Views differ on postal price hike

Mike Pramshafer

The increase from 18 to 20 cents for a first-class stamp has brought mixed reaction from Eastern students.

The new price, which goes into effect Nov. 1, represents a 25 percent increase in first-class mail rates this year and a 333 percent increase since 1971, when a letter could be mailed for six cents.

Some students do not mind the increase and even found some good points to the rate hike.

"I don't mind the fact that stamps are being raised to 20 cents because it will be much easier now. With the stamps being 18 cents, you always end up getting an odd amount of change back," senior Dave Baldus said.

Sophomore Joe Mills agreed. "With the stamps being raised to twenty cents, it will be much easier to buy large quantities of them."

"One good way of looking at it is that it's still cheaper than a phone call," Bruce Kollar, junior, said.

But some students were against the rate hike.

"I am totally against the increase because I don't think there is a reasonable explanation for doing it," senior Brett Dunn said.

Freshman Kent Lovelace said, "I myself don't think the service is good enough for there to be another increase."

Robert L. Hardesty, chairman of the United States Postal Service Board, has defended the increase as being "reasonable, equitable, and fiscally responsible."

Hardesty said since rates were increased from 15 to 18 cents in March, the Postal Service has lost almost $126 million.

Without the higher rates, the Postal Service would have to borrow money to meet its costs, Hardesty said.

Charleston Postmaster Jim Isabel cited inflation as the primary cause for the increase.

"Prices of the vehicles are going up, wage increases, cost of printing, and everything else is going up," Isabel said.

A time of the year coming soon that is especially busy for the postal service is the holidays.

"The increase will affect a few people during the holidays, but not enough to cause a major problem," Isabel said.

Income tax cuts have little effect on student workers' paychecks

by Dawn Morville

Although President Ronald Reagan's income tax cut was put into effect Oct. 1, the majority of Eastern students who are employed on campus will not see a reduction in the amount of federal taxes withheld on their monthly paychecks, Payroll Supervisor Elmer Voudrie said.

According to Reagan's 33-month, 25 percent income tax cut for individuals, the initial cut of five percent will be effective for the next nine months.

Beginning next July, a 10 percent reduction in federal tax withholdings will be in effect, followed by a final 10 percent cut beginning July 1, 1983.

"It's erroneous that people are going to have a five percent reduction in taxes because it's just not going to happen," Voudrie said. "The tax tables are just not changing that way."

He said the majority of students on Eastern's payroll are single and claim one exemption, so if their monthly gross income is less than $201.33, no federal tax is withheld.

The majority of Eastern students are paid $3.35 per hour and work about 10 to 15 hours per week, so they earn about $50 per month, he said.

Therefore, Voudrie said, most students do not have any federal taxes withheld because they do not earn more than $201.33, which is the maximum gross income that can be earned in that bracket before federal tax is withheld.

If a student is single and claims no exemptions, no federal tax is withheld if his monthly gross income is less than $118.

For example, according to the new tax table that will go into effect for the pay period ending Thursday, a student who claims no exemptions and earns a gross income of $130 for a monthly pay period will have $1.68 in federal taxes withheld. The taxing percent for that bracket is 14 percent, Voudrie said.

Under the old tax table, Voudrie said, that same bracket had a taxing percent of 15 percent, so a student would have had a total of $1.80 in federal taxes withheld from his paycheck that month.

Comparing the difference between the old and new tax tables for that bracket—for a student claiming single and no exemptions and earning $130—the student's tax savings is 12 cents, Voudrie said.

So, few students will see a change in their federal tax withholdings, he said.

Voudrie said for the new tax tables the federal government increased the maximum amount of the total gross income in the lower tax brackets for single persons, so fewer students will have federal taxes withheld.

He said student payroll at Eastern consists of students and graduate assistants, who earn about $300 to $400 per month.

Voudrie said graduate assistants are the only ones who will see a reduction in their federal tax withholdings because they make over $201.33 per month.

There are currently 1,928 students on the payroll, which includes graduate assistants, he said.

Jone Polich, student employment counselor, said the payroll consists of students on work-study and regular student employment.

Polich said work-study is a federally-funded program based on financial need, and regular student employment is funded by money that is appropriated to each department's budget.

Holiday halts mail delivery

While Eastern students had their chance for a long weekend with a Friday holiday, county and state officials and services will observe a holiday on Monday.

No mail will be delivered Monday in observance of Columbus Day. Normal mail delivery will resume on Tuesday.

All county offices in the Coles County Courthouse will be closed for the holiday. However, all Charleston city offices will be open the usual hours for business on Monday.

U.S. pressuring Egypt—Soviets charge

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government issued an official statement early Monday accusing the United States of exerting "gross pressure" on Egypt by alerting American military forces after the assassination of President Anwar Sadat.

In an unusual move, a dispatch by the official Tass news agency said, "The Soviet government resolutely condemns U.S. attempts at interfering in any way in the internal affairs of the Arab Republic of Egypt."

"What is happening around Egypt cannot but affect the interests of the Soviet Union's security and it will attentively follow the development of events."

The statement, apparently written by top Kremlin leaders, did not refer directly to the assassination Tuesday nor did it specify how developments in Egypt involved Soviet security.

Tass occasionally prints "Tass statements" that serve as major Soviet policy pronouncements, but it rarely carries direct government-to-government communications. It began Monday's dispatch by saying, "The following statement by the government of the U.S.S.R. to the government of the U.S.A. has been issued here."

In Washington, State Department press duty officer Anita Stockman called the Soviet allegations "hogwash. We don't meddle in the internal affairs of sovereign countries," she said. "We do have close ties with the government of Egypt."

It's that time already!

Haig says U.S. will conduct military exercise in Egypt

WASHINGTON—The United States will conduct a major military exercise with Egypt and other Arab forces within the next month as “sign of reassurance . . . in the post-Sadat situation,” Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said Sunday.

Haig said the military exercise following Egyptian President Anwar Sadat’s assassination last week will include “a highly increased U.S. presence” that may feature the use of American B-52 bombers.

“U.S. force in the regions . . . would be working in conjunction with the forces of the government of Egypt and other governments such as Oman,” he said.

The exercise and the possibility of speeding delivery of U.S. arms already scheduled to go to Egypt were discussed last week by Defense Secretary Casper Weinburger and Egyptian Defense Minister Abdel Hadim Abu Ghazala, Haig said.

“Now all of this is a sign of reassurance,” he said, not as an indication of concern about Egypt’s stability after Sadat’s assassination.

Haig said he does not anticipate warfare between Egypt and Libya.

