BOG approves fee increase

BOG discusses marketing plan. Page 3

Although there are no plans for a tuition increase, students will be paying more money next year after the Board of Governors approved President Stan Rives' proposed student fee increases Thursday's Springfield.

And students living in residence halls will be shelling out even more after the BOG approved an increase in housing, from $2,388 per year to $2,476 per year, an 8 percent increase.

The BOG is the governing board for Eastern and also governs five state universities including Governors State University, Northern Illinois University, Chicago State University and Western Illinois University.

The increase in housing is primarily keeping in step with inflation," only the increase is at a rate of 3.7 percent, which is less than the rate of inflation, Rives said.

With the mandatory fee increases, students will be required to pay $46.50 more next fall when the increases go into effect. The total of student fees will be $528.20 per year. The fees are currently $481.70.

A breakdown of the total shows students will be paying $8 more per semester towards the athletic fee, "which is a result of the student referendum that passed last November," Rives said. Students currently pay $24.55 and the $8 increase brings the total to $32.55 per semester.

The athletic fee will help support the intercollegiate athletic program to keep pace with inflation and maintain quality competitive programs, Rives said.

The textbook rental fee was raised from $45 to $60 per semester. Rives said it "is a result of the escalation of purchasing books."

Students will also feel the effect of a 10 percent increase per semester in the health insurance fee. The fee is currently $39 per semester and will be $48.40 next fall.

The health insurance fee is substantial this year, Rives said, "and is due to the extra coverage of normal pregnancy and AIDS tests which haven't been covered in previous years."

Also, an 85 cent increase was approved for indexing the grant-in-aid fee to the increase in the room and board rate. Currently, the fee is $25.25 per semester and will be increased this fall to $26.10. This fee was also approved by a student referendum, Rives said.

A new fee was also approved for Eastern, which will require all prospective students to pay a $25 application fee when applying to the university.

This fee was recommended in the Study of Undergraduate Education report presented to Rives last September.

"The fee will help cover processing costs and contribute to the support of student recruitment and orientation," Rives said.

Rives was asked why Eastern needs to have an application fee when none of the other BOG schools have one. He said "it comes out of the Study of Undergraduate of Education report and will cover some things we cannot fund out of our budget such as recruitment."

BOG Chancellor Thomas D. Layzell said he is supportive of the application fee and said it may break the ice for the other BOG schools to have one.

"We (BOG) talked about it with all of the presidents and the other institutions don't seem fit to have an application fee at this time," Layzell said.

Layzell said Eastern "is not breaking new ground" because the schools did have an application fee at one time.

The fee is based on a survey done by the university and is in line "with the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana that has a fee of $25 and the University of Illinois at Chicago that has a fee of $20."

Rives is concerned about students who cannot afford application fees.

"Lean on Me's" Joe Clark speaks to a crowd in McAfee Gym Thursday night after the crowd waited for an hour and a half.

Persistent Clark speaks

By JEFF MADSEN
Senior reporter

For almost two hours, the University Board was wondering if Joe Clark fell off the face of the earth.

Clark, the controversial high school principal who gained fame for walking the halls of Paterson New Jersey's Eastside

High School with a baseball bat and for whom the recent movie, "Lean on Me" is based, was scheduled to lecture to a crowd of about 1,500 in McAfee Gymnasium.

But when the UB member went to Champaign to pick up Clark from the airport Clark didn't step off the plane, which took off from Newark, N.J., and stopped

City focuses on fire safety regulations

Editor's note: This is the last in a three-part series focusing on fire insurance and fire protection in Eastern Illinois' university towns.

By JEFF MADSEN
Senior reporter

It wasn't until three Eastern Illinois students were killed in a devastating 1979 house fire that the Charleston City Council took a closer look into fire safety regulations.

On October 8, 1979, at about 11:30 a.m., fire broke out at a student-rented home at 1108 Fourth Street. The fire raged out of control for almost 25 minutes before firefighters arrived to the scene. Michael Hayner, 20, his brother Robert, 21, and Carla Cowger, 18, were sleeping in the basement. The bodies of the Hayner brothers and Cowger were found, but they were burned beyond recognition.

At that time, city fire officials estimated the fire had ignited almost an hour before they were called to the scene.

But the Hayner brothers and Cowger never would have been alerted to, there were no smoke detectors in their home.

That tragic accident later prompted the Charleston City Council to pass an ordinance that required institutional, residential and commercial properties to install operable smoke detector devices.

Just this past year, almost a decade after Charleston drafted the mandatory smoke detector law, the Illinois General Assembly made it mandatory that all homes have smoke detectors.

"Smoke detectors are the single most important thing you can do to protect yourself against fire, whether you own a home or rent a home," Charleston Fire Chief Tom Watson said.

But Watson and other city officials fear that several homes, primarily the ones that are rented by students, do have smoke detectors installed, but they are inoperable ones.

"That's one of the big problems," Watson said. "With smoke detectors, especially battery-powered ones, they aren't always maintained properly and may not work." He added that students who do rent homes should regularly inspect to ensure they are working properly.

Watson said homes without smoke detectors will be issued a violation by the city, given two weeks to correct the situation, and if it is not corrected, fined $40.

Watson also mentioned enforcing stricter zoning ordinances in Charleston. Even throughout the recent mayoral campaign, enforcing tougher zoning ordinances to promote safer living conditions was a pertinent issue.

"The ordinances are in place, it's just a matter of getting out to see if they comply," Watson said. The fire department had secured an individual to conduct fire inspections in early April. But Watson said that man recently retired and until a new one gets trained, it may deter the city's fire inspection process for a few months.

"There are a lot of them out there (substandard homes) that do need to be brought up to standards," Watson said. "But the majority are in fairly decent shape. It's the property owner's responsibility to make sure they live up to codes. If someone gets hurt, they could have a liability there."

Man turns violent after losing hom

PEORIA (AP) - He was known as "Trouble" and "Trash Can Joe," a vagrant who lived mostly at a mission. But authorities say he turned violent after being thrown out of an apartment house and returned to set it on fire, killing seven children and two young mothers.

Joe Pickens, 34, was being held Thursday in lieu of $2 million bond, charged with first-degree murder and arson in Tuesday's fire. Authorities said the victims died in their sleep as the second floor of their ramshackle frame house filled with smoke and flames.

"Joe was a small guy, he couldn't whip a flea," said Jim Garner, who lives across the street from the burned out house. "He didn't even have the mind of a teenager. I just don't know what to think."

But Richard Brien, superintendent at the Peoria Rescue Mission, Pickens' most frequent address, said Pickens could be mean and vengeful when drunk and once threw bricks at the mission after being ejected for breaking its rules.

"My nickname for him was Trouble," Brien told reporters. "The guys used to call him Trash Can Joe. Sometimes when he'd get kicked out of here he would just go crawl out in the trash cans to sleep."

Pickens had numerous run-ins with the law, police said. One of them might have landed him in jail had he not been one step ahead of authorities.

Pickens had ignored a judge's order to begin serving a 30-month sentence March 31 for resisting arrest, the Peoria Journal Star reported. It was his 22nd minor misdemeanor conviction since 1983.

The missed jail date was included on the jail's list of violations to be brought to the attention of Peoria County State Attorney Kevin Lyons, an act the jail says takes about 10 weeks.

Teen-ager organizes rally

HIGHLAND PARK - With a little help from his friends, a teen-ager who wants to save whales has taken on big business, organized a rally and helped dispel the notion that youthful activism is dead.

Eric Kessler, a senior at Highland Park High School, said Thursday he launched his crusade after seeing an environmental group's petition urging Marriott Corp. to stop buying Icelandic fish in a move to halt commercial whale kills.

"Amazing things are going on at our school and all over Chicago. This started with five or 10 of my friends and it's grown to astronomical proportions," Kessler, 17, said in a telephone interview.

Marriott, a diversified hospitality company, had a contract to supply Icelandic fish to the cafeteria at the school in this northern suburb until Eric got involved.

Commission investigates

MOSCOW - A commission is investigating whether soldiers used shovels to beat nationalist demonstrators in Soviet Georgia during a clash in which 19 people died, a government spokesman said Thursday.

