City seeking funds for sewer plans

by Mike Sengstock and Kevin McDermott

A proposed sewer rehabilitation project could save Charleston a "considerable" amount of money in the future, Streets and Public Improvements Commissioner Wayne Lanman said Sunday.

Lanman and Public Health and Safety Commissioner Olga Durham will be in charge of the project which will cost an estimated $8 million, City Engineer E.O. "Buddy" Reed said.

Durham said Sunday that the city is hoping to secure a federal grant to pay 75 percent of the cost of the project, with the remaining 25 percent being funded by the city.

She added that the grant is designed specifically to help cities conform to a 1974 federal law outlining minimum water quality standards.

Durham said Charleston will have to present a complete design for the new system by an Oct. 1 deadline to secure the grant.

600 cities nationwide will receive the grant, and applicants will be chosen from a list by the Environmental Protection Agency based on need and conformity to the Oct. 1 deadline. Durham said Charleston currently is about 750 on the list of cities interested in receiving the grant.

However, she added that the city engineer's office has already sent in the application and will have the design completed before the deadline, which should increase Charleston's chances of getting the grant.

"The project is still in the planning stages," Lan-man said, "but it should be completed five years down the road."

Durham said about 50 percent of the work will be done in the sewage plants and the other 50 percent in the streets.

Included in the plan is the installation of air bubble diffusers in the sewage plant, which will cut electricity costs by about one-third, and the separation of storm and sanitary sewers.

Large white X's have been painted on manhole covers so that they will show up on aerial photographs of the city's sewer locations which will be used in the redesigning.

"Charleston's sewers are in poor condition right now," Durham said. "Many have not been upgraded since 1865 and some of the newer sewers are in poor condition."

Durham added that, without sewer improvement, the EPA could prevent the city from expanding the current sewer system.

"If the sewer system is not brought into compliance with EPA standards, Charleston will not be able to improve," Durham said.

"The EPA could stop us from hooking up with new buildings and Charleston won't be able to grow," she said.

Lanman also noted that the repairs could cause some inconvenience for drivers.

"The streets will be torn up," he said, "but the repairs have to be made."

New program seeks student input

by Pete Swanberg

Student Senate Speaker Ron Wesel said he has implemented a student government Representative Program this semester to "keep the senate better in tune with the concerns of Eastern's student body."

The program will include representatives from each recognized group on campus who will inform the senate of their groups' concerns, Wesel said.

"The senate is always trying to keep in touch with the student body by talking to them, but what we're saying here is, 'C'mon, we're inviting you.' Hopefully, this will bring us all together," he added.

Wesel said four major groups—the Interfraternity Council, the Panhellenic Council, the Residence Hall Association and the Black Student Union—will be the main focus of the program.

"These groups represent around 60 percent of the student body," Wesel said, "and, hopefully, this program will provide a channel for students in these groups to talk to us and tell us their concerns."

The Student Senate would be able to make a decision after considering the input from these groups, he said.

The group representatives will attend senate meetings and report to each of the smaller groups they represent, he added.

Representatives will be expected to attend those meetings at which an issue their group is concerned with will be discussed, he noted.

Wesel said he originally planned to get RHA involved with senate but later decided to expand the plan to include more groups.

Smith resigns from attorney general post

WASHINGTON (AP)—William French Smith, the multimillionaire corporate lawyer who directed sweeping changes in the Department of Justice and served as a close personal adviser to President Reagan, has resigned as attorney general, administration sources said Sunday.

The sources, who sought anonymity, said it appeared that a leading candidate to succeed Smith is presidential counselor Edwin Meese III.

They said Smith was not pressured to leave but had simply decided that after three years in office it was time to go. They said he felt that he had accomplished his major goals.

One source said Reagan's expected re-election campaign influenced Smith's decision. The source noted Smith was active behind the scenes in every Reagan campaign and wanted to do so again but felt it would be inappropriate if he remained as attorney general.

The 66-year-old Smith, who reversed civil rights, antitrust and criminal enforcement policies that stood through four previous administrations, kept his plans secret almost to the last minute.