Arabs support Camp David says Carter, Ford interview

WASHINGTON—Former Presidents Jimmy Carter and Gerald R. Ford said in an unprecedented joint interview en route home from the funeral of Anwar Sadat that many moderate Arab leaders have told them privately they support the Camp David peace process but can’t admit that to their own countrymen.

“When I would meet with Arab leaders . . . the Saudis in particular, they were hoping that the peace process would succeed,” Carter said. “But it’s almost impossible for an Arab to step forward because of a threat of assassination or violence within their own fragile government.”

Either because they are weak or their hold on power is fragile, Carter said the government leaders “don’t have the courage of Sadat.”

Ford agreed that moderate Arab leaders support the peace process. “Especially when you talk to the leaders privately,” they will tell you how hopeful they are that the peace process continue, Ford said.

Thatcher condemns deaths of Irish Guards, bystanders

LONDON—Prime Minister Margeret Thatcher on Sunday took flowers to the soldiers and civilians wounded by the IRA’s bomb attack on a busload of Irish Guards and condemned the bombing as a “cold, callous, brutal and sub-human thing.”

Scotland Yard said the attack, which came exactly one week after the collapse of the IRA’s 7-month-long hunger strike in Northern Ireland’s Maze Prison, could signal the start of a new terror campaign in the British capital.

Guerillas using a command wire attached to a van set off the explosion as a bus carrying 23 Irish Guards back from duty at the Tower of London passed by, authorities said.

A 62-year-old widow passerby was killed and 38 other people, including 22 of the guardsmen and two children aged 2 and 5, were wounded in the shower of nails from the bomb and glass and debris flying from nearby buildings. Witnesses said nails pierced some of the victims in the face, head and body.

Solidarity offered positions on government food study

WARSAW, Poland—Bowing to a demand by Solidarity’s congress, the Communist government offered Sunday to include representatives of the union on a commission to solve the country’s food crisis.

The government also announced at the same time that more price hikes will be necessary by next month.

The consiliatory gesture came as Polish consumers threatened another round of strikes to protest food shortages, and amid reports of panic-buying of gasoline in Warsaw.

Following a Saturday night meeting of the presidium, the government said improvement in the food situation “depends primarily on the achievement of political stability, as a Poland shaken by conflicts ceases to be a credible partner in trade and cooperation,” the official news agency PAP reported.

The presidium said the situation was “even more disquieting” after Solidarity’s congress ended last week.

‘Super Chicken III’ crosses U.S. in cross-country flight

SAVANNAH, Ga.—A balloon bearing the unlikely name of Super Chicken III breezed across the United States and landed off the Georgia coast on Sunday in the first non-stop flight from one end of the country to the other.

“The champagne is flowing, we’re celebrating a World Series of our own,” said Chris Van Elk, who monitored the flight from the flight operations center in Scottsdale, Ariz.

The balloon floated 2,515 miles in 55 hours, he said.

CAA changes honors program, appoints committee for add-drop

by Yvonne Beeler

Although no formal vote was taken, the Council on Academic Affairs Thursday reviewed and made minor changes in the proposed honors program.

The proposed honors program would allow incoming freshmen with an American College Testing (ACT) score of 26 or current Eastern students with a grade point average of 3.5 to enroll in special courses.

Council members, by general consensus, approved minor changes in the proposed program such as keeping the current honors programs in the psychology and elementary education departments separate from the proposed program; requiring those students in the program to take one honor course each semester, excluding the summer term, during their freshman and sophomore years; and using the normal university approval procedure for each honors course.

The council also agreed to require major papers of the courses be kept on file for future reference and to allow an honor student to take a graduate level course numbering below 5500.

In other business, CAA head Sharon Bartling appointed members to a committee to conduct an annual university program review and to suggest recommendations to the current add-drop line system.

Bartling appointed David Buchanan of the chemistry department to chair the program review committee. That committee must have its data available by Jan. 14.

Martin Miess of the foreign language department will chair the add-drop committee.

Bartling said several council members had expressed a concern that the CAA should offer suggestions with the current add-drop system.

Bartling also said either Vice President for Academic Affairs Stanley Rives or the Assistant to the Vice President for Academic Affairs Margaret Soderberg will speak to the council at the Oct. 27 meeting about the implementation of the senior seminars and writing English competency exam, two of the new general education requirements.

The general education requirements which went into effect at the beginning of the 1981 fall semester include the elimination of the two hour health requirement, the addition of three semester hours of mathematics as well as the requirement of at least one laboratory science course, a junior level writing competency exam and two semester hours of senior level seminars as capstone courses.

Egyptian minister denies reports of machine gun fire on his home

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egyptian police sources said Sunday that gunmen in two cars sprayed machine gun fire at the home of Interior Minister Nabawy Ismail, killing an undetermined number of his bodyguards. Ismail told a news conference the report was "completely a lie."

The police sources said the attack occurred hours after the funeral on Saturday of President Anwar Sadat. They also said there were armed attacks on at least two police stations in Cairo, and a shootout between police and Moslem fundamentalists barricaded inside a Cairo mosque.

Security sources, meanwhile, said they are seeking at least two other suspects in the assassination of Sadat last Tuesday.

Ismail called a news conference minutes after the report of the attack on his house, but later refused to field questions. Instead, he took reporters on a tour of his offices and, in the process, said there was no attack on his house.

He characterized the report, from sources, whose reports in the past have been accurate, as "completely a lie, don't believe it." Then he said there would be no news conference and told reporters to leave.

Reporters who drove by his house Sunday night saw no evidence of damage but security men prevented reporters from getting a close look.

The police sources had said the attack occurred late Saturday or early Sunday and that some of the Ismail's security men were killed. The attackers escaped, according to the report.

The police sources said the cars used in the attack—a white Peugeot and an orange Fiat 125—were believed to be the same vehicles used by the armed men who assaulted two police stations in Cairo on Saturday. The assailants escaped and there was no word on casualties.

The Daily Eastern News

Use newspapers to your benefit

Through a window one can see things clearly. The scenery changes, but the window remains as an insight to the world outside. But often you don't appreciate the chance to see through that window.

Newspapers are much like that.

That's why the slogan for this week, which is National Newspaper Week, is "A free press—your window to the world."

Like a real window, the newspaper offers its readers an opportunity to view the world around them.

The changing events of each day are recorded permanently, ready to be read at the reader's convenience.

Like gazing through a window, glancing through a newspaper requires only the effort of slicing a few minutes from your day to sit back and see what is happening in your world.

Often, particularly on university campuses, people become too embroiled in the everyday aspects of living and they neglect the larger sphere of world events.

The sad fact is that many of those same people who have dedicated themselves to the pursuit of higher education fail to keep abreast of the news of the day.