In the Georgian capital of Tbilisi, scene of the Sunday confrontation, an estimated 2,000 people marched through the streets for the first funeral for one of the victims, psychiatrist Zia Djinjaradze, 42, according to a local human rights activist.

Pravda, the Communist Party daily, reported Georgian activists have changed their tactics in the face of Soviet troops keeping order in Tbilisi, and are handing out handwritten leaflets to press for a general strike. But a Soviet official said all of Tbilisi's enterprises were working.

Lotto at $55 million, a new record

By the Associated Press - Dazzled by a record state Lotto jackpot of $55 million, Illinoisians and an assortment of visitors jostled each other Thursday as they lined up to volunteer for a few days of dizzy dreams.

"We've been getting calls from around the country...Texas, California, and Tennessee," said Illinois State Lottery spokeswoman Kathy Rem.

"We've also gotten calls from Europe, England, and the Netherlands with people asking how they can play," she said.

The geographical range is "something we've never seen before," added Lottery Director Sharon Sharp.

The Illinois jackpot ranks as the third-largest lottery prize in U.S. history, a 20-year annuity worth $2.75 million a year to a single winner. It follows a $55.1 million jackpot in Florida, and two California prizes, a $51.4 million award and October's national record $61 million.

Ticket sales have boosted the Illinois jackpot, already swollen by three winless drawings by $5 million each day since Sunday. And the prize could break all records by Saturday's drawing if those sales continue.

Illinois' previous record jackpot of $40 million was won in 1984 by a single winner, Mike Wittkowski, a Chicago printer. Multiple winners split the pot.

There are as many dreams as how to spend the money as there are players.

Teacher Karen Jensen of Munster, Ind., said the jackpot would mean never having to buy another second-grader.

"I'm going to quit my job, and I'm never going to have any kids," said Ms. Jensen, who traveled to Calumet City south of Chicago for a ticket.

Plan to market BOG schools presented

By BOB SWINEY
Administration editor

SPRINGFIELD—A plan to market the five Board of Governors' schools was presented at Thursday's meeting in Springfield.

Kenneth Majer, executive vice president and general manager of the West Coast Operations of Siegel & Gale marketing firm, told the BOG that in order for the universities to prepare for the next century, they need to market themselves like a corporation.

"Without marketing we won't survive," Majer said in his presentation. He said marketing "is not advertising, marketing is planning - not selling."

"Strategic marketing is a mechanism for anticipating potential problems and a plan for survival in a competitive environment," Majer said. And in terms of competition among educational institutions, "you better believe there is competition with all of the universities in Illinois."

Majer said universities can market for a variety of things, not just to attract students. Universities can market under financial problems, declining number of students, increasing competition or just about anything that will help solve problems and plan for the future.

"Every institution has to be concerned with marketing," said Eastern President Stan Rives. "Cutting off enrollment 10 months before the fall semester shows we don't have a problem attracting students. But that doesn't mean we shouldn't be interested in marketing," Rives added.

Rives is concerned about marketing and "there are things we can do better. Our problem is attracting the best students possible."

Majer said Eastern should be fortunate that it has such a good enrollment and doesn't have trouble attracting students, but "down the road it may not be like that."

He stressed Eastern should aggressively take advantage of the enrollment figures and target quality students.

"Eastern is in good shape now, but should take a look at where you want to be down the road," Majer said.

"Eastern must target the appropriate constituencies with the right message," Majer said. Constituencies would be the legislature for funds, the Board of Higher Education for representation, community leaders, faculty and administration for support and students - the most important constituency.

He said Eastern should focus on students with higher GPAs and high ACT and SAT entrance exam scores and initiating new programs to attract the best students.

The idea of a marketing plan came about in 1987 when Jim Findlay, a marketing instructor at Western Illinois University, presented a result of a marketing study. The study called for the universities to improve their images.

The BOG feels a marketing plan should be implemented as soon as possible to begin getting results.

"There is going to be a great need for planning and marketing in the future," said BOG Chancellor Thomas Layzell, who presides over the five BOG schools including Governors State University, Chicago State University, Northeastern Illinois University, Western Illinois University and Eastern.

"The plan is something that must survive when we are gone and it requires a great breath of involvement," Layzell said.

Senate petition causes chaos

By RUDY NOWAK
Government editor

A petition to remove Senate Speaker Jane Clark, which was signed by two senate members, is causing quite a stir among the two parties running in the student government elections.

Senate member Tim Denby brought the petition to the attention of Clark and told her that he would not take part in a campaign which would use tactics like that.

The petition, which had the signatures of senate members Denby and Tom Green, were never forwarded to Clark, which is the proper procedure for impeachment.

The bylaws of the senate say to impeach a senate member, a petition with five senate signatures must be handed in to the speaker 24 hours before the next senate meeting.

Tom Green has denied any involvement other than the signing of the petition.

"Tim Denby was the one that brought the petition to me not the other way around," Green added.

The petition cited that Clark failed on her duties as Speaker in four ways.

First, as chair of the Legislative Leadership Committee, she has failed to review all pending or proposed legislation as well as update the bylaws and constitution of the senate.

Clark said, "I feel that I have done my responsibilities on legislative leadership."

Other accusations include failure to use proper procedure in appointing chairpersons to senate committees, as well as delivering a state of the senate address. Failure to inform appointees they have been approved by senate was the final voiced complaint.

Clark denied all accusations by arguing that she did give the state of the senate address, but did not call it such. She added that she used the procedures for appointment as used by the previous senate speaker.

Funeral services set

By CATHY PODWOJSKI
City editor

Funeral services for freshman Bret O'Brien, who died Tuesday after a car accident, will be held Friday and Saturday at Blake-Lamb Funeral Home in Lisle.

Visitation will be held from 3 to 10 p.m. Friday at Blake-Lamb Funeral Home, Illinois Route 53 and Short Street in Lisle.

Saturday's services will begin at 8:30 a.m. at Blake-Lamb Funeral Home. From there, the services will move to St. Joan of Arc Church in Lisle where a mass will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Mr. O'Brien, 19, died Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. after he was involved in a car accident at 8:01 a.m. about 17 miles south of Kankakee. Mr. O'Brien's car crossed the median and hit a tree when he fell asleep at the wheel.

Mr. O'Brien, a native of Darien, was a Carman Hall resident majoring in pre-business. His brother, Brian O'Brien, said his interests were in marketing and sales-people-oriented jobs.

"Bret was very social, very fun to be around," Brian said. "He was a leader, although he was not very academically oriented."

Brian said his brother was not an exceptional student, but he seemed to be concentrating on improving this semester and "settling down" with his studies.

"He didn't want to go to a private school; he wanted to be where he could hang out with the kind of people he grew up with,"

"He was very interested in doing things to make others happy," Brian said.

Mr. O'Brien was driving home Tuesday to surprise his girlfriend with a visit, Brian said.

Mr. O'Brien's aunt, Diana Briley, said donations or memorials may be sent in lieu of flowers to the Good Shepherd Manor, a home for ill and handicapped men, at P.O. Box 260 in Momence.

Gas price hike's impact being felt

The recent jump in gasoline prices caught a lot of people off guard and is beginning to make a dent in people's pocketbooks.

Gasoline prices have surged about 22 cents a gallon in the last few weeks, finally holding steady at around $1.06 a gallon depending on where you buy your gas in Charleston.

Although the recent Alaskan oil spill may have indirectly led to a boost in prices, the hike in gas prices started 10 days prior to that ecological disaster.

There are several reasons for the price hike. First, prices generally tend to rise before the summer season according to the Chicago Motor Club. Second, OPEC nations have been holding to quotas on the production of oil and has cut the worldwide supply, causing prices to creep up. The Motor Club also said that because of the spill, supplies of oil tightened in the West, possibly taking away some of the supply of oil to the Midwest.

The increase in gas prices to more than a dollar a gallon is reminiscent of gas prices in the early and mid 80s when gas prices stayed above the dollar mark for a couple of years. We've been fortunate the past few years in not having to pay that high of a price for gas because OPEC nations had not been able to agree on a reasonable quota of oil production and thus, there was a glut of oil on the market which led to lower prices at the pump.

