OCSHA officially opens door—four committees offer services

by Carl Pugliese

After a few short months of planning, the Off-Campus Student Housing Association will officially open its doors Monday.

OCSHA will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in the Student Activities Office located on the second floor of the Union addition.

The association will be an informational source for students seeking off-campus housing. OCSHA also will serve as a mediator between students and their landlords when problems arise, Student Body President Terry Teele said.

The biggest service OCSHA will offer, Teele said, is to help off-campus students find housing availabilities, whether it be an apartment or house.

Also, OCSHA "will come up with different ways to improve off-campus housing," he said.

OCSHA Chairman Bob Erio said the association is divided into four committees which include survey, landlord relations, available housing and publications.

Student Senator Meg Hart and Anita Henninger serve as co-chairmen for the OCSHA Publications Committee. The committee has written a booklet and a pamphlet about OCSHA and its services.

OCSHA brochures will be available at the Student Activities Office, Erio said.

Chairman of the Landlord Relations Committee is Diane Clayberg. The committee will be responsible for providing a means for students to meet with their landlords when problems arise, Erio said.

Barb Craig will serve as chairman of the Available Housing Committee, which will post any available off-campus housing openings on the OCSHA bulletin board located in the Student Activities Office.

Freshman Paul LaRock will serve as Survey Committee chairman. The committee will conduct surveys for off-campus students, including distribution and collection of the surveys and compilation of the data, Erio said.

In addition, OCSHA will sponsor an informational program for off-campus students similar to the Residence Hall Association programs for students who live in residence halls, Teele said.

New probation policy acceptable for some

by Audrey Dumentat

Some Eastern students and faculty members questioned Sunday said they favored the revision of Eastern's probation policy which was passed Thursday by the Council on Academic Affairs.

The revision, proposed by CAA member Pat Wright, must go to Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin and Vice President for Academic Affairs Stanley Rives for final approval.

Wright's policy states that a student whose cumulative grade point average drops below a 2.00 will be placed on academic probation.

Continued probation for more than two consecutive terms will be allowed as long as the student demonstrates "satisfactory progress" toward raising his GPA.

A graduated scale specifies the GPA a student on probation must achieve in order to show "satisfactory progress."

The graduated scale is set up so the farther a student's cumulative GPA falls, the higher GPA he must achieve for the next grading period.

A student on probation will be allowed to enroll in no more than 16 semester hours or 10 semester hours during the summer.

The proposal also states that after remaining out of the university for at least one semester, a student who has been dismissed for low scholarship will be automatically eligible for readmission.

Some students and faculty specifically favored the graduated scale section of the proposal.

English instructor Jeanne Simpson said she thought the graduated scale was "an attempt to be fair to both students and faculty."

"The student has a chance to prove himself (by making satisfactory progress) and the faculty member can be straightforward with the student and tell him what he must do to stay in school," Simpson added.

Simpson said if a student cannot reach what is expected of him for satisfactory progress, "he should be told that the bottom is going to fall out from under him."

Freshman Ed Huber also thought the graduated scale was fair. "The more you let your cumulative GPA go down, the harder you have to work," Huber said.

"The new one (probation policy) forces you to improve. It provides more of an incentive to do better," Huber added.

However, freshman Sue Geimer disagreed with the graduated scale. "I think it's really stupid expecting higher grades from the people who are doing worse."

Most of those questioned said they liked the proposal's plan of automatic reinstatement after dismissal.

"I especially like that they allow students to come back after one semester," Donald Rogers, secondary education instructor, said.

"Students can always have a bad semester and make a mistake. If students can get in here (admitted to the university) in the first place, they really are capable," Rogers added.

Simpson agreed with Rogers on the point of automatic reinstatement. She said, "Sometimes students get off to a bad start."

Jill Bonnett, senior, said she favored automatic reinstatement because "you can come back in no matter what."

AB fund requests tabled

by Douglas Backstrom

Financial Vice President John Cole said at Thursday's Apportionment Board meeting he favors student activity fee funding of the Eastern's Rugby Club and women's Soccer Club.

"I personally would like to see the clubs funded so they won't have to charge their members for the funds needed," AB Chairman Cole said.

He added he has considered asking for the dismissal of the clubs' current bylaws and proposing an AB account for the clubs.

The current bylaws call for the clubs to be funded solely by their own members.

"The clubs are the largest male and female sports clubs on campus and the enrollment of the clubs will decrease because members have to pay the funds needed for the club," he added.

Cole said he has talked with representatives of both clubs about the possibility of allotting the clubs some of the funds they need to continue.

Cole added that if the clubs were given an AB account, the AB would have control over any purchases the clubs might make.

AB members tabled the issue until their next meeting.

In other business, Cole proposed an attendance policy regarding AB meetings because some members have not been regularly attending the meetings.

"If members miss two budget sessions in the fall, they have missed 25 percent of the meetings, or if they miss three sessions in the spring they have missed 33 percent of the meetings," Cole said.

Cole said that currently an AB attendance policy does not exist.

He added that the policy is just a suggestion and that no definite details concerning the proposal have been worked out.

"A line has to be drawn somewhere, because we just can't let it get to the point where people are getting away with missing meetings," Cole said.

Cole added that any attendance proposal should apply not only to student members of the board but also to faculty members.

However, faculty AB member Roy Meyerholtz said the policy could create some problems.

"I find if you put a bunch of restrictions on faculty members serving on student-faculty boards, you may find that the faculty senate will have difficulty finding someone to serve on these boards," Meyerholtz said.

"Consequently, you will find faculty vacancies on these boards," he added.

Reagan stands by his strategy

WASHINGTON—President Reagan will stick with his economic strategy, even if Democrats make substantial gains in next month's congressional elections, a top White House adviser said Sunday.

Presidential counselor Edwin Meese III said "it would be foolhardy to speculate in numbers" on the outcome of the mid-term House and Senate elections, predicting that Republican Party candidates would do well.

Asked during an interview on CBS-TV's "Face The Nation" whether a strong Democratic showing would force Reagan to revamp his policies, Meese replied:

"I don't think he will because if you change course, the only alternative is to go back into the conditions and the methods that got us into this mess in the first place. This idea of tax and spend, which prevailed during the '60's and the '70's is what caused the economic problems that we have today."

