Eastern student out of hospital

By JILL JEDLOWSKI
Assoc. news editor

After spending more than two weeks in the hospital for severe injuries she suffered from a two-car collision, Eastern student Kristine Heaton has come home.

Heaton, 22, a senior sociology major from Effingham, was discharged from St. Anthony's Hospital in Effingham late Friday night, said Mark Fuesting, fiance of Kristine's mother Judy Heaton.

Fuesting said that Heaton's condition is bettering steadily, but that she tires easily and needs plenty of rest.

"Kristine requires a lot of attention," he said, "but she's improving."

Heaton was hospitalized Oct. 30 after Matthew Figgins, 17, of Stewardson, allegedly ran a stop sign and struck Heaton's car from the right side at 3:30 p.m., according to a police report.

Heaton's daughter, 3-month-old Riley Pullen, also was in the car and transported to St. Anthony's Hospital. Shortly thereafter, Riley was flown to St. Louis Children's Hospital, where she died at 10:10 p.m.

Heaton suffered internal injuries, including a severely lacerated liver for which she had to undergo emergency surgery. Doctors induced a coma to immobilize Heaton to ensure the safest surgery possible. Heaton's gall bladder and appendix were also removed during the surgery.

Buzzard almost complete; departments ready to move

By HEATHER CYGAN
Campus editor

Buzzard Hall renovations are in their final stages and the journalism and early childhood, elementary education and middle level education departments will soon move in.

The journalism department will be moving in Wednesday or Thursday, said Les Hyder, chair of the journalism department, "if everything goes as planned."

The entire journalism department will be moved in to the southeast side of the second floor after Thanksgiving, except for Student Publications advisers, who will move in sometime in January, Hyder said.

The department will be "relieved when we get moved," Hyder said. He said the movers are pretty efficient and should have the department moved in "half a day or so."

The departments were moved out of Buzzard two years ago, both Hyder and Carol Helwig, chair of the early childhood, elementary and middle level education department, said. Helwig said her department is very anxious to pack.

Although the moving will cause hassles and inconveniences during classes, the faculty has been "handling it very well," Hyder said.

So far the faculty has not complained, but has shown frustrations, Hyder said. He added that it is difficult to find boxes and time as well as stay with teaching and their services.

The facility will contain new furniture and computers for the faculty, new furniture, computers and chairs for the classrooms and the latest versions of software, Hyder said.

The new office will be "better organized and therefore more efficient," Hyder said. In addition, faculty relationships will be better enhanced since they will all be

Student bouncers 'socialize' their way through college

By HEATHER CYGAN
Campus editor

Checking IDs, rejecting admittance, standing around and talking to friends are not the typical job requirements - unless you are a bouncer at a bar.

Eric Hansen, a junior physical education major and a bouncer at Stix Restaurant and Banquet Facility, said being a bouncer is a decent job because he is able to visit with people while working. He said he has worked at Stix for seven months.

Drew Danalewich, a junior secondary education major and Stix bouncer, said he agreed the best part about this job is "it's fun and you still get to be social."

Danalewich has been a bouncer at Stix for 10 months and said "it's fun because the people who work here are great."

A bouncer checks peoples IDs to make sure they are 21-years-old and then checks the name on the ID to ensure it is not on the banned list, Hansen said. The banned list is made up of names of individuals who have started unnecessary trouble within the bar, he said.

After people clear all checks, they receive a hand stamp that allows them to drink and come and go as they please. They are not able to leave the bar with containers of any kind, Hansen added.

Hansen said bouncers must watch the floor at all times and pay attention to who comes in and out of the bar.

"Police do raid occasionally, but they never have while I'm working," Hansen said.

Not many problems are started in the bar, Hansen said. Occasionally, they have "problems with people who are too drunk that don't want to leave," Hansen said. He said fights usually occur during bigger events, such as Homecoming.

About one or two people are escorted out on the weekends, said Dave Ford, a senior finance major and Stix bouncer.

There are not many fights and everything is handled pretty well," said Bryan Cassidy, a Stix restaurant bar manager.

◆ COIN WAR

The four departmental clubs of the Physical Science Building will be raising money for the Charleston Food Pantry on Nov. 17 and 18.

The physics, psychology, geo science and chemistry clubs will be holding "Coin War II: The Penny is Mightier than the Sword."

Each club will have containers where donations can be placed. Pennies are positive points and other amounts are negative points. The amount of points is denoted by the coin's face value.

The club with the most positive points will be declared the winner. Last year, the clubs raised over $120.

Prisoner's freedom flight ends in Detroit hospital

DETROIT (AP) — China's most prominent pro-democracy campaigner was freed on medical parole Sunday after nearly 18 years in prison and flown to the United States, where he was hospitalized immediately.

Wei Jingsheng, first arrested in March 1979 during the crackdown on the Democracy Wall movement, suffers from heart problems, high blood pressure and other ailments made worse during his prison term.

After his arrival at Detroit Metropolitan Airport Sunday morning, the 47-year-old Wei was admitted to Henry Ford Hospital, hospital spokeswoman Meg Leonard said.

Wei was in fair but stable condition Sunday evening, said Dr.

Thomas C. Royer, chief medical officer. He was being treated for hypertension and being evaluated for other problems.

"We're pleased Mr. Wei was able to walk into the hospital without assistance," Royer said. "We are conducting further tests, and in the meantime are assisting him in getting much-needed rest."

Royer declined to answer questions, saying the hospital was honoring Wei's request for privacy. Leonard said Wei could be released from the hospital as early as Monday.

Siblings Wei Ling and Wei Xiaotao said in Beijing that their brother had been unable to get adequate treatment in a Chinese prison.

Since last year, Wei had been placed under 24-hour watch in a cell with two glass walls and a light that was never switched off, said his sister, Wei Ling.

"If Wei Jingsheng stayed in jail, he'd be in danger because he's in such bad shape," Liu Qing, a friend of Wei's who came to greet him at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, said through a translator.

Poll shows mixed view of racisms

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly 9 out of 10 black teenagers said racism has little impact on their day-to-day lives, according to a Time-CNN poll released Sunday.

But the survey also found more than half of all teen-agers — 62 percent of blacks and 58 whites — believe racism is "a big problem." Specifically asked about racism in their own lives, 89 percent of black teen-agers said racism was "a small problem" or "not a problem at all." When asked about discrimination, 23 percent of black teen-agers, compared with 16 percent of whites, said they had been victimized because of their race. More than half of black adults — 53 percent — and 20 percent of white adults said they had been victims of discrimination.