It is your world and you need to know what is happening in it.

Newspapers were designed to fulfill this need.

Campus newspapers go a step further. Not only does a campus newspaper serve as a learning and informative experience for its readers, it offers experience to those who work to produce it.

Along these lines, The Daily Eastern News provides practical learning experiences for student journalists, but its major purpose is to serve the campus community's desire to know what is going on around them.

Be informed. Read your newspaper, better yet, read several.

Look through the window which the free press creates for you. Don't miss the changing scenes which it encompasses day after day.

There is no excuse for building a wall between yourself and affairs of the world—not when your newspaper awaits.

Help art department

Editor:

"Junior Becky Hodges winces as the needle pierces her skin when she donated blood Monday during the first day of the blood drive."

Your cover picture in the Tuesday newspaper along with the above caption was enough to make me drop my books and hop in the blood donor line.

If you believe that I have some nice farm land on the side of a cliff for sale. How would you react to that picture and caption if you had never given blood?

The expression on Becky's face is one of extreme pain. If this is the general expression of most blood donors, then the public should be informed. However, most people grimace at the very sight of blood.

A very good article by Arlen Miller, from the same issue, pleaded for people to give blood.

Unfortunately, that article was contained to Page Four because of its editorial content. Blood drives are very worthwhile and important events. I just hope that this oversight for the purpose of drama doesn't cause a decrease of donations in this semester's blood drive. I guess no one will ever know for sure.

Niel C. Henriksen

Careful with photos

Editor:

As a senior in art, I have experienced many things that need to be attended to or improved. The time has come to speak up.

The conditions and equipment we artists are forced to function with are primitive at best. Some examples:

- Intolerable temperatures in the art rooms definitely hinder the Eastern artist's performance. Art history rooms must be tightly sealed to view slides. Without air-conditioning one sweats as profusely as if he'd run the woodchip trail. No one can be expected to function at 100 percent under these conditions.

- At the other extreme, the metal shop is like walking into a meat freezer in the middle of winter. Metal will not respond when cold, and how the hell is an artist supposed to create with mittens on?

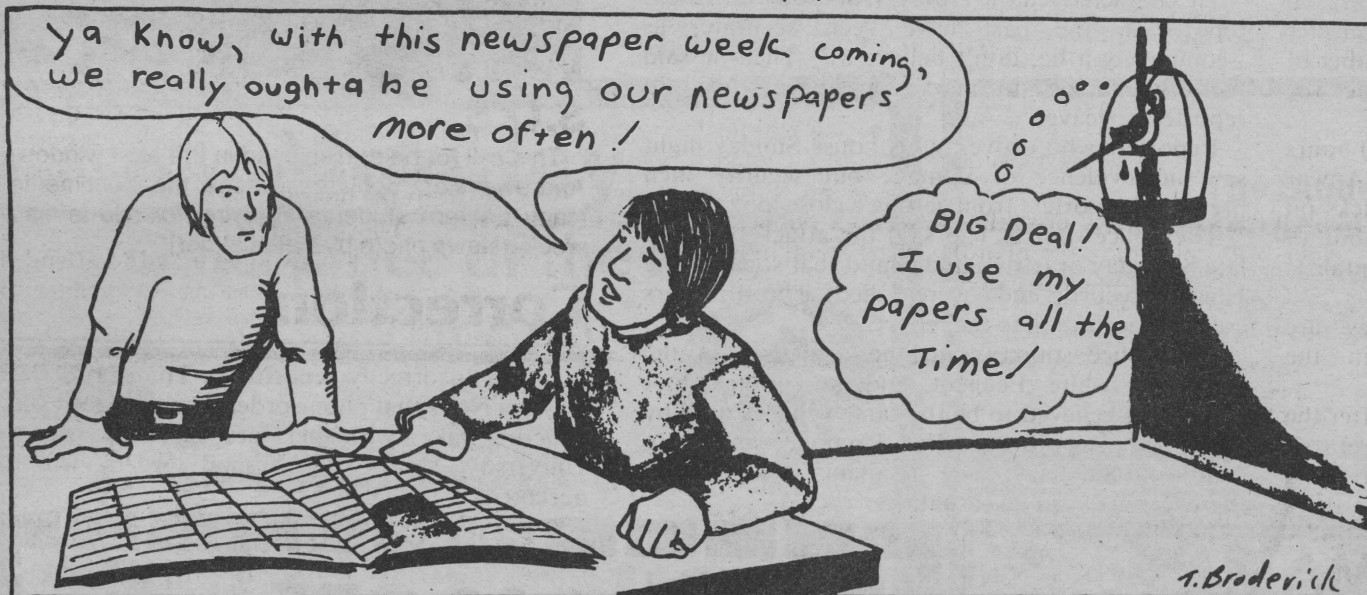

- Wasps daily invade the printmaking and painting rooms. It's no joke to me because I'm allergic to the insects.

- Getting high off toxic fumes is not how I wish to stimulate my creativity. Yet, with the archaic exhaust systems we are provided with, it happens quite often.

- The sculpture lab functions with makeshift equipment and limited work area.

I've come to the bottom line of my letter...the almighty dollar. The athletic department got, and deserved, $9 out of my pocket to improve its facilities and buy new equipment. Where did the art department stand when money was being collected? God knows the facilities as well as the equipment need improvement. This is my fourth year watching the art department being passed by, now I'm speaking up—please someone listen.

At $1.90 a day, food service is palatable

Personal file:

Tim Broderick

The one item on campus that students, regardless of race, creed, or taste buds constantly complain about is the quality of the dorm food. In fact, complaints are the main course at the cafeteria table.

Freshmen soon learn basic guidelines for the everyday adventure of dorm dining. For instance, I've learned never to eat anything green since it's usually still moving. Or soon will be.

Another helpful hint is if you don't see that frisky little puppy you saw on campus yesterday, don't eat the cheeseburgers.

These and many other not-so-serious rules were concocted while eating some not-so-great delicacies. All around the table, people complained that for the amount of money they were paying...

But somehow, those complaints don't seem to stack up when you measure them against the amount we pay for meals each day.

A student who chooses to live on campus pays approximately $885.75 in housing costs, according to Beverly Sterling, a very nice lady who is in charge of the campus food service.

That breaks down to $52.10 each and every week, not counting floor damages.

Unfortunately, all that money doesn't go to food service. Only $532.07 each semester goes to feed us hungry kiddies. The rest of it, $353.68, goes for room costs such as utilities, maintenance, rubber chickens, and so on.

Well $500 isn't bad for a semester of chow, but all that money probably doesn't go for food costs, right?

Right; according to the list of items covered by the food bills students pay each semester.

