the current Board of Governors Representative, is running uncontested for the highest student office at Eastern, student body president.

Although Riordan is a nice guy and generally most student government types are, the fact that he has no competition for the job is a joke. There are probably numerous reasons for this wave of "I could care lessness:"

- Riordan is the most popular person ever to walk this campus.
- Riordan is part of a conspiracy to take over the Union.
- Students are too busy partying?
- This could be an exceptionally hard year for homework.
- Students don't know where to get applications.
- The vast majority of students don't care.

As an observer of the Student Senate for more than five years I have noticed that most students don't care. Maybe students figured they came to school to learn in classes and not to devote their valuable time to argue over what the bylaws truly mean.

They may feel their $19,080 in student fees could be better used in Booth Library than in the hands of the senate. There has been a definite lack of consistency by the senate when it comes to students' money.

In the past eight months the senate has asked you to oppose a $96 tuition hike. Then a month or so later support a $75 increase in student fees to support a recreational center. Now they are asking you to support a tax hike being engineered by Mr. Fiscal Irresponsibility, Gov. Jim Thompson. The senate probably figures you can't object if your parents are the ones paying more taxes. The rec center money and tuition hike probably would have come out of most students' parents' pockets also.

But getting back to uncontested races, there was another uncontested race four years ago. The Student Senate Speaker, Glenn "Tip" Good, was running uncontested for president.

A boisterous student, who felt the situation was silly, decided to run against him. That student was the infamous Joe Butler, leader of the "Silly Party". He defeated Good and proceeded to make student government or "Club Senate" an entertaining affair. Not surprisingly, more students paid attention to the senate than do now.

Although Butler was kicked out of school and never really accomplished anything he did provide the campus with something different to watch. Whether they hated him or liked him, most students knew him.

This year's election probably won't have the same results as the 1984 elections. But maybe there's a bigger message.

What purpose does student government serve? It has no real power to change anything on campus. The one person who can stop anything the senate does is Eastern President Stan Rives. All he has to do is say no and the question is moot.

One person asked me if The Daily Eastern News and the senate's own Senate Slate didn't report on student senate would the student body even know it existed.

After contemplating that question and finding out how many people have applied for the elections, I wonder if the campus knows it exists even with the News' coverage.

But who cares anyway?

Campus workers need to be polite

Editor:
It was really disturbing when I came to college to find that the students are treated like three year olds by campus employees. Going through registration as a transfer student was a very depressing experience. Being shifted from one place to another like cattle did little more than make me wonder if I really wanted to go to a college that showed me little or no respect. The human relations practices of those employed by the university leaves something to be desired, which is surprising with the amount of business majors present.

Students are here to be educated so that they can go out into the world and work for the next 40 years of their lives. It is hard enough to grasp this concept without enduring the ignorance of those employees that don't care about us ambitious, future young professionals. They should be concerned with setting proper examples for us to follow and take with us into the workplace. There really is no excuse for giving us more frustration than we already have as college students.

Please let it be known that it is possible to be nice to people since they are paying for this service. I thought school was supposed to teach us good manners and how to be nice to others. In college, the emphasis should be on how to conduct yourself on the job. But I could be wrong.

By WENDELL HUTSON
Staff writer

Description changes for eight finance classes, a proposal for an interdisciplinary minor in health communication and one music class proposal will be discussed by the Council on Academic Affairs Thursday. The eight finance classes being considered for description changes are Finance 3710, 3720, 3730, 3790, 3900, 4200, 4820 and 4830. The description changes have already been approved by the Lumpkin College of Business Curriculum Committee.

The CAA will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

The CAA will also discuss a new course proposal from the speech communication and health studies departments. The proposed course, HST or SPC 4910, "Communication in Health Professions," will be part of an interdisciplinary minor in health communication which is also up for CAA approval.

CAA chair Dan Hockman said the new health classes will be listed in the health and speech communication departments.

Another new course up for CAA approval is MUS 3420, "Music in Elementary Schools," which is the study of the objectives, methods and materials in music education on the elementary grade level. The course will be open to elementary and special education majors.

Illinois house approves abuse bill

By MATTHEW MAYNARD
City editor

The House of Representatives gave final approval Tuesday for a bill that improves child abuse prevention, adoption and family violence prevention programs, according to Congressman Terry Bruce.