The sources said he told Reagan in a one-on-one meeting in the Oval Office Wednesday. But even by Sunday, Smith had not advised his assistants at the department of his plans. And the reports of his resignation caught even some of Smith's closest friends by surprise.

During the Oval Office meeting, Reagan told Smith, who was Reagan's personal lawyer for many years, that the Cabinet post was his as long as he wanted it, the sources said.

Reagan, returning to the White House from his Maryland mountaintop retreat in time to watch the Super Bowl on television, dodged reporters' questions about Smith and any successor. The sources said they expected Reagan to formally announce the resignation Monday.

Meese was out of town Sunday and could not be reached for comment.

One sign of Smith's influence on Reagan came in the appointment of Sandra Day O'Connor as the first woman to the Supreme Court. She was Smith's choice, and sources said then that he prevailed over the president's closest White House aides whose first choice was a man.

Smith was perhaps proudest of the changes which he brought in the area of criminal enforcement, particularly against drug traffickers. He brought the FBI for the first time into the fight against illegal drugs, making it a partner with the Drug Enforcement Administration.

During the transition before Reagan's inauguration, Smith led the Kitchen Cabinet's personnel task force that chose key members of the administration, many of them like Smith—longtime members of Reagan's informal group of friends and advisers.

The meetings of that task force and of the Kitchen Cabinet generally were held in Smith's law offices at the Los Angeles firm of Gibson, Dunn and Crutcher, where Smith was the managing partner.

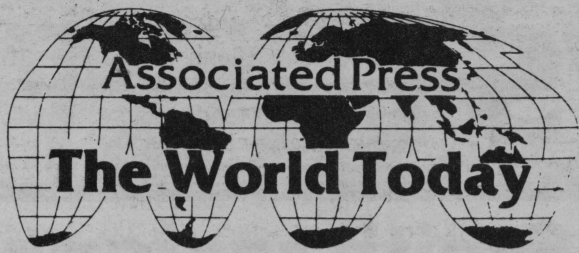

Smith's decision came as a surprise to associates who had heard him in the past express a desire to be the first attorney general since Herbert Brownell in the Eisenhower administration to complete four full years in office.

Bus and fuel tanker cause crash

WHITEFISH, Mont. (AP)—Townpeople in this mountainous resort grieved Sunday for nine people killed when a school bus carrying the high school wrestling team crashed into a fuel tanker in a snowstorm.

The bus, carrying about 30 wrestlers, coaches, cheerleaders and others from Whitefish High School, was returning from a losing match at Browning, 94 miles to the northwest. It collided with the empty fuel tanker truck on U.S. 2 and burst into flames.

It was the worst traffic accident in Montana history, said Al Goke state highway traffic director.

The injured included the truck driver, Harold Belcher, 63, of Cut Bank, said Flathead County sheriff's spokesman Corky Derby.

Boy improves after accident

CHICAGO (AP)—A week after his apparently lifeless body was pulled from lake Michigan, 4-year-old Jimmy Tontlewicz showed vitality that added fuel to hopes he will make a complete recovery, a spokeswoman said.

"He has opened his eyes and he's moving his arms and legs," said Charlene Sidlo, nursing supervisor at Children's Memorial Hospital. She added that the boy remained in critical condition, breathing with the aid of a ventilator.

His bloodstream still contained drugs from the barbiturate coma which doctors induced to control pressure inside his skull after he was rescued last Sunday from the ice-covered lake following a sledding accident.

Four wounded in battle Sunday

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanese troops and Shiite Moslem militants fought a one-hour battle in Beirut's southern suburbs Sunday and first reports said four people, including one soldier, were wounded.

The fighting was the first major confrontation between the army regulars and Shiite Moslems in the southern suburbs, adjacent to the U.S. Marine base at Beirut International Airport, in almost a month.

The army and Shiite militias battled three days at Christmas time for control of positions evacuated by the French troops of the multinational force, killing 60 before a Dec. 26 cease-fire.

Each side blamed the other for starting Sunday's battle.

State-run Beirut Radio said formations of U.S. F-14 Tomcat jets from U.S. carriers off the coast made reconnaissance flights over the capital and the central mountains. It said four Israeli jets also crossed the skies of southern Lebanon, but no bombing was reported.

