Alpha Gamma Delta named 1993 queen

By SHEA COOPER
Staff writer

Sarah Ann Baum of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and Kevin St. Angel of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity were named the 1993 Homecoming queen and king Monday at the Coronation Ceremony in McAfee Gymnasium.

Baum and Angel were chosen out of 43 candidates along with the six-member court and two freshmen attendants. Thirty candidates competed for the freshmen attendant positions.

Named to the court were: Alexis Genetski of Alpha Phi sorority, Nick Carrillo of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, Diane Brown of Delta Zeta sorority, and Chris Jones of Delta Tau Delta.

Freshman attendants will be Amy Sciacotta of Alpha Phi sorority and Corey Lines of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

all participation.

Each organization received points for window painting in the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union Walkway and the number of members named to the homecoming court, freshmen attendants and king and queen.

Sigma Pi Epsilon fraternity and Sigma Kappa sorority are in the overall lead so far for Homecoming 1993.

First place winners in the window painting competition were Thomas Hall and Lawson Hall, second place winners were Alpha Phi Omega sorority and Epsilon Sigma Alpha fraternity with Circle K. Third place winners were Delta Zeta sorority and Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Contract grants Cosby $105,000

By BRIAN HUCHEL

For his two performances for Parents Weekend Nov. 6, comedian Bill Cosby will receive a flat rate of $100,000 plus $5,000 for expenses, according to the contract returned Monday to the Office of Student Activities from the William Morris Agency, Cosby's public relations firm.

David Milberg, director of student activities, said contract negotiations surrounding certain aspects of Cosby's performance have been finalized, allowing the release of the amount being paid for the concerts.

"Cosby uses a flat rate when he is paid for a performance," Milberg said. "Because of that, he does not receive any percentage of the money brought in from the ticket sales."

Milberg said both the 6:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. performances in Lantz Gymnasium have sold out. Lantz Gym's capacity is 4,300 per show, which means, at $18 per ticket, sales totals $154,800.

After paying Cosby, student activities will have $49,800

Dunn report shows Rives waited to grant pay raise

By JOHN FERA
Administration editor

Former Eastern President Stan Rives only decided to grant faculty member Janet Francis-Larabee's first "market-equity" pay raise on the advice of a Board of Governors attorney and after he realized a contract guaranteeing her a pay raise and promotion upon receiving her doctorate degree would be breached.

These conclusions are contained in the Dunn report, a document written by BOG attorney Mark Dunn to investigate Janet Francis-Larabee's sexual harassment allegations against Efraim Turban, former distinguished professor in the Lumpkin College of Business.

In a memo dated March 19, 1991, Rives sent a letter to Francis-Larabee, then a temporary instructor of computer operations and management, with a revised contract for the 1990-91 school year that increased her salary to $5,800

Layzell, Dunn to address senate

The Faculty Senate and the campus community will have an opportunity to ask questions today of Board of Governors Chancellor Thomas Layzell and BOG attorney Mark Dunn about the tenure settlement in an Eastern faculty member's sexual harassment lawsuit and also about a report that investigated the alleged mishandling of the case by Eastern administrators.

The Faculty Senate will meet at 2 p.m. today in the needs have not yet been released.

Revenues from ticket sales for the performance will be allocated to the student activities concert reserve account.

Milberg said there was nothing special involved in scheduling Cosby to perform here.

"He was landed just like any other artist that has performed here in the past," Milberg said. "We contacted his agency to find out when he was available. He just happened to be available on Nov. 6."

was supposed to take effect as a result of her receiving a doctorate degree.

"It isn't like I called him (Rives) and told him to give her the pay raise," Dunn said. "I told him giving her a raise was the appropriate thing to do. I say that's living up to the original agreement."

"The president's position was, had he known these things, he would have paid her the salary increase," Dunn added. "He said he didn't understand (the original contract)."

Glenn Stanko, attorney representing Francis-Laribee, said Monday that the delay to grant his client the raise and promotion she originally agreed to could "be viewed as a form of continuous retaliation against her."

"It's my belief he had to know," Stanko said of Rives' knowledge of Francis-Laribee's contract stipulating a raise upon receiving her doctorate. "For some reason, he only offered her $140 per month raise."

Stanko was referring to a memo sent from Rives to Francis-Laribee on October 29, 1990. The letter from Rives states, "We are prepared to increase your salary by $140 per month as a result of the completion of your doctorate prior to the start of the 1990 fall semester ... This will be retroactive to Sept. 1."

Stanko said Rives didn't originally grant Francis-by Milberg Sept. 7. The search for a Parents Weekend performer began in April.

"Bringing Cosby to perform at Eastern is not like scheduling a band who had a hit song five years ago," Milberg said. "Cosby is a very popular performer, he is at a peak that began many years ago."

"It is a great thing to have a performer with Cosby's standing and prestige come to perform to Eastern," Milberg added.

Cosby, who performed at Eastern in 1968 and 1974, is currently working on a project outside the country.

Laribee the raise she was promised and then refused to discipline Turban for actions Turban allegedly took trying to influence search committees in the College of Business not to hire Francis-Laribee for two tenure-track positions that were open.

As documented in the report, Turban was alleged to have brought a catalog from the University of San Francisco International, the college where he taught and Francis-Laribee was his graduate student. Turban reportedly tried to convince search committee members in 1991 that USFI didn't offer a degree in management information systems, and Francis-Laribee wasn't qualified for one of the positions.

dean of graduate studies, and a $500 per month pay raise and tenure.

Dunn will give a summary of events leading to the settlement prior to the question and answer session, said Faculty Senate Chairman Bill Addison. Addison said if there is enough time, audience members will have the opportunity to ask questions also.

Addison said he does not think there will be a lot of different questions directed toward Layzell and Dunn.

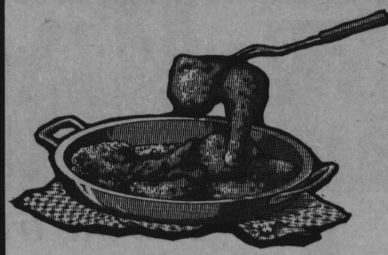

Glenn Stanko, the attorney who represents Francis-Laribee, will attend Tuesday's meeting with his client.

Member claims one graduation 'very realistic'

By ADAM McHUGH
Campus editor

"Very realistic" is how Amy Jobin, student member of a five-person graduation review committee, describes a proposed change that would cut graduation ceremonies down to one day per year instead of the current two days per year graduation schedule.

Stephen Falk, vice president for institutional advancement, formed the committee to review a proposal that would make several changes in commencement exercises.