That's not the case anymore, and although gas prices probably would have gone up a few cents a gallon just because of the law of supply and demand, the Alaskan oil spill gave dealers the opportunity to raise the price up even higher.

Experts don't think gas prices will come down until the end of the summer, if at all, so it may put a damper on those who had plans to travel this summer.

Alaskan oil spill drawing rich, ridiculous

Welcome to Lifestyles of the Rich and Ridiculous. As usual, I, Amy Leach, will be taking you to the hot spots of the stars - the places you'd like to be, but being a middle-class bum, you can't afford it. So, sit back and listen to my irritating voice for the next 60 minutes as I make more money AND go to all the places you'll never get to visit.

Amy Carr (Byline)

Odd as it may seem, everybody who is anybody is heading to Alaska these days. Why???? Oil, of course, "black gold," "Texas crude," black waters filled with oil soaked animals, etc. What other reason do stars like us need?

Valdez, Alaska, got its luck break when Capt. Joseph J. Hazelwood, while looking for a beer, accidentally let that silly little oil tanker he was driving run aground. Ooops!

But hey, the people of Valdez couldn't be happier. After all, national headlines everyday make for great free advertising.

Reports show that the population of Valdez has doubled since the accident - no doubt due to our Rich and Ridiculous stars - and people are paying $50 to $100 a night to sleep on a basement sofa or in a parked car. Oh wait, I think I see one of our stars now, could it be Pat Sajak? Ohhhhh, it's you Mr. Vice President. Nice of you to join us.

"No problem. I heard about the oil spill and ran right up here. The people are just swell up here. You'd think they were all hoosiers. I'm hoping to open up a nice little golf course soon called "Hazelwood Heights." All the golf carts will be shaped like oil tankers. Periodically we would spill oil all over the course for some "Greasy, grimy golf." I figure people will pay big bucks for some quality entertainment. What do you think?"

Faaaabulous Danny boy, I think you've really hit on something there. Oh look, there is your friend John Tower. Let's see why he vacations at Valdez.

"Hi, Ms. Leach, happy to be here. Valdez is the land of opportunity, and lord knows I need any opportunity I can find right about now. I came up here with Dan as soon as I heard about that new drink the Totem Inn advertising. It goes like this, "The oil spill special, Captain's favorite. Exxon oil spill on the rocks. It looks like the real thing and tastes like tanker fuel." Now that's not a real drink, I don't know what is."

Any plans other than drinking Mr. Tower?
"Oh sure. I've met a whole lot of sexy eskimo women up here. A few of them are helping me build my own little igloo right now. I'm going to call it the oil pit. I figure if I get all greased up like an otter I can moan and groan from the pit it will attract lots of chicks."

Ho, ho, ho. What a guy. Thanks for your time, and good luck in Valdez.

Holy politicians, there is Mike Dukakis. Oh Dukakis Over here . . . Duke?

"Lloyd? Is that you? Oh Lloyd where are you?"
Mr. Dukakis, you look a little confused. Who are you calling for?

"Lloyd Bentsen, of course. Didn't you hear about the bumper stickers?"

What bumper stickers?
"I heard that while the Alaska pipeline was being built there were skads of bumper stickers that said "Happiness is 10,000 Oklahomans going home with a Texan under each arm!"

What is that supposed to mean?
"Hell, I don't know, but I tried to put Lloyd under my arm once during the campaign and he freaked out. He has this fetish for anti-perspirant. It could get ugly, this got out."

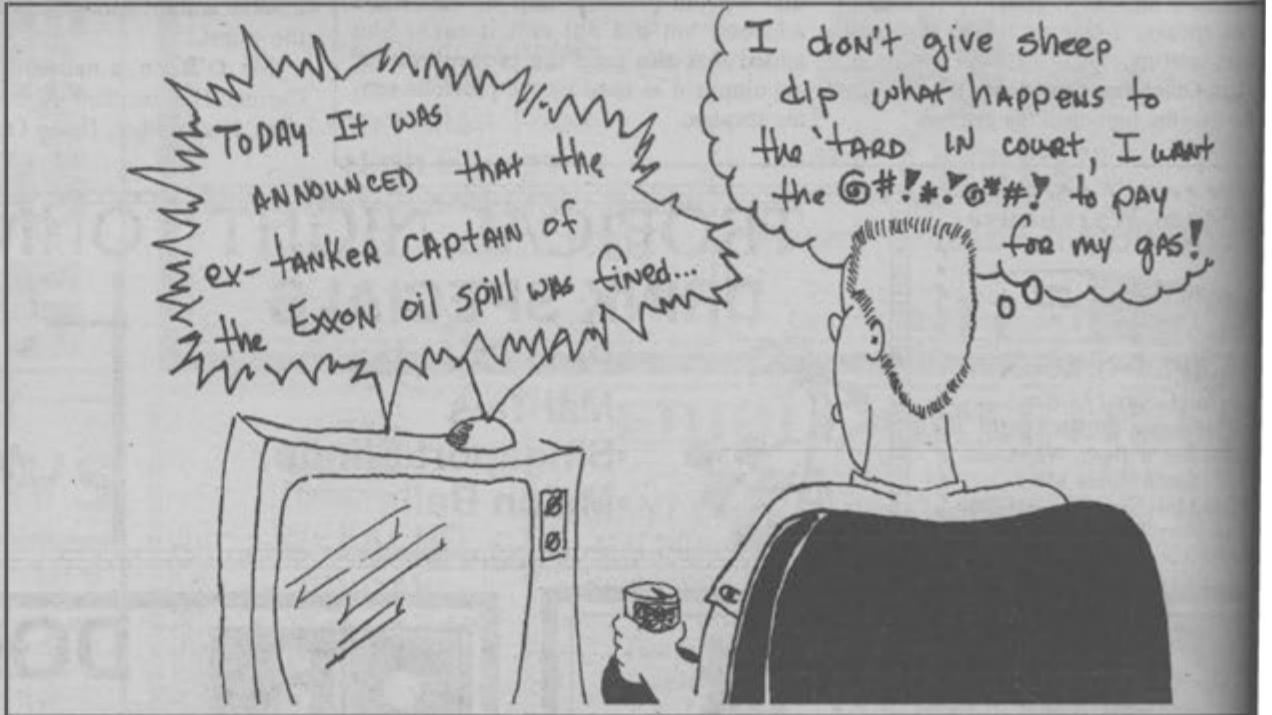

Oh, I think I see him. Is that a commercial he's working on? Mr. Bentsen, is that you? And what is it you are wearing?

Otter chaps. They are the latest Texas/Valdez trend. I must admit, I started it. Don't you like the way the little oil-soaked guys just flop up against my legs? What do you think of my new commercial?"

What are you advertising?
"Why anti-perspirant, of course! Some Oklahomans tucked me under their arms and I got this great idea. Call it "Oil Slick." Get it? Slick, instead of sticky. AHHHHH! What a great concept! I'll make millions!"

Oh darn, we're out of time. From Valdez where the rich get richer and the ridiculous go into politics. I, Amy Leach hoping all your vacations are faaaaabulous.

Amy "Leach" Carr is a staff writer and a regular columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Your turn

Propaganda should be thrown away

Dear editor;

Recently, some right-wing propaganda has been appearing on the bulletin boards of Coleman Hall. Normally, I just ignore this garbage. After all, small minds produce small ideas. This time, though, I feel compelled to say something. This time, the same small minds produced a new and dangerous idea.

For those of you who have not seen the flyers that I am about to describe, consider yourself lucky. The flyers ask, "Could the peace movement exist in Moscow?" The flyer answers its own question by stating, "No, But it could be planned there."

The first task is to deal with the truth of this propaganda. First, there exists in the U.S.S.R. a strong and growing peace movement; to denigrate their struggle is to ignore the truth. Second, the flyer strongly implies that people who choose to work for peace instead of war should be seen as communists. Well, this isn't a new idea either. It was an idea that thrived during the McCarthy era, and it should surprise no one that the new batch of right-wing fascists on campus decided to propagate this idea. It is obviously wrong, and it boggles the mind that these ideas still exist. Even Ronald Reagan and George Bush think it's fine to negotiate with the U.S.S.R. Reagan even produced an arms control treaty. Sure it was pretty insignificant in terms of the total number of nuclear weapons, but it was a step in the right direction. Is the new batch of right-wingers calling calling Reagan a communist also? I doubt it, but then again they would rather ignore the truth.