The list which Sterling handed to me includes—in addition to basic kitchen needs, faculty salaries, indirect personnel, student labor, data processing, utilities, flowers, printing, auto repairs...the list goes on. Through a portion of students' housing fees, the food service picks up a part of the costs for the campus services listed above.

So how much of my money actually goes to feed my face?

The figure is slightly difficult to derive, but it's based on what food service personnel refer to as "Feeding Days."

Since a typical student is not going to make it to every meal, and some less than others, the food service divides the year into 224 feeding days—111 for fall and 113 for spring.

So to arrive at approximately how much you pay each day for your food, divide the $532.07 of your housing costs which go to food service by 111. It's costing us dormies about $4.793.

Subtract about 60 percent of that figure for the costs from the previously mentioned list of campus expenditures (38 percent which goes to labor—including secretaries and other indirect personnel) and we arrive at a figure of about $1.90 which is spent per person each Feeding Day.

That average figure pays for one student's breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Students (me included) say that the housing bill is too high.

But it costs us only one hundred and ninety pennies each day to eat.

Tell me where else you can spend that amount of money for three meals.

Blood drive fails to achieve goal

by Lisa Maday

Although the goal of 1,725 pints of blood was not achieved at last week's blood drive, Mark Sarasin, student chairman of the drive, said he was more than pleased with the final count of 1,633 pints.

"We didn't meet our goal but I was very happy; it was a good drive and we did well," Sarasin said.

Thursday, the last day of the drive, brought in 393 pints of blood, with only 34 people deferred compared to the 65 turned away on Monday.

According to Sarasin, the number of donors rejected on Monday hurt the drive.

Sarasin said fall break was another factor that affected the drive negatively.

Some students who might have donated on Thursday did not do so because of fall break starting the next day, he said.

He explained the date for the blood drive was set last fall, while the dates for fall break were determined last spring, leaving the matter out of his control.

the volunteers working at the blood drive, said that Thursday, the last day of this fall's drive, was slower than other days.

The majority of the student donors said they were pleased with the blood drive.

"I'm always scared before I come over here," Dan Bagus, a junior giving blood for the third time, said.

"The nurses were a lot more pleasant than last time," he added.

Senior Don Reed said he was giving blood for the fourth time.

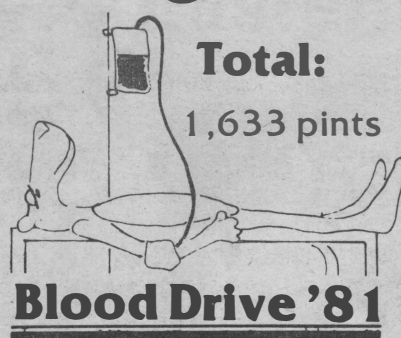

"I think it's real important to give blood and I think it makes you feel good because you're doing something for other people," Reed said.

Freshman first-time donor Doug Krones said, "I didn't know what to expect. I didn't feel like fainting afterwards but I felt different."

Krones said donating turned out to be a positive experience for him.

"I'll probably come back whenever I can. Every chance I get, I'll give," he added.

Nancy Martin, a junior giving for the third time said, "I don't like getting my finger pricked (prior to giving blood)— it's the worst part. I was scared about their new method of doing it but it wasn't as bad as the way they used to."

See related stories, page 6

Freshman Suzette LeCrone gave for the first time and said, "I was kind of in a daze, forcing myself in here—I didn't know if I wanted to go through with it or not."

LeCrone did "go through with it" and said she was glad she did.

"It felt good knowing I would be helping people in the long run. It will be neat looking at the final number, knowing it would be one less if I hadn't donated," she added.

Media board picks chairman

by Lola Burnham

Journalism Department Chairman Daniel Thornburgh was elected chairman of the Publications Board at its first meeting Thursday.

In addition, Eastern junior Jack Kelly was elected vice chairman, and junior Becky Corzilius was elected secretary.

The board also elected a temporary executive committee composed of the three officers; Betty Boyer, publisher of the Charleston Times-Courier; and senior Melinda DeVries.

Thornburgh said the temporary executive committee will meet if items of an "emergency nature" occur before the next meeting.

In other business, the board reviewed student publications' fiscal reports from 1980-81 and the 1981-82 budgets.

Marsha Hausser, editor in chief of The Daily Eastern News, and Scott Fishel, editor in chief of the Warbler, were present to discuss plans for each publication.

Thornburgh said the board also clarified the status of the Vehicle, Eastern's literary publication.

Because the Vehicle was placed under the English department's budget, the board was not sure whether it would have control of the publication, Thornburgh said.

However, Student Body President Bob Glover, who presided at the meeting until a chairman was elected, said when the Student Senate approved the Publications Board proposal it intended for the Vehicle to be governed by the board.

Thornburgh said the Vehicle adviser and editors will be asked to attend the next board meeting to update the board on its progress.

Officials favor Union parking proposal

by Nancy Montague

Two Eastern officials said recently they favor Student Body President Bob Glover's plan to change part of parking lot U to a toll lot.

Glover's plan calls for about 40 parking spaces around the University Union to be changed to toll parking instead of permit parking.

Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams said he favors the "general idea" of the change but must "see it in writing as a formal proposal from the traffic committee" before he can make a decision.

The Traffic and Safety Committee is expected to take action on the proposal later this month.

Williams said there would be a lot of "detail work" involved in implementing the proposal if it is approved.

"I haven't studied it yet," he said.

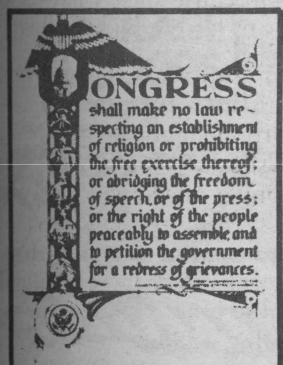

Williams will only study the plan if the Traffic and Safety Committee does approve it.

Union Area Head Bill Clark said Thursday he supports the proposal.

