Arms policy conflict clouds summit birth

GENEVA (AP)—President Reagan, inspecting summit sites Sunday as he prepared to meet his Kremlin counterpart, sought to brush aside evidence of administration discord on arms policy, but the Soviets turned up the heat and described the episode as an attempt "to torpedo the arms control process."

Reagan's spokesman, Larry Speakes, said, "We are not changing our views one whit" as a result of the leak of the "Weinberger letter."

In the letter, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, who was left off the U.S. summit delegation, warned Reagan against agreeing to several arms positions when he meets Tuesday and Wednesday with Mikhail Gorbachev.

The Soviet leader arrives here Monday, but he was well represented by a Kremlin official who told reporters the summit will be a "trial-by-fire" test of Reagan's commitment to arms control, and denounced in advance the arms policies Reagan brings with him to the summit table.

A key member of the American delegation, insisting on anonymity, said he tough the summit would produce some U.S.-Soviet agreements. He said odds that they would agree to hold periodic summit meetings, were "more than 50 percent." And he said, it was "highly likely" that the summit would produce an agreement for the two superpowers to guard against proliferation of nuclear weapons to other countries.

National Security Adviser Robert McFarlane, part of the administration blitz on the Sunday TV talk shows, said "if we try hard," there might be agreement on cultural exchanges, opening new Soviet and American consular offices and the resumption of air service between the two countries.

McFarlane, on NBC's "Meet the Press," sought to erase the picture on internal discord painted by the Weinberger letter, and said the administration stands as one on the key issues.

Weinberger, an outspoken hard-liner who is represented by two subordinates in the U.S. summit delegation, advised the president to oppose any joint commitment to continue observance of the unratified 1979 Salt II treaty and to oppose any interpretation of the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile treaty that would restrict testing of the president "Star Wars" defense program.

Speakes told reporters Reagan had no intention of making any decisions about the Salt II extension until the issue can be taken up next month after Reagan hears the views of Weinberger, Secretary of State George Shultz and others.

McFarlane called the letter leak "unfortunate" and told hundreds of reporters at the international Press Center here that Weinberger feels the same way and "is taking steps to find out how it occurred."

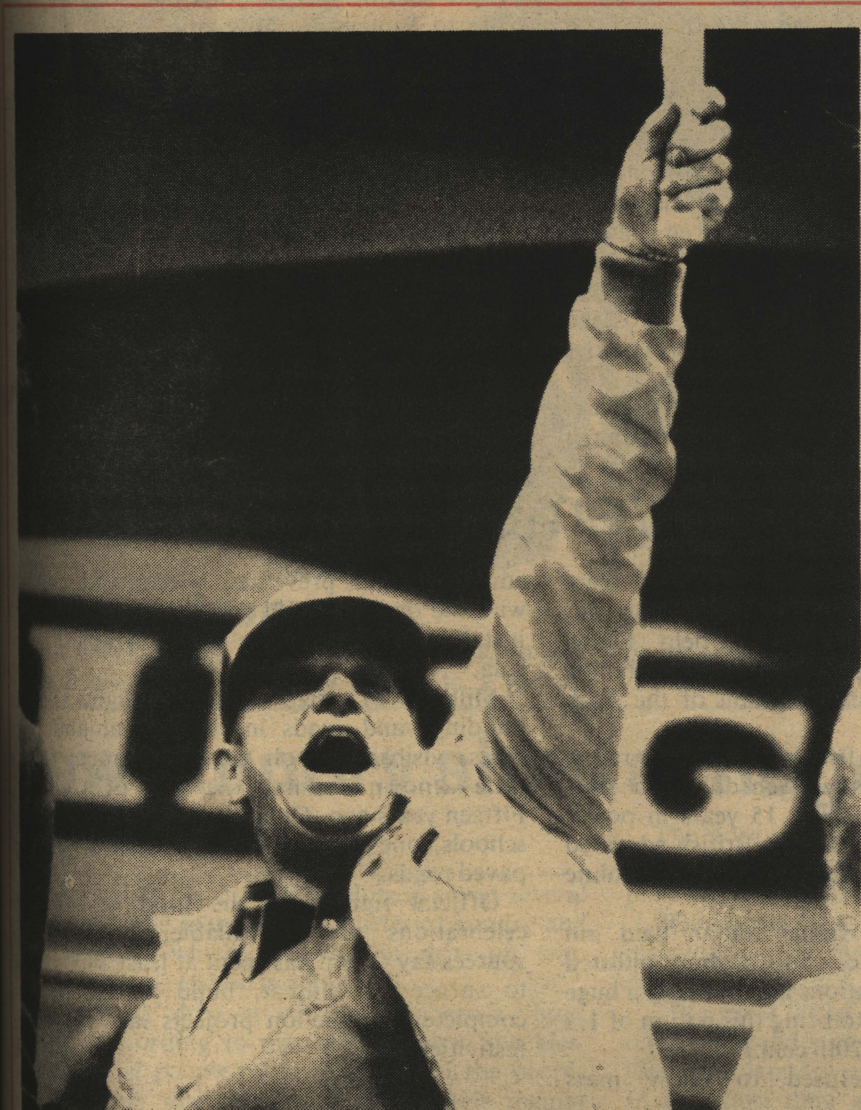

Administration officials were apparently hoping the Soviets would not take the matter seriously, and Speakes told reporters, "I'd be willing to put five bucks right here that General Secretary Gorbachev will not say a word about the Weinberger letter."

But Soviet official Georgy Arbatov, briefing reporters here Sunday, was quick to discuss the subject, describing the Weinberger letter as a "a direct attempt to torpedo the arms control process" and saying it exposed a struggle between administration moderates and conservatives.

At a news conference, he said the Soviets would like to believe Reagan is committed to arms control, adding, "In the next two days we will see, in fact this will be a case of trial by fire. We'll see just how serious those words are before the whole world."

The president, walking from the 18th-century Maison de Saussure where he is staying to a meeting with top advisers, was asked if he thought someone was trying to sabotage the summit by leaking the letter.

"No," the president replied firmly. As to whether he would fire Weinberger, Reagan said, "You want a two-word answer or one?" When a reporter said, "Two," the president replied, "Hell no."

Teacher sets sail for India

Yumus Kathawala, Eastern management and marketing instructor, will lead a North American delegation to an international conference in New Delhi, India, Jan. 5 through 7.

The International Management and Marketing Conference, whose theme is "Marketing Strategy for South Asia," is expected to attract about 1,600 academic, government, and industrial people from all over the world to discuss marketing, high technology, and joint ventures between the rest of the world and South Asia, Kathawala said.

Kathawala, who was selected as the U.S. coordinator early this year, has spent the past several months gathering papers from academic personnel all over the country on marketing to or from South Asia. Thirteen U.S. papers will be presented at the conference.

"It's a rewarding task," Kathawala said, "but I don't know if I'd do it again. It's a very time consuming job."

Kathawala said his biggest reward will come when he presents a paper on global marketing that he co-authored with Wayne Chandler and Ralph Weller, two other Eastern management and marketing instructors.

Kathawala said his representation at the conference could generate a great

Government halts rescue attempts

ARMERO, Colombia (AP)—The government said the last three victims trapped in the river of volcanic mud that buried this Andean village were rescued Sunday and it called an end to its emergency operations.