The second task is to deal with the procedures of this garbage. For them, I can only express utmost contempt. The authors of these slanderous lies didn't even have the guts to put their names on the flyers. I would describe them as true wimps and losers if you believe in your views, come out in the open. I challenge the authors of this propaganda to publicly defend their views in The Daily Eastern News. Until they can only describe them as small minded, right-wing cowards.

Finally, everyone should be concerned about this kind of hate literature at EIU. Increasingly, I have seen K.K.K. style vandalism in the library which is directed at a minority student population. If we have this bit of propaganda really does seem as if the right wing is getting out of control. It is time for all students to put their heads together and think where it belongs - in the trash.

Candidates espouse party platforms at forum

By RUDY NOWAK
Government editor

The Elections Committee held its candidate forum Thursday night in front of a crowd of more than 100 for all candidates running in the student government elections on April 20.

The senate candidates each were given two minutes to speak and two minutes to answer questions. The executive candidates each had three minutes to speak and two minutes to answer questions.

The candidates stuck very close to party platforms during the presentation period. When questioned, the candidates also managed to stay on the party lines.

Both Quality and Priority made obvious their positions on the two referendums on the spring ballot.

One of the referendums deals with any student fee increases having to go before the Apportionment Board. Both parties do support this referendum.

The lines were less clear over the referendum concerning the student appointees to the Student Publications Board. Priority, as a party, has taken a stand against this referendum.

Quality's position on the referendum is not as clear. The senate member who proposed the referendum, Jennifer Baldrige, is running for Executive Vice President and is a strongly supporter of the referendum.

The Quality candidate for student body president, Patty Kennedy, disagrees with the referendum stating: "I respect Jennifer's bringing the legislation before the senate but that particular board needs the experience and knowledge to get the problems solved.

Kennedy added that she doesn't think that there is anything wrong with the board the way it is structured now.

In addition to Quality and Priority several independent candidates were present. Candidates for the senate seats running independently were Tim Denby, who is running under the One Hell of a Guy Party, Melissa Ernst and Greg Forster.

Citations will be issued to EIU students

Citations will be issued to the two Carman Hall residents involved in a car accident early Monday at Eighth Street Circle and Taft near Carman Hall.

Freshman David Smith, the driver, and freshman Joseph David Mueller, a passenger, will receive citations, but no DUIs or any other charges will be filed, said Officer James Blagg of the Charleston Police Department.

Blagg said he finished the investigation into the accident Tuesday, which occurred at 2:35 a.m. Monday.

Smith, who is listed in good condition, remains in Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center from injuries he received when the car hit a fire hydrant and landed on its side. Mueller, who owns the car, received no major injuries.

Polish artists visit Tarble

By SCOTT QUEEN
Staff writer

Two visiting Polish artists will host the final Family Sampler Sunday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the Tarble Arts Center.

Family Sampler Sunday is a series of one-day events which concentrate on art activities for parents and children. These activities are free of charge and open to the public.

Sunday's Sampler will feature the work of Czeslaw Ciapalo and his wife, Anna Socha-Ciapalo in the Brainard Gallery. Czeslaw will give a presentation on the history of Polish art, folk art and their culture.

Directly following the presentation Polish refreshments served.

Anna will teach children Polish folk art, "Wycinanka," an art of cut paper.

After the presentations people will have the unique opportunity to sample Polish refreshments.

Ciapalo, a lecturer at the Agricultural and Pedagogical University in Siedice, Poland, has been a visiting artist at Eastern's art department since August 1988.

Anna Socha-Ciapalo, a graphic artist and designer for Polish television, came to Eastern to join her husband this Christmas. She has won many different awards for her works and exhibits in her country and in Europe. Her favorite form of expressing her art is with the use of graphite in its solid and powdered form on white paper.

Donna Meeks, curator of education at the Tarble Arts Center, said, "There has been a great response from the public this year. We have had an average of about 100 people attend each month."

The Family Sampler will also concentrate on art activities for parents and children.

Clark speaks

briefly in Dayton, Ohio. UB frantically tried to locate Clark, but could come up without any solid leads to his whereabouts.

Frustrated, UB moved to cancel the $7,000 Clark speech at about 8:10 p.m. The hundreds of students who had stood in line to see him began to slowly migrate home.

Then, five minutes later, a call came through, the caller said he was Joe Clark and he would arrive at Eastern in 15 minutes.

UB waited and so did about 100 students. Fifteen minutes had passed and Clark wasn't there. UB began to wonder whether the call was a prank. Students began to slowly leave McAfee.

Then, just before 9:30 p.m., a taxi cab pulled in front of the University Union. It was Joe Clark. He had missed the plane when it stopped in Dayton and had taken a five-hour cab ride from Dayton to Charleston, just to speak at Eastern.

"My determination would not prevent me from being here tonight," Clark told a crowd of more than 200 who endured his hour and a half delay. "My heart is literally palpitating with glee.

"And I can say that when you leave here tonight, you are either going to love Joe Clark or you are going to hate his guts."

Clark proceeded to encourage students to be persistent in life and to always be determined.

"I know that a lot of you are going to miss success because its sometimes dressed in overalls and looks like work," Clark said. "You're a failure until you begin to blame other people for your failures.

"And if you ever have doubts, you just think of me - a little, poor, black, welfare boy from Newark."

Tall grass to be burned if weather permits

The tall grass east of East Hall and Greek Court will be burnt Friday at 1 p.m. if the wind and weather cooperate.

Douglas Zimmerman, an associate professor of botany, said the grass is burned periodically as a maintenance tool to keep the area clear of litter and weeds.

Zimmerman said the fires are short and intense, but will produce dense, black smoke in the area. If Friday's winds do not blow in a direction to keep the smoke clear of Illinois 130, the grass will be burned at 9 a.m. Saturday.

University Police, the Charleston Fire Department and police department will be on standby in case an emergency arises.

Rugger's changing image

By JON SALL
Staff Writer

The Eastern Rugby club. While the utterance of those words may conjure up an image of reckless roughnecks at wild games and may strike terror into the hearts of Eastern coeds, that image is on the way out.

That's what Rugby club president Terry Hughes is fighting against this year — the bad reputation that he feels isn't justified. The reputation isn't solely based on the fact it's also an attitude towards the Midwest schools that play rugby teams," Hughes said.

With the controversy surrounding the "Alouette" incident of a year ago (when the club was reprimanded by the university for allegedly subjecting a female student to verbal and sexual harassment at a club-sponsored party), the club has had, arguably, a certain image associated with it. But Hughes, as well as the other team members, are seeking to change that image.

One of the major influences of change is embodied in Julian Davies, the first coach that Eastern's rugby team has had since its inception in 1976.

Davies, a graduate student at the University of Illinois who was in Charleston, is volunteering his time as coach — and even plays in some matches.

"We've always had faculty sponsors," Hughes said, "and one of the sponsors have had a real interest in rugby."

But what makes Julian Davies unique is the fact that he has played for the South African International team in over 140 matches, and that kind of experience has greatly helped the Eastern team.

Playing on Eastern's Rugby club Saturday afternoons is more fun than humans should be allowed to have.

"He has completely taken control of the team and taught us all a lot about what rugby is about," Hughes said of Davies. "He's changing the image of the club as a whole."

Davies' coaching input and influence on the team was certainly demonstrated this past weekend when Eastern resoundingly upset Illinois State, the nation's seventh-ranked team, by a score of 12-4.

Although Eastern started out sluggish, Davies' squad quickly gained momentum as the game progressed. Chip Walker scored a try early in the second half, and teammate Marty Schiller followed up with another four points on a try in the middle of the second half. Eddie Norton kicked both conversions for four more.

"Eastern has been the doormat of the Midwest Union Conference lately, and without what Julian taught us, we'd have never beaten ISU," said Hughes.

Hughes boldly predicted that the team wouldn't lose another collegiate matchup, and there are two such games remaining in Eastern's schedule.