There were 30 percent more child abuse and neglect reports in Illinois than in 1986—the largest increase in the nation. This means either we are doing a better job of getting people to report child abuse, or there is more child abuse to report," Bruce said.

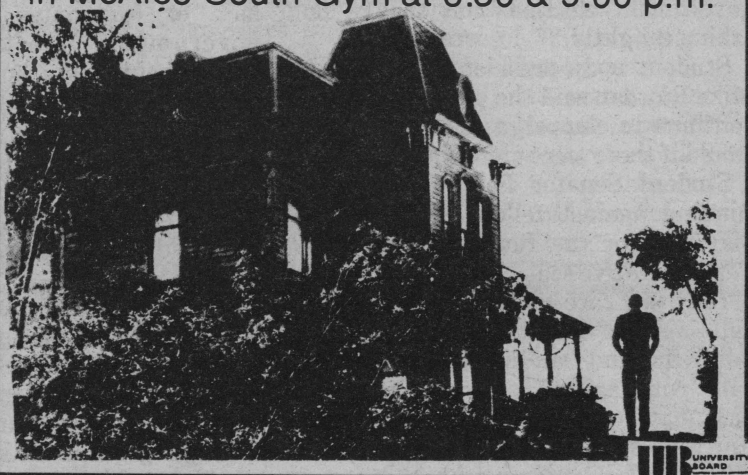

The Child Abuse Prevention, Adoption and Prevention Act report was passed by the Senate two weeks ago. The House voted unanimously for the bill.

In addition, the bill extends adoption programs already in place and sets up projects to try increasing the adoption of minority children and help families who have adopted children with special situations.

Progress party to campaign hard facing light resistance

By BILL LOOBY
Government editor

The Progress Party doesn't have a lot of competition in the upcoming student government elections but they're not taking it lightly.

Student body presidential candidate Mike Riordan said the party would still continue to campaign as hard as they would if there were more competition.

Student Senator Patty Kennedy is running against fellow Senator Troy Mayfield for the Board of Governors Representative seat.

The other race concerns the residence hall district senate seats. Jennifer Baldredge and Dan Riordan of Progress will run against Karla Crawford, Suzanna Port, Nora O'Brien, Carrie Ann Curtis and Doug Sievers.

Riordan said the party has assigned separate issues to each candidate to begin researching immediately.

Riordan said that the party has possible solutions to the problem of the lack of candidates in the student government elections. Massive recruitment, more publicity and more quality output by the student government could be some solutions to the problem, Riordan said.

The problem "lies within the senate," Riordan said. The only way to correct it is to address some big issues to create interest.

Other issues currently being researched by the party are: Later hours for the computer labs; Tax increase as it concerns the students; Lighting on intramural fields; Union scheduling office difficulties and night security problems.

Workshop on drug abuse demonstrates prevention

By MICHELLE ZAWIN
Activities editor

The Second Annual "Prevention Showcase," was held in the University Union Wednesday.

The Prevention Showcase is an affiliate of the state-wide "In Touch Program," (Illinois Network To Organize the Understanding of Community Health). It is designed to demonstrate the effective substance abuse prevention methods involving youth and communities, parents and schools.

The main address, titled "I Can, You Can Too," was given by Mamie McCullough in the Union Grand Ballroom.

"She gave a positive message for believing in yourself and being the best person you can be," said Gloria Leitschuh, prevention area coordinator.

The showcase featured 17 workshops addressing the topics of sports without drugs, community involvement, self-esteem, model school programs, children of alcoholics and others.

During the luncheon in the University Ballroom, those attending were entertained and educated by the Explosion Rockers Street Jazz Theatrical Troupe.

Leitschuh said the troupe was "a good way for people to get a message—educational programs don't have to be boring."

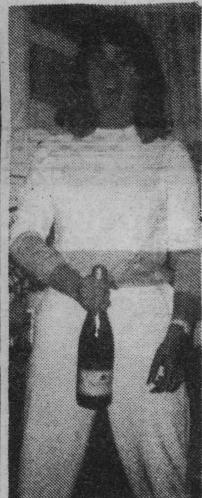

The showcase takes the In Touch Program six months to put together, she said.