"The last three survivors were rescued this morning in Armero and I believe they later died. There is now no one left to rescue," said Health Minister Rafael Zubiria. More than 21,000 people perished in the avalanche of mud that swept over Armero following the eruption of the Nevado del Ruiz volcano Wednesday night.

U.S. officials at the site said all trapped victims had been evacuated, the injured were being treated and stranded residents had been airlifted to relief centers.

"It's over," said Paul Bell, a field officer for the U.S. Agency for International Development.

But the radio network Caracol claimed there were up to 2,500 people still stranded in sections of Armero and appealed to the government to continue its rescue operations. It said it based those figures on accounts from its reporters in the devastated zone.

Twelve U.S. Air Force helicopters flown in Friday from Panama to aid in the search and rescue missions were tentatively scheduled to begin leaving Monday.

Zubiria said Saturday night that Armero would be made into a cemetery, because it was not possible to recover the thousands of bodies.

The town was covered by a 15-foot-deep river of mud that rushed down the slopes of the Nevado del Ruiz early Thursday. The eruption melted the volcano's ice cap, overflowing a river.

Zubiria said that on Monday civil defense workers would begin burning decomposing bodies recovered from the mudflats to prevent disease.

The Health Ministry said at least 21,559 persons were dead or missing in Armero and other towns in the valley, another 19,185 were homeless and at least 2,453 were seriously injured.

Stevenson selects Lt. Gov.

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson III, the Democratic candidate for governor, on Sunday endorsed Sen. George Sangmeister, D-Mokena, for lieutenant governor.

Stevenson said he would recommend Sangmeister, a 14-year veteran of the General Assembly, and a former Will County state's attorney, to Democratic slatemakers when they meet in Springfield Thursday and Friday to endorse candidates.

"George Sangmeister will be a lieutenant governor our state and our party can be proud of," Stevenson said in a statement. "He is experienced, honest and able."

Stevenson said Sangmeister has drawn votes from across the political spectrum throughout his career, winning as a Democrat in the traditionally Republican "collar counties" around Cook County.

"I could be an asset to him in Will County and other collar counties," said Sangmeister, reached Sunday at his vacation home in Dowagiac, Mich. "Not only am I considered downstate, but collar county. He gets two for one."

Regional banking to begin

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The idea was simple, the more money pumped into the Illinois banking system the better it would be for consumers, small businessmen, farmers, industry and the state's economy.

And after months of legislative wrangling and intense lobbying from the banking industry the General Assembly last week decided to give it a try.

In approving a bill eliminating regulations limiting bank mergers in the state and opening Illinois to regional banking, legislators said the flow of additional money would:

—Increase funds available for all types of loans, ranging from home and car loans to major industrial loans for modernizing obsolete factories.

—Increase competition among banks in everything from interest rates to checking account fees.

—Prop up small banks facing bleak economic futures and ensure that money from deposits would be reinvested in local communities.

Car thefts raise premiums

CHICAGO (AP)—An upturn in the number of auto thefts during the past two years is prompting insurers to raise premiums in Illinois, especially in Chicago, officials say.

State Farm Insurance, the largest auto insurer in the nation, has raised auto rates twice this year for a combined total of 17.8 percent. Comprehensive coverage, which covers theft, topped the list of claim costs that made the increase necessary, the company said.

State Farm spokesman Jerry Parsons said theft represents from 40 to 60 percent of the comprehensive coverage premium, adding that in some high-crime areas it is as much as 75 percent. He said losses in Chicago have always been higher than anywhere else in Illinois.

Waite hopes to free U.S. hostages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Terry Waite, the archbishop of Canterbury's envoy seeking to free American hostages in Lebanon, said Sunday he met their captors at a secret meeting in Beirut and "positive steps have been taken."

Before flying to London and Washington, he stressed at a news conference that the situation "remains very difficult and very dangerous."

Waite left Beirut to brief archbishop Robert Runcie of Canterbury, primate of the Anglican Communion, on the results of his mission thus far and to consult senior U.S. officials on his contacts. He stopped briefly in Rome en route to London.

Waite's meeting was seen as the first real breakthrough in the long-running hostage drama. It is believed to be the first contact between a Western intermediary and the kidnappers, thought to belong to the Shiite Moslem extremist organization Islamic Jihad, or Islamic Holy War.

Four of the six Americans missing in Beirut appealed to the archbishop by letter nine days ago to help negotiate their release.

Waite said he was satisfied that the four who wrote to Runcie are alive and well, but when asked if he had seen any of them, he said, "I comment."

Waite, 46, told reporters his mission "is not over" and he expects to return to Beirut to pursue his one-man journey of mercy to free the captives.

He said "positive steps have been taken" since he arrived last Wednesday, but "there is still a long way to go."

"During the past days I have had lengthy contacts. There is absolutely no doubt at all that I have got through to the right people and that a measure of trust has been established."

Oman's improvements celebrated

MUSCAT, Oman (AP)—Delegations from more than 50 countries are gathering in this picturesque seaside capital to help Oman celebrate what one diplomat called a "coming out party" for this former hermit of the Arab world.

The five days of fireworks, camel races, parades, and laser shows scheduled to start Monday will officially mark 15 years in power for Sultan Qaboos bin Said, a British-educated bachelor and one of the world's few absolute rulers.

After deposing his father Sultan Said bin Taimur in a 1970 palace coup, Qaboos enlisted Oman in the United Nations and initiated a huge development program to bring this nation of 1.5 million people into the 20th century.

His predecessor refused to allow mass education and prevented widespread contact with the outside world for fear it would lead to instability in this corner of the Arabian peninsula.

Millions of brightly colored lights festoon buildings and roads in the capital and other cities, visible symbols of development in this little-known country the size of Colorado. Fifteen years ago, Oman had only three primary schools, one hospital and less than 10 miles of paved roads.

Official figures on the total cost for the celebrations are unavailable, but informal sources say Oman has spent at least $400 million to spruce up Muscat, build new hotels and complete construction projects in time for the festivities.

Swedish men share wives' duties

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The Swedish male has been inspected and found wanting by a government panel which believes fathers would be happier sharing child-caring and other domestic duties equally with their working wives.

"Warm, skin-close child-caring could make men open up emotionally and give them a safety net of intimate relations as a backup in a personal crisis," says Stig Ahs, who chaired the committee.

Most Swedish men appear to be ignoring that advice, even though government policy and financial realities have pushed 83 percent of Swedish women with pre-school children into the labor market. The losers, Ahs says, are the men.

"We have paid a very high price for the traditional male role, which tends to make men emotionally castrated," he said in an interview with The Associated Press.

Suicides, alcoholism and criminality are more common among Swedish men than women, he noted.

Swedes have spent decades tinkering with the welfare state. Much of the effort in recent years has been aimed at encouraging equality between the sexes.

Sweden offers both mother and father almost a full year of parental leave at government expense, to be taken one at a time by either parent, married or unmarried.

New laundry shop a 'huge success'

By CHRYSTAL PHILPOTT
Staff writer

Boasting that the firm has "already saved several boys' lives," the manager of Courtesy Laundry and Dry Cleaning—which even has a drive-up window—said the new shop is doing well.

