Tailgating policy to be reviewed

WENDELL HUTSON
Staff writer

Tailgating parties at Eastern have been a long-time favorite for football fans, however, university restrictions have caused a lot of fans to lose interest.

Currently, the university policy states you must be 21-years-old to tailgate, and only pony kegs are allowed in the tailgating area behind O'Brien Stadium.

Student Senator Lori Lockman said she disagrees with the policy because it outlaws cans and bottles.

"The university does not permit bottles or cans in tailgating parties, only kegs," Lockman said. "That's a lot of beer for a small group of people to drink. I think that there is a lack of participation because of this."

Lockman submitted a resolution to the Student Senate at its Oct. 7 meeting, requesting negotiations with the administration on the tailgating issue.

BZAP rejects housing plea

The Charleston Board of Zoning Appeals and Planning rejected the proposed rezoning of property at 1509 Second St. during its Oct. 8 meeting.

The proposal called for a change in the zoning of the Royal Heights Apartment complex from the present three occupants per unit to a maximum of five.

Jimm Wood, a member of the zoning board, said the evidence presented at the meeting left the board no alternative other than to reject the proposed change.

"We had no choice," Wood said. "The blueprints on file at City Hall showed only three occupants per apartment."

The three Champaign businessmen who own the complex were unavailable for comment.

Wood also said according to the zoning officers present during inspections, the owners were moving beds from the apartments to make it appear there were fewer people residing in the apartments.

When asked if any action is currently being taken as a result of that report, Wood said, "I have no idea of anything being done right now."

Although the board rejected the proposal, Charleston's City Council will have a chance to review the case and make its own decision.

"The next step, regardless, is for the owners to go before the City Council," Wood said. "The council will then give its decision on the proposal. Our decision is a recommendation, the council will have to decide for itself."

Area homes open doors to parents

By ERIC WEDEKING

Some Eastern students' parents venturing to Charleston Nov. 6 or 7 for Parent's Weekend are utilizing a different alternative to motel or hotel accommodations.

About 80 private homes will be housing parents through efforts of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce, said Judy Hofstrand, a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Motels and hotels in the Charleston/Mattoon area have been booked solid since the summer, said Parents Club Coordinator Thalia Wetzels. And, many hotels and motels are filling up quickly in the outlying areas.

Some motels as far as 60 miles away from Charleston are beginning to post vacancy signs with the influx of parents booking reservations, Hofstrand said.

With Parent's Weekend fast approaching, Hofstrand is still making an effort to find homeowners who are willing to rent out guestrooms and provide breakfasts.

"We're full up, and we're not looking for anymore business," Hofstrand said. "But, we're still looking for people to open up their houses."

Presently a waiting list of 20 families has been established for the host program, Hofstrand said. "We'll be glad to put parents on it. We get a few cancellations."

The "bed and breakfast" type program was initially the idea of the Parents Club and was referred to Hofstrand and the Charleston Chamber of Commerce.

But, because members of the Parents Club lived outside the Charleston area and could not possibly organize the effort, Wetzels said the tourism bureau of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce gladly picked up on the idea.

U.S., Soviets may delay arms talks

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State George P. Shultz said Thursday the United States and the Soviet Union should delay a meeting between President Reagan and Mikhail Gorbachev if a treaty banning intermediate-range nuclear missiles is not ready for them to sign.

But he added, "I should think we would be able to wrap it up."

Shultz, at a news conference before heading for the Middle East and Moscow, told reporters, "If there isn't going to be any major accomplishment, then we should wait."

But he stressed that U.S. and Soviet negotiators had made headway on completing the treaty since an "agreement in principle" to ban missiles with a range of 315 to 3,125 miles was announced by President Reagan last month.

"I hope, I believe that we have all of the ingredients necessary to have an INF (Intermediate-range Nuclear Forces) agreement if both sides continue to want it, and we do," Shultz said.

At the same time, he said, negotiators in Geneva probably will be unable to resolve all the remaining differences before his talks in Moscow Oct. 22-23.

These include procedures for verifying the dismantling of the weapons and a schedule for their destruction.

Rescuers battle time to save child trapped in well since Wednesday

MIDLAND, Texas (AP)—A frightened toddler trapped 20 feet down an abandoned backyard well talked to her mother and cried Thursday as rescuers pounded their way through solid rock with jackhammers, racing the clock to rescue the child.

Eighteen-month-old Jessica McClure had been trapped for more than a day after falling into the well about 9:30 a.m. Wednesday while playing with other children at a private day-care center run by her aunt and her mother.

"The only thing I heard her say is, 'Mommy.' The rest is just crying and moaning," said Midland Police Col. Jim White.

Gathered at the site were friends and neighbors who waited and prayed with Jessica's parents, Chip and Reba Gayle McClure. The little girl, described by an uncle as "a fighter," slept during the night after heaters were installed to blow warm air into the 8-inch-wide entrance of the well.

Concerned about possible dehydration, doctors at the scene considered lowering a bottle to the girl.

"But then we thought, we don't want to fill her stomach if she has internal injuries or is going to require surgery when she comes out," said Dr. Chip Klunick, emergency room doctor at Midland Memorial Hospital. "She could have any kind of injuries down there, we just don't know."

Doctors had said the child could last as long as 36 hours, and workers were working frantically to rescue her in time.

Rescue workers drilled a 3-by-3 foot shaft 28 feet deep next to the well, then began working toward the child. Progress was slowed by solid rock that was breaking drill bits.

"The mining expert is saying around 6 p.m. if everything goes well," said Midland Police Sgt. Jeff Haile. "There's a possibility it could go on into the night."

Meanwhile, Jessica remained alert. "She's crying, she's humming, she's singing," Haile said.

A special microphone was dropped into the shaft to communicate with the girl, and a camera was lowered so the child's face was briefly visible.

The well, about 8 inches in diameter at the top, widens farther down until it narrows to a 6-inch opening below the spot where Jessica came to rest.

Homecoming replacement for Ives found

By JUDY WEIDMAN
Activities editor

H. Ogden Brainard, the "founding father" of the EIU Foundation, will replace Burl Ives as the grand marshal for Saturday's Homecoming parade.

Acting Alumni Director Audrey Dumentat confirmed Thursday that Brainard would be replacing Ives as leader of the parade.

Ives, one of Eastern's most famous alumni, announced Tuesday he would be unable to attend the event because of his daughter's illness.

Brainard, a Charleston attorney, was honored last year for his contributions to the EIU Foundation at a dedication of The Brainard House, 1548 Fourth St.

The foundation purchased the house in March, 1986.

Dumentat said she was pleased Brainard would lead the parade.

"He has helped support the university with advise and legal aid," Dumentat said. "He's always been very supportive of Eastern."

Saturday's parade, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. will feature 106 entries. It will begin at the corner of Seventh Street and Lincoln Avenue.

Ives was also scheduled to sing the National Anthem and Alma Mater at the 1:30 p.m. Homecoming football game against Indiana State University.

However, because of the cancellation, Eastern band director Tom Brawner will choose a replacement.

Brawner could not be reached for comment Thursday.

Sweetest Day theme altered

By CATHY VELASCO
Staff writer

Most Eastern students think of Saturday's "Sweetest Day" as another holiday to receive candy and flowers from sweethearts.

However, in reality, the holiday began for the neglected.

Sweetest Day, which is celebrated on the third Saturday in October, does not have family, historic or religious connotations.

"In 1923, Herbert Birch Kingston, president of Cleveland's Kingston Candy Co., wanted to bring happiness and joy to people often neglected like orphans, the old, ill, shut-ins and the underprivileged," said Reference Supervisor Ann Sindeler of the Cleveland Historical Society.

Hallmark Spokesperson Rachel Bolten said Kingston delivered small tokens of candy and gifts to the underprivileged people in Cleveland.

Bolten said the day was celebrated mainly in the Northeast and central states.

The first year Sweetest Day was observed, movie star Anne Pennington gave 2,200 boxes of candy to newspaper boys to show appreciation, Bolten said.

Also, movie star Theda Bara appeared at the showing of one of her movies, and after the show she gave boxes of candy to those who attended, Bolten said.

After the movie, Bara went to the hospital and gave out 10,000 boxes of candy to the sick, Bolten added.

Lakewood, Ohio Librarian Mary Ryan said, "Interest in the idea grew and a Sweetest Day committee was formed by candy distributors.

"They planned to bring only happiness to others, not to sell candy," Ryan said. "But, we know today that is another story."

In the years that followed, Sweetest Day became a tradition, and other Cleveland residents gave gifts and candy to the underprivileged.

"I moved here and I don't think Sweetest Day is celebrated differently than anywhere else," Ryan said. "I don't think many residents know it was originated here."

