Senate will seat new members, debate art plan

By AMY CARR
Staff writer

The Student Senate will seat new senators at Wednesday's meeting, Senate Speaker Joe O'Mera said.

Legislative Leadership, a branch of the senate, has been conducting interviews to fill the open senate seats for about two weeks, O'Mera said.

The group will select four at-large senators from 16 applicants; three residence hall senators from seven applicants; and three off-campus senators from eight applicants, he said.

"There is severe competition," O'Mera said. "This is the toughest it's been since I've been on (student government)."

Included in the applicants is Darren DeVriese, who was recently the topic of controversy over the apportionment of senate funds.

DeVriese, a non-senate member, was allocated $110 to attend a conference during the summer.

DeVriese, who ran for board of governors representative last spring on Student Body President Mike Madigan's Unity party and lost, was recently appointed chairman of Madigan's new presidential lobbying committee.

DeVriese said he decided shortly (See SENATE, page 8)

Local man injured in Navy shooting

A Charleston man is in stable condition after suffering from gunshot wounds Monday and a seaman from Miami faces possible court-martial after the shooting of three Navy instructors at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Lonnie Yowell, 41, was wounded in the upper arm, forearm and neck when Seaman Arif M. Ameen opened fire on Yowell and two other men at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Ameen, who was originally from Pakistan and who just became a naturalized citizen on July 4, 1984, has been taken into custody.

Yowell is in intensive care at the base hospital and is expected to remain there for 24 to 48 hours for observation, Public Affairs Officer Lt. Joseph Gradischer said.

Gradischer said Yowell's prognosis looked good, but he was unsure of any further details.

"Last I heard he was sitting," he said. "The official investigation is still going on."

Gradischer said officials handling the case have

Suspected series burglar caught

Charleston police and Coles County sheriff's deputies Tuesday arrested a man who may be responsible for a string of recent burglaries in the Charleston area, officials said.

Charleston Police Chief Maurice Johnson said the suspect, Ed Hacker, 22, was arrested Tuesday, following a tip from an area resident.

Hacker was being held Tuesday night in the Coles County Jail on a parole violation charge. His bail has been set at $3,000.

Johnson said Hacker, who allegedly violated his parole from a previous burglary conviction, is a suspect in the Monday break-in attempt of a home at 2345 Douglas Ave.

Hacker, the son of Charleston insurance agent Nick Hacker, is a suspect in a number of other recent burglaries, Johnson said but declined to offer more details.

"We have a number (of burglaries)," Johnson said Tuesday night. "I don't think that would be fair to

Arby's Roast Beef franchise to open

City Council approves site

By CHRYSTAL PHILPOTT
City editor

Students can start looking forward to roast beef from Arby's.

The Charleston City Council voted Tuesday to approve a zoning variance allowing the extra parking the Arby's restaurant would need to build the restaurant.

The council voted to waive the layover period and pass the ordinance, which allows Jerry Myerscough, owner of Jerry's Pizza and Pub, 1508 Fourth St., to lease parking spaces to the restaurant, which he will also own.

Myerscough tore down a building on the lot in order to speed preparations for the Arby's franchise, which he purchased in July, he said.

Myerscough has been hoping to get the zoning variance and build the Arby's restaurant for quite some time, he said. He hopes to have the restaurant completed by November.

The council also voted to waive the layover and approve a street closing for Eastern's Homecoming parade on Oct. 11.

Throughout the duration of the parade, from Ninth St. to Division Street on Lincoln Avenue will be closed and traffic detoured.

In other business, the commissioners proclaimed Friday POW/MIA Day in Charleston. The council decision follows a decision by President Ronald Reagan to proclaim the day National POW/MIA Day.

City Executive Assistant Chris Bezruki and Bruce Scism, public health and safety commissioner, were both appointed to the Charleston Area Economic Development Foundation in an add-on to the agenda.

Charleston Mayor Murray Choate said the city has two appointments to the board and that after discussing it, the commissioners all agreed that Bezruki and Scism were the best officials for the job.

The mayor is automatically a permanent member of the board, which was created in early spring.

The city donates $25,000 to the board's annual budget, which Choate said is estimated at an average of $140,000 to $150,000.

The foundation will have its annual meeting on Nov. 1.

Max Coughill, a former Charleston mayor, serves as the first president for the board.

A resolution authorizing a contract between the city and Roland D. Spaniol for computer services has been placed on file for public inspection.

Spaniol's contract calls for a $200 a month salary and a payment of $12.50 an hour for every hour over his required 16 a month.

The contract is a renewal of a previous one between Spaniol and the city.

The job includes consultation, problem determination, problem resolution and training of city employees on city computers.

Lecithin no cure for Alzheimer's

CHICAGO—There is no evidence that lecithin, a sticky substance found in egg yolks, is an effective treatment for Alzheimer's disease, but one researcher says it still offers hope in the fight against the brain disorder.

"I wish I could tell you we've solved the problem," Dr. John H. Growdon, program director of the Massachusetts Alzheimer's Disease Research Center in Boston, said Tuesday. "But most of the data so far are negative."

But lecithin holds promise in the fight against Alzheimer's and other brain disorders, said Growdon, one of 110 doctors and scientists from 14 countries at the three-day Fourth International Colloquium on Lecithin in Chicago, which ends Wednesday.

The scientists are reporting on their research into the medical potential of lecithin, a naturally occurring substance found in soybeans, egg yolks, meat and the human brain.

Gangster killed in double-cross

CHICAGO—A reputed mobster suspected in at least two killings may have gone to his death believing he was part of a gangland hit team, not the intended victim, police say.

John Fecarotta, 58, of Riverside, was gunned down while being chased by two men through a Northwest Side alley late Sunday.