The business' drive-up window has been a "huge success," according to manager Carolyn Shackles, though "most people come in. A lot of the people who drop off dry cleaning also do their regular laundry while they're here."

Courtesy Laundry and Dry Cleaning, with 19 other stores throughout central Illinois, has set up its first Charleston laundry.

Located at 101 W. Lincoln Ave., Courtesy has set up business in the newly-erected building owned by Bill Paris across from McDonalds.

Courtesy is the first such business in Charleston to offer a combination of coin laundry, dry cleaning and professional, drop-off laundry service.

The store is owned by Craig Yallalay of Philo and Hermes Equipment Company of Bloomington. At present there are six employees.

"Our being here gives (students) a chance to ask questions, when they have them, about their laundry," Shackles said.

"We get a lot of questions from college students on doing laundry. A lot of kids have never had to do their own laundry and they really don't know how. In the short time we've been open, we've already saved several boys' lives."

At 50 cents a pound, professionally-cleaned laundry can usually be picked up the same day it is dropped off, Shackles said.

So far business has been good for the laundry, she said, adding that their only regret seems to be not having more space.

"Leo (Hermes) already admitted he made a mistake—that he should have made it bigger. Business has been really good."

Dean's Council looks into future with open house

By STEVE SMITH
Staff writer

The Dean's Student Advisory Council for the College of Applied Sciences is sponsoring an open house Thursday in the Applied Science building.

Titled "Toward 2000 Connect With the Future," Home Economics Dean Barbara Owens said the open house will feature speakers who will give ten minute lectures about technical movements in the future.

The school welcomes anyone who is interested in the future of technology to attend the open house, she added.

Owens said the program, which will begin at 6 p.m. with a "Meet the Council" session, "Will give the participant the opportunity to meet the Student Advisory Council and ask any questions about the school or the council."

Following the opening session, Owens said, faculty members will give 10-minute demonstrations every 15 minutes throughout the building.

She added that participants may chose six presentations from a fairly diversified menu.

Presentations will include "Manufacturing Production Process," "Robotics," "Computer Aided Drafting," "Printing Operations," "New Home Memory Craft Sewing Machine," "Induction Cooktop-Programmable Microwave," "Child Development Lab," and an ROTC Presentation.

The advisory council consists of 16 members representing specific areas of each program.

Owens has given much of the credit of the school's promotion to the council.

'Good chance' is good news for new school

Any student who has encountered the bureaucratic mess often involved with getting school loans and scholarships can appreciate the time and effort being taken by Eastern to secure funding for a business college building.

Though the feeling of frustration is no different for Eastern administrators, who for years have been given the no-go sign on the business school project, the check may finally be in the mail. This time for real.

Lt. Gov. George Ryan said during his recent visit to campus that there was a "good chance" Eastern would receive $230,000 this year from the state's "Build Illinois" program. The money would be used in the building of a Coleman Hall annex, which would house the College of Business.

This is indeed good news for Eastern and its students, one third of whom are business majors. Currently, business courses are taught in eight separate buildings across campus.

For those nomadic business students and faculty, the business college annex of Coleman Hall looks close to becoming reality. Both Eastern President Stanley Rives and Ted Ivarie, dean of the College of Business, may see their persistence in securing the funds finally pay off.

Eastern has been trying to get funds for the business facility for several years. However, the Illinois Board of Higher Education and the state legislature have both turned down additional funding.

Although Eastern's expectations are high that the "Build Illinois" program funds will come this year, there is still a remote possibility that the building annex will have to wait.

Because much of "Build Illinois" first-year money has already been spent, some projects will receive second-year funding. Ryan will make recommendations to Gov. James Thompson next month.

Eastern administrators are seeing the most dividends their work has ever yielded, which is a reward in itself. But until money is in hand, the university's sell job on the project must continue.

Your turn

Sports fans should rally behind records

Editor:

When I read Joel Wyeth's letter in the Oct. 31 edition of The Daily Eastern News about the Cardinals 'embarrassing' America's favorite pastime I became a bit confused.

First of all, the Cub fans have no room to talk about embarrassment. The Cubs haven't won a World Series since 1942, needless to say even making it to the World Series.

Second, talking about blowing it in postseason play, the Cardinals made it to the seventh game of the World Series this year. Where did the Cubs go last year?

Third, your definition of a 'Real Winner' is very funny, actually. The Cards won 101 games this year and led the majors with the best record. I think most people in their right mind would consider them a 'Real Winner.'

Obviously, a lot of people don't like the Cubs because last month I saw 'Cubs Suck' caps at a sports store. I have yet to see a Cardinals cap say that.

In football, the Cards aren't the greatest, and I'll admit the Bears have a good team this year and blew it in the 1980 and 1984 playoffs, but that's no reason to cut down the defending National League Champion baseball Cardinals.

Discussion cloudy on Not A Love Story

Editor:

From the somewhat vague report in The Daily Eastern News on the showing of "Not A Love Story" it was difficult to determine whether the local feminists were still trying as they did in the past to split the unsplitable into lust with violence and lust without violence, calling the one pornography and the other eroticism.

The article on the lecture/discussion (in Nov. 7 edition of the News) made it quite clear that the local ladies are still nominalists to the backbone and are still trying to wrench the Sixth Commandment from an unqualified prohibition against adultery/fornication into a version which would read: Thou shalt not commit adultery with violence.

This is itself an act of violence, not one perpetrated in the bedroom on a person, it is true, but one perpetrated in the classroom and the lecture hall on the English language.

Handgun bans tend to increase crime

When I first told my columnist counterpart, Kevin McDermott, his anti-handgun stance was questionable and a counter column was needed, he laughed.

"You haven't a prayer. Logic is on my side!"

So I looked into what his column said, and if I were inclined to prayer, I think it would have come true.

His column, if you missed it, focused on Oak Park defeating a measure to remove its hand-gun ban, equating the pro-gun faction's planned attempt to overturn the vote childish.

But for Oak Park's sake I hope that child wins, because the ban has failed miserably.

Just ask the anti-handgun people. That's right. Not the National Rifle Association, just the anti-handgun people.

A recent check by the University of Wisconsin Police Foundation studied the effect of handgun bans, and the leaders of the study said they entered the project against handguns, but later changed their minds.

The Wright-Rossi study found that the more restrictive the handgun laws, the more problems there are in stopping crime. And the worst examples were Evanston, Morton Grove and Oak Park, where they were hoping to find peace aside the handgun bans.

And if you ask the Illinois Department of State Police, they'll tell you Oak Park's violent crimes have risen drastically since Jan. 1. While the rest of the state—in fact the rest of the nation—is basking in crime rate increases of a fraction of a percent a year, not so in Oak Park.

Non-residential burglaries have climbed 16 percent. Residential burglaries have leaped 43 percent. And rapes have doubled.

Funny, I thought crime would go down. But Morton Grove has hurt, too, with burglaries up 33 percent. In Evanston, murders are also up.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department's latest figures show that violent crime nationwide was up a whopping 0.3 percent from 1984 over 1983.

If that weren't enough, at least 2 million more handguns enter society annually.

Off beat:

Jim Allen

The same Justice Department surveyed convicts and found 74 percent said they didn't break into occupied homes for fear of being shot. And 57 percent said they were more fearful of meeting armed victims as opposed to meeting armed police.

Let's turn to another anti-handgun group, the National Alliance Against Violence.