The first is a home match Saturday against Marquette at 1 p.m. on the field west of archery hill. After that, the rugger's travel to Chicago for a non-collegiate matchup against Lincoln Park. The final game of the 1989 season is a home meet against Northern Illinois April 29.

Walters, Bloom convicted

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal jury Thursday found sports agents Norby Walters and Lloyd Bloom guilty of charges they persuaded several universities by using cash to lure college athletes into signing improper contracts and threatening to harm them if they tried to renege.

The jury deliberated 40 hours over six days before convicting Walters, 58, and Bloom, 29, both based in New York, on charges of racketeering, conspiracy and mail fraud. They face up to 55 years in prison each.

Bloom was in tears and Walters looked downcast as the verdicts were read in the courtroom of U.S. District Judge George Karowich, where the trial began last month.

Although jurors acquitted the agents of two of four mail fraud counts, attorneys for both men promised to appeal the guilty verdicts.

"We'll take them in the next round," Walters said. "We'll be vindicated."

U.S. Attorney Anton Valukas called the trial a "war for both sides" but he said there was a change in the verdicts.

"I think the message is that the criminal laws apply across the board to the universities, to the athletes and the agents who do business with them," Valukas

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

In the next few years, the number of jobs requiring a college education will greatly exceed the number of college graduates available to fill them. Employers are racing against time and each other to begin attracting future college graduates to their organizations.

Don't waste your summer working low-paying menial labor type jobs. MIDWEST SUMMER CO-OP represents thousands of Illinois corporations and organizations that want to hire college students to work full-time during the summer in career related positions. Work in your field of interest and gain valuable experience while earning a respectable income this summer. To be eligible you must have completed a minimum of one year (24 credit hours) in college and have attained at least a "C" (2.0 on a 4.0 scale) grade point average.

To get your summer position, simply match your career interests to the needs of an employer listed in our SUMMER CO-OP DIRECTORY. The directory lists thousands of summer positions available in Illinois. While a slight majority of the positions are in the Chicago and surrounding suburban areas, there are still many located throughout the rest of the state. Job descriptions are organized into 53 general categories - Accounting, Advertising, Engineering (civil, electrical, mechanical), Education, Fashion Merchandising, Finance, Graphic Arts, Law, Marketing, Nursing, etc. Whatever your interest, there are a number of positions to choose from. Work with and learn from some of the top professionals in Illinois. The directory comes complete with application materials and a toll-free number to call for assistance in arranging interviews.

OUR GUARANTEE

For every summer position we fill with an eligible college student, MIDWEST SUMMER CO-OP receives a fee from the employer for our services. Services to the employer include: listing in our directory, pre-screening applicants and arranging interviews. Our services are at no cost to the college student. However, we cannot afford to waste our time and resources on those who are not serious about finding quality summer employment. The costs of producing and sending the directories alone (they are the size of a telephone book) are very high. This is why we must request $5 to help cover the costs of each directory and set of application materials we send out. If you are unable to find a summer position suitable to your needs and interests, you can return them for a full refund. If you do accept a position, under a listing agreement with MIDWEST SUMMER CO-OP, the employer will refund the $5 on your first paycheck.

This is an excellent opportunity to "taste" your career interests in the real world before completing a degree. Take advantage of the shrinking pool of educated workers. Earn while you learn this summer. Flexible jobs to fit your vacation schedule. All jobs provide great pay and benefits. (Companies are allowed sizeable tax credits for hiring college students over the summer.) So, what will it be? Fast food five or Fortune 500? The choice is yours.

DAVID LINDQUIST/Staff photographer
AD candidate Chuck Nagle addresses an open forum Thursday in the Union Addition Charleston-Mattoon room.

Nagle maps AD role

By DAVID LINDQUIST
Sports editor

Bowling Green State's Chuck Nagle, the first of Eastern's four athletic director candidates to be interviewed on campus, said the main task of an AD should be administration.

"My approach is three-pronged," Nagle said in Thursday's open forum. "You hire the best, give them the best facilities and then you get out of the way."

Nagle, 42, addressed about 20 people who attended the forum and commented on his first impressions of Eastern.

"I am very impressed with the facilities," he said. "I want to come to a place with the best facilities and a good campus; I like what I've seen."

Currently associate AD for external affairs a development at Bowling Green, Nagle said he has found much success in fundraising and promotions in the Ohio town of 25,000.

"We market the team and market the facility," he said.

Nagle said Bowling Green's five home football games each had themes and were sponsored by area businesses such as gas stations, grocery stores and beer distributors. He also said Greek organizations have sold season tickets.

Fifteenth in all-time scoring for Wisconsin's basketball program, Nagle said his experiences as a student-athlete 20 years ago continue to help him today.

"I am very in tune to the 'student' in student-athlete," Nagle said. "My philosophy is that we should do everything in our power for the player - be it athletically or academically."

Nagle said he is also in tune to women's sports, saying "they are given a great shake at Bowling Green and the coaches do a good job."

Bowling Green's women's basketball team has gone to the NCAA tournament three consecutive years.

Nagle said he even practices at times with the women's basketball squad.

"One strength I've had is as a communicator," he said. "I'll sit down with them, take common ground, play devil's advocate and solve the problem."

"I'm at the age where I can relate to a 19-year-old student as well as a 61-year-old faculty member."

Pitching crucial in SMSU so

By BILL LOOBY
Staff writer

Eastern's baseball team faces a crucial test this weekend when it plays a four-game set against the 1988 Association of Mid-Continent Universities Conference champion Southwest Missouri State in Springfield, Mo.

Southwest, 21-7, was ranked 30th by Collegiate Baseball magazine and ESPN prior to a pair of losses at Kansas April 11-12.

The Panthers lost 9-2 to the Bears in last year's AMCU tournament title game.

Eastern coach Dan Callahan said probable starters are junior right-handers Mike Deese (3-1) and Ryan Edwards (2-3) and Saturday's twinbill.

Conner is coming off a win in the Illinois loss Tuesday. He pitched five innings, gave up only three hits and fanned 11 Illini hitters.

Nelson and Kopac each received wins in the sweep of Illinois State on Wednesday. Deese's last victory came against Evansville last Sunday.

The Panthers pitching staff will have to face the potent Bear lineup led by Corby Fister's .383 average and five home runs and Ed Johnson's .388 clip.

Southwest coach Keith Galloway will throw right-hander Jeff Otting (4-2) and lefty Chris Judaey (3-1) at the Panther Saturday.

Sunday the Bears starters will be right-handers Dale Boling (1) and Paul Crain (3-1).

This weekend's games will be the first AMCU matchup of the season for both teams.

"We are going to need some pitching," Callahan said. "There's a chance we could get into the weekend with some pitchers."

Southwest is in the AMCU Gray Division with Eastern, Western Illinois and Northern Iowa.

The Bears won the division last season going 12-0 and sweeping the Panthers in four regular season games before facing Eastern again in the title game.

Tennis slated

Eastern's tennis teams will look to improve on last season's records when each returns to action Saturday.

The women's team (4-1) will compete in a quadrangular meet at St. Ambrose College in Davenport, Iowa.

The men (2-9) will host Francis College of Indianapolis, 10 a.m. at West Campus Courts.

Barber jumps to decathlon lead

By AL LAGATTOLLA
Staff writer

Darren Barber, Eastern's record-holder in the decathlon after his 7,129 point effort last weekend at the SEMOTION Relays, is on a pace to break his own record as half of the EIU Invitational decathlon was completed Thursday at O'Brien Stadium.

After five events, Barber, who has won every event, has scored 3,763 points. Last weekend at this juncture, Barber had 3,755.

"I'm still physically and emotionally drained from last week," Barber said. "I am using this meet as experience for a valid shot for the NCAAs at the conference meet."

Barber leads Steve Danner from Northeast Missouri State by a 104-point margin, while Dave Pelton of Principia is third with 3,054 points.

Barber won the 100-meter dash with a time of 11.1, the long jump with a leap of 22-8 1/2, the shot put with a heave of 45-7 3/4, the high jump with a 6- 3/4 jump and the 400-meter dash with a time of 51.6 seconds.

"Weather permitting, he might have a shot at improving the school record and if weather cooperates, he has a shot at qualifying but he must have an exceptional day," Eastern coach Neil Moore said.

