Inquiries into burglary case may bring more arrests

by Sandy Young

Investigation is continuing and other possible arrests are pending in connection with the recent arrest of two Eastern students allegedly involved with a burglary ring.

Seniors Renee Koontz and Donna Hieronymous of 1435 Seventh Street were arrested last week and charged with burglary and unlawful possession of stolen property.

Koontz and Hieronymous are believed to be members of a burglary ring operating through a five-county area including Coles County.

Lonny Cooper, Chief of Detectives for the Coles County Sheriff's Department, said Monday the Charleston police department, the Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation and the sheriff's departments from the five counties are still working on the case.

"We still have people stopping by and attempting to indentify property (from the burglaries)," Cooper said.

Cooper said the property from four Coles County burglaries has been already identified, as well as property from Hickory and Douglas counties.

Cooper said he could not reveal information about the continuing investigation, as "there are other possible arrests to be made."

However, at this time the department has not determined the number or identities of other persons believed to be involved with the ring, Sheriff Chuck Lister said.

Cooper said the two suspects already arrested have retained an attorney and they are not being questioned in the case.

He said both Koontz and Hieronymous were released from the Coles County jail after posting the required 10 percent of their $10,000 bond.

Groups may request Student Services area

by Cathy Crist

Several campus groups may be seeking the vacated space in the Student Services Building if the operations of student publications and Eastern's journalism department are moved to Buzzard Education Building.

Although the space allocations in Buzzard to the four proposed areas have not yet been approved by Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin, plans for the space that would be made available because of the moving of the groups is currently being discussed.

The campus groups moving to Buzzard, if Marvin approves the recommendation, in addition to student publications and the journalism department, are the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, the proposed TV-radio station, and the speech communications department.

Associate Director of Planning and Budgeting Barbara Platt said Monday the space that would be opened up if the Buzzard plan is approved, would not only include student publication and journalism, but also the speech communications department.

She added because the space the student publications and the journalism department currently take up is larger than the space occupied by the speech communications department, the main concern is who will occupy the space left vacant by student publications and the journalism department.

David Reed, student publications adviser, said the space that would be available if The Daily Eastern News, Warbler and journalism department were moved to Buzzard, would include several small rooms and offices on the third floor and a large open area on the second floor of the Student Services Building.

The speech communications department would be leaving a few small offices in Coleman Hall available if the move is made.

Platt said the question as to who will occupy the offices in Coleman Hall is not the major question, because the offices will quickly be taken because of the crowded conditions in Coleman Hall.

"The administration has been more concerned as to what will be done with the space in Student Services but it is too premature to say anything definite yet," she said.

Platt said many people want the space in Student Services and the administration is still debating the question before it presents a plan to the Council on University Planning and Budgeting.

"I think we'll know something more definite in a few weeks," she said.

Although Platt said groups already located in Student Services would logically want some more space, various people contacted in the groups located there Monday said they have not requested any specific space.

Freshman cut-off date criticized by area legislators

by Dave Kidwell

Eastern's recent adoption of a cut-off date for first time incoming freshmen has brought criticisms and differences in opinions regarding whether or not the restrictions will indeed benefit the institution.

Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams said his office has not "heard anything positive," regarding the cut-off and specifically he said he has received concerns from area legislators.

"It's a routine reaction," Williams said. "The legislators raise hell because when someone calls you and says they can't get their son in school, you tell them that you'll see what you can do."

"The legislators call up and we tell them about the cut-off and its restrictions and then they tell that person they did all they could," he added.

Area 53rd district representative Larry Stuffle, D-Charleston said the cut-off date will hurt rather than help the university.

"The cut-off date has put the university in the box," Larry Stuffle said last week.

The cut-off date, established Feb. 18, is designed to limit the number of incoming freshmen applications to keep enrollment down in the fall and thus increase Eastern's funding.

The cut-off restrictions will limit the freshman class to approximately 1,750 while total student enrollment is expected to be around 9,800, John Beacon, admissions director said.

Beacon said approximately 180 fewer freshmen will enroll this fall with the implementation of a cut-off date.

The cut-off date was instituted after the Illinois Board of Higher Education recommended in January 1980 that Eastern, as an underfunded university, cut enrollment in order to receive additional state funding.

"We (the IBHE) brought to the attention of Eastern's administration that the state would not allocate more funds to Eastern because of an enrollment increase," Richard Wagner, executive director of the IBHE, said.

Stuffle said because of the cut-off date Eastern will be losing more student dollars than it would gain from curbing enrollment.

However, Beacon said there is no way Eastern will be losing money because of the cut-off date.

"Students only pay for one third of their education, the state pays for the rest," Beacon said. "Therefore, not only will Eastern not lose any money, the state will save."

Harry "Babe" Woodyard, R-Chrisman, also said that he did not see how Eastern would lose money because of the cut-off date.

"Even though Eastern is losing some student dollars, that is less Eastern, as well as the state, has to pay for," Woodyard said.

Woodyard also said that Eastern's cut-off date would affect others schools which are not enforcing one.

"It is my understanding that community college enrollment is up due to the cut-off dates of several BOG (Board of Governor) schools," he said.

Israel angered by reports that U.S. may aid Saudis

TEL AVIV, Israel—Israel reacted angrily Monday to reports that the United States plans to equip Saudi Arabia with flying radar stations, which Israeli military experts claim will allow the Saudis to scan Israel's most secret defenses "like a closed-circuit TV camera in our bedroom."

Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir told Parliament that because of the sale of new weapons systems to Saudi Arabia, "friendly relations with the United States are being clouded." He was referring to a U.S. plan Israel contends could expose all military movements in the Jewish state.

Reports of the AWACS Airborne Warning and Command System deal surfaced last Wednesday, a few days after the Israeli government decided to avoid a head-on collision with the new U.S. administration over the sale of extra equipment for Saudi Arabia's American-built F-15 jet fighters.

Reagan to decide soon on Japanese auto import curb

WASHINGTON—With his cabinet sharply divided, President Reagan likely will decide soon on whether to seek curbs on Japanese auto imports—a move some advisers believe could jeopardize his economic recovery plan.

A cabinet-level task force headed by Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis has been grappling with the import issue for weeks, causing delays in its report to the president on the plight of the auto industry.

The issue will be debated again Tuesday, and a decision by Reagan may come later in the week, although there remains wide disagreement among the chief executive's top advisers.

Atlantic vigilante groups patrol streets to protect

ATLANTA—Male residents of an Atlanta housing project said Monday they have formed a 24-hour patrol group armed with baseball bats in an effort to protect their children from the killers of 20 black youngsters.

The multiracial squad, consisting at the start of about two score 16-to-21-year-olds, will patrol in pairs, armed with wooden and metal bats and walkie-talkies.

Back at a command post, the adults at the Techwood-Clark Howell Homes, many in possession of licensed firearms, will be ready to roll into action.

The project—one of 40 in the city—is the same one whose residents vociferously shunned the Guardian Angels, volunteer crime-fighters from New York City, who showed up last week. The Angels, known mainly for patrolling the subways, said they sent a delegation to Atlanta to train young people to defend themselves.

New legislation may halt illegal alien use of aid

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Illinois law seems powerless to stop hundreds of thousands of illegal aliens from getting public aid or driver's licenses. But state Rep. Robert C. Pechous says the law ought to be able to curtail such activities.

Pechous, D-Berwyn, has introduced such legislation. He says it's not far for illegal aliens to get welfare aid, especially when the recession already is draining the state's resources.

"We have fiscal responsibility to our own citizenry," Pechous said. "They (illegal aliens) are not supposed to be here."

Chicago judge rules deaf mute 'unfit to stand trial'

CHICAGO—It appeared Monday that Donald Lang, a 37-year-old deaf mute charged with murder, may finally be reaching the end of his 15-year odyssey into an eerie legal twilight zone.

Before an empty courtroom, Judge Joseph Schnieder of Circuit Court declared Lang, whose peculiar case has been the subject of a book and a television movie, unfit to stand trial for the 1971 killing of a Chicago prostitute.

The ruling set in motion new efforts to either commit the former dockworker to a state mental institution or release him.

That determination is a "major milestone," said attorney Christine Bremer for the Illinois Department of Mental Health.

'Dark Day' set for Wednesday of Energy Week

by Sue Ann Rentfrow

Eastern students and staff members will be able to participate in extensive energy conservation efforts Wednesday because Beta Tau Epsilon, professional energy management fraternity designated the day as "dark day."

Fraternity President Hugh Idstein said the campus community is encouraged to cut down on energy consumption Wednesday. Some cut-back suggestions include reducing the use of hair dryers, lights, showers, radios, elevators, televisions, stereos and cars.

Idstein said he urges all classes on Wednesday to be conducted without lights when possible.

Assistant Physical Plant Director Marty Ignazito will monitor meters on Wednesday to determine if Eastern saved any energy Wednesday.

In addition Ignazito will also monitor meters Tuesday and Thursday because they have been designated as control days.

Ignazito will present the results 12:30 p.m. Friday in the University Union Old Ballroom, Idstein said.

Films to feature energy sources

by Sue Ann Rentfrow

Activities continue on campus Tuesday and Wednesday to acknowledge Energy Awareness Week beginning with the showing of two films on new sources of energy at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the University Union video-tape lounge.

Hugh Idstein, president of Beta Tau Upsilon professional energy management fraternity, said the films will alternate showings between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. The Illinois Powers rebuttal to the 60 Minute interview of the Clinton Nuclear Power Plant will be shown at noon.

R. Forrest Lupa from the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources will speak at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the University Union addition Charleston-Mattoon room on energy conservation.

Lupa has been active in Illinois energy programs since 1977 and is currently responsible for providing public information on many energy conservation and alternative technology programs developed by the Institute of Natural Resources, Idstein said.

In addition to Wednesday's "dark day" activities, films on conservation will be shown alternately from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the video-tape lounge, Idstein said. A video-tape of "New York When the Lights Went Out" will be shown at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., he said.

Mike McCully from the University of Illinois Small Homes Council will speak on energy conservation in construction at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the University Union addition Oakland room.

McCully is a registered architect in Illinois and Wisconsin and a member of the American Institute of Architects and the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating, and Airconditioning Engineers, Idstein said.

Marc Bonem, a sales engineer for Solar Design Association in Champaign, will present a lecture on solar energy 7 p.m. Wednesday in the University Union addition Charleston-Mattoon room.

Bonem will conclude Wednesday's activities by speaking about greenhouses and solar active commercial and residential facilities, Idstein said.

Expert touts gasohol use

by Michele Morgan

Students with older model vehicles who wish to get better performance and gas mileage may consider the homemade way of making gasohol, Nick Hall of the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources, said Monday.

Although the miles-per-gallon ratio when using gasohol presents no significant change in new vehicles, Hall said, older model vehicles' performance and gas mileage ratios are increased moderately with the use of gasohol.

In addition to his lecture, Hall presented a film which showed how any driver can mix his own ethanol and gasoline to create gasohol.

