Committee to examine Union FY79 budget

by Marcel Bright and Lori Miller

The fiscal 1979 budget for the University Union will be discussed at 7 p.m. in the Union addition Casey Room by the Bond Revenue Committee, Housing Director Louis Hencken said Monday.

Hencken said the committee may discuss raising students' bond revenue fees for the Union, but he said such a proposal would come after the budget is examined.

"We will take the budget item by item" to determine if money can be saved anywhere, Hencken said.

Hencken said only Bill Clark, area head, University Union and Student Activities, knows if a fee increase will be requested since he will present the budget to the committee.

Clark was unavailable for comment Monday.

Hencken said that although the committee considered a housing increase last week, the hike may have been avoided after several housing budget line items were reduced.

"This could happen with the union budget, but I really don't know," he said.

Student Financial Vice President

Tom Dersch said Monday the meeting would be "real crucial" since the committee could recommend a fee increase.

Dersch said he plans to present proposals concerning the Union operation and possible means to avoid an increase.

"I have been investigating some areas of the Union, and I have some questions as to the surplus, the food services and the way in which the Union is paid off," he said.

"I'd like to see us do anything to avoid a hike," he added.

Dersch, who is not an official member of the Bond Revenue Committee, said he anticipates rate increases for tuition and possibly housing.

"Before we ask students to open their pocketbooks more, there ought to be a need," he said.

Dersch also said students should attend the committee meeting because of the possibility of rate increases.

"I've talked to a few students and told them this might happen," Dersch said. "They all said they didn't want the increases."

Union has operated at deficit since 1968

[Editor's note: The following is the first in a two-part series examining the Union operating deficit.]

by Starla Stensaas

The University Union has operated at a deficit for more than 10 years, incurring a $90,444 deficit in 1977 alone, university officials said recently.

Because of continued losses in the food service areas and costs of upkeep in meeting rooms and activity centers, the Union has "always" run at an operating deficit, Steve Grove, assistant director of the union, said.