Poison stolen from veterinarian

BENSENVILL, ILL.—Police said 18 bottles of a dangerous drug used to humanely kill animals were stolen from a veterinary hospital over the weekend.

Detective Richard Reimer said the drug, buethansia-d, can be fatal to humans.

He said the brown bottles with yellow labels, each containing 100 milliliters of the substance, were taken during a burglary. Some other items were taken, but nothing dangerous. The hospital veterinarian, Dr. William Freeman, told police five milliliters of the drug would be enough to kill a human.

"The medicine is extremely fatal," Reimer said. "I would hate to find someone who didn't know what it was and devour it. With all this Tylenol stuff, we are a bit concerned about this. This stuff is awfully dangerous."

Israel pleased by U.S. position

TEL AVIV, Israel—The Foreign Ministry said Sunday that Israel is gratified by U.S. support in opposing Israeli expulsion from the U.N. General Assembly and technical conferences of the world body.

"Israel is very appreciative and very pleased with the American approach to the problem," a ministry spokesman told The Associated Press. Any formal Israeli statements on the subject would be made by Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir, currently in the United States, he added.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz said Saturday that Washington would withdraw delegations and withhold payments to the General Assembly and the International Telecommunications Conference in Nairobi if those groups voted to expel Israel.

Campaign hits national record

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Republican Sen. Dave Durenberger and his wealthy Democratic challenger, Mark Dayton, have set a national record — nearly $8 million — for spending in a U.S. Senate campaign, according to reports filed with the Federal Election Commission.

The $7.85 million total for the two major candidates in Minnesota eclipses the previous record of $7.72 million, set in 1978 during Republican Sen. Jesse Helms's successful re-election battle against Democrat John R. Ingram in North Carolina. Helms spent $7.4 million in that race, but a sizable portion went to his fund-raiser, Richard Viguerie.

Among other high-spending Senate races this year are California and probably Texas. Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Republican Pete Wilson spent a combined total $7.3 million through Sept. 30.

In Texas, Democratic Sen. Lloyd Bentsen has raised $4,436,775 and spent $2,859,260 on his re-election battle against GOP Rep. James Collins, who refuses to say how much he has spent. The Federal Election Commission, which had a Friday deadline for financial reports from Senate candidates, had no figures over the weekend for Collins.

Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Me., a millionaire and one of the wealthiest members of the Senate, reported raising more than $1.6 million, nearly three times the total of his Democratic challenger, Harriett Woods. All of Danforth's campaign fund came from individual contributions or political action committees.

Another wealthy senator, Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, had raised $3.6 million for his re-election campaign by Sept. 30, and his $1.68 million cash on hand — compared with $146,452 left for spending by his GOP opponent, Paul Pfeifer.

Lavoris found laced with acid

CLEARWATER, Florida (AP)—Authorities pulled Lavoris mouthwash from the shelves of a store after four bottles were found laced with acid, the latest contamination of a consumer product since seven people died from Tylenol capsules containing cyanide.

Meanwhile, officials in Palm Beach County, Fla., were checking Visine A.C. eye drops for possible contamination following complaints from four women that their eyes burned after using the product. A Grand Junction, Colo., man suffered corneal burns Oct. 11 after using Visine A.C. drops that contained hydrochloric acid.

A teen-ager was arrested in Kentucky on Sunday after authorities recieved a letter warning that some food products had been poisoned, and in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a rural couple was accused of threatening to inject insecticide into grocery items.

In Chicago, the search for leads in the deaths of seven area residents who took Extra-Strength Tylenol laced with cyanide turned nationwide. Authorities are seeking a fugitive suspected of trying to extort $1 million from the manufacturer of Tylenol, and police say they want to see if there is any reason to connect him with the killings.

Police in Clearwater said Sunday that who ever put acid in the four bottles of Lavoris found in an Albertsons store in Belleair Bluffs may have gotten idea from the Chicago killings.

A tourist from Massachusetts suffered minor mouth burns Thursday after he took a swig from a bottle of Lavoris bought at the store. He spit out the mouthwash, police said

Cyanide leads turn nationwide

CHICAGO (AP)— The nerve center for the investigation of the seven Tylenol killings is here, but the search for leads has turned nationwide.

With the apparent lack of any firm suspect in the cyanide poisoning deaths, authorities have centered their focus on James W. Lewis, a 36-year-old fugitive from Missouri, now wanted in Chicago for allegedly trying to extort $1 million from the manufacturer of Tylenol, threatening more deaths.

Investigators were first inclined to treat the alleged extortion attempt as a malicious prank, but when word surfaced that Lewis was at one time charged with a Kansas City murder, the picture changed.

Now, police say, they're treating the extortion letter Lewis allegedly wrote to McNeil Consumer Products Co. as an authentic attempt to get the money and they want to see if there's any reason to connect him with the killings.

FBI finger print specialists in Washington were trying to match a smudged print found on one of the cyanide-contaminated Extra-Strength Tylenol bottles to Lewis' prints. And Chicago police sent out nationwide a special bulletin on Lewis and his 35-year-old wife, Leann, warning that both should be considered armed and dangerous.

Counselor: Charleston man spreads joy by waving less anxiety if prepared

by Maggie Kennedy

An ounce of preparation can be worth a ton of last-minute cramming.

Counseling Center Director Bud Sanders stressed the importance of preparation during a seminar Wednesday on test anxiety.

"Preparation is the key," Sanders said. "This not only applies to test-taking situations, but also in sports, music and other areas."

Sanders said a certain level of tension before a test can be beneficial because everyone seems to perform better in a state of mild anxiety.

"Tension in itself is a motivating force," he said. "It is this anxiety that makes one look before crossing the street."

Sanders said this tension can reach an extreme level of anxiety and reduce a student's performance on a test.

The anxiety could be caused by many factors including an unfortunate past experience which causes a student to put excessive demands on himself to do well.

"To avoid this anxiety I tell students to follow three main steps," Sanders said. "These are early preparation, middle preparation and final preparation."

"The problem with studying in your bedroom is that you do too many other things there and you have outside forces pulling at you," he said.

Another suggestion he made was to play Baroque classical music in the background while studying. A recent theory claims the predictable beat of the music will keep the creative (right) side of your brain occupied, so the left side can concentrate on the material, he said.

Sanders said students should not expect to be able to answer all the questions on a test, but only most of them.