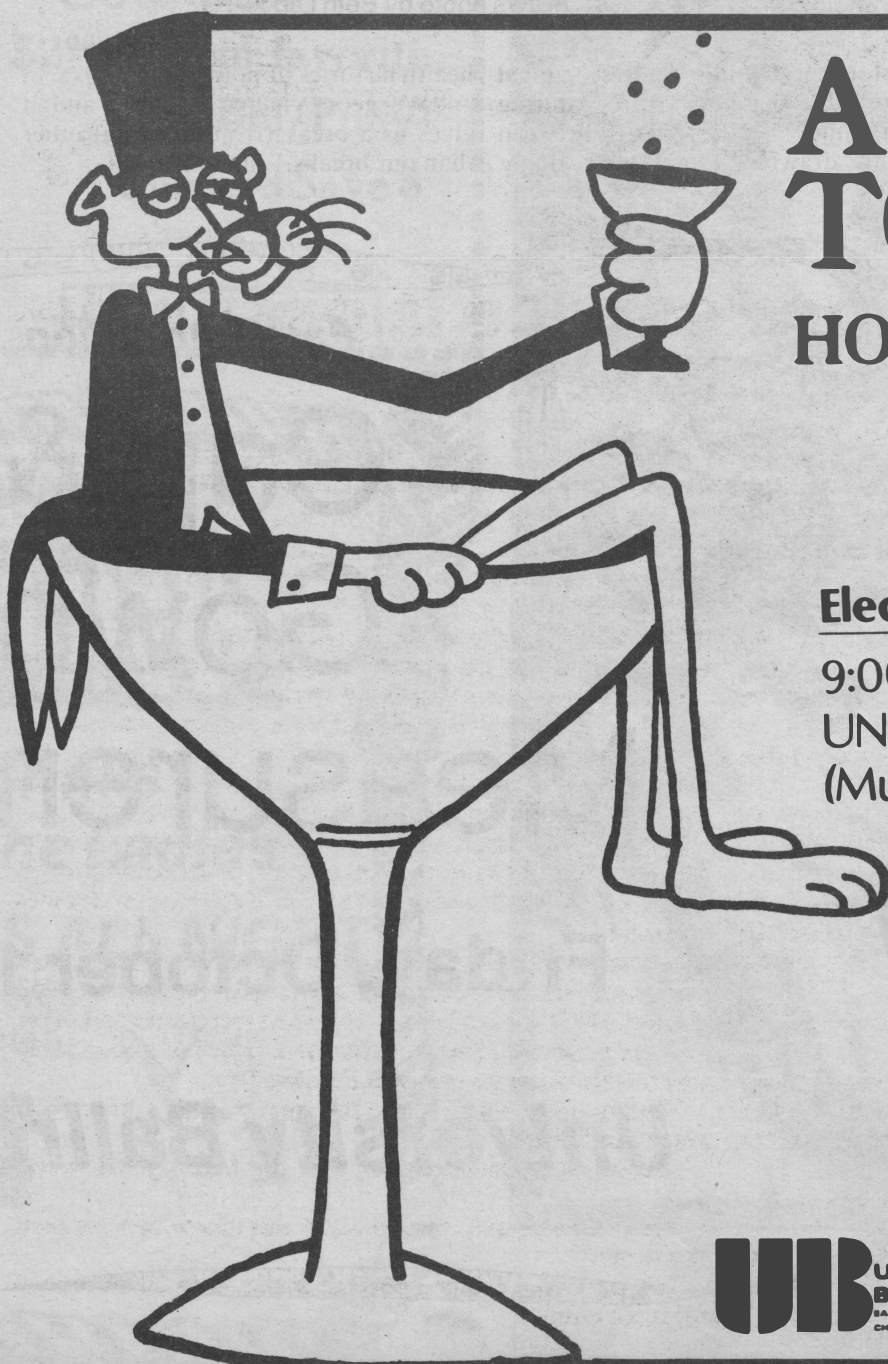

"I'm in favor of that because I think it will increase use of Union facilities," Clark said.

He noted that a similar plan has been proposed before but was never developed enough to implement.

Eastern is the only state university without public parking near its union, Clark said, adding that most unions have their own lots.

It's more than a job for blood drive workers

Nurses cheer campus efforts

by Linda Fraembs

Eastern's blood drive was a new activity to more than just first-time donors this fall.

Walter Lowell, faculty sponsor for the drive, said over half of the Red Cross nurses here were participating in the local blood drive for the first time, after working previously on other drives throughout Illinois and Missouri.

Eastern traditionally conducts the largest and most successful college drive in the area, Lowell said.

In fact, many of the nurses had worked at other drives said that Eastern's drive was the biggest at which they had ever worked.

"It's great—I haven't been to a place where I've seen this many people turn out," nurse Sherry Walton said.

George Smith, another Red Cross nurse, said he has worked other college drives in both Illinois and Missouri, but Eastern's is "much larger" than most.

"I haven't been on a blood drive this size," nurse Jo Nita Thornton said.

Thornton said Eastern's drive was the first time she has worked for four days in the same spot.

"I've enjoyed it," she added.

Charlene Barton, another nurse at Eastern for the first time, said she enjoyed the students and the college atmosphere.

Barton said the large turnout at Eastern was not a surprise to her.

"I have been told 'when you tell Eastern there's a blood drive, they're going to be there,'" she said.

Barton said the pace at an Eastern drive can be hectic, but she liked it.

Smith said keeping up with the pace is not a problem.

"You can only work so fast, and you just work with it," he said.

Walton agreed. "It's not hard if you know what you're doing," she said.

Barton said the nurses are scheduled to work in five-hour shifts, during which time they alternate between actually drawing blood and doing health histories of potential donors. "We get a change of pace, and it gives us a break (from drawing) other than our breaks," she explained.

Drive workers keep on smiling

by Maggie Kennedy

Behind the encouragements, the advertisements beckoning people in and the available food are the smiling faces of the American Red Cross blood drive volunteers.

More than 100 volunteers keep the bi-annual drive at Eastern running smoothly each day by working a variety of odd jobs—from signing people up to watching for donor reactions.

"They're a great bunch of volunteers," blood drive student chairman Mark Sarasin said.

"You'd think they were all getting paid $8 an hour by the way they work," he added.

The volunteers do not seem to mind the hard work, though.

"You get a good feeling once you're through working that you've accomplished something," freshman Elena Reeves said.

Another student volunteer, sophomore T.J. Towler, said she enjoyed the opportunity to meet new people.

Volunteers' reasons for becoming involved vary.

Freshman Ginny Bryant said she wanted to get involved with the drive but since she was underweight she was unable to donate blood herself.

Being a student worker was a way she could still become involved with the drive, she said.

Junior Cheri Newman explained that working the drive went along with her major, health education, and would help on job applications.

Towler said she had a personal experience with donating blood that made her become a volunteer.

"I felt giving blood was an important cause since I have a relative who has to have it once a month," she explained.

Broadway: Promise of musical stardom beckons Eastern alumnus

by Michele Morgan

Appearing in a Broadway production may seem like the impossible dream to many young actors.

But to Eastern alumnus Peter Samuel, it is a dream come true.

Samuel is now rehearsing his part as Hatrack Harris in the Broadway musical "The First."

