Peace Day will feature area march

by H.E. Meeker

Eastern Illinois Peace Day, sponsored by Eastern students and faculty members, will feature a teach-in and candle-light march to inform Charleston residents about "the dangers" of the nuclear arms race.

Students, faculty and staff are invited to participate in a candle-light march beginning at 6:30 p.m. in front of Old Main, John Gibson, journalism instructor, said Sunday. The march will end at the Charleston Municipal Building, 520 Jackson. However, Gibson could not offer a specific march route.

The Charleston City Council will be voting on a bilateral and verifiable nuclear freeze resolution at 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday.

The march will show support for those council members "who vote in favor of the resolution," Gibson said.

In addition, three Eastern instructors will present a teach-in on the nuclear arms race at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Buzzard Building auditorium.

Eastern faculty members P. Scott Smith, physics, Robert Barford, philosophy, and Gibson will present the teach-in's three sessions. The instructors will examine the scientific, ethical and media coverage aspects of the nuclear arms race.

Gibson said his presentation would cite examples of how the mass media is "ignoring statistics and probabilities concerning nuclear war" and has helped justify the massive military buildup by presenting conflicts across the globe in simple "good guy versus bad guy" contexts.

Barford will discuss ethical questions pertaining to the arms race and nuclear warfare.

Smith said he will analyze the actual effects of nuclear warfare on all nations and the possibility of survival after a nuclear exchange. He said also will question the need for a continual nuclear arms buildup and maintenance of a nuclear arsenal.

Smith said it is important that the public learn about the nuclear arms race and "stop depending upon the Pentagon for its information."

Tuesday, April 19, 1983

will be mostly sunny and warmer with highs in the upper 40s. Tuesday night will be fair and not quite as cold with lows in the upper 20s.

Legislature to consider voting rights

Sheila Billerbeck

A package of bills which would give student representatives voting rights on college and university governing boards will be discussed Wednesday by the Illinois General Assembly's higher education committee in Springfield.

State Representative Lee Preston (D-Chicago) introduced a package of six bills to the General Assembly April 13 which would allow for one collective vote for student representatives on each of the six Illinois university and college governing boards.

"The decisions of these boards affect students in many ways, but students have little input into important decisions affecting them," Preston said.

Currently, the responsibilities of student representatives include the right to make and second motions and to attend executive sessions.

"I think the right of student representatives to vote is a logical step in the process and one that is long overdue," Preston said.

"Over the years, students have been conscientious, capable and competent board members. It is time we accorded them the right to vote as members of their board," he noted.

Tom Hasse, Illinois Student Association president, who has worked with Preston on the bill, said the ISA Board of Directors approved the bill on January 15.

"Students are consumers of education and deserve to vote on governing boards," Hasse said.

Also, Preston said he believes student input on governing boards is important because the student can provide an expert opinion from the student's perspective."

"Students are most directly affected by the decisions of these boards, yet they don't have a vote on the subjects that concern them," Preston added.

The Board of Governors is Eastern's governing board and also oversees, Chicago State University, Western Illinois University, Governors State University and Northeastern Illinois University.

Eastern's BOG representative Matt Glover said he is in favor of the bill, but feared board members will "instruct their lobbyists to lobby against the bill."

BOG Executive Director Donald Walters said he was unable to comment because he had not yet reviewed Preston's bill.

Glover speculated that board members will support the bill because it has a better chance of passing since it supports a collective vote, rather than an individual vote.

Ticketing: target of opinions

by Michael Kuo

The Charleston Police Department's traffic-ticketing policy has become a headache for city officials, commissioners said recently.

Four out of the city's five commissioners expressed reservations about the police department's system for monitoring officers' performances, saying they have received numerous complaints from irate citizens about the police department's ticketing policy.

However, Assistant Police Chief Herb Steidinger said Monday police officials met last Thursday to establish a new department ticketing policy, under which officers "may" issue a written warning to speeders clocked at 7, 8 or 9 miles per hour over the speed limit.

Steidinger said speeders clocked at less than five miles an hour over the speed limit are sometimes stopped and warned, at the officer's discretion.

Charleston Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer, who serves as police commissioner, said Friday, "Charleston is strict on tickets," adding that he has received "a number of complaints" from ticketed citizens.

The fifth commissioner, James Wickham, was not available for comment Sunday.

Nearly half of the tickets issued in Coles County each year by municipal and state police, as well as the Coles County Sheriff's Department, are issued by Charleston police, according to police and county records.

Steidinger said Thursday the high number of tickets issued by Charleston police is directly related to the city's low accident rate.

Charleston's motor vehicle accident rate is substantially lower than Mattoon's, according to Illinois Department of Transportation statistics.

Steidinger said the police department's "program control" system maintains officer performance.

A "program control" board, posted in Steidinger's office, lists each officer and the number of "contacts" he or she makes each month.

"Contacts" include issuing traffic tickets and written warnings, as well as compiling criminal offense and accident reports, Steidinger said.

He added the board and the low Charleston accident rate should indicate to the public that police are "accountable for their time."

But Commissioner John Beusch said, "my concern is the officers' interpretation of what that board means."

Steidinger said the police department "is not on a quota system. Nobody has ever told any officer that you have to issue x number of tickets per day."

However, Commissioner Wayne Lanman said, "Where do you draw the line between a performance system and a quota system?"

Lanman said the number of tickets issued by Charleston police is "too high--there's not that much wrong-doing in Charleston."

Beusch also said he would like to see more warning tickets issued. "It would be nice if they would back off a little bit; people tend to resent all the speed traps in Charleston," he added.

Commissioner Olga Durham, who, along with Beusch, Lanman and Pfeiffer, advocated more warning tickets for Charleston, said she talked to an insurance agent who said the city's ticketing policy may raise local auto insurance rates.

Local insurance agent Leland Hall of Hall Insurance, 1010 E. Lincoln Ave., said, "That is a possibility. Most (insurance) companies won't take anyone with over two tickets in three years" without raising their premium.

U.S. embassy bombed; 39 dead

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A pickup truck packed with explosives blew up the seven-story facade of the U.S. Embassy's main section during the lunch hour Monday, and Lebanese authorities said at least 39 people were killed, including five Americans. Police said 120 people were wounded.