Bolten said; "Across the nation, Sweetest Day is celebrated stronger in some areas more than others. I have received a lot of interest in California and some Southern states. People from the central states have moved and want to continue their customs."

She said Hallmark estimates that it will sell 2 million cards for this occasion.

"Sweetest Day is not a national holiday, which is unusual because most holidays Hallmark celebrates are," Bolten said, adding, "But in this case, it is more of a demand."

CAA approves new P.E. class

MATT HORTENSTINE

The Council on Academic Affairs approved Physical Education 3900, "Microcomputers in Physical Education," in a short meeting Thursday in the Union Station Arcola-Tuscola Room.

The course, originally entitled "Utilization of Microcomputers In Physical Education," was sent for revision by the CAA in April because of a level problem and an inconsistency in the title of the course.

The original proposal contained a clause stating the course would be taken prior to student teaching.

However, the rationale also said the course is required for a non-teaching, bachelor's degree in science, creating a discrepancy, said CAA Chair Dan Hockman.

The physical education department revised the rationale by omitting a clause which qualified the course to go towards a teaching degree. However, the course will remain at the 3900 level.

The course now applies to a non-teaching degree in physical education.

In other business, a series of journalism course proposals and revisions and two education course proposals were placed on next week's agenda.

BEER offers new drinking approach

JUDY WEIDMAN

With National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week starting Monday, Eastern students will be given a new approach to beer drinking.

Eastern's Alcohol Awareness Committee is emphasizing "Be Enlightened, Encourage Responsible" (BEER) Drinking and will kick off the week with a noon launch 3:30 p.m. Monday on the Library lawn.

Kathy Gallion, Eastern's Drugs, Alcohol and AIDS Information coordinator, said Monday's festivities will continue with "mocktails," non-alcoholic beverages, from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Union Station.

Also in the Union Station, from 4 to 6 p.m., informational booths from area agencies will be available to answer students' questions about alcohol, Gallion said.

She said Keven Cannon from Eastern's housing department will present a lecture at 6 p.m. in Carman Hall.

Cannon gives a lot of information including quizzes, information on alcohol and blood alcohol levels," Gallion said.

She said Cannon will repeat the program at 7 p.m. Monday in Stevenson Tower.

Gallion said her committee included members from various residence halls, Student Government and off-campus housing.

"I think they came to the committee with enthusiasm and I think they felt it was a worthwhile project," she said.

Marjorie Hanft-Martone, from Eastern's Counseling Center, will present "Alcohol Facts: What is Dependency?" from 3 to 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Union Station Charleston-Mattoon Room.

Gallion said at 8 p.m. Wednesday her committee is supporting UB-sponsored comedian Craig Karges in the Subway.

South American peace deserves a Nobel chance

For a fleeting moment Ronald Reagan and Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega seemed to agree. Two months ago both leaders hailed the armistice plan sponsored by Costa Rican President Oscar Arias Sanches.

The Norwegian Nobel Committee went beyond that and awarded its largest peace prize to Arias in an attempt to praise him for his efforts. During his first year in office, Arias authored a peace plan, which, if followed, could finally deliver a cease fire to the three Central American nations fighting civil wars.

Though the Nov. 5 cease-fire deadline is quickly approaching and none of the nations have stopped fighting, the Nobel award is meant as an endorsement for Arias' noble attempt to keep his campaign promise—to bring some peace to Central America. The $340,000 prize is "sending a message that his efforts and the efforts of the Central American presidents for peace will have world-wide repercussions," according to the committee's chairman Egil Aarvik.

So far it has. In Washington, legislators and other experts agree the Arias peace plan may be the means for finally abolishing Reagan's support for his insurgents—the contras. "It's dead," said Rep. Tony Coelho, D-Calif.

Reagan and the Cubans still insist on funding their factions even though the treaty calls for an end to outside support for the warring segments. The $340,000 award should be telling Reagan and Fidel Castro to honor the treaty's request to step back.

Though the provisions of the Arias treaty still need to come to fruition, his plan is deserving of the Nobel Prize. Similarly, it is deserving of U.S. and Cuban efforts to give the peace treaty a chance to work.

Correction

It was incorrectly stated in Tuesday's editorial in T. Daily Eastern News the number of meetings a student senator could miss before being removed from Student Senate. Because roll is called twice at each meeting, senators can be marked absent twice for missing one meeting, not the number that was originally stated. The News regrets the error.

BOG Rep. Riordan works for students

Editor:

A lot of people have been giving Board of Governors Rep. Mike Riordan a lot of slack about supposedly favoring a tuition increase. I also have mixed feelings about the tuition increase and might not completely agree with Mike.

But I do know one thing: Mike Riordan is busting his tail for the students, and he is looking for the best possible way to help this university.

If Mike could find any way to cut this possible tuition increase and still keep the same quality of education, he wouldn't hesitate to do so.

Haitians unsure of campaign situation

Editor:

Larry Smith's column on Thursday, "Baby Doc leaves 'em for dead in Haiti" deserves some comment. I lived in Haiti from July 31 following Baby Doc's departure to Aug. 13 of this year. Currently I am a graduate student at Eastern.

You assume the Junta wants to "do the same thing" Jean Claude Duvalier (Baby Doc) did. Gen. Henri Namphy, the head of the Junta has repeatedly said he has no political ambitions and that he will step down after the presidential election. This is what he says. The people of Haiti are not so sure of that, but neither can we be so sure he will not.

The United States' news keeps linking the recent murders of the two political candidates by reporting that Volel's murder is the second such instance in three months. The two murders occurred under very different circumstances and by very different people. The first murder occurred not in Port-au-Prince but in the mountains. In some areas of Haiti there is strong anti-communism and apparently someone accused this candidate, Athis, of being a Communist. A mob of peasants, not soldiers or policemen, hacked the man to pieces with machetes. The murder of Volel occurred in Port-au-Prince, and in my opinion it was likely he was shot by police. Only witnesses could say for sure "He was shot Tuesday by plainclothes police officers, the writer has presumed to do.

The reports coming from Haiti are indeed "sketchy." That is because no one in Haiti knows exactly what is happening. Facts are much more difficult to pin down in a Third World country. The writer assumes too much in saying that the death threats of the presidential candidates are coming from the Junta. There is more than one possibility. The army is notoriously corrupt. It could be that the Junta simply has no control over them. It could be one of a hundred other possibilities. Please do not presume to know that which people living in Haiti do not know.

New guiding committee formed for AB boards

By JEFF BRITT
Senior reporter

A "guiding committee," whose individual members focus their attention on specific boards receiving Apportionment Board funds, was formed Thursday.

The guiding committee's purpose is not to take a specific look at everything the six member boards spend money on, said AB Chair Craig Lange.

"I want to state here, it is not an auditing committee," Lange said. "You are not checking what's been purchased.

"It's more at overall budget needs," he said.

The committee will:

•Work with AB's account technician, Julie Morrissey, the university's business office, and develop a working knowledge of the fiscal agent's budget."

•Work with the fiscal agents to get a better understanding of "purchasing, reimbursement, income and budgetary matters."

•Submit progress reports on the boards' problems, interests and needs.

•Prepare a report for the fiscal agents and the account technician.

Lange said members, operating in pairs, can see how the boards operate and advise AB on what the boards need.

"Hopefully, you'll get good working relationships with your fiscal agents," he said. "You'll hear about their needs; you'll hear about their problems."

However, the new committee will allow members to better decide what budget requests are actually needed, Lange said.

"What you'll have to do is figure out which ones (budget requests) are legitimate."

Only the 10 voting members may serve on the Guiding Committee. Those serving on committees are:

•Robert Funk and Brian Bacchi with Players.
•Gregg Antenen and Ed Marlow—Sports and Recreation.

•Jim Whalen and Chris Malone—University Board.

•Dale Righter and Tim Gorman—Student Publications.

Joel Lopez and Howard Price—Student Senate.

"When you have two people working on budgets in an operation that are interested in it, they are going to learn more than 10 people just getting an overview of the operation and budget," Lange said.

He said it will make the two members better authorities on the budget.

"The AB is going to fill advisory needs, since they have spent three months on the operation seeing how it is run," he said.