The Martin Charnin production is about Jackie Robinson, the first black American major-league baseball player, E.G. Gabbard of Eastern's theater department said recently.

Kris Salamone, a graduate student at Eastern, actress, and friend of Samuel's, explained that Samuel's character, a ball player named Hatrack Harris, is one of three antagonists who does everything he can to keep Robinson out of baseball.

The new musical, which has been in rehearsal since Aug. 25, premieres for three weeks on Broadway at the Martin Beck Theater beginning Friday, and opens officially to New York's critics on Nov. 12, Gabbard said.

"It's really exciting to work with Martin Charnin," Samuel said, "and to create this new character of mine."

Samuel graduated from Eastern in 1980, and since then "has climbed a short ladder to success," Gabbard said. Samuel is a native of Rochester.

Salamone said that before landing the part in "The First," Samuel appeared in two small walk-on parts in the daytime series, "The Doctors" and "Ryan's Hope" this past spring.

During his years here at Eastern, Samuel appeared in a number of musicals, operas and plays, Gabbard said.

Samuel's parts ranged from George in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolfe" to Falstaff in the opera,

"The Merry Wives of Windsor," to Petruccio in Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," to portraying Margaret Mead (in drag) in the musical, "Hair," Gabbard said.

During his freshman, junior, and senior years, Samuel was nominated for the Irene Ryan Acting Award for the American College Theater Festival, Gabbard added.

He added that upon graduation from Eastern with a degree in biology, the baritone singer, actor, and dancer traveled to Atlanta to audition for his first acting company, "Theater Under the Stars."

While in Atlanta, Samuel was an understudy for Joe Namath in the theater's productions of "Lil' Abner" and "Damn Yankees," Gabbard said.

Having earned his Actors' Equity Card, a union to which all employed actors must belong, Gabbard explained, Samuel moved to Florida for a brief period of time. He then joined the Burt Reynolds Theater to gain more experience and meet more people, he added.

Salamone described Samuel as "a charmer who gets noticed when auditioning because of his stage presence, stature, and booming voice projection."

Filing deadline set for pageant

by Linda Fraembs

Persons wishing to enter the Miss Charleston-Delta Chi pageant may now file applications, Joel Storm, executive pageant director, said Sunday.

The event is a preliminary to the Miss America pageant.

Forms may be picked up in any women's residence hall, the Student Activities Center, the Charleston Area Chamber of Commerce or by contacting Storm at 348-1228.

Storm said applications will also appear in The Daily Eastern News later this week.

He said the deadline for submitting applications is Nov. 13, and forms must be returned to the 1632 11th Street postmarked no later than that date.

Contestants must be 17 years of age or older and be a resident of Coles or Cumberland counties. Eastern students are eligible to enter the pageant. Participants in the pageant will be judged in swimsuit, evening gown and talent competition, Storm said.

The winner of the Charleston pageant wins a scholarship along with other gifts and will advance to the state competition later in the year, Storm said.

He said the Miss Charleston-Delta Chi pageant will be held "sometime in March in the Grand Ballroom of the Union."

Ventriloquist Tyler to perform Tuesday

The ventriloquist act of Willie Tyler and Lester will be appearing in the University Union Grand Ballroom at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Assistant Director of Student Activities Booker Suggs said Tyler is one of the most recognizable ventriloquists working today.

Suggs said Tyler has been practicing since he was 10 years old and perfected his act during his time in the service, keeping the troops entertained.

Tyler and his dummy Lester have appeared in motion pictures and on television, Suggs said.

He added Tyler was a regular on the original "Laugh-In" comedy series in the early '70s and had a bit part in the film "Coming Home." Tyler has recently been seen in a Toyota car commercial.

The show, sponsored by the University Board, is part of the "A Toast to EIU" Homecoming week festivities.

Admission is $1 for Eastern students and children under 12 and $3 for the general public.

Tickets on sale now for play 'Oklahoma!'

Tickets for the Homecoming presentation of the musical "Oklahoma!" will go on sale Monday, J. Sain of Eastern's theater department said Sunday.

Performances for "Oklahoma!" are scheduled for 8 p.m. Oct. 16, 17, 23 and 24, and 2 p.m. Oct. 18 and 25.

He said tickets can be purchased at the Fine Arts box office from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from noon to 5 p.m. Friday.

Tickets will be sold during the same hours Oct. 19 to 23, he added.

Prices are $3.50 for adults, $2.50 for youths and senior citizens and $2 for Eastern students, Sain said.

Timely crucial mistakes lead to Panther loss

Eastern tight end Rob Mehalic reaches for one of his 12 receptions during the Panthers' 25-3 loss to Illinois State Saturday at Normal. (News photo by Tom Roberts)

by Steve Binder

NORMAL—It was not just Illinois-State's solid defense, quarterback John Coppens' accurate passing and the Panthers' lack of a running attack that led to the Redbird's 25-3 victory over Eastern's gridders Saturday at Hancock Stadium.

The abundance of Panther mental and physical mistakes occurring at crucial times was the main reason the Redbirds dominated the Panthers for the first time in five years.

"We just weren't ready," Panther head coach Darrell Mudra said. "We had mistakes at the wrong time. It probably knocks us out of the playoff picture."

Indeed, Eastern's frustrating defeat drastically affects its playoff hopes this year, but the Panthers' post-season competition possibilities are still not extinguished.

"We're not that far away from where we planned on being," Mudra continued. "We're not quite as good as if we had experience. But I think we are still going to surprise some people soon. We can still have a good season."

The elimination of costly mistakes will prove to be a valid indicator of the Panthers' progress.

Offensively, almost every Eastern drive during the contest ended with one of six Illinois State interceptions or fizzled out as the result of one of the 13 Panther penalties.

Eastern quarterback Jeff Christensen completed 23 passes out of 55 attempts while being picked off five times. But the sophomore's unimpressive statistical performance was partly due to the slippery hands of Panther receivers.

Freshman split end Roger Holoman dropped two touchdown passes in the second and third quarters while three of Redbird defensive back Andy Fladung's four interceptions sailed through the hands of Eastern's receivers.

"Our quarterback (Christensen) didn't perform as well as we expected and sometimes our receivers just didn't catch the ball," Mudra said.

Redbird head coach Bob Otolski stated, "Evidently, they thought they could pass against us. But I have seen great improvement in our defense and Andy (Fladung) did a great job.

"We knew Eastern would have a good team and it would be tough to win, but offensively I thought we played super," he added.

In accord with Otolski's statement, Eastern defensive coordinator Rick Schachner blamed the Panthers' usually awesome defense for the Redbird victory.