"Teen-agers are a mirror of our souls," sociologist and author Howard Pinderhughes told Time. "They speak plainly about things that adults would like to hide. Political correctness isn't an issue to them."

The poll is part of a story called "Kids and Race" in the Nov. 24 issue of Time, which will be on newsstands on Monday. It was conducted between Sept. 23 and Oct. 2 by Yankelovich Partners, which surveyed 816 white adults, 374 black adults, 301 white teen-agers and 300 black teen-agers. The margin of error ranged from 3.4 percent to 5.6 percent.

More than half of all teen-agers — 55 percent of whites, 64 percent of blacks — favor colleges reserving scholarships exclusively for minorities and women, the poll said.

The poll also said one in eight white teens and one in nine blacks heard their parents say something negative about another race.

changes and fresh wound dressings from nurses twice a day, as well as constant care and support from her fiancé (Eastern student Tony Pullen) and her mother, Fuesting said.

Not only is Heaton under orders to receive plenty of rest, but she also must take time each day to rebuild the strength in her legs by walking around the house, Fuesting said.

"Everybody is in the realization that we have a long, hard time of recuperation ahead of us," Fuesting said.

Along with the physical convalescence Heaton is enduring is the extreme emotional trauma she has experienced with the loss of her only child, Fuesting said.

"She's just got a lot of emotions to go through," he said.

Fuesting explained that Heaton's mother kept the multiple flower arrangements from Riley's funeral (which Heaton was unable to attend because she was still in a coma) and placed them around the house for Heaton to see when she came home Friday. Sunday, Heaton started looking through the hundreds of cards sent to the family.

"She can only look for 10 or 15 minutes and then she just can't do it anymore," Fuesting said.

He said that although Heaton has a "long road to recovery" ahead of her, they are optimistic that she will recuperate 100 percent.

"She's had an amazing recovery since I saw her that Thursday (Oct.

30)," Fuesting said. "We're hanging tight and sticking together, pulling for Kristine."

"She's someone we almost lost, and now she's back home," he said. "When she came home, there were tons and tons of smiles."

A fund has been set up in Heaton's name at the Washington Savings Bank in Effingham to help with medical expenses. Donations can be directly deposited or sent to the bank, 200 S. Banker St., Effingham 62401.

In addition, the Red Cross is dedicating a blood drive to Heaton on Nov. 18 at Kirlin's Store in the Village Square Mall. From 1 to 6 p.m., all blood received during the drive, which is sponsored by Papa John's Pizza in Effingham, will be donated in Heaton's name.

together, he said, and it will be easier for the students to see their advisers as well.

Classes will start in Buzzard Hall on Jan. 12, the first day of spring semester 1998, for all departments.

On Dec. 15 the department of early childhood, elementary and middle level education will move in to Buzzard Hall "only when everything is ready for us," Helwig said. "Every day is a new venture."

The department is anxiously anticipating the move because "they will have more space, up-to-date computers and appropriate furniture," Helwig said.

The new facility will be more "technologically literate," Helwig said. Classrooms will have state-of-the-art technology as well as the auditoriums and offices, she said. There will be new computer labs as well.

Each department's move into Buzzard Hall will be staggered, Helwig said. This move in will be very convenient because the child education department has one telephone, one computer and one file cabinet per three people in each room, she said.

When these problems occur, the bouncers will politely ask the individual to leave.

People who ignore their requests do so "because the person thinks he has a right to be there although he does not," Hansen said. He said the person is then escorted out of the bar.

Bouncers also must get more beer from the cooler when the bartenders run out, Danalewich said. The "bartenders tip you on how fast you move," Danalewich said. "It's a lot harder than it looks," Ford said.

About five to six bouncers work in the bar on weekends and about two to three are there on weekdays.

The downside of this job is after the bar closes at 1 a.m., the bouncers help clean up for an hour to an hour and a half, Hansen said. He said clean up goes as follows: make sure everyone is out of the bar, lock the doors, take out the garbage, sweep and mop the floors, clean the bathrooms and make sure the bar is full for the following day.

Another inconvenience of the job is "the late nights throw off your sleeping pattern," Danalewich said.

The fact that you can't smoke on the job and you're always busy is also a downside, Danalewich added.

Senate eyes shuttle service

Buses may provide students transportation around Charleston

By AMY THON
Student government editor

The Student Senate is working on a shuttle service that may improve transportation around Eastern and the Charleston community.

Student Vice President for Public Affairs Ruthie Rundle said research is being done to see how other schools have implemented the shuttle service.

Schools who currently have a shuttle service and are of comparable size to Eastern include Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and Northern Illinois University.

Rundle said Eastern President David Jorns originated the idea and wanted the senate to investigate the service to see if it would be a possibility at Eastern.

"We're looking at a shuttle that would possible run to Carman, Greek Court, Lincolnwood Pine Tree apartments and possibly the square," Rundle said. "It would run to these different spots all day to reach a broad range of students."

Additional stops for the shuttle may include Wal-Mart, and possibly the bus station in Mattoon. Rundle said she is still researching which stops would be used by students the most.

"We need to know what will be more beneficial to students," Rundle said.

Another concern Rundle has with the plan is the cost and whether students would be willing to pay for the shuttle.

"The start up will be high, I imagine," Rundle said. "We need to know if students are willing to pay an increase in fees for this."

Rundle said the idea has been tried before but was abandoned because the students did not seem to think it was necessary.

"I'm really at a feedback point," Rundle said.

Student to act as mayor for a day

By AMY THON
Student government editor

One Eastern student Tuesday will be given the opportunity to see what it is like to fill the shoes of Charleston Mayor Dan Coughill.

The program, "A Day in the Life of the Mayor's Office" was an idea Ruthie Rundle, student vice president for public affairs, came up with after the success of last year's program, "A Day in the Life of the President." The program was held last spring and allowed a student to see what Eastern President David Jorns' job really entailed.

Rundle said because last year's program was a success, that prompted her to try this year's program.

"I hope it will be just as effective," Rundle said.

Senate member Keith Cosentino said he wants the program to help Eastern students understand how the local government operates.

"I hope it will give a greater awareness to Eastern students on what goes on with Charleston city officials," Cosentino said.

"The purpose is to give an Eastern student the opportunity to get a hands-on approach to local government."

- Ruthie Rundle, student vice president for public affairs

Rundle said the goal of the program is to improve communication between Eastern students and the Charleston community and also let students see for themselves how local government runs.