Lebanese army positions on the slopes of the central mountains overlooking Beirut came under artillery and rocket fire briefly Sunday, but the front between the army and anti-government Druse militia was relatively quiet after two days of fierce fighting.

Druse leader Walid Jumblatt vowed in an interview published Sunday his men would continue fighting unless the Cabinet of Prime Minister Amin Gemayel is replaced.

Six East Germans seek asylum

BERLIN (AP)—Six East Germans who fled into the U.S. Embassy in East Berlin and asked for political asylum were escorted through the Berlin Wall to freedom in the West Sunday night.

A spokeswoman at the U.S. Embassy said the six, who entered the embassy Friday, left with their East Germany lawyer who had been involved in negotiations for their passage to West Berlin.

West German border guards said the five men and one woman crossed through the Berlin Wall in three cars at 9 p.m.

It was not known where the East Germans were taken.

The refugees were identified as Rene Faccin,

19; Bernd Apel, 43; Joerg Heikal, 23; and Bernd Macke, 28 all of East Berlin, and husband and wife Petra and Daniel Klingenberg of Potsdam.

With them in the cars were West Germany's representative in East Germany, Hans Otto Brutigam, and the lawyer, Wolfgang Vogel.

The Embassy, which had been in touch with the State Department in Washington, provided the rooms for the negotiations, but did not take direct part, the spokeswoman said.

The group stayed in the shuttered Embassy building while authorities tried to solve the standoff through diplomatic channels. East Berlin authorities reinforced patrols around the embassy Saturday.

TAC programs to be cut, member drive falls short

by Debra Klauer

Programs for the Tarble Arts Center will be altered because a membership drive goal of $20,000 was not met.

TAC Director Don Carmichael said the TAC's first membership drive, conducted last semester, raised $14,000.

Some TAC programs will be altered because funds collected from the drive did not meet the projected mark, he said.

"Exhibitions for 1985 were the main

AB will debate travel requests

by Anne Ingles

The Apportionment Board Monday will hear requests from the Players and the Sports and Recreation Board for traveling funds, Student Body President John Cole said.

Cole will be presiding at the AB meeting due to the resignation of Financial Vice President Gail Redeker last week.

Redeker resigned last week saying her class schedule, consisting of 18 hours, would prevent her from performing the job to the best of her ability.

Cole said the Players are requesting the additional money to attend the American College Theater Festival, which will be held in Rockford Jan. 25-29.

Senior Jeff Bennett has been nominated for the prestigious Irene Warren Award, which will be presented at the festival, for his performance in "Good" last semester, Cole said.

In addition, David Dutler, ex-officio Sports and Recreation Board member, will be requesting a line item transfer and traveling funds.

Dutler and three Eastern students plan to attend the National Recreational Sports Association Annual Conference in Fort Worth, Texas, March 29-April 3, Cole said.

The AB will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the Union addition Arcola—Tuscola room.

cutbacks. We'll just have to live with that budget," Carmichael said.

"The money will be used for programming exhibitions, visiting artists, concert series lectures and film series," he added.

Although the expected monetary goal was not reached, Carmichael said, the TAC now has a total of 250 members. The exact number of new members has not been determined, he said.

"The new members have become support persons of our programs. They do not have any duties; they are just used to help finance," he said.

"We feel we did very well this year considering it was our first membership drive," he added.

Carmichael said another membership drive will be conducted in September. Donations will probably not increase much over those from the last drive, he noted.

Changes should improve News' opinion function

Daily Eastern News' readers may not notice any difference between editorials that appear on this page this semester than in the past.

But the News' editorial board, which analyzes issues of importance to readers and serves as the voice of this paper by commenting on those issues, will be operating differently this semester. And it is the board's intention that as a result of the operating change, editorials will be even more inciteful and thought-provoking than in the past.

Under the previous edit board format, staff editors and directors, in addition to their regular duties, were also required to serve as members on the board. In the past few years, however, the total number of board members has ballooned to 17.

In order to facilitate the exchange of ideas and to increase meeting efficiency, the board felt a change was needed. Thus, under our new structure, the News' editorial board will consist of five permanent members (editor in chief, editorial page editor, news editor, managing editor and associate news editor) and two rotating members (staff editors).