Homemade gasohol can be made by pouring one gallon of ethanol to nine gallons of gasoline in the automobile's gas tank.

The engine must be shut off and the two elements must be allowed to blend, however, before starting the car, he said.

Hall's lecture touched on not only the benefits of gasohol, but also the problems with its production.

Hall said establishing alcohol fuel industries in Illinois is a problem because state taxes and workman's compensation make it undesirable for corporations to establish gasohol production sites.

Knott suffers coronary attack, but doing much better

by Lee Ann Franklin and Linda Charnesky

Jay Knott, director of the Career Planning and Placement Center, suffered a coronary attack at his home Saturday morning and is currently listed in satisfactory condition in Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center's intensive care unit.

Knott's wife, Delores, said Monday her husband has taken "a turn for the better," and said she hopes Knott is taken out of intensive care at Sarah Bush by Tuesday.

She said the doctors are "not sure of everything" yet, but more tests and X-rays should determine the damage done to the heart by the coronary attack.

Scar tissue has been found on the heart but Knott is not yet in the proper physical condition to have further investigations made, his wife said.

She added Knott has already begun exercise treatment to increase his strength and the doctors are very pleased with his progress.

Rosalee Noble, Knott's secretary, explained Knott awoke on Saturday morning short of breath.

"Knott's wife was going to drive him to the hospital, but by the time they got in the car, he was gasping for breath and his color was so bad," Noble said.

James Knott
Director of Placement

Knott's wife drove her husband to the Charleston Fire Station where paramedics administered oxygen before he was taken to the hospital, Noble said.

Knott's wife said he had not had any previous heart problems or trouble with high blood pressure, but he has had a shortness of breath for the past week.

Noble also said Knott had mentioned shortness of breath several times in the past week.

"Tuesday night he walked three blocks and said he was shortwinded and then later in the week he mentioned the same thing," Noble said. "But other than that he had no indications that he had a problem."

Knott has been with Eastern's Career Planning and Placement Center for 23 years and has served as its director since 1966.

To "pick up the slack" while Knott is recovering, Noble said Robert Jones, former assistant director of career planning and placement, will be filling in for Knott.

Jones, who worked in the Placement Center for 18 years, retired last December.

Procrastination hurts blood drive

We congratulate Eastern, the Charleston community and all the Red Cross volunteers for exceeding the 1,700 pint goal in the spring Red Cross Blood Drive last week.

The 1,792 pints donated in the four-day drive was the most ever and, although it is certainly something to be proud of, the total could have been even higher.

Pam Richards, student blood drive chairman, said registration was closed a half hour early Thursday due to the large number of last minute donors. She said that this situation is fairly normal on the last day.

"Too many people wait until Thursday," she said. "The nurses just can't keep up the pace. I'm sure the drive would have brought in over 1,800 pints if donors came in earlier in the week."

To ensure that Eastern meets its future blood drive goals it is necessary that people donate earlier in the week and not procrastinate until the last day. It does not take more than an hour to donate a pint of blood even on peak days.

Eastern's blood drive already is provided with an abundance of nurses to run a blood drive. The Red Cross has come to expect a good turnout here. But, because nurses usually commute from as far as St. Louis, they can only work five to five and a half hours at a time. Therefore, extending the hours later into the evening or earlier in the morning would not solve the overload of donors simply because the extension would not be feasible.

Because Eastern is provided with the large number of nurses already and the hours of the blood drive cannot be extended, the community will have to pull together and donate earlier in the week.

Having such a high percentage of donors at Eastern is something the whole community can take pride in and we commend all who had a part in the record-setting goal. Now it's time for those unselfish donors to work together more efficiently so that Eastern makes and breaks future goals.

NCAA pushes for women's athletics

Since its formation in 1906, the NCAA has become a powerful governing body in the realm of amateur athletics in the United States. Only recently, however, has it made gestures toward engaging women's athletics.

NCAA officials say they want to give women's programs a choice; between the NCAA and the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women. The NCAA does not play up the fact that it is challenging the AIAW, but the friction is there, nonetheless.

The AIAW was formed a decade ago to provide the fledging women's programs on college campuses with a central governing body. In SIU-C Women's Athletic Director Charlotte West's words, "The AIAW took us when nobody else wanted us." Essentially, the AIAW has become for women what the NCAA is for men.

But AIAW officials fear that their influence upon women's athletics, the influence that helped build college programs, may be hindered by NCAA governance. NCAA officials have outlined a governance program that would require that each committee would be made up of at least one-third females, one-third males and the other one-third "somewhere in between."

It is the "somewhere in between" that worries women's sports advocates such as West. A pioneer in promoting women's athletics, West wants to know what positions will be given to women on the committee and how much influence those positions will have.

Other skeptics point out that many of the recruiting wars associated with men's college athletics will creep into the women's programs as well. The NCAA's recruiting regulations are quite liberal compared to the AIAW's. The AIAW has maintained a philosophy of keeping recruiting costs at a bare minimum in order to benefit athletes already involved in a program.

The NCAA insists that it is each school's option to determine how much it wishes to spend on recruiting and that those thinking otherwise are worrying needlessly.

But West maintains that schools such as SIU-C would be at a disadvantage in recruiting if it wanted its women's programs to stay competitive. Larger schools with bigger budgets would suddenly have a distinct advantage under NCAA regulations, she says.

Through it all, however, the NCAA has said that institutions with women's sport programs have a choice of joining the NCAA or remaining with the AIAW.