Jobin, who was appointed to the committee by Student Senate Executive Vice President Shirley Von Bokel, said although her graduation in May went smoothly, some changes in ticket distribution and scheduling are necessary.

If the changes are approved, students scheduled to graduate in December would have to return to Eastern the following May and participate in graduation exercises with students slated for that month's ceremonies.

Under the proposal, which Falk said would take effect in May 1995 if approved, ceremonies would be held on one day tentatively at 9 a.m., noon, 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Falk said he told the committee to get input that would be indicative of students' opinions on graduation.

"Overall, the proposal is a good idea because it is difficult for students to go to the December graduation ceremonies because of finals," Jobin said.

Jobin said the change in the way tickets will be distributed to students for relatives to attend is necessary in keeping the number of people attending the ceremonies at an acceptable level in the case of inclement weather.

What Jobin was referring to is the proposal's planned decrease in ticket allocation from six tickets per student to five.

Falk said last year's commencement, which was held in Lantz Gymnasium, was overcrowded because of a miscalculation of Lantz's capacity.

Falk said, "When we handed out the tickets, we would ask people if they were bringing children. Many of them said yes, but added the children would sit on their lap."

"Because of this, we had about 400 tickets left over but not a seat available in the house," he added.

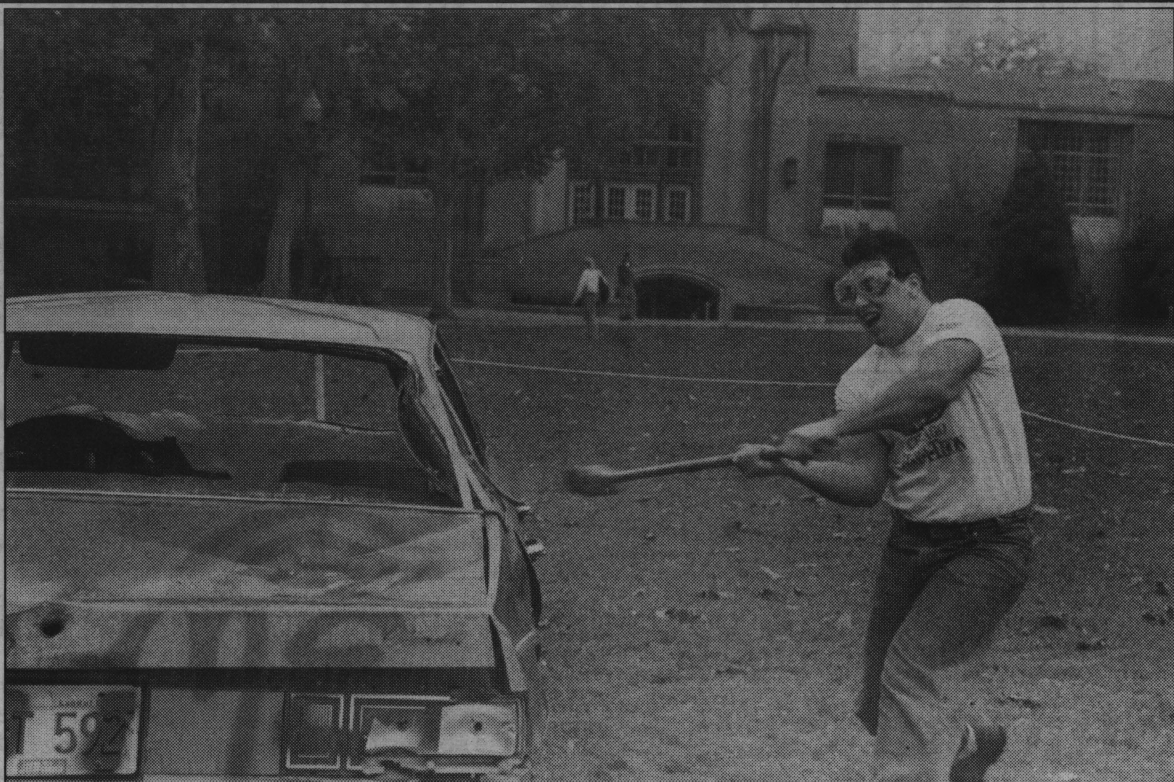

Falk said the North Quad in front of Booth Library is a more practical and comfortable setting for graduation ceremonies.

"Lantz holds about 4,200 people while we can put more than 6,000 people in the quad because many come and go as they please using lawn chairs," Falk said.

Jobin agreed with Falk's statement, saying, "The library quad adds so much more to the ceremony than Lantz, and it's tradition."

Jobin added it was untrue that she was not receptive to Falk's idea of only one graduation per year.

Falk said although he would rather not limit tickets to students, it is necessary because the North Quad can hold more people than Lantz Gym.

Francis-Larabee 'promised' temporary job at Eastern

By JOHN FERAK
Administration editor

Janet Francis-Larabee came to Eastern in fall 1989 from the University of San Francisco International based on the recommendation of Efraim Turban, who was hired by Lumpkin dean Ted Ivarie for the 1989-90 school year as Lumpkin's distinguished professor for a three-year contract at a salary of $110,000 per year.

Turban promised Francis-Larabee "he could get her a job" at Eastern as a temporary computer operations and management instructor, stated the Dunn report, an inch-thick document by Board of Governors attorney Mark Dunn investigating the alleged mis-handling of Francis-Larabee's sexual harassment case against Turban.

"Through Dr. Turban, I was encouraged to apply for the position at EIU," Francis-Larabee told Dunn in his report. "He assured me I would have no problems getting an assistant professorship in data processing in 1990."

Francis-Larabee applied to Eastern in July 1989. Later that month she was called to Turban's office at USIU. During a telephone call she took in his office, Ivarie advised Francis-Larabee he would recommend that she be employed at Eastern.

Based on Turban's advice, Ivarie hired Francis-Larabee as a temporary instructor of computer operations and management, salaried at $32,000.

However, Francis-Larabee

made an agreement with John Walstrom, acting business department chairman in fall 1989. The agreement stated that upon her receiving her doctorate she would have the rank of assistant professor and a pay increase to $5,800 per month.

During the next several months, Francis-Larabee met with Judy Anderson, former affirmative action director, and alleged that Turban then began verbally harassing her and creating mental anguish for Francis-Larabee in her hopes of finishing her dissertation for her doctorate degree.

Former President Stan Rives had hoped to resolve the sexual harassment case informally on the administrative level, Dunn wrote.

Mayor to recommend Motor Inn case to council

By ROBERT SANCHEZ
City editor

Prior to the regular Charleston City Council meeting tonight, Charleston Mayor Dan Cougill will discuss in a closed session whether the city should continue pursuing a tax collection lawsuit against the previous owners of the Charleston Motor Inn.