Those seven members will be required to attend meetings and will carry one vote each. The rotating members will be chosen based on potential editorial topics to be discussed at the meeting. This will provide the necessary insight for any editorial focus.

Since a staff editor is directly involved in events which the editorial board decided is an important topic, his involvement will better conduce an informed opinion.

All members of the editorial board, and staff members of the News are encouraged to attend meetings, but the final vote on issues will lie within the seven members.

Also, to offer the readers a more personalized, fresher style, while maintaining the board's objectivity, a staff of editorial writers will be incorporated.

The editorial writers will be responsible for further research and the writing of editorials.

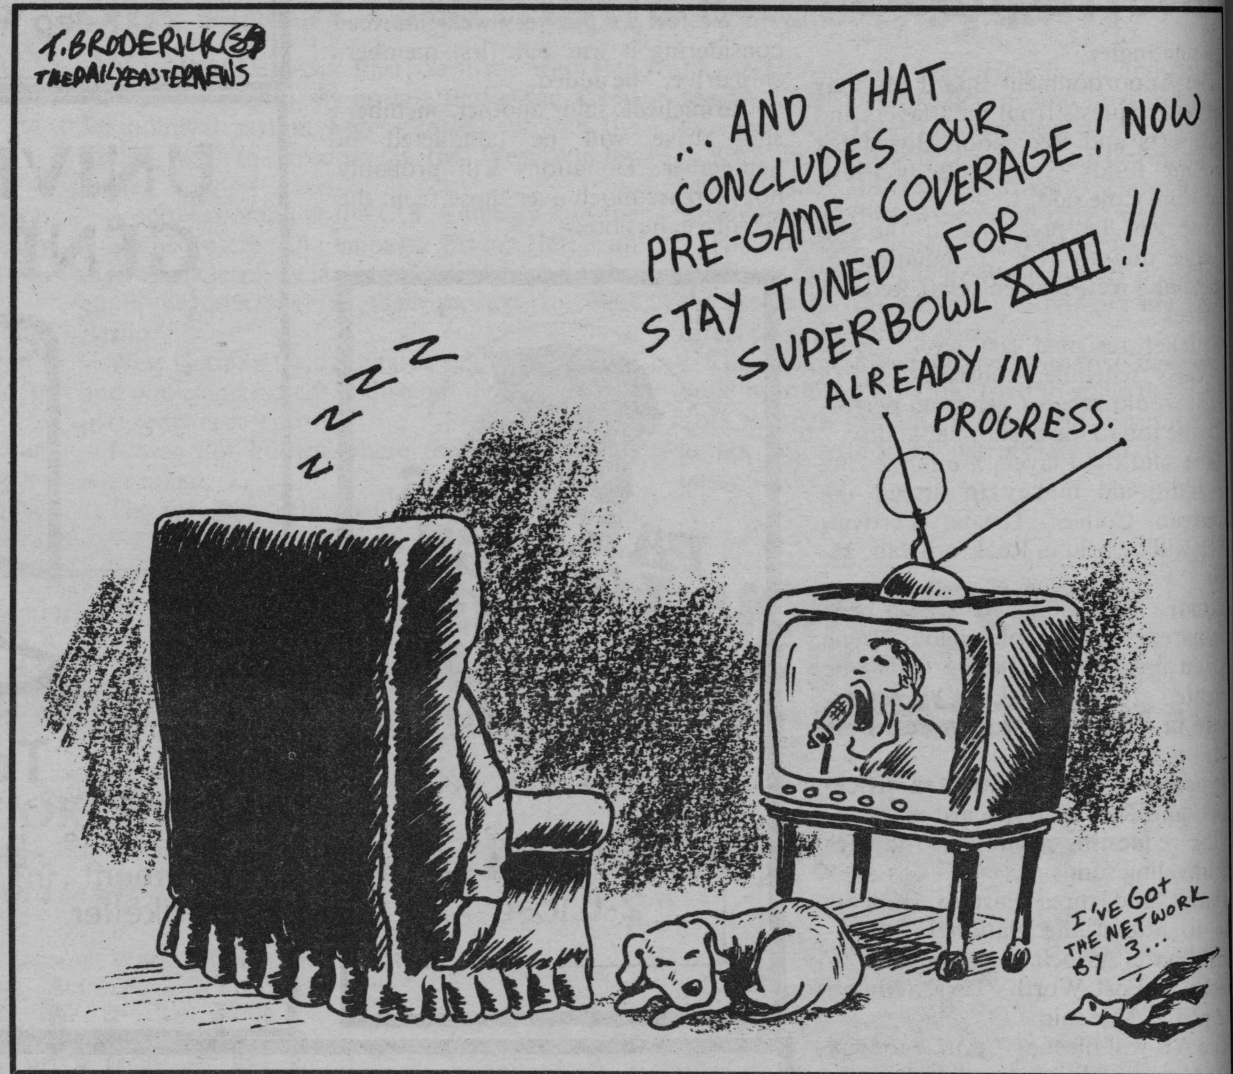

Such a change as the News' revamped editorial board may seem like a jolt to staff members. But, the daily reader might not notice such a change considering the grayness of a newspaper and the seemingly unchanging visual appearance of pulp and print.

But we hope the change will be a smooth one and welcomed with increased reader interest.

Besides the input of the News' staff, our readers' thoughts and opinions regarding our editorial content is always welcome.

Criticism of conforming generation reeks with injustice

In some classes I've attended during my four years at Eastern, I've heard some faculty members describe our generation of students as "boring and apathetic."

This always makes me more than a little angry. As a student who spends most of my time with other students, I just don't see us as boring and apathetic at all.

Sure, we are a boring group compared to the college students of the '60s.

That period of time was a glorified decade of sit-ins, love-ins, free speech, free love, peace, war, civil rights, riots, and political activism in zillions of forms.

Many students could be heard spouting comments like, "Do your own thing, man. Buck the system. But most of all, don't conform to the establishment."

The '60s was a time when being different was the norm, not the exception. The outrageous was in—from long hair to plastering the American flag on any part of the human anatomy that would get the most attention.

Admittedly, students of the late '60s and early '70s were special. They despised the problems of racial injustice, poverty and the Vietnam war. They wanted everyone in this country to have the same opportunities they enjoyed, and they wanted immediate change.