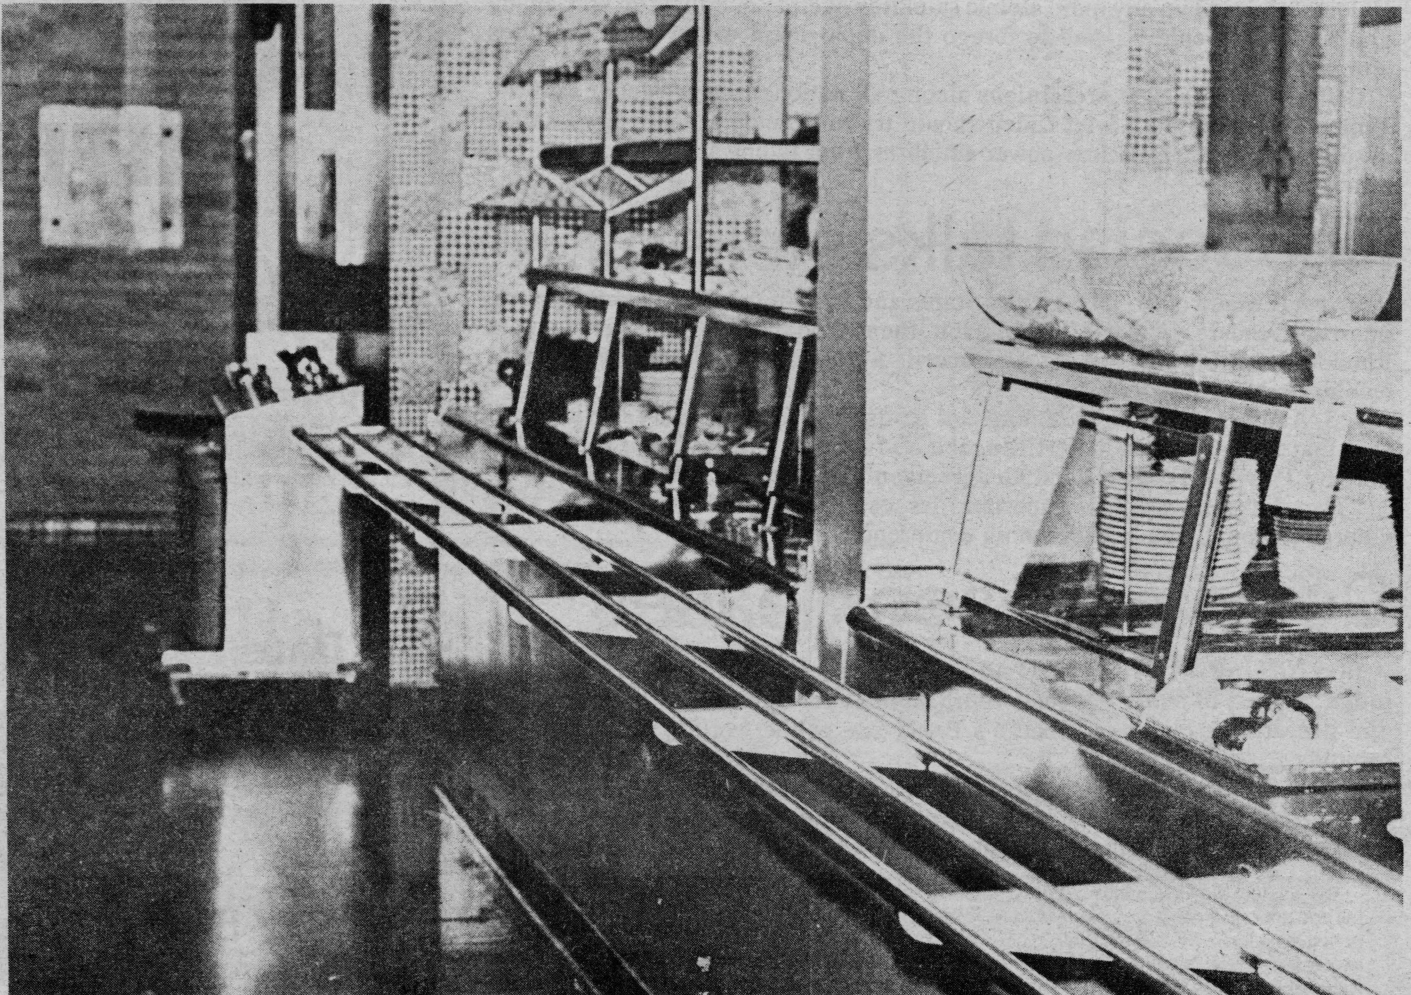

The amount of the deficit has fluctuated from year to year, ranging from a $6,000 deficit in 1971 to a $256,000 loss in 1976-77, depending on enrollments and operating costs.

This operating deficit has been paid out of a surplus of bond revenue funds, which were collected for the actual construction of the Union and its additions.

The surplus was caused by more students than projected paying on the bonds, resulting in higher than expected revenues.

Revenue from bonds sold to individuals is used to construct buildings on campus, with the stipulation that a certain amount of the principle and interest will be paid yearly through student activity fees.

Students now pay $33.50 per semester into the bond revenue fee, in (See FOOD, page 8)

Thompson's budget short

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) - Gov. James R. Thompson's chief education aide said Monday that Thompson will propose an increase in state spending for local schools next year nearly $70 million short of the $186 million spending hike sought by education officials.

The aide, Robert Corcoran, said the governor's proposed spending floor will be enough to pay for the state's share of all current education programs required by the state.

Educators complain that an increase of less than $120 million won't be enough to keep pace with inflation, but Thompson says it will be enough to meet all the state's obligations to local schools.

Mideast talks to resume

JERUSALEM (AP) - Israel-Egyptian military talks aimed at working out a formula for an Israeli pullout from the Sinai Peninsula will resume Tuesday night in Cairo, Israel announced today.

A government statement said Defense Minister Ezer Weizman and his negotiating team will leave for Cairo Tuesday morning, where Weizman will face his Egyptian counterpart, Mohamed Abdel Ghany Gamassy.

There was still no indication when the foreign ministers would resume negotiations. "That is up to Egypt," Israeli cabinet secretary Aryeh Naor said Sunday. "It wasn't Israel that broke off the talks."

Senate gets canal treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Foreign Relations committee sent the controversial Panama Canal treaty to the Senate floor Monday after a last-minute revision aimed at avoiding the need for Panamanian voters to approve the pact a second time.

Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., said the change was "a face-saving device for the Panamanian negotiators." But, he added, "I'm perfectly willing to save as many faces as necessary."

On twin votes of 14 to 1, the panel recommended Senate ratification of the two-part treaty with changes that would clarify U.S. rights to use and defend the canal after it is turned over to Panama in the year 2000.

Atomic probe ban urged

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter promised Monday to ask the Soviet Union not to send up any more atomic satellites like the one that fell on Canada and said "we would be glad to forego the deployment of any such satellites altogether."