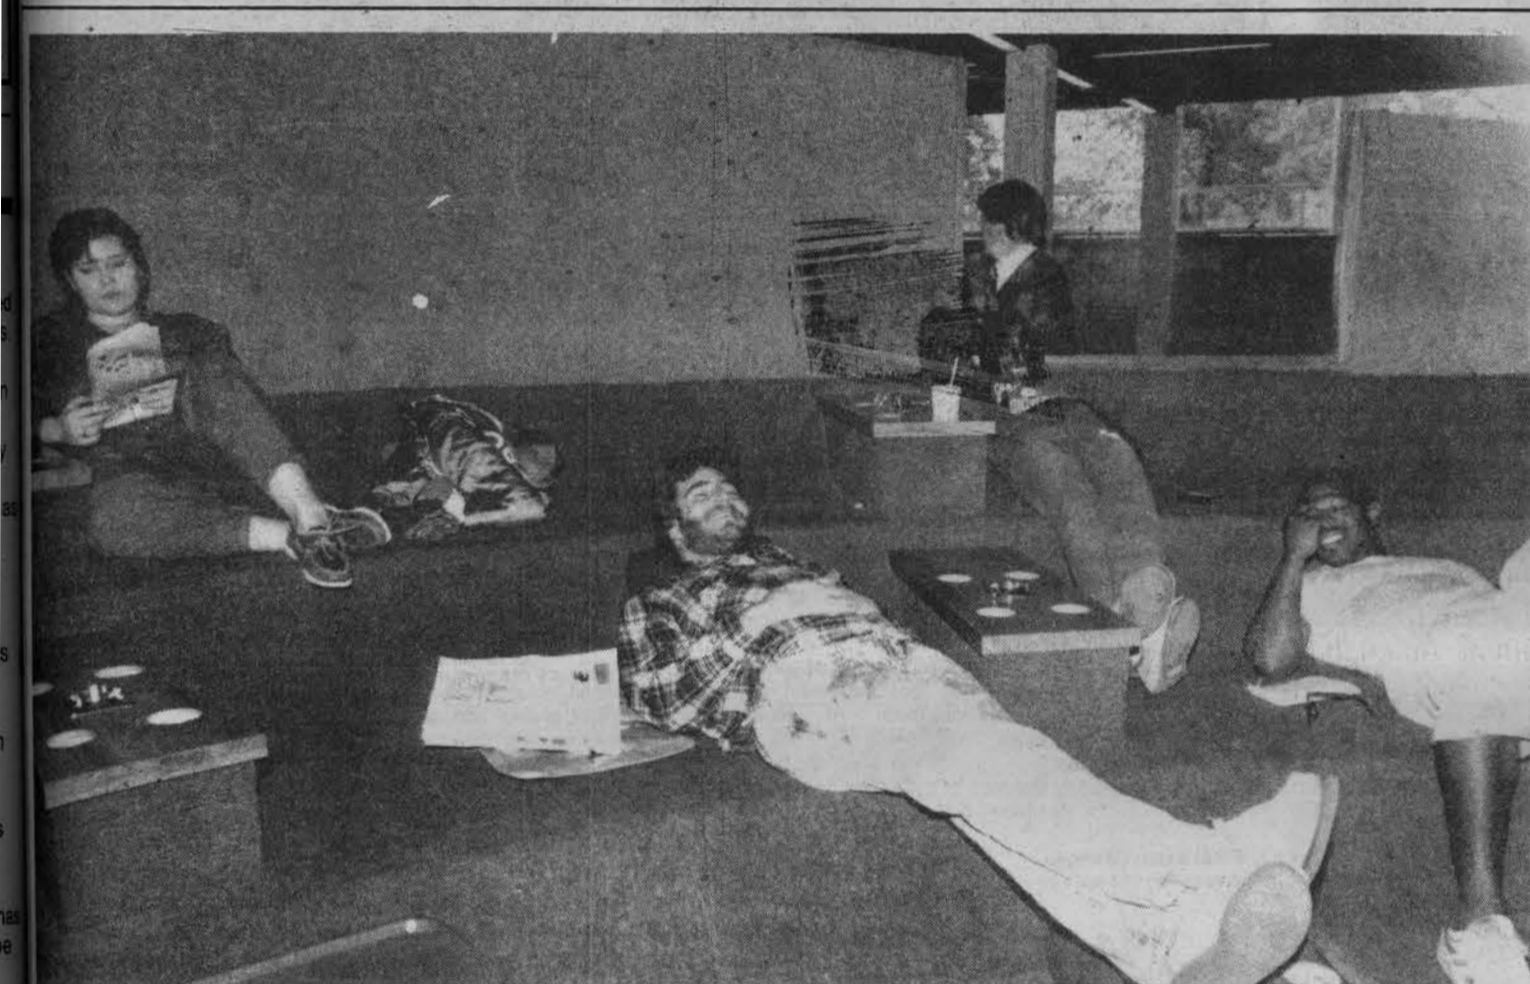

He said AB members will submit reports on their observations of the boards. "The reports will include whatever needs they may have, the problems you saw in their operations," Lange said.

"What you would want to put in (the report) is anything you would advise the rest of the Apportionment Board on," Lange said.

In two weeks, the members will report what they saw.

In other business, Lange announced "Student Senate did pass everything you recommended last week. Now it goes on to Dr. (Glenn) Williams (vice president for student affairs), President (Stanley) Rives and the business office."

Last week, AB approved more than $6,000 to fund a possible trip to a January competition for Players.

Senate candidates will offer views at forum

By TIM HAMERLINCK
Staff writer

Eastern's Student Government will hold a forum Nov. 5 in the University Union for candidates vying for the 16 open Student Senate seats to the student body, said Elections Committee Chair Lori Lockman.

The candidates will be running for senate positions in the student government elections scheduled for Nov. 11.

Lockman added the student body will be able to ask the candidates questions. The candidates may also deliver speeches if they choose.

Lockman said there is no determined time limit for speeches because it will depend upon the forum turnout.

Even though the forum consists of only senators, Lockman said she expects "a lot of competition with 16 senate seats open."

The forum's impact depends entirely on student support. "I guess it will probably just depend on how many petitions are taken out to determine the turnout," Lockman added.

EIU will honor Richland president

By ALMA J. WATSON
Staff writer

Eastern plans to award an honorary degree to Howard Brown, Richland Community College president, during graduating ceremonies on Dec. 13.

Eastern President Stanley Rives will ask the Board of Governors to approve the honorary doctor of public service degree at its Thursday meeting at Eastern.

While the BOG must still vote on the request, Rives said he expects it to be approved.

Brown began his career of teaching at the Blue Mound High School, where he taught history and industrial arts. He was appointed superintendent of schools for the Blue Mound School district in 1956.

In 1965, he was appointed superintendent of Macon County schools and was elected to the post in 1966. He held the position 21 years, until he assumed the presidency at Richland in 1986.

Brown received his bachelor's degree from Illinois State University and his master's degree from Colorado State University. He also received a specialist's degree from Eastern.

He was active in the establishment of the Decatur Area Vocational Center, the Illinois Heartland School Computer Consortium, the Truants Alternative Project, Partners in Education, Project H.E.A.R.T. and Futures Unlimited Alternative School.

Brown was unavailable for comment.

RHA looks for mannequin parts

By BILL LOOBY
Staff writer

The Residence Hall Association is looking for parts from mannequins to simulate "body parts" for its annual Haunted House.

RHA Haunted House committee co-chair Tara Keene said parts from mannequins will be as a special effect in the event. The RHA met Thursday night at Carman Hall.

It is time to start looking for the mannequin parts because members have finished the floor plan and are now working on the story, Keene said.

The Haunted House is scheduled for 7 to 10 p.m. on Oct. 27 and 28 in the Thomas Hall basement.

Keene said she expects added advertising to boost attendance over last year's level.

"We are putting a lot more advertising in the community in addition to added advertising on campus," Keene said.

The RHA made $300 on the event last year with an attendance of about 600 people, Keene said.

"The Haunted House is done more for fun than for profit," Keene said.

National Communications Coordinator Lynette Woods said RHA members from other state universities would be invited to attend this year's program.

EIU looks for phone manager

By LEE DIEKEMPER
Staff writer

In keeping up to date with the ever-changing world of telecommunications, Eastern is now accepting applications for the newly created position telecommunications manager.

Search Committee Chair James D. Dean said the position has been in the planning stages for quite some time.

"This is part of the upgrading of our telecommunications department that has been expanding since deregulation began in 1984," Dean said. "The position is responsible for the financial and operational management of the university's telecommunications department."

Although the position is new to Eastern, it is not directly related to the new telephone system that was installed for the university in June.

"The position, along with the new phone system, is just part of the university's plan to keep up with the ever-growing field of telecommunications," said Dean.

The position would require "extensive knowledge of digital telephone switching systems, transmission media, and complex networking."

The person who is awarded the position "will answer to the administrative services department," Dean said.

Unclear Records

The academic records for students who have outstanding obligations with such departments as Athletic Department, Textbook Rental Service, Booth Library, Financial Aids, Chemistry Department, Security, Housing, etc., will be marked unclear. Each student should check with all departments to clear all obligations prior to semester or summer term breaks and/or leaving the University permanently.