"The purpose is to give an Eastern student the opportunity to get a hands-on approach to local government," Rundle said.

Rundle also is hoping the student can then serve as a link between the Charleston community and Eastern's campus.

The program was open to anyone and senate members went to their RSOs to tell students about the opportunity. Senate members also received the names of interested students and the winner was chosen out of a hat Friday.

Rundle said the only requirement for the program is that the student be willing to share what they learned with the Eastern campus.

Rundle is hoping for a positive experience that will enhance communications and relationships between the community and campus.

The agenda of the day will involve shadowing the mayor, City Manager Paul Nicholson and other city officials. Rundle said other possibilities may include a tour of the town hall and the Charleston jail.

Rundle talked with Nicholson in the beginning of the semester and he was interested in the program.

"(Nicholson) made it very clear to me he wanted to be involved with the students and wanted students to be involved with the community," Rundle said.

He also said he wanted to foster good communication.

"(Nicholson) was really willing to work with us," Rundle said.

Judge says state must release more information in Bickers' case

By JAIME HODGE
City editor

A judge ruled Friday that the State's Attorney Steve Ferguson must provide Mike Bickers' attorney with more information on the obscenity charges against him so that Bickers may further prepare his defense.

Bickers is charged with obscenity because of alleged acts performed at Capone's, an adult entertainment establishment located at 1100 18th St.

Judge Theresa Righter said while

Ferguson did provide the information in the Bill of Particulars to Tom Glasson, Bickers' attorney, more information was needed to prepare an adequate defense for Bickers. In the original Bill of Particulars, Glasson asked only for the location, date and time of the obscenity charges filed against Bickers.

"Nothing has been provided by the state to tell us what forms the basis of this charge," Glasson said.

Among the evidence that Glasson wants in order to better defend Bickers is a videotape of the allegedly obscene acts and a transcript of grand jury proceedings. Glasson said Bickers is entitled to these pieces of evidence because of the danger of a one-year imprisonment and hefty fine that Bickers could face if convicted. Glasson requested that Righter either have the State's Attorney's office provide more information or have the case dismissed.

The court would require a supplemental Bill of Particulars to further explain what obscene acts Bickers allegedly committed to be given to the defense.

Righter also ruled the state was not required to provide the grand jury's transcripts or videotape that was taken without Bickers' knowledge at Capone's.

Ferguson said he provided the information requested in the Bill of Particulars which included only the date, time and place of the offenses. He said he would have complied before Friday's hearing. However, the defense was not entitled to get the videotape and grand jury transcripts under state law.

The State's Attorney's office has until Nov. 26 to comply with the court's wishes. Jury trial call has been set for Dec. 2.

UB shouldn't limit its moneymaking hopes to Bill Cosby

Whether they admit it or not, many students look forward to finding out who might be headlining the spring concert, reaching back to memories of They Might Be Giants, Hootie and the Blowfish, Toad the Wet Sprocket and Blind Melon.

Many students are upset to hear that because a few of Eastern's recent concerts have lost too much money, the University Board is eying the possibility of not having a spring concert this year. To clamber out of this financial rut, the UB is looking to secure a three-year, $20,000 loan that would come out of extra student activity fees.

Much of the UB's hope to get back on its feet is riding on Bill Cosby, who is lined up to perform for next October's Family Weekend. Cosby is a fine gamble, as UB members note, because in both of his previous appearances at Eastern, he sold out and the UB made a profit. But the UB must go further than Plan A.

Unlike most other UB events, which are funded by student fees, concerts are set up to be self-sufficient. To set ticket prices, UB members figure out how much they expect a show to cost, and then they estimate how many people will attend. If that many people buy tickets, the concert is paid for. If the UB does not sell as many tickets as expected, then that concert's budget falls into the red.

The UB had built up a surplus from past concerts that had not only broken even but made a profit. However, last year's Family Weekend act, the Doobie Brothers, took a big dent out of that surplus, and the UB needed Aretha Franklin to turn a profit this year in order to replenish that surplus. To the UB's surprise, she didn't. In fact, the UB needs the rest of its surplus plus the loan to make up for the loss it took.

Even if Cosby's appearance next year brings the UB's concert budget over the hump, the organization still will return to where it was, perhaps a couple poor concert draws away from losing money again. The UB needs to assess its programming as a whole to pinpoint the areas where it can gain some smaller in addition to the apparent cash heap it expects to rake in from Bill Cosby.

Helping out the family of Susan Stephens

Recently, we at the University Board lost one of our coordinators, Susan Stephens, to cancer.

Susan can be most recognized for her work with the University Board graphic arts department. Susan, along with the others on the graphics committee, was responsible for bringing the Eastern population well-known logos such as the Quakin' the Quad logo and most recently the Names Project Memorial AIDS Quilt logo.

Susan was also well known for her current position as the display promotion coordinator and for her previous positions on the University Board as special events coordinator and summer programmer, all of which she put her heart and soul into.

Susan was responsible for designing other UB projects such as the covers for the Eventsful calendar and programming series posters. Susan's latest project was designing this year's "New Student Record" for incoming freshmen.

Susan's work did not just end with the University Board. She was also a designer for advertisements that were placed in The Daily Eastern News and doing other graphic arts projects for other groups on campus such as the Latino Heritage Month poster. Susan was a graphic design major and very well known by students and teachers in the art department.

TOM RYAN
Guest columnist

"I would like to give something back to Susan's family for all that she has given us throughout the years."

I would like to give something back to Susan's family for all that she has given us throughout the years. I'm sure you're aware of the tremendous costs and financial strain a serious disease like this can cause. Therefore, I would like to start a collection on campus to be donated (in Eastern's name) to the family of Susan Stephens. Donations can be dropped off in mailbox No. 1 in the Student Activities Office, located on the second floor of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union. Personal checks can also be made out to Jim and Bonnie Stephens.

Also, we will take up a collection at the Student Senate meeting at 7 p.m. on Wednesday in the Arcola/Tuscola Room of the union. Please stop by during the student-participation segment of the meeting, which takes in the beginning; please bring your donations.

I would like to thank all of the students who have stopped by the office and said a kind word about Susan, and I would especially like to thank all of the students who helped me put together this wonderful memorial to Susan.

— Tom Ryan is the chair of the University Board, a student organization that sponsors concerts, lectures and other entertainment activities at Eastern. For further information about the collection for Susan Stephens, those interested may contact 581-5117 or 581-7675 by phone or cutr5@pen.eiu.edu by e-mail.