Police said Monday that several witnesses, whom they declined to identify, saw a gunman put the last bullet into Fecarotta's head in front of a bingo parlor.

Fecarotta, described by the Chicago Crime Commission as a suspect in at least two gangland slayings, also was shot in the side, the stomach, the back and the right arm.

Police sources told the Chicago Tribune they reached the double-cross theory because Fecarotta was wearing gloves and carrying two pistols, one of them unloaded, at the time of his death.

The unnamed sources also were quoted as saying that a dummy bomb of railroad flares made to resemble dynamite sticks was found in the stolen car Fecarotta had apparently driven to the scene.

Referendum stopped by judge

CHICAGO (AP)—Mayor Harold Washington's reelection hopes got an apparent boost Tuesday when a judge barred from the Nov. 4 ballot a referendum that proposed changing the way the city elects its mayor.

Cook County Circuit Judge Joseph Schneider upheld the city elections board's 2-1 decision to bar the referendum, which asked voters whether to change the mayoral contest from its current two-party primary format to a non-partisan election.

Islamic Jihad wants to negotiate freedom for captives in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Islamic Jihad urged the United States on Tuesday to negotiate for the release of three American hostages in Lebanon as it did with the Soviet Union for American newsman Nicholas Daniloff.

The Shiite Moslem group also released a letter bearing the name of hostage David Jacobsen, which made a similar plea and warned that the kidnappers might kill their captives.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said in Washington that administration officials believe Jacobsen apparently wrote the letter but "there is good reason to believe Jacobsen apparently wrote the letter and represents anything more than the views of Mr. Jacobsen's captors."

The three-page letter was written in poor and often stilted English, raising doubts that its original author was the 55-year-old Jacobsen, who was the administrator of the American University Hospital when he was kidnapped last year.

Misspellings in the letter included the name of the Rev. Lawrence Martin Jenco, a hostage who was freed in July after being held with Jacobsen and the others.

Jacobsen is one of six Americans now missing in Lebanon. Islamic Jihad says it holds three American hostages and killed a fourth. It is uncertain who carried out the kidnappings last week of two other Americans.

Islamic Jihad packet also contained a Polaroid photograph of Jacobsen in pajamas, almost identical to one of him released with an Islamic Jihad statement in Beirut last week.

"Why Reagan interested minute by minute with spy journalsit Daneloff but he is not interested one minute in our story?" asked the letter said to have been handwritten by Jacobsen. Daniloff's name was misspelled.

In a separate, typewritten, Arabic-language statement, Islamic Jihad, or Islamic Holy War, said the Reagan administration had made "concessions in the Daniloff case which provoked many question marks in the hostages' minds."

The three captives were "comparing what the (U.S.) government did in the 'Daniloff' case with what it is doing for them," the statement said.

French wary of future bombings

PARIS (AP)—The French, keeping a wary vigil for more terrorist bombs in their midst, are trying to juggle normal routines with new security steps that some say play into the bombers' hands.

Police switchboards buzz with calls.

One caller said a pile of leaves outside City Hall could disguise a bomb. The leaves were swiftly removed. The Stock Exchange and two Metro stations were hastily evacuated for what turned out to be false alarms.

In the northern city of Caen, a young woman dumped a parcel on a post office counter and hurried away. Police evacuated the building, and the bomb squad raced up. They found letters, stamped for mailing.

In the past eight days, four bombings have killed a total of three people and injured more than 100. The most recent bombing, on Monday, was inside the central police station.

Even before Monday's bombing, new anti-terrorist measures were implemented, including visa requirements for visitors from all but the 12

European Common Market countries and Switzerland.

The French, who tend not to suffer officialdom lightly, quietly submitted to opening bags and even body searches at department stores, theaters, restaurants and other public places.

"I am delighted the police are on the job," an elderly woman remarked, interviewed on television along the Champs-Élysées. "There are not enough searches for my taste."

Some commentators warned that the security measures ordered by Premier Jacques Chirac played into terrorists' hands, creating a mood of fear and doubt.

Some worried that using the armed forces to supplement gendarmes and border police established a worrisome precedent for democracy. Others said the imposition of visas would scare off tourists.

The Metro, Paris' underground railroad, is as crowded as usual, but passengers glance under their seats and eye fellow riders with some suspicion.

Final dean candidate interviewed Tuesday

Hine plans to build program with community

By TERI BROWN
Staff writer

Although it's the university's responsibility to meet the community's needs, it's not always possible, said a University of Evansville employee interviewed Tuesday for the position of dean of adult and continuing education.

William C. Hine was the last of five candidates to be interviewed for the position. He has worked at two Indiana universities for the past 13 years and is currently associate dean for the college of graduate and continuing studies and director of continuing education community service programs at the University of Evansville.

"It's our responsibility to be out in the community," Hine said. "Some needs the university can meet, some it can't. It's better not to do something than to do something badly."

Hine said the university always wants the programs off campus to be the same quality as the ones offered on campus, "so sometimes we have to say 'no' to a class (being offered off campus). Not because we don't have the faculty, but because we don't have other resources available, such as an adequate library."

Hine received his bachelor of science degree at Indiana University and his master's degree in divinity at the Christian Theological Seminary, both in Indianapolis. After receiving his doctorate in education at Indiana University in 1973, Hine began working as acting assistant campus director at Indiana University-East.

In 1980, he left for the University of Evansville to begin work as assistant dean of the college of alternative programs. He was promoted to his current position in 1983.

When asked about compensation for teaching an overload, Hine said Evansville pays 10 percent of the faculty's base salary. He said Eastern may be eligible for special grants which would allow for more pay or that adjunct faculty could be used when needed.

"If we can identify a need, we have to be successful in also finding the resources to service that need," he said. "That's a universal problem. Faculty already has a lot of pressure. They have to have some rewards for teaching an overload."