NAAV (I pronounce it "knav") did a study and confessed after it was through that on the average day, 900 Americans use a handgun to protect themselves.

But they admitted that many thwarted crimes go unreported, because people fear being arrested for having a concealed weapon.

The clincher is that police officers who responded to a survey in The Police Times were opposed to working in handgun-ban cities. How many? A meager 96 percent.

Now, I used to laugh at over-simplified statements like the sickening, "if handguns are outlawed, only outlaws will have handguns." I don't want to own a gun, but I know a nation-wide ban will not solve it all.

I don't know which way of a thousand you could interpret the second amendment. But banning guns, I fear, could only lead to more bans, like against pointed sticks. After all, for every pointed stick, death, I think there's only one pointed stick.

But McDermott, not only trying to eradicate my Second Amendment rights, even tried to stop me from exercising the ones covered under the First Amendment as well.

"If you think you're printing that, you're crazy," he laughed again. "I could kill you."

Maybe so, but if he's to kill me in Oak Park, he'd better use a pointed stick.

—Jim Allen is the city editor and a regular columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Summit activities are set in gear

Networks set stage for summit

The television networks will engage in their own version of "Star Wars" this week when their high-profile anchors report from Geneva during the superpower summit.

Pride, prestige and ratings will be at stake as Tom Brokaw, Peter Jennings and Dan Rather spearhead their networks' coverage of the meeting between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev on Tuesday and Wednesday.

"If you send your anchorpersons on the road, you tend to draw greater attention," said Jennings, anchor of ABC's "World News Tonight." Jennings said a traveling anchor means a larger commitment to a story, offering the opportunity to give it more depth and context.

Freeze group travels to Geneva

The Rev. Jesse Jackson and leaders of the nuclear freeze movement left for the Geneva summit Sunday armed with petitions containing more than a million signatures seeking a ban on nuclear-weapons testing.

The delegation boarded a flight from O'Hare International Airport with 25 boxes of petitions they hope to present to American and Soviet summit negotiators, a spokeswoman said.

The Soviets have agreed to receive the group on Wednesday while the American delegation has not agreed yet to meet with the freeze advocates, said Marguerite Beck-Rex, spokeswoman for the Sixth Annual Nuclear Weapons Freeze Campaign, held over the weekend in Chicago.

European allies hold no illusions

America's European allies say they hold "no exaggerated illusions," but hope this week's Geneva summit leads to "a better basis of confidence" when arms negotiations return to work in the months ahead.

Interviews with allied officials showed underlying concern that President Reagan's drive for a space-based nuclear missile defense, popularly known as "Star Wars," could sour summit achievements.

The Netherlands government, which decided earlier this month to authorize deployment of 48 NATO cruise missiles despite widespread public opposition, doesn't expect an arms reduction agreement.

Summit to set future course

By JIM ALLEN
City editor

Two Eastern political observers said the world should not look for startling superpower agreements to come from the summit between President Ronald Reagan and Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev.

Instead, both political science instructors said the eight hours of dialogue planned for the two leaders should bring to fruition cultural exchanges and set the course for future talks "between the experts" on arms.

In pre-summit statements, both Reagan and Gorbachev made appeals to "the various audiences" in the international political arena, both making statements to portray themselves as strong and desiring of arms reduction, political science instructor John Faust noted.

"It's all part of the 'summitry' process," Faust said. "What's important is that the leadership on both sides don't make a mistake."

Faust said a barometer of the talks' success will be how well Reagan and Gorbachev get along personally. This, he said, might determine how far the negotiators will be able to run with arms limitations and treaties.

Political science instructor Joe Connelly agreed, saying, "I think the summit will be an assessment."

The summit would not disappoint Connelly, he said, if significant breakthroughs were not made. But after six years away from arms talks, the two nations are definitely progressing, he said, with merely having the talks.

"I look for a few minor steps" toward future meetings, Connelly said, adding, "Talking's a lot better than ranting and raving. Both sides were making new proposals (prior to the meeting)."

"I'd be very disappointed if after being in office for eight years, all (Reagan) could point to was a tremendous arms buildup. So maybe this will serve as a first step," Connelly said.

Inner-circle arms dispute erupts

GENEVA (AP)—Sooner or later, President Reagan's inner-circle arms control dispute was bound to explode in public; it finally did, at the most embarrassing possible moment; damaging the united front Reagan hoped to take with him when he sits across the table from Mikhail Gorbachev.

The episode began on the eve of Reagan's trip to Geneva when a letter from Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger was leaked, before Reagan himself could even read it. Reagan's spokesman said he thought Weinberger, or one of his aides, did the leaking.

The leak came as administration moderates seemed to be gaining the upper hand on arms control. The letter amounted to a high-risk appeal from a key Cabinet officer for Reagan to reverse decisions already made.

Administration officials said the letter and the leak would not be damaging to the summit, however. Spokesman Larry Speakes said: "I'd be willing to put five bucks right here that General Secretary Gorbachev will not say a word about the Weinberger letter."

Whether he does or doesn't, the evidence of an American split on arms control policy could hamper Reagan in talks with Gorbachev. While the administration has sought to cover up its differences, the Weinberger letter again spotlights Reagan's difficulties in achieving unity among his own aides.

The AT&T Card eliminates fumbling with coins and hassling over bills.

The AT&T Card. The fast, easy way to call long distance— from anywhere to anywhere, anytime. The AT&T Card makes keeping in touch with friends and family a lot more convenient when you're at school.

You'll be able to get through on almost any public phone—on campus or off—without bothering with coins. And you'll actually pay up to 50¢ less than for AT&T collect, third-party or coin state-to-state calls. In fact, for most calls, it's the lowest rate next to direct dialing. And there's no charge to order the Card; no minimum usage fee.

You can also use your card to make calls from other people's rooms: the charge will show up on your bill, not theirs. No need to call collect or charge it to a third party.

You'll also eliminate a lot of hassle if you share a phone with roommates. With the AT&T Card, you'll get your own separate monthly bill itemizing only your calls. You'll pay more per call than if you dialed direct—but you'll save a lot of headaches trying to figure out who owes what.

As you can see, the AT&T Card eliminates all kinds of hassles. And you can get one whether or not you have a phone in your own name. Put The Eliminator to work for you. ## ROTC ceremony honors cadet accomplishments

By KRISTI WELLS
Staff writer

The sixth biannual awards ceremony for outstanding Eastern students in Reserved Officer Training Corps programs is scheduled for 9 a.m. Thursday in the Booth Library Lecture Hall.

ROTC Lt. Col. Wayne Duke said the award ceremony is a "chance for us to let cadets be recognized at Eastern and advance camp and also let fellow students see their accomplishments."

About 30 students will be honored during the ceremony in several areas including physical fitness, completion of courses, military proficiency and grade point averages, he said.

ROTC Capt. James Miller said participating students "strive to try to meet standards, not everyone can meet up to them. An individual strives for the best he can be."

Duke said the ceremony's highlight will be the presentation of the Military Proficiency Award which is given to cadets who finish in the top 5 percent in combined scores of a variety of military tests.

Duke said this year's recipients of the award are junior Alexander Findlay and senior John Lee.

Lee and Findlay could not be contacted Thursday after several attempts.