Letters against LGBAU and Coming Out Day really missed the point

To the editor:

The authors of the letters denouncing the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Allies Union and National Coming Out Day are quite ignorant of the purpose of this day and of the intentions of the LGBAU itself.

I would like to point out, however, that I respect the right of each of these individuals to voice his opinion, however misinformed it may be. I can respect anyone's opinion so long as it does not lead to an action that is detrimental to the well being of another person or group.

I do not believe, as Mr. Layette would like to suggest, that his views are being suppressed. To the contrary, he expressed his homophobic views quite well through the conscious decision not to wear jeans on Oct. 9, as well as through his recent letter.

As for Mr. Burns, he stated that LGBAU members "are constantly complaining" and that "they condemn people for expressing their opinion." To this, I would first like to reply that I have not yet seen a letter to the editor from a fellow LGBAU member. Those who have written in so far are not a part of our organization, to my knowledge. Secondly, I would like to ask: Who is really complaining and condemning your turn

people here? The LGBAU and its supporters? I don't think so.

In response to Mr. Burns question, "Why did they pick blue jeans to single out their supporters?" — think about it. It's obvious that we weren't trying to single out ourselves or our supporters. That would be useful to show our presence, but it would not gauge the true level of homophobia that pervades this campus.

Instead, we chose to give all those "normal" people, such as Mr. Corrigan, the opportunity to show everyone else that they are homophobic enough to disassociate themselves from the rest of their fellow students. For someone who doesn't "believe in gay bashing," Mr. Corrigan, you certainly did a decent amount of it in your letter. This is what I find truly "pathetic" and "disgusting." As to equating yourself with the "typical heterosexual male," I know many heterosexual males who would not appreciate the comparison. You close your letter by stating, "if it weren't for heterosexual people like myself, you wouldn't be here right now!" Thank you for that brilliant observation! You seem to think that we are heterophobic, or that we are on some crusade to convert the population to homosexuality. I find that idea quite absurd.

We are not trying to "force" a way of life on anyone. Sexual orientation is a trait that is unique to each individual, and one that should be respected just as any other human trait. Like my eye or hair color, I could hide or mask what is really underneath. This doesn't change who I am inside.

The only "choice" I have is whether or not to live my life openly. National Coming Out Day gives each gay person the opportunity to come out from under the burden of lies and shame that are heaped upon us by homophobes in our society. All we are asking is to be treated equally and to be protected from discrimination. What is so "appalling" about that?

Faculty Senate to learn status of Eastern's fundraising

By JUSTIN KMITCH
Administration editor

The Faculty Senate Tuesday will be informed of the progress of the Eastern's fundraising.

The senate will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the BOG Room of Booth Library.

Jim Hanna, the chief advancement officer of development, will report to the senate of the status of the Foundation.

"We still have the zoology/botany merger motion that was tabled last week, but I don't know if that will come up," said Joan Schmidt, senate secretary.

The senate Tuesday tabled a motion to recommend to Eastern's president and vice president for academic affairs that the botany department remain an independent unit within the College of Sciences.

Under the School of Biological Sciences Reorganization Plan, the zoology and botany departments will be combined to form the School of Biological Sciences.

The plan has raised concerns of the botany and zoology department chairs and faculty members of both departments.

According to the plan, the goal of consolidation is to seek the best way to integrate faculty groups and prepare the next generation of students.

Seminar to help students graduate in four years

By LAUREN KRAFT
Activities editor

The secrets to graduating from Eastern in four years will be revealed tonight during a "first year experience" program.

Carman Hall Resident Assistants Danielle Mackovitch, Jerome Graham and Michele Cogozzo will host a 40-minute interactive workshop as part of the Housing and Dining Service's "first year experience" programs.

The workshop will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Carman Hall Dining Center.

The workshop will focus on the basic skills needed to acquire a college degree in four years.

This free program will teach students the essential elements of college survival including study habits, note taking, test taking, time management and goal achievement.

Mackovitch said she hopes students who attend the program will leave feeling more secure about their goals and how to achieve them.

Students will prepare a personal mission statement which Mackovitch said is intended to help students learn more about their goals in life.

"When students know (their goals), they are more likely to achieve them," she said.

Mackovitch plans to help students graduate in four years by teaching daily, weekly and yearly goals setting. She will have students write down their goals on a daily basis in order promote better habits.

All students are welcome, although Mackovitch stressed this would be most helpful to freshmen students just entering college.

Iraq prepares for military action

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraq ordered Baghdad hospitals to evacuate non-emergency patients Sunday in preparation for a possible U.S. air attack over Saddam Hussein's refusal to comply with U.N. weapons inspections.

Thousands of Iraqi civilians, meanwhile, flocked to Saddam's palaces in Baghdad and industrial installations around the capital to join other people serving as human shields.

The United States on Sunday pressed forward with its military buildup, sending the aircraft carrier USS George Washington through the Suez Canal toward the Persian Gulf.

Kuwait and Syria, which supported strikes against Iraq during the 1991 Persian Gulf War, said they were opposed to the use of force in the current standoff, which began on Oct. 29 when Iraq decided to expel American weapons inspectors working for the United Nations.

"We do not support any military action against Iraq," said Kuwait's foreign minister, Sabah al-Ahmed al-Sabah.

Kuwait usually is unsparing in its criticism of Iraq, which invaded the emirate in 1990, triggering the Gulf War.

At the end of the 1991 war, the United Nations ordered Iraq to destroy its weapons of mass destruction and sent in a multinational team of inspectors to monitor Iraqi compliance.

Last month, Iraq asserted that the American inspectors were spies intent on prolonging U.N. economic sanctions imposed after the Kuwait invasion. Though the Security Council warned of consequences if Iraq expelled the monitors, Iraq went ahead with the move Thursday, deepening fears of a military strike.

Richard Butler, the chief U.N.

weapons inspector, warned in an interview with CNN that Iraq could resume building biological weapons within a week.

In Baghdad, fuel rationing forced U.N. monitors overseeing an oil-for-food program to halt their work Sunday. The monitors, who were unable to drive to work, said they expect to send teams out Monday after they secure fuel supplies.

The tightly monitored program allows Iraq to sell $2 billion in oil for six months in exchange for food and other humanitarian goods.

Iraq, fearing the United States might target oil refineries and storage tanks in the event of a military strike, announced Saturday it was introducing gasoline rationing.