The council will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the City Council Chambers at 520 Jackson Ave.

Although the city has waited more than a year for the previous owners of the Charleston Motor Inn to pay $30,000 in delinquent tourism taxes, Cougill said Friday he will consider dropping a civil lawsuit meant to settle the hotel's debts.

The mayor said Monday he was still undecided about whether the suit should remain filed because he had not reviewed the case material.

Cougill said he will make a suggestion to the city council as to what he feels should be done about the case on Tuesday. The council members will then be permitted to review the case material. Cougill said the council will not make a formal decision on the lawsuit until the next city council meeting.

ARJAY Hospitalities, the inn's parent company, came to a settlement several weeks ago with Magna Bank of St. Louis, which had foreclosed on the property. City Attorney Brian Bower said in April he thought ARJAY's debts with the bank totaled about $1 million.

After repeated warnings from the city, the inn owners failed to pay their debts to the city and were forced to close the inn in March 1992 after the city revoked its liquor license and shut off the building's water and sewer services.

In its lawsuit against ARJAY Hospitalities, the city is seeking $26,031 plus penalties for unpaid hotel/motel tourism taxes. The penalties of 1.5 percent per month for late payments have accumulated since Nov. 30, 1991.

Another portion of the lawsuit seeks collection of delinquent water and sewer bills totaling $1,833.50.

In other business:

- The council will vote on a request by Charles and Nancy White for the Normal Park Place East subdivision, east of 12th Street between Grant and Arthur Avenues.

- The council will consider an ordinance granting a conditional-use permit for the owners of a residence at 763 10th St. The owners want to convert their residence into a bed and breakfast establishment.

Student Senate recycling plan a positive move

The Student Senate has finally taken a step to show that they really are campus leaders. At last Wednesday's meeting, the senate approved an aluminum recycling plan which could begin campus-wide aluminum can recycling as soon as early February.

Editorial

The plan will place 40 recycling bins for aluminum cans in Coleman Hall, the Physical Science Building, the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union, Old Main, Blair Hall, Buzzard Building, the Fine Arts Building, Booth Library, Klehm Hall, Lumpkin Hall, the Physical Plant and the Student Services Building. At least one recycling bin will be placed on each floor of the buildings.

The lack of recycling facilities on this campus has long been a problem. The only recycling containers currently in use on campus are the aluminum recycling bins in the residence halls, which are maintained by the National Residence Hall Honorary. Faculty and students who empty aluminum cans while in class or at work on campus have had no choice but to simply throw the cans into the garbage.

The senate should be commended for recognizing this problem and doing something about it. Its efforts deserve special recognition when one considers that the recycling plan, which was designed to accommodate the Illinois Waste Reduction Act requiring all Illinois colleges and universities to recycle at least 40 percent of their waste by Jan. 1, 2000, will receive no financial backing from the university.

The recycling plan will be entirely funded by student fees. Senate recycling committee members said they expect the plan to pay back the approximate $700 initial outlay needed to begin the plan within the first two years of operation. Profits made from the recycling plan will be placed in an environmental trust fund for future recycling efforts.

The recycling plan is a step in the right direction. We can only hope it is just the first of many.

Don't bother me with Homecoming

By now, the windows have all been painted, the floats are all but finished, the king and queen have been crowned, and I am left with just one question. Who cares?

Homecoming week has barely begun, and I'm already counting the hours until it's finally over for another year. Like a lot of other people I've talked to these last few days, I just don't get it. I don't get the hype, I don't get the sentimental feelings of tradition and ceremony, I don't get the point.

In the three full years I've been here, I can truthfully say that I have never seen the Homecoming parade, and I've never been to the Homecoming game. In past years, I didn't even know when Homecoming was. It never affected me in any real way, I ignored it completely and all was right with the world.

But when I came home from work the other night, I noticed an odd new sign in my stairwell. There among the notices for floor meetings and hall events that no one really pays any attention to, was a blue sheet of paper telling me I should cast my vote for Homecoming king and queen for two people I've never heard of before and couldn't even identify if they should happen to surface say, at the county morgue.

I suppose this very kind of thinking is the reasoning behind those way-cool 8 by 10 glossies of the 10,000 or so Homecoming candidates you find plastered around the polling places.

But wait a minute. They really want me to vote? I thought these things were generally decided in some smoky backroom of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union by people who actually give a damn.

Apparently, though, some people care passionately about the subject. According to a Monday story in The Daily Eastern News, more than 70 candidates competed for the title of Homecoming king and queen this year.

Seventy people? That can't be right. On this campus, as in most sectors of our world, if you can motivate a dozen people to do anything or even be associated with something, you're doing well. But 70 people? Seventy Homecoming candidates?

Sherry Sidwell

"I am left to believe being queen is a far greater honor than a humble peasant like myself can possibly imagine."

Is the honor of being queen for a day truly that great? What about being a runner-up?

If for any reason, the Homecoming queen cannot fulfill her obligations, does one of the runners-up automatically assume her duties?

I am left to believe being queen is a far greater honor than a humble peasant like myself can possibly imagine. Why else would supposedly self-respecting students be out campaigning like common Congressional candidates?

That brings up another question. The past week saw students out putting up campaign posters and shaking hands and generally acting as if they were running for a real office when in actuality, the election boiled down to nothing more than a high school popularity contest. They seemed to truly think we don't know that most Greek houses and other student organizations require their members to vote for their own candidates.

How exactly does one campaign for Homecoming king anyway? What kind of platform do you run on? Do you make promises you have no intention of keeping? "If elected Homecoming King, I will do my best to see that everyone is required by law to wear their hats backward." Do you make secret plans to misuse Homecoming funds to pay for liquor and hookers?

Didn't we get enough of this in high school? At my school we had two opportunities a year, once at Homecoming time and again for Prom, to watch the in-clique's "We think we're the beautiful people" nominate each other for these most important of all honors. It was always the usual wanna-be jocks and pom pon girls. The average student had no real involvement in Homecoming and usually didn't care.

No matter how old we get, it's nice to see that some things never change.

— Sherry Sidwell is student government editor and a regular columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Columnist lacked common sense, material for column

Dear editor:

Does Anthony Nasella have nothing better to do than to whine about the state of morality on television? ("Morals portrayed on TV suck 'Huh, Huh,'" The Daily Eastern News, Oct. 14.) Apparently he doesn't.

Yes, it is a tragedy that a boy started a fire that claimed his sister's life. Seems to me that such things can happen when children play with matches. Nasella would have us believe that before Beavis and Butt-Head, children never even thought of lighting matches.