It would take 7,425 points for Barber to qualify, which may be too large a wall for the exhausted decathlete at this time.

"Physically, it doesn't demand a lot," Barber said. "It's just that being pumped up for 10 separate events in two days takes quite a toll."

Barber will continue the decathlon at 10 a.m. Friday, when he will compete in the 110-meter high hurdles, the discus, the pole vault, the javelin and the 1,500-meter run.

"The 1,500 is the key event," Moore said.

Friday is also the day that Dan Steele and Jeff Gennarelli will attempt to qualify for the 400-meter intermediate hurdles and hammer throw respectively.

Steele's event is scheduled to take place at 3:10 p.m. in O'Brien Stadium, while Gennarelli will compete in the shot put at 3 p.m. and the hammer at 4 p.m. at the throwing rings outside O'Brien.

Competing in their only home meet during the outdoor season, Moore believes Steele and Gennarelli can parlay that fact to their advantage.

"Being at home is certainly a plus," Moore said. "We have a very good track, a fast track."

Moore believes that if the conditions are right, Steele can qualify.

"You must take advantage of the golden moment, when an opportunity presents itself, you've got to go after it," he said.

Lady Panthers open Gateway No. 1 Oklahoma State also on weekend slate

By JEFF SMITH
Associate sports editor

Eastern's softball team will face two Gateway Conference foes and the No. 1 team in the nation on its six-game road swing through the Midwest beginning Friday.

The Lady Panthers take on Southwest Missouri at Springfield, Mo. on Friday, Wichita State in Wichita, Kan., on Saturday and top-ranked Oklahoma State in Stillwater, Okla. on Monday, with each doubleheader beginning at 3 p.m.

The Southwest Missouri (6-16 overall, 0-2 in the Gateway) and Wichita State (18-20, 1-1) twinbills are arriving at the right time for the Lady Panthers, head coach

Janet Marquis said. "We need to get in four conference games while we're playing well," Marquis said.

The matchup with No. 1 Oklahoma State (23-1), though, ranks as the most interesting - and most difficult - contest.

"It'll be exciting playing the No. 1 team," Marquis said. "Any athlete in any sport would like to play the No. 1 team."

The Cowgirls currently hold a 21-game winning streak, with their only loss coming to Oregon, 2-0.

Oklahoma State can boast of strength in every facet of play.

Offensively, the Cowgirls are hitting .327 as a team.

Oklahoma State's leading hitters are sophomore outfielder Dee

Brewer (.386) and senior pitcher Michele Smith (.370, 3 HRs, 18 RBIs). Oklahoma State has outscored opponents 123-20, and frequently grabs the lead in games early - the team holds a 28-1 advantage in the first inning.

The Cowgirls' pitching, despite the glaring offensive numbers, may be even better.

The team sports a staff of just two pitchers, but the two have been near-perfect, combining for a 0.53 ERA.

Sophomore right-hander Dena Carter is 12-0 with a 0.47 ERA, and has shut out seven foes. Hitting-star Smith also stars as a hurler, carrying an 11-1 record with a 0.59 ERA and seven shutouts, too. Smith has also struck out 89 in 83 innings.

Fortress of fun <sup>Businesses</sup> <sub>club</sub>

BY AMY CARR • Staff writer

The people of Charleston said his bar in a warehouse wouldn't last longer than three months.

That was 18 years ago.

Ted Bertuca, once a successful businessman in the 'Windy City,' was tired of the hectic city life and pulled up his Chicago roots only to replant them in Charleston. Thus was the beginning of Ted's Warehouse.

The rock 'n' roll bands and rowdy college students that now fill the warehouse are a familiar sight to most Eastern students, but Bertuca remembers a time when this was not the case.

"It started out as a talk bar, not a band bar," Bertuca recalls. Faculty and graduate assistants used the warehouse as a lounge - a place to get together and talk in a quiet atmosphere.

Pool tables now sit where a completely enclosed faculty lounge once was, he laughs. "There was a faculty lounge in Ted's. It was totally enclosed," Bertuca said. "At that time, there was only a jukebox, but it was still too loud to just sit around and talk and have a beer."

In its early days, the "quiet, talk bar" also housed a sandwich shop called the "Yellow Submarine." "We served hamburgers, pizza, etc.," Bertuca noted.

The image of Ted's

Warehouse as a quiet faculty lounge may be a little hard to envision, but the 80-year-old warehouse had a colorful history long before Ted became a part of its name.

In the early 1800s, laborers hand-mixed the concrete mortar that still supports the warehouse, Bertuca said. Three layers of old street car brick make up the warehouse's walls. "It's built like a fortress," Bertuca said. "They don't build them like that anymore."

As one might imagine, the "fortress" has been used for numerous functions.

At one time, the building housed corn broom. At another, it was an auction house, and still later, it was a car supply shop, Bertuca said.

And in the early 60s, the old warehouse was a teen center for local kids. "Dick Clark performed at teen night once," he noted.

Despite local resident's warnings that the bar wouldn't last

VERGE

Dear Reader,

This week's On The Verge of the Weekend we will tell you about local bars and what they offer their patrons.

You will find that Charleston's bars are unique in that they offer a variety of entertainment, food and incentives. In this week's issue we will present what local bars offer when you go out for a night on the town.

The bars in the area offer a variety of atmospheres from music and dancing and food and drinks to just somewhere to go to relax and talk with friends.

Marty's and Mother's did not wish to participate in this issue of the Verge.

Also in this issue are the regular features, such as a movie review of "Police Academy VI: City Under Siege" as well as other local happenings.

Ted's fortress of fun

 longer than three months because of its location, Bertuca, Ted as he is known to virtually everyone in Charleston, opened the warehouse on April 1, 1971.

The bar maintained its talk show image for a few years, until Sporty's, then the only bar in town, burned down.

People started asking me to play bands since I had the only building in town," Bertuca said. So . . . the lounge got a little louder. "When we went to play bands, we lost the faculty and the graduate students," he said.

But business was still booming.

Ted's became a "routing agency," Bertuca said. This meant that if an agency was bringing a band to a certain area, it would go through a certain route and play the clubs within that route. Some of the bands that came through that route included RED Speedwagon, Cheap Trick, Head East and Champagne.

But these bands were just for all the rest to Bertuca when they played at the warehouse. The big bands are no different from the bands that played last

MICHELLE ZAWIN / Staff photographer

Ted Bertuca, owner of Ted's Warehouse, 102 N. 6th St., Charleston, sits in the chair in front of the bar, near the entrance where he oversees bar activities. He said he has sat in this spot for 17 years.

week," he said. "Getting big is luck - besides being good. I've seen some dynamite bands that never made it. It takes a lot of hard work and a lot of hungry nights."

Admission prices to see the bands have gone from 25 cents to $2 over the years, but Bertuca is still looking out for the students. "I still let people in for free with a coupon from the newspaper," he boasts.

"The theory of the coupon is to let people into Ted's who don't have a lot of money. It gives them an opportunity to see a live band."

Students can still see live bands at Ted's, but not as often as they could have a few years ago. Bertuca used to book bands at the bar six nights a week, but now they only play twice a week. "The strange thing about college kids is they aren't really into live entertainment, as you can tell with The Bangles. They don't have a successful concert here," he noted.

The bar owner, who despite his graying hairs gives his age as '39,' is still present at the bar night after night. When asked why he still works every single night, Bertuca simply responds, "Why not?"

"I come to work at night and there are all these young kids around who are full of life. I enjoy it," he said.

If nothing else, the nightly appearances have made Bertuca's face a familiar one. "I guess I'm a celebrity," he laughs. "I can't go anywhere in a 200-mile radius without running into someone who used to go to Eastern or a customer from Ted's."

So is the "39-year-old" ready to quit?"

Not anytime soon, he says. "I'm gonna stay here until I decide to retire and then I'll sell Ted's."

Three guesses: what do the Uptowner/Cellar, Friends and Company and My Place Lounge have in common? Give up? Well, they're all Charleston bars and filled with drink specials and munchies.

