Charleston Council decides to keep planner position

Graham Whitehead and Keith Clark of the Charleston City Council has decided that the city planner position should be retained.

Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer said Sunday council met in executive session "a couple of weeks ago" to discuss the action.

The action to retain the position comes two weeks after former City Planner Larry Stoeber was officially replaced April 5.

"It has become obvious that I need someone to help out," Pfeiffer said. "I only part-time and we need someone full-time to help out."

However, Pfeiffer said a professional consultant will be utilized to help decide what duties the planner should have.

Pfeiffer said he, along with some other city commissioners, will be meeting with a municipal consultant from Chicago to discuss the position April 20.

"He will be giving us advice on where to go," Pfeiffer said. "We'll be able to better decide how to fill the position."

"It's up in the air as to what we are going to do, that's why we have him (municipal consultant) helping out," he added.

The council's decision to use a professional consultant to examine the options available drew support from the Charleston Area Chamber of Commerce Wednesday.

The chamber will send a statement to the council commending their decision to use an outside consultant in order to "maintain the stability, vitality and continuing growth of Charleston," Oetting said.

"I think we (the city) need to spend the $28,000 to $30,000 for a professional in city hall," Oetting added.

Other Board of Directors members voted unanimously to support the statement.

"We need some kind of professional direction. I don't know whether it should be a planner or a professional consulting firm," board member Clarence Miller said.

Student representative Bob Erio said he believed the city planner job should be kept and added "It provides a good line of communication for the businessman."

However, board member Larry Quinlan said the council should be cautious in making a decision.

McNicholas dies from heart attack

Episcopate Skowron

"He loved everybody," Sister Maria Regis, of the St. John's Community, said.

On Sunday morning, however, everybody lost a gentle man, but a gentleman, Regis said. Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas died of a massive coronary 2:30 a.m. Sunday at St. John's Hospital in Springfield.

A St. Louis native, McNicholas was the bishop of the Springfield diocese, serving 28 Illinois counties since his installation in 1975. During his eight years as bishop, McNicholas made annual visits to Eastern Illinois. Archbishop Mark Tepen said he attended McNicholas' mass when he visited in March. "He was asking everybody their hometowns. And he remembered my hometown. It's a small one but he remembered Meppen."

Tepen, who was confirmed by McNicholas five years ago, said his death "startled me. He seemed to be in perfect health when I saw him in March."

Those who were informed of McNicholas' death were equally surprised. Regis said there was a "hush of disbelief" when Father Dean Probst announced McNicholas' death during Catholic mass Sunday.

"An energetic man of 60, McNicholas was a true pastor," Monsignor Daniel Moriarty said.

Moriarty, pastor of St. Charles Catholic Church, 921 Madison, said McNicholas' early death was inevitable. "He kept going—go, go, go. He was just pushing himself too hard."

Moriarty said McNicholas expressed a sincere concern for everyone. "He recognized the burden of the future of young people."

"He tried to look into their personalities—not what they were doing wrong, but what they were doing right. He emphasized the positive parts," Moriarty said. "He found something worthwhile in everyone."

Regis said McNicholas had a "genuine Christ-like love and concern for people—you can't get higher than that."

Moriarty explained that Monsignor William Haug, Vicar General of the Board of Consultors and Monsignor Paul Sheridan, Chancellor, will assume the bishop's duties until a new bishop is selected.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but Moriarty anticipates they will not be scheduled before Wednesday because all the American bishops need time to assemble. "McNicholas was a national figure," Moriarty said. "I expect there will be quite a few of the hierarchy here."

Regis described McNicholas' death as "a natural sorrow, but a supernatural joy. We live to die."

Student files suit on issue of candidacy

by Carl Pugliese

Senior Tina O'Keefe filed suit Thursday against the Student Senate, alleging that two students running for the senate are ineligible to serve.

O'Keefe said Friday that she was not aware of the two students' names. "I don't even want to know who they are and I asked that I never be told," she said.