I suppose Nasella endorses a return to such television shows as "Leave it to Beaver" and "My Mother the Car." How nice that would be, all of us pretending that all is well with America and we all live in stable, unbroken homes. Who died and made Nasella the moral center of the universe? Although, I must, I am quite taken by his bleeding heart and blind idealism. Whatever it is that he is smoking, I hope he gives me a toke.

In the end, it should simply be said that if a child cannot handle watching television, than he should not have access to it. The same goes for Nasella. Maybe they all could try something different like reading a book. Nasella did not present his views "out of love," as he says. I submit that he presented them because he was lacking two things: common sense and material for a column.

Reader backs mayor, thinks newspaper is boring its readers

Dear editor,

Your newspaper is getting extremely boring. You keep writing about the same news.

Personally, I think the mayor of Charleston is doing a good job. If you and your staff would give suggestions instead of criticizing him, maybe this community would excel.

For some reason you have made a personal vendetta against him. This campus is in an uproar because of your staff. If you look at the situation on the other side of the looking glass, then maybe you will find that the mayor is actually doing something good.

First housing candidate visits campus today

By ANDY PURCELL
Staff writer

Eastern's search to fill the vacant position of director of university housing and dining services will move into the interview stage today with the visit of Andrea Trinklein, who currently serves as director of residence life at Western Illinois University.

Trinklein is the first of four finalists scheduled to visit Eastern for interviews with various university groups during the next three weeks.

Interviews with Kevin Cannon, acting director of Eastern's dining services, will be held on Thursday and Friday. Mary Ann Ryan, director of university housing at Central Missouri State is scheduled to visit Eastern Nov. 2 and 3. David Stephen, associate director of resident life at Arizona State University will be on campus Nov. 4 and 5.

The interview process for the four candidates will include meetings with the search committee, Lou Hencken, vice president for student affairs, and various other groups.

Some of the other groups scheduled to meet with the applicants include:

- Building and dining service workers,
- The President's Council, Council of Deans, Council of Chairs and Council on Academic Affairs,
- Faculty and Staff senates
- Housing staff, residence hall counselors, resident assistants, members of the student government, Eastern students and members of the university and Charleston community.

The interview sessions scheduled for today will be held in the Martinsville Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union. Wednesdays sessions will be held in the 1895 Room of the Union.

Third student to face drug charges

By CHRIS SEPER
Managing editor

A third Eastern student will be charged today with felony drug possession in connection with an East Central Illinois Drug Task Force sting last month, a prosecutor with the Coles County State's Attorney said Monday.

Sophomore Craig Allen Daiker of 621 Polk Ave. will be charged with possession of 30 to 500 grams of marijuana, a Class 4 felony. If convicted, he could face one to three years in prison and one year of mandatory probation.

Prosecutor Dale Righter said a preliminary court date will be set after Daiker is arrested and the charges are filed.

Eastern students Michael Silhavy, a 22-year-old junior who is also Daiker's roommate, and Robert Jensen, a 22-year-old junior, were ordered to stand trial separately Oct. 5. on felony drug charges.

Jensen, a junior, is charged with two counts of delivering a total of 18 grams of cocaine, a Class 1 felony. He is also charged with possession of 660 grams of marijuana, a Class 3 felony.

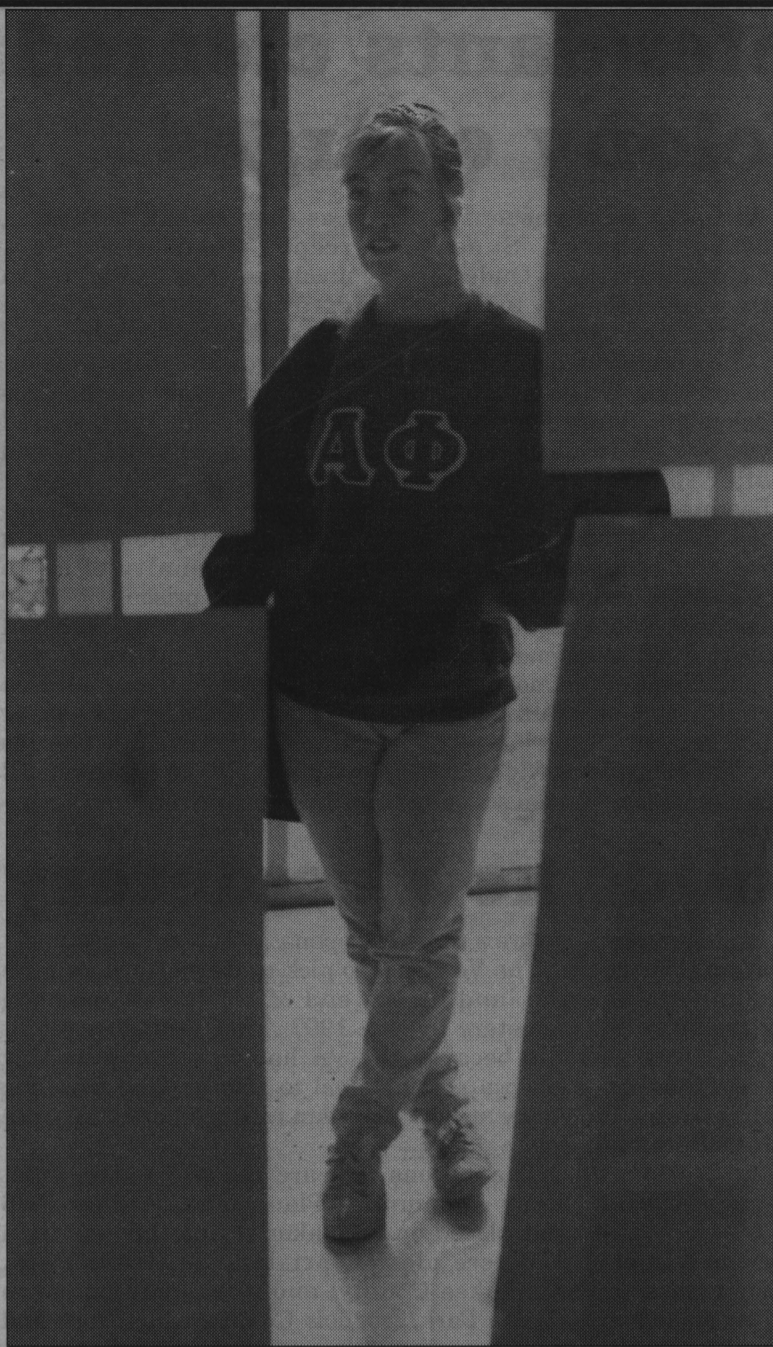

Silhavy, is charged with possession of 30 to 500 grams of cannabis, a Class 4 felony. The two were arrested Sept. 8.