U.S. seeks support from Arab nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the outward opposition of Arab countries to a military strike against Iraq, the White House is confident the Arabs won't stand in the way of any U.S. action, President Clinton's top security adviser said Sunday.

Sandy Berger said that in any case, the United States is ready to go it alone if necessary.

The Arab nations, National Security Adviser Berger said on NBC's "Meet the Press," understand the threat posed by Iraqi President Saddam Hussein. "In the end of the day, they are not going to impede our ability to do what's necessary," Berger said.

The administration campaigned hard among allies over the weekend for support of strong sanctions, and possibly military retaliation, against Iraq for expelling American members of the U.N. weapons inspection team.

President Clinton on Saturday spoke to Russia's Boris Yeltsin, France's Jacques Chirac and Britain's Tony Blair, urging a united voice in confronting Iraq. Secretary of State Madeleine Albright has been making the same pitch in a tour of Persian Gulf states and with the Russian foreign minister, Yevgeny Primakov.

While support has been solid for stronger U.N. sanctions against the Baghdad government, France, Russia and the Arabs have resisted the idea of militarily punishing Saddam for his latest challenge to U.N. resolutions approved after the 1991 Gulf War.

Foreign Minister Sabah al-Ahmed al-Sabah of Kuwait, which Saddam occupied to spark the war, said Sunday his country does not support military action. The Kuwaiti cabinet issued a statement urging a diplomatic solution "so that the area could be spared the dangers of tension and instability, and the Iraqi people would not be subjected to more misery and suffering."

Students to get dose of healing

By LAUREN KRAFT and REAGAN BRANHAM Staff editors

A speaker will discuss how Native American herbal healing remedies are used as an alternative to seeing a doctor for illnesses.

Tammy Leonard will speak from 7 to 8:30 p.m. tonight in the Charleston/Mattoon Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union about natural herbs and healing herbs that Native Americans introduced to North America.

Roger Fontana also will be speaking with Leonard.

Leonard, who is Cherokee, said she wants to offer information about alternative healing remedies that are still being used by many people instead of seeing a doctor.

"There is an interest for this out there, something to think about other than running to a doctor," she said.

Leonard will teach students how to use herbs such as rosehips and mint teas that she grows at home to help with anything from the common cold to preventing illnesses and boosting the immune system.

She said she grew up using the herbal remedies and has only gone to the doctor for severe illnesses and broken bones.

The herbal remedies also can be used for pets rather than taking them to the veterinarian.

Leonard said she began experimenting herself with herbs 18 years ago while backpacking over 20 states and researching roadside plants.

She wanted something to heal herself in case something happened to her while she was backpacking.

The event is being held in conjunction with Native American Heritage Month.

Countdown begins for dual execution

CHICAGO (AP) — Durlynn Eddmonds raped and smothered a little boy. Walter Stewart killed two men in a jewelry store robbery.

Both men are scheduled to meet the same fate a half hour apart early Wednesday, when — barring any successful last-minute appeals — they will be strapped to gurneys at Stateville Correctional Center, wheeled into a small room and injected with lethal drugs.

It would be the second double execution in Illinois since the U.S. Supreme Court reinstated the death penalty in 1976, and would bring to 10 the total number of executions in the state since then.

About two decades have passed since Eddmonds, 45, and Stewart, 42, committed the crimes that landed them on Death Row.

It was the early morning of Oct. 27, 1977, when Eddmonds, then 25, saw 9-year-old Richard Miller covered in blood and feces in the alley below Eddmonds' Chicago apartment. Richard had just been raped by two men, and Eddmonds summoned the boy upstairs, court records show.

Eddmonds, who had three prior rape convictions, cleaned the boy with a wet cloth and toilet paper, laid a sheet of plastic on the bed and began to sodomize him. The weight of Eddmonds' body smothered Richard.

Colts capture first win at the hands of Green Bay

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis Colts finally found a team they could beat and it turned out to be the defending Super Bowl champions.

Cary Blanchard kicked a 20-yard field goal as time expired to give the Colts a 41-38 victory over the Green Bay Packers on Sunday. It was the Colts' first victory this season but the third game-winning field goal by Blanchard against a defending Super Bowl champion in three years.

"At the end, I was kind of thinking on the sideline, 'Get me a little closer, a little closer, run the time down,'" Blanchard said.

With the Colts lined up at the Packers' 3-yard line, the game-winner was nothing more than an extra-point kick, a gimme.

"I'm not going to miss an extra point. I've never missed an extra point," Blanchard said.

The Colts (1-10) moved 72 yards in the final 5:19 after Green Bay (8-3) tied the game 38-38 on Brett Favre's second touchdown pass to Antonio Freeman.

Paul Justin, who passed for a career-high 340 yards, completed four straight passes on the winning drive. His 27- and 28-yarders to Ken Dilger took the Colts to the Packers 1 with just under two minutes to go. Instead of trying for a touchdown, Justin dropped to his knee on three straight plays, forcing Green Bay to use its last time out and running the clock down to three seconds.

Blanchard, whose field goals beat San Francisco two years ago and Dallas last year, then kicked the game-winner as time ran out.

The Colts stormed onto the field in celebration.

"We decided to kneel on the ball. The way our luck has been going this year, we could have fumbled the ball. You just never know what is going to happen," said Justin, starting in place of injured Jim Harbaugh for the third time this season.

Only three other teams, Houston, the Los Angeles Rams and San Diego, have beaten a defending Super Bowl champion three years in a row.

"We showed today we're not an 0-10 football team," Blanchard said "This is a big load off the players, the fans, everybody.

Everybody in that locker room believed we could win." Favre passed for 363 yards and three touchdowns, but he had three big turnovers that led to 17 points by the Colts.

"It's tough to lose any game," Favre said. "I tip my hat off to the Colts. I knew there was no team in this league that could go without a win. Unfortunately, it was against us.

"This is no excuse for losing. We felt we should have won. We put up a lot of points ... we just didn't get the job done." Indianapolis led 28-27 at the half, but an interception by Quentin Coryatt set up a 35-yard field goal by Blanchard. That put the Colts back on top 30-28 late in the third quarter.

Turnovers kill Bears, record drops to 1-10

CHICAGO (AP) — Otis Smith, beaten and picked on by quarterbacks all season, wouldn't be bullied Sunday by the Chicago Bears.

The Jets cornerback made two interceptions, returning one for a 38-yard touchdown, and caused a third by tipping a pass as New York beat the woeful Bears 23-15 Sunday to stay on top in the AFC East.