Yet life is always better when we take the time to be a friend to someone we don't even know and all it takes is one hello.—Amanda Bradly

He sits, surrounded by marigolds, in a lawn chair with his feet propped up on his grandson Jason's swing.

His name is Jim Sublette, 54, and he's the father of two daughters, Sandy, 32, and Jeri Lynn, 28. If you are one of the many college students, residents or visitors of Charleston who pass by 507 Taft St., chances are you have seen him.

He is the man who waves.

"Sometimes," Jim said, "I think people must call me 'that nut out there in the marigolds,' and I imagine a lot of people think I'm crazy or an invalid."

But by stopping and talking with Jim, like many people have—most of whom Jim knows only by first name or car—you will discover that he is neither.

He is just a man spreading happiness.

Jim does not know how he got started waving. He said one day he was out in his front yard and waved at some people going past and they waved back.

He said he waved at some more people and because he liked making people feel special and also liked getting "that good feeling inside when people wave back," he kept on waving.

Individuals going past will notice that Jim is the type of man who is always busy doing something, no matter what the task.

Jim will jokingly tell you that his job with the Norfolk and Western Railroad was abolished in June because the railroad decided he was not doing anything.

Jim and wife Maxine have lots of good stories to tell from the days of their courtship to the days working with the railroad and now to the days of waving at passersby.

Jim tells a story about one woman who stopped by just to tell him how much she appreciated his waving.

She told Jim that when she drives by, her little 2-year-old daughter always waves and says, "Hi, Mommie's friend," whether Jim is outside or not.

Jim will tell you about a man who stopped one day and gave him two new lawn chairs as a show of his appreciation.

Jim will also tell you about the people who drive past when he is out waving and then remember that they forgot to wave by the time they reach the next driveway.

The car will slow down and someone will lean out the window and wave.

"This," he said, "worries me." Jim said he doesn't want to cause any car accidents.

Of the many people who have passed by the Sublette's home, there is one person in particular who Jim would like to meet.

Her name is Tracee Hoffmeyer. She was an Eastern student this summer and sent the first letter stating appreciation to Jim because he waves.

"If anyone has any ideas of how I can wave at people this winter," Jim said, "let me know."

Guidance service forecasts job market

by Frank Garvin

The answers to vocational whats, wheres, whens and how much can be found through the Guidance Information System, a service offered by the Counseling Center.

Counselor David Baird said the GIS offers an abundance of information concerning a variety of topics.

The GIS occupation file has more than 800 job descriptions and salary ranges, Baird said. In addition, the system forecasts the job market to 1985.

Other files contained in the GIS include armed services occupations, four-year colleges, two-year colleges, financial aids, Illinois vocational technical schools, graduate and professional schools.

"We had over 500 students come in last year to make use of the GIS terminal and 200 have already made use of it this semester," he said.

The information is stored at the computer terminal center in Edwardsville, Baird said. Eastern pays $2,000 each year for software provided by the Time Share Corp. of Joughton Mifflin Publishing Co.

In order to accommodate the large number of students using the terminal, Baird said, a "Peer Counseling" program has been started using 11 graduate students from the educational psychology and guidance department.

"The graduate students go through a thorough training program and are then able to aid students in using the GIS terminal," he added. "This really helps free up the full-time professional staff members for other activities."

OCSHA, a solution for tenant woes

After only four months of quick, but thorough, planning, Eastern's Off-Campus Student Housing Association stands ready to offer help to students seeking or living in off-campus housing.

Eastern students have a great need for OCSHA. Student government officials who worked to organize the association should be congratulated for finally recognizing and taking quick action to meet that need.

Organizing a project of OCSHA's importance is a difficult task, but organizing it in the space of only four months is a major accomplishment.

Today OCSHA opens its doors to off-campus students who need guidance in dealing with their landlords or help finding off-campus housing.

Eastern's student government has provided OCSHA's services to the students of Eastern and those services should be utilized.

By utilizing the services of OCSHA, students will help the organization develop to its full potential.

One of the services OCHSA will offer to students is a full listing of major apartment complexes and landlords in Charleston.

This listing should eliminate the take-it-and-hope-for-the-best type of housing decision. Students will now be able to make informed housing decisions instead of taking hopeful stabs in the dark.

A listing of types of leases and cost of residences will also be available for student use. This listing should help students understand their leases and will allow them to comparison shop when looking for off-campus housing.

If students have specific legal problems, such as broken lease agreements or deposits being unfairly held for damages, OCSHA will refer them to Eastern's Student Legal Service.

In addition, OCSHA will give equal representation to both students and landlords. Two Charleston realtors, Hank Beurskens and Ed McClain, will serve as landlord liaisons to the OCSHA Board of Directors.

Because OCSHA will act as a neutral mediator between students and landlords when problems arise, students who encounter problems with a landlord should seek the association's help with the problem.

Off-campus housing has its problems. It is sometimes hard to find or hard to live with once you find it. OCSHA should provide practical solutions to the problems of off-campus life.

Students losing power by failing to exercise vote

When a constitutional amendment gave 18-year-olds the right to vote in 1971, many thought the change would give students a great deal of power. That hasn't happened.

It's not that that power doesn't exist. We just don't exercise it.

Simply put, students don't vote.

Politicians know that. Many pay no attention to students' needs. They know, or at least they think, that they don't need to.

For example, let's look at what the Republican candidate for Congress in this district, Dan Crane, thinks about cutbacks to student financial aid:

"I don't think it'll hurt," Crane said. "Anyone who wants a college education badly enough can get one."

That's what Dan Crane thinks.

Unfortunately, most students at the university probably don't know who Dan Crane is. They should.

Maybe then Crane, and our current Congressman, Ed Madigan, wouldn't be voting in Congress the way they have been on bills that affect students.

Maybe they wouldn't even be in Congress.

There are 33,000 students at the University of Illinois. That's a lot of potential votes. That's a lot of potential power.

Congressman Paul Simon of Carbondale can tell you about the power of student votes. He's generally acknowledged as Congress' leading fighter for aid to students and colleges. He's that way for a good reason.

In 1980, Simon won his Congressional race by only 2,000 votes. Southern Illinois University, in Simon's district, has about 24,000 students. Simon openly admits that he would not be sitting in Congress today—fighting for students—if they had not put him there.