O'Keefe, who works with the assistant student activities director, said while working in the Student Activities Office last week she "heard" that two candidates were ineligible for senate seats.

She said two candidates have grade point averages below the 2.3 eligibility requirement.

According to the Student Senate Constitution, "No person shall hold the office of senator who does not have a 2.3 cumulative grade point average, and is not a full-time student."

She said the candidates' ineligibility should not have been ignored. She noted that last fall several students were forced to resign from the senate because of academic-eligibility problems.

Elections Committee Co-Chairman Diane Clayberg said Don Cook, Student Senate adviser, was supposed to check all the candidates' GPAs and inform her and committee Co-Chairman Gary Chartraw if any students were ineligible.

Cook declined comment about the matter.

Under the current admission policy, freshmen and transfer students have a 2.0 GPA until their official first semester grades are rendered.

Student Body President Terry Teele said Friday he believes grade eligibility should not be an issue because the senate has established a precedent of allowing first semester freshmen and transfer students to participate.

"This body has always allowed first semester freshmen and transfer students to run for office. We should let first semester students get involved just like everybody else," he added.

Teele said it was common knowledge that all freshmen and transfer students have been eligible to participate in student government. "For years and years," he added, "freshmen have been able to serve."

Financial Vice President John Cole said Sunday O'Keefe's suit is "unjustified."

Cole said, "We are discriminating against those two students by not allowing them to participate."

He added that he believes the United States Constitution will take precedence over the Student Senate Constitution when a court decision is made.

O'Keefe said she asked that the court date be Tuesday so the "ineligible" candidates may be removed from Wednesday's election ballot.

Teele said the supreme court will meet Tuesday night.

Clayberg said she will recommend a bylaw change in the Student Senate Constitution to prevent further problems.

China shells Vietnamese posts

PEKING—Chinese artillery pounded Vietnamese border gunners along a second front Sunday, the government announced. It charged Vietnam had been continuing cross-border shelling and warned Hanoi that "aggression against China must be stopped at once."

Peking also accused Vietnam of launching border attacks to divert attention from its battle against Khmer Rouge guerrillas on the Cambodia-Thailand border.

The official Xinhua news agency said the shelling Sunday was conducted from China's Yunnan province and followed artillery bombardments launched Saturday on Vietnamese border posts from the Guangxi province of China.

Hostage standoff continues

PITTSBURGH—Prison officials kept negotiating by telephone Sunday and swapped sandwiches for a look at a hostage as a pair of armed inmates held two men captive in a basement room in a 4-day-old standoff.

"Right now both sides want to end this. It's a matter of coming to terms," state corrections spokesman Kenneth Robinson told reporters waiting outside the stone walls of the State Correctional Institution here, where the incident began with a bungled escape attempt Thursday.

Cardinal meets with Walesa

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Police armed with machine pistols routed 1,000 Solidarity supporters in Warsaw on Sunday, while Cardinal Jozef Glemp traveled to Gdansk and met with Lech Walesa in a strong gesture of church support for the outlawed union.

Police in Warsaw moved in after the crowd flashed victory signs and sang union songs at an unofficial ceremony marking the 40th anniversary of the Warsaw ghetto uprising.

Authorities detained at least three people, including Solidarity's former national spokesman, who told the crowd that if the Warsaw ghetto fighters were alive today they would join Solidarity in the "fight for truth, freedom and human dignity."

At another gathering, Glemp told 10,000 faithful at an outdoor Mass in Warsaw that the Communist government has not responded to initiatives to open a dialogue with Solidarity, and that the Polish people are "humiliated before the world."

Glemp later went to Gdansk for ceremonies consecrating Auxiliary Bishop Tadeusz Goclawski. Walesa said that before the religious ceremony, he met with the Roman Catholic primate for 30 minutes in the parish house of St. Mary's Cathedral.

Walesa declined to discuss details of the meeting, but a reliable source said they talked about the interrogation of Walesa, his wife and their driver last week by police seeking information about Walesa's secret meeting with underground union leaders.