In addition, 10 students will be included on this year's most distinguished military students' list, Duke said. This award is presented to cadets who are in the top third of their class, have high advanced camp scores and outstanding military leadership skills.

Issues impede tax-overhaul bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Dan Rostenkowski said Sunday he's confident his House Ways and Means Committee can write a tax-overhaul bill greatly improving today's system, but acknowledged that several pending issues could torpedo the effort.

"I can report today that we've refuted the critics who said this job couldn't be done," the Illinois Democrat told reporters as he prepared to convene the committee for an afternoon of closed-door work on the bill. "Those who have been betting against the committee will soon have to pay off."

He said he hopes the committee can complete the bill on Friday.

However, the chairman, who has been working closely with President Reagan on taxation, mentioned several roadblocks that could derail the panel's progress:

- Taxation of real estate, the oil and gas industry, and employee fringe benefits, and deductions allowed for business travel and entertainment "create more pressure than any other" unresolved issue in the tax package, he said.
- "There is a good chance any one of them" could destroy the committee's efforts, he added.

• Republicans are not consistently supporting the bill in committee. But Reagan has been cooperative, the chairman said, adding he hopes that when the bill gets to the full House for consideration—probably next month—the president "can move more Republicans" than he has been.

Hard-driving Puppets play Roc's

If you enjoy hard-driving, progressive music that jolts the nervous system, then Top of the Roc at Page One Tavern, 410 Sixth St., was the place to be Friday night.

The occasion, and it was a rare one, was the combination of two extremely hot bands—The Meat Puppets, from Phoenix, Ariz., and Charleston's Recreational Bones.

No one probably left Page One feeling he hadn't received his money's worth (except possibly the young lady in front of me whose face was the unfortunate recipient of some enthusiastic dancer's elbow).

After a blood-pumping warm-up set by the always entertaining Recreational Bones, the Meat Puppets took the stage and immediately showed the audience why it has three albums to its credit.

Playing a collection of songs from "Meat Puppets," "Meat Puppets II," and their latest album "Up On The Sun" (1985), the trio gave the near sell-out audience a helping of what they came for, namely, original music that's truly refreshing.

Typically, most bands can be tossed into one musical category or another, but it's not that simple with the Meat Puppets.

Categorizing its music is about as easy as getting the athletic administration to allow the use of a gym to let REM play here.

Review:

Rick Lansing

If I had to, I'd say the Meat Puppets play progressive rock 'n' roll with a country influence. But then, some of the band's songs rip without any trace of twang to be found. At any rate, it was fun to listen to.

The heart and soul of the band is 26-year-old Curt Kirkwood, who looks and plays guitar like Jimmy Page and sings with the conviction of someone like David Byrne of the Talking Heads.

Equally as skillful with their respective instruments are Cris Kirkwood, 25, on bass, and Derrick Bostrom, 25, on drums.

The Meat Puppets, which has been together for five years, is currently on the Midwest leg of a tour that started in Phoenix and shifted west to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oregon before heading back east. Its next stop will be The Exit in Chicago.

Kirkwood said the tour of the west went especially well. "We've played the west coast a lot of times. We do real well in L.A. and San Francisco," he said.

The band's recent album was the number one seller for two weeks at one of Los Angeles' largest record shops.

In trying to characterize his own music, Kirkwood said, "There's a definite sort of a country thing in there. It's a lot of Elvis, especially late 60s Elvis."

To a certain degree the Meat Puppets have "made it"; its first two albums sold about 20,000 copies each and "Up On The Sun" is getting good air-play on campus radio stations across the country, according to Kirkwood.

Despite its success, the Meat Puppets have maintained the habits of an independent band.

"We use a van and a trailer and do all our own driving," Kirkwood said.

The band has also opted to stay self-managed. "It's still totally ours and we like it that way," he said.

Although Page One is the smallest stop on the tour, Kirkwood said the band members enjoyed themselves on stage.

"It's a nice change to play a small place where there's not as much going on."

When the Meat Puppets finish touring, Kirkwood said the band members have no plans to relax.

Instead, he said they will be heading back into the studio to cut another album. "It's grueling, but we enjoy it. There's no way you can recreate it sitting at home."

Business counts on students to make expansion pay

By CHRYSTAL PHILPOTT
Staff writer

Packing up its Star Wars and Walt Disney, Royce Rentals decided to search for a bigger building after spending nearly a year rooming with another business.

And with the bigger structure, the firm is banking on Eastern students—already half Royce's clientele—to make its sales go up in proportion to its floorspace.

Formerly located at 207 E. Lincoln Ave. with Copy-X, the move took it only a few blocks down to 15 W.

Lincoln Ave.

Royce's plans for the near future include a package deal for Eastern students to rent appliances by the semester. Royce manager Ron Gilbert said college students already make up about half of the business.

"We want college business, and we're going to do our best to get it," Gilbert said.

The new building, owned by Charleston attorney Bill Paris, has nearly three times the square feet of space as Royce's old location. To fill this space, Royce hosts a variety of products, all of which may be bought or rented.

Televisions, microwave ovens, washers, dryers, refrigerators, video cassette recorders, stereos and odd bits of new furniture occupy one side of its show room.

A video-cassette tape-rental library takes up the other half.

Royce has 1,100 movies, including horror, comedy, drama, musicals, documentaries, science-fiction and childrens' films with adult films kept in a back room.

Although Royce stocks such a large number of tapes for rent, according to Gilbert, the majority of Royce's business comes through large appliance rentals.

Lewis Randle, owner of the Royce Rentals company, named the company after the Rolls Royce automobile firm.

Gilbert said, "Royce is the top of the line in the auto industry. We at Royce Rentals want to be the top of the line in the appliance rentals and sales business."

Currently the Charleston Royce Rentals company employs four people, including Gilbert.

CSU out to repeat in AMCU

(Editor's note: This is the first of a five-part series previewing the basketball teams in the Association of Mid-Continent Universities.)

By DAN VERDUN
Assistant sports editor

The USFL's Houston Gamblers aren't the only team that employs a run-and-shoot offense. Just ask opponents of Cleveland State.

Cleveland State's potent fast-break oriented offense is the major reason the Vikings have been tabbed the preseason favorite to win the AMCU title.

The Vikings, who finished eighth in the nation in scoring (81.5) last season, were 21-8 overall and 11-3 in the AMCU a year ago.

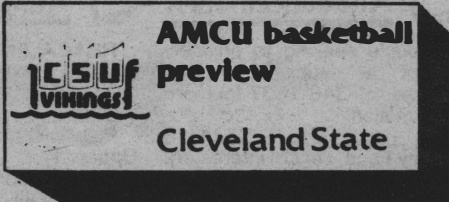

"Our style of game is pressure," Cleveland State coach Kevin Mackey said. "We'll pressure if we're up by 40 or down by 40. I believe in it."

With their entire 11-man squad returning and four promising newcomers in the wings, the defending AMCU champion Vikings appear ready for their title defense.

"We're not going to sneak up on anybody this year," Mackey said. "We're in a league that's much tougher, much more competitive than people realize and we'll be everybody's target."

The Vikings' run-and-gun offense is spearheaded by Honorable Mention All-American forwards Clinton Ramsey (18.4 ppg) and Clinton Smith (14.8 ppg).

