Doc 'jazzes up' Parent's Weekend

Despite the audience's lack of enthusiasm, Doc Severinsen put on an exceptional show Saturday night. The program kept a good balance by focusing on Severinsen but remembering the rest of the band and giving them numerous chances to display their talents.

Best known for his performance as leader of the Tonight Show band, Severinsen surprised most of the audience with his excellent jazz.

Jazz, however, was not what most audience members seemed to expect. Many people left the show before its end.

It seemed as if the majority of the audience was not prepared to listen to 90 minutes of a different style of music that has no words and few familiar tunes. Instead, they had come to see the man from the Tonight Show.

Walking on stage in an aquamarine jacket and purple pants, Severinsen greeted an audience of over 5,000 with his familiar Far East Indian salute.

Along with his band, Xebon, Severinsen immediately began playing music for the Parents' Weekend show with a song he wrote called "Opus Arriba."

Severinsen and Xebon play fusion jazz, which is jazz with a rock influence.

Although the performance centered around Severinsen and his horn, the jam-session style allowed all five musicians to be featured in solos, including an outstanding solo by bass player Jeff D'Angelo performing his own composition "Ankles." Another impressive solo was by guitarist Tom Rizzo on "El Gatto."

The band composes almost all of its music so that during the show their songwriting talent is showcased as well as their ability to play.

"The Valley of Xebon," a song the band wrote and took their name from, and the closing song "Suite Thing" seemed to have the strongest impact on the audience as the band continued to produce a clean sound.

Xebon produced a slick jazz concert but they were performing for the wrong crowd.

However, the musicians looked like they enjoyed performing and Severinsen was kind despite the moderate reception.

Severinsen, 55, has played for 20 years on the Tonight Show. He first began playing trumpet when he was six years old. He also got his nickname, Doc, at this age. His father was a dentist and the family started calling them Big Doc and Little Doc.

CAA receives course plans

by Stacy Wells

Final recommendations for a set of guidelines that will be used for all future microcomputer course proposals have been presented to the Council on Academic Affairs.

Jane Lasky, chairman of the microcomputer advisory committee, said the CAA will read through the set of guidelines, make any necessary changes and then adopt the recommendations it believes are most needed.

Due to the increasing number of requests from departments for microcomputer courses, the CAA formed an advisory committee to make recommendations for a set of guidelines for all future microcomputer course proposals.

Devin Brown, an English instructor and member of the advisory committee, said the committee submitted recommendations to the CAA on Wednesday.

The recommendations include the following:

- Departments proposing new microcomputer courses will be required to specify how the new computer course relates to a minimum programming level. The requirement does not apply to computer courses that do not deal with programming.

- The CAA will appoint a committee of qualified persons, with backgrounds in computer programming, to prepare a competency test which would determine a student's minimum programming level.

- Students who have a background in programming will have access to a self-paced instructional package in a central location where microcomputers are available and where there is a trained staff member to offer assistance.

- The CAA should encourage departments with qualified computer programming faculty to propose and offer courses designed to meet the minimum programming level.

Robert Barger, associate professor of the secondary education department and member of the advisory committee, said the committee also will recommend that the CAA review the guidelines again in five years.

Barger said a minimum programming level is not a university requirement for students unless they want to take a course that requires a minimum programming level.

Barger said, "These guidelines will not solve all the problems of departments requesting microcomputers."

Marvin postpones decision on Beusch

by Julie Jackson

President Daniel E. Marvin met with John Beusch, director of public service and development, Thursday to discuss possible actions against Beusch for his recent violation of university policy.

Beusch supplied university mailing labels to Citizens for Jim Edgar, obtaining the labels through Eastern's computer services. Using university labels for political purposes is in direct violation of university policy.

Beusch, on leave of absence from his university position, was Secretary of State Jim Edgar's campaign finance director during the election.

Marvin said, "As of now the direction we are going to is a letter of reprimand and compensation for the labels."

The labels were originally obtained by Beusch through authorization of the University Relations Office to send letters publicizing an alumni conference. However, Beusch eventually gave the labels to Citizens for Edgar for their use.