Many women's intercollegiate athletics administrators believe that the NCAA's offers may signal the end of the AIAW. The prestige and status of the NCAA may be too much for many schools to resist. West, for one, is in favor of SIU-C staying under AIAW governance. But, regardless of her wishes or the wishes of coaches and athletes, SIU-C may be compelled to go the NCAA route or risk being left out in the cold.

Your turn

Treat us fairly

Editor:

As a journalism major, I am well aware that different elements have to be taken into consideration as well as the editors' approval when choosing what is and is not news.

From reading some of the past articles, I have learned the Daily Eastern News feels that the black greek organizations are more newsworthy than the white greek organizations when there has been a disturbance of some kind.

Now this brings me to the white fraternity, Delta Chi, and what took place on Feb. 21 between them and their neighbors.

The Times-Courier reported that Delta Chi fraternity damaged neighbors' property during a house party.

The Daily Eastern News reported that the fraternity was on probation because of "some problems with the fraternity being respectful of their neighbors."

Not only is there a difference between what really happened, but the News waited until March 5 to print the article. An article which ran on page seven, consisted of six short paragraphs that were vague and lacked information that was newsworthy.

Instead of printing any material that might taint Delta Chi's image, the News did the opposite and built up the fraternity by reporting on the Miss Delta Chi pageant and giving it plenty of coverage.

In contrast to this, the black organizations were reprimanded for their bad behavior and exploited to no end by the News.

Why must we (black greeks) be put on a pedestal for all to see when we're in the wrong while the white fraternity is sheltered.

Hopefully, in the future, the Daily Eastern News will give the black organizations more coverage when we do things that are good and worthwhile instead of waiting for something bad to happen so you can have a field day.

No room for griping

Editor:

Yes, times are tough but let's be grateful that Andy Savoie's Personal file (March 6 issue) has the wisdom to see things from an optimistic point of view. If recent letters to the editor are representative of current attitudes of collegiate life, as Mr. Savoie points out, and reflect the gripes of college students, then we really don't have any gripes at all.

In a letter to the editor written by Jerry Moore (March 4 issue) and addressed to all the "cretinous" people out there, some of the most trivial if not senseless examples of so called stupidity were brought out.

When was the last time Moore saw someone have his eyes removed by an umbrella? If some people walk too slowly for him, all he has to do is walk around them. And, if it is too much trouble for him to avoid a blocked doorway, (most entrances to buildings on this campus have at least two doors, many have more) then I feel no sympathy for him. I suppose that this may be his attempt at humor but I don't think it's very humorous.

For the past four years, college life has been the ultimate for me. I have had my gripes, but they have been very insignificant compared to the contentment, fulfillment and appeasement of college living. When I get out of here, never will I have the freedoms that I have now. Never again will I be able to have all the free time that I have now—time to do whatever I want. Never again will I be able to blow off an afternoon and open up Marty's at 11:00 in the morning. Never, never again.

If collegiate gripes are nothing more than trivial and senseless and if we have no significant gripes, then we have really got it made and believe me, we have it made. So I suggest that the next time someone has a gripe, they step back and see if it really is a gripe before they complain too loudly. "Life ain't easy, but it ain't that bad."

Help out 'Dark Day'

Editor:

Are you aware? Are any of us aware how much energy affects our daily lives? That is our goal in sponsoring "Energy Awareness," March 16-21; to help make us all aware of the effect energy has on our lives. This week's activities will consist of speakers, exhibits, displays, the paper and aluminum drive and "Dark Day" Wednesday.

Your cooperation is needed especially on "Dark Day." The utility and water meters will be monitored hourly on Wednesday, March 18 to determine how much energy is being saved compared to a normal Wednesday. We ask that during that day energy and water conservation be in utmost importance in everybody's minds on campus.

Instructors and Administrators: Can you turn off your classroom and office lights and open the blinds? Can you find any other ways to conserve energy while on campus that day?

Students: See how quickly you can take a shower. Can you survive without using that blow dryer or curling iron on Wednesday? Can you do without your stereo? Listen to the sound of silence and all the natural sounds around you. Turn off all unnecessary lighting, especially when leaving the room.

Building and Grounds Personnel: Take a good, hard look at the building you work in and the job you do. Are there energy saving opportunities that you and your supervisor hadn't ever thought of?

The challenge is there, you must respond to the challenge! No one can make you conserve energy, you must respond to the challenge on your own. Remember, buildings don't use energy, people do! If you are interested in contributing to, or have questions about any of the activities during this week, you may call me at 581-2902.

Marching Blue flag corps tryout workshops planned for this week

by Peggy McMeen

Workshops for Marching Blue flag corps tryouts are scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday in the University Union Grand Ballroom.

Tryouts will take place beginning at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in room 112 of the Fine Arts Building. Harold Hillyer, director of the Marching Blue, said he will judge the tryouts and will choose three other people to help in the selection.

Laurie Swain, captain of the corps, said no experience is necessary to try out. All girls have to try out, regardless of whether they have been in the corps before, she said.

Girls will be judged on a routine taught to them at the workshops, marching skill, an impromptu routine, Disneyland is about the most famous attraction around. Located in nearby Anaheim, it offers a delightful fairy tale atmosphere that will appeal to most age groups.

Disneyland is open year round and is

He said the number chosen for the flag corps depends on how many girls who try out "can do the job." The flag corps last fall was made up of only 14 girls, but he could have as many as 24 in the squad.

No alternates to the corps will be chosen. If a girl decides to quit, the next girl on the list from the tryouts will be chosen, Hillyer said.