Now it's 1984—or is it still '83? The years are so similar that it's hard to tell them apart. It's also hard to tell most students apart anymore. We've become as alike as the generic packages our food comes in.

If you don't agree, just look around the next time you're at Ike's. You might get the feeling you're in a house of mirrors instead of a bar. Yes, we do look

Personal file:

Keith Clark

alike.

We don't buck the system like students used to, either. It's a lot easier to go along in our own sheltered world consisting of school, dating and partying.

But maybe it just looks that way. As the cliché goes: sometimes appearances can be deceiving.

Are we really that apathetic, or do we strive to make changes through our system to make life a little better for all of us?

Perhaps students now realize that any changes we want to make will come easiest once we have control of the system, and any radical measures aren't worth the trouble.

For examples, take a close look at yourselves and other students right here at Eastern.

Student groups are concerned about a multitude of problems—from campus security to grade changes. And they are working with, not against, the administration to find the solutions.

Multitudes of students are taking every type of computer course that is offered, exhibiting a sharp eye on what will be a major aspect of our country's future.

If it's political activism you want, think back to the emotional gathering of hundreds of Eastern students in the North Quad last October to honor the U.S. Marines killed in Lebanon.

This positive action for our armed forces says a lot about student attitudes toward our country.

But it's not just limited to this campus. Several students are politically active in not only the community, but also in the state.

For example, there is an Eastern student serving on the Charleston School Board and two students are vying to be delegates at the Republican National Convention.

To me, this says that we're using the proper channels to gain some leverage in this country.

The "flower children" are now coming to power in the system, and perhaps they are realizing that even though their attitudes and actions of the '60s are fascinating, they weren't realistic.

There was probably a lot more to the flower generation than I've mentioned here, but conversely, I think there is a lot more going on in our generation than we're being given credit for.

Yes, compared to the students of the '60s, we are boring. But, we cannot be labeled apathetic.