Marvin said, "We don't have all the details worked out, but when I get it all resolved I'll state definitely what we are going to do."

Beusch was unavailable for comment Sunday.

Pipeline objectives not realized

WASHINGTON—The U.S.-European agreement on trade restrictions against the Soviet Union is a triumph for the administration but falls short of the objectives President Reagan had when he imposed sanctions against the Soviet pipeline, Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., said Sunday.

"I think the president's intended objective was perhaps more ambitious than the one he realized," said Lugar, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on European affairs.

Red Brigade suspects arrested

ROME—Nine suspected Red Brigade members were arrested and one was killed in a major anti-terrorist drive in northern Italy, police reported Saturday.

An unidentified suspect who tried to escape a raid Thursday night in Cinisello Balsamo, near Milan, slipped on a fire escape and plunged to his death from the seventh floor of an apartment building, authorities said. Three others were seized in that raid.

Astronauts ready for space walk

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.—Space shuttle astronauts readied their gear Sunday for America's first space walk in nine years, as two Soviet cosmonauts coasted to an endurance record for man-in-space.

The Soviets had logged 185 days—six months—aboard Salyut 7.

The space walk by Columbia's two mission specialists, scheduled for 7:50 a.m. EST on Monday, depended on William Lenoir's stomach. His queasiness had forced NASA to order a one-day delay; Sunday he was working without complaint.

U.S. ready for better Soviet ties

MOSCOW (AP)—Secretary of State George P. Shultz flew to Moscow on Sunday for Leonid I. Brezhnev's funeral, and said he wanted the new Kremlin leadership to know the United States is ready for "constructive" East-West ties.

Vice President George Bush arrived from Nigeria to join Shultz, and both planned a visit to the House of Unions where the late Soviet president's body lay in state. Bush broke away from a seven-nation African tour to lead the U.S. delegation at the Brezhnev funeral.

Bush is the first American vice president to visit Moscow since Dwight D. Eisenhower's vice president Richard M. Nixon came here in 1959 to meet with Soviet leader Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Brezhnev, who died Wednesday of an apparent heart attack after leading the Soviet Union for 18 years, will be given a hero's burial Monday in Red Square. He was 75 years old.

Speaking to reporters at the home of U.S. Ambassador Arthur A. Hartman, Shultz said: "If constructive behavior emerges on the part of the Soviet Union, the United States is prepared to respond and is prepared for a more constructive relationship than we have had in past years."

He refused to comment about Yuri V. Andropov, who succeeded Brezhnev as general secretary of the nation's ruling Communist Party. He also said he and Bush would like to meet with Soviet leaders but that no sessions have been scheduled.

In a tough speech Friday when he was named to succeed Brezhnev, Andropov, former head of the KGB secret police, said "we know well that the imperialists will never meet one's pleas for peace. It can only be defended by relying on the invincible might of the Soviet armed forces."

Delegations from more than 40 nations were arriving in Moscow to pay last respects to Brezhnev. Government and party leaders from all Soviet-bloc states were to attend the funeral.

Walesa released, returns home

GDANSK, Poland (AP)—Solidarity chief Lech Walesa returned to a joyful homecoming Sunday after mysteriously disappearing for more than a day following his release from 11 months in martial-law custody.

"In my future conduct, I will be courageous but also prudent and there will be no discussion on it. We must win!" Walesa vowed. He spoke through a loudspeaker from a window in his apartment after rushing inside past 500 cheering friends and supporters.

There was no immediate explanation for Walesa's delay in coming home to his first-floor apartment in this Baltic port city where his wife, seven children and hundreds of people maintained a long, anxious vigil.

Walesa was arrested when martial law was imposed Dec. 13 and Solidarity suspended. The independent union was outlawed by Parliament last month. Hundreds of other Solidarity leaders and activists also were arrested and although many have been freed, some are still imprisoned.

The crowd broke into cheers when the 39-year-old union chief showed up just before 10:30 p.m. (4:30 p.m. EST). "There is no freedom without Solidarity!" the crowd cried.