In the fall the flag corps practices four times a week with the Marching Blue and once a week on Tuesdays by themselves. In the spring practices are three times weekly if the corps decides to perform at basketball games. The corps this spring decided to disband instead, Hillyer said.

especially pleasant to visit in the spring and fall because of the mild weather. Be prepared to spend much of the time walking because it is a large place that takes more than a full day to explore. When people do tire there are horse driven carts, trains and a monorail to help provide transportation.

One admission fee paid at the gate provides tourists with a book of tickets. Each ticket has a set value and must be used for admittance on the rides and attractions.

Another place that vacationers will be sure to want to visit is the Los Angeles Zoo. The large variety of animals will delight children and provide an educational lesson as well.

For a change of pace, take a trip to China Town. Although it is not as famous as China Town in San Francisco, the China Town in Los Angeles provides many delicious places to enjoy authentic Chinese food as well as expose persons to another culture.

A trip to the Los Angeles area would not be complete without a visit to Hollywood, home of all the glamour and glitter of the movie world.

When in Hollywood, be sure to visit Mann's (formerly Grauman's) Chinese Theater on Hollywood Boulevard. It is really a treat to see all of the star's footprints imbedded in the cement sidewalk outside the theater.

A trip to Hollywood would not be complete without a visit to one of the many television and movie studios. Universal Studios offers daily group tours of its facilities.

Besides the entertainment spots, there are many beaches along the Southern California coast that offer plenty of sunning opportunities. Huntington and Newport Beach are two that offer lots of clean sand and wide-open space to enjoy a game of frisbee or volleyball or a day surfing on the waves.

Faculty Senate to hear AB's role

Functions of the Apportionment Board will be discussed Tuesday by Todd Daniels, student financial vice president, at the Faculty Senate's regular meeting.

Wood said the Senate invited Daniels because "through the Senate, the faculty ought to be made aware of the AB's functions."

Senate Chairman Leonard Wood said Monday Faculty Senate appointees to the board would probably attend the meeting also.

Faculty elections which are Wednesday and Thursday may also be discussed in routine committee reports.

The elections are scheduled from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the University Union lobby with senators staffing the polls through the lunch hour.

Elections are being held to determine members on various campus committees and boards.

The Senate will meet at 2 p.m. in the Union addition Martinsville Room.

ON CAMPUS

SOPHOMORES

Have you missed many opportunities as a student? You know, the "great class," the sure-fire, job guaranteed major, the opportunity to earn a scholarship?

You may be ready to miss your opportunity to do all the above! How? By missing your chance to enroll in the Army ROTC 2-year Program. That's right. ROTC has a two year program designed with you in mind. Instead of 2 years of classes on campus, you can attend a 6 week training Camp at Fort Knox, Kentucky which qualifies you to enter the Advanced Course of ROTC. You can earn up to 5 hours credit for this training as well as over $500. With no obligation! You'll also compete for 300 scholarships that will pay tuition, fees books and $100 per school per school month for your last two years at Eastern.

Don't miss out on this great opportunity to put yourself ahead of your contemporaries. See Captain Jim Kantor in Room 126-S, Buzzard Ed. Building. Grab this opportunity and Run.

ACEI to hold conference on divorce

Eastern's student branch of the Association of Childhood Education International will host two mini-conferences dealing with the concerns of divorced parents on children at 3 and 7 p.m. Tuesday in the University Union Old Ballroom.

The conference will feature Tom Seals, a staff member of the Champaign County Family Service, Mark Walther, ACEI vice president aid.

Seals has worked extensively as a counselor, family life educator and group leader with adults and children experiencing divorce and family reorganization, he said.

Seals has talked with numerous school, church and civic organizations on divorce and related topics.

Seals has first-hand knowledge of the divorce situation because he is divorced and has joint custody of his son, Walther said.

The 3 p.m. session is entitled "Help the Sky is Falling In: Impact of Divorce on Children" and the 7 p.m. session is "What Every Child Would Like His or Her Teacher to Know About Divorce."

The sessions are free and open to the public.

Eastern's story to be presented by Botany Club

A slide presentation entitled "EIU: Then and Now" prepared by the late H.F. Thut, emeritus professor of Botany at Eastern, will be shown 7 p.m. Tuesday in Coleman Auditorium.

David Murphy, of the botany department, taped the presentation made in 1973 by Thut and in 1978 located the slides and copied them from Mrs. Thut and put the whole slide show together.

He said the slides have been presented to the Botany Club several times and the club decided to open the presentation to the public.

"It not only shows about 40 years of Eastern's history, it captures Thut's character," he said.

The presentation is free and open to the public.

Tea to feature English guest

Mike Holliday, a visiting professor from Loughbrough University in England, will be the guest speaker at the International Tea 2 to 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Wesley Foundation.

Foreign Student Adviser Brigitte Chen said Holliday is the guest of the physical education and staff development departments here. His university is the top physical education and sports school in England, she said.

The tea is open to the public. Refreshments will be served by the women of the Christian Church, she said.

All-American honors for Eastern woman

by Fran Brolley

POCATELLO, Idaho—Eastern freshman sprinter, Gail Stephens, became the first woman in Eastern history to achieve Division I All-American status at the AIAW National Indoor Track and Field Championships last weekend.

In the finals of the 300-meter run Stephens placed sixth with a time of 40:42. The top six finishers in each event qualified for All-American honors.

Stephens also broke the school 300-meter run record in the semifinals with a time of 38:80.

Eastern coach John Craft said Stephens' slower time in the finals was due in part to a first lane draw. "She had problems negotiating the turns," he said.