The developments came a day after police announced the arrest of at least 26 Solidarity backers in apparent retaliation for the underground's call for nationwide protests May 1. Lech Walesa, leader of the outlawed union, met with the underground a week ago, and agreed they would coordinate policies.

Janusz Onyszkiewicz, Solidarity's former national spokesman, was led away by two plainclothesmen Sunday after giving a speech at a monument to the 70,000 Jews who were killed or captured in the 1943 ghetto uprising against Nazi occupation forces.

The wreathlaying was organized by those refusing to take part in an elaborate anniversary sponsored by the government. The official commemoration has drawn about 1,500 foreign visitors, most of them Jews, but has been marred by protests over a plan by a Palestine Liberation Organization representative to take part Tuesday.

Prize-winning journalist set to give lecture

Pulitzer Prize winner Seymour Hersh will be the guest of honor for Eastern's annual Journalism Day program.

Peter Voelz, acting journalism department chairman, said Hersh, one of America's top investigative reporters, won the Pulitzer Prize for uncovering the My Lai massacre in Vietnam.

Hersh, who works for the New York Times, will be at Eastern Monday to speak to journalism students and faculty, Voelz said.

Hersh's visit is sponsored by the journalism and speech-communication departments and the University Board.

The lecture, "Seymour Hersh Reports—Journalism and Foreign Policy," will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday in the Union Grand Ballroom. A $1 admission fee will be charged.

Election issues to be discussed

Candidates for Student Senate's executive offices will discuss election issues at a forum Monday.

Each candidate will speak for five minutes. A question and answer period will be allotted after each speech, Jeri Teater, co-chairman of the Student Senate Student Awareness Committee, said.

Teater said she expects all of the candidates for executive offices to attend. "I'm sure all six of them will speak," she said.

In addition, Teater said although Student Senate and Off-campus Student Housing Association candidates will have the opportunity to introduce themselves, they will not speak.

The forum, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Union Old Ballroom, Teater said.

Students to lobby against tuition raise

by Kathy Leahy

The Illinois Student Association will sponsor a Lobby Day in Springfield Tuesday to give Illinois college students an opportunity to lobby against the possible $500 tuition increase.

"We are hoping we can get a lot of students from Eastern to go," Student Senator Dan Sprehe said. "It is very important that the voices of students are heard."

Approximately 35 students and 15 student senators from Eastern have signed up to go on the trip so far, he added.

The Student Senate is arranging rides for all students interested in lobbying.

"It will be obvious how concerned we are if we can get a lot of students to go," Sprehe said.

Sprehe said Eastern students will leave at 8 a.m. Tuesday and will return to Eastern by 6 p.m.

Sprehe said many higher education appropriation bills will be coming up for discussion in the Illinois General Assembly.

"Bills concerning appropriations will be coming up in the House this week and student representation is needed or we'll never be heard," Sprehe said.

"All the other schools in Illinois will be sending representatives to Springfield," Sprehe said, "and I think it's very important that as many Eastern students as possible attend, too."

Gov. James Thompson and House Speaker Michael Madigan (D-Chicago) will address the student caucus on the funding of higher education.

Sprehe said students who attend will be given the opportunity to meet with their state representative or senator to express the students' views on higher education.

"We (Student Senate) will contact their representative or senator for them and can almost guarantee the student an appointment with them," Sprehe said.

He added anyone interested in going to Springfield may contact Sprehe or Student Body President Terry Teele at 581-5522.

Classes get CAA stamp, await final nod

by Linda Wagner

The Council on Academic Affairs Thursday unanimously approved five new courses to be implemented by spring 1984.

Before they are implemented, the courses must receive approval from Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin and Stanley Rives, provost and vice president for academic affairs.

Three of the new courses are honors program courses, while two others are physical education courses.

Pat Wright, an English instructor, said ENG 2603 (H), "Honors Mythology," would be "a challenging and demanding course."

The course would be offered "once a year or depending on the demand," he added.