In that 1980 election, in fact, 101 members of the U.S. House were elected by margins of victory less than the number of students in the district. Now, that's potential power.

Most of us live in Champaign-Urbana for at least four years. We spend a lot of time here and a lot of money. The area's economy absolutely depends on us, yet we have little influence here.

Not that all of us would vote the same way. We've all got different ideas on how the world should be changed. But right now, many of us are depriving ourselves of the power to make these changes.

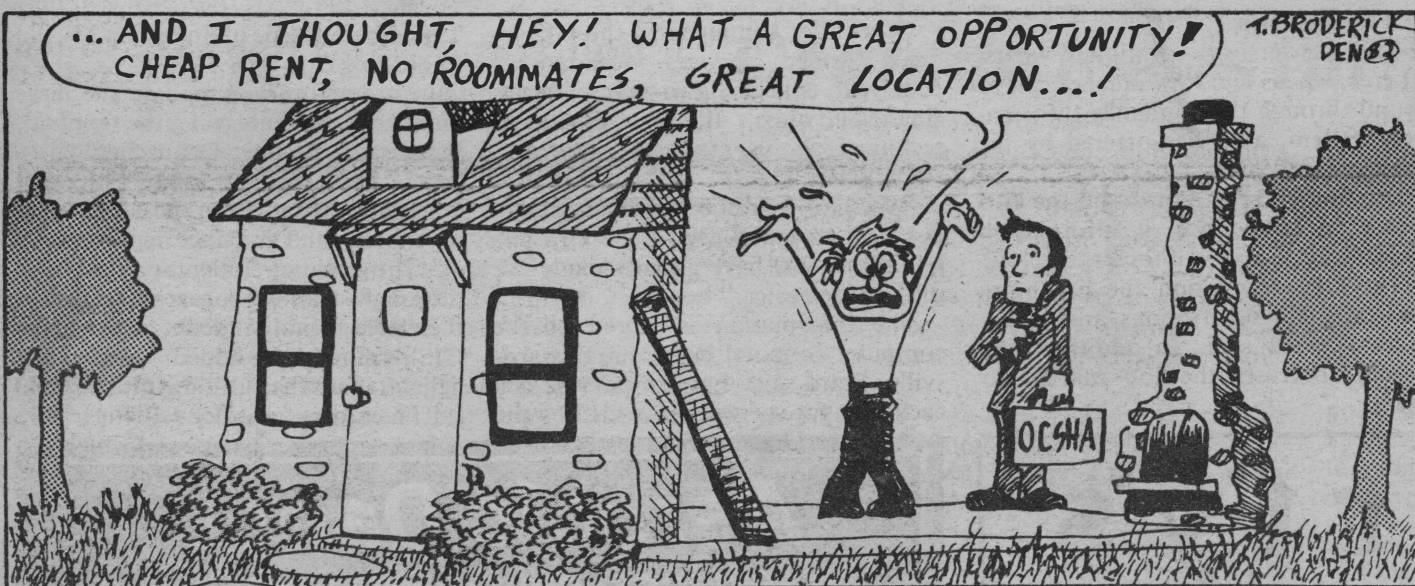

Power starts with voting.

Elections are Nov. 2. Voting takes five minutes, tops. That's five minutes of your time to do something very, very important.

So do it.

Float decision poor

Editor:

This letter is in reference to the poor judgment of the Homecoming Committee chairman, Tina O'Keefe.

It was easy to tell that Homecoming was poorly organized by the attempt to blame everyone else, but the person at fault, for the decision of disqualifying a float.

How can points be given the night before and revoked 12 hours later? The reason: rain damage to the float made it unrepresentable to public display and, in the words of the chairman, was a "disgrace to Disney." The float was an Eastern panther playing football on a football field—definitely a Disney character.

The points were taken away because the float didn't participate in the parade. However, the chairman said it could not participate in the parade because of the extensive damage received the night before. It was agreed the float was in a shambles and was not paraded. However, the entry fee had been paid, work completed, project judged and points awarded!

The Homecoming committee chairman stated that the decision was a general consensus of the Homecoming committee, although not all of the committee knew of its decision.

Next time, Miss Chairman, you should inform the rest of the committee of the problem and of how they voted before others can talk to them.

More copiers needed

Editor:

After over three years of attending Eastern, I've begun to question the sensitivity of the directors of Booth Library.

If they care about the students they are supposed to be serving or the books and magazines which many a frustrated student destroys (or appropriates), then why are there only three Xerox machines available for student use?

Rarely, in three years of observation, have all three Xerox machines been in operating order. Equally as rare is a courteous student worker who is not irritable from running back and forth to fill or somehow fix a machine that regularly malfunctions from obvious overuse.

I fail to understand how a university with nearly 10,000 students can believe that it is adequately meeting student needs with three (on a good day) Xerox machines.

The planned new carpeting for the reference floor of the library will be nice—but it won't help the student gain knowledge. As a student, I sympathize with the frustrated individual who feels defeated by a system which gleefully works against him or her.

This has gone on for three years. There seems to be little hope for more adequate copying facilities in the future. At present, however, three Xerox machines for the entire university seems to show a real lack of consideration for the student.

It is hard to respect a system which fails to respect those whom it is designed to serve.

Group to play 'piano blues'

Erwin Helfer and Friends, a Chicago-based group, will bring the "piano blues" to Eastern Tuesday.

The University Board is sponsoring the group's appearance at noon Tuesday in the Union Bridge Lounge, Diane Capranica, UB performing arts committee coordinator, said.

Erwin Helfer, a blues and boogie pianist, has been playing at Chicago and New Orleans blues and jazz clubs for more than 25 years, she said.

The group's performance will be open to the public free of charge.

Campus counselor runs for state office

by Matthew Krasnowski

Members of the Eastern community have run for office in the past and this year is no exception.

David Lee Weir is the Democratic candidate for state representative of the 106th district and also is a counselor at Eastern's Counseling Center.

"I don't campaign out of my office," Weir said. "There is no campaign literature in my office. I confirm appointments when people call me, but campaign business goes on outside of my office."

As a counselor, Weir said he does what "every other counselor does."

"Fifty percent of the students who come to me come with vocational problems," Weir said.

"The other 50 percent come with personal or emotional problems," Weir added. "It could be roommate problems, girlfriend-boyfriend problems or weight problems."

"I coordinate study skills groups and groups who deal with personal issues," he added.