Perhaps we've just realized that the better way to change something is through hard work and cooperation, and that working with the system is better than working against it.

Soviets conducting talks on United States military

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State George P. Shultz said Sunday the United States and Soviet Union are conducting "pretty good" informal arms limitation discussions and could resume conventional force reduction talks March 16.

Shultz did not reveal the exact issues involved in the informal discussions, but he said Americans should "take heart" because the Reagan administration's military buildup has diminished the threat of nuclear war.

"We have pretty good discussions going on now on the hot line," he said on 'This Week with David Brinkley' on ABC-TV. "That's a form of arms agreement."

Shultz said the United States is agreeable to a Soviet suggestion that the two superpowers resume in Vienna on March 16 their suspended Mutual and Balanced Force Reduction talks aimed at trimming conventional forces in Europe.

Asked to characterize U.S.-Soviet relations, he replied, "There are some positive things. There are some negative things. It's kind of a mixed picture."

Graham works backstage to aid diplomatic relations

CHICAGO (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham worked behind the scenes last spring to help President Reagan assess the reaction of evangelicals to U.S. establishment of diplomatic relations with the Vatican, it was reported Sunday.

Graham, who since Watergate has downplayed his relationship to U.S. presidents, summed up his findings in a confidential, seven-page letter to Interior Secretary William Clark, then the president's national security adviser, the Chicago Sun-Times said.

"If anyone can do it and get away with it, it is Mr. Reagan," Graham reported, quoting a comment from one of his contacts.

A copy of the letter was obtained by the Sun-Times, the newspaper said.

Graham said in the letter that he made several "discreet inquiries" on a "confidential basis, and no mention was made of the fact that the inquiries were being made at the request of the White House."

Missouri upends women tankers

by Marc McMullen
COLUMBIA, Mo.—Eastern's women's swimming team went into Friday's meet with the University of Missouri expecting an even matchup, but left wondering how it lost by 29 points.

"They (Missouri) were in pretty good control throughout the whole meet," Panther head coach Ray Padovan said. "We had a couple of girls who swam really well, but overall we didn't swim as well as we could have."

However, Friday's 84-55 defeat seems the least of Padovan's worries these days. Rather, the Panther mentor said time is a big factor determining the success of his swimmers.

"Right now we are at the point in training where we need to see just where we are," he said. "We only have five weeks left before the conference championship."

Senior Gail Pavick led a list of Panther winners Friday as she captured the 100-yard breaststroke (1:15.3).

Sophomore Sally Mulcrone and senior Tammy Baker won the 200-yard butterfly (2:23.7) and 50-yard freestyle (26.2), respectively.

In addition, freshmen Petra Kooiker and Tracy Saal, senior Dawn Buczkowski and Baker captured the 400-yard-freestyle relay with a 3:47 clocking.

An injury to Debbie Kroening kept the junior out of action Friday, but Padovan said he does not believe the injury was too serious. "Debbie's shoulder was bothering her before the meet, so our trainers decided she would be better off sitting out and not aggravating it further," he said. "She swam a little today (Sunday), so hopefully, by next week she will be able to swim against Northern Illinois University," Padovan added.

team," he said. "Our biggest strength is experience and depth. When we started out depth was a question mark, but it has come along well."

In addition to Kraayenbrink, center Herbert King, 13.4 points per game, and forward Scott Stafford, 9 points per game, give Northern Iowa potent scoring attack.

Berry contends that while playing at home Monday is an important factor, it will not give his club a decisive advantage.

Following Monday's showdown, Eastern travels to Western Illinois University Wednesday night. The road game will mark one of three remaining on the Panthers' schedule.

D'Abbraccio said, "This was definitely Stacy's best game of the year. She didn't start playing until after Thanksgiving because of volleyball and it took her a while to adjust."

Defensively, Eastern out-rebounded the Braves 40-27 as guard Melanie Hatfield held Academic All-American Chris Burns to nine of her 17 points.

The Panthers iced the win with a string of 10 unanswered second-half points which moved the score to 72-42, marking their largest lead of the night.