The program was attended primarily by high school students, teachers, and professionals who deal with problems of drug abuse.

Golfers raise funds

By THERESA OHMAN
Staff writer

About 168 golfers will invade the Charleston Country Club Saturday to take part in a golf fundraiser to benefit the Shriner's Children's Hospitals.

The tournament, sponsored by the Delta Sigma Pi business fraternity, is in its third year. The field of 168 golfers makes Saturday's tournament the largest to ever be held at the Charleston Country Club.

"Last year, we only had 60 participants and this year, we don't have enough room on the greens for anymore players," said Sandy Walk, co-chair of community service for Delta Sigma Pi.

Walk said because of the successful turnout, the tournament has been divided in half and will have two sessions of 84 golfers. Delta Sigma Pi is hoping to raise around $2,500 for the Shriners.

Walk said the Shriners have 19 hospitals and three burn institutes across the nation and specialize treatment to underprivileged children. She added the Shriners have a $200 million operating and building expense for all of its hospitals.

"The money will be given to them to use as they see fit. We're proud to support it because it is a far-reaching program," she said.

Walk said participants paid $25 to enter.

First through third place trophies will be awarded for each session. Golfers will also receive prizes that were donated by various Coles County businesses.

Mall will hold festival

By MATTHEW MAYNARD
City editor

In observance of "The Week of the Young Child," during the week of April 10-16, a Festival for Young Children will be held at the Cross County Mall in Mattoon Saturday.

Only 11 percent of American families fall into the stereotypical family model, where the husband is the sole wage earner, according to Chris Todd, specialist in human development with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service.

Almost 65 percent of mothers with school-age children now work outside the home. Projections show that by 1990 nearly 80 percent of mothers with pre-school children will be in the work force.

Sponsored by day care centers and home day care providers in the Coles County area, in cooperation with a number of community social service groups and organizations, the festival offers the public an opportunity to become familiar with activities offered by the centers and care providers.

Various day care centers and home care providers will be conducting games and activities during the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., Saturday.

Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center will also have a Teddy Bear Clinic for minor injuries.

Plane held

ALGIERS, ALGERIA (AP) An Algerian official said Wednesday that Kuwait's "intransigence" had created a deadlock in negotiations with Shiite Moslem hijackers for the release of 32 hostages on a Kuwaiti jumbo jet.

Food and water were taken in the afternoon to the blue-and-white boeing 747, which the hijackers call the "plane of martyrdom."

Lady Panthers sweep exhibition twinbill from Illinois Central JC

By MIKE FITZGERALD
Sports editor

Despite the absence of Coach Janet Marquis, it was business as usual for Eastern's softball team as it blanked Illinois Central Junior College 1-0 and 3-0 in an exhibition doubleheader Tuesday.

Marquis, who is expected to be released from Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center Thursday after treatment for a cyst on her tailbone, was replaced on the bench by assistant Jan Reddinger.

It was also a reunion of sorts for Becky Zuspann and Panther Melanie Maynard, who attended IC before coming to Eastern in the fall.

Maynard went 2-for-3 in the first game and came through with a two-run triple in the second game.

Zam Mogill went the distance in game one, allowing only three hits while striking out nine. Sara Karcher tossed a one-hitter in the nightcap.

Reddinger said that she was pleased with the Panther's effort in the exhibition, but said that they could have provided some more offense.

Reddinger said that she talked to Marquis before the game and was told to "go out and have fun."

Reddinger thinks that Marquis should be able to coach in this weekend's upcoming doubleheaders against Gateway Conference rivals Illinois State and Indiana State.

"If the infection doesn't come back she could be ready," Reddinger said. "It will take something drastic to keep her away from Illinois State."

Men's tennis team unsure about IU-Purdue matchup

LAGATTOLLA

Eastern men's tennis team has one slight problem going into Thursday's match with Indiana-Purdue at Indianapolis University: they have no idea who they are up against. "We didn't play them in the past, so I have no idea what to expect about IUPUI," said Eastern men's tennis coach John Bennett. "I know that they are down from last year, but then again, so are we." Last spring, the Metros defeated the Panthers a 7-2 loss. "We didn't play them in the fall, I really don't know what to expect from them," said senior John Fields.

One factor that may affect the Panthers is their tough loss to Bradley University on Tuesday.