Hine said Evansville offers a span of programs reaching to community colleges in Kentucky. The university also offers programs for area businesses.

Evansville also provides a "bridge program," which brings various courses like English and composition to high schools to help in students' transition to college.

"We see our mission as extremely broad," Hine said. "We must support the faculty and help them offer the types of courses they want to."

Hine said it is important that registration for off-campus courses is at the location that the courses will be taught so people don't have to come on campus. Faculty must also make sure the same textbooks will be used for both the on- and off-campus courses.

"I think we have an excellent program," Hine said. "We have very good environmental scanning. That's the key to marketing."

"We segment our market as much as possible to rifle mark its needs."

Hine said he believes Eastern is moving into a new era. "Each educational program has to be environmentally specific," he said. "I'd like to build a program with the faculty and community. Eastern has a very fine program. People are all pulling together. That's why I'd like to come here."

Hine is one of five candidates chosen out of 80 applicants by the search committee to travel to Eastern to be interviewed.

Barbara Richter, search committee chair, said it hopes to have its recommendation to Eastern President Stanley Rives by Sept. 17. Rives will make the final decision.

William C. Hine

Candidates are interviewed by various academic groups such as the Council of Academic Affairs, Faculty Senate and the Council of Deans.

The new dean will replace Carol Holden, who was Eastern's director of adult and continuing education for three years. The position was upgraded to a deanship this year.

Fire's fumes kill 44 in mining accident

EVANDER, South Africa (AP)—A welding accident touched off an underground fire and filled a gold mine with fumes Tuesday, killing at least 44 workers, injuring 183 and trapping more than 150 in a mile-deep underground shaft, officials reported.

The state-run South African Broadcasting Corp. quoted Kobus Olivier, manager of the Kinross mine, as saying there was only a slight chance that the missing miners had survived.

But company officials disputed a report that 100 bodies had been brought to the surface.

Dawie de Beer, spokesman for General Mining Union Corp., the country's second biggest mining group, told reporters at the mine gate that 26 bodies were brought out of the mine shortly before midnight, about 14 hours after the fire broke out.

Earlier, the company had said 18 miners were known dead. De Beer said 154 miners were missing.

Olivier said 128 black workers and 55 whites were hospitalized in Evander, which is on the edge of the mine.

Faculty Senate claims poor design in student textbook evaluation plan

By CAROL ROEHM
Staff writer

Textbook evaluation plans were tabled by the Faculty Senate Tuesday until the faculty-student relations committee and Student Senate Speaker Joe O'Mera's committee can redesign the evaluation.

Faculty Senate member Ken Sutton suggested that the evaluation be designed to numerically rate the textbooks on a scale instead of the current yes-or-no answer design.

Also, the time at which the evaluation should be administered was discussed.

"It's important not to administer the evaluation during teacher evaluations because textbooks should not interfere with teaching performance," senate member Bev Miller said.

The senate agreed that the evaluation should be administered for the purpose of student feedback and the information should be used as an aid to the departmental textbook selection committees.

In other business, Senate member Larry Janes reviewed with the senate instances in which they can go into executive session. The Faculty Senate went into a closed executive session last week at the request of Eastern President Stanley Rives.

Meetings are to be closed for the discussion of purchasing property and/or the hiring or dismissal of personnel, Janes said, reading from a 1981 pamphlet describing how the open meetings act related to school board meetings.

However, senate member Scott Smith said, "Last week there was no reason for the closed session (with Rives)."

Senate member Bill Heyduck said property had been discussed at last Tuesday's closed session.

The faculty morale committee members were selected. Committee members are Michael Loudon, chairman, Andy McNitt and Scott Smith. The new committee is to review its structure and document faculty criticisms for a report at a later meeting.

Heyduck made a motion to invite the traffic and safety board and the chief of security to discuss the distribution of student parking permits and the possibility of a renewable staff parking permit. He said the current system interferes with class attendance.

Playing deadly games with world peace

The arrest and indictment of American journalist Nicholas Daniloff as a spy by the Soviet Union lingers on the borders of insanity. It's important, now more than ever, to keep it from going over that border.

The facts suggest that Daniloff is just an unlucky pawn in another episode of Interglobal Politics '86.

Editorial

The Soviets are, from every indication, using retaliatory actions for the arrest of Soviet U.N. employee Gannedy Zakharov, who was caught allegedly attempting to solicit secret information for $1,000 from U.S. agents.

In contrast, Daniloff was charged with espionage because he accepted what he thought was a going-away present from a colleague in the Soviet media. This present later turned out to be secret information, the basis for the charges against Daniloff.

Daniloff's arrest is a travesty and a slap in the face to any member of the global media in Russia. Journalists there must accept the fact that the moment they arrive there they will be followed and they can trust no one.

Yes, this is an exercise in insanity. But, although this is an obvious set-up and needs to be countered strongly by the United States, there is one victim which neither the U.S. nor the Soviet Union can afford to hold for ransom: Arms control negotiations.

These negotiations will have an effect on millions in Russia, America and throughout the world.

The U.S. should apply more pressure to the Soviets for Daniloff's release but not at the sacrifice of such things as negotiations for arms reductions and a better co-existence. Superpower games over one incident should not break down what has taken years to achieve.

The Daily Eastern News welcomes letters to the editor from any reader addressing issues relating to the campus community.

Cartoon offends Christians' faith

Editor:

As Christians, we find very offensive the comical portrayal of the Lord's Supper found in the Sept. 10 issue of The Daily Eastern News. To say that Jesus Christ is passing "Satan's own syrup" is very offensive to Christians on this campus. It makes a mockery of a highly recognized symbol of obedience in the Christian faith.