Transcripts of the academics records of any student with an unclear record will be withheld and not sent to any one or any place. If the obligation is extremely serious or prolonged, it may result in a complete hold on a student's record, which includes withholding grade reports and precludes readmission, registration, or graduation.

James E. Martin Registrar

Final Exam Changes

Students who have three final examinations scheduled for one day may fill out a request for a change in the office of the Dean, Student Academic Services, Main 116. Forms for requesting a change are now available and must be submitted no later than Wednesday, December 9, 1987. Students are discouraged from requesting instructors to deviate from the published examination schedule. Reasons of personal convenience such as work, transportation arrangements or vacation plans, do not constitute ground for approval of examinations changes.

Samuel J. Taber, Dean Student Academic Services

Correspondence Courses

Students who plan to take any work by correspondence MUST have that approved in the Records Office prior to enrolling for the course. Students should ask to see Mr. Conley or Mr. Martin to discuss work by correspondence.

James E. Martin Registrar

Course Withdrawal Receipt

If you want a receipt for a course withdrawal request you submit, return to the Registration Office during one of the two working days after you submit the request. No retroactive receipts will be issued nor will requests to submit retroactive withdrawals be considered.

Michael Taylor, Director Registration

Student Grade Reports

At the close of each grading period, Student Grade Reports are mailed to the home addresses listed by the students—NOT the local addresses. Please be sure that you have requested a change of address with Housing if there has been a change in your home address to which grades will be mailed.

James E. Martin Registrar

Graduation

Requirements Deadline For a student to be considered a Fall Semester 1987 graduate, ALL graduation requirements must be met by 4:30 p.m. on Friday, January 8, 1988. This means that any removals, incompletes, change of grades, or official transcripts of academic work from other institutions MUST reach the Records Office by that date. If requirements are not met, the student should reapply for graduation for Spring Semester 1988 no later than Friday, January 22, 1988.

Spoos, Panthers taking Indiana State seriously

BARRY BOTTINO

Western football coach Bob Spoo can't afford to look past the Indiana State Sycamores and the chance to pick up a Gateway Conference win in Saturday's Homecoming contest at 1:30 p.m. at O'Brien Stadium.

Even though the Sycamores hold a 1-1 record and have been outscored 80-0 in their previous two games against Southwest Missouri and Georgia Tech, Spoo might field a vastly different team this weekend.

Quarterback John Sahn is scheduled to return to the lineup after recovering from a severe ankle sprain suffered in the third game of the season against Western Illinois.

With Sahn at quarterback, the Sycamores drilled Salem College 55-0 and played nearly even with Western Illinois University, the Gateway Conference leaders.

Eastern enters Saturday's contest with a 3-3 record overall and a 1-1 Gateway Conference mark. The Sycamores are 0-3 in the Gateway this season.

"It's not like we're playing the little boys of the poor," said Eastern coach Bob Spoo. "This is a good team that has a lot of talent."

The Sycamore potential lies in Sahn, who had completed nine of 19 passes for 167 yards and one touchdown before he was injured during the first half of the Western contest on Sept. 19. Indiana State trailed Western 14-12 at the half, but lost the game 42-12. Sahn left after the first play of the third quarter.

"We're going to try to point that out

Eastern tight end Mike Macek makes a catch in front of Illinois. The Panthers face Indiana State in Saturday's homecoming contest at O'Brien Stadium. Linebacker Marty Lomelino in last week's loss to Western Illinois.

(to our players) so there's no letdown. We're in for a fight," Spoo said.

The Panthers hold a definite advantage, however; they have had relatively few injuries and will be at full strength.

Senior offensive guard Jim Miteff's dislocated big toe and freshman fullback John Sengstock's broken right thumb have sufficiently healed and both will be in Saturday's starting lineup.

"His (Sengstock's) thumb is the least of his problems. He's played well with the cast," Spoo said.

"That's been a big plus for us," Spoo said. (See SPOO, page 7B)

Indiana State struggling on defense and offense

JOHN PLETZ

Indiana State's new quarterback, Eric Arnold, should be confident Saturday's homecoming game against Indiana State with open arms.

As a quarterback with confidence and a strong performance in the game against the Sycamores could be a reality.

"His confidence isn't high," said Indiana State coach Dennis Raetz. "We haven't had a lot to be confident about. We haven't been strong in any area, and our secondary is playing poorly."

Indiana State's secondary includes just one senior, four-year starter Steve McKeel, an All-Gateway Conference selection last season. Sophomores Lavent Blaylock, a starter in 1986, and Walter Crutchfield and freshman Troy Mickens round out the ISU defensive backfield.

The secondary is giving up an average of 204 yards and 32 points per game. Crutchfield leads all tacklers with 52 stops, and is followed by McKeel with 43.

Although the Sycamores' confidence and experience are low, past point spreads have been high. ISU has been outscored 80-0 in the last two contests against Southwest Missouri and Georgia Tech, and has also lost 15 straight road games.

Indiana State opened the season with a 55-0 win over tiny Salem College (enrollment 700) before dropping the next five decisions to Boston University, Western Illinois, Northern Iowa, Southwest Missouri and Georgia Tech.

And while the secondary is slumping, the rest of the defense is not faring much better. The only senior joining McKeel is defensive end Matt Cole.

"The linebackers are new, both inside are juniors and neither started last year," Raetz said. "One outside linebacker, junior Antoine Liddell, was a starter, and the other will either be a senior or junior." (See INDIANA, page 3B)

Panthers to host Western rematch

BRYAN FEENEY

Western's match, unlike the previous contest, will count in the AMCU-8 standings. Eastern enters with a 2-0 record, while the Panthers are a half-game behind at 1-0.

Indiana State has finished the season 2-2, while Western-Green Bay is 0-1 and Illinois-Chicago is 0-2. The winner will likely be crowned 1987 AMCU-8 champs.

"We're looking forward to this game," said Eastern coach Cizo Mosnia. "I think that we'll have an advantage in that we won't have to travel, and we'll be playing in front of our fans. It should make us relaxed."

Mosnia said he is expecting a physical game from the Leathernecks, though. "They are a physical, aggressive team," Mosnia said. "We have to be able to take some of the contact and still be able to play our game."

"Still, we know what kind of style they have," Mosnia said. "We've got a game against them under our belts, and the players know what they have to do to stop them."

"I'm really looking forward to this game," he added.

In their last four conference meetings, Eastern and Western have split, with the Panthers winning in 1983 and 1985. Both times, Eastern went on to win the conference crown.

To stop the Leathernecks, the Panthers will need to stop the top two scorers in the league, Ted Eck (13 goals, three assists for 29 points) and Ken Dugan (10 goals, four assists, 24 points).

David Kompare (seven goals, three assists, 17 points), Garry Laidlaw (seven goals, four assists, 18 points) and Mark Noffert (seven goals, two assists, 16 points) lead the Panther scorers.

"The last time we played them, although the intensity wasn't quite what I would had like, we still played well. We didn't deserve to lose the last game, and the players know it," Mosnia said.

NFL strike ends-'scabs' play final game Sunday

LAKE FOREST (AP)—The regular Bears returned to camp as the 24-day NFL strike ended Thursday and immediately prepared for a team practice although they can't play Sunday against the New Orleans Saints.

"The coaches don't feel we can be ready, but we feel we can," said player representative Mike Singletary. "They said we can't play, but I feel we have to get in the best shape we can and we hope to play. I can't help what the league said."

Teams throughout the country began reporting back en masse even without a new contract agreement, but some left after being told they had missed the deadline to play and get paid for this weekend's games, and again would be replaced by non-union players and their teammates who went in earlier. The Bears, however, chose to remain in camp but practice at Soldier Field.

Earlier, the Management Council of the National Football League had announced players who did not report by a Wednesday deadline could not play Sunday, and Michael McCaskey, president of the Bears, said Thursday that the team had no choice.

Spikers extend win streak; sweep St. Louis University

By MIKE FITZGERALD and BARRY BOTTINO
Staff writers

ST. LOUIS—Eastern's volleyball team stretched their winning streak to 11 consecutive matches Thursday night as the Panthers swept the St. Louis University Lady Billikens 15-7, 15-8, 15-4.

Eastern is now 18-3 on the year while St. Louis University drops to 13-9 on the season.

"The main thing is that we must start faster," said Eastern coach Betty Ralston. "St. Louis has improved a lot. But against tougher teams we must take charge early."

Last season, the spikers swept the Lady Billikens by scores of 15-1, 15-6 and 15-5.