Cleveland State will be relying on junior Eric Mudd for its inside strength. The 6-foot-7 Mudd finished second among AMCU rebounding leaders last season.

"He's going to surprise some people this year," Mackey said. "He may have really been my best player at the end of last season."

Mackey also feels he has shored up his inside game even more with the additions of transfers Ray Salters (6-4, 225 lbs.) and Paul Stewart (6-6, 235 lbs.).

Senior Vince Richards and junior Shawn Hood figure to see plenty of action at the guard slots. Richards, a three-year starter, averaged 12.6 points per game last year.

Lightning-quick junior Eddie Bryant should likewise see plenty of playing time for the high-powered Vikings. Although only 5-foot-10, Bryant possesses tremendous leaping ability that enables him to slam dunk with regularity.

Cleveland State's fastpaced style of play is also paralleled by its schedule this season. The Vikings have beefed up their slate by adding national title contender Michigan, Ohio State and DePaul.

Lady cagers picked 5th in Gateway coaches poll

By DOBIE HOLLAND
Staff writer

Eastern's women's basketball team has been selected to finish sixth in the Gateway Conference in a poll of league coaches released last week.

In addition to releasing the poll, conference coaches took the opportunity to preview their squads and comment on the preseason predictions during the second annual Gateway Conference preseason teleconference.

Panther coach Bobbie Hilke said she thinks her unit could be ranked a bit higher but she is satisfied with the ranking, which is an improvement over last year's seventh place preseason pick.

Last year, Eastern finished fifth with an 8-10 Gateway record and 16-12 overall.

Drake University was the unanimous choice to finish first with 97.5 points, followed by Southern Illinois-Carbondale with 92.5 total points and Illinois State third with 74 points.

Southwest Missouri placed fourth with 65 points and Bradley nosed out Eastern for the fifth spot with 51 points. Eastern had 50 points to rank sixth.

Indiana State, 41 points, ranked seventh, with Wichita State, 38 points, in eighth, Northern Iowa ninth, with 31 points while a young and inexperienced Western Illinois squad placed 10th.

Drake, last season's runners-up to Illinois State, sported a 24-6 record and was 16-2 in the conference, which has Bulldog coach Carole Baumgarten ecstatic.

"We're really excited about this year with our freshmen and (all-conference forward) Wanda Ford," Baumgarten said.

Ford, a preseason All-American, led the team with 24.2 average and 17.8 rebounds a game was also named the Gateway Conference's 1985 Player of the Year.

Along with Ford up front is sophomore Julie Fitzpatrick, who managed to accrue some awesome statistics herself. Fitzpatrick, last season's Gateway Rookie of the Year, averaged 23.1 points per game while averaging 7.7 rebounds.

All of the coaches expressed a need for better recognition nationally and each team has scheduled tougher pre-conference schedules to improve its chances.

Conference Commissioner Patti Viverito said this might enhance the conference's chances of sending two or more teams to the NCAA tournament.

Bears pummel Cowboys, clinch NFC Central

IRVING, Tex. (AP)—Chicago's Mike Ditka gave his old professor, Dallas Coach Tom Landry, a 44-0 bloodbath Sunday, the worst loss in the Cowboys' 26-year history.

The unbeaten Bears' rout clinched the National Football Conference Central Division title for the second consecutive season, and they did it without their starting quarterback.

But Ditka refused to gloat. "The win isn't that big a deal," said Ditka of his first victory over Landry, who coached him for nine years. "It was a good win. Beating them was no big deal. The deal is being 11-0 and winning the Central Division."

Ditka said the defense "took the game away, and our offense just mopped up. Our defense was just great. Dallas could never get untracked."

Chicago quarterback Steve Fuller, standing in for the injured Jim McMahon, said the score means nothing.

"The only stat that means something is the 'w,'" he said. "You don't expect to do this against Dallas. Coach Mike Ditka calmed me down, he said 'just play kid.'"

Bears running back Walter Payton said, "If we get Jim back, we may score 60 points on somebody the way our defense is playing."

As expected, Landry was in a somber mood.

"We took a real old-fashioned licking," Landry said. "They just whipped us all the way. We did the one thing we couldn't do, and that was turn the ball over. Once they got easy touchdowns, then it was over."

He added that "you can't take anything away from the Bears. We just didn't play good football. We just gave 'em two touchdowns. If the Bears get 14 points up on you, then you can't beat 'em."

Landry and Ditka shook hands at midfield after the game.

"We just exchanged greetings," Landry said. "There wasn't much you could say. It was the Bears' day and they deserved it. The way they beat us was a big surprise, but Chicago is one of the best teams to play in this league in the last two years."

Richard Dent and Mike Richardson returned intercepted passes for touchdowns in the Chicago runaway.

The tough Bear defense also knocked out starting quarterback Danny White in the second and third periods and treated replacement Gary Hogeboom just as rudely.

Jaworski hurt, but Eagles still top Cardinals, 24-14

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mike Quick caught two touchdown passes, and Ernest Jackson ran for 162 yards and a touchdown to lead Philadelphia over St. Louis 24-14.

Paul McFadden kicked a 20-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter to break a 14-14 tie, and Jackson ran 51 yards for a touchdown with 9:16 to go. Philadelphia, 6-5, led 14-0 before Stump Mitchell ran for touchdowns of 3 and 3 yards to tie the score. Mitchell finished with a career-high 179 yards rushing for St. Louis, 4-7.

Eagles quarterback Ron Jaworski sustained a bruised right shoulder in the first quarter, and he did not finish the game.

Raiders 13, Bengals 6

Marc Wilson threw a 7-yard touchdown pass to running back Marcus Allen with 2:10 to play, lifting the Raiders over Cincinnati.

The victory broke a two-game losing streak as the Raiders improved to 7-4 in the AFC West.

Packers 31, Chiefs 6

The Montana scored one touchdown on a 1-yard sneak, and he threw two second-half TD's to lead the 49ers to a victory over Kansas City.

San Francisco went ahead for good when fullback Roger Craig used kicker Guy McIntyre as a stepladder to score on a 1-yard run early in the second quarter.

Panthers 41, Vikings 21

Quarterback Eric Hipple led Detroit to a 31-point blitz in the first half, taking advantage of three early Minnesota turnovers, and the Lions took sole possession of second place in the NFC Central behind Chicago with a record.

Hipple passed for 193 yards and two touchdowns, two to Davis Lewis, while Joe Ferguson took over to start the second half.

Panthers 62, Bucs 28

Quarterback Ken O'Brien threw for two touchdowns, three to Mickey Carter, and the Jets set a team scoring record by routing Tampa Bay.

The Bucs led 14-0 in the first quarter, but by the time the first half ended, the Jets had set another team record by scoring 41 points. O'Brien completed 23 of 30 attempts.

Dolphins 34, Colts 20

Miami, which trailed 10-0 in the first quarter, got 330 yards passing from Dan Marino to rally over Indianapolis.

Rookies Lorenzo Hampton and Ron Davenport scored two touchdowns apiece for the Dolphins.

Packers 38, Saints 14

Lynn Dickey threw two second-quarter touchdowns as Green Bay romped to a 17-0 halftime lead, and the Packers sacked New Orleans quarterback Bobby Herbert six times.

Dickey completed 22 of 35 passes for 302 yards, and his backup, Jim Zorn, also threw a touchdown pass.