Weir said he cannot afford to quit his job as a counselor to concentrate on the campaign.

"I have to run on a grass roots campaign—get out and meet people whenever I can," he said. "I go to meetings every week and if there is a fall festival anywhere in the area, I have to get out there and shake hands."

Getting around would seem to be a problem in itself for Weir, who is a paraplegic, but he claims it is not a great obstacle.

"At one time the consensus was that I would have trouble getting around campaigning," Weir said. "But now people say 'jeez, there's David Lee'—I'm everywhere you look."

Weir said if elected he would probably not be able to keep his counseling position at Eastern.

"I'll have to cross that bridge when I meet it," he said. "If elected I couldn't continue to work as a full-time counselor, but I would like to make some arrangement (with Eastern) because I enjoy working here and meeting people."

"If elected I'd like to keep close to

David Lee Weir

Eastern by being a visiting lecturer," Weir added.

"Working at Eastern has been one of the best jobs I've ever had," Weir said. "Part of me does not look forward to leaving."

Seminar to help boost self view

"Self Affirmation," a seminar dealing with the building of self-esteem, will be offered by the Counseling Center Wednesday as the seventh in a series of Life Skills seminars.

Melanie Rawlins, who will conduct the seminar, said, "We can only grow and become individuals when we receive sufficient affirmations and encouragements."

Many people not only have poor views of themselves, but are "put down" by others, she added.

"Self Affirmation" will be presented at noon Wednesday in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon and Greenup rooms.

Burning leaves improperly means fines

by Gene O'Shea

Fall is here once again and with it comes the raking and disposal of leaves.

Eastern students living off-campus should be aware of what the Charleston city code says about burning leaves.

The city code states that it is illegal to burn leaves on asphalt streets or sidewalks.

Charleston City Attorney Tony Sunderman said fines for the offense of burning leaves on an asphalt surface range from $1 to $500 per offense.

He said repetitive violators will be charged more than others. Sunderman added that commercial enterprises would be receive a large fine if found burning leaves on asphalt.

He said it is illegal to burn leaves on asphalt because it "burns the streets."

A spokesman for the Charleston Fire Department said, "It's my understanding that we don't do anything unless someone complains, but you can burn leaves as long as you don't burn them on asphalt."

Sunderman said at one time the Environmental Protection Agency ruled that it was illegal to burn leaves, but have since changed the ruling.

Women against rape seek volunteers to help victims

by Lisa Albarran

The Coles County Women Against Rape Volunteer Association will conduct a training session for new volunteers this week.

"The sessions are only for those interested in becoming volunteers, not for people who just want to learn more about rape," Bonnie Buckley, CCWAR member, said.

CCWAR was formed in 1977. Tammy Lia, CCWAR member, said, "We work in conjunction with Help Line-Rape Line, a 24-hour telephone service available for individuals who need immediate counseling. They refer any rape victims to us."

Volunteers will undergo training in a variety of areas dealing with sexual assaults, Buckley said.

Carla Watson, CCWAR member, is head of the emergency nursing staff at Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center and Yearbook gains first class rank

by Douglas Backstrom

Eastern's yearbook, the Warbler, received a first class rating from the Associated Collegiate Press recently for its 1982 edition.

Adviser Mary Wohlrabe said the first class rating is not an award, but means the yearbook is "very good" in the eyes of the ACP.

The Warbler was under the direction of Editor in Chief Scott Fishel and was judged on photography/graphics, text copy, clubs/organizations, theme and design.

ACP judge B.J. Hill said in a written critique that the greatest strength of the 1982 Warbler is in the area of copy writing.

"The reporters worked hard to get interesting stories and the editorial staff did a great job in presenting the stories," Hill stated in the critique.

Current Editor in Chief Rebecca Corzilius said, "We won second place last year, so next year we hope for the All-American rating."

She added, "The critique they sent us had a lot of good advice—a lot of things that will help us in the future."

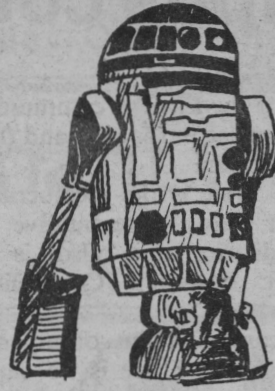

Production Manager Hart Gately said, "We were hoping for the All-American rating, but I'm not disappointed as long as we are improving."

An All-American rating is the highest award given by the ACP.

will be giving new trainees a tour of the Emergency Room clinic. She also will be teaching them first aid techniques to use when dealing with rape victims, Buckley said.

Those interested in volunteering for the program are encouraged to call Buckley at 345-7851, Lia at 235-0883 or Sue Woods at 581-5761 for more information and details.

Sessions are scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. Monday and Thursday.

Alumni in business slated to share work experience, success secrets

by Maureen Foertsch

Eastern alumni are going to bring their "secrets for success" in business to campus.

The Eastern Alumni Professional Activities Program was designed recently to bring Eastern alumni who have become successful in the business world back to campus to speak about their experiences, Al Siepker, vice president for activities of Delta Sigma Pi, said.

The lecture series will be sponsored by Delta Sigma Pi, Eastern's business fraternity, the School of Business and Alumni Services, he said.

"The program was designed to utilize successful businessmen and women by having them come back to Eastern to talk to students and provide a role model," Siepker said.

The program will be an annual event which should bring about four alumni speakers to Eastern each year, he added.

Siepker said he and Mike Flaherty, also vice president for Delta Sigma Pi activities, originated the idea for the program.

Delta Sigma Pi will have to provide about half the funding for the program this year, Siepker said.

"Alumni Services has pledged about $200 to the program for this year, which is all they can afford since the program wasn't worked into their budget," he said.

He said Charles Titus, director of Alumni Services, also has helped with the program by compiling a list of alumni to be contacted.

Dean of the School of Business Ted Ivarie also has helped by contacting alumni and taking care of the printing for the program, he said.

Siepker said the first speakers are scheduled for next week, but he has not yet received complete information about the appearance.

The free lectures will be open to the public, he added.

Students to use computer in new graphics course

by James Talley

What do Hollywood, computers, graphic art and the Fine Arts Building have in common?

Eastern instructor Sydney Balbes.

As the newest addition to the art department's staff, Balbes said he is helping to expand its graphic art computer program.