Long jumper Gayle Brandon just missed All-American honors with her jump of 6.14 meters. Brandon finished in seventh place, the sixth place jump was 6.16 meters.

Brandon eclipsed her school record jump of 20-feet-one quarter inch with a 20-feet-1 and three-quarter inch leap.

Eastern also set two marks in the 4 X 400 meter relay and the 4 X 200 meter relay.

The 4 X 200 meter relay team of Brandon, Mary Burroughs, Elizabeth Greathouse and Stephens placed third in their semi-final heat with a time of 1:39.79.

The previous best had been 1:41.0.

Robinson chosen for All-District first team

Eastern's Ricky Robinson has been chosen First Team All-District by the National Association of Basketball Coaches from this area.

With the announcement, Robinson is now eligible for selection on the NABC All-American team which will be announced later this month.

District IV includes the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Robinson led the Panthers with 17 points and more than six rebounds a game.

He was earlier chosen to the First Team All-Mid-Continent Conference.

The All-District IV teams are as follows:

FIRST TEAM

Ricky Robinson, Eastern
John Hollinden, Indiana State-Evansville
Bruce Olliges, Bellarmine
Bruce Alexander, Youngstown State
Rodney Benson, Wright State

SECOND TEAM

Joe Dykstra, Western Illinois
Mark Mindeman, Northern Michigan
Ernie Montgomery, Northern Michigan
Eric Love, Central State, Ohio
Neville Brown, St. Joseph's

Added teams and byes plague NCAA playoffs

Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall, Humpty Dumpty had a great fall!

The nursery rhyme is a bit old, but its application is still well used—De Paul's Blue Demons sat on a wall, De Paul's Blue Demon's had a great fall!

A bit ridiculous, maybe, but that is exactly what happened in last weekend's NCAA National basketball tournament. Not only to "America's Team" of college basketball, No. 1 ranked De Paul, but to 10 of the nation's top 20 teams.

And while the purists of the game are getting a kick out of watching St. Joseph's College of Pennsylvania and Alabama-Birmingham advance in what was once one of sports' most prestigious events, real lovers and followers of college basketball are being cheated from what NBC's Dick Enberg used to call "the best in college basketball."

The saddest part is that the "big whigs" of the NCAA are ruining their own sport. How dare they extend the tournament to 48 teams—there were too many when only 40 were given bids. They may think that adding more teams to the tournament will add interest to the game and that it gives the entire nation better representation, but all they have done is create headaches for Ray Meyer and Lute Olson, Iowa's coaching phenomenon.

There is no reason why teams like De Paul, Oregon State, Arizona State and Kentucky should have to entertain the St. Joseph's, the Kansas State's and the Alabama-Birmingham's. They have proven themselves through the regular season. For them to face such mediocre talent in a "go for broke" season-ending tournament, is ridiculous.

Then to make things worse, the NCAA has, with its bonanza of teams, created a situation where 16 teams receive byes in the first round.

On the surface this bracketing of the tourney may seem great for the powerhouses—playing one less game and all. But the truth of matter is, those teams that do open up on Thursday night, the opening round of the classic, are getting into the swing of things and have some winning momentum after their first game.

Personal file:

Dave Claypool

Louisville coach Denny Crum best described when he said, "The pressure is greater for the teams that get the bye. Byes are not what they're cracked up to be. I think once you get by that first game, anybody's got a chance to win."

Also, once a team wins a game in the tourney, there is an added adrenalin flowing in those players that the idle team does not have.

What all this creates is the situation where weaker teams are winning tournament games before the top-ranked clubs get their wheels rolling.

The simple solution to the problem is first, return to the old 32-team tourney, with no byes. Second, eliminate the immediate bids to conference tournament winners, such as Mississippi from the Southeastern Conference.

It was sad enough when Mississippi showed the nation what a fluke a conference tournament actually is, but then to hand it a bid to the NCAA tournament, while prominent Big Ten schools Minnesota and Purdue are left playing in the NIT, is going a bit too far.

While blasting the NCAA, I might as well point out that the method of sites for the tournament play are insufficient. The NCAA currently allows the lower ranked teams to have a host spot, which in all actuality, puts the top ranked team at a disadvantage when going into the courts of their opponents back yard to play.

This year's great example was the Iowa-Wichita State match up. Wichita, the Missouri Valley Conference winner, was awarded a home spot for the first two rounds of the tournament and used the advantage to the hilt—knocking off the Hawkeyes 60-56 in front of a roaring home crowd which had as much to do with the victory as the players themselves.

What the NCAA must do is form some sort of rotating system, much like the NIT, where teams that are in the tourney each get a chance to host a tourney game.

This would avoid the problem of only certain teams getting a chance to host and allowing each team the ability to play in front of a home crowd.

It seems through all of this that the NCAA is set on the commitment of getting a lot of teams, no matter what the quality, into the tournament.

For their sake alone, I hope that the final four includes Wichita State, St. Joseph's, Utah and Brigham Young. Maybe then the NCAA would realize what sort of mockery could result from this poor planning on their part.

But for me, I'll take it the old way—32 teams and no advantages by way of the bye. It may result in another UCLA type of dynasty, but at least we will be watching the best teams of college basketball when we turn to watch the final four.

This year I'll just have to struggle through it and hope the NCAA gets wise.

Icemen finish second in Decatur tournament

by Scott Fishel

DECATUR—Eastern's Hockey Club walked away from the Decatur Invitational Tournament Sunday with second place, after losing the championship to the Decatur Raiders by a score of 12-2.