The Panthers did start slowly in game one, but with the help of freshmen outside hitter Diane Kruto and middle hitter Deanna Lund, Eastern reeled off eight straight points. Strong net play from junior middle hitter Gianna Galanti and senior setter Jeanne Pacione also led Eastern to a game one win.

In game two, the spikers struggled to an 11-8 lead before sophomore outside hitter Patti Frigo came off the bench to serve the final four points.

Although Eastern has only one senior (Pacione) and three juniors in Bruce, Galanti and middle hitter Gina Knoke, St. Louis does not have any upperclassmen on its roster.

"When you're flooring a couple of juniors and a senior," said St. Louis coach Janet Baier-Howes. "it's quite an advantage."

In the final game, Eastern jumped out to a 6-0 lead and cruised to a 15-4 decision.

Except for the spikers' sluggish first game, Ralston said, "I was pleased with everything else. Our blocking and hitting was strong," and "Patti Frigo did a great job serving."

The Panthers were led by the hitting of Knoke, who recorded a .538 percentage for the match. The junior from Waterloo was also playing in front of 12 family members who traveled to the match.

"It's fun to play in front of the crowd," Knoke said.

"We always start slow, but once we get a few hits everybody starts connecting."

On the other side of the net, the Lady Billikens were not as satisfied, however.

"We stunk tonight," said Howes. "This was the worst match we played in our entire career."

The Panthers, on the other hand, were led by a team hitting percentage of .354.

Panther men harriers set to host EIU Invitational at Lantz course

By AL LAGATTOLLA
Staff writer

The men's cross country season is winding down and the Eastern harriers will begin preparing for the AMCU-8 Championships as they host the EIU Invitational 11 a.m. Saturday on the Lantz Course.

There will be five teams competing in the invitational including Illinois State, Southern Illinois—Edwardsville, Danville Community College and Lincoln Land College.

"Our toughest competition will be Illinois State," said Tom Akers, Eastern's cross country coach. "It'll be interesting to see how we match up against them. They beat Northern Iowa this year. They'll be tough.

Tom Akers

"I think SIU-E will be back out to try and get us back for knocking them down this past weekend at Washington (University Invitational)," Akers said. "It'll be a good check of our mental toughness."

However, Akers is not stressing winning the race.

"I wouldn't be too disappointed (if they lost). I think we can still beat SIU-E whether we're fresh or tired at this time of the season," Akers said.

"I don't want us to be keyed up and go after it real hard, I'm more interested in that this is our last intensive week of practice before our conference meet," Akers added. "All our season is based on is running good at conference."

sophomore. "Our up-front kids have played reasonably well," Raetz added. The defense is not the only unit suffering the impact of youth and injuries—the ISU offense is also smarting. Sophomore John Sahm started his second season at quarterback, only to be eliminated from the lineup in the second half of the season's third game. Sahm had completed nine of 19 passes for 167 yards and one touchdown before he suffered a sprain on both sides of his ankle on the first play of the second half while ISU was trailing Western 15-12. In 1986 he suffered severe damage to his knee in the second game and had to undergo major reconstructive surgery. Kyle Frondorf, then a sophomore, started the rest of the season en route to a 3-8 finish. Sahm has been slated to return to action for two weeks, but has yet to play. "I don't know (when Sahm will return) until it actually happens," Raetz said of the quarterback situation.

"We can't play the team; we can't pay the team," McCaskey said. Singletary departed with the other players for the practice and said: "We're going to practice tonight, tomorrow and Sunday. We're back for the duration." McCaskey said the regular Bears will practice under the supervision of the team's coaches, presumably including Coach Mike Ditka. "These players have been through a very difficult time the last three weeks," McCaskey said. "The last three weeks are behind us. The season is ahead of us. "It has been a difficult time for everyone, the coaches, the equipment managers, everybody," he added. Players in most of the camps throughout the league walked out when they learned they would not play and would not be paid except for per diem expenses, now totaling $700 a week for the Bears. The Bears would not be eligible for a game check until the following week, McCaskey said. McCaskey said he was "relieved" the bears are remaining in camp. "The players said they want to keep their unbeaten record intact," added McCaskey, who met with the entire team before they left for the impromptu practice. The Bears held several meetings during the day and arrived at Halas Hall about 4:30 p.m. EDT but waited in a parking lot until the non-union Bears left the premises.

Lady Panthers return home

The Eastern women's cross country team will host Southern Illinois University-Carbondale in the women's edition of the EIU Open at 10 p.m. Saturday on Lantz Course and O'Brien Stadium. The 5,000-meter race will be the first home-scoring meet for the Lady Panthers this season. The Panthers hosted Purdue in a non-scoring Early Runner Invitational Aug. 29. Despite the infrequent use of the course for women's competition, the course is very popular among visiting runners. "Several teams have told us they like running our course because it is so flat," head coach John Craft said, adding runners can come to Eastern and run low times because of the course's relative ease. However, Craft said course conditions throughout the region have been poor for the most part this season, and noted that Eastern's course is no exception. "It (the course) is dry and hard," Craft said. "It's not in the best of conditions because of the dry weather." Weather of another kind—cold temperatures and rain—at the Indiana Open at Indiana University in Bloomington, Ind., last Saturday has also affected the Lady Panthers. Eastern's top finisher, sophomore Lori Albro, was contracted strep throat and was unable to practice early this week, Craft said, adding other team members of the team are battling similar viruses.

of Eastern's clean bill of health. Although the Panthers are healthy, like the Sycamores, they will also be adjusting to a signal caller this week.

Redshirt freshman Eric Arnold will replace junior quarterback Kurt Simon behind center for his first start in an Eastern uniform. "Coach Spoo has decided to run a more balanced offensive scheme, and they're running game is as good as they've had there for some time," said Indiana State coach Dennis Raetz.

Club banner still missing after theft

writer

No progress has been made in returning the EI Club banner that was stolen from O'Brien Stadium after Saturday's Eastern-Western Illinois football game, Associate Athletic Director Paap said. "I really expected to find it Wednesday," Paap said. "I have the confidence in the world it will return it." The banner is used to gain membership and show the school's support, said Jim Erdman, EI Club vice president. The EI Club consists of former Eastern athletes.

The banner was stolen from the tennis courts behind Lantz Stadium where it faces O'Brien Stadium during all football games. "We have a student helper whose job it is to take it down after games and when he went to get it (after Saturday's game) it wasn't there," Paap said. The banner, which was valued at $100 by Paap, can be traced to the vicinity from which it was stolen with no questions asked.

Strikers kept off the field

Strikers were kept off the field this weekend because of the risk of injury to out-of-control players, some team officials said, but at least one general manager said there was concern about a trick play. Jim Finks, New Orleans Saints general manager, said Thursday there was the possibility that once the placement teams were disbanded, the regulars would be let out again. He said that among the reasons for the decision not to let the regulars play immediately.

If they were serious about getting to play, why weren't they yesterday," Finks said, the deadline set by the owners for the players to be ready to play this weekend.

Fraternity house 'mom' in 25th year of service

AMBER GRIMES

Staff writer

Through the last 25 years Sigma Pi housemother Genevieve Slevin has seen

"Mom" Slevin, as she is affectionately known by all the Sigma Pi fraternity members, has been a housemother at the Sigma Pi fraternity house for the past 25 years. This weekend will be her 25th homecoming.

The time has gone by fast. When you're happy time goes by fast," Slevin said.

Some of her duties as a housemother are hostessing, counseling and taking care of food service. She hires the cooks, makes up the menus and shops for the groceries.

"It's a big plus having a woman in the house," Slevin said.

More personal duties include helping with broken hearts, family problems, school-related problems, accidents, sickness, lending support and generally just being there for the guys.

"I run the house, they run the fraternity," Slevin added.

During her 25 years with the fraternity, many interesting things have occurred. One instance was when she tipped over in a chair wearing a skirt with her legs sticking straight up. "I did what a bug does. I rolled over and got out of the chair."

The most embarrassing incident was during Founder's Day when she mistook one of the active's girlfriends for his mother. "If there would have been a crack in the floor I would have slid through it," Slevin said.

Slevin said 25 years ago—"never dreamed I'd be here that long, but it keeps you young." Although she said she had to quit competing in "chugging" contests with the guys because she couldn't beat them anymore, she still attends their

The "E/R" staff holds a dress rehearsal Wednesday night for the upcoming performances

Homecoming weekend. The show will open at 8 p.m. Friday at the Doudna Fine Arts Theatre.

Set mirrors Chicago hospital

By TINA CREAMER
Staff writer

For more than a month, the set crew for this weekend's play, Emergency Room, has been hard at work.

The deadline for the set construction was Tuesday, which is also the day of dress rehearsal.