"It probably will affect them, but I'm not sure which way," said Bennett.

"I'm still looking for 100 percent effort both physically and mentally," Bennett said. "Even though they say they tried, the evidence is they didn't play smart enough to win."

Bennett also sees a lack of enthusiasm from his players.

"I want them to chase down every ball, put a lot of hustle into it," Bennett said. "It will carry over to their teammates."

One player in particular would like to hear more from Bennett during the meet.

"I would like for him to help us during the match, tell us what we're doing," said Fields. "You see the other coach talking to your opponent, and it's like two against one."

Bennett's lineup is expected to remain the same, as the match will take place at 3 p.m., Thursday at Weller Courts.

game open with seven runs in the third inning.

Junior Shannon Coppell led off with a walk and Jetel reached base on an error on an error by losing pitcher Scott Brown.

Hargis followed with a perfectly executed hit-and-run single to center to drive in Coppell.

"I think Skip (McDevitt) did what to make me concentrate on hitting the ball," Hargis said.

Filosa followed with an RBI single and freshman Tim Logan drove in two more runs with a double.

Junior third baseman Stan Royer capped the rally with a two-run home run, his eighth of the season.

"Hitting-wise, I'm still a little rusty," Royer said. "(But) I felt better the second game."

Panthers, ISU split doubleheader

By JAMES BETZOLD
Associate sports editor

Eastern and Illinois State played two games of give and take at Monier Field on Wednesday.

The Panthers committed three errors that allowed three unearned runs to lose the first game of the doubleheader 8-5; the Redbirds made five errors that permitted three unearned runs to lose the nightcap 9-4.

Eastern (10-11) took the lead early in the first game on a two-run home run in the second inning by sophomore Dan Hargis, who went 3-for-6 with four runs batted in.

"I think the wind helped that one," Hargis said.

Senior outfielder David McDevitt added to the lead with a two-run double in the second inning and freshman Brian Filosa, who went 5-for-6, drove in Hargis in the third inning to extend the Eastern lead to 5-2.