Syllabus file open for use

by Carl Pugliese

The new class syllabus file officially opens for student use Monday, although some students have already used it, a Booth Library employee said.

The file, located at the circulation desk on the second floor of the library, gives students the opportunity to examine various instructors' course plans before enrolling in classes.

Marge Checkly, a reserve librarian, said although all the syllabuses have not been received, most will probably be submitted by Monday.

Checkly said the course outlines will be available to students for "library use only," adding the syllabuses may be checked out for only two hours.

Dean of Library Services Wilson Luquire said the library's role in the having the syllabus file is one of a "housekeeping function." He said instructors are responsible for keeping the syllabus file up to date with class curriculum.

Checkly said she thinks the syllabus file, an idea conceived by the Student Senate, is a good way to let students know what a specific class offers.

The syllabus file is beneficial to students, Checkly said, because "they would like to see what's expected of them."

Luquire said the syllabus file gives students a chance "to plan so that they get a good, structured schedule."

He added it would help students "know what they are getting into."

UB should profit from convention

Because the University Board is using student fee money to attend the National Association of Campus Activities regional convention, the UB delegates should be sure to use the money wisely and make the trip a profitable one.

The total cost of the convention excursion, which is scheduled for Nov. 18-21 in Arlington Heights, is $1,050. Funding for the trip comes from the UB budget which is comprised of student activity fees.

The 12 UB delegates attending the convention should make sure that the student fee money being used for this trip is not wasted. They should strive to make the convention a learning experience and try to bring back to Eastern the best entertainment and ideas possible.

At the regional convention, UB members will have a chance to observe area performers "showcasing" their acts.

The acts showcased at the convention will include rock bands, rhythm and blues bands, lecturers and comedians. Most of the bands are from the St. Louis and Chicago areas and are fairly well known in the Midwest region.

Attracting popular entertainers to Eastern has been a problem for the UB in the past. Hopefully, the delegates will take advantage of a program that will provide Eastern students with better entertainment and save the university money.

This money-saving program is called block booking. Area entertainment coordinators get together and share the expenses of hiring entertainers to appear at their universities.

By taking advantage of this program the UB might be able to offer students the kind of high quality entertainment that Eastern has not been able to afford in the past.

Besides trying to bring back top-notch entertainment, the UB should also take advantage of the educational sessions the convention offers. The sessions will include information on how to run a committee in the most effective manner and how to talk to promoters and agents.

The convention is an ideal learning experience because it brings entertainment coordinators from all over Illinois and Indiana together to share their ideas and experiences.

The UB delegates should take advantage of the opportunity to share ideas and learn from other committees' successes. They should find out how other university entertainment committees function and see if some of their more successful ideas can be implemented at Eastern.

One way the delegates will be able to share ideas is by participating in a "reverse exhibit," where each school will showcase its school, facilities and past programming efforts. The best exhibit will receive a plaque and possibly a free entertainer or film.

The convention offers many possibilities for gaining knowledge and improving the UB entertainment program. UB delegates should pay close attention to the information offered them and try to book new and exciting entertainers for the students of Eastern.

Battling bellies, getting in shape not an easy task

Why is everyone so preoccupied with getting in shape these days?

People everywhere are jogging, aerobicing or doing some sort of exercise that will give them a body fit to kick sand in any bully's face.

There are still a few hold-outs who have not yet been bitten by the fitness bug, but most of them are falling fast. We are continually being coerced, by our television idols, into conforming with our society's concept of health and beauty.

Our near-perfect television idols make it appear that getting in shape will be the most fun we will have in our entire lives.

But take it from someone that knows, exercising just isn't that much fun!

I detest exercising so much that one of my friends recently introduced me as the "ultimate sedentary person."

It's not that I've never been in good shape, but those nights out at the bars drinking beer with my friends put an end to my physical fitness.

I decided something had to be done. I forced myself to exercise. Over the last few years I've tried just about every way to get in shape, such as:

Weight Lifting—Everyone should try this method of straining their muscles. I had so much fun I almost died.

I always managed to find an excuse not to go lift weights, such as, "I'll do it tomorrow, right now I'm making ice cubes."