Balbes came to Eastern this fall from Hollywood with 20 years experience in commercial art, freelance graphics for advertising agencies, art studios, motion picture studios, television stations and record companies.

"We are hoping to expand the program from Graphics I and II to where next fall there will be a Graphics III," Balbes said. "Then in the future we are hoping for a Graphics IV."

"I plan to stay here and build a program with Terry Roller," Balbes said. Roller is an instructor in graphic arts.

"We really compliment each other. With my experience in the field and Terry's experience with students, we should be able to conduct a very good program," Balbes said.

Most of Balbes' work can be recognized by students even if his name cannot. He has designed such logos as the Craig Stereo sign and the Kentucky Fried Chicken barrel which was used until just recently.

He also has created the television title drawings and special effects art for such shows as "Outer Limits," "To Kill A Mockingbird," "Charade" and "The Birds."

"We are in the process of starting an internship program for graphic design students. This would be a summer project where students could either observe or work at a place where graphic art is used," Balbes said. "Their participation in this project could give them school credit."

Daily Eastern News correspondent

TERRE HAUTE, IND.—When Eastern's football team needs help, it usually finds it and Saturday was no exception as the Panthers held on to defeat Missouri Valley Conference member Indiana State 16-12 at Memorial Stadium.

"It's simple," Eastern quarterback Jeff Christensen said. "When we need to have a big play, we just seem to come up with it."

Saturday afternoon, help came from the toe of sophomore place kicker Dave Strauch, who booted three field goals in leading the Division I-AA 20th ranked Panthers to their sixth victory of the season.

Strauch, who has been feeling the pressure of inconsistency this season, was on target this time with field goals of 46, 28 and 36 yards to lead Eastern and turn in what he said was the biggest thrill of his life.

"It seems like I have a good game and then two bad ones," Strauch said. "But this is my best game ever."

"You can't imagine what a thrill it is to contribute to a team like this. I knew I was going to be called on today, but I didn't want to lose my confidence."

Consequently, neither did his teammates, who broke a 14-game losing streak to Indiana State in lifting their season record to 6-0-1.

"We're really pleased with our effort today. We did exactly what we wanted to do," Eastern head coach Darrell Mudra said. "Our passing game was down and we dropped a lot of passes, but when we needed points we got them."

Throughout the game, Eastern had trouble keeping drives intact and although Strauch does not like the expression, the Panthers had to settle for field goals to down the 4-3 Sycamores.

"It seems like we'd move the ball and then the drive would stall," Strauch said. "I don't like it, but we had to score three points at a time to win."

Indiana State scored first with the first of a Sycamore and MVC record four field goals, (29, 41, 34 and 44 yards) by senior Dennis Teegarden. However, Strauch and Co. rallied back with two field goals and a 15-yard touchdown pass from Christensen to Pat Blair to lead 13-3 at the half.

by Jim Woodcock

According to Eastern soccer head coach Schellas Hyndman, what could have been a make or break weekend for the Panthers turned out to be neither.

"I don't think that we will move in the rankings," Hyndman said after his squad topped St. Louis 1-0 and tied Southern Methodist University 0-0 this weekend in the Eastern Classic at Lakeside Field.

Following Friday and Saturday's play, the Panthers' season record stands at 7-2-5, and consequently Hyndman said their record is not too bad.

"But the five ties is what may hurt us because people will look at them as half wins and half losses," Hyndman said. "And as far as this weekend is concerned, they (the NCAA pollsters) would be looking to see if we could beat these teams, not tie them."

"I think both teams were waiting for the other to make mistakes and we just capitalized on their mistakes today," Christensen said.

"Dave (Strauch) is a good kicker but he just has to go out and not let things bother him," Christensen added. "When we needed him, he came through. I never doubted him."

Top-notch defense by both teams played a spoiler in the initial half, but the biggest play of the half resulted from a Christensen fumble on the Eastern 32-yard line.

With 1:19 remaining in the first quarter, Christensen scrambled looking to pass to the right side but the Sycamore defense forced the Panther standout back 10 yards.

Indiana State's Walter Seaphus ran down Christensen and forced the game's first turnover. Sycamore left end Kurt Bell picked up the loose ball and ran it to the Panther 19-yard line.

Five Indiana State plays moved the ball 13 yards, but Panther Reggie Taylor halted the Sycamore drive by sacking senior quarterback Scott Bartel for a six-yard loss. Enter Teegarden, who booted a 29-yard field goal and the Sycamores salvaged three points.

"We're always concerned with field position, and today we had a sound game plan forcing them (the Sycamores) to kick field goals," Eastern defensive coordinator Cal (See PANTHERS, page 14)

Booters shut out Billikens

"So it would be a real shame if we failed to get a post-season bid because of these ties," Hyndman added. "Right now we have to look at finishing with a 12-2-5 record which wouldn't be too bad."

However, the tournament did hurt St. Louis, now 6-5-2, which was ranked fifth in the Midwest right behind the Panthers.

"We really set them back by beating them," Hyndman said. "Hopefully, that put them out and we can worry about North Texas State, SIU and Southern Methodist."

Friday's battle with the Billikens turned out to be a cautious, slow-moving affair. St. Louis was in control of the tempo throughout the first half, but Eastern broke loose in the second half with better scoring opportunities.

Neil Swindells, who had not scored this season up to last week, broke the

Spikers rally, capture Eastern tournament

by Susan McCann

Eastern's never-say-die spikers rallied from a two-game deficit Saturday to defeat Loyola University and win the EIU Invitational.

"One thing our team is, is persistent," Eastern coach Carol Gruber said. "The fact that we can go the distance and never give up" has lifted the Panthers to several come-from-behind victories, including the invitational final.

In the championship match with Loyola, the Panthers jumped ahead 2-0 and pulled out to a 13-5 advantage in the first game. But Loyola came back to notch a 16-14 victory.

"We totally outplayed them in the first game," Gruber said. "We just basically let down. (The Panthers) thought they had it in the bag and then we had some service receiving errors."

"When you have serve receive errors, you can't run your offense," she added. "Loyola is the type of team that will take advantage of your errors."

The Lady Ramblers then jumped out to a two-game-to-none lead with a 15-9 victory, when "we just didn't play well," Gruber said.

But although the Lady Panthers were down, they stormed back with a decisive 15-4 triumph, pulling Eastern within a 2-1 deficit in games.