Falcons 30, Rams 14

Gerald Riggs ran for 123 yards and three touchdowns as Atlanta raced to a 23-0 lead after three quarters, handing the Rams their third loss in four weeks.

Riggs set a club record by rushing for more than 100 yards in his fourth straight game.

Steelers 30, Oilers 7

Gary Anderson kicked three field goals, including a 52-yarder, and Frank Pollard and David Woodley ran for touchdowns as the Steelers handled Houston.

IHSA

Siverly, Eureka; Tracy Young, Eureka; and Karla Frieze, Stewardson-Strasburg.

A record was set for Class A total attendance for a state tournament with 8,879.

McAuley mauls

Top-ranked and defending champion Chicago Mother McAuley breezed to a two-game sweep of St. Charles to win the Class AA title.

The Mighty Macs rolled to consecutive 15-7 victories to capture their record fifth Class AA title.

Mother McAuley finished the year with a 39-2 record, while St. Charles ended up 34-7.

All-tournament selections Traci Broadway and Maureen Skalitzy paved the way for the McAuley title drive.

Broadway recorded six points served, four spikes, two blocks and two service aces in the championship contest.

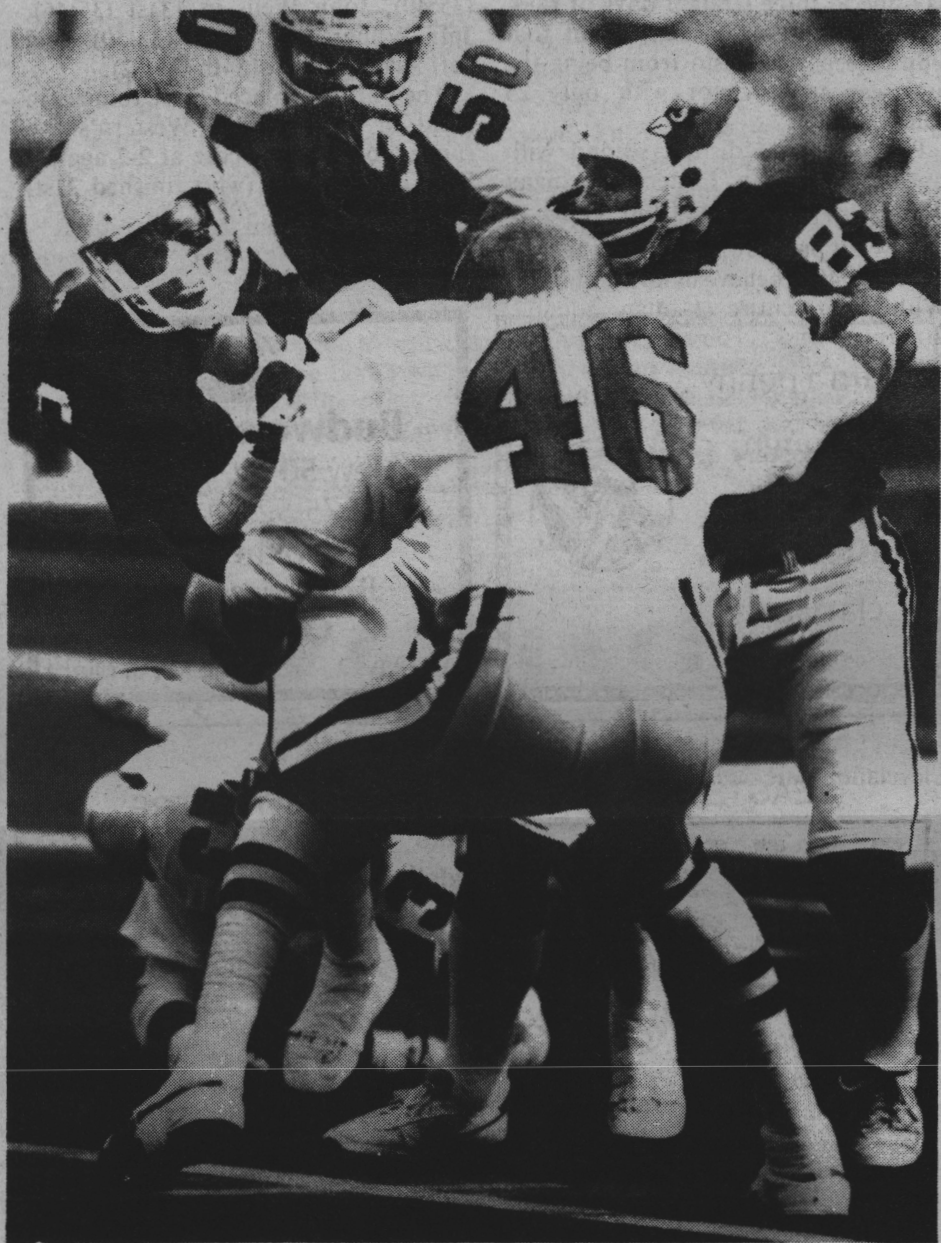

"Mother McAuley is just a great team," St. Charles coach Shirley Fasbender said. "They come at you and do things right."

Oak Forest, 38-5, won the third-place match by downing Moline 6-15, 15-6 and 15-3. Moline wound up at 28-7.

Other members of the all-tournament team were Julie Plattner, Springfield Sacred Heart; Cheryl Prihar, Oak Forest; Karen Staab, Palatine; and Lisa Vitali, St. Charles.

The total attendance for both Class A and AA coupled to set a tournament record of 15,776.

Men harriers finish 19th in NCAA meet

By JOHN STROUD
Staff writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Eastern's men's cross country team sloshed its way through the rain and mud at the NCAA district qualifying meet on Saturday to finish the 1985 season.

The Panthers tallied 497 points to place 19th out of 23 full teams in what is perennially one of the premier districts in the nation. All together 31 schools were represented at the last stop before the NCAA championship meet.

Times were slow on this particular day due to three straight days of rain, making for a soggy course, but that didn't keep Wisconsin from being the run-away team victor with only 25 points.

Purdue was a distant second with 108, followed by Eastern Michigan (133) and Miami of Ohio (140) to round out the NCAA championship qualifiers.

"It's tough competition over there, but I'm pleased," assistant coach Tom Akers said of Eastern's performance.

"We went in knowing our chances were slim to none of qualifying but I was happy with the way they went out and competed."

Senior Dan Newman crossed the line first for the Panthers in 83rd place with a time of 34:25 for the 10,000-meter course. He was followed by Mitch McClure in 103rd (34:52), Dale Righter in 106th (34:56), Mike Madix in 126th (35:40), John Wells in 131st (35:46), Jeff Williams in 133rd (35:50), and Jeff Armstrong in 134th (35:52).

The Panthers placed three runners in front of AMCU rival Western's top runner to even the score at 2-2 against the Leatherneck's (who finished 21st) this season.

"I'm happy that we beat Western again," Akers said. "Our guys could have easily gone through the motions and blamed the weather for a bad race. But they went for it."

With cross country season over its "time to get into the track frame of mind and out of the cross country frame of mind," Akers said. Although the team experienced a few bad breaks, he is pleased with the season in general.

"We had a good season as far as I'm concerned," Akers said. "One thing we're disappointed with is we never got to run our top people together; it never materialized."