We question the motives of The Daily Eastern News in this selection of an "Editorial Cartoon." If this is the view that The Daily Eastern News has of the Christian faith, then we are sure that Christians can find other means of getting relevant news, than by reading a paper that has a questionable view of Christianity.

We hope and pray The Daily Eastern News editorial board in the future stays far away from slanderous comments attacking the Christian faith.

'Mother Democracy' an empty concept

Editor:

I'd like to address the Eastern students on an extremely important issue: the ongoing growth of world nuclear arsenals. If people fail to act now, the time will come when nothing will be able to be done!

We pride ourselves for our patriotism, but truly we have become a nation of apathetic slugs (especially on the college campuses). We speak of defending "Mother Democracy," yet the majority of us have scarcely participated in it. We cheer for freedom, yet it is an empty freedom of laziness and non-involvement. Everyday our "leaders" carry out policies which so few of us question. This is democracy?

Each of you have a personal, patriotic, and humanistic duty to get involved in the campaign against the arms race! If you are ready to act, there is an organization, here on campus, that has been actively involved in protesting against the arms race. Eastern Illinois Students Concerned About Peace (EISCAP) is a group of students who share two very powerful common denominators: They care, and they act.

They all care about the survival of the human race. And they realize their responsibility as Americans, and more so, as human beings, to do all they can to help curtail the growth of world nuclear arsenals. The time is now for YOU to accept that responsibility!

EISCAP meets every Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Coleman Hall, Room 229. If you want to get involved or if you just want to be educated on these issues, we urge you to attend.

Matt Sronkowski
EISCAP member

Boy, I thought I had money worries

And I thought I had problems.

Don't get me wrong, I don't have any phenomenal problems, but I do have the typical college student dilemmas which can prove to be a constant irritation.

Like, am I going to have enough money to do my laundry this week, and if I have enough money, is the lady behind the counter going to have enough quarters for me to wash and tumble dry everything, and if I can tumble dry everything, do I get any kind of guarantee that my socks aren't going to disappear into the black hole of the dryer?

Probably not.

While these everyday problems might leave some with large bald patches from pulling hair out, they really don't compare to the problem Robert Page, new owner and chief executive officer of The Chicago Sun-Times, has.

Most people probably wouldn't pity a man who just purchased a major metropolitan newspaper in one of the nation's largest cities, but I do.

Not just because Chicago has buried more newspapers than I have pet goldfish, either.

Call me a humanist, but I tend to feel sorry for someone who is $145 million in debt.

I didn't feel this way last week, either. You see, last week Page was just a name in an Associated Press wire story. I didn't really know much about him or what he looked like, but that all changed last weekend.

Last weekend I went to the Illinois Press Association's convention in Springfield where I met Page, who was to be a keynote speaker.

OK, I didn't really meet him, but he did walk up and say hello to some other Sun-Times employees that were sitting at our table and I could have sworn he glanced over at us.

Jean

Page entered the ballroom to be greeted by a crowd of IPA officials and several whispers and turned heads.

I wasn't sure if they, like me, had never seen the man before or if they were commenting on the striped shirt he wore with his pin-striped suit—borderline fashion risk.

Page greeted the 150-member audience with one sure-fire joke after another. Of course, when you're $145 million in the hole, I guess you have to crack jokes—or buy stock in Kleenex.

"I feel good about the future," the confident middle-aged man said. "I should, I've got $145 million on the line."

I couldn't even begin to fathom how much money that was. So I started to think of it in more familiar terms.

That's 580,000 student loans. Think about it: 580,000 students could have $2,500 to go to school with that much money.

For $145 million you could buy more than 41 million pitchers of beer. Granted, no one could probably drink that much during the normal four- (or five- or six-) year college career. Although I have seen quite a few people try.

That's also 116 million loads of laundry. I know the number seems extraordinarily high, but I can personally guarantee that I did at least that many loads yesterday, and I have the matchless socks to prove it.

Maybe the man isn't to be pitied, maybe he's overreacting.

He didn't look like he was hurting for money. He didn't look gaunt from lack of food. In fact he probably even sends his laundry out.

Maybe the cleaners will lose his socks.

Parking permit sales Friday for off campus

A limited number of parking permits will go on sale Friday, Campus Police Sergeant Tom Bosler said.

"Friday's permit sales will be for students living off campus and assignments will be made in light of such factors as distance, employment and physical ability," Bosler said.

He said that permits not sold Friday will be sold Monday on a first-come-first-serve basis.

Bosler said no permits will be sold to freshmen or sophomores under the age of 21 unless they have received an exception from the assistant dean of students.

United Way starts fund-raiser

Proceeds to benefit charitable agencies

By SUSAN BROCK
Staff writer

The United Way, which has been serving Coles County for more than 25 years, kicked off its 1987 fund raiser on Sept. 1 with a goal of raising $77,900 by Christmas.

Julie Valinevicius is in charge of campus fund raisers, said Jack Logue, United Way board president.

Logue said the goal is attainable. "Last year we were short by $1,400 to $1,500, but I believe we can reach our goal this year."

The money raised will help support 24 agencies, including the Red Cross, Parents Anonymous, Big Brother-Big Sister and the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts.

The agencies met with the board in late spring and early summer to discuss their needs and request funds so the board could determine how much each should receive.

Many projects are being undertaken to help raise the necessary funds.

Each of the more than 20 board members is responsible for a separate county division and will be calling for pledges. Those residents not contacted will receive a brochure which can be mailed in with a pledge.

A VCR, provided by the Charleston Walmart, will be raffled off on Nov. 1 at Eastern's Parents' Weekend football game. Tickets will go on sale on Sept. 17.

Board member Leslie Stanberry is making plans for a new car dealership promotion. "I don't know many details yet, but I will be talking to the lady who coordinated it last year to get some ideas."