The play is set in one room, the emergency room. Even though the set consists of only one room, it may have been one of the more difficult sets to construct.

To make the set more realistic, actual medical equipment is used. Sarah Busch Lincoln Health Center, Eastern's Health Service and two medical assistants, Dr. Jerry Heath and Dr. Richard Larson, helped in supplying equipment and medical advice.

E.T. Guiotte works behind the scenes as the lighting supervisor. Lighting and sound effects can be very difficult depending on the play's needs, Guiotte said.

Money is always a big factor, Guiotte said. Every year the Apportionment Board decides how much money the department will receive for the entire year.

This money has to be budgeted for all the plays presented throughout the year. About two thirds of the money comes student fees, the other one third is brought in by the sale of tickets.

Promotions Director J. Sain said the play will cost about $50 to run the first night and $40 each night after that. This money is paid as a royalty to show the play. The opening night costs more for the simple fact that it is the first night, Sain said.

A large crowd is expected since the play runs during Homecoming weekend, Sain said. For past plays, attendance has been as high as 300 for each performance.

Sain said, "Attendance depends on the type of performance. A popular musical has a larger crowd."

Homecoming does draw the largest crowd because "many students have their families down and don't know what to do with them," Sain said.

Also, the play is set in a Chicago hospital emergency room. It is expected that many of Eastern's students from Chicago will see the play.

The auditions for the next play will be Oct. 21, the day after the final showing of Emergency Room.

'E/R' opens its doors Friday night

By JUDY WEIDMAN
Activities editor

Eastern's Theater Department hopes to keep its audience in stitches as the fall production of "E/R" opens at 8 p.m. Friday in the Doudna Fine Arts Theatre.

"E/R," a comedy set in a Chicago hospital emergency room, was conceived by Dr. Ronald L. Berman.

Ticket prices are $4 for adults and $2 for students.

The play focuses on the events that occur on a "typical"

Saturday night in a hospital.

Director Jerry Sullivan said; "I think it's a very funny play. It ran for three years in Chicago, so it has had success in the past."

He said there are 35 cast members, but only five of the characters are on stage for any major length of time.

However, Sullivan said there are several "juicy small parts" in scenes where members portray special patients including a bag lady, drug addict, an abused child, a hypochondriac and an insomniac.

Promotions manager J. Sain said he has sold almost 200 tickets for Friday night's performance.

"I don't have an accurate count, but we have sold more than half the house," Sain said.

He said the theater seats 372 people.

The play will be performed again 8 p.m. Saturday, Monday and Tuesday and a 2 p.m. matinee will be performed Sunday.

Greek system plans weekend events for alumni

By MICHELLE MUELLER HEBRON

Many of Eastern's greeks are planning special events for returning alumni this weekend.

Delta Sigma Phi will have its annual "Brat Fest" all-day Saturday, said fraternity member Bob Schifuss. He said the fraternity has a supply of 600 brats for the 20 expected alumni. "We're planning to do it up right," he said.

Jay Huber, president of Delta Tau Delta, said his fraternity and the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority will have a tailgate party and barbeque at the fraternity house Saturday and a party at Friend's and Co. that night.

Sigma Chi fraternity is holding an open house from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Saturday, said member Matt Wickert. There will also be an alumni vs. actives football game that afternoon at the house, he said.

Sigma Pi fraternity will have a reception at the Charleston Motor Inn Friday night. A breakfast is planned Saturday morning, said President Jeff Eckburg. A barbeque will be held in the afternoon, followed by a roast for house mother Genevieve Slevin at the Quality Inn in Mattoon. About 350 alumnus are expected for the 25-year anniversary Eckburg said.

Delta Chi fraternity is planning a breakfast at the house Saturday morning, said alumni secretary Mike Murphy. A dinner and dance will be held at the Charleston Motor Inn that night, Murphy added.

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity is planning a Saturday morning breakfast at the house and a party after the football game, said Secretary T. John Vilaro.

Alpha Phi will hold an open house after the parade Saturday, said President Karyn Andrew.

Alpha Sigma Tau is holding a "get acquainted" breakfast Saturday morning, said Cathy Cohen, homecoming chairman for the sorority. A small pre-parade party with Sigma Tau Gamma will be held at the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity house, she said.

Sunday morning the girls will go out to breakfast with their sorority "moms" and other "family members" who have graduated, Cohen said.

Phi Sigma Sigma is planning a get together Saturday night for their alumni, said Kim Bahme, accounts payable treasurer for the sorority.

An open house before the parade Saturday will be held by Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, said Picture Chairman Andrea Allen.

106 entries, revised route for parade

By JUDY WEIDMAN
Activities editor

On Saturday, the early bird will not only catch the worm but also get a prime seat to watch 106 entries in Eastern's 1987 Homecoming parade.

The parade, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m., will also be taking a different course.

Charleston Fire Chief Tom Watson, the first entry in the parade, will start the parade on Seventh Street and Lincoln Avenue.

The procession will move towards the Charleston Square, circle the square, march down Sixth Street, cross through Boatman's Bank parking lot to Seventh Street and finish at Buzzard Building.

In the past, the parade began at Morton Park and proceeded down Lincoln Avenue to Seventh Street.

Parade Co-Chair Monica McAdams, a junior, said the course was altered because campus and city police said Lincoln Avenue was a state highway and was dangerous to children who may be watching the parade.

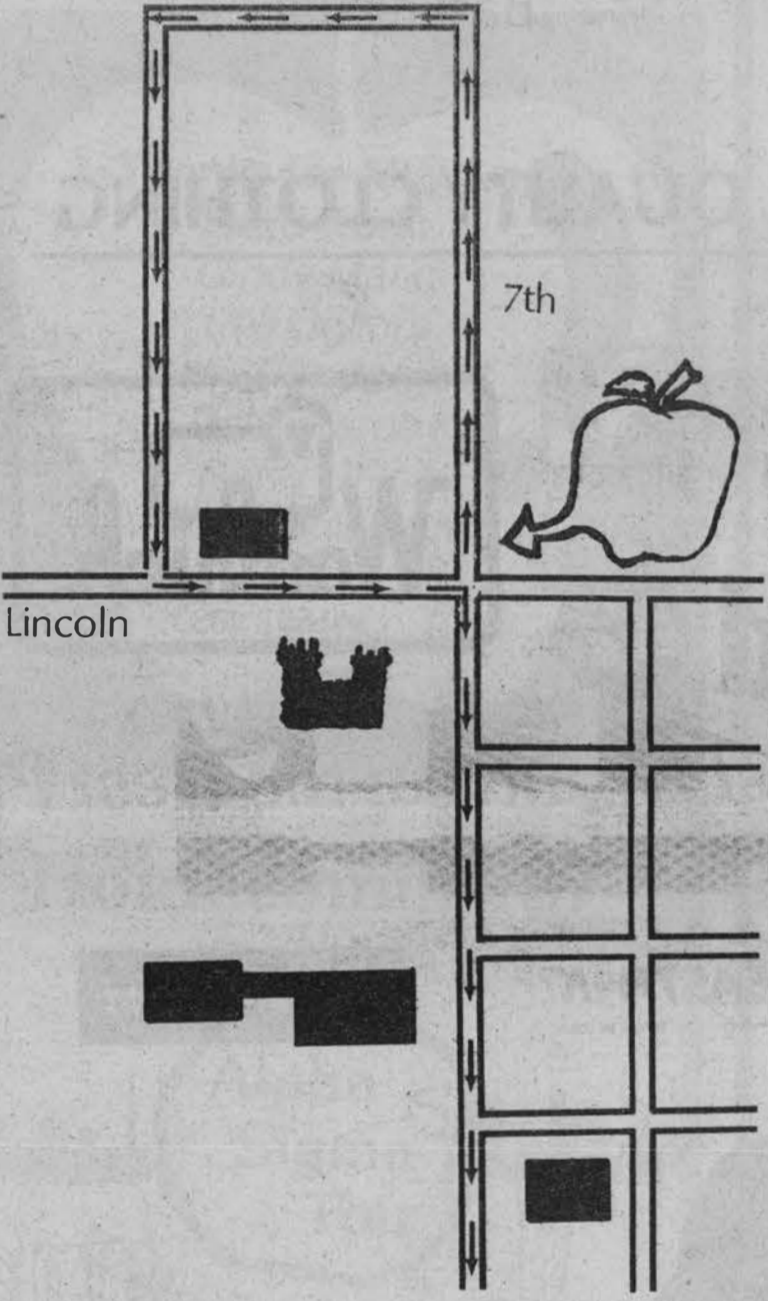

McAdams also said there are about the same amount of entries in this year's parade that marched last year.

As of Wednesday night McAdams and her committee had no breakdown of the number of entries being judged.