The Jets (7-4) survived the loss of starting quarterback Glenn Foley, who was sacked and forced out early in the second quarter with injuries to his left leg.

Neil O'Donnell replaced him and wasn't especially effective, going just 4-of-12. But it didn't matter. The Jets led 23-0 at the half and their defense made four interceptions, five sacks and a fumble recovery on a frigid day at Soldier Field.

The Bears (1-10), who attempted a club-record 65 passes, scored in the third quarter and appeared ready to get back in the game.

But the Jets turned them away from inside the 15 three times in the fourth quarter without points before Erik Kramer hit Ricky Proehl on a 5-yard scoring pass with 30 seconds to go.

The Bears' play in the first half was simply embarrassing and they heard the boos from bundled-up Soldier Field, where the wind-chill factor beginning the second half was minus-5 and where there were 21,301 no-shows in the 66,944-seat stadium. By the end most had gone home, but some who remained chanted for the removal of coach Dave Wannstedt.

In addition to four first-half interceptions and a fumble, the Bears got off an 18-yard punt and missed a short field goal.

Smith was picked on last week by Miami's Dan Marino and had been beaten for six touchdown passes this season entering the game.

But he picked off Bears backup Steve Stenstrom's pass and took it 38 yards, giving the Jets a 23-0 lead in the second quarter. He also tipped a pass that led to the first of two interceptions by teammate Victor Green.

Kramer, who completed 32 of 60 passes for 354 yards, was intercepted three times in the first half, the first two setting up the Jets' first 10 points.

Ravens, Eagles play in first tie since 1989

BALTIMORE (AP) — Both teams called it a loss, which is entirely appropriate because neither Baltimore nor Philadelphia played well enough to win.

The Eagles and Ravens played 75 minutes and managed only one touchdown apiece Sunday in a 10-10 tie, the first in the NFL since 1989.

The Ravens (4-6-1) wasted nine sacks, converted only three of 15 third-down plays and lost a 10-3 lead in the final four minutes of regulation.

"It's a loss, because now our chances of making the playoffs are pretty dim," said Baltimore defensive end Michael McCrary, who had three sacks. "That's what we were fighting for. It's a loss for us; there's no other alternative to winning."

The Eagles (4-6-1) made only three first downs in the first half, managed 63 yards on the ground and botched a chance to win when Chris Boniol's 40-yard field goal attempt sailed wide right as overtime expired.

The kick came after Baltimore's Matt Stover was wide right on a 53-yard attempt with 2:21 left in the extra period.

"We had a chance to win it and fell short. A tie is just like a loss to me," Eagles linebacker William Thomas said.

"Today we didn't get it done," Philadelphia coach Ray Rhodes said. "We battled to stay in the game and kept fighting to tie it up. We had one chance to win and didn't do it."

Baltimore rookie Jay Graham, substiting for the injured Bam Morris, had 154 yards on 35 carries before leaving with an ankle injury halfway through the overtime. Morris was a late scratch because of an ankle injury.

"It's like a loss. What does a tie do?" Graham said.

At least there were a few positives for the Eagles — third-string quarterback Bobby Hoying, making his first NFL start, was 26-for-38 for 276 yards.

Irish on rebound with 24-6 LSU victory

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Finally, everyone else can see what Notre Dame coach Bob Davie has known for the past few weeks.

After one of their most dismal starts in decades, his Irish (5-5) have turned into a pretty good team.

"There comes a point where you can keep talking about how much improvement you've made, but you've got to line up and do it," Davie said Sunday. "You've got to be able to go win a football game like that to prove to people you've made that kind of improvement." It wasn't just that Notre Dame beat LSU 24-6 on Saturday.

It was the way the Irish won that made it their most significant victory since knocking off then-No. 1 Florida State four years ago. They came into Death Valley, one of the toughest places in the country to play, and completely shut down LSU.

The loss dropped the Tigers (7-3) nine spots to No. 20 in this week's Associated Press poll.

Notre Dame scored on its first three possessions, and finished with 260 yards rushing. The Irish defense, which could barely stop a Pop Warner team a few weeks ago, held the nation's fifth-best running offense to just 121 yards rushing. Kevin Faulk gained 105 yards rushing, but his longest run was only 14 yards. The Irish also picked off three passes, one of which set up a Notre Dame touchdown.

By the time the game ended, the Tiger faithful had scattered and the Irish fans were boogying in the Bayou.

Swim teams split at home meet

By MATT WILSON
Associate sports editor

The Eastern women's swim team was down six points to Western Illinois going into the final event, the 200-yard freestyle.

The women finished one-two in the event, which gave them a 125-118 victory. The men were not as successful as the women, as they fell to the Leathernecks 151-86.

Amanda Dore, Andrea Peters, NelliRose Farella and Stephanie Freer took first-place honors in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:39.82. Taking second place with a time of 1:44.79 was the Lady Panther team of Jessica Stowell, Brooke Uttersee, Erin Williamson and Christine Przybylski.

This was not the only event that the Eastern women finished one-two in. In the 50-yard freestyle, Nancy Williams came away victorious with a time of 25.15, while teammate Freer took second-place honors with a time of 25.28.

Freer also took second-place honors in the 100-yard freestyle, swimming for a time of 55.60. Coming away with the victory in the event was Dore with a time of 53.94.

In the 200-yard backstroke, Lady Panther Bizzy Burke gave Eastern another first place finish with a time of 2:17.03. Eastern also took second place in the event, as Julie File swam the event in 2:20.21.

Western got revenge on the men's side of the meet, beating Eastern by 65 points. Even with the loss, there were some good performances by Eastern swimmers.

"We had a good meet and had some good swims," senior Doug Habben said. "Patrick Johnson did a good job in the 200 IM and Luke Porritt did well in the 200 fly. There is still some stuff we need to work on, but overall our team is getting better."

The men were led by Johnson, who took first-place honors in two events. In the 200-yard backstroke, Johnson came out victorious with a time of 1:59.75. Johnson also won the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:04.13.

Eastern also had a good performance from Porritt in the 200-yard butterfly. He won the event with a time of 2:02.38, less than a second ahead of Western's nearest competitor.

The final winner for the men was Habben, who came out victorious in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 49.46. Teammate Grant Ferhaluk took second-place honors in the event with a time of 50.50.

Habben said he still would like to get his times even lower.

"I did good in the 100-free, but I would still like to drop my time in the 200-free. Part of the reason for this is because I did not have that much practice this week. I have to work harder before the next meets against Northeastern Illinois and Millikin."