Swimming—Or in my case, floating. Over the summer I got to know most of the lifeguards and ended up spending more time talking than floating. Which, of course, was fine with me.

Jogging—I gradually worked my way up from one lap around the indoor track to one mile! After several exhausting weeks of panting and suffering, I noticed no improvement. So I quit.

Golf—This was one of my better attempts. I figured I could get a beautiful suntan while I got in shape! The only problem was that I didn't want to take my shirt off because everyone would see my beer belly. So I ended up with a beautiful "farmer's suntan" (for you people from up north, it means that only your arms and face are suntanned).

Bicycling—Fun city, especially when I had my flat tire three miles out of Charleston in 95-degree weather. Naturally, no one offered me a ride back to town. However, I did get plenty of exercise and a beautiful sunburn.

Dieting—Even though this is not a sport, I had to include it. I think I lasted two days on my first and last diet. Unfortunately, the available "colorful" diet foods all tasted like cardboard, of which I am not particularly fond.

Until someone invents a "Super-Shaper" pill to give you a beautiful body, I'll be home digging into a six-pack of beer, potato chips and a pizza. At least I'll be having fun.

—John Best is a campus reporter for The Daily Eastern News.

Your turn

Article inadequate

Editor:

Your recent article on faculty salary increases for 1982-1983 was wholly inadequate in depicting the sad state of higher education in Illinois.

The most recent issue of The Chronicle of Higher Education provides additional data. The annual study of support for higher education reveals that higher education in Illinois is rapidly "going down the tube."

It is not just that this year's appropriation is so inadequate, but that this has been essentially the story for the past decade.

The Chronicle's study placed Illinois 50th in the nation in increased support for higher education over the past 10 years. After adjustments for inflation, there has been a 14 percent decline in support over the past decade in spite of a significant increase in enrollment (a worse record even than Michigan, with an 11 percent and 49th rank among the states.)

The highest that Illinois ranks among the states on any index of measurement used in the study is 36th. Illinois ranks 36th in "1982-83 appropriations per capita" and 41st in "appropriations per $1,000 of personal income."

In my own mind, I have given up on higher education in Illinois and am preparing to leave. The reason that I will leave Illinois, succinctly put, is: faculty salary too low—property taxes and utilities too high!

The last 10 years have been particularly hard on younger faculty. Having just spent several years and thousands of dollars on their degrees, they accepted a teaching position at a low starting salary and saw its buying power diminish each year. These younger faculty members did not have the advantage of "the good years" of the '60s that some of their older colleagues reminisce about.

Even if the will and commitment were there, it would take several years to repair the damage that the last decade has done to higher education in Illinois. I do not believe that commitment is there!

Comedy ticket sales start

by Kathy Roesler

Tickets for the theater department's presentation of Moliere's comedy, "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," will go on sale Monday at the Fine Arts Center Box Office, department spokesman J. Sain said.

Performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday and Dec. 3, 4 and 5 in the Doudna Fine Arts Center theatre, Sain said. All performances begin at 8 p.m., with the exception of the Dec. 5 show which will be a 2 p.m. matinee.

With satirical jabs at the medical profession, "The Doctor in Spite of Himself" is the tale of a man who, while reluctantly posing as a physician, is compelled to cure a beautiful princess of a pretended illness, Sain said.

After being coerced into the masquerade, the pseudo-doctor decides to continue his medical practice because "doctors don't get blamed for bad workmanship. Whether we do any good or not, we still get our money."

Ticket prices are $3.50 for adults, $2.50 for youths and senior citizens and $2 for Eastern students. Reservations may be made by calling 581-3110 between 1 and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

International tea set for Tuesday

The last International Tea of the fall semester is scheduled for 2 to 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Wesley Foundation Student Center, 2202 Fourth St.

Foreign student adviser Brigitte Chen said the tea, sponsored each month by an area civic group, allows those interested to meet with Eastern's foreign students and learn more about different cultures.

The Women of the Ashmore Presbyterian Church will sponsor Tuesday's International Tea, Chen said.