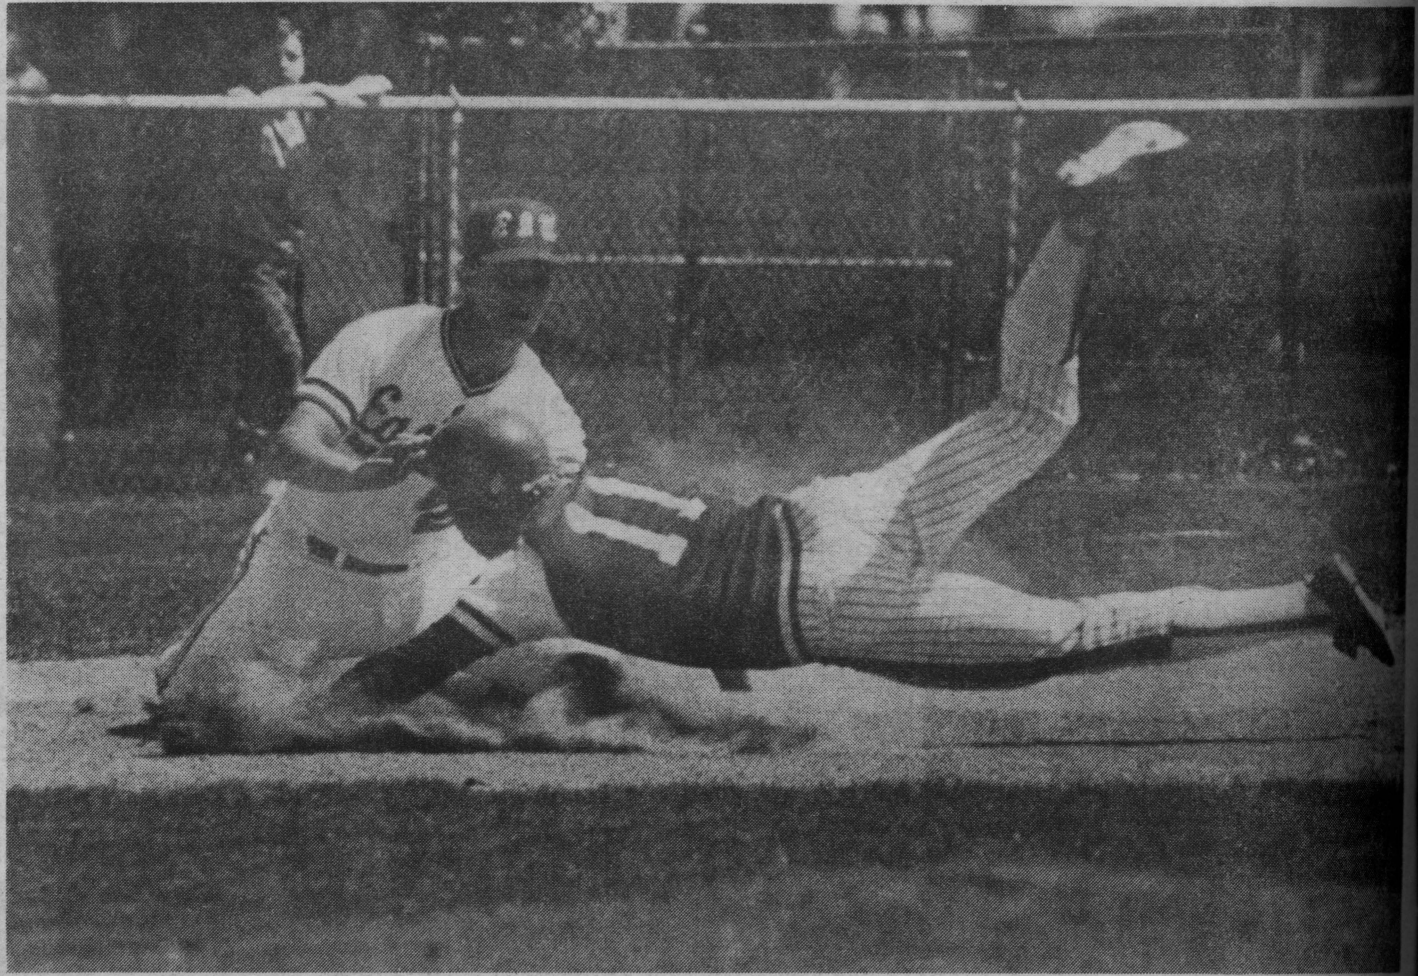

"Filosa hit the ball," Eastern Coach Tom "Skip" McDevitt said. "He did a fine job."

In addition, Filosa handled seven chances at shortstop without an error.

However, the rest of the Eastern infield was not so adept in the field during the first game. In the fifth inning, errors by sophomore second baseman Vic Lanzotti and sophomore first baseman Jeff Jetel allowed the Redbirds to score three unearned runs off left-hander Mike Murrie (1-3) for the winning margin.

"Murrie wasn't as sharp as usual, but he pitched all right," McDevitt said.

The Panthers benefited from more good pitching, as well as a porous Illinois State defense, to rebound in the

Maton gearing up for Olympic trials

NCAA champ looks to Seoul

By BRENT FEENEY
Staff writer

It's not easy to become an Olympic athlete.

It takes many sacrifices, long and arduous hours of training and just plain hard work.

But, in the end, it's worth it.

Jim Maton, Eastern's top track athlete, is training for the Games of the XXIV Olympiad set for Sept. 17-Oct. 2 in Seoul, South Korea. To get there, Maton has to qualify for the United States team at the U.S. Olympic Trials set for mid-July in Indianapolis.

His training routine has been set up for him to peak once in Indianapolis and two months later in Seoul.

"It's tough to reach a peak twice in a year," said Tom Akers, assistant track coach at Eastern. "You have to set a schedule to reach a big peak in Olympic years."

"We set it up for him to peak at the outdoor nationals last year," Akers said, "and that's how it turned out. It's really hard for a runner to peak twice in a year."

Maton reached a peak at the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championship in March, when he became Eastern's first Division I national champion by winning the 800-meter run in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Now, Maton is gearing up to peak at Indy.

"I've gone back to endurance work following the indoor nationals," Maton said. "I alternate between doing distance work and sprint intervals."

An interval, in Maton's case, is doing eight to 10 400-meter runs in a row. "I try to hit about the same time for each one," Maton said.