The American dead reportedly included a Marine, two soldiers and an employee of the Agency for International Development.

It was the worst attack against a U.S. target in Lebanon, and a pro-Iranian terrorist group, Moslem Holy War, claimed responsibility.

The police official, who declined to be identified in accordance with government regulations, said eight of the confirmed dead were Lebanese and the other 26 had not been identified. He said 98 Lebanese were wounded.

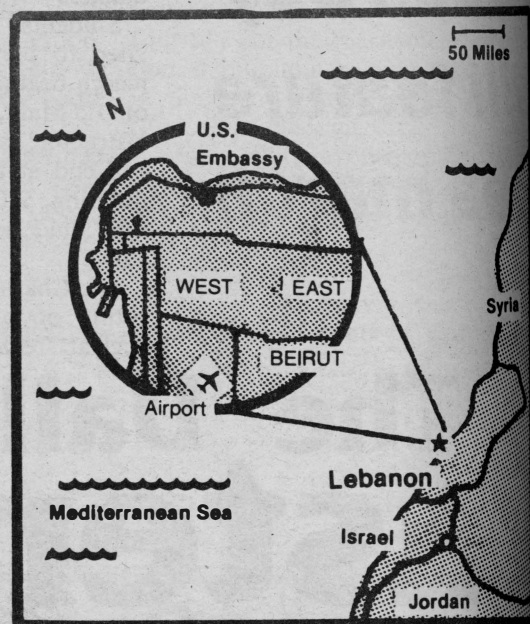

Police said the front of the seaside embassy was blown out by 500 pounds of explosives packed into a vehicle which witnesses described as a "GMC pickup." But the police said it was not known if the explosives were set off by remote control or if the driver was still in it and blew himself up.

An earlier police report said the vehicle was a gray car used by Lebanese security police.

U.S. military personnel said one U.S. Marine and two U.S. soldiers were among those killed when the car exploded in a ball of flame shortly after 1 p.m. (6 a.m. EST) on the embassy's circular driveway.

Lebanese doctors at American University Hospital said they counted six dead Marines at one morgue. But a U.S. Marine gunnery sergeant whose name could not be obtained told reporters all the embassy's Marine guards were accounted for and only one had been killed. The victim was not named.

U.S. Army Capt. Alfred Martin told reporters he identified two dead American soldiers at the morgue of the American University Hospital. He did not give their names, but they were believed part of a special advisory group assisting in the

Reagan dissatisfied with Volcker

WASHINGTON—President Reagan is leaning against naming Paul A. Volcker to a second term as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board but has not made a final decision on either Volcker's future or on choosing a successor for the powerful post, administration sources said Monday.

One source, speaking only on condition that his name not be used, said White House officials are considering five or six candidates to succeed Volcker, whose four-year term as head of the nation's central bank expires in August.

Volcker, 55, appointed by former President Carter, is one of the most influential figures on the economic scene because of the tremendous impact the Federal Reserve exerts on inflation, interest rates and economic growth through its control of the nation's supply of money and credit.

The administration source, emphasizing that Reagan has not made up his mind firmly, said Volcker still has an outside chance at a second term, if he wants it, but that the probability of that happening "is diminishing every day."

El Salvador defense head quits

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador—Gen. Jose Guillermo Garcia announced at a news conference Monday that he has resigned as defense minister.

The resignation ends a weeklong crisis in El Salvador's military, involved in a bitter fight against leftist guerrillas.

Garcia refused to say who will succeed him, but political sources, who spoke on condition they were not identified by name, said Gen. Carlos Eugenio Vides Casanova, 44, now director of the National Guard, will be appointed to the post by interim President Alvaro Magana.

Col. Juan Rafael Bustillo, the air force commander, had threatened to mutiny unless Garcia resigned and an undisclosed number of intelligence and logistics army officers were removed. He accused them of cronyism, corruption and bungling the war against the guerrillas.

Garcia, 49, was among the last remaining in office of a group of officers who overthrew the corruption-ridden rightist regime of Gen. Carlos Humberto Romero in a coup Oct. 15, 1979.

rebuilding of the Lebanese army.

Private radio stations said more than 40 people were killed in the explosion, and that several bodies were blown into the Mediterranean from the embassy compound on the sea front in west Beirut's mostly Moslem Ein Mreisseh neighborhood. The facade of the main embassy section was torn off by the bomb.

President Reagan told reporters in Washington that "this criminal attack on a diplomatic establishment will not deter from our goals of peace in the region." The United States is mediating talks aimed at getting Israeli, Syrian and Palestinian forces out of Lebanon.

The blast blew off the front wall of the center section of the embassy from the ground to the roof and devastated the ground floor visa section in the northern wing. A body could be seen dangling from the fifth floor, its arms hanging down and dripping blood.

Council should endorse nuclear freeze resolution

"The choice that now confronts the world is not between capitalism and communism or between democracy and totalitarianism; it is the choice between extermination and survival."—British social historian E.P. Thompson.

Imagine watching the sky turn black, filled by a huge mushroom cloud. Imagine the thoughts of the citizens of Hiroshima on Dec. 6, 1946 during the five short minutes before an atomic bomb took their lives.

The atomic bomb which exterminated 60 percent of Hiroshima's population 40 years ago was small change compared to the combined nuclear "defense" capabilities of the United States and the Soviet Union.

Should the U.S. continue to build-up those defense capabilities or agree to halt the nuclear arms race? The answer to that question affects everyone—including the residents of Charleston.

Because this issue affects each and every one of us, the Charleston Nuclear Freeze Committee, composed of local residents, has brought a resolution on the nuclear arms issue to the Charleston City Council for endorsement.

The council should endorse the resolution which requests that the United States and Soviet Union halt the nuclear arms race.

Many defense analysts have noted that further proliferation of nuclear weapons is unnecessary because of the intensity of the already existing nuclear capacity.

Despite that fact, and the fact that America's social programs are suffering from a restricted economy, President Ronald Reagan has requested a $238 billion appropriation for his fiscal year 1984 defense budget.