A guest speaker is featured at each tea to talk about his native country. However, Chen said plans for Tuesday's speaker have not been confirmed yet. If a speaker is scheduled, she added, he may speak around 2 p.m.

Recreation club sponsors talk

Students considering a job in the recreation field will have the opportunity to attend a lecture on "Outdoor Adventure Through Interpretation" Tuesday.

The lecture, sponsored by the Recreation Majors Club, is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. in McAfee Gym Room 138, recreation instructor William Smith said.

Paul Baumgras, Illinois Department of Conservation chief interpreter, will discuss the department's Interpretive Services.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

Baumgras also will speak to an environmental interpretation class at 2 p.m. Tuesday in McAfee Gym Room 138, Smith added.

Striders fall in districts

by Kirby Flowers

The tough competition proved to be too much for Eastern's women's cross country team Saturday at the NCAA I-AA division IV district at Purdue University.

However, Panther captain Gina Sperry, who led her team in their quest of an NCAA qualification, ended her collegiate career in style, finishing 31st with a time of 18:16.6.

Illinois State's Wendy VanMierlo captured the meet title with a time of 17.6 to advance to the NCAA championships.

"Gina (Sperry) ran a real gutsy race," Eastern coach John Craft said. "The competition was really tough. It was a very exclusive bunch of runners."

"There were a lot of real good runners that didn't make it to the championships," Craft added.

Craft said he was pleased with the way Sperry ran and added he thinks she finished her career appropriately.

"Sperry had an outstanding cross country career at Eastern," Craft said, "and I think she finished it in good style."

Eastern's Anne Ogle finished 82nd, Nancy Kramer notched 85th, and Megan Irons marked a 99th place finish to round out the Panther finishers.

Even though he said he was disappointed by the performance of his other runners, Craft said he is optimistic about Eastern's future.

"I think the other girls could have run better, but they didn't so there is nothing we can do about it know," Craft said.

"We are young and are gaining experience," Craft added. "And with a few new additions next year I think we will have a fine squad."

Eastern was forced to enter only four runners because of an injury to Carrie Mortell and transfer student Margaret Smith's ineligibility.

"We knew that Smith was going to be ineligible for the meet but the injury to Mortell really hurt us," Craft said. "The Mortell injury had a big effect on our season and I think it was the turning point for my squad."

"We had a good year up until Mortell got hurt," Craft said. "The injury seemed to break our stride. We were running great until that point."

"Mortell was our number-three runner up to that point and after her injury it was really tough to try and replace her," he noted.

Staple, Panthers destroy Kentucky St. 73-0

by Paul Black

Kevin Staple scored five touchdowns, rambled for 63 yards and caught four passes for 80 yards, leading Eastern to a 73-0 annihilation of Kentucky State Saturday at O'Brien Field.

The second largest crowd in Eastern's history (12,425) witnessed the greatest onslaught in 51 years. The performance was just eight points shy of an Eastern mark for most points in a game (81), set in 1920 when the Panthers shackled Mecom Academy 81-6.

The victory also capped a 10-0-1 season, the best in the school's history. The fifth-ranked Panthers will await word of a Division I-AA playoff bid next week. A total of 12 bids will be given after the regular season is completed on Nov. 20. Should the Panthers break into the top four, Eastern will host a second-round game on Dec. 4.

Staple's performance in the final regular season game gave the 5-foot-8 junior back 1,012 yards, only the sixth Panther ever to reach the 1,000-yard plateau.

"The 1,000-yard season was one of my goals," Staple said. "But going undefeated is better. If I could have only had 600 yards with the team going undefeated, I'd have been happy."

Staple's performance was just one part of Eastern's success. With the offense scoring at will, Eastern's defense also established a record performance.

The Panther defense dropped the Thorobreds for 67 yards rushing while yielding just 55 yards in the air. The 12-yard showing is a new NCAA Division I-AA record for fewest yards allowed.

The only low point for the defense was the injury of Keith Wojnowski. The All-American defensive end was sidelined with torn ligaments in his left knee during second quarter action and is not expected to return for the playoffs.