Calling for more rigid precautions among all nations, the president said the United States and the Soviet Union should try to develop a "sure-fire" safety system to keep such nuclear-power satellites from falling to earth or into the atmosphere.

Rhodesian talks stalled

RABAT, Malta (AP) - The United States and Britain failed to persuade black guerrilla leaders Monday to abandon their bloody five-year war against Rhodesia's white government and accept a plan for a peaceful settlement leading to black majority rule.

U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young and British Foreign Secretary David Owen said that the talks with Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo-co-leaders of the militant Patriotic Front-yielded no agreements on major issues.

"The divisions are on important issues," Young told reporters after emerging from a two-hour morning conference.

Companies seek leases

BOSTON (AP) - Lawyers for 11 oil companies seeking to reverse a lower court judge, argued in federal appeals court Monday for approval of the sale of oil and gas drilling leases on George's Bank, one of the world's richest fishing grounds.

The oil company lawyers argued that U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity had infringed on the authority of Congress over the weekend when he ordered postponement of Tuesday's scheduled auction of the drilling rights.

Farmers unite again to protest farm prices

by Ed Cobau

Another farm protest rally to be held Feb. 3-7 in Chicago "hopes to draw about 5,000 farmers and tractors," a local organizer said recently.

Rural Kansas farmer Richard Cottle, who participated in a national march on Washington two weeks ago to protest farm prices, said Sunday farmers from across the state will protest at a rally to be held at the Chicago Board of Trade building.

Cottle said he hopes more than the 5,000 will attend and that the weather will not hinder the protesters' efforts.

"I hope something comes of this when we go to Chicago. The weather may hold things back a little, though," he said.

Cottle said the protest will be held on Friday "because most of the export market deals are made and sold on Saturday and Sunday and the rally will then have the most impact.

Cottle said the farmers plan to "buy contracts" of corn and other commodities.

The "biggest accomplishment" gained from the protest held Jan. 18 in Washington was "getting 40,000 farmers together" and showing that farmers "are serious about the issue" Cottle said.

He said that most of the congressmen farmers talked to, which included U.S. Rep. George Shipley (D-Olney) and U.S. Senator Charles Percy, "were sympathetic to our cause."

Cottle said a major misconception of many people is that they do not recognize the farmer's status in the economic process.

"They seem to forget that we are a consumer also," Cottle commented.

The farmers are seeking 100 per cent parity, which is the cost of production of agricultural products plus four per cent.

"Actually, it (the Chicago protest) would take 30 days if we can get a concerted effort," Cottle commented.

AFT president elected

Floyd Merritt of the Speech-Communications Department was elected Eastern's American Federation of Teachers (AFT) chapter president Monday by a 111-29 vote, Herb Morice, AFT election chairperson, said.

The election was held to replace former AFT president Richard Dulka, who resigned Jan. 13 to accept the position as legislative director for Illinois AFT local 3500.

Frank Abell, of the Booth Library, and chapter treasurer, received the next highest vote total, and was elected Eastern AFT vice president, Morice said.

The two will assume office immediately, Merritt said Monday.

He added he "sees no kinds of problems in turning over" the positions of vice president and president because Abell has worked previously with Merritt on Eastern's AFT negotiating team.

Because Dulka's and Merritt's styles are different, some "differences in emphasis" may occur, Merritt said.

However, he said he does not foresee any "radical changes" in the AFT leadership at Eastern.

Ice melting supplies short

by Dave Pugh

Low supplies of ice melting chemicals have caused the slow removal of ice on walkways and stairs, Evertt Alms, Physical Plant Superintendent, said Monday.

Alms said the removal of ice "is going to take a while," because the university is "just about out of ice remover."

"We have some more ordered but it's going to take a couple of weeks," he said.

Alms said that removing snow on building steps was a responsibility of the janitorial staffs, but that with the blizzard, the grounds crew is making removal a "combined effort."

Alms said that priorities have been set for snow removal but that it is difficult to keep up with snowfall in blizzard situations.

He added the snow is "heavy and packed down hard," making removal harder.

"Have you walked on it? You don't sink in. It's packed down hard," Alms said.

The hard and heavy snow has led to equipment failures, Alms said.

"Four out of our six tractors are broken down, and we're getting them fixed little by little," he said.

The tractors were "breaking frames, bolts and attaching members... trying to move this heavy snow," Alms added.