Defense is not the proper word to describe either Reagan's budget or the weaponry possessed by the world's two superpowers. A better word to describe nuclear weapons might be death.

In 1968, the U.S. arsenal had enough "defense" power to destroy one-third of the Soviet population and three-fourths of its industry.

The one "short-range" weapon which hit Hiroshima was a firecracker compared to today's medium range weapons which have the capability to destroy an area between 1,000 and 5,000 kilometers or easily all of Illinois.

Although a resolution endorsed by Charleston's City Council will not bring an end to the wasteful and dangerous proliferation of nuclear weapons, Charleston's voice combined with those of hundreds of other small-town legislative bodies should create a commotion in Congress that cannot be silenced.

Therefore, the council should make sure the voice of its constituents is heard at the national level by endorsing the nuclear freeze resolution.

The possibility of a nuclear war is a strong one and if such a war is initiated it will not matter whether one nation can be destroyed one or six times.

When voting on the nuclear freeze resolution, the council should keep in mind that total destruction is absolute and Charleston is not an island—that first strike could hit home.

Your turn

Erio knows the ropes

Editor:

There is no candidate running for any student government office who has as much experience as Board of Governors representative candidate Bob Erio.

Erio has spoken up for students as a member of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce, as a representative to the Illinois Student Association, at teachers contract negotiations and as the first chairman of the Off-Campus Student Housing Association.

Bob has been an effective leader in chairing many campus committees. Erio knows the ropes and speaks up!

Experience is what the students need in leaders and Erio has the experience to do the best job. Give Erio your vote for BOG representative Wednesday.

John J. Boyd

Vote independent

Editor:

As a casual bystander in the upcoming student government elections, I cannot help but wonder why, year after year, many students feel compelled to run behind a party name instead of on their own accord.

I believe party politics has nothing to benefit Eastern students. It seems to have the potential of inhibiting students that want to get involved but feel they have little chance of getting elected.

It also has the possibilities for a particular "party" to sweep the election, stack the senate and then be able to vote for or against proposals according to the "party" philosophy, not necessarily the students' philosophy.

These type of practices are very dangerous, not only to the senate as a whole, but to the student body as well. Student government should consist of individuals who promote honesty, integrity, ethics, independent thinking, individuality and most important the premises of free thinking and free speaking.

I would like to see a person run for himself rather than on some party's coattails.

I know that there are many others who agree with what I have said. On April 20, let's get together and vote for those people who advocate independence and will represent how the student body feels, not what their "party" feels.

Martha McShea

A 'good' combination

Editor:

The combination of Leslie Garrigan and Glenn Good offers a mix of new interest with seasoned experience. Both candidates have been receptive to new ideas and have taken the steps necessary toward implementing solid beneficial programs for the student body.

Garrigan has been highly involved with RHA and Carman Hall Council. She hopes to unite the residence halls and Student Senate into one strong voice which has yet to be fully heard. Together, the hall governments and Student Senate could represent their constituents in a more effective manner.

Good, a seasoned veteran, is currently speaker of the senate. He has served on Thomas Hall Council for two years and also as assistant to the executive vice president. Good's involvement has allowed him to establish effective channels between RHA, the hall presidents, councils and commission and legislators in Springfield, as well as to the university administration and faculty. His dedication has been unsurpassed.

Please, take time Wednesday to elect students who will best serve residence hall interests. The answer is easy, Garrigan and Good for progress.

John P. Cole
financial vice president

Vote Sjorslev, Virgilio

Editor:

Ken Sjorslev and Gale Virgilio may be a little hard to say, but they are especially tough to beat. They both offer a fresh approach which will help motivate the Student Senate. Both non senators have actively participated as members of the Student Awareness Committee.

Sjorslev brings with him extensive budgetary experience. He has also worked with several organizations on campus through which he has obtained a better understanding of student needs. He is not reluctant to advocate change when necessary. His forthright attitude will result in productive representation.

Virgilio has been active in evaluating student discount card overall benefits. She has identified tuition increases as a number one priority, feeling that a tax increase at this time is essential towards maintaining quality educational programs. Her ability to identify and attack existing problems will prove to be an asset for the student government association.

These P.R.O.G.R.E.S.S candidates exemplify the qualities which comprise an effective student leader. Vote Sjorslev and Virgilio Wednesday.

Julie M. Henderson

Senate needs energy

Editor:

I am writing this letter to endorse three candidates in the Off-Campus District; Audrey Dumentat, Kurt Kensil and Mike Anderson. All three candidates represent many qualities needed in Student Senate. They are energetic, experienced and they will represent the students' needs.

Dumentat has extensive experience on the administration staff of The Daily Eastern News. Through this experience, she has gained knowledge of the inner workings of the university much needed on Student Senate.

Kurt Kesil, currently a student senator, is seeking retention. Kensil, who petitioned just this semester, has already proved himself as a very hard worker and somebody that deserves your vote.

Mike is a transfer student and has extensive junior college experience. Mike has been a very active member on the student legislative committee and housing committee and needs your support.

As I said, please come out and vote on Wednesday for Dumentat, Kensil and Anderson.

Letter Policy

The name and phone number of at least one author must be submitted with each letter to the editor. Letters submitted without a name (or with a pseudonym) or without a phone number or other means of verifying authorships will not be published.

Names will be withheld on request. Letters should be typewritten and should not exceed 250 words.

Schobert for president

Editor:
After knowing and working with Jim Schobert, the most qualified candidate for student body president. After knowing and working with Jim Schobert, I find him to have the necessary qualities to surpass all other candidates for this position. Qualities which are needed to be an effective leader in Eastern's student government.

Jim is honest, ethical and mature. He is an excellent communicator and is always open to new ideas and suggestions.

Jim has much experience. He has served on senate for three semesters, chaired both the academic affairs and auditing committees doing an excellent, professional job on each.

Schobert will bring new ideas to our student government instead of stale or unrealistic ones. He will open his door to encourage and recruit new people with new ideas to get involved and give their input on issues that affect them. I truly believe Schobert will bring integrity to our student government. On April 20th, support and vote for Jim Schobert. Schobert, a student who represents all students and get the job done.