Going into the contest, Eastern's defense was rated as the best overall Division I-AA unit allowing just 147 yards a game. But behind freshman Coppens' 11 for 17 and 193 yard display and running back Lorenzo Butler's 116-yard rushing performance, Illinois State racked up 349 yards against the Panthers.

"Defensively, we played a real poor ballgame. We did not give the offense good field position until the third quarter," Schachner said. "The offense moved the ball consistently for 40 and 50 yards each drive but our defense just couldn't hold them most of the time."

The Redbirds' two touchdown tallies, via Coppens' long bombs to wide receiver Clarence Collins in the second and third quarters, resulted from Panther cornerback Kevin Jones' faulty coverage of the speedy sophomore.

Boaters' offensive attack captures tournament title

by Jim Woodcock

MILWAUKEE—Eastern's soccer team, led by its awesome offensive attack, shutout Creighton 4-0 Friday and proceeded to blank the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee 3-0 Sunday to capture the Wisconsin-Milwaukee Tournament title.

In addition to winning its third tournament this season, the squad grabbed all individual awards as well. Striker Damien Kelly was named Most Valuable Player on offense, and Albert Adade earned top honors on defense.

Placed fifth out of seven teams in Purdue Invitational

Head coach Schellas Hyndman said his squad played well in the championship match and overall are playing up to their ability.

"We dominated the whole game against Wisconsin-Milwaukee," Hyndman said. "It was the type of game where we controlled the ball. They didn't want to take any chances against us."

Kelly, Graham Whitehead and Silvano Corazza each chipped in with a goal in the tournament final, while the Eastern team enjoyed a 26-11 shots-on-goal advantage.

Eastern advanced to the tournament final in convincing fashion by blitzing Creighton 4-0 on Friday.

The Panther offense wasted little time scoring against the Bluejays. Kelly gave Eastern a 1-0 lead 33 seconds into the match, and then Aldo Esposito increased the margin to 2-0 with a goal 1:50 later.

"Creighton was completely terrified of us," Hyndman said. "We completely dominated, but let up a little after the first two goals."

Warneke paces injury-ridden striders to fifth place at Purdue

by Mike Prizy

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Despite losing the services of the No. 2 and No. 3 place finishers from last week's Notre Dame Invitational, the men's cross country team still managed a fifth place at the Purdue Invitational Friday.

Purdue won the meet over seven other competitors with a total of 39 points. The remainder of the top five finishers were Saginaw Valley State (Michigan) 62, Michigan State 73, Hillsdale 82 and Eastern with 113 points.

Eastern's top runners from the previous week unable to compete this weekend were senior Terry Donahue and junior Perry Edinger.

Donahue made the trip but was unable to participate because of an allergy problem.

Edinger did not participate in the Purdue meet in order to rest up for the team's meet this weekend. Last weekend at Notre Dame, Edinger was overcome by fatigue and came in as Eastern's third man after being the top runner for the team in the first three meets.

"I would like to think we would have run better with them," Woodall said. "I think they'll be ready next week."

Next week Woodall's harriers will be facing the Illinois Intercollegiate meet.

The Purdue meet featured a championship flight and a flight for "smaller schools" Woodall said.

Eastern's top seven runners ran in the championship flight against seven teams while five other Eastern striders competed in the smaller school flight against eight teams and also placed fifth.

Taking top honors for Eastern in the championship flight was junior Tim Warneke.

Warneke finished fourth on the five-mile Purdue course in a time of 24:32.

Redbird quarterback John Coppens fires one of his Eastern Saturday. Coppens was 11 for 17 and 193 yards accurate passes during Illinois State's 25-3 win over on the day. (News photo by Tom Roberts)

“On the first touchdown he (Jones) got his feet entangled and he couldn’t jump for the ball,” Schachner said. “The second play was just a broken play.”

However, as Illinois State’s passing game was limited but effective, Eastern’s airlines developed a new route. The Panthers successfully employed a two-tight end alignment, utilizing senior Rob Mehalic and sophomore Dirk Androff, throughout most of the contest.

After the pair combined for 11 catches for 219 yards, Mudra said that the new setup will be used on a regular basis this season.

“We’ll have to keep Androff in there because of his talent. It will also strengthen us because it gives us another front- line player,” Mudra said.

After Illinois State’s opening-drive field goal, Collins’ first touchdown reception boosted the Redbird lead to 10-0.

On the following drive, the Panthers attempted to establish a running attack with sophomore Kevin Staple taking charge. But a stubborn Redbird defense thwarted Eastern’s ground game intentions as the Panthers could muster just 37 yards on 19 carries for the contest.

Expos, Dodgers, Yankees nab division titles

Expos 3, Phillies 0
PHIADELPHIA (AP)— Steve Rogers pitched a six-hit shutout and singled home the first two runs Sunday as the Montreal Expos beat the Philadelphia Phillies 3-0 to win their first National East Division title in the 13-year-old history of the franchise. The Expos won the first two games at home, but the Phillies won here Friday and Saturday to send the best-of-five series to a fifth game. It was Rogers' second triumph of the series and he again beat the Phillies ace Steve Carlton to seal the victory over the defending World Series champions. Montreal took a 2-0 lead in the fifth on a two-run single by Rogers, his second hit of the game. Larry Parrish started the inning with a single to left and Carlton walked Tim Wallach. Chris Speier grounded into a force play, Parrish advancing to third. Carlton then walked weak-hitting Jerry Manuel, loading the bases for Rogers, who ripped his hit through the middle to score Parrish and Speier. Dodgers 4, Astros 0

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jerry Reuss outpitched Nolan Ryan and the Los Angeles Dodgers scored three runs in the sixth inning to soar to their third straight victory over the Houston Astros Sunday, winning 4-0, and qualified for the National League championship series. The Dodgers shelled out Ryan—who had allowed only two hits in his previous two outings against them—in the seventh inning as they won the best-of-five divisional series after losing the first two games in Houston. Los Angeles opens the league championship series at home Tuesday afternoon against Montreal. Ryan had thrown the fifth no-hitter of his career against the Dodgers on Sept. 26 and beat them with a two-hitter in the first game of this playoff. Yankees 7, Brewers 3
NEW YORK (AP)—Reggie Jackson, New York's celebrated "Mr. October," and Oscar Gamble smashed consecutive tape-measure home runs in the fourth inning Sunday night, rallying the Yankees to a 7-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers and the championship of the American League East. Jackson's two-run shot into the upper right field stands, more than 50 feet above the 353-foot sign, erased a 2-0 Milwaukee lead. It was his 16th post-season homer and second of this series. Gamble followed with his second of the East playoffs, a 400-foot line drive into the right center field bleachers.