Theater arts instructor Lucy Gabbard said, said THA 2240 (H), "Introduction to the Theater" will be "more challenging to meet the needs of the honors students."

The emphasis in THA 2240 (H) will be on theatrical "literature and writing rather than performance and production," she added.

Andrea Bonnicksen, a political science department instructor, said PLS 1003 (H), "Current Problems in Politics and Government" will require students to study political theorists.

"This will challenge the students more," Bonnicksen said.

The CAA also approved two new physical education courses, PED 1950, "Tap Dance," and PED 3460, "Soccer Coaching."

Walter Lowell, dean of the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, said PED 1950 will enable Eastern to offer students a "greater variety of dance courses."

William McCabe, physical education department chairman, said PED 3460, "Soccer Coaching" will provide students a chance to prepare to teach and coach soccer.

In other business, the CAA unanimously approved changing PED 4340, "General Principles of Exercise Physiological" from two to three credit hours.

Also, the CAA approved a revision in the physical education major. The revision will enable a physical education major, who is not receiving teaching certification, to combine his major with a minor or another major, Lowell said.

Presidential search committee endorsements

Students will receive a special ballot in addition to a student government ballot Wednesday.

This special ballot will have the names of six student candidates running for three seats on the campus presidential search committee.

As a service to our readers, The Daily Eastern News editorial board offers the following committee candidate endorsements.

Because candidate nominations were announced at Wednesday's Student Senate meeting, time did not permit the editorial board to conduct personal interviews with the candidates.

Therefore, the editorial board based its endorsements on past coverage and profile questionnaires designed to find out why the candidates think they are qualified, their knowledge of the president's duties and how the Board of Governors operates.

Some of the questions on the profile included, "What qualifications do you have which would make you a valuable member of the search committee?", "What is your knowledge of the Board of Governors?", "List three qualifications you would look for in a presidential candidate?" and "What are some of the problems Eastern's president would face?"

The question about the BOG was asked to see if committee candidates understood BOG operations and could recognize the diplomacy and communication skills necessary for a president to work well within the BOG.

We hope that you will use the following endorsements as a guide when you cast your special ballot Wednesday.

The Daily Eastern News editorial board endorses John Cole, Madeleine Doubek and Natalie Scott for positions on the search committee for the following reasons.

Cole recognizes that our next president will need to focus on higher education's financial crunch and how Eastern can continue to offer students a sound education with a budget that could decrease drastically in the future.

Cole's business-like financial approach, exhibited by his work as Student Senate financial vice president, ensures that he is looking for a president who would concentrate his efforts on Eastern's financial status while also sustaining and improving the university's academic programs.

In addition to possessing a good knowledge of the BOG, Cole also recognizes the need for Eastern's next president to keep an open line of communication with the students and that he must be a personable individual, able to work well with other high-ranking officials, faculty and students.

Like Cole, Doubek also realizes that the next president will need to have extensive budgeting and finance experience and concentrate on Eastern's financial situation.

The editorial board votes unanimously to endorse

Doubek because of her comprehensive understanding of BOG operations and because she stresses the need for Eastern's president to fight for the funding Eastern deserves.

Doubek's duties as administration editor for the News brought her in contact with President Marvin and allowed her to gain insight into the responsibilities and duties of the position.

In addition to recognizing Eastern's financial difficulties, Doubek is aware of other problems that our next president will face such as declining enrollment and civil service and faculty salary allocations.

The editorial board endorses Scott because she is committed to making sure Eastern has a president that is responsive to the students' needs. Although Scott's knowledge of the BOG is sketchy, she understands the importance of obtaining a student vote on the board. As speaker of the senate and executive vice president of Student Senate, Scott has worked toward that goal.

Scott, currently a residence hall assistant, also realizes that the next president needs to communicate well with others and fight for future funds to maintain Eastern's academic programs.

The editorial board chose not to endorse the other three candidates, Glenn Good, Matt Glover and Shernita E. Banks, for the following reasons.