According to testimony in Jensen's preliminary hearing, Silhavy and Daiker were holding Jensen's marijuana at their Polk Avenue residence. Jensen took an undercover agent to Silhavy's and Daiker's home during the sale, which led police to the arrests.

Trial dates for Jensen and Silhavy will be announced on Nov. 15.

Righter said Daiker was not charged with Silhavy and Jensen because of a paperwork lag at the task force.

It is too early to determine if Daiker would stand trial along with Silhavy, Righter said.

Deliberations on additional allocation requests from the University Board and Student Government will continue at the Apportionment Board meeting at 8 p.m. tonight in the Arcola-Tuscola Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

The UB has submitted a request of $18,860 in additional allocations. Of this amount, $12,490 is designated to fund the Mini-Concerts Committee, a UB committee formed this fall.

UB Chairman Kevin Lipke said the main goal of the committee is to provide weekend programming for students in the form of four to five concerts each semester.

The AB allocates student fee money to recognized student organizations.

Before voting on the UB's request, the AB will also hear a request for a line-item transfer from Student Government.

The Student Government hopes to transfer funds to add to its telecommunications fund and to an aluminum recycling plan. The senate approved a resolution last week that calls for the purchase of 40 aluminum-can recycling containers to be placed throughout campus. AB Chairman Blake Wood said the exact amount of the line transfer has not been submitted but will be available at tonight's meeting.

Last week, the AB unanimously approved a request from the UB Homecoming Committee for $350 in additional funds and for a line transfer of $150 to increase the committee's entertainment fund to $750.

The entertainment budget will pay for the band Shadoobee, which is scheduled to play at the Homecoming Tailgate Party this weekend.

Concert, dance tickets on sale

By SUSAN KIEL
Activities editor

Tickets go on sale today for the Black Student Union's Homecoming Dance and Rap Show at the BSU Office on the second floor of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Ticket prices are $6 if purchased today, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday. They are half price for BSU members and $7 at the door.

The dance, which will be held from 9 p.m. to 12:45 a.m. Saturday in the Union's Grand Ballroom has a theme this year of "Bring Back the Good Old Days."

"We will be playing some oldies, but goodies you know, going back to the '70s," said BSU member Sherese Gilmore, who is coordinating the event.

The first half of the evening will be the dance, and the crowning of the BSU's homecoming duke and duchess.

Gilmore said a photographer will be on hand during the dance to take pictures if requested.

The rap group "Figure of Speech" will perform at 11 p.m. following the opening act of "Crown."

Denny defendants cleared of most felony charges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two blacks were acquitted Monday of most of the felony charges in the beating of white trucker Reginald Denny and other motorists at the start of the 1992 riots, easing fears of renewed racial tensions.

The defendants were convicted of lesser counts.

The judge sent the multiracial jury back to deliberate the most serious count — attempted murder against defendant Damian "Football" Williams in the videotaped attack of Denny — and two lesser charges on which the panel deadlocked.

Hours later, the panel announced it had decided that Williams was innocent of a robbery charge. Superior Court Judge John Ouderkirk then asked the jury to deliberate the final two counts.

Accepting the defense argument that Williams and co-defendant Henry Watson were caught up in mob violence after the state Rodney King beating trial, the jurors acquitted them of most charges that required specific intent.

Defense psychologists testified that Williams, 20, and his 29-year-old co-defendant acted in the heat of the moment and couldn't have planned their actions.

Their heads newly shaven, Williams and Watson sat calmly as the verdicts were read, except when the clerk announced "Not Guilty" on an aggravated mayhem charge against Williams, which could have brought him life in prison. Williams clapped his hands over his eyes, reared back in his seat and hugged his attorney.

The jury convicted Williams on simple mayhem, with a maximum penalty of up to eight years in prison.

In the charges decided against him, Watson was acquitted of all but simple assault on Denny, a lesser related offense that carries only a year in county jail rather than prison.

Joliet eyed for new cemetery

WASHINGTON (AP) — A thousand-acre plot at the Army's mothballed Joliet arsenal is the ideal spot for a national cemetery in northern Illinois, the federal official overseeing the search for a new cemetery says.

"It's not as flat as most areas in northeastern Illinois are. It has a gentle rolling terrain. It has a stream and it has a hardwood stand," said Jerry Bowen, director of the National Cemetery System for the Veterans Affairs Department.

"This is something we like to see in a cemetery. It saves us a lot of design costs because ... we like to break up the sections," so mourners do not have to see only "a vast expanse of headstones," he said.

Since 1987, the VA has said the Chicago area desperately needs more burial space for veterans. Budget politics and environmental concerns typically mean a decade-plus process before a cemetery opens.

The VA hopes to pick a site by April, acquire the land by the end of 1994, and open the cemetery by late 1997. That timetable might slip because the VA had to regroup in May when a possible deal to acquire land from the Army at Fort Sheridan collapsed over the price tag.

The options now are the site at the Joliet Army Ammunition Plant, inactive since 1976 and placed on caretaker status this month; a 270-acre plot of farmland in Grant Park, Kankakee County; and a 200-acre parcel in Cissna Park, Iroquois County, where corn and soybeans grow.

The last two sites were considered with Fort Sheridan in the first round.

The VA offered nearly $7 million for 162 acres at the Army fort, shuttered under the government's base-closing process.

Haiti defies U.N. deadline

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Haiti's military defied an approaching midnight deadline to yield power Monday and belittled a U.N. arms and oil embargo.

Its right-wing supporters warned that any American invaders will go home "in bags." Rightists mixed threats against the outside world with gifts of chrysanthemums to foreign reporters, while Lt. Gen. Raoul Cedras, the army strongman, suggested new talks on his departure. But the United States said Cedras was only stalling.

An army broadcast urged Haitians not to worry about the U.N.-authorized embargo or the U.S. warships steaming offshore to enforce it, beginning at midnight. The measures are aimed at forcing the return of Jean-Bertrand Aristide, Haiti's first democratically elected president.

The capital was quiet, and some small shops opened despite calls from a variety of groups calling for a shutdown of business activity. Few cars lined up at gas stations ahead of the cutoff of oil imports, probably because Haiti's leaders had stockpiled fuel in recent months.

Stanley Schrager, a U.S.

Embassy spokesman, said Cedras must honor the U.N.-mediated pact he signed in July to return Aristide, who was ousted in a bloody coup two years ago. He was widely popular among Haiti's impoverished masses, but opposed by the nation's elite and other conservative factions.

Many Haitians have fled the capital, fearing violence by army-supported Aristide opponents or a possible intervention by U.S. forces.