Resse Lang

Cole is number one

Editor:
For the number one position, choose the number one candidate—John Cole. He is proven, personable and sincerely interested in the welfare of every student. It is with great pleasure that we choose John our total support.

Cole has developed into a knowledgeable, dedicated leader for the student body. He is currently completing his term as financial vice president through which he has developed a productive work style, effective communication channels, and a real understanding of how to turn an idea into an established program/policy. He is a class individual whose leadership abilities have been displayed in serving student interests.

In the academic arena, Cole served on the ad-hoc committee to revise the drop system. He has become a permanent fixture at Council on Academic Affairs meetings, expressing his views on credit/no credit and pass-fail deadlines. He not only holds the office, but further uses that position as a platform to fight for student input.

As financial vice president, Cole has worked closely with student/faculty boards thereby obtaining a knowledge of their operations and future needs. Cole has gained the respect and endorsement of fellow executive officers, the Daily Eastern News and the Residence Hall Association. In the upcoming year for higher education, we need a student body president who will constantly test and search for ways to keep the students' concerns foremost in the minds of administrators and legislators. Cole will successfully achieve that goal and more.

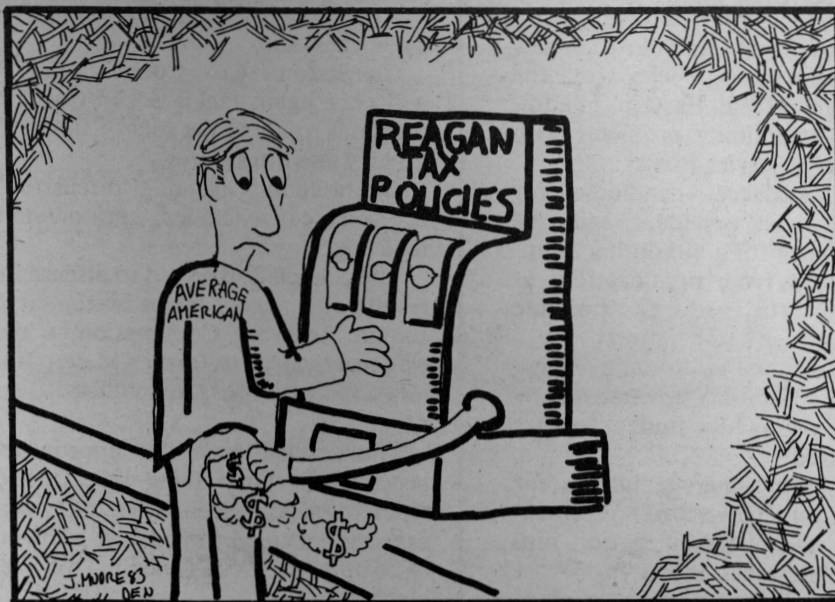

Vote for competence and establish leadership. Elect the most qualified candidate, John Cole, for student body president.

Three for the money

Editor:

Three for the money; Dan Sprehe, Darcy Braatz and Aaron Shepley. We wholeheartedly endorse these very qualified and proven candidates for Student Senate. Although new to the government scene, their enthusiasm has identified each as capable, industrious and efficient.

Sprehe has been involved extensively with Student Senate, the Residence Hall Association, student legislative committee and the Off-Campus Student Housing Association. In each position, he has effectively served as a viable student voice.

Braatz, a current member of the Student Senate, has motivated student awareness by informing various hall councils of senate actions. Through open communications each student will be more adequately represented.

Shepley, also currently a student senator, has advocated greater student input by increasing student representation on student/faculty boards. He believes it is at the 'grass roots' level that accomplishments must be achieved.

We urge you to take five minutes Wednesday to vote for students who have displayed a willingness to promote programs which best serve the student body.

Philip Montgomery
senator

Support Schobert

Editor:

Once again another Student Senate election is upon us. The economic conditions of the day and a possible $500 tuition increase coupled with a new president to administer the university makes it extremely important we have a responsible senate that follows a policy of open communications with the new administration and organizations all around campus.

Many people believe that Eastern's senate has become too closed. Some are unwilling to get involved because of all the political games that are being played behind closed doors in the senate's executive offices. Because of this, many students who could really benefit Eastern's students do not get involved.

Among the tickets and other candidates this year is Jim Schobert. Jim, who is running independently, is a candidate for student body president and he wants to see a change in Student Senate.

He wants to see better and more open communications between student organizations, senate and the administration.

Jim has served on senate for three semesters including one as academic affairs co-chairman and is currently auditing committee chairman. He has done a lot of work with senate and is confident he can truly represent the interests of the students here at Eastern.

Jim does have the support of many involved in different student organizations and would appreciate your support in his effort to become Eastern's next student body president.

Greg Rose

RHA endorsement

Editor:

With student government elections coming up Wednesday, the Residence Hall Association has once again chosen to endorse those candidates which we think will not only help the students living in the halls, but the campus as a whole.

For president: John Cole; executive vice president: Meg Hart; and financial vice president: Gail Redeker.

For Residence Hall District senators we have endorsed Glenn Good, Scott Calhoun, Lynn Lippoldt and John Boyd.

For At-Large District senators we endorse Dan Sprehe, Darcy Braatz, Aaron Shepley and Gale Virgilio.

I would also like to urge, on behalf of RHA, that all students come out and vote on Wednesday. It only takes a few minutes to vote yet it will determine the outcome of next year.

I would also like to thank all of the candidates for their time, patience and answers in our interviews and wish them all good luck in the election.

Joseph A. Wheeler

Teele endorses Cole

Editor:

One year ago I was elected student body president of Eastern Illinois University. I campaigned on promises to implement an off-campus student housing association, class syllabus library, student discount card and a move to appoint a student member of the Board of Directors to the Charleston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Along with these ideas I promised to keep student government out of the red and eliminate wasteful spending i.e. senate conferences to New Orleans costing $2,000 which happened before I entered this office.

As student body president, I have seen that all of these promises were made realities and implemented before I left office.

It is important that student government functions together to serve the needs of this student body. Therefore, I endorse John P. Cole for student body president, as did The Daily Eastern News and Residence Hall Association.