"It's pretty relaxed right now, but as the time for the trials gets closer, it'll pick up in intensity."

Maton qualified for the Olympic Trials at the 1987 NCAA Track and Field Championship by turning in a 1:46.90 for the 800-meter run. The qualifying standard is 1:47.89, set by The Athletics Congress, the national governing body of track and field in the United States.

However, Maton also has to beat some top runners at the Olympic Trials to get to Seoul.

Senior right-hander Bill Taylor (4-0) held the Redbirds scoreless for five innings to pick up the victory.

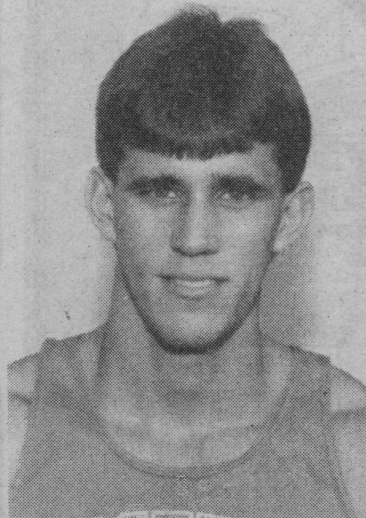

"He had a decent performance,"

McDevitt said. "He likes to compete."

Junior right-hander Darin Kopac pitched the seventh inning after Taylor allowed a two-run home run in the sixth inning.

"Had he had a shutout, I would have let him finish the seventh," McDevitt said.

On offense, the Panthers broke the (See PANTHERS, page 11)

Jim Maton

They include Johnny Gray, perhaps the top runner in the nation, and Charlton Hamer, Maton's rival from Illinois.

If he qualifies, Maton will face top runners like Sebastian Coe of Great Britain and Joaquim Cruz of Brazil. Both of them have won Olympic gold medals: Coe won in Moscow in 1980, while Cruz won in Los Angeles in 1984.

"You never know what's going to happen at the Olympic Trials," Akers said. "A guy might run the race of his life and make the team at Indianapolis."

"I'm not feeling too much pressure right now," Maton said. "When the time comes, I don't think I'll be too worried about it."

Panthers top Bradley

By AL LAGATTOLLA
Staff writer

Playing at Bradley on Tuesday, Eastern women's tennis team emerged victorious with a 5-4 decision.

The Lady Panthers are now 6-3 on the spring.

"We kicked them big time," said Eastern women's tennis coach Grant Alexander.

"We played average and won the big points," said Alexander. "That's the mark of a good team."

The major problem for the Lady Panthers has been the injuries of their top two players, junior Maureen McKeon and sophomore Kim Rhodes.

"We hope to get Maureen back sometime this spring, but Kim is finished for the spring," said Alexander.

The Lady Panthers lost at first through third singles, junior Lisa Stock losing at first singles, 6-2, 6-1, junior Julie Manikowski losing 6-4, 6-2, and junior Angel Hoffek losing 2-6, 6-3, 6-0.

"Our first through third singles have not played bad at all," said Alexander. "We must win at fourth through sixth to win the match, and those players are as good as the first three."

A fourth singles sophomore Sheila Marcial won 6-3, 6-2, junior Beth Stuckey won at fifth singles 6-2, 6-1 and at sixth singles sophomore Sara Cottingham emerged victorious 6-2, 6-1.

"Winning feels terrific because we have lost to them most of the time," said Cottingham. "We are playing great as a team now."

At doubles, Stock and Manikowski combined at first doubles and lost 6-4, 6-2, at second doubles, Hoffek and Stuckey won 7-5, 5-7, 6-0, and at third doubles Cottingham and freshman Lori Neate won 6-3, 6-4.

"Lori Neate is one player that is playing pretty well," said Alexander.

"Our attitude is very good because we have been playing better each match," said Neate. "The big factor is the attitude over last year," said Alexander. "Now we go into meets expecting to win."

Last spring the Lady Panthers were 3-16 and ninth in the Gateway Conference. They have already improved to 6-3 this spring, and have a goal to finish one spot higher in the Conference every year. They were tenth two years ago and moved up one to ninth last year.

"To finish tenth would be a disaster," said Alexander. "We would like to finish eighth or higher."

The next test for the Lady Panthers is DePauw University on Friday at Greencastle, Ind.