The Panther defense made their presence known early, setting up the first scoring opportunity. On fourth down, Gary Bridges broke through the Kentucky State line and blocked a punt. Eastern's Randy McCue recovered the ball at the nine-yard line, and two plays later, Staple scored his first touchdown.

The defense also recorded two safeties and 17 quarterback sacks in the contest as Robert Williams blocked a second Thorobred punt from the end zone. Williams also recorded three pass break-ups.

In addition, Wojnowski's replacement, Dick Essman, had four quarterback sacks and seven tackles. Elvin Carmichael and Tom Moskal had two sacks each.

Quarterback Jeff Christensen notched yet another passing record in Eastern's books. Following up on a 409-yard pass performance against Southwest Missouri State, the senior signal caller completed 16 of 23 passes for 295 yards and six touchdowns.

The six touchdowns erased a single-game high established by Steve Turk in 1978. Saturday's performance lifted Christensen's statistics to 2,270 yards in 1982, 6,282 yards in his Eastern career.

Christensen credited a much improved offensive line for the season's success. "These guys have improved 100 percent this year," he said. "They have given me time to set up and they deserve a lot of credit."

Eastern sprinted off to a 30-0 first quarter lead to tie yet another record. The first-quarter production equaled the Panthers' 30-point frame against Central State four years ago.

Flanker Jim Schmidt scored on a pair of 11-yard strikes, while Roger Holoman grabbed a 30-yard aerial. Reserve running back Booker Brown added a pair of second half touchdowns to seal the Panther victory over the hapless Thorobreds, who fell to 2-9.

Spikers receive No. 4 seed in GCAC championships

by Susan McCann

After splitting two Saturday contests, Eastern's volleyball team received the No. 4 seed for the upcoming Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference championships.

Eastern finished its regular season Saturday with a 34-12 record following a triangular meet at Dayton, Ohio. The Lady Panthers suffered a 13-15, 15-8, 15-6, 15-6 setback at the hands of host Wright State, but bounced back with a 16-14, 15-8, 3-15, 15-8 triumph over Northern Kentucky.

"(Wright State) is a fine team," Panther coach Carol Gruber said. "They've got a senior middle hitter (Carol Westbeld) that's very good. It was very difficult to stop her and very tough to hit past her block."

"The situation was that they mixed up their offspeed and deep shots very well against us. We were there, but we were a half-second late," she added.

Gruber, a member of the three-person league seeding committee, said that although her team notched the fourth seed for the conference tournament, it was not easy to decide whether Eastern or Drake should be placed in the number four slot.

"(The seeding) was easy in some respects and tough in others," Gruber said. "It was pretty cut and dried except deciding whether Eastern or Drake should be seeded fourth."

"We'd both beaten the same schools and lost to the same schools. We looked at just about everything we could look at. Drake led in some areas and we led in others," Gruber said.

"We finally decided to go with what other coaches had voted," she added.

Three GCAC coaches rated Eastern fourth, four thought the Panthers should be the fifth seed and one placed Eastern third. Drake received four fourth-place votes, three fifths and one sixth-place rating.

By assigning point values for each position, Eastern edged Drake by two points and received the No. 4 seed for the league championships.

The difference between the No. 4 and No. 5 slots will have little effect on Eastern and Drake, Gruber said, because the fourth and fifth seeds are scheduled to open their conference play with a head-to-head meeting at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in Springfield, Mo.

Illinois State, which owns two victories over Eastern this season, grab-ed the top seed for the tourney, followed by Southern Illinois. Conference tournament host Southwest Missouri received the third seed.

The sixth through ninth seeds went to Indiana State, Northern Iowa, Western Illinois and Bradley, respectively. The tenth member of the GCAC, Wichita State, did not sponsor a volleyball team this season, but must compete next year to remain in the conference.

If Eastern wins its first conference tournament contest, the Lady Panthers will probably face Illinois State for the third time this season. The Redbirds are slated to open play against the winner of the Western-Bradley match. If Illinois State is victorious, the Redbirds will move on to face the Eastern-Drake winner.