Cole utilized perseverance, enthusiasm and tenacity to do a successful job as financial vice president and I am sure these qualities will stay with him as student body president.

A leader's mind should not be independent in his/her thoughts, but rather a mind that works for the concerns and needs of the people who put them in office, the student body.

Terry Teele

Don't be apathetic-vote

Editor:

I recommend that students go out and vote for John Cole, Meg Hart, Gail Redeker and Phil Montgomery on Wednesday.

These people truly want to serve the students of Eastern in every way possible and aren't just running because of the glory. These four people will provide an effective and workable team for the students. They will be their own people, disagreeing when they believe it's necessary, but more importantly, working for the best interests of the students.

Don't be apathetic—vote.

Laurie A. Logeman

Vote P.R.O.G.R.E.S.S.

Editor:

I would like to strongly urge all students in Eastern's residence halls to vote for five P.R.O.G.R.E.S.S candidates: John Cole, Meg Hart, Phil Montgomery, Glenn Good and Leslie Garrigan.

As an active member of the Executive Council of Thomas Hall and the Residence Hall Association, I have been continually impressed by these individuals. Cole's record as financial vice president speaks for itself. He has been an invaluable source of input and support to our work in the residence halls.

The same is true of Montgomery, whose list of qualifications proves how committed he is to helping the students at Eastern.

Hart, Good and Garrigan have each been highly active in the promotion of better life in our residence halls. Each has proven leadership ability and each is an admirable example of selfless dedication to the students.

Throughout this year, my association with these candidates has proven to me how much they care, how much they have to offer and how much they respect their respective positions in student government.

I invite every student to show how much he or she cares by rewarding the dedication of these candidates with a vote in their behalf Wednesday.

Candidates define goals

by Nancy Bridges

Candidates for student government executive offices outlined their goals and experiences at the Student Senate Elections Forum Monday night.

Jim Schobert, student body president candidate, said if elected he would act as a liaison between students and campus, city and state administrators.

He said he views the office as a "communications device," and would like to institute a newsletter, a regular column in the Daily Eastern News and a regular forum on campus radio station WELH in order to keep students informed about student government activities.

John Cole, also a presidential candidate, said his work in student government has given him a knowledge of the "programs and processes" of the senate.

In addition, Cole said he would like to print a newsletter to keep students informed about the financial aid available to them.

Meg Hart, executive vice president candidate, said her experience with the Off-Campus Student Housing Association gave her the skills necessary for the office.

She said she would like to review all attendance policies for the various boards at Eastern, in addition to examining problems with the Health Service Board.

Gail Redeker, candidate for financial vice president, said she plans to ask for a bimonthly financial report from organizations at Eastern to prevent possible discrepancies in the budgets.

She said she also would like to prepare a monthly column for the News showing how student fees are being used.

Phil Montgomery, candidate for Board of Governors representative, said higher education funding is his highest priority.

Montgomery said he also plans to work for a collective student vote for the five BOG schools on the board.

Bob Erio, also running for BOG representative, said college students must get organized in order to be heard by legislators. He said he plans to work for increased voter registration and for more student contact with legislators through letters.

Council to consider again city liquor sale proposal

by Michael Kuo

Charleston's City Council Tuesday will once again tackle a controversial proposal to allow the sale of liquor in grocery and drug stores.

On the council agenda, "discussion" of the issue is scheduled, but no vote is indicated.

The council is expected to discuss the results of a survey taken by the city's Liquor Advisory Commission, which was reactivated by former Mayor Bob Hickman to investigate the liquor proposal.

The council was first approached last year by Osco Drug Inc. District Sales Manager Richard Rounds, who asked the council to consider allowing Osco's, 566 W. Lincoln, to sell alcohol.

Commissioner John Beusch said Monday, "I'm going to push for something to put on file," indicating he wanted the council to draft and vote on a proposal.

The Liquor Advisory Commission, which conducted a survey among Charleston residents on the liquor sales issue, recommended in a letter to the council that the city legislate "four...licenses for the retail sale of package liquor" in grocery and drug stores.

However, the commission recommended several restrictions for the new licenses, including:

- a separate entrance for the section of a store designated to sell alcohol.
- partitioning of the alcohol sales area from the rest of the store.
- allowing liquor sales only in the partitioned area.

In other business, the council will vote on a nuclear freeze resolution, which was presented to council members April 5.

The city council will meet in at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Municipal Building, located at 520 Jackson Ave.

Senate seeking to fill positions

The Faculty Senate Tuesday will continue gathering nominations for the faculty positions on the campus advisory search committee, Jeffrey Lynch, senate chairman, said Monday.

The senate will eventually select nominations for the six faculty positions on the committee, Lynch said.

The election for the faculty representatives will be April 28, while absentee balloting will be conducted April 27.

Persons interested in serving on the committee must submit nomination forms with five faculty members' signatures by April 21.

In other business, the senate will receive the final report from a committee which will summarize the results of faculty evaluations of deans and department chairmen.

The Faculty Senate will meet at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Martinsville room.

RHA announces endorsements

Members of Eastern's Residence Hall Association Thursday selected their choice of candidates to endorse for this week's Student Senate election.

The RHA voted to endorse sophomores Gale Virgilio, Dan Sprehe, Darcy Braatz and Aaron Shepley for seats in the at-large district.

In addition, the RHA endorsed sophomores Glen Good, Leslie Garrigan, Lynn Lippolt and junior Scott Calhoun for seats in the on-campus district.

The RHA also endorsed sophomores Gail Redeker and Meg Hart, for financial vice president and executive vice president, respectively.

Senior John Cole, student body president candidate, also received the endorsement of the RHA.

However, the RHA did not endorse a candidate for the Board of Governors representative position because the two candidates received an equal number of votes.

The RHA also selected its executive board members for next year.

The new executive members are junior Joe Wheeler, president; sophomore Janet Freeman, vice president; sophomore Cathy Long, secretary; and sophomore Lucy O'Brien, treasurer.

New society to be formed for students

by Joseph Anglum

Eastern students and faculty members are now forming a new honor society, which will recognize students' scholarship, leadership and service.