"It was Loyola's turn to let down," Gruber said. "We came on strong and started forcing bad passes with our serves."

"We had very effective defense because we really started going for the ball," she added.

"As soon as we won that third game, I knew in my mind that we could pull it out. And I think the team knew it, too," Gruber said.

Her feeling turned out to be correct, as the Lady Panthers eked out a 15-13 victory to even the match. Then Eastern's spikers relentlessly attacked the tiring Loyola defense and notched a 15-9 decision to take the tournament crown.

Before reaching the invitational playoff, the Panthers won both their matches in pool play. Because they did not lose a game, Eastern's players received a bye in the first round of championship play.

Western Illinois won three matches in pool play—over Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Loyola and Evansville—but the Westerwinds dropped one game. That single loss gave Western a lower game-winning percentage than the Panthers and the second seed for the playoff.

Loyola received the third seed after downing Evansville and Milwaukee and losing to Western.

Lewis, which lost to Eastern and defeated Parkside, was seeded fourth.

Milwaukee earned the fifth seed with a victory over Evansville coupled with two losses.

In the playoff's first round, Parkside surprised Lewis, winning 15-7, 5-15, 15-11 and earning the right to meet Eastern in the semifinals.

Yount helps Milwaukee down Cardinals 6-4

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Robin Yount capped a record second four-hit game with a home run, leading the Milwaukee Brewers to a 6-4 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday and a one-game edge in the 79th World Series.

Responding to the cheers of "MVP, MVP" from the crowd of 56,562, Yount had a double and two singles along with his solo homer in the seventh inning. He scored twice and figured in two of Milwaukee's other runs.

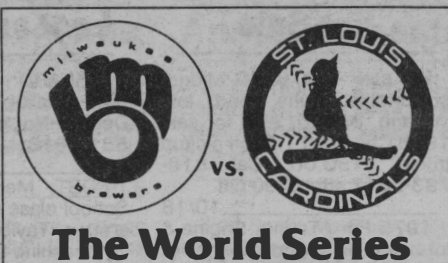

Yount, who also had four hits in Game 1, is the first player in Series to have two four-hit games. He now has 11 hits and six RBI's in 21 at-bats in the Series. The Brewers lead the best-of-seven championship three to two.

For winning pitcher Mike Caldwell, the game was in stark contrast to his three-hit, 10-0 masterpiece in Game 1. This time, the Cardinals battled Caldwell in each inning, banging out 14 hits and finally chasing out with one away in the top of the ninth.

Bob McClure, who saved Game 4, came in after Keith Hernandez doubled in one run and scored on a single by George Hendrick. McClure gave up a single to Darrell Porter, but struck out Willie McGee, the hero of Game 3, and got pinch-hitter Gene Tenace to fly out to left to preserve the victory.

That Series returns to Busch Stadium in St. Louis Tuesday night. The last 30 times the Series has been tied at two victories each, the winner of Game 5 went on to win the championship 23 times. The Cardinals will try to beat the odds in Game 6 with rookie right-hander John Stuper, while Milwaukee will go with veteran Don Sutton.

Bob Forsch, who opposed Caldwell in Game 1, started again for St. Louis Sunday. Although less than perfect, he was better than his first time around, when he yielded 10 hits and four earned runs in five and two thirds innings.

This time, the Brewers scratched for their runs, scoring one each in the first, third, fifth and seventh innings as Forsch scattered eight hits in seven innings. Milwaukee added two more runs in the eighth off the Cardinals' ace reliever, Bruce Sutter.

Twice during the third and sixth innings, a very light rain fell from overcast skies. The Milwaukee offense copied the weather. It never poured. It just sprinkled.

The Brewers, who have had at least 10 hits in four of the five games, had 11 Sunday, giving them 53 for the Series.

With one out in the first inning, Yount singled off Forsch's left foot. Cecil Cooper singled into right field, but Yount had to stop at second as he waited for the ball to drop in front of Hendrick, the Cardinal right fielder.

Forsch, trying to pick Yount off second, threw the ball into center field for an error, allowing Yount to take third and Cooper to advance to second. Yount scored on a grounder to first by catcher Ted Simmons.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, stranded runners in every inning against Caldwell, scoring their runs in the third and seventh and ninth.

With two out in the third, rookie David Green tripled under the glove of diving Moore in right field and Hernandez, who started the game 0-for-15 in the Series, doubled Green home.

Hernandez reached third on an infield single by Hendrick as the light rain began falling. Gantner's fine play behind the second-base bag kept Hendrick's hit from reaching the outfield and saved Caldwell one run when the next hitter, Porter, grounded to second.

Field hockey falters in Panther tourney

by Julie Deetz

Eastern's field hockey team suffered three losses at its own Panther Invitational this weekend and dropped its season record to 3-9.

The Lady Panthers fell to Indiana State 6-0 Friday in the opening match of the invitational and could not rebound in their following match to Northern Illinois.

Eastern dropped its second game to the Huskies 2-1 in double overtime and penalty flicks.

Junior Pat Taber was the leading scorer for Indiana State with three goals. Beth Gellman, Tami Stainfield and Diane Lipinski also added goals for the Sycamores against Eastern.

In the Northern Illinois game, the Huskies' Stacie Bowman scored a goal at 6:47 in the match. Eastern added a goal in the second half by senior captain Deb Seybert, but it would prove not enough for the Panthers.

The match remained tied through two overtimes, but Northern Illinois eventually clinched the victory during the penalty flicks on a goal by Bowman.

"The Northern game was a heart-breaker but we'll have a chance to beat them in two weeks in DeKalb," Eastern head coach Beth Reichel said.

Eastern tallied 11 shots at goal, seven penalty corners and 14 goalie saves for the afternoon. Northern Illinois had 20 penalty corners, 23 shots at goal and seven goalie saves.

Eastern lost its third match 3-0 Saturday to Southwest Missouri State, the eventual tournament champion. Linda Schachet scored the Bears' first goal five minutes into the first half and another goal 20 minutes later to pace the Bears.

In the second half, Southwest Missouri's Kris Kellams scored with an assist from forward Kim Schwaab to add some insurance to the Bears' shutout.

Reichel said although Eastern lost to Southwest Missouri, she was pleased with her players' competition against the Bears. "Southwest Missouri is an excellent team and I feel that we moved the ball well against them," Reichel said.