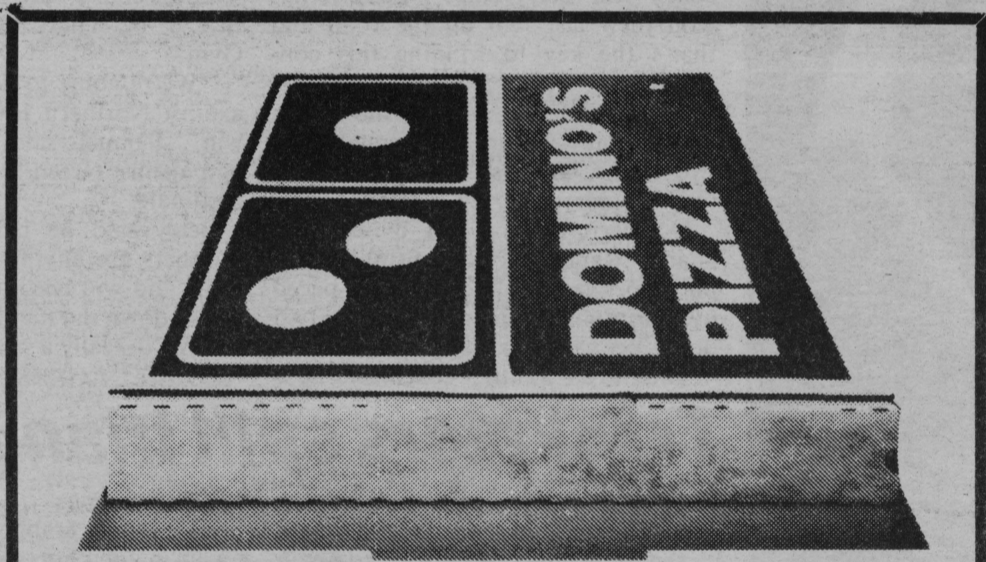

"We played well in all areas," D'Abbraccio said. "Our defense was good and we were very patient on offense."

Eastern shot 48 percent from the field and 74 percent from the free-throw line.

Forward Chris Aldridge tossed in 18 points and Toni Collins chipped in 12 more to round out the Panthers in double figures. Collins also collected nine rebounds.

"Teamwork has been a Panther trademark all year," D'Abbraccio said. "If you look at our individual stats, there is no one standout player. They all contribute."

"The substitutes got a chance to play at least seven minutes," she continued. "Our bench held them (Bradley) pretty well."

Allen outruns Washington as Raiders take title game

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Marcus Allen rushed for a record 191 yards, including a 74-yard touchdown run, and the Los Angeles defense shut down Washington's John Riggins and Joe Theismann as the Raiders crushed the defending champion Redskins 38-9 Sunday in the most lopsided Super Bowl ever.

Understudies Derrick Jensen and Jack Squirek turned alert defensive plays into instant first-half touchdowns before Allen, a unanimous selection as the game's Most Valuable Player, broke loose in the second half and paced the Raiders to a Super Bowl record 38 points.

Allen picked up his yardage on 20 carries and broke the record of 166 rushing yards set by Riggins in last year's 27-17 Washington victory over the Miami Dolphins.

Jensen, a reserve tight end and LA's special teams captain, blocked Jeff Hayes' punt and fell on it in the end zone for a touchdown 4:52 into the game. Squirek, a backup linebacker, intercepted Theismann's screen pass and burst 5 yards for a score just seven seconds before halftime.

Between those scores, Jim Plunkett passed 12 yards to Cliff Brach for a second-period touchdown and Allen applied the coup de grace in the third quarter with two touchdowns—running 5 and a Super Bowl record 74 yards to put the Raiders safely in command for their third Super Bowl triumph.

The Redskins had been 3-point favorites to win their second successive Super Bowl—but by holding Riggins to 64 yards and Washington's only touchdown on a 1-yard dive in the third period, the Raiders became the only team besides the Pittsburgh Steelers to win more than two. The Steelers won four times in the 1970s.

Three plays served to propel the Raiders to this victory over a team which, at 14-2 was the best in the National Football League.

Cook leads women cagers

by Mike Sengstock

PEORIA—Stacy Cook's 24 points and 13 rebounds led Eastern's women's basketball team Saturday to a 78-51 conference rout of Bradley University and one of its best game this season.