"It would have been nice to go into the conference with those people," Akers added. "But this team has a real good future ahead. Our freshmen have a good chance of being solid varsity runners for us next year."

Eastern's Lori Berger goes up for a block in the spikers' season finale Friday night at McAfee Gym. Eastern dropped a four-game match to Bradley, ending the season at 16-17.

Spikers rocked by Braves, end year with 16-17 mark

Eastern's volleyball team closed out its season on a sour note Friday by dropping a four-game match to Bradley in McAfee Gym.

The Braves toppled the Panthers 15-10, 8-15, 15-6 and 15-12. The victory assured Bradley a berth in the post-season Gateway Conference tournament along with Illinois State, Southern Illinois and Northern Iowa.

The win lifted the Braves' record to 32-8 overall and 6-2 in the Gateway. Eastern closed out its season at 16-17 overall and 3-6 in conference action.

"We can't let them come back like that in the first game," Eastern coach Betty Ralston said referring to the Panthers blowing a 10-4 lead.

Bradley roared back to run off 11 unanswered points and take the contest.

"Bradley is a good defensive team," Ralston said. "You've got to put the ball to the floor because if it's within their reach, they'll get it."

The Panthers were forced to play the match without the services of sophomore setter Jeanne Pacione, who sustained an ankle injury while warming up prior to the contest.

"It's one thing to get hurt in the match, but to get injured in warm-ups really offsets things," Ralston said. "It's too bad because she (Pacione) played well last night (in our win over Western Illinois)."

The match marked the final appearances of seniors Judy Planos, Misty Buckhold and Lori Berger in Eastern uniforms.

Planos, an outside hitter from Evanston, led Eastern with 15 kills and a .438 hitting percentage.

Buckhold, a Riverton native, collected seven kills, nine assists and six digs.

"Misty did well considering she didn't know she'd be setting until the injury," Ralston said. "I thought Lori had a good night too."

Berger registered nine kills, six block assists and two service aces.

Junior Maura LeFevour added 10 kills, four block assists and a .409 hitting percentage.

Freshman setter LeAnn Thomas dished out 14 assists for the Panthers.

Bradley was led by hitters Betsy Buckhold, Kathy Vaitkus and Sharon Zaba.

Buckhold, the younger sister of Misty, blasted 19 kills to the floor

Panthers convert 2-pointer, edge WKU 14-13

By JEFF LONG
Sports editor

BOWLING GREEN, Ky.—Eastern's final football game of the 1985 season can be analyzed by the law of averages.

Not because the Panthers nipped Western Kentucky 14-13 to finish the season at a very average 6-5.

This equalizer came following a fourth quarter touchdown by the Panthers, who attempted a two-point conversion late in the game a week earlier but came up short in a one-point loss.

Fate was smiling on the Panthers this week, however. And when they scored a touchdown with 1:39 remaining Saturday to move within one at 13-12, there was no doubt in coach Al Molde's mind what course of action to take.

"It really wasn't a tough decision," Molde said of his opting for the two-point conversion. "Last week (Northern Iowa game) crossed my mind. It's just that this week it worked out."

Eastern got the opportunity for the conversion after quarterback Sean Payton hooked up with Charlie Williams for a 17-yard scoring strike on a third and 10 situation to cap an inspired drive.

The Panthers marched 76 yards in 14 plays on the drive, converting fourth down situations twice to sustain it.

"That was the ballgame," Molde said. "There were a lot of big plays on that drive. It was a gutsy effort on our part."

Eastern again went with the pass on its two-point conversion attempt as it had unsuccessfully the previous week. This time, however, Payton found Willie Cain in the end zone and the Panthers were in luck.

The win marked the eighth consecutive season in which Eastern has finished with a winning record. The Panthers have been the winningest team in the state in that span with a cumulative record of 68-28-1, a winning percentage of 70 percent.

But the Panthers fell short in one of their other goals, which was to make running back DuWayne

Pitts only the fourth back to gain 1,000 yards rushing in a season.

Pitts needed 86 yards to reach that mark, but was held to 54 yards on 15 carries as the Panthers netted only 26 yards rushing on the afternoon.

"The field conditions were really terrible," Molde said of the muddy playing surface. "It took away from the effectiveness of both teams and turned into a quagmire out there."

Eastern knotted the score in the slip-slide contest at 6-6 early in the fourth quarter when Evan Arapostathis booted his second field goal of the game, this one a 43-yarder.

But the Hilltoppers, 3-7, nearly took the wind out of the Panthers' sails when Glendell Miller took an Arapostathis punt and returned it 74 yards to give WKU a 13-6 lead with 4:38 remaining.

"At first we thought 'oh my goodness there's only a few minutes left,'" Molde related. "But there was a lot of determination on our sideline. We told them to suck it up and go get it."

Although the Panthers yielded 334 yards of offense to the Hilltoppers, the defense intercepted heralded WKU quarterback Jeff Cesarone twice, something no other team had done to the Hilltoppers this season.

The sophomore QB had entered the contest with the lowest interception rate among Division I-AA quarterbacks with only five interceptions in 34 previous attempts.

One of those interceptions came from senior Brian Newby, who was playing his final game as a Panther, and Molde found it especially fitting.

"This was a great way for our seniors to go out," Molde said. "I told them they were all winners in my eyes."

In addition to Newby, seniors playing their final gridiron game for the Panthers were Arapostathis, safety Eddie Nailon, offensive linemen Tim Wyatt, Mike Hurley and Barry Wolfe, defensive ends Tom Moskal and linebacker Melvin Black.

Lisle battles way to Class A crown McAuley repeats as AA champion

By DAN VERDUN
Assistant sports editor

Lisle and Chicago Mother McAuley were crowned Illinois state volleyball champions Saturday in Lantz Gym.

Lisle captured the Class A title Saturday afternoon, while Mother McAuley won the Class AA championship Saturday evening.

Lisle victorious

Second-ranked Lisle upended top-ranked and previously unbeaten Stewardson-Strasburg to win the Class A title.

Lisle defeated Stewardson-Strasburg by identical 15-13 scores to sweep the best-of-three title match.

The victory boosted the Lions' final record to 39-3. Stewardson-Strasburg ended its season at 37-1.

"We did everything we wanted to do," Lisle coach and Eastern graduate Karen Uhler said. "We were really looking forward to this game. We wanted to maintain our composure and confidence."

All-tournament selection Annmarie Dore led the Lisle offense by registering eight spikes and five blocks.

Junior setter Jennifer Dickey, who was also an all-tourney pick, served six points while setting up the Lisle attack.

"We are an excellent defensive team," Uhler said. "Our kids came through today. I'm very proud of our team."

Stewardson-Strasburg was tournament selection Laura Bush. The junior collected 19 spikes in 39 attempts and nine blocks.

"I think Laura Bush felt the pressure today quite a bit," Stewardson-Strasburg coach Jarielle Harner said. "Lisle was able to hit on offense and we got pulled out of our attack."

"We had a lot of errors. I'm really proud of my girls and they didn't get embarrassed."

Eureka, 34-7, won the third place contest over Carthage (Hancock Central) 17-15, 13-15 and 15-7. Carthage closed out its season at 29-7.

Other members of the tournament team were Tampa, paced by the play of a