Jean Coyle, home economics instructor and honor society selection committee member, said "a steering committee of faculty and students will make selections based on leadership activities, high scholarship and service on campus."

She added that the purpose of the honor society, which is titled Tassels, is "to recognize a very select group of students who are active in various activities and are willing to be active in another organization."

Members on the Tassels selection committee will select between 10 and 15 juniors with a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or better and who demonstrate high leadership qualities, she added.

Coyle said the selection of students will be difficult.

"It's going to be difficult to select a few students because we have a list of every student on campus who meets the gpa average," Coyle said.

The steering committee also hopes to join the national honor program titled Mortar Board, she said.

However, Tassels must be active for five years before being eligible to join Mortar Board, Coyle added.

She said, the candidates must submit their information questionnaire by noon Tuesday to the Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams' office.

Selections will be made "hopefully by the end of the week," she added.

Coyle said the initiation ceremony and presentation of members for Tassels will be May 2 in the 1895 room of the Union addition.

Members of the steering committee include: honors program director Herbert Lasky; home economics faculty members Ruth Dow, Eulalee Anderson and Jean Coyle; Vice President for Student Affairs, Glenn Williams, and senior students Linda Swope, Dianne Darran, and Terese Lang, Coyle said.

Theatre majors to perform play

Eastern's 5 o'clock Theatre will present the play "The Fabulous Fable Factory," by Joseph Robinette, for a program activity and as part of Celebration '83, Eastern's annual festival of the arts.

Senior theatre arts major Kathie Scott said, the play, directed by senior Nancy Paloian, will be performed at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Playroom, located in the Doudna Fine Arts Center.

Admission to the play is free.

It will also be performed in the Playroom at 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. April 23 and 24 as a part of Celebration '83, Scott said.

Admission will be 25 cents during the April 23 and 24 performances, she added.

Guest speaker to discuss mathematics

"Games and Decisions," with an application to coaching strategies, will be one of the two topics an Indiana University mathematics instructor will discuss during his lecture, an Eastern mathematics department spokesman said Monday.

Alphonso DiPietro, mathematics department chairman, said Maynard

Thompson's "Games and Decisions" lecture will be conducted at 3 p.m. Tuesday in room 215 of Old Main.

The purpose of the lectures, DiPietro said, "is to inform people, especially the young people, about the opportunities available in mathematics."

Thompson will also discuss "Some Mathematical Models of Information Diffusion" at 1 p.m. Tuesday in room 217 of Old Main, he added.

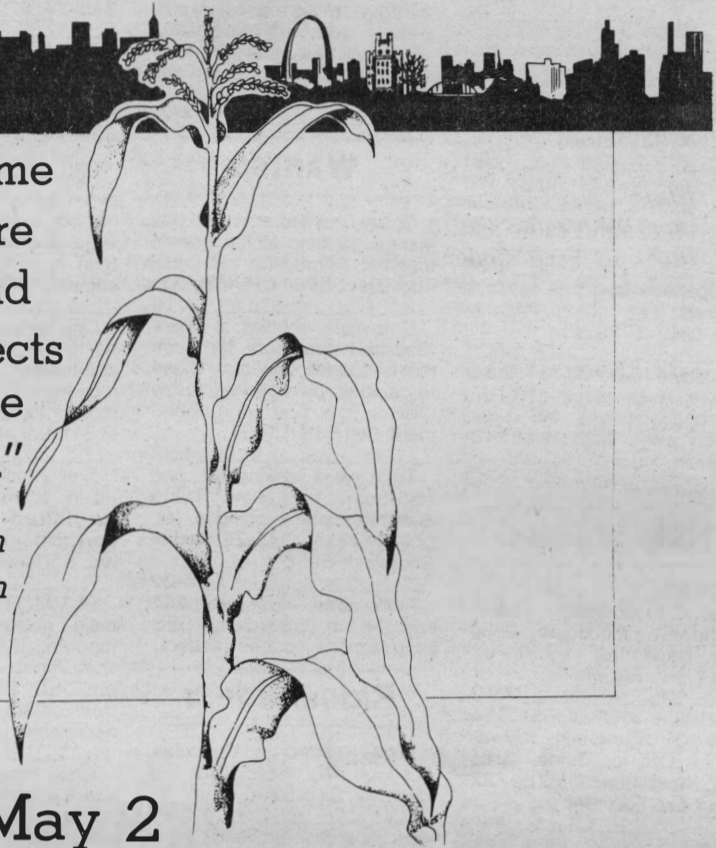

He said the "Some Mathematical Models of Information Diffusion" lecture is "more intended for mathematics and physical science faculty members—someone with a background in math."

What are people saying in the 1983 Warbler?

"Members spend a lot of time making it known that we are present on this campus, and that our participation reflects the positive attitudes of the black students as a whole."

Two tracksters win titles

Althea Nall
 NORMAL—Austin Luckett and McKinney paced Eastern's men's track team Saturday with individual championships at the non-team scoring Sports State Invitational.

Luckett recorded a 186-foot throw in javelin, while McKinney registered 2:20 clocking in the 3000-meter race to claim Eastern's only title in a meet marred by poor weather.

"High winds and rain" forced the cancellation of five field events and races. In addition, the dismal conditions hampered Eastern's coaching staff's evaluation of runners for Friday's conference meet in Macomb.

"Each time we tried to accomplish something in our last three meets we had bad weather," Eastern assistant coach Tom Akers said.

"(Saturday's meet) started not too bad but continually got worse, so we didn't get the evaluation work that we wanted to do," Akers continued. "It's tough to get a good evaluation in weather that's so bad."

Consequently, Akers said Eastern may have time trials this week to give all team members a chance to make Friday's line-up for the Association of Mid-Century Universities meet.

"We have to do some evaluating this Monday or Tuesday to decide who we are going to take to conference," Akers said. "We're probably going to have to make some major moves this week."

"From some of the performances we can tell who is going to run in the meet, but other areas we are still not quite sure on," he added. "We have to review our entries."