Area pizza businesses are involved in a fund raiser called "Pizza Wars." Each will arrange their own promotion with the proceeds going to the United Way.

To get involved in the organization, a person only has to volunteer his services to the board, which then must approve the volunteer. "I've yet to hear of anyone who has been turned down," Logue said.

This year's fund raiser will be dedicated to Irma Justice, a long-time member of the United Way who recently died. "She was an inspiration to all of us working for a better community," Logue said.

Soviets: Resolve Daniloff case soon; don't tie it to superpower relations

MOSCOW (AP)—A Foreign Ministry spokesman said Tuesday that Moscow wants the case of American journalist Nicholas Daniloff resolved soon and that it should not be allowed to harm superpower relations.

Boris D. Pyadyshev, first deputy head of the Foreign Ministry's information board, was asked at a news conference if there was any movement toward solving Daniloff's case before Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze and Secretary of State George P. Shultz meet in Washington on Friday.

The two are supposed to discuss a summit, and White House officials have warned a summit is in jeopardy unless Daniloff returns home first.

"I am not sure whether it is correct to relate this case to the encounter" between Shultz and Shevardnadze, Pyadyshev said.

"No one has placed any time limit on this case. As regards the Soviet side, we would be happy not to have this case at all," he said.

"This case should not hamper Soviet-American relations which are at a rather low level, even without this case, and our opinion is that this case should be dealt with in a quiet manner without dramatizing the situation," Pyadyshev said.

Daniloff, a correspondent for U.S. News & World Report, was arrested in Moscow Aug. 30 by eight KGB agents after meeting a Soviet acquaintance and being given a package later found to contain military maps and photographs.

Daniloff and American officials have said the KGB set up the meeting and arranged for the material to be given to Daniloff to falsify a case against him.

The newsman was held in Lefortovo Prison for 13 days before being released Friday to the custody of the U.S. Embassy.

On the same day, Gennadiy Zakharov, a Soviet employee of the United Nations arrested on charges of spying, was released to the custody of the Soviet ambassador.

Daniloff was charged on three counts of espionage by the Soviets and has repeatedly denied accusations that he is a spy.

Daniloff said Monday he still considers himself a hostage for Zakharov, who is awaiting trial in New York on espionage charges.

At a New York news conference Tuesday, Zakharov denied being a spy and said he was set up by the FBI. He told reporters there was no connection between his arrest and the arrest a week later of Daniloff.

The agreement under which Zakharov and Daniloff were freed from detention stipulates that the American cannot leave Moscow and must be available at all times for KGB interrogation.

UB ENTERTAINER

Produced by University Board Public Relations Committee, Coordinator Mary Beth Marek

Big Band Machine

The Big Band Machine is Chicago's finest active force in Big Band Jazz Entertainment. The BBM has toured with such notables as Ed Shaughnessy (star drummer of the NBC Johnny Carson Tonight Show), Buddy DeFranco (former leader of the Glenn Miller Orchestra), and Louie Bellson (World Class Drummer and Band Leader). An evening with the Big Band Machine is an evening filled with excitement, fun and great music. The BBM will be performing this Friday, Sept. 19 at 8 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom. Tickets are $2 for Eastern Students and $5 for general public.

Looking For Experience...

University Board is currently looking for enthusiastic individuals to fill the following coordinator position:

Concerts— This committee brings major concerts to Eastern's campus including the annual Parents' Weekend show. The committee's responsibilities include selecting acts, set-up the day of the show, ushering and hospitality.

Graphics— This committee brainstorms for ideas and new concepts, design ads, posters, buttons, banners and gimmicks, and works with printers to produce publicity and promotion materials.

Productions— Uses technical expertise and state of the art equipment to help UB programs start at curtain call and run smoothly.

If interested in any of the positions, submit a letter of application to the Student Activities Office. Call 581-5117 for further information.

American Graffiti takes you back to 1962. Back to the world of sock hops, hot rods, going steady, drive-in movies and Wolf-man Jack. See this hilarious movie tonight at 7 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom. Admission is 50¢.

This Friday...

'Pretty in Pink' is a touching yet humorous story about teen-agers learning to relate to and accept one another. With Molly Ringwald (16 Candles, The Breakfast Club), Andrew McCarthy (Class, St. Elmo's Fire), and Jon Cryers all acting together under the direction of John Hughes, this movie is a sure hit. The story revolves around 2 seniors from opposite social classes who really fall for each other. Each of them must face ridicule from their peers, and the outcome of their relationship does not look good. However, the two are able to resolve their differences while learning an important lesson about friendship. 'Pretty in Pink' will bring you to laughter & to tears. Don't miss it Fri. Sept. 19 at 6:30 p.m. & 9 p.m. in the University Ballroom. Admission is $1 with a student I.D.

The Subway is proud to present America's hottest new wave comedienne, comic accordionist, Judy Tenuta. Her act, which believe me is like no other, consists of outrageous stand-up and hilarious songs. Judy has been performing for almost 9 years. She's released a video and been featured in 'Interview,' 'Playboy,' 'Comedy Magazine' and 'Newsweek.' Judy says her philosophy of life boils down to the 3 F's - Food, Fame and Friends. Don't miss this unique show. See Judy tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Subway. Admission is free.

Fraternity celebrates anniversary

Delta Sigma Phi alumni participate in festivities

DONELLE PARDEE
Assistant activities editor

About 40 to 50 Delta Sigma Phi alumni, including six of the original founders, arrived Friday to help current fraternity members celebrate the chapter's 25th anniversary at Eastern.

Delta Sigma Phi first established on Eastern's campus in 1961 said Dean Haman, coordinator of the anniversary activities.

Haman said he started planning the celebration last spring by contacting alumni, sending out brochures and trying to get an idea of how many people would attend.

"The hardest part was getting a hold of the alumni," Haman said.