"We played probably our best game all year," Eastern head coach Bobbie Hilke said. "Stacy played a very steady game. It was a real lift for us when she came in."

"Seven of Stacy's 13 rebounds were offensive," Hilke added. "But it was really a great team effort, everyone played well."

The victory improved the second-place Panthers' Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference record to 5-1 and 10-5 overall, while Bradley fell to 0-4 and 3-11.

Cook, who came off the bench Saturday, scored eight of the Panthers' final 12 points in the initial half to help Eastern grab a 39-20 halftime advantage.

Showdown with UNI

Cagers eye first place

by Mike Lynch

Eastern's basketball team returns to the road Monday night for probably its biggest conference test so far against league-leading University of Northern Iowa.

The Panthers, 3-1, 7-6 overall, can move into first place in the Association of Mid-Continent Universities' standings with a victory over the host Purple Panthers, 2-0, 9-5 overall.

"It's always a tough game when we play Eastern," Northern Iowa head coach Jim Berry said. "Eastern has won their last two on the road and that's the key to winning this conference."

Monday night's AMCU showdown will not only feature the league's top-two teams, but also the conference's top-two scorers.

Northern Iowa is led by 6-foot-3 guard Randy Kraayenbrink, 20.7 points per game, while Eastern is paced by 6-foot-4 guard Jon Collins, 19.5 points per game.

The Purple Panther coach said he is aware of the opposing offensive standouts.

"Collins is scoring very well and you can't very well expect to stop him cold," Berry said. "We're looking to contain him as much as possible while limiting the rest of the team."

Eastern enters Monday's action with a three-game winning streak after defeating league foes Cleveland State and Valparaiso universities and the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.

However, Samuels was bothered with his club's play in defeating Green Bay 67-62 Thursday night at Lantz Gym.

"We're going to have to play better against Northern Iowa if we want to win," Samuels said. "When we play bad against Green Bay and win, we're fortunate."

Berry said he believes his Purple Panthers are anything but a one-man show and will need a big effort Monday to down the Panthers.

"We're really a pretty well-balanced (See CAGERS, page 11)

Tracksters split triangular

by Crystal Schrof

Despite outstanding performances by senior Claude Magee and freshman Chris Johnson, Eastern's men's track team was overpowered Saturday by Southeast Missouri State University 83-57.

However, the Panthers' 57 points were still good enough to turn back Indiana State University-Evansville, 57-30 in an indoor triangular at Lantz Fieldhouse.

Southeast Missouri captured 11 first-place finishes out of 16 scheduled events to notch the victory. The Panthers and Indiana State-Evansville registered four and one, respectively.

Magee, the Panthers' lone double-winner, captured two title efforts in the 60-yard dash (6.1) and 300-yard dash (30.8).

Magee, who will compete Sunday in the Rosemont Horizon track meet, also tied both his personal and Eastern school-record times Saturday.

Meanwhile, Johnson won the 440-yard dash, posting a time of 49.8 and was third in the 300-yard dash with a 32.0 time

"Chris did an outstanding job for a freshman. We have great hope for him," Moore said.

Rounding out Eastern's first-place efforts was the two-mile relay team of Dan Johnson, Don Johnson, Jeff Fitt and Drew Geisler. The quartet recorded a 8:05.8 time.

Dan Matas grabbed a second-place finish in the shot put (52'2½), while Craig DeWall and Mark Smith also notched runner-up finishes.

DeWall placed in the 60-yard hurdles (7.6) and Smith finished strong in the 600-yard run with a time of 1:13.9.

Distance runners Nick Whiteside and Fitt also placed second individually in the three-mile run (14:33.6) and the 1,000-yard run (2:17.3), respectively.

In addition, Tom Lindsay and Mike Kelly collected runner-up places. Lindsay made a 14-foot-6 pole vault jump and Kelly leaped 22'5" in the long jump.

The Panthers continue their indoor season Saturday when they compete in the prestigious Purdue University relays.

Tankers lose

Eastern's women's swim team expected a much closer meet Friday against Missouri than the 29-point 84-55 loss it received, and now the Panthers are looking to regroup.