In addition to Eastern's two title performances, Panther Cornell Wilson recorded a personal-best time of 14.23 in the 110-meter high hurdles. Gary Hudson and Paul West finished third and fourth in the 1500-meter run, respectively.

"Our competitiveness during the races was very good, which is sometimes tough when the weather is bad," Akers said. "You have to run against your opponent and not against the clock."

For Board of Governors

"A Man With Experience Who Will Work For You"

- OCSHA Chairman
- Board of Directors—Charleston Chamber of Commerce
- Sports and Recreation Board—Chairman
- Student Awareness and Election Committees—Chairman

"It is fortunate for me that both of my parents are employed and contributing to my education. If tuition continues to accelerate at the present rate, families such as mine can ill-afford to provide their sons and daughters with the same opportunity that I have. My number one priority as a member of the Board of Governors will be to combine forces to pressure the state legislature and other state officials for additional higher educational funding. I hope you will join me in this imperative effort for all students. Please vote April 20 in your student election."

Injury-riddled sluggers to face Rose-Hulman

by Mike Lynch

Just when Eastern baseball coach Tom McDevitt thought the weather was his squad's biggest problem, injuries to four key players Sunday have created new troubles.

Eastern, which will continue its 19-game homestand Tuesday against Rose-Hulman, will attempt to overcome injuries to pitchers Mick Freed and Kevin Gordon and outfielders Neil Bertram and Bryan Dillard.

McDevitt said the injuries to Freed and Gordon during this weekend's three-game series with Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville will prove costly to his squad.

Freed pulled a muscle in his pitching arm during the sixth inning of Saturday's 2-1 victory, McDevitt explained.

"He'll tell me when he's ready because no one will know better as to whether or not he can pitch," McDevitt said. "If he goes out and tries to pitch, and he's not ready, he'll just be hurting himself in the long run."

Gordon aggravated a pulled groin during the third inning of Sunday's 6-3 extra-inning loss, McDevitt said.

"With his injury Gordon might be loss for much of the the season," McDevitt said. "Hopefully he'll be back but we'll just have to wait and see."

In addition, Dillard suffered a hand injury in Saturday's game. Bertram injured his shoulder while attempting a catch in Sunday's contest.

"We wouldn't have too bad of a nucleus for a good staff if we were physically sound," McDevitt said.

Eastern will start two pitchers Tuesday who have seen limited action this season, he added.