Although Glover, currently Eastern's student representative to the BOG, probably has a strong understanding of the BOG he did not indicate such knowledge on his questionnaire. Instead, he just stated that he had a "good knowledge" of the BOG.

Also, as a student member of the BOG, Glover rarely spoke out at the BOG meetings and did not attempt to secure a student vote on the board.

Although he recognizes Eastern's financial plight and that the next president will need a strong budgetary background, Glover did not indicate that the president will also need to be attentive to the student voice.

Although Good and Banks also pointed out some of the main problems the next president will face, both candidates possess a limited knowledge of the BOG.

Although Good outlined the president's duties, Banks demonstrated that she did not understand the president's duties.

Your turn

Eastern's demise close

Editor:
A recent letter from Vice President Stanley Rives to deans and department chairmen mandates minimum enrollments in classes of various levels.

As an example, if you are taking a course at the freshman or sophomore level and if 20 students are not enrolled in that course by the first day of classes, that class will be canceled. This leaves you scrambling for a place in another class which will either be in the same situation or closed due to maximum enrollment. What is this going to do to your career plans? What would you do if you found yourself in this situation?

As it happens, a similar policy was instituted for summer school classes several years ago. Prior to that time Eastern had substantial enrollment in a strong, vital summer school. That summer many students were unable to find suitable classes and many faculty members were laid off.

From that point on, summer school enrollment took a nose dive. Students reasoned that it was a waste of their time to come to summer school only to find their needed courses canceled. The administration, consequently, canceled more classes and faculty positions, and the deadly downward spiral was in an uncontrollable spin. It is interesting to note that no administrators were laid off, although one administrative salary would weigh several faculty salaries.

I see this newly instituted policy as the "Johnstown Syndrome," an enforced mass suicide of the university. The scenario will be the same as the above stated summer policy: massive class cancellations, students fleeing to institutions which exhibit more stability, faculty firings and the eventual demise of Eastern.

Is this one of the reasons President Daniel E. Marvin is fleeing? After taxes, $100,000 isn't going to be significantly more than $61,000; perhaps he doesn't want to be captain of a doomed ship.

Fiscal faculty fiasco

Editor:
During the past several months I have been overhearing how faculty and teachers in general are overpaid and have it so easy. That kind of insensitive remark from the general public is annoying, but when I hear it from students it is downright intolerable.

Apparently, some students have no realistic notion of faculty salaries on campus. This is understandable given that the information, although of public domain because of the use of taxpayer funds, seems unavailable.

Well, the time has come to enlighten the campus population. Ethically I can't report other faculty salaries, but it is within my right to have my own put in print.

I am an assistant professor in psychology, teaching full time with 2½ years teaching experience and a doctorate. For this I receive $16,200 per year gross salary from the university for a nine-month contract (I really work 10½ months). Incidentally, that was my salary for last year also—our administration didn't see fit to give all university members a raise.

From that figure approximately $400 is taken out to pay health care insurance for my spouse. The university, unlike most employers, only covers the employee. Another $652.75 this academic year went for publication costs, another $51 for professional membership dues, $262 in research costs, and an estimated $916 for convention travel to present research papers.

In all, the university reimbursed me for $150 of all these costs leaving a before-taxes salary of $14,068.25. I receive a salary from no other sources and contrary to a popular misconception, we do not get paid to publish papers or present at professional conventions.

I estimate I will have realistically worked 1900 hours this academic year (Aug. 1 to June 30). That works out to $7.40 per hour before taxes are taken out.

No one is asking for any sympathy. We all choose our own occupations, however, a lot less ignorance and insensitivity about faculty riches and time off will make many instructors feel at least appreciated.

Instructors, Marvin slate symposium

 Several Eastern instructors and President Daniel E. Marvin decided to accept a request from the U.S. Commission on the Holocaust that universities pay remembrance to the Holocaust.

Marvin said, a university symposium, "Our Moral Dilemma—The Holocaust," has been scheduled for next week.