Asked about that possibility, Schrager said: "I'm not saying that a military intervention is imminent, but clearly there is always that risk."

He said American officials were considering providing guards for Aristide-backed Prime Minister Robert Malval, whose justice minister was assassinated Thursday.

Army Lt. Col. Jean-Robert Gabriel urged Haitians to remain calm.

Speaking on Radio Tropic FM, he told Haitians not to flee the capital and said the army would maintain control.

An aide at army headquarters said Cedras was not available to comment on the U.S. Embassy's statements.

The Daily Eastern News recently ran a story about Eastern's status in "America's Best Colleges," published by U.S. News and World Report.

The Charleston Times-Courier story of the same information is reprinted below.

Magazine gives Eastern some high marks

CHARLESTON- Eastern Illinois University is among the top 66 Midwest regional colleges and universities listed in the seventh edition of "America's Best Colleges" published by U.S. News and World Report.

Of 131 Midwest regional colleges and universities placed in four quartiles, Eastern appears in quartile two (schools ranked 34th to 66th).

Eastern is among only five Illinois public universities listed in the Midwest region for institutions of its type. Of the five, none ranks above Eastern; one, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is in the same quartile; and three rank below Eastern.

Eastern President David Jorns said, "This report clearly shows Eastern as one of the finest comprehensive institutions in the nation. We plan to become even better."

The U.S. News rankings combine a school's academic reputation with data on its students, faculty, test scores, financial resources and retention and graduation rates.

Within its group, Eastern compares well on several factors. With 82 percent of freshmen returning as sophomores, EIU has the second highest retention rate of the colleges and universities in quartile two.

Eastern's graduation rate of 59 percent (within six years) ties it for top in the quartile.

The university's student-faculty ratio (16:1) places it above the median for this group.

A total of 1,371 accredited schools in the country were surveyed by U.S. News and were ranked in one of five categories: national universities; national liberal arts colleges; regional colleges and universities (subdivided by region: North, South, Midwest and West); regional liberal arts colleges (subdivided by region); and specialized institutions.

Eastern was grouped with Midwest regional colleges and universities-schools that generally award more than half their bachelor's degrees in two of more professional disciplines. Many also offer graduate degrees.

Tamms gets new security prison

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The town of Tamms in far Southern Illinois won the grand prize in a contest for jobs and money Monday when Gov. Jim Edgar chose it for a $60 million super-maximum security prison.

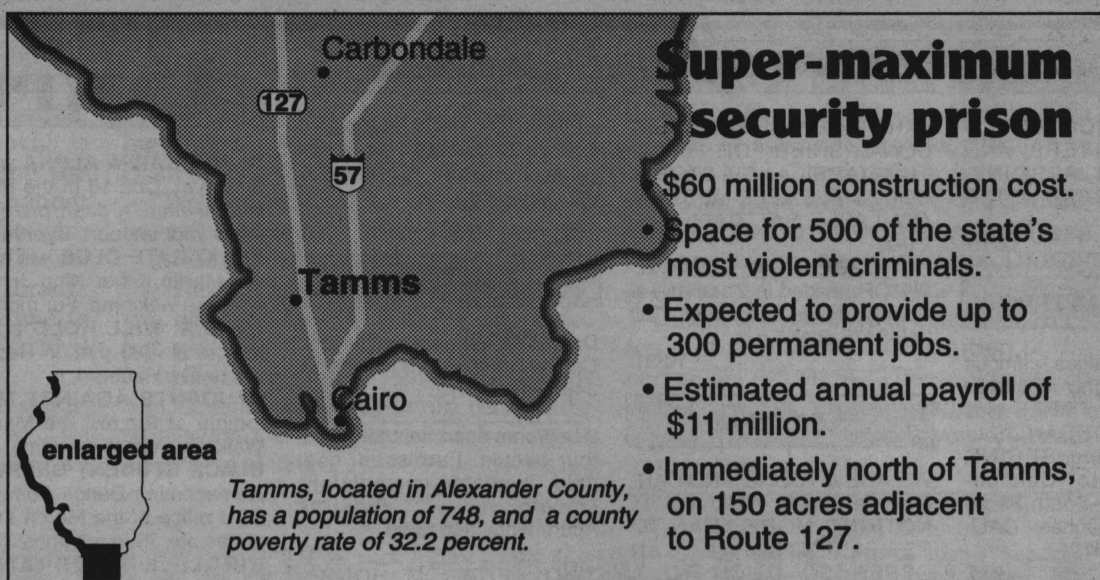

The prison will employ up to 250 people during its two-year construction. When completed, it is expected to employ 300 people and provide an $11 million annual payroll.

Edgar said he chose Tamms, a town of 750 that lies 17 miles north of Cairo, because Corrections Department Director Howard Peters III recommended the site.

Tamms offered utility costs $800,000 to $1.4 million below four other finalists' bids, a good location for construction, a racially diverse population and a strong need for economic development, Peters said.

Other finalists could not match Tamms' economic need. Almost one-third of the population lives in poverty, and double-digit unemployment plagues the area. Summer flooding just added to the problems.

"We're elated, very pleased and very happy the process is finally over," said

CHRIS SOPRYCH / Graphic Design Coordinator

Jerry Reppert, head of the five-county Southernmost Illinois Prison Committee. "We just need a little bit of help to get us back on line again. We've been economically devastated in this area for a number of years."

Peters recommended the site after reviewing written applications, meeting with officials from the communities that sought the prison and holding hearings in the five towns chosen as finalists.

Originally, 30 communities sought the 500-bed prison and the list was narrowed by the Corrections Department. The finalists were Tamms, Carlinville in Macoupin County, Murphysboro in Jackson County, Pittsfield in Pike County and Vandalia in Fayette County.

Edgar said the Corrections Department's needs and economic development were the only considerations in deciding the prison site.

"This site comes out first in both those areas," he said at a Capitol news conference. "There was no politics."

Peters said the area has more minority residents than the other communities.

That could curtail resistance to the prison and provide a diverse prison workforce.

The super-maximum security prison will house the state's most disruptive, dangerous prisoners. Officials hope that by segregating these inmates, others will benefit more from job-training and education offered in the prisons.

Critics say the prison will be inhumane, keeping prisoners in isolation most of the day and doing little to reform them.

Corrections officials hope construction can begin late next spring.

Russia to continue nuclear dumping

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian navy and environmental officials said Monday they will continue dumping low-level radioactive waste at sea, despite protests from Japan and Moscow's repeated promises to halt the practice.

Japan disputed assertions by Russia that it gave advance warning of the dumping and demanded it be halted immediately.