Mike Shrader scored Eastern's only two goals, but coach Doug Andreasen said the goals were not enough to keep up with the better prepared Decatur team.

"We had a lot of chances (to score)," Andreasen said. "But we just couldn't get any breaks. It just wasn't our day to win."

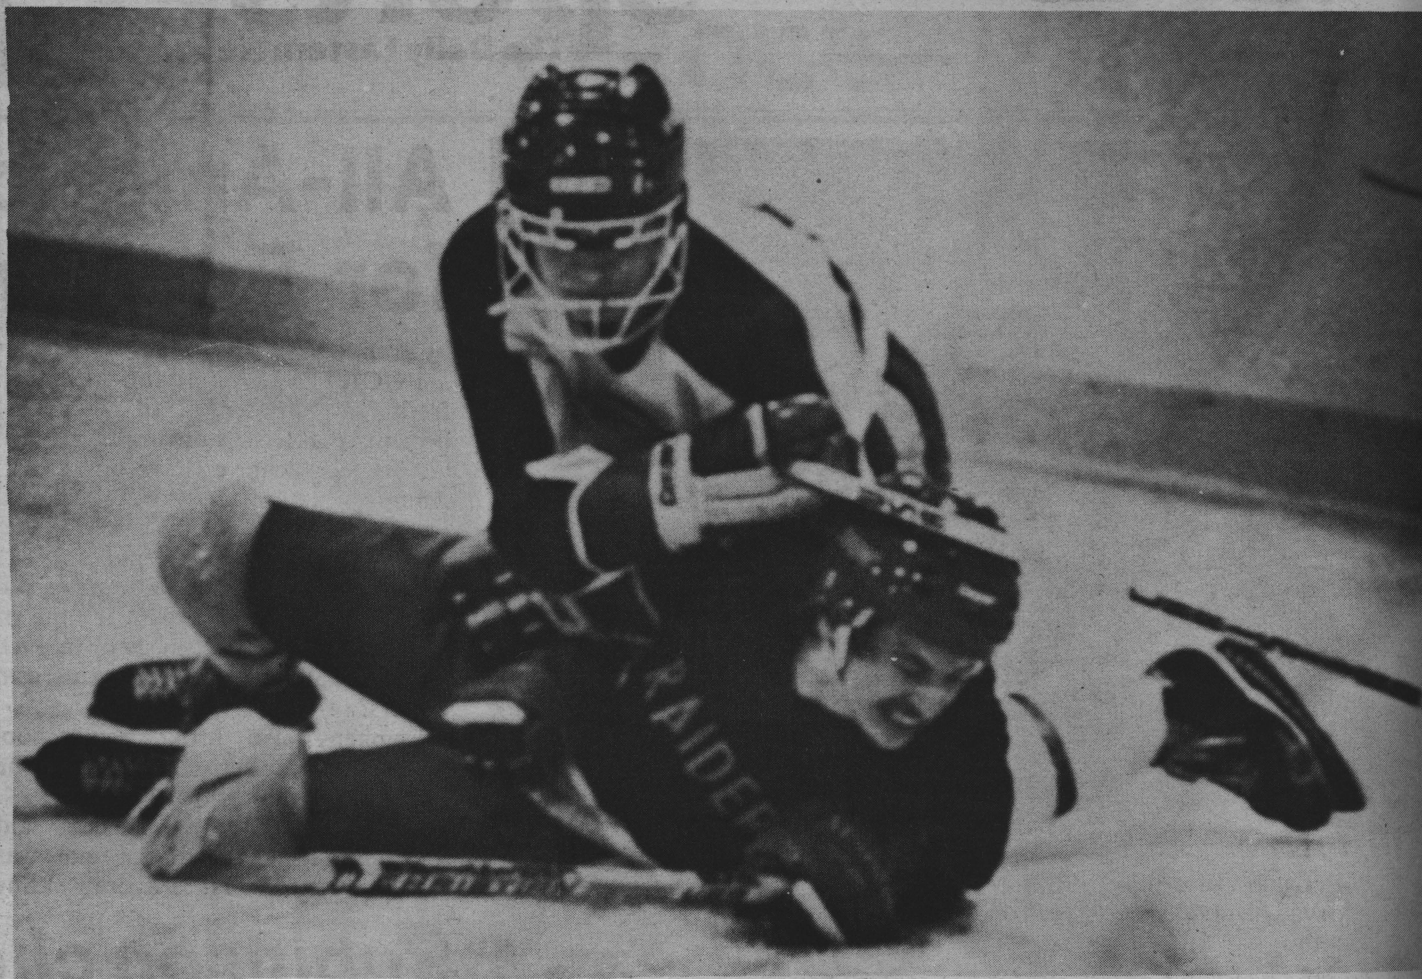

Andreasen said goalie Johnny Miller, who replaced Jack Bender in the goalie's spot two weeks ago, "played a good game, but everyone else let him down.

"(Miller) has really come around," Andreasen said. "He has built his confidence and should play well against Champaign."

He said Miller has the best average of any Eastern goalie in the two years he has been with the club, with an average per game record of only one goal.

Eastern advanced to the championship after defeating the Peoria Junior "B" team Saturday.

The final score of the game was a 3-3 (See ICEMEN, page 12)

Ricky Robinson jams through two points in a Panther game earlier this year. Robinson was named to the All-Region team by area coaches. (News photo by Tom Roberts)

Golf team will depend on one veteran and rookies

by Dave Claypool

The outlook for the Eastern golf team is dependent upon the play of some very young golfers.