Habben said the absence of one swimmer will make it harder in the next meets.

"The loss of Drew Shepardson will hurt us for a few meets," he said. "He is a key swimmer and not having him in there will really hurt the swimmers. He has a big influence on the swimmers and it's nice to have him around to motivate the swimmers."

digs and with three block assists and Blackwell led the team with 16 digs while adding eight kills and three service aces.

"We stayed in command the whole match," Ralston said.

Eastern finished the regular season with a record of 19-13 overall and secured fifth place in the conference with the win over Eastern Kentucky.

The Lady Panthers could get boosted to fourth place if Tennessee State upsets Austin Peay in tomorrow's match.

Eastern will enter the OVC tournament this Friday, facing conference foe Austin Peay. The Lady Panthers have not beaten Austin Peay in their two tries this season, but hopes to overcome them to advance further in the tournament.

"It's time to beat the teams we lost to in the regular season," Ralston said.

Southeast Missouri State is in the same bracket as Eastern and Austin Peay, and Eastern has not beaten them in two efforts this season.

A win over Austin Peay would put the Lady Panthers against SEMO and from there, the winner of the tournament will get a bid to the NCAA tournament.

Eastern Kentucky stays perfect in conference

By CHAD MERDA
Staff writer

Even though the Panther football team had the week off, there was plenty of action around the Ohio Valley Conference.

Eastern Kentucky 35, Middle Tennessee 20:

The Colonels stayed a perfect 6-0 in the OVC with their win over Middle Tennessee, which dropped the Blue Raiders to 4-5 overall and 2-4 in conference play.

The win improved Eastern Kentucky to 7-3 overall and was the Colonels' seventh straight win after starting out the season 0-3. Eastern Kentucky has won 40 of its last 43 conference games.

The Colonels racked up 311 rushing yards, led by sophomore tailback Derick Logan's 123 yards on 24 carries. Freshman Corey Crume had 105 yards, making it the second time this season the Colonels had two backs over the 100-yard mark.

Middle Tennessee did not have similar success on the ground, as the Blue Raiders had only 25 rushing yards, but they did manage 265 total yards.

Murray State 13, Tennessee State 7:

In the Racers' final game of the season, they defeated Tennessee State to finish at 7-4 and 5-2 in the OVC. The Racers held the Tigers to 213 total yards.

However, with 1:04 left in the game, Tennessee State had a late rally killed when junior Racer end Marcus Stepp intercepted a Tiger pass.

Senior Murray State tailback Anthony Downs had 133 yards on 29 carries and scored a touchdown. He finished the year with 1,011 yards and with that became the second Racer in history to run for over 1,000 yards in consecutive seasons.

Southeast Missouri 28, Southern Illinois 17:

For a while it looked as though Southern Illinois was going to have an easy win. Early in the fourth quarter, the Salukis had a 17-0 lead, but then Southeast Missouri came back and outscored Southern Illinois 28-0 en route to victory. The win improved SEMO's record to 4-6 overall.

The Indians had their strongest offensive output of the season with their 490 total yards, 300 of which came on the ground. Senior fullback Britt Mirgoux had 88 yards and two touchdowns while senior Corey Williams scored a touchdown to go along with his 75 yards.

The Salukis struggled on the ground with only 51 rushing yards on 38 attempts.

Tennessee-Martin 36, Austin Peay 26:

For the first time this season, Tennessee-Martin knows what it feels like to win. And once again, Austin Peay knows what it feels like to lose.

The win took the goose egg out of Tennessee-Martin's win column as they finish the season 1-10 (0-7 in the OVC) and the Governors are 0-10.

The win snapped a 13-game losing streak for Tennessee-Martin.

Defense was key for the Skyhawks as senior defensive back Corey Cobb returned two interceptions for touchdowns. Both of the picks came within 1:20 and scored on returns of 24 and 34 yards.

University of Alabama-Birmingham 38, Tennessee Tech 14:

The Tech loss dropped them to 5-5 on the season and extended the Golden Eagles' losing streak to two games. The University of Alabama-Birmingham improved to 4-6.

The Golden Eagles were led in part by freshman tailback Jerome Tillman, as he ran for 37 yards and scored a touchdown, to go along with four kick returns averaging 24.3 yards each.

Tech closes out its season next week with a home game against the 4-5 Blue Raiders of Middle Tennessee.

DOWN

At the break Eastern was down 28-25 and Klein was optimistic heading into the second half.

"We were right in the game," he said. "I knew that with the right breaks, as long as we continued to play sound offensively and defensively, we would be right with them. If we got a couple of breaks we could have broken the game open."

But it was Evansville that got the breaks as they opened up the second half with a 9-2 run and with 10:23 left in the game had extended the lead to 42-29.

However, a Lady Panther timeout helped fuel an 8-0 run of their own.

"We were just trying to emphasize to get the ball to the high post and use some dribble entry," Klein said about what he told the team during the timeout. "It did "In the first half we did a better job of getting things off the defensive boards. We were able to utilize Leah (Aldrich) better in the first half, but she got her fourth foul early (in the second) and that hurt us."

trigger some momentum. There was a bit of a spark there but we were not able to sustain it."

Eastern closed the gap to 45-39 on a layup from Aldrich, but that was as close as the Lady Panthers would get. The Lady Aces closed out the game with a 13-5 run to seal the 58-44 win.

"We never gave up or anything like that," Garbova said. "We never felt that we were going to lose. Sometimes we felt frustrated."

Klein said one of the reasons the Lady Panthers were able to hang with Evansville in the first half and not in the second was largely due to Aldrich.

"In the first half we did a better job of getting things off the defensive boards," he said. "We were able to utilize Leah (Aldrich) better in the first half, but she got her fourth foul early (in the second) and that hurt us."

Despite starting out the season with a loss, senior Lady Panther guard Nora Hendrix said it's important to keep in mind they have the whole season ahead.

"We still have high expectations for the season," she said. "We have to learn from this and learn from our mistakes. We're tired of losing and it's not going to dictate our whole season."

Klein said there were some good things that can come out of the loss.

"I think one positive is that our kids did play hard, but you also need to perform," he said.

"The second is that maybe we can draw from some of the things Evansville did to us in terms of execution. It takes execution on both ends of the floor," Klein said.

"We did not execute well and we made poor decisions," he said.

SHOOTING

weren't getting to any set offense. I don't know what our problem is, we haven't been shooting well."