However, she said the placement of the entries was done randomly "by their category and frequency."

McAdams said that 15 of the entries are flatbed floats and the judging of the floats will take place from 6 to 9:30 p.m. Friday where they are being built.

There will also be nine bands from Eastern Illinois University, Charleston High School, Charleston Junior High School, Mattoon, Stonington, Moweaqua, Stewardson-Strasburg, Altamont and West Richland (Noble).

Fraternity, sorority attempt to win sixth float competition

By JACKIE LA SPESA
Staff writer

Fifteen flatbed floats will vie for first place in Saturday's Homecoming Parade.

One fraternity and sorority are hoping to win their sixth Homecoming float competition in Saturday's 10 a.m. parade.

Delta Tau Delta and Alpha Gamma Delta, working together, have won the float competition for past five years.

"There is no reason to break a winning tradition," said junior Paul Dempsey of Delta Tau Delta. He explained the processes involved in building a float.

The fraternity members with the most experience build the frame. Then, the fraternity and sorority members work together molding the chicken wire around the frame.

A paint brush is used to spread glue around the chicken wire. Finally, the last step is a process known as "pumping." Pumping consists of shaping tissue paper around a finger and placing the tufts in the holes in the chicken wire, Dempsey said.

Organizations were required to turn in its float plans a month ago, said Monica McAdams, parade co-chair. Float construction begins one and a half weeks before Homecoming, with the pumping process consuming the entire last week, McAdams said.

McAdams, an Alpha Gamma Delta, said the flatbed floats are judged Friday night and the other floats are judged the morning of the parade.

The judging is based on a point system. First place is worth 15 points, second place is worth 10 points and third place is worth five points, McAdams said.

Organizations add these points to the spirit points earned in other events, such as Fun Games, coronation, window painting and participation in the pep rally/bonfire, in order to win a traveling trophy.

A good float is judged by how it represents the Homecoming theme "The Big Apple," said McAdams. The float is judged on originality, special effects, color coordination, design and construction.

What to expect: The Sycamores are down but definitely not out after losing their last five games in a row, including a 38-0 mismatch loss to Georgia Tech in Atlanta last Saturday. The Sycamores have also been outscored 80-0 in their last two contests. Indiana State enters Saturday's Homecoming contest with a 1-4 record overall and a Gateway conference record of 0-3 losing to Western Illinois (42-14), Northern Iowa (38-14), and Southwest Missouri (42-0). The Sycamores bombed tiny Salem College of Salem, W. Va., 55-0 in their season opener. Sycamore quarterback John Sahm is expected to return to the lineup after missing the last three games with a sprained

Panthers Update

What to expect: The Panthers are angry after a tough 21-12 defeat at the hands of Western Illinois last Saturday and will be looking to stay in the Gateway Conference title hunt with a win over the slumping Sycamores. Eastern heads into the game with a 3-3 overall record and an even 1-1 conference mark. But the Sycamores have been shut out the past two weekends and are looking to pile up some points. Eastern has won the past two matchups between the two schools including a 31-14 Gateway title clinching game last year. The secret to Eastern's success will be to get off to a quick start, something the Panthers did not do last weekend. Western jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter and the Panthers could not effectively play catch up. Eastern trailed 21-6 at the intermission, thanks to the foot of kicker Rich Ehmke, and only mustered six more points in the second stanza on a 28-yard run by DuWayne Pitts and a failed two-point conversion when quarterback Kurt Simon was stopped six inches from the goal line. Eastern will also be trying to stop a two-game skid losing to Akron (24-10) on Oct. 3 and Western last Saturday. The Panthers haven't lost three games in a row since 1977 when Eastern lost 16 of 17 contests over a two year period. Coach Bob Spoo will try to breath some life into a lackluster offense, which has been averaging just over 12 points per game, by awarding the starting nod at quarterback to redshirt freshman Eric Arnold.

Who to watch: A receiver who received his inductio college football Saturday gets his first start in uniform. Last week Western Illinois, completed four of 11 pass yards after replacing Simon with 11:20 in the fourth quarter. A gun for an arm and hooked up with tight Macek and wide Stewart on successive unsuccessful 77-yard ended at the Western line without a score. The speedster of the Panther receiver corps, should more than one bomb old. Senior runner DuWayne Pitts should the Eastern attack tailback spot after rushing ch:The Sycamores their problems at this year with Sahn and Jochem are No matter who the quarterback will be, 6- tight end Rodney Porter is assured of being near the ball. Porter has caught 32 aerials in six games this season while junior tailback Tori Vactor has stabilized the Sycamore running game. The Sycamores have given up massive points and yardage this season. ISU averages giving up 28 points per game. Defensive backs Walter Crutchfield and 1986 All-Gateway performer Steve McKeel are the Sycamores' leading tacklers. Crutchfield, a sophomore from Silver Spring, Md., has recorded a team high 52 stops while McKeel, a senior from Monaca, Pa., has been in on 43 tackles.

Key injuries: Quarterback John Sahn, ankle (probable).
What's at stake: A victory for Indiana State would boost their Gateway Conference record to 1-3 and give them a legitimate spoiler role throughout the rest of the season and a big confidence boost with a road and conference victory. A loss for the Sycamores will put them in a race for the Gateway cellar spot with the Illinois State Redbirds.

ALBUM

Y&T finds hard-rocking roots

By DAVE DaCASON
Staff writer

Armed with a new drummer and record company, Y&T has finally managed to overcome an identity problem and re-establish its hard-rocking roots with its latest release, Contagious.

The group's sixth full-length album marks a switch from A[M to Geffen Records and welcomes former Talas drummer Jimmy DeGrasso. This is Y&T's first serious effort since 1983's Mean Streak, an album still popular on many album-oriented radio stations.

Contagious features a moderate grade of heavy metal music comparable to early Van Halen and recent Dokken works. The lyrics, of course, are of the typical sex-and-party variety.

Y&T also includes lead vocalist/lead guitarist Dave Meniketti, rhythm and acoustic guitarist Joey Alves and bassist Phil Kennemore.

Meniketti in particular performs exceptionally well on Contagious. His lead guitar playing is more aggressive than usual, especially on "Bodily Harm" and

"I'll Cry For You." A truly underrated guitarist, Meniketti has a fast, clean and somewhat emotional style that complements his bright, boisterous voice well.

"The Kid Goes Crazy" gives DeGrasso a chance to exhibit his impressive double-bass drumming. The break halfway through this song sounds similar to the middle break in Van Halen's "Dance the Night Away."

"Armed and Dangerous," "L.A. Rocks" and the title track are all great songs with fast rhythm guitar and a commercially acceptable flavor.

"Rhythm or Not" and "Fight For Your Life" are mediocre pieces, the latter slightly boosted by a hyperactive guitar lead.

"Temptation" and "Eyes of a Stranger" are both strong, vocally oriented songs. The first is the album's mellowest piece, while "Eyes" is a moderate hard rock tune.

A tight, solid album, Contagious bridges the group's unfortunate identity gap evident in its half-hearted 1984 and '85 releases, In Rock We Trust and Down For the Count.

While these two weren't really bad albums, Contagious appears to be a much more sincere effort. Y&T is indeed one of the few bands to resurrect itself from a frightening brush with commercial-bound death.

parties. "I wouldn't trade the experiences I've had in the last 25 years for anything," Slevin said. "It's a fun job, great for an older woman."

"It takes all kinds to make life interesting. I wouldn't have changed anything," Slevin said. "The guys always come through in a fix. It's a good feeling to know you're with capable people."

Living with 29 college guys, Slevin said, is "like an enormously big family. Whenever possible and schedules will allow, we try to eat together."

A plus to being a "mom" to over 800 guys is that most of the alumni keep in touch with her. "I have letters from all over," she said.

Slevin said she became a housemother somewhat by accident. "I saw an ad in the paper, I answered it and got the job—that was 25 years ago," she said. "I never read the want ads, still don't."

It was an accident many are grateful for.

"She's an absolutely wonderful woman to put up with all the guys," said Jeff Eckburg, president of Sigma Pi.

"She's an expert on girl/guy relationships—easy to talk to. She's like a second mother. She's terrific," Eckburg said.

"Parents send her a boy, she sends home a man," he added.

"She's always there if you need her," said senior Gregg Antenen. "She always backs and stands behind the brothers. There's nothing she wouldn't do for you."

Senior Patrick Dixon credits her as "The reason we (Sigma Pi) are as good as we are. She commands respect from all the guys," Dixon added.

Slevin's influence is also evident around the house. A somewhat unfamiliar sight can be seen upon entering the Sigma Pi house—college guys doing housework.