Friday was the reception for the alumni, Haman said. "It was basically check-in time."

Saturday the Delta Sigs had a golf outing. "It was really neat," Haman said. "We gave out golf towels and tees."

He said some of the Delta Sigs even stayed and played a second round.

Saturday night they held a banquet, organized by Delta Sigma Phi member Scott Becker, at the Charleston Motor Inn, 920 W. Lincoln Ave.

The night began with a cocktail hour and featured a ceremony for deceased fraternity members, Haman said. Dinner was served before several speeches and presentations ended the evening.

Haman said the presentation included having the charter reinstated. The original charter burned in the fire that caused the Delta Sigma Phi house to be moved to 1705 Ninth St.

The original house was located at the corner of Ninth Street and Lincoln Avenue where Huck's is located now, Haman said.

Golf outing awards were given and Koerner Distributors presented the Delta Sigs with a check for winning an all-fraternity contest.

Sunday ended the celebration with a horseshoe contest and other festivities. Haman said he believed the weekend was a success.

Union sues to halt drug tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal employees' union filed suit Tuesday to block President Reagan's order instituting widespread drug tests for government workers, and the chairman of a House panel introduced legislation to override it.

The National Treasury Employees Union charged in its suit filed in U.S. District Court here that the executive order Reagan signed Monday establishing the test program violates the Constitution's Fourth Amendment protection against unreasonable search and seizure.

Thompson: Reform unemployment compensation law

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. James R. Thompson predicts state law will be changed to allow workers locked out of their jobs in labor disputes to collect unemployment compensation.

Locked-out workers now are denied compensation under Illinois law.

Thompson said Monday night the law could be changed through negotiations that will begin soon between business and labor to broaden the categories of workers eligible for unemployment benefits.

The governor made the comments before the state convention of the Illinois AFL-CIO, whose political arm already has endorsed him for reelection.

Thompson, a Republican, said the state's unemployment compensation trust is in the process of paying off debts it accrued during recession years of high unemployment, but that the time is near for unemployment compensation reform.

"The law will be crystal clear in the state of Illinois that an employee lockout is a layoff and is compensable," the governor said.

CITYART program gives artists publicity

By CRAIG TUCKER
Staff writer

The Charleston City Hall, 520 Jackson Ave., may be the last place one would expect to find an art exhibit.

However, through the CITYART program, under the direction of Milburn Smith, the walls of the building have displayed much artwork.

The CITYART program has been displaying the artwork of local residents and Eastern students for the past eighteen months. Anyone can submit work to the program and "both amateurs and professionals have showed up," Smith said.

The artwork is displayed for a month at a time and all exhibitors this month are members of Charleston's Trinity Episcopal Church.

The paintings range from soft, subtle tones of nature to brightly colored modernistic designs.

Response from the community has been predominantly positive, although there were some complaints about a recent display of nudes. "But we wouldn't take them down!," Smith said.

Various instructors from Eastern have also displayed their work through CITYART. Two large paintings and a sizable sculpture, which were exhibited by Carey Knoop, a retired instructor, "were very different and quite striking," Smith said.

School districts are striking back against teachers

By the Associated Press

As teacher strikes kept about 24,500 Illinois students out of school in four districts Tuesday, two school systems were fighting back by hiring substitute teachers.

While strikers manned picket lines in the Chicago suburb of Berkeley, where teachers walked off their jobs Sept. 8, the district kept two of its six schools open for a second consecutive day with substitute teachers, putting 500 of the system's 1,850 students back in class.

Superintendent Neil Winebrenner said the district planned to reopen a third elementary school Thursday and was interviewing substitutes in hopes of reopening all six schools by next week.

In Mount Vernon, where a strike by 100 teachers entered its sixth day, Superintendent J.D. Shields said the board also had begun advertising for substitute teachers and hoped to resume classes for the district's 1,600 students by next week.

Walkouts also were suspending classes in Alton and Decatur.

The Berkeley district's ill teachers have been on strike 16 days, but the school board reopened two elementary schools Monday, using substitute teachers.

Winebrenner predicted more school districts would try hiring substitutes to pressure teacher unions.

Senate

after losing the election that he would petition to be on the senate in the fall.

This would enable him to share the ideas he received at the conference with other senate members, DeVriese said.

In addition, the senate will vote on a bill which states that because art majors spend between $90-$140 a semester on art supplies, they should receive a card allowing them to purchase supplies at a discount in the Union Book Store, O'Mera said.

The bill, submitted by senator Graham Wilkin, will probably be voted on Wednesday rather than being tabled for one week as usual, O'Mera said.

The senate usually tables bills for a week to allow members to further research the issue.

The senate is scheduled to meet at 7 p.m. in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

Also, the senate is scheduled to vote on a bylaw change which will give the Summer Senate more power, O'Mera said.

The bylaw change is a result of the DeVriese controversy.

The change would require that the Summer Senate approve any decisions, along with a majority of the executive officers, O'Mera said. He added that any decision would be subject to presidential veto.

The senate will table the bylaw change for one week, O'Mera said.

Quarterback Sean Payton eludes a rushing Northeast Missouri lineman in the rain at O'Brien Stadium. Payton currently leads the Gateway Conference in total offense, passing, attempts, completions, touchdowns and interceptions.

Panthers hold distinction of being first in offense, last in defense

A glance at the statistical leaders of the Gateway Conference shows the good, the bad and the ugly for Eastern's football team this season.

Eastern continues to lead the Gateway in scoring offense (28.3 points per game), passing offense (270.7 yards per game) and total offense (382).

On the flipside, the Panthers are last again this week in scoring defense (25), pass defense (233) and total defense (335.3).

Individually, despite missing last weekend's game with an injury, Eastern running back DuWayne Pitts leads the conference in rushing with a 91.5 yards-per-game average.