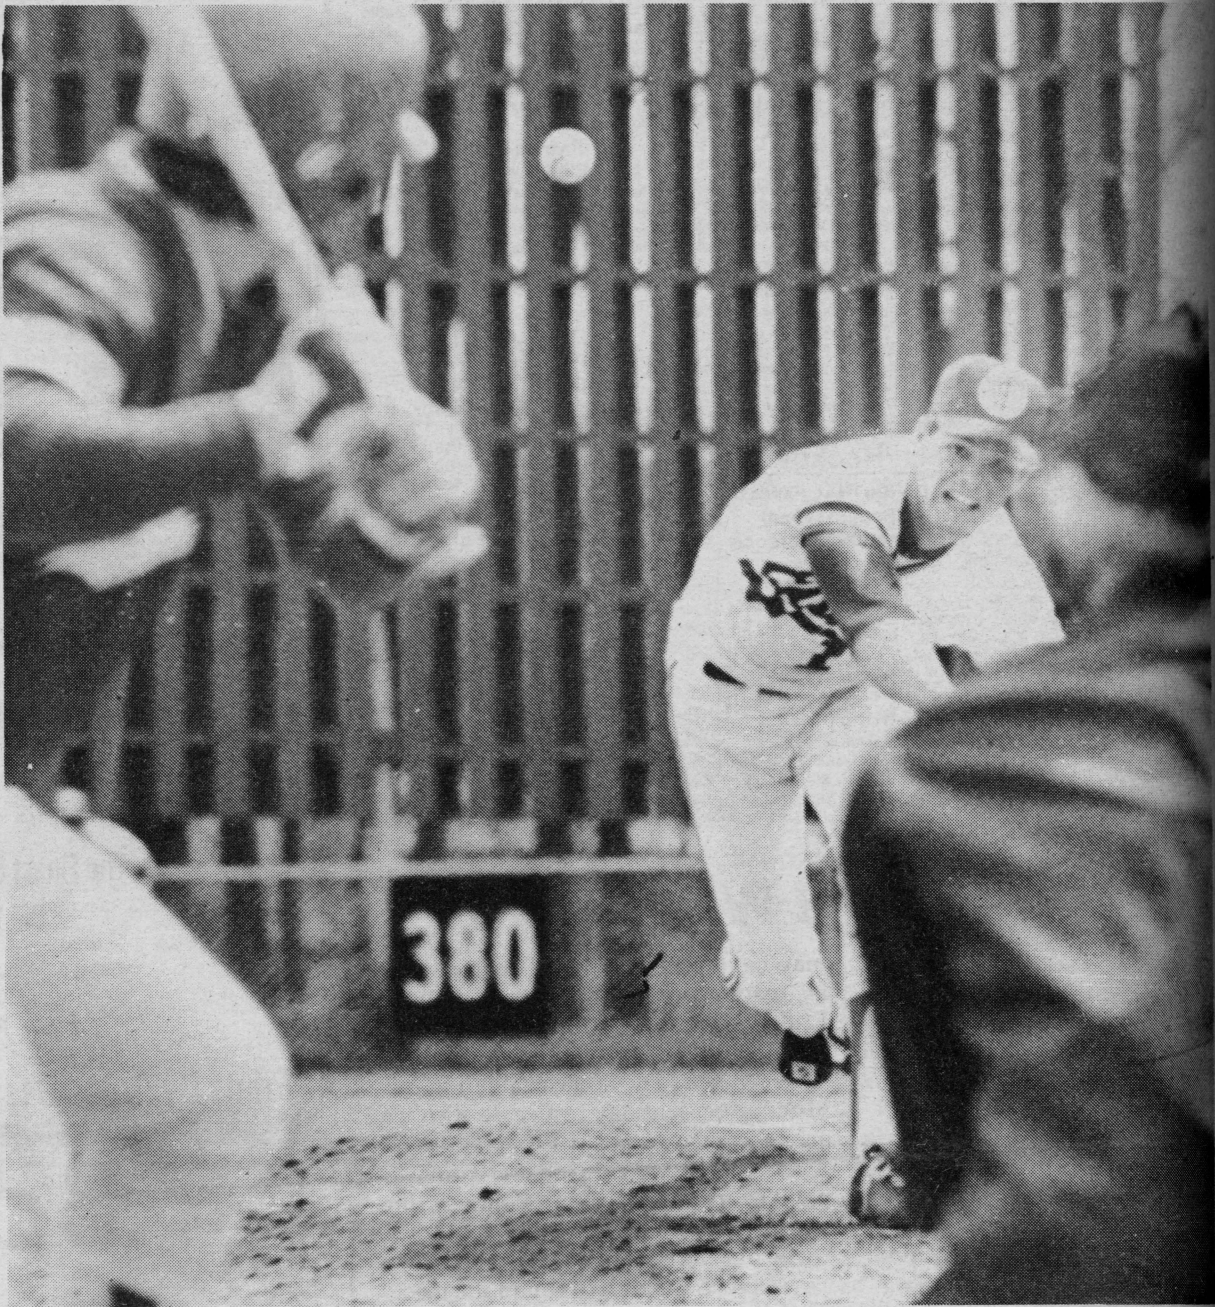

Left-hander Mark Daugherty, who has pitched 1 1/2 innings, will start the first game.

McDevitt said his second-game starter will be either freshmen Kevin Smith or Jim Wilkens. Smith has pitched three innings, while Wilkens has hurled in 4 2/3 frames.

The "Fightin'" Engineers, 9-13, will counter Tuesday with a pair of right-handers. Mark Kiser, 3-1, will pitch the opener and Dan White, 1-1, will be on the mound for the nightcap.

"We've had trouble this year of getting the ball across the plate so will have to do that to be effective," Rose-Hulman head coach Jim Rendel said. "Both are capable of doing the job."

Offensively, the Engineers are lead by catcher Steve Sauer, who leads the club with a .424 batting average. Outfielder Mitch Cain, .371, and second basemen Andy Myer, .345, will also help Rose-Hulman's offensive attack.

Unfortunately, McDevitt said his squad will suffer offensively because of the loss of outfielders Bertram and Dillard.

"Our hitting has got to pick up," McDevitt said. "Right now I'm more concerned with our hitting than anything else."

"Any pitching problems we have are just results of injuries," McDevitt added.

Tennis team wins

by Scott Mountford

Eastern's men's tennis team continued its winning streak Monday as the Panthers dumped Illinois Central College 8-1 at Lantz Fieldhouse to boost their record to 14-4.

Jay Johnson, Eastern's No. 1 player, absorbed the lone Panther loss as he was defeated by Centrals' Mario Palmieri 6-2, 2-6, 6-3. After the match, Johnson said, "He played a real tough match and didn't miss many shots."

"He seemed to hit the ball harder than any of the other players I've faced this year," Johnson added.

Head coach Carl Sexton said he agreed with Johnson, but added Palmieri is the type of player that is always dangerous.

"Palmieri is a left-hander and seems to play differently all the time," Sexton said. "Tonight, however, he was on top of his game and I have to give him credit for a good match with Jay."

Despite the opening loss, Eastern was able to take victories in the remaining singles matches along with sweeping doubles competition.

Ken Holbert downed Mike Rellihan 10-5 in a pro set while Mark Emola crushed Scott Webster 6-1, 6-0. Other singles winners were Rob Maxwell, Steve Allbright and Dan Patrick.

The Panthers will travel to Terre Haute, Ind., Tuesday to battle Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology in a non-conference contest.

Third conference win

Softballers rally past Indiana State

by Kathy Leahy

TERRE HAUTE, Ind.—Eastern's softball team rallied back to sweep a double-header Monday from conference rival Indiana State University 7-4, 8-4.

"I was very impressed with the way we came from behind to win both games," Eastern head coach Deanna D'Abbraccio said. "I think our ability to come back like that is a great asset."

"I was also pleased with our aggressiveness at the plate," D'Abbraccio added. "And I thought we did a good job of running the bases."

However, D'Abbraccio said she was disappointed with the Panther defense.

"We were lucky to come home with two victories because of the conditions along with the fact that we couldn't hold on to the ball," D'Abbraccio said.

The Panthers, who have been plagued by poor weather all season, were forced to play in 35-degree weather accompanied by gusty winds.

In the opening game, Indiana State jumped out to an early 2-1 advantage in the first inning, but Eastern answered with two runs in the third.

Junior Mary Tiegs hit her second homerun of the season, knocking in Sharon Cizek, who singled to open up the inning, giving Eastern a 3-2 edge.

The Panthers added four more runs in the sixth frame on four hits, including the game-winning hit by sophomore outfielder Lori Conine.

Indiana State attempted to come back in the seventh inning, but the Sycamores' efforts fell short, as they only managed to score two runs.

In the nightcap, Eastern scored its first run in the third frame, when Kassebaum doubled to left-center and eventually crossed the plate on a Kelly Waldrup single.

However, Indiana State battled back, scoring four runs in the fourth inning, to take a 4-1 lead.

The Panthers closed the gap in the sixth, when Tiegs scored on an error by Sycamore pitcher Eileen Murdock, after Tiegs triple to right field scored Kassebaum from second.

Eastern, 10-5, rounded out their scoring with a five-run seventh inning on three hits and two errors.

Senior hurler Kathy Richards, 5-2, was the winning pitcher for the Panthers in the first game, while Donna Ridgway, 4-2, notched the victory in the nightcap.

Offensively, Eastern was led by Tiegs who registered five hits in eight plate appearances, boosting her batting average to .396.

In addition, Kassebaum, the Panthers leading batter, extended her hitting streak to seven games, as she went two for five at the plate.

Eastern will now turn their attention to Tuesday's 3 p.m. (CST) double-header against non-conference foe Indiana University-Purdue University in Indianapolis, Ind.

"They have a lot of their big bats returning from last year," D'Abbraccio said. "Its going to be a tough double-header for us."