A Russian ship dumped more than 31,000 cubic feet of liquid waste into the Sea of Japan over the weekend, just days after President Boris Yeltsin agreed with Prime Minister Morihiro Hosokawa of Japan that such dumping was harmful.

The dispute threatened to undo much of the goodwill generated by Yeltsin's visit to Tokyo, although environmental officials said the Russian president was not informed of the dumping in advance.

Capt. Yevgeny Romanov of the Russian navy said at a news conference Monday that 28,000 more cubic feet of low-level waste would be dumped at sea by Nov. 15.

With the conference meet just 11 days off, Lewis can hardly wait.

"I'm really pumped," he said. "I've been waiting for this for a month."

The meet will be run on Valpo's course, where Lewis broke 26 minutes for the first time. Eastern, having already run there will have an edge over Milwaukee, whose "A" team passed up the Cougar Invite to the run the Midwest Championships in Kenosha, Wis.

Lewis said the course was for the most part flat and fast, which he feels will help the team to victory.

"As a team we tend to run much better on a fast course," Lewis said. "I think the winner will go sub-25. Hopefully it will be one of us."

"We've all had good races so far, but haven't put them all together at once. If we do, I think we're going to surprise Milwaukee, and win it."

Freshmen

only two upperclassmen on the field, with the remaining nine Panthers all being freshmen.

In Sunday's game, a 2-0 loss to Northern Illinois, Eastern did not perform as sharply, according to Mosnia.

"We were a little flat," Mosnia said. "It kind of reminded me of the Cincinnati game." The Bearcats defeated Eastern 6-3 on Oct. 2.

The Panthers did manage to put the ball in the net but the play was ruled off-side by the officials.

"I have looked at the video and it doesn't look to be offside," Mosnia said. "But it may not be a very good angle."

According to Mosnia, the Panthers had the opportunities to score but the team did not convert its chances into goals.

"They (NIU) scored on two of our breakdowns," said Mosnia. "The first goal was headed in off a crossing pass and we were watching."

Jacob Gress, a junior goalkeeper from O'Fallon, replaced Brian Ritschel after Ritschel was injured early in the game.

According to Mosnia, the extent of Ritschel's injury is not yet known, but he says the team feels good about Gress' performance.

"Jacob (Gress) has not had much experience this year but he played well. The goals weren't his fault," Mosnia said. "We will just have to play a little harder with an unfamiliar goalkeeper."

The weekend split brings the Panthers record to 8-6 overall and 2-3 in Mid-Continent Conference action. Eastern will host Mid-Con opponent Valparaiso on Friday.

competition down there," Craft said. "I was a little bit disappointed with the times, but I thought the young women competed well and we ran against people well. There was some pretty good teams there."

Brooke Roberts finished in sixth place (19:30) and Irma Perez was a second behind her in seventh (19:31). Amy Bersig was right behind them in ninth (19:40). These three Lady Panthers was Eastern's only semblance of a pack, which makes Craft a bit nervous with the Mid-Continent Conference meet slated next.

"I thought that (a pack) would be down to around a minute. That concerns me 17th (20:39), followed by Beth Rudnicke in 22nd (21:05). Kim Becker took 38th (22:17) and Shelly Baron finished in 43rd (22:49).

Now that the regular season is over, the Lady Panthers can focus on the Mid-Con meet. Craft said that Western Illinois University, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and Youngstown State are Eastern's main competition. Finishing in the top three is the team's goal, but surely the Lady Panthers aren't eyeing the second-biggest trophy.

Lady Panthers dominate Illinois Wesleyan tennis

By DAN FIELDS
Staff writer

The women's tennis team secured a convincing win at Illinois Wesleyan this weekend, losing only one match in an 8-1 win over the Lady Titans.

Unfortunately, that win didn't seem to convince coach John Ross that his team was playing up to their potential. "We didn't play as serious as we should have," said Ross. "I feel we've had a let-down since the Mid-Continent (Tournament)."

In singles action, Theresa Ramage continued her success in the No. 1 field, by scoring a 7-5, 3-6, 7-5 win over Amy O'Conner. No. 2 Samantha Wulfers won handily over Laura Brockob 6-4, 6-1. In No. 3 action, Terra Erickson slipped by Lori Jacobs in a hard fought match by a 4-6, 6-4, 7-6 score.

Geeta Dua won her match over Alicia Swanson in No. 4 singles 6-2, 6-0, while Stephanie Sullivan won the No. 5 match over Tracy Laman 6-3, 6-4.

Replacing Kristy Sims in the No. 6 slot was Melissa Welch, who was victorious over Michelle Kominick 6-0, 6-1.

Sims is currently on the injured list with a torn Achilles tendon. Ross explained that Sims' status is currently "day to day."

The only loss of the day occurred in the No. 2 doubles flight, as Welch and Dua dropped a 4-6, 3-6 decision to Jacobs and Swanson. Ramage and Wulfers captured the No. 1 flight with a 7-6, 6-1 triumph over O'Conner and Brackob, while Sullivan and Erickson also captured their match by a 6-2, 6-2 score.

The Lady Panthers conclude their fall season this weekend by traveling to Louisville, Ky. to participate in the Louisville Invitation-al.

Men's tennis team gains weekend split at home

By PAUL DEMPSEY
Staff writer

Eastern's men's tennis team came away with a split of its final two home matches of the season this past weekend. And although a split is uplifting for the team, they know that both matches could have been won.

Eastern breezed by Northeastern Illinois University on Saturday morning, but later fell victim to Bradley University in a close match.

In their opening match, the Panthers won all three doubles matches over Northeastern and then cruised through most of the singles matches.

George Macy at No. 1 singles and Pat Mellin at No. 2 singles were the only players to lose in singles competition.

The bottom four players for Eastern all won their singles matches. Brad Rozboril at No. 3 singles (6-0, 6-0), Brandon Kuhl at No. 4 singles (6-0, 6-1), Ryan Ivers at No. 5 singles (6-2, 6-1) and Jeff Lindstrom at No. 6 singles (6-0, 6-0) all easily moved through their matches, losing a total of only four games.

On Saturday afternoon Eastern went up against a Bradley team which they had not beaten in over five years, but the Panthers were close to winning in all of those previous matches.

Bradley did it again to Eastern, but this one was hard to swallow, because the Panthers had led most of the way but could not provide the knockout punch when given the opportunity.

"We haven't beaten Bradley in at least five years," said head coach John Bennett. "It was in the bag, but somebody forgot to close the bag."

Bennett made some changes with his doubles teams before the Bradley match after there was some dissent among some of the pairings. It proved to be a good decision.