Sophomore James Marable, Pitts' replacement in the starting lineup, ranks fifth at 62.7 yards-per-game. Marable leads the Gateway in scoring with four touchdowns for 24 points.

Marable also heads the league's list of kickoff returners with a 35.6 average per return. The Chicago native has returned one kickoff for a touchdown this season.

Panther quarterback Sean Payton is the conference leader in total offense (254 yards per game), passing (270.7), attempts (119), completions (48) and touchdowns (five).

However, Payton also has thrown the most interceptions (eight) of the Gateway quarterbacks.

Slotback Calvin Pierce has caught a league-leading 16 passes this season. Wide receiver Roy Banks leads in reception yardage (269) and touchdown catches (three).

Football notebook/Dan Verdun

Northern Iowa quarterback Mike Smith received the Gateway's Offensive Player of the Week honor for his performance in the Panthers' 17-0 win over Kansas State.

Smith completed 24-of-36 passing attempts for 296 yards in leading Northern Iowa to its second victory in two years over Kansas State.

Western Illinois tackle Todd Auer claimed the Defensive Player of the Week award. Auer recorded 18 tackles, including five solos and three for lost yardage, in the Leathernecks' 17-13 win over Mankato State.

Motor City madness

Eastern's roster closely resembles a list of Detroit high school all-stars this fall.

Nine players hailing from Detroit high schools dot the Panther roster this season.

Heading that list is All-American wide receiver Roy Banks. The senior speedster prepped at King High School in the Motor City.

Other products of the King program are cornerback Kevin Hunter, linebacker Ray Brown and defensive back Rod Reynolds.

Chadsey High School produced wide receiver John Chandler, defensive back Altha Patton, linebacker Dimitri Stewart and running back David Young.

Starting Panther tailback DuWayne Pitts played his high school ball at Detroit-MacKenzie.

Case of the Missing Net comes to end

Soccer notebook/Dobie Holland

The Panthers may have been treated roughly by Wisconsin-Green Bay while playing to a 1-1 tie over the weekend, but upon their return, their stolen net was recovered.

"One of the maintenance people found it (the net) downstairs by the equipment room (in Lantz Gym)," coach Cizo Mosnia said.

"I would like to thank the people who returned it. Those nets are really expensive," he said.

The net was slightly damaged but Mosnia is confident it can be repaired.

"We are still asking for the people who took our net last year to return that one," he added.

Rough and tumble Phoenix

It was as if the Panthers were suddenly playing real soccer. Eastern managed a 1-1 tie with Wisconsin-Green Bay in the most physical contest of the season.

"We finally met somebody who gave us a really good game. I think we took them lightly and they dictated the game; They were very physical (in the first half). In the second half, we played real well," Mosnia said.

Nevertheless, the yellow cards (called penalties) were being passed out by the officials like World Cup Soccer tickets as a total of seven were issued.

Also, the Panthers will lose the services of Filomeno Megero for Saturday's Quincy College game. Megero was given a red card, or ejected, during the Wisconsin contest.

NCAA rules state if a player is ejected from a contest via the red card, the player will have to miss the following contest in addition.

Sharp shootin'

Despite the low score in the UWGB contest, Mosnia has noticed a marked improvement in the shooting game.

"It's getting better," he said. "I think we put a lot of pressure on ourselves to the point where it became a big deal.

"I have a feeling we were in a slump," Mosnia said. "We'll snap out of it and begin to score some goals real soon."

Notre Dame loses but takes over 20th in AP poll

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A grin flashed across the face of Notre Dame football coach Lou Holtz Tuesday when he learned his once-beleaguered Fighting Irish had earned a national ranking.

But just as quickly, he turned off his smile and took the pose that most polls don't matter.

"Only the last one," he said. "I just want to be better than Michigan State."

Michigan State is both Notre Dame's next opponent and the team the Irish displaced for the No. 20 spot in the weekly Associated Press college poll.

Notre Dame edged into the national rankings after a strong performance in a 24-23 loss to No. 3 Michigan. It was the first time the Irish appeared in the rankings since the second week of last year, when Gerry Faust was the coach.

Notre Dame team captain Mike Kovalski, who had 17 tackles against Michigan, brushed off the poll, too, despite his teammates' hunger for recognition after the trauma of Faust's final year stole most of the 1985 headlines.

"For me, ratings after the first game and the preseason don't really mean anything because you've got 10 games to play," Kovalski said. "It's not how you begin the season, it's how you end."

While Notre Dame was cracking the Top Twenty, Oklahoma, the defending national champion, was retaining the No. 1 spot, despite being idle last Saturday. But the Sooners' margin over No. 2 Miami, Fla., shrunk.

The Sooners received 55 of a possible 59 first-place votes and 1,175 of a possible 1,180 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

ESPN returns with 'Make-Believe We're on National Television Day'

For the second year, Eastern's athletic department will be sponsoring the "ESPN Make Believe We're on National Television Day and Banner Contest" at Saturday's game between the Panthers and the Salukis of Southern Illinois.

"We're (the athletic department) looking for a way to get the students and the community involved in the game and to make it fun for them," said Paul Lueken, promotions director.

The banner contest, a brainchild of former promotions director John Seketa, was held for the first time last year and drew 26 entries. Thomas Hall took the top prize for overall appearance.

Banners will be judged in two categories: student banners and general public, Lueken said.

"The only qualification for the banner is that it must display the ESPN initials somewhere on it," Lueken said. "The wilder, the better. We'll be looking for originality and spirit."

Anyone who is interested in submitting a banner is encouraged to pick one up in the athletic office in Lantz Gym. The Charleston Motor Inn provided several bed sheets and table cloths to be used as banners, Lueken said.