"I don't know what our problem is, we haven't been shooting well."

-Nora Hendrix,
Senior Lady Panther guard

Against the Lithuania Nationals, the Lady Panther guards combined for 7-of-27 shooting, and struggled once again Saturday as they were 5-of-26 from the floor.

Hendrix said she takes a lot of responsibility for the poor shooting.

"We weren't getting to our offense too well," she said. "I was hesitant. We were just trying to get something going but we couldn't. It's like we were doing our own thing."

And that's one of the Lady Panthers' problems this early in the season.

"Sometimes we do things by accident and don't work methodically to break down the defense," Klein said. "We just have to get to be more effective doing it. It's pretty basic basketball." Hendrix said the lack of execution can only last so long before it begins to cost them a chance at the Ohio Valley Conference title.

"After the first (exhibition) game we all said we need to find what we need to do individually to improve," she said. "We're all out there and not executing."

Garbova said there are no excuses for the loss.

"We basically beat ourselves," she said. "It's not that they are a better team, we should have beat them."

Moroney, they were grouped closer together.

Senior Lady Panther Cristen Conrad was the first Eastern runner to cross the line, as she did it in 19:58, good for 55th place. Sophomore Jo-Ann Trevino was only one second behind Conrad and finished in 57th.

"The women got out real well," McInerney said. "Trevino and Conrad had real solid races. I think both of them ran nice races."

Freshman Erika Coull-Parenty took 75th with a time of 20:16.

"My expectations (going into the meet) were we just wanted to try to compete," McInerney said. "We wanted to go into the new region and see what it was like."

'Big trades' to be made after expansion draft

PHOENIX (AP) - The real action at the expansion draft Tuesday might come exactly one minute after the Arizona Diamondbacks and Tampa Bay Devil Rays finish picking their players.

That's when stars like Gary Sheffield, Pedro Martinez, Matt Williams and Kevin Brown may start moving in a hurry.

By the way general managers are talking, a lot of big trades are on the brink. Only one problem - baseball rules prohibit any deals from being announced until the draft is completed, and that's not expected until about 11 p.m. EST.

"It wouldn't surprise me if we made three or four trades immediately after the draft," Marlins GM Dave Dombrowski said.

"It's not like we have to move everyone, but there are no untouchables, and enough clubs are interested that there's competition." That could mean Sheffield to the New York Mets, Brown to the St.

Louis Cardinals and Robb Nen to the Boston Red Sox.

The World Series champion Marlins, having already traded Moises Alou to Houston, are chopping their payroll and making everyone available. Sheffield and his $61 million, six-year contract is a prime trade target, and the Mets are looking to add power.

"I would suspect his name will continue to come up in our discussions," Mets GM Steve Phillips said.

Dombrowski estimated 15 teams have inquired about Brown.

Lady Panthers go down 58-44 to Evansville

By CHAD MERDA
Staff writer

Evansville's physical style of play proved to be too much for the Lady Panther basketball team on Saturday night, as Eastern lost its season opener 58-44.

"Evansville took us right out of any offense we could muster up," Eastern head coach John Klein said. "We have to take what they did to us (and learn from it). Our team showed a lot of effort and heart, but we did not perform well.

"The rah-rah stuff can only go so far," he said.

Eastern struggled offensively, as they only shot 29 percent in the game and 26 percent in the second half. The Lady Aces were a bit better, as they hit on 34 percent of their shots.

The Lady Panthers were 0-7 from the three-point arc.

Eastern was led by senior forward Barbora Garbova, as she had 15 points on 6-of-11 shooting. Garbova also chipped in nine rebounds. Sophomore forward Leah Aldrich was second in scoring with eight points. Evansville's freshman forward Shyla McKibbin had 16 points and 12 boards.

Klein said such a low-scoring game is typical of the Lady Aces' style of play.

"You can expect to see scores like this all year with Evansville," he said. "They do a great job in terms of being fundamentally sound."

Over the weekend the men's and women's cross country teams traveled to Iowa State for the NCAA Midwest Regional where the women took 16th place out of 24 teams and the men came in 17th.

Oklahoma State came in first as a team with 86 points, with Minnesota and Nebraska close behind with 94 and 101 points, respectively. The Panthers had 405 points in the meet.

It certainly wasn't a typical cross country meet as not only did the runners have to battle through the 23 degree temperatures, but also 20 mph winds and two inches of fresh snow.

"The conditions themselves were brutal," Eastern head coach John McInerney said. "It made it a little more interesting and more challenging."

Senior Panther Todd Moroney was the highest finisher out of any Eastern runner, as he came in 13th place out of 155 runners with a time of 33:14.

"To finish 13th in that field is incredible," McInerney said. "He ran the race of a lifetime and still doesn't qualify for nationals. It was just a great race for him.

"With Todd, the young kids realize it can be done," McInerney said.

Nebraska's Jeroen Broekzitter, a freshman, came in first in 32:38.

Junior Bruce Lundborg was the next Eastern runner to cross the line as he came in 55th place in 34:33.

"Todd's performance is definitely the highlight but Bruce Lundborg, that's just a real good tough, solid race," McInerney said.

Senior Mike McBride was the 92nd runner to complete the race in a time of 35:46.

"It's a new region for us, we knew a little bit about the teams," McInerney said. "We tried to treat it like a national meet and tried to come back with a really solid effort and I think we had that."

On the women's side, Missouri took the team title with 76 points with Nebraska a close second with 81 points and Minnesota came in third with 107 points.

The Lady Panthers finished with 447 points and 16th place.

Missouri junior Erin Windler took individual honors as she won the meet with a time of 18:15.

The first game of the season can be a bit deceiving, at least that's what Lady Panther head coach John Klein would like people to believe.

Eastern's offense struggled and shot a lowly 29 percent in the 58-44 loss to Evansville, but there's no sign of panic - on Klein's part, that is.

"We're not sound enough offensively, we tend to panic and force stuff," Klein said. "I know we're quite capable of being a strong offensive team and I would be quite concerned if we were up against somebody else than Evansville."

The Lady Panthers did manage to hit on 12-of-18 shots from the charity stripe.

Klein said the 29 percent from the floor comes as no surprise to him.

"You have to credit Evansville, as a coaching staff, we knew they could be the best defensive team we would face all year and they showed that tonight," he said. "I knew this is the way it would be. We were going to have to fight for every decent shot we got."

And the decent shots were extremely rare, no matter what the Lady Panthers tried to do.