The Uptowner/Cellar, 623 Monroe Ave., is open from 11 to 1 a.m. Monday through Saturday and offers all sorts of entertainment for those who enjoy jazz, rock 'n' roll, rhythm and blues or big band music. To get into the Uptowner/Cellar, you must be at least 21 years old.

In terms of drink specials, there are no cover charges to enter the Uptowner/Cellar. "We (offer) the usual fine quality beverages," said Mike Knoop, owner of the Uptowner/Cellar.

On Tuesday from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., the Uptowner has imported beer in the bottle on special for $1.50; Wednesday is ladies' night, in which all drinks are half price; Thursday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. is imported draft night, including Bass Ale and Guinness Stout, for $1 and Friday is happy hour from 3 to 6 p.m., where drinks are buy one for $1 or more and get $1 back.

This Friday from 4 to 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. to 12 a.m. is St. Pauli Girl night. Light or dark bottles will be $1.50 and St. Pauli Girl hats, shirts and key chains will be given away. "She (the St. Pauli Girl) will be here," Knoop said.

The Uptowner has an open stage and open mic night every Thursday.

Occasionally, bands will perform for all to enjoy. Johnny Smoke and the Hate Brothers, a rock 'n' roll band, will perform at the Uptowner/Cellar on April 29.

In recent years, the Uptowner/Cellar has expanded their game room, which includes four pool tables, six pinball machines, a foosball table and a dart game.

In addition to the room, the Uptowner/Cellar over what used to be the Hawk Diner, which was in the back section of the building, about one and a half ago.

This new expansion was made as a part of the renovation as an addition to the building where quality food is available for those hungry Eastern students. "It (the food) is on the top shelf," Knoop said.

Another bar in which students can frequent is Friends and Company on 509 Van Buren Ave. and Co., which has been in business for three years, open from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. through Saturday. Entrance is 19.

Entertainment at Friends and Co. includes a juke box and a variety of music, from the 1950s and 1960s to 1970s (the 1960s music) stuff to dance. Dave Gherardini, owner of Friends and Co.

Another entertainment at Friends and Co. is live bands that have appeared at Friends and Co. including Mission, Whitty Whites and Justin Tyme.

There is not a cover charge to enter Friends and Company when a band is performing. "They determine what the charge is, and that's outside the bar room, not for entering the bar," Gherardini said.

Friends and Co. offers drink specials for Thursday Monday through Wednesday there are $2 pitchers; Thursdays are 75 cent pitchers and $1 with juice.

Friends and Co. also has a game room that contains pool tables, two video games and one basketball hoop game.

Before the turn of the century Friends and Co. was a stone mason, then was a variety of businesses including a feed store and a warehouse. "In the late 70s and 80s (Friends and Co.) used

A gambling emporium in Charleston? Does this idea sound unbelievable? Well, according to John Ward, owner of Page One Tavern, 410 Sixth St., the upstairs of Page One Tavern was just that until the 1950s.

Ward, who has owned the bar since 1972, said the upstairs "used to be a gambling emporium." He said it "was the nicest south of Chicago."

Although the use of the building for gambling ceased in the 1950s, Ward said the pool tables were used to be and race results are still hanging back of the main downstairs.

The upstairs is now used for parties and on Friday nights T.G.I.F., which offers "what you can drink" for a drink as well as entertainment including live bands or a disc jockey.

Ward said the upstairs started in the late 1940s "have been continuing ever since."

Local bars unique in own way

By JILL DAWSON
Staff writer

Ike's Little Campus, Jerry's Pizza and Pub, and Panthers are all places that tempt student taste buds or wet their whistle.

Ike's, 407 E. Lincoln Ave., has a unique history, as manager Bill Mulvaney said the bar hasn't changed over the years. "It's always been Ike's," he said.

No changes in the bar will be made in Ike's under the present owners, and Mulvaney said the original Ike's atmosphere is a part of its history.

"Alumni come back and say it hasn't changed in 20 years, and that's the way we want to keep it," he said. Before being converted into a bar, however, Mulvaney said the building used to be a soda shop.

Ike's creates an atmosphere that Mulvaney said he likes. "We like to consider that we have a regular crowd." Mulvaney doesn't want the atmosphere of Ike's to change. "That's the way we like it," he said.

As far as drinks and specials, Ike's serves only beer and wine coolers. Specials are usually advertised in the Daily Eastern News and Mulvaney added that, "we usually run something (a special)." When asked what kind of beer was the most popular, Mulvaney said Bud Light is a big winner.

When you go to Ike's, you may recognize the bartenders. The owners of Ike's employ all Eastern students. "It's easier to come into a bar and you've had the bartender in a class, or you know them," Mulvaney said.

Ike's does provide another form of entertainment besides drinking. Disc jockeys can be heard every Wednesday and

Area bars

Saturday nights. "The (Wescott, Epperson and Davis) Trio comes in and plays every once in awhile also," Mulvaney said. In addition to disc jockeys, Ike's has a pool table and video games.

For lunch, Ike's serves food 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday. "We basically have sandwiches and fries," Mulvaney said.

"It's not overly exciting, but it's a place you can have a beer and talk," Mulvaney said.

Another bar in town, Jerry's Pizza and Pub, 1508 S. Fourth St., was built in 1977 by Carol Myerscough, the original and present owner.

Myerscough said she considers Jerry's to be a "restaurant-bar." The building is divided into an upstairs, which is a seating area for the restaurant, and a downstairs, which is the bar.

Jerry's does serve beer, wine coolers, and mixed drinks. "Occasionally we have discounts," Myerscough said. But Myerscough said she likes to think of Jerry's as more of a restaurant than a bar.

Jerry's menu consists mostly of pizza, but also offers pasta and a salad bar. On Tuesday nights, Jerry's offers an "All You Can Eat Buffet." This includes pizza, spaghetti and salad bar. There are various other specials on the week nights, as well as during the lunch hours, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Deliveries are a big part of Jerry's sales. They deliver 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. during lunch, and 4:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. during weekdays, and 4:30 p.m. to 2 a.m. on weekends. "Friday nights are the best (for deliveries)," said Myerscough. Seven-day delivery service is another plus Jerry's offers.

Large groups also can get a discount on food purchases, according to Myerscough. Groups may also use the downstairs for meetings and parties. "Different groups use the downstairs for parties. We just ask that they order food from us and we don't charge anything for use of the room," she said.

Panther's, 1421 S. Fourth St., is yet another bar in Charleston, but it still is a little different from the others.

Dave Isbell, manager, said the building that Panther's occupies was built in 1910-11. The building has been used for many different things, the most recent being a plant shop, he said. It became Panther's in 1983.

Panther's also has many different nightly specials on drinks, but only serves beer and wine coolers. The Monday night special is $2 pitchers; Tuesday nights you can buy a cup for $1 and get 75 cent refills; Wednesday nights you can get wine coolers for 75 cents; and Thursday nights 75 cent Mickeys are available.

A special activity that sets Panther's apart from some other bars is a pool tournament they offer for anyone who wants to play. "Right after Christmas break right up through spring break, we have a pool tournament that's open to everybody," Isbell said.

"All I do is take the entrance fee and it's divided up. The largest percentage goes to the first place winner and so on," he said.

and western disco called "Longhorn Saloon," Ward said. "It was vacant for several years then we bought it and remodeled it to what it is now."

My Place Lounge, 727 4th St., is yet another place where students are looking for fun and entertainment. Their hours are from 8 to 11 p.m. Monday through Friday. You must be at least 21 to get into My Place Lounge.

Last year, the bar underwent a major renovation. A new bar area was built, a new dance area as well as a beer garden were added to My Place Lounge. "The beer garden is very popular," said Ray Severson, owner of My Place Lounge.

In the future, Epperson hopes to add a volleyball court to the beer garden. "We hope to add a volleyball court that depends upon the amount of money we raise from the aspect of it," Epperson said. On Thursday, a horseshoe tournament began and will continue every Thursday.

My Place Lounge also sponsors a major pool tournament four times a year. "In the pool tournament, the prize money is $6,000 to $7,000. It is open to everyone and it's a fun event," Epperson said.

Specials at My Place Lounge occur on Friday and Saturday nights, varying from $1.50 to 50 cent drafts. "Without a doubt, beer specials are the most popular - $1.50 for 16 oz. (beer) and 60 oz. (beer) specials," Epperson said.