It is widely accepted that the Holocaust is more than a Jewish issue, it is thus important to everyone," Marvin said. "The issue is extremely important and will stay with us for a long time. For example, the persecution of Jews in Europe generally is something we need to be sensitive to."

History instructor Herbert Lasky and Marvin will organize the symposium, which marks the 40th anniversary of the Holocaust.

Lasky said, "We were talking about an annual symposium of moral issues, and I thought this was a good idea and something worth doing."

The Holocaust symposium, scheduled for Monday through Wednesday, will feature exhibits in Booth Library and the Tarble Arts Center. Film documentaries of the Holocaust, presented by speech-communication instructor Joe Heumann, will be presented by Marvin and guest speaker Harry Cargas.

Cargas is a literature and religion instructor at Webster University in St. Louis. He has published 22 books, six of which deal with the Holocaust.

Cargas said, "The main thing I want to get across to individuals is two-fold—one, to remember the Holocaust and two, to see it never happens to anybody again."

Poor defense hurts softballers, settle for third place

by Kathy Leahy

CARBONDALE—Eastern's softball team failed to qualify Saturday for the title game of the Southern Illinois-Carbondale Tournament by creating its own defensive misfortune head coach Deanna D'Abbraccio said.

"We just played poorly on defense," D'Abbraccio said. "And we had a lot of costly errors. That's all there was to it."

D'Abbraccio said she was disappointed with Eastern's sloppy defensive play, which accounted for 12 errors during the two-day, four-team tournament.

"I think our lack of being outside was part of it," D'Abbraccio said. "We have little experience on the bases because all the rain keeps us inside and cancels our games."

"But I'm not using that as an excuse," D'Abbraccio added. "We went out and played sloppy ball and we got beat."

Eastern, 8-5, later recovered to defeat Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference rival Southern Illinois-Carbondale 5-1 in the third-place game.

The Panthers, which compiled a 1-2 first-round record, were forced into Saturday's third-place game following its 2-0 setback to Southeast Missouri State. Senior hurler Kathy Richards, 4-2, took the loss for Eastern.

Meanwhile, Southwest Missouri, 1-5, defeated its three first-round opponents and faced Southern Illinois-Edwardsville in the tournament's title game.

In the first round, Eastern defeated Southern Illinois-Edwardsville 5-4 behind the pitching of Donna Ridgway. The victory marked the Panthers third straight over the Cougars this season.

However, Ridgway, 3-2, failed to hold off Southern Illinois-Carbondale in her second outing and suffered a 2-1 10-inning setback to the host Salukis.

Individually, Lori Conine lifted her batting average to .259 by recording four hits for the tournament. In addition, the sophomore outfielder chipped in the game-winning hit in the Panthers' third-place victory.

Senior shortstop Nancy Kassebaum increased her batting average to .455 while registering nine hits in 14 plate appearances.

Eastern will carry its 2-1 GCAC record into Monday's league contest against Indiana State at Terre Haute, Ind.

Panthers use top pitching to down Cougars

by Mike Lynch

Eastern's baseball team used some impressive pitching efforts this weekend to defeat Southern Illinois-Edwardsville twice in three outings at Monier Field.

Eastern hurlers Kevin Gordon and Bill Morton combined Sunday to no-hit the Cougars through six innings. However, in the seventh inning SIU-E tied the score at 3-3 and later won 6-3 in extra innings.

Mick Freed, Marshall Crutcher and Morton turned in top-notch mound efforts Saturday as the Panther trio held SIU-E to two runs in posting 2-1 and 4-1 wins.

"Our pitching was great this weekend, but our hitting is far below par," Eastern head coach Tom McDevitt said. "Morton, Crutcher and Freed were superb."

Eastern, 10-8, went into Sunday's game looking to duplicate Saturday's run production and jumped ahead 1-0 in the first inning.

Second basemen Steve Hall's single, followed by two walks and a hit batsman, gave Eastern the early lead.