Senior Marty Robinson is the lone returning letterman and in fact, is the only squad member who has swung a club in intercollegiate competition.

Therefore, the Panthers may only go as far as Robinson's clubs will carry them since the remaining 12-man team is composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores.

The Panther season will open with a southern trip to Myrtle Beach later this month, then open the season at the Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville Cougar Invitational on April 3-4.

"Our two goals are to move up some in the conference meet and to see if we can get Marty qualified for the NCAA Division II nationals," Eastern coach J. W. Sanders said. "He can be picked as a player at large, but to qualify he'll have to really shoot the lights out in a couple of big tournaments."

"He's capable," Sanders continued. "He has a fundamentally sound swing. But once past Marty you could throw a blanket over the rest and pick the starting five."

"Each day in practice will be important as we'll take the best five scores to the meet, and Marty's no sure thing," the coach said. "He'll have to qualify same as the rest."

"I do believe we play the toughest opponents of any intercollegiate sport at EIU. Of our 30 or so teams we'll meet, only three or four will be from our division (NCAA II). Most are Big Ten, Mid-American—of that caliber," Sanders said.

Besides playing in several state tournaments, the Panthers will have dual matches with Indiana State plus a quadrangular with Illinois Wesleyan, Millikin and MacMurray on a date selected by the teams' coaches.

Women cagers sign Farthing

Darla Farthing, Oakland High School women's basketball standout, has signed a national letter of intent to play basketball for Eastern, Panther coach Bobbie Hilke announced Monday.

Farthing was the first recruit signed by the Panthers.

As the Oakland 6-foot-1 center, Farthing averaged 19 points and 13 rebounds per game.

"We're really pleased to sign Darla," Hilke said. "Several Division I schools were after her, too. She has excellent jumping ability and sure hands. She will be a definite asset to our inside game next year."

"Darla comes from a strong high school program," Hilke said. "We feel she will fit in well with the personnel already on the team. She will make a strong contribution from her freshman season on."

UCLA's Brown quits for Nets

LOS ANGELES—Larry Brown, the embattled UCLA basketball coach, told the Bruins Monday that he was leaving the school to coach the New Jersey Nets of the National Basketball Association.

Brown has been rumored in line for the Nets' job for the past month, but said he would wait until after the Bruins finished the season to make a decision. He announced his plans at a team meeting Monday afternoon, two days after the Bruins lost their opening game of the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament.

He becomes the third UCLA head basketball coach to resign in the past six years. Following the end of John Wooden's 27-year reign at the school, Gene Bartow, Gary Cunningham and Brown each guided the team for two years.

This season, Brown's 10th-ranked Bruins, who suffered an embarrassing 78-55 NCAA loss to BYU Saturday, finished with a 20-7 record. In 1979-80, Brown guided the team to a second-place finish in the NCAA tournament and a 22-10 overall record.

It was reported earlier Monday that Larry Farmer, a former UCLA player under Wooden and a Bruin assistant coach for the past six years, would be named to replace Brown.

tie, but Eastern was judged to be the winner because they had racked up a total of 47 shots-on-goal to Peoria's 37.

Decatur had beaten the Illinois State University Junior Varsity team Saturday by a score of 8-7, which also gave them a championship berth.

Andreasen said the Peoria game was their best all year. He said Miller's "superb" work as goalie, and the rest of the team being in high spirits and ready for the game contributed to their win.

But the icemen paid the toll for the hard game Saturday.

Andreasen said the entire team was tired and out of shape before Sunday's game, and they simply "ran out of steam."

The hockey club will play one more game this season—the championship of the Illinois Invitational Tournament against the Champaign Juniors, Andreasen said.

The game had been scheduled for March 12, but because the University of Illinois was on spring break, the game had to be cancelled.

Andreasen said the game has not yet been rescheduled.

Pirates trounce Cardinals 7-3

BRADENTON, Fla.—Dave Parker belted a two-run home run on his first swing of his first exhibition game this season to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 7-3 win over the St. Louis Cardinals Monday.

Parker's home run, in the bottom of the first inning, tied the game at 2-2.

In the fifth inning, Pirate Rusty Torres hit a sacrifice fly that scored pitcher Eddie Solomon, putting Pittsburgh ahead 4-3. The Pirates never trailed the rest of the way.

Solomon was the winning pitcher and John Martin notched the loss.

With the win the Pirates are 3-1, while the Cardinals dropped to 1-2.

The Cardinals scored two runs in the first inning on a single by Dane Iorg and an error by Pirate second baseman Vance Law.

The Pirates moved ahead 3-2 in the bottom of the second when catcher Ed Ott scored on a ground out by Lee Lacy.

The Cardinals tied the score, 3-3, in the fourth when Randy Thomas doubled and then scored on a single by Martin.

Carew, Angels blank Cubs 2-0

MESA, Ariz.—Veteran Rod Carew teamed with three rookie California Angels' pitchers Monday to shut down the Chicago Cubs 2-0 in a spring exhibition baseball game.

Carew, owner of seven American League batting championships and the best career average .333 among active players, bunted for a single and scored in the first inning and drove in a run with another single in the fourth.

Hitless in six spring appearances until Monday, Carew has been assigned to the leadoff spot by Manager Jim Fregosi in hopes of averaging five at-bats a game.

Mike Witt, Steve Brown and Ralph Botting limited the Cubs, who have scored only two runs in their last 27 innings, to six hits, including two doubles by Steve Henderson and a double and single by Jody Davis.

Witt was the winner. Lynn McGlothen, who pitched five innings, was the loser.