Fun is on the agenda at My Place Lounge with a Miller beer promotion every Thursday and Friday. Giveaways will include Miller beer mugs and T-shirts.

Epperson said that My Place Lounge doesn't have any particular specialties unless it's a special on an open grill. "Each night starting at noon, (we) offer a pound hamburger special," Epperson said. On Thursday and Friday, they will do some specials, such as "T-shirts."

Students dance the night away on Ladies night at E.L. Kracker's, 1405 4th St., Charleston, Wednesday.

Kracker's offers comic relief, dancing

By MICHELLE WILLMAN
Staff writer

If you're tired of the usual bar scene: loud music, spilt beer and pick-up lines, perhaps a night of laughs is just what you need.

E.L. Kracker's, 1405 Fourth St., is the place to see professional comedians from around the country perform every Thursday night.

Jim Severson, co-owner of Kracker's, said the idea of comedy night came about when "Thursday nights were really slow and we wanted to draw people in. No one has live entertainment except Ted's Warehouse, so we thought we'd try it."

Unfortunately, comedy night is not catching on like Severson thought it would.

"What people don't realize is that these are professionals from all over the United States. We hired a booking agent who operates out of Chicago and he gets us some good people," Severson said. "They are not mediocre performers."

Severson said he and co-owner

Ken Keating will drop comedy night for the summer and try it again in the fall.

On other nights, disc jockeys spin records while students can dance to music ranging from top 40 to dance mixes to classic rock 'n' roll.

"People would rather listen to a DJ here than listen to a live band. People expect that here and that's what we give them," Severson said.

He added Kracker's has existed for 11 years, and he has been owner for six of those years.

When Severson took over he said he kept the bar the same, but tried to improve on the menu and food quality at the restaurant.

"We made a few subtle changes here and there, but we decided to keep the bar basically the same," he added.

In addition to comedy night and dancing, groups such as fraternities and sororities may rent out Kracker's for dances and other special events, Severson said.

Boomers offers change of pace

By MICHELLE WILLMAN
Staff writer

For a touch of class and a change of pace, Boomer's w/A Twist, 506 Lincoln Ave., offers an alternative to today's heavy metal and rap musical entertainment.

"With our clientele, we have to be careful about entertainment. It has to be top-knotch," said Darlene Bassett, who co-owns Boomer's with her husband Gary.

The most recent addition to Boomer's entertainment agenda is a jazz combo called Chuck White's Jazz Express. The band performs classic jazz renditions along with some modern music with a jazzy twist.

"They'll knock your socks off," Darlene said.

But jazz is not the only entertainment Boomer's provides. They also have a piano bar where musicians, such as Brian Downen, performing contemporary and easy listening music.

"Brian plays Jim Croce, Billy Joel and Barry Manilow," Darlene said.

One reason Boomer's was called Boomer's is the age group they serve. "We cater to the 21 to 40 year-olds and the baby boomer generation."

She said the other reason it was named Boomer's is because "my husband's nickname is Boomer, and we really do try to appeal to the baby boomers," Darlene noted.

Keeping with the baby boomer theme, the Bassetts' new pianist, Larry Rich, plays music by Harry Chapin, Jim Croce, Chicago and other classic rock 'n' roll musicians.

Boomer's does not offer entertainment every night, but when they do have entertainment, Darlene said "it has to be good."

"We've been doing a lot of promotion at the bar because when it was called Reflections, the management never promoted the bar itself," Darlene explained.

The Bassetts have owned Boomer's for two years and Darlene said they have made some changes.

MICHELLE ZAWIN / Staff Photographer

Larry Mathis, promotions manager at Boomer's w/A Twist, 506 W. Lincoln Ave., Charleston, mixes up their specialty drink, the Boom Boom. He said the drink includes pineapple juice and other fruit juices mixed with three kinds of alcohol and costs $5.

Thirsty's offers 'casual atmosphere

MICHELLE ZAWIN / Staff photographer

Dave Popp, a bouncer at Thirsty's, 508 E. Monroe, asks Darren Korneman, 19, sophomore industrial technology major, for proper identification Wednesday night.

SHERRI OTTA
Staff writer

The year 1984 brought yet another bar to the Charleston college scene.

Thirsty's, 221 Sixth St., started serving the public five years ago.

Before opening, it was just another vacant building. But bar owner Jim Sears saw it as more than that. Searching for the perfect way to let the building pay for itself, Sears decided that an uptown bar would be the most successful option available to him.

Sears described Thirsty's casual atmosphere as "an old-fashioned warehouse, something like Laclede's Landing in Louis, with wooden floors and brick arches."

However Thirsty's interior well as exterior is constantly changing in many special ways.

Every August, Sears tries to fix up something new. Last summer, he added new siding to the building and the parking lot was improved.

Since Thirsty's is so uptown, Sears tries to make "worth the trip." He said he tries to provide drink specialties every day of the week for students.

Dry comedy pervades Academy VI

BY BRET LOMAN
My Place

In the early 80s the movie "Police Academy" came out and experienced enormous box office success. Since that time, many movies imitating this smash movie have tried to obtain similar success.

However it's the Police Academy series that has stayed the most successful as Warner Brothers has tried to milk the series for all it's worth with sequel after sequel, until now we are at "Police Academy VI: Under Siege."

If you've ever seen a Police Academy movie, any one of them, you already know the plot. However I might as well remind you.

The city is under a huge crime wave of robberies which the mayor wants stopped, pronto.

But before this occurs, the audience has to sit through some very unfunny little skits

PICTURES

That remind us why we laughed so hard in the first one.

Then, when the team is finally assembled, the only thing they have time to do is play very humorless practical jokes on Captain Mowser and Proctor.

The practical jokes are done by W. Bailey and Lance Kelly, and include such things as a chair falling apart when he sits in it, a chair sticking to him when he sits in it, things exploding in his face; do I have to go on?

The jokes are boring, humorless, old and worst of all, recycled from one through five. The stars are digging themselves into a huge typecasting hole that they will never get out of.

If you go see this one, you're going to have to live with the guilt of contributing to the making of (gulp!) number seven.

First bar experience horrible

By DEBBIE CARLSON
Staff writer

"C'mon babe you've gotta go with us to the bars!" cried Tammy.

(I don't know why she calls me babe but ever since she knew me - which at the time wasn't very long - she called me babe.)

"C'mon, go out with us, you need it. You KNOW you want to," she told me.

"I do?" I asked.

"Yes, you do. All ya gots ta do is jump in the shower and make yourself look sexy," she replies.

"I don't do 'sexy' Tammy, I do me," I said.

"Yes ya do babe. Just put some make-up on, fix the hair and yer all ready to go, besides that everyone else is going," she said.

"Alright, alright, I'll go I'll go," I said, knowing I made a BIG mistake.

I finished getting ready and went to her room and waited for "everyone."

"What you do babe? Don't wear your glasses, no one will like you, wear your contacts hon," she told me, seeming to be completely worried about my social welfare.

"If I don't wear my glasses I won't be able to see what I am drinking, where I'm going, or whom I am talking to. And if someone doesn't like me because I need glasses they're not worth it. I can't wear my contacts because it's bothering me," I defended myself.

"Okay, let's get everyone," Tammy said.

I gave the bouncer (who looked as if he could snap me in two between his thumb and pinkie fingers) my cover charge and we entered. "What a dive," I thought as I got through the door. "Isn't it great," Tammy squeals. "No, to be honest," I said. "Why do you like this place, Tammy?" I asked. No reply. "Tammy? Tammy?" I ask and look around to find that she disappeared into the smoke like a magic trick.

I never saw Tammy nor "everyone" again until the next day.

"I'm going to kill her. She PROMISED me she wouldn't leave and I'm stuck in this rathole with 50 cents," I say to myself under my breath.

It was getting late and I was getting a little more frantic in my search for someone to walk home with. Finally, in all my desperation I did see a friend of mine and begged her to walk back with me. She, too, was left by her own group of "everyone" and had decided to leave.

I have since then made it a point not to go out with Tammy and "everyone" in search of Charleston nightlife.