"A Toast to EIU" is this year's theme for Homecoming during the week of Monday, October 12 through Saturday, October 17.

The Homecoming Queen and Freshman Attendant elections begin the festivities Monday with voting held in the Union's Old Ballroom 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and with the coronation at 8 p.m. in the Union's Grand Ballroom.

On Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Union Grand Ballroom is the ventriloquist act Willie Tyler and Lester.

The movie "Clockwork Orange" will be held in the Union Grand Ballroom at 8 p.m. on Wednesday with $1.25 admission.

The annual Bonfire and Pep Rally is on Thursday at 8 p.m. on the Lawson and Taylor Hall basketball courts.

Homecoming is to be topped off on Saturday with the annual parade starting at 10 a.m. and with Eastern's Football Team playing against Western Illinois University at 1 p.m.

Willie Tyler & Lester

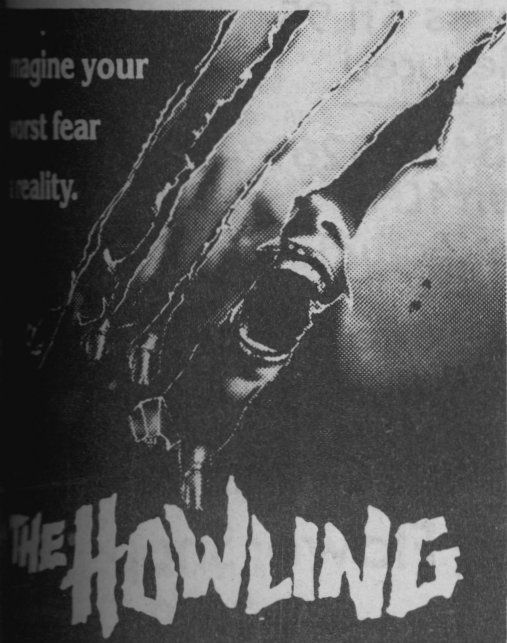

Willie Tyler and Lester will start Eastern's Homecoming festivities off with a roar on Tuesday, October 13 at 8 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the university's Martin Luther King Union.

America's foremost ventriloquist, Tyler, has appeared with Lester on many television shows including the Merv Griffin Show, in the movie "Coming Home", and on the Maxwell House and Natural Light Beer commercials.

Willie Tyler and Lester are being sponsored by the Mainstage and Human Potential committees of the University Board.

"I was pleased with Tim's performance," Woodall said. "This was his second consistant race in good competition. I would say it's on par with his Notre Dame race."

At Notre Dame, Warneke placed 13th and became Eastern's sixth runner to place among the top 15.

Eastern's No. 2 man at Purdue was sophomore David Houston coming in 14th in a time of 25:13.

"This was a breakthrough for him, Woodall said. "It's his best cross country race so far this year."

Sophomore Bob Beine was Eastern's next finisher taking 27th with a time of 25:41.

"This was a pretty good race for Bob," Woodall said.

The next three finishers for the Panthers was senior Mike Beresford placing 32nd, sophomores John Gassmann, 36th and Paul West, 41st.

"Beresford, Gassmann and West didn't run too well," Woodall added.

Rounding out the top seven in the championship flight was freshman Dan Moore in 45th place.

Top man in the smaller school flight was senior Don Fredericks securing 7th place in a time of 25:41.

Finishing behind Fredericks was sophomore Nick Whiteside in 9th place, freshman Johnie Gill, 23rd, freshman Jonathan Guthrie, 38th and junior Mark Kasper, 39th.

Redskins trounce Bears 24-7

CHICAGO (AP)—Linebacker Neal Olkewicz returned an intercepted pass 10 yards for a touchdown to lead the Washington Redskins over the Chicago Bears 24-7 Sunday for their first National Football League victory of the season.

Dave Butz also picked off another pass to set up the first of two touchdown runs by John Riggins.

Snapping a five-game losing streak, the Redskins intercepted four of Vince Evans' passes in the first half which led to 17 of their points.

Joe Lavender's interception in the first quarter set up a 38-yard field goal by Mark Moseley late in the first quarter and moments later Olkewicz intercepted and rambled into the end zone for a 10-0 lead.

Late in the second quarter, Butz picked off another Evans pass and rambled 26 yards to the one-yard line where he was brought down by Dan Neal before Riggins pounded across for the score with 25 seconds left in the half.

Riggins' other touchdown came late in the fourth quarter on a two-yard run to cap a 69-yard drive.

The Bears averted a shutout when Mike Phipps hit Marcus Anderson with a 43-yard touchdown pass with 1:37 left in the game.

The Bears managed to move across the midfield stripe only once in the first half and that came on a 31-yard pass completion from Evans to Brian Baschagel. But Walter Payton lost five yards and a penalty set the Bears back.

Evans completed 8 of 37 passes for 131 yards with four interceptions while Payton carried only five times for a total of five yards for one of the worst games of his career.

The Bears managed to get into Redskin territory only once in the third quarter and that came when Jeff Fisher fielded a 23-yard Mike Connell punt on the Redskin 49. A penalty moved it to the Washington 44 but the Bears went no farther and had to punt.

The Redskins controlled the game, especially in the second half, on the running of Riggins and Joe Washington. Riggins finished the game with 126 yards in 23 carries and Washington carried 21 times for 88 yards.

The loss was the third straight for the Bears and left them with a 1-5 record, the same as Washington which was the last NFL team to get into the win column this year.

The fans booed the Bears as they left the field at the half, booed them again when they came back and booed repeatedly during the second half.

Evans left the game early in the fourth quarter after being sacked by Jeris White and was replaced by Mike Phipps who was immediately sacked by Perry Brooks.

How to take the plunge without taking a bath.

Most people, when they decide to get engaged, feel like they're in over their heads! Especially when it comes time to pick out a diamond.

If that's how you feel, S.A. Peck & Co. is the perfect lifesaver! First, S.A. Peck sells only the finest diamond rings, using diamonds that have met rigid standards for quality and appearance. So you can be sure, from the start, you are getting a quality diamond ring.

Secondly, we offer a guarantee. Should you want to return your ring, within fifteen days, for any reason at all, you'll receive a complete refund, no questions asked.

Finally, the S.A. Peck system eliminates the middleman, meaning you buy your diamond ring for approximately 50% of what you would pay for the same ring at competitive jewelry stores. And at a time like this, that kind of value is a comforting thought!

Send for our free 44 page color catalog today. It has full color pictures of over 300 wedding and engagement rings all available to you at savings up to 50%!

Or, visit our diamond showrooms at 55 East Washington Street, Chicago. It'll make you feel a lot less jumpy about taking the plunge!