Eastern started out quick, winning two of the three doubles matches. Using the new format, the Panthers needed only to win three of the six singles matches to earn the victory. Unfortunately, they couldn't capitalize on the opportunity.

Brad Rozboril won at No. 3 singles and it looked as if Eastern would finally get a victory over Bradley. But Brandon Kuhl at No. 4 singles proved to be the only other victory for the Panthers.

Eastern suffered tough losses at No. 2 and No. 6 singles. Pat Mellin won the first set at No. 2 but dropped his last two. Jeff Lindstrom, at No. 6, dropped a heartbreaker with a 12-10 tie-break loss in his final set.

"Some of our losses were unexpected, but there's nothing you can do. Those things happen" said Bennett. "One or two of our losses were because of our court conduct and not being in the right frame of mind to give it 100 percent."

Eastern travels to take on Wright State today to end its fall season.

Lewis' consistency pacing Panthers

By BRIAN HARRIS
Staff writer

Oftentimes in sport, consistency from an athlete is valued more from their coach than an occasional stellar performance.

Head cross country coach John McInerney values consistency, especially with a conference championship right around the corner. He knows anything can happen in a race, and that any of his runners could have a bad race on any given day.

But some of his runners give him less worries than others.

Senior Dave Lewis is one of them.

Next to Nate Shaffer, the Panthers' top runner all season, Lewis runs a close second for consistency. He's been among the scoring top five in every race so far, and has recently made a strong push forward, that even gave Shaffer's top dog status a scare.

At the Central Collegiate Championships this weekend in Kalamazoo, Mich., Lewis placed 11th out of 110 runners. Even more significant for Lewis was that he finished just one place, and less than one second behind Shaffer, in the fastest time of his life for 8,000 meters (4.97 miles).

Normally a good 30 seconds or more ahead of his teammates at the line, Shaffer had to muster his best sprint to overcome Lewis Saturday, who at one point led Shaffer by 25 yards.

Lewis' time of 25:33.8 took over 14 seconds off his previous best that he ran at Valparaiso's Cougar Invitational a month ago. He was the only one of the nine Panthers entered who scored a personal best.

"It's weird, I just had a feeling I was going to run good," said Lewis. "When I was with Nate at three miles it really motivated me, and gave me a big burst of adrenaline. I was hoping for a personal record before conference to lift me up."

For Lewis, as well as the rest of the team, the Mid-Continent Championships on Oct. 30 has been the main focus of the season. The team so far has beaten every school in the conference except Wisconsin-Milwaukee, to which Eastern lost by a narrow three points five weeks ago in the first meet of the season.

However, Lewis already knows the feeling of winning a Mid-Con title. He transferred to Eastern last fall from rival Western Illinois, who took the team title in 1991.

"Winning the conference while I was at Western was the best feeling I've ever had," Lewis said. "I want that feeling again. I think this team can do it. Going in we'll be ranked number two. But I think that's good in a way. It'll give us something to shoot for."

"Lewis is the kind of runner coaches want," said McInerney. "We like consistency. Guys who are up and down all of the time are basket cases. But when you have someone who runs consistent, you're always confident when he steps to the line."

Last year as a newcomer Lewis wasn't the only one getting used to a new team. Jeff Trask had just transferred in from Danville junior college, and the team was loaded with rookies fresh out of high school.

"It was strange coming in and not knowing anyone," Lewis said. "We all took a while getting used to each other. Last year it seemed like we were all competing against one another. Now, it doesn't matter what man you are, as long as we get the job

Panther trio gets Gateway honors

Despite losing to No. 9 Northern Iowa last Saturday, Eastern still made its mark on the Gateway Conference. Three Eastern football players gained "Player of the Week" honors in the Gateway for their performances.

Sophomore running back Willie High was named the Gateway's "Offensive Player of the Week" for his record-breaking performance against the purple Panthers of Northern Iowa. High, a native of Mattoon, carried the ball a school- and Gateway-record 48 times and registered 224 yards on the ground.

It was the fifth best single game effort in Eastern history and No. 9 on the Gateway single game list. High also scored three touchdowns. It was the highest output in the conference this season and moved High into first place in league rushing. He is also No. 10 in the nation at Division I-AA with an average of 108.3 yards per game.

The person who helped High gain some of those yards also gained some recognition. Junior center Duane Conway was named "Co-Offensive Lineman of the Week."

Conway, a product of Downers Grove North High School in Bolingbrook, was in 81 of 86 offensive snaps, graded 87 percent, had seven 'crush' blocks where he put the defender on his back and four 'extra effort' blocks where he completed his initial assignment and then executed another downfield block.

Sophomore kicker Steve Largent was named as the "Gateway Special Teams Player of the Week," after setting a school record with his 43rd consecutive successful Point After Touchdown attempts. Largent, who is out of Pike High School in Indianapolis, Ind., also made field goals of 29 and 42 yards. He has made six of eight field goals this year.

Freshmen key Panthers to 10-1 soccer victory

By JASON STONE
Staff writer

Eastern's freshmen led the way Friday by scoring eight of the team's 10 goals as the Panthers cruised by the University of Illinois-Chicago 10-1. The score was the Panthers' largest offensive output since a 15-0 thrashing of DePaul in 1987.

"The freshman played a hell of a game," said Panther coach Cizo Mosnia. "We made some switches and they played with a lot of heart."

Freshman forward Henry Ospina led the way

by netting three goals for his first hat trick of the season.

Greg McDonald, a freshman fullback from Frankfort, recorded four points on two goals and two assists while Mark Valintis contributed a goal and three assists.

"The freshmen really wanted to play hard," Mosnia said. "I think that's the difference between freshmen and upperclassmen. Sometimes upperclassmen relax where the freshmen always want to prove themselves."

Eastern played most of the second half with

Women's cross county team second yet again

By JOHN COX
Staff writer

Being second place often enough will be remembered.

Remember the Buffalo Bills who came in second place three times? A lot of speculation was involved on whether or not head coach Marv Levy would have a job after each Super Bowl loss.

Taking all of this into consideration about being second, why is Lady Panther head coach John Craft happy to have finished second in the last four meets they've run in, including last Saturday's second place in the Austin Peay Invitational?

"It's like being in the World Series and getting second place. You think of all of the other teams that are not second. Kind of like the Bills in the Super Bowl," Craft said. "I don't mind being second. Southern Illinois University was clearly a better team than what we were. I like to be realistic. Realistically, we finished where we should have finished, which was second place."

Southern Illinois University took the championship with a mere 23 points. Eastern claimed second with 53, 16 points ahead of third-place Western Kentucky University. Host Austin Peay finished in fourth with 137.

"There was some tough