All banners should be at the north gate of the stadium no later than 5 p.m. in order to be judged before the beginning of the game, Lueken said. The winners will be announced during halftime.

The grand prize for the top banner will be a trip for two to the ESPN corporate headquarters in Bristol, Conn., Lueken said.

Other prizes include dinner for two at the Charleston Motor Inn, two free oil changes at University Marathon and T-shirts and hats from ESPN, Lueken said.

The celebrated banner contest is not the only event on tap for Saturday's game, Lueken said.

Lueken and the Student Athletic Committee have also organized the distribution of 5,000 "HI MOM" signs provided by Domino's Pizza.

"We are going to give away 'HI MOM-SEND MONEY' signs to the first 5,000 fans at the door," Lueken said.

Domino's will also be selling pizza before the game and the SAC will be handing out bags of potato chips at the gate, Lueken said.

Linksters take first place in EIU Invitational

The Eastern men's golf team, coming off two fourth-place tournament finishes last week, won the EIU Invitational in decisive fashion.

The Panthers hosted their only tournament at the Mattoon Country Club Tuesday where they placed first of nine teams.

"I am extremely pleased with their performance today," coach Paul Lueken said. "It was a beautiful day, a little windy, but still beautiful."

Lueken said that he was definitely pleased, overall, but "I know we can play better," he said. "We played good enough to win, but I know we can play better."

One of the hardest things to do, Lueken said, is "win your own tournaments. It's all the pressure. We held our own ground."

The Panthers had two teams (blue and gray) entered in the invitational. The blue team included sophomore Todd Bittle, senior co-captains Clay Snyder and Todd Lindsey, senior Dan Marshall and graduate student Mitch Myers.

The gray team, which finished seventh overall, included senior Mike Wollam, junior Clark Peterson, and sophomores Dale Carlson, Jeff Schafer and Matt McCaw.

Eastern's blue team finished with a team score of 312, followed closely by Franklin College with 315, Valparaiso University carding 315 and St. Joseph's with 317.

Joseph's with 317.

Bittle was the fourth overall medalist (first among the Panthers) with an impressive 76 on the par-72 course.

"I really pleased with Todd's game today," Lueken said. "He is definitely an pleasant surprise for us."

Lueken has high hopes for Bittle for the rest of the season. "I'm happy with what Todd is doing. It's a good sign for things to come," Lueken said.

Snyder, who finished second among the Panthers, "played a steady round of golf," Lueken said. "He is playing well right now. I'm going to rely on him again in the future."

Lueken said that Marshall ran into trouble on two holes "which probably kept him out of the medalist honors."

"I had five penalty shots today," Marshall said. "I played alright. I was pleased with the way the team played but I was a little disappointed with my play today."

Marshall said he plans to work the next couple of practice days on his "driving."

"I need to work on my driving. It's long but not straight enough. That got me into trouble today."

On the grey team, Wollam "played well today. I think he'll qualify to go to Franklin with us. He's going to be an asset when we go to Franklin," Lueken said.

Lueken said that Tuesday's win will help the teams confidence when they go on the road again to the Franklin College Invitational on Sept. 22.

Freshman spiker Sicher is setting up Panthers' future

Communication is an intricate cog in the make-up of a sports team which can lead to the overall success or failure of the machine.

For Eastern's volleyball team, freshman Donna Sicher, after winning a starting position, has found herself in the role of team communicator. And as the Panthers wrap up the first one-third of the season with a 7-8 record, Sicher appears to be doing the job for the young team.

"It is important for a setter to keep talking," Sicher said. "It relieves a lot of tension on the court. A lot of it is just making sure your hitters are confident."

But Sicher's presence goes beyond simply talking. She also has statistics that speak for themselves.

Sicher currently leads the Panthers in assists, 266 for a 5.43 per-game average, and digs, 167 for a 3.41 average.

One thing Eastern coach Betty Ralston was looking for when she was recruiting a setter was experience; She did not want someone who just played volleyball three months out of the year. Sicher fit that requirement well.

She has been playing volleyball year-round since eighth grade through leagues in the Chicago area and with her Oak Forest High School team. And she has done it with outstanding success.

The two-year varsity letter winner assisted in leading Oak Forest to a 38-5 record last season and a third-place finish in the Class AA state tournament held at Eastern. Over the summer she played for the Chicago Power, a United States Volleyball Association team which placed third in both the USVBA and Amateur Athletic Union Junior National Tournaments.

"Especially with setters, you have to look for people who have set year round," Ralston said.

"She has the right attitude. The team sees that and responds. She's the mold of the player we really want to get."

"She's constantly talking and lets people know what's going on, and she does not give up on a ball."

Coming off five wins in a row, including the DePaul Invitational championship, the Panthers are where they wanted to be at this point, Sicher said.

"Our goal was to be .500. We lost to the tough teams, but we beat some good teams. You look at our record and it may not look that good, but it's how you play those (tough) teams."

The teams Sicher speaks of included Panther losses to three of the nation's top teams; Illinois, San Diego State and Penn State.

"We were determined to beat a Top 20 team and we did take a game from Illinois," Sicher added.

Sicher points out that one key to success in volleyball is teamwork. Having one dominant player can often work to the disadvantage of the team, she said.

"Just recently we started to play together as a team. There is no one dominant person."

"You can rely on anyone," Sicher said of the Panthers. "There're six people out there and you know they can do the job."

From a communication standpoint, Sicher said the key is to observe what the opponent's weakness is and adjust the team to take advantage of that weakness.

"The main point is to confuse the blockers on the other side," Sicher said. "If a blocker is slow getting to the outside, then I set to the outside. You basically keep working around the blockers."

With nearly two weeks before the Panthers' next match, Sicher is well aware that the team must maintain its intensity.

"We need to make sure we're doing something physical and keep volleyball on our minds."