Panther co-captain Mary Ohl said she did not know for sure what attributed to this weekend's losses. "Something wasn't working this weekend. We can't seem to put our offense and defense together for the right combination," Ohl said.

Colleen Fletcher, who was injured twice in the Indiana game, said she believes the losses could have been the result of the Panthers' "mental attitude."

"Once the other teams scored against us, we couldn't seem to pull ourselves up again. We have the talent—we just couldn't put anything together this weekend," Fletcher said.

Jones said. "The kids are great and today we had an extraordinary effort."

The Panthers failed on their next drive, but eventually knotted the contest on six plays two minutes later. After the Sycamores could not get a first down with a fake field goal, Eastern took over at its own 28-yard line.

Junior running back Kevin Staple ran twice for 13 and three yards respectively and Christensen completed a 27-yard pass to Jerry Wright to move the ball to the Sycamore 29-yard line. Christensen threw wild to Blair and the Panthers settled for three points from Strauch with 8:11 on the clock.

It took the Panthers 55 seconds on their next drive to post their first lead of the contest. Eastern strong linebacker Ortega Jackson recovered a Sycamore fumble at the ISU 19-yard line and the Panther offense took it from there.

Staple, who notched 85 yards on 22 carries, ran twice for a total of four yards and Christensen missed on a pass to Wright to set up Strauch's second field goal from 28 yards out.

"We started slow today and made some corrections as we went along. But I knew we had to start scoring points if we were going to win," Staple said. "We were having trouble continuing drives, but we didn't mind giving the ball to Strauch."

Another Indiana State fumble set up the Panthers' only touchdown of the afternoon, as Christensen used one pass to Blair at the Sycamore 15-yard line to lift Eastern ahead 13-3 with 4:54 remaining before the intermission.

Indiana State added a field goal before the stop, but the Panthers would eventually hold on to upset the Sycamores' Homecoming with a Strauch field goal at 13:28 of the fourth quarter.

Indiana State had previously closed the gap to 13-12 with Teegarden's record fourth field goal with 13:33 remaining in the contest.

Panther Notes... Eastern's Jeff Christensen completed 14 of 34 passes with an interception to lead the Panther passing attack which notched 158 yards Saturday...With most of the teams in the NCAA's Division I-AA top 20 losing Saturday, the Panthers moved into the elite undefeated group of four teams...The Panthers should move up in the poll this week as eight teams ahead of them have either two or three losses this season.

Striders run poorly in placing sixth

by Rhea Nall

For the third straight year the Southern Illinois University-Carbondale cross country team captured the Illinois Intercollegiate overall team championship, while Eastern placed sixth in this year's competition.

Southern finished with 35 points, University of Illinois finished second with 51 points and Illinois State placed third with 78 points.

North Central finished fourth with 96 points, DePaul finished fifth with 119 points and Eastern rounded out the top six teams, who gathered Saturday on the Lantz course, with 146 points.

University of Illinois runner Mike Patton was the individual winner with a time of 30.11 on the 10,000 meter course. Tom Ross and Mike Keane of Southern finished second and third respectively.

Southern placed four of the top 10 runners in the meet to lead them to victory.

Eastern was led by senior standout Tim Warneke who finished sixth with a time of 30.35. Second for Eastern was Perry Edinger, who placed 16th overall with a time of 31.15. Bob Beine finished 33rd, and John Gassman and Ron Jaderholm rounded out the scoring of Eastern.

Eastern assistant cross country coach Tom Akers said there are two ways to look at Saturday's meet.

"Naturally I'm a little disappointed with the overall team performance, because we're better than a sixth-place team in Illinois," Akers said.

"But I can't complain about our efforts individually. Everybody had super efforts, and this was our most competitive meet of the year," Akers added.

with his third goal of the 1982 campaign.

The play developed after Panther Agyeman Prempeh weaved through the Billiken defense and laid a soft pass to Swindells, who cranked a hard shot. The ball skipped on the turf once and hit the post, bouncing in behind Billiken goal keeper Pat Baker for the winning margin.

"Both teams were sitting back waiting for the other to make the first mistake," Hyndman said. "We didn't go into the game with that intention but that was how it turned out for both teams."

It was much of the same on Saturday against Southern Methodist, with Eastern having the momentum edge in the deliberate-moving match. The Panthers enjoyed the corner kick and shots-on-goal advantage in both halves and the overtime sessions, but didn't have enough to get the ball past Mustang goalie Tod Burnett.

"We really had the chances, but didn't get the breaks," Hyndman said. "We didn't force the goalie to make the save. We were hitting the post or trying to place the ball and hitting it over goal."

Hyndman's remark about hitting the post was in reference to a golden scoring opportunity mid-way into the second half. Prempeh drove the ball deep near the end line and dished it inside to George Hough, the Panthers leading scorer. Hough headed it past Burnett but it bounced softly off the far post.

Then the turning point of the game came at the 65:04 mark for the Panthers. After a failed direct kick on Eastern's part, Mustang midfielder Kamal Khalilian picked up the errant ball and headed the opposite direction down the sideline.

Khalilian did not have any fellow Mustangs nearby on his solo effort, but Panther fullback Andre McKenzie made certain that no scoring opportunity would occur.

McKenzie hit Khalilian with a vicious tackle at full speed, which earned him an immediate red-card ejection from referee Ed Braun.

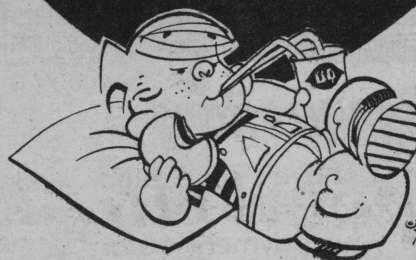

"That just killed us," Hyndman said. "It was just a real stupid play. Andre let his emotions get to him and it caused us to play with only 10 men for 40 minutes."

The short-handed Panthers still managed to control play for the balance of the match and the overtime sessions, although they received a scare when Mustang Tim Shrader's rocket shot with six minutes remaining in regulation time caromed off the post.

Soccer Notes...In other action this weekend at Lakeside Field, Western Illinois took it on the chin twice, with a 3-1 loss to the Mustangs on Friday and a 3-0 blanking by St. Louis on Saturday.