"The pledges usually clean, but they don't have to pick up the other guys' big messes," Slevin said.

Father of Eastern' honored

RY SMITH
 Editor

and the celebration of this Homecoming, the university will be honoring Samuel M. who some call the father the Distinguished Award Luncheon Saturday the university will unveil a of the man who is cited main advocate of legislation established the Eastern State Normal School in journalist Allan H. Keith Inglis' main purpose for the school was to get the highest quality people into the public school system was appointed the first president of the Eastern by the board of trustees, but died less than two months later.

Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction when he pushed the legislation through the General Assembly.

Keith said the most important thing to remember about Inglis is that he is the father of Eastern.

He talked with school officials and members throughout the state and convinced them there was a need for Eastern.

Even though he is listed as the president in a book on the 50 years of Eastern by Charles Coleman, the university recognizes Livingston C. Lord as the first president.

The school was not officially open at the time Inglis appointed Eastern's first faculty member and he participated in the groundbreaking ceremonies, Keith said.

The Mattoon resident has been studying the life of Inglis for about 20 years since his time as a staff member of The Daily Eastern News.

"Many years ago when I was working for The Daily Eastern News I did several feature stories about him," he said.

Several years ago Keith gave a talk before the Coles County Historical Society about Inglis. This talk then led to a booklet which was published in the Charleston Times-Courier and the Mattoon Journal-Gazette, he said.

"I've been studying about Inglis for some time."

The idea for the portrait has been discussed for the last two years.

Keith discussed the idea with members of the EIU Foundation who thought it was a good idea. He agreed that the portrait would have to be paid for by private contributions and not public or university funds.

He talked to relatives of Louise Baumberger Inglis (widow of Samuel Inglis), living in the Greenville area, about the idea and they were interested in contributing to the portrait.

Foundation Director Daniel Thornburgh set up a fund to pay for the costs of painting the portrait, the frame and a name plate to be placed under it, Keith said.

The hand-painted oil portrait by Robert Eaton of Indianola, Iowa, an artist recommended by Thornburgh to Keith, was based on an old photograph of Inglis.

"There was a school in Greenville named after him. There was also a big portrait of him in the school but the school was razed and no one knows where the portrait is now," Douglas Hoiles, a nephew of Inglis, said.

Hoiles, a Greenville resident, said his aunt, Louise Inglis, was 20 years younger than Inglis when they married.

He first talked to Keith about the portrait six months ago and thought it was a good idea. About 10 relatives donated money to the project and will be attending the ceremonies Saturday.

"The artist did a very good job. It's small but good," Keith said.

The portrait will be tentatively displayed in the Union Alumni Lounge, he said.

Some like it hot—others like it cold

After extensive privately funded research, I have discovered there are only two, count two, kinds of people in this world many would argue that the world is entirely too diverse broken down into only two categories, there are others that agree, that yes, indeed, categories will suffice.

If you were paying attention in fifth grade health class, you will remember that the teacher probably discretely tried to break in the fact that the two kinds of people in this world are males and females.

Then probably tried in vain to describe, without blushing, the pictures in the encyclopedias every 10 year old had turned to during free time that may have been a explanation to appease the parents, it just isn't true.

Of course, the politically correct you will insist that the two kinds of people in this world are vegetarians and everybody else.

Then, you have your communists and your socialists banging down your neck about the time.

So you ask my roommate, she'll tell you without batting an eye that the two kinds of people in the world are those with a clean shaven (or perhaps just a clean) face and those that are overridden with vile patches of facial hair. Note: women are not excluded from this category.

While this categorization is nothing if not amusing, it still doesn't reveal the true essence of how the world's population is divided.

You see, the world is divided, quite simply and effectively I might add, into the following two categories:

- Those who hate cream corn
- Those who can eat it cold, out of the can, with a spoon

I would like to share with you some of the extremely scientific research I have conducted that led me to this earth-shattering, mind-boggling and gut-wrenching conclusion.

While in a social atmosphere, often a party, bar or textbook rental line, I would simply ask, "Do you hate cream corn, or can you eat it cold, out of the can, with a spoon?"

Given the numerous numbers of participants in this experiment, that was so darn scientific it put Pavlov and his slobbering dog to shame, it is easy to see how the conclusion was drawn.

I thought perhaps my question was too leading in its format to evoke an ample supply of each response. But, I was wrong.

Many claimed they couldn't stomach the beige lumpy stuff simply because they didn't know what it was. "I mean, what is cream corn?" one girl asked. "Is it really cream? What is it?"

Others expressed immediate disgust, perhaps because their mothers forced them to eat the dreaded cream corn casserole.

A close friend insisted that cream corn was Satan's own brew, a rather meek excuse for not liking one of the all-time greatest hits on the top 10 grain rendition list I thought.

Of course, this is the same man that said the only thing worse than cream corn was Veg-All. I think he only said that because he was despondent that it didn't come in a cream form.

Yet, I am pleased to report that the majority of those surveyed thought cream corn was the greatest thing since fitted sheets.

After completing the short survey about the liquid stuff, one participant turned to her friend and said, (I swear I did not make this up) "All of this talk about cream corn is making me hungry."

Me too. Pass the spoon.

Derailed train of thought leaves others miffed

By LARRY SMITH
Managing editor

Ever since I could first speak I've had this problem.

It's not earth shattering, but it can be a pain in the derriere. Take the time I was in an English class in high school, and my teacher asked me a question about adverbs.

I started talking about adverbs and ended up discussing how my uncle and grandfather would never let me finish a sentence if I made a grammatical error.

But anyway, my problem is that I tend to deviate from my original train of thought when I'm speaking to someone. It is annoying to me, and other people get angry when I do it.

My problem always occurs when I least expect it, usually right in the middle of an important conversation such as how world politics affect us in Charleston.

"Hey did you see Cheers tonight?"

Strange looks surround me, cigarettes drop and jaws hang while I sheepishly put my head between my legs and whimper like a puppy.

So usually when I'm talking, when I really want to say one thing, another thing comes out. For instance, I was on my way to Chicago on the train once. I hadn't been home in about six months because of my job. The place I worked was really bad about giving days off.

Actually, in order for me to get those days off I had to threaten to quit and finally the manager took me seriously. But actually working there wasn't so bad because a few of us found ways to get back at the manager.

Anyway, I was on the train and I was talking to my friend about her classes and all of sudden my problem popped up again.

"Hey, Molly, have you ever been to Manitowoc, Wis.?"

"What?"

"I have. It's a really nice place to go fishing."

Normally I can carry on a reasonably intelligent conversation with anyone, but when my problem happens I can't control it. I've been told by my aunt that it's a sign of a mind constantly working and thinking on a myriad of important subjects.

But I don't believe that because if it were true I'd be a law student at Howard Law School studying the intricacies of contract law with Professor Kingsfield.

My friends say I'm just a very impatient person with my words and hate to wait. I won't get my two cents in. But I tend to disagree.

It's just a problem I can't help, because when I was a little kid I always forgot what I was going to say when someone else was speaking.

One time my mother and I were shopping and she was talking to a friend of hers and I needed to say something. . . . wait a minute there I go again.

Never mind.

Students get hands-on experience in teaching handicapped

By MELISSA TIBEREND
Staff writer

Eastern's special education department teaches students a number of on-hands methods to enhance their ability to work efficiently with handicapped children.

Early childhood instructors Vicki Stayton and Thomas Mihail co-teach a Wednesday evening class dealing with the education of handicapped individuals.

Simulation type exercises put the student in the role of a handicapped person.

Senior Marie Mottla, a math education major, said each student in her class was blindfolded to experience the problems of being blind.

"I think it gives people an understanding of how people with special needs go through life," Mottla said.

Mottla said this class made her much more compassionate toward disabled people and said she is even considering changing her major to special education.

Stayton also teaches a practical class which works with handicapped children from Paris and Arcola schools four hours each week.

Senior Linda Layss, an early childhood major, said the class is excellent experience because the handicapped children are dealt with on a one-to-one basis.

"First you pick a child from the class and give him or her an assessment test. Then, you develop the individualized educational program the child needs help in," Layss said.

"You do three one-on-one activities, three small group activities and three large group activities," Layss said.

Stayton also microteaches, where all the students in the class get a chance to be the teacher and the other students act as if they have some type of handicap.

In addition, special education instructor Judith Ivarie teaches a methods class which works with elementary and secondary schools in the Charleston and Mattoon areas.

Students are required to do 100 hours of field work in any of the surrounding schools before student teaching.

Senior Linda Piercy, a special education major, said she taught a reading group two days a week at the Kansas Treatment and Learning Center in Mattoon.

"I really liked it, I like being in schools and working with students," Piercy said.