However, the Cougars knotted the contest in the third inning without Gordon yielding a hit. The visitors instead took advantage of a walk, hit batsman, stolen base and fielder choice.

Gordon was forced to leave the game in the third inning after irritating his groin injury. Gordon was replaced by Morton who continued Eastern's impressive pitching.

Eastern bounced back in the fourth inning to regain its one-run cushion. Right fielder Neal Bertram singled and advanced to third on a sacrifice bunt and a Cougar error before scoring on Kevin Smith's fly ball.

The score remained 2-1 until the seventh inning when shortstop Jackie Baugher recorded the Cougar's first hit of the game with two out.

Baugher moved to second base and scored on a single by right fielder Tim Gamble. The Cougar run knotted the contest at 2-2.

Gamble moved to second when Morton uncorked a wild pitch and later scored the Cougars' third run on a single by designated hitter Brian Kabbes.

However, the Panthers refused to give in. Eastern tied the contest again in their half of the seventh frame. Bertram singled home Brian Jones, who had doubled, to send the game into extra innings.

Neither team could register a run until the 12th inning when, with two outs, SIU-E posted three runs. The Cougars' outburst was keyed by four consecutive hits including a two-run triple by left fielder Dave Jones.

Morton was charged with his first loss of the season and the southpaw's record dropped to 4-1. Cougar Jim Scheibal, 3-2, picked up the win in relief.

Marathon set

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's hotels were packed Sunday as thousands of runners and spectators converged on the city for the 87th Boston Marathon on what promised to be a chilly and cloudy Monday.

Greg Meyer and four-time champion Bill Rodgers are favored in the prestigious 26-mile, 385-yard race, which has attracted 6,664 entries, including about 700 women.

Rodgers, at age 35, was suffering from a cold and expected to decide late Sunday or early Monday whether to run.

Crowds flanking the course will be boosted by the closing of banks, schools, and courts for Patriot's Day, a state holiday honoring the colonists who helped cut the ties to Britain 207 years ago.

Fjelstad lifts Eastern netters past Bears

by Scott Mountford

ELSAH, Ill.—Scott Fjelstad's three-set victory over Southwest Missouri's Mike Carey lifted Eastern's men's tennis team to a 5-4 win Friday in the opening round of the Principia quadrangular.

Fjelstad gave Eastern its victory over conference member Southwest Missouri by downing Carey 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

"Scott really performed well under pressure," Eastern head coach Carl Sexton said. "His match was the key victory for us in defeating Southwest Missouri."

Rob Hopkins, Jon Tuft and Bruce Perrin also registered singles wins over Southwest Missouri. Eastern concluded its scoring with a doubles win from Jay Johnson and Hopkins.

For Eastern, its win over Southwest

Missouri gives the Panthers a chance to receive a high seed in the Association of Mid-Continent Universities championship meet April 29-30.

The Panthers return to regular-season play Monday when they host Illinois Central College at Weller Courts.

The Panthers, 13-4, also defeated host Principia College. However, Eastern dropped a 2-7 decision to the Bradley.

The Panthers had to count on the bottom half of their lineup to defeat Principia Friday in the first-round.

Mark Munie and Tuft won close matches against Principia's Deke Linquist and John Gray respectively, while Bruce Perrin notched Eastern's final singles win.

Tuft and Munie registered Eastern's initial doubles win, while Perrin and Fjelstad claimed the final doubles match for the Panthers.

"I was really pleased with the way Tuft played," Sexton said. "He came back from match point against him (Linquist) to pick up the win."

"Overall, I'd say the weekend was successful for us," Sexton said.

The Panthers were not as fortunate against Bradley. Fjelstad claimed the Panthers' lone singles win, while he and Perrin marked the team's only doubles victory.

"I can't explain what happened to us in this match," Sexton said. "Bradley had lost to Southwest Missouri and Principia, but they seemed to really put it together against us."

"I really thought the match was going to be closer, but Bradley was on top of their game and just outplayed us," he added.