Alms said the snow removal will depend on the co-operation of students, faculty and "mother nature".

CAA members should keep proposal in mind

The recent decision by Council on Academic Affairs (CAA) members to withdraw the course repeat proposal from council consideration should not be the move which eliminates the proposal completely.

The proposal would provide that students who receive a grade of C, D or F could repeat the course once, and receive the repeated course grade as the recorded credit.

Currently, only students who receive grades of D or F may repeat a course, with both grades appearing on the student's transcript.

The proposal was withdrawn due to negative reactions from faculty, who indicated the change would be misleading to employers looking at a transcript, and possibly detrimental to students who failed the course the second time, since they would have no option to repeat the course.

These are valid concerns, but perhaps the way to answer or solve them would be to bring them directly to the attention of the CAA, where both students and faculty and administration are available to offer suggestions for change.

The idea behind the proposal has merit, as it would give another chance to those students who feel they need more time to comprehend material or who need the credit in their majors.

If there are problems in the proposal, we suggest further work to compromise so that faculty worries can be alleviated while student needs are met.

Possible compromises appear to be listing both grades on the transcript, restricting the new option only to those who fail the course the first time or allowing the student to repeat the course on a pass-fail basis.

These are only three suggestions which could be considered by the council or further studied by proposal sponsors Julie Sullivan, student member, and Herb Lasky, of the History Department.

Sullivan indicated last week that she expects the proposal to be brought up again before the council.

We hope the CAA then is in the frame of mind to seriously consider the idea, perhaps compromise on it and, at least, bring it before the full council for a vote.

Variety '78 shows need for polish, improvement

Despite months of preparation, the joint Phi Mu Alpha-Sigma Alpha Iota production of Variety '78, showed a definite need for improvement.

Lacking a distinct amount of polish in almost all the acts, the members of the two professional fraternities, entertained a rather rude audience that half filled the auditorium at the Saturday night opening performance.

The opening Broadway melody of "Put on a Happy Face" and "Hey, Look Me Over" featured piped-in music and unsure steps performed by a grim-faced eight-member dance team.

Variety '78 perked up a bit with senior Rich Benzik's portrayal of a fast-talking professor delivering a nonsense lecture on word association.

One of the comedy highlights of Variety '78 was the commercial break for Buffalo Dung Nasal Spray. The commercial featured cold-sufferer senior Mike Henry and comforting wife, senior Dawn Henry, discussing the multi-purpose product which is effective in clearing stuffy noses and fertilizing plants.

Senior Cindy Haselhorst's rendition of Debbie Boone's hit "You Light Up my Life," although somewhat breathy, was still an impressive note of the show.

The most outstanding act of Variety '78 was junior Cindy Bridges' slide show set to music. "Reflections" featured a three screen presentation of outdoor scenes assisted by senior flutist Colleen Layden and junior pianist Brenda Cook.

Bridges' slide show was breath-taking to say the least and received an impressive audience reaction.

Pam Olson

Following the intermission, a six-member Dixieland Jazz band took the stage to perform three loud, but enjoyable tunes. However, the band would have been much better off if they would have omitted the pseudo-stripper from the act.

The music fraternities' "Weekend Out-of-Date," which was a take-off on 'Saturday Night's' "Weekend Update", was amusing but lacked originality. Senior Brenda Fieldman's portrayal of Emily Latella, the hard-of-hearing editorialist, made the audience roar.

Once again, piped-in music and unpolished dance steps by the same eight-member team lessened the impact of the 'Salute to Rodgers and Hammerstein'. The salute included "Oklahoma," "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," "My Favorite Things," "Climb Every Mountain," and "You'll Never Walk Alone." The one highlight of the salute was Monica McRobert's performance of "Getting to Know You."

Barry Manilow's song "This One's For You" was the show's theme and was sung by junior David Stotlar. With a little more volume and a little more poise, Stotlar's rendition could steal the show.

All in all, it would seem the fraternities tried to do too much considering the size of their respective organizations. But with some smiles and intensive rehearsals, the show could be quite entertaining and something Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota would be proud to put their letters on.

Lincoln quotes

Editor,

Being a 1974 graduate of Eastern, in the speech communications department, I was excited to find that one of my former instructors has recently published a book entitled, "Quotations of Abraham Lincoln."

After spending a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon reading this publication I am happy to report that the excellence of the book is matched only by Dr. McGinnis' classroom abilities.

Congratulations are due to Dr. McGinnis for his efforts and to the E.I.U. department of speech communications for having the foresight to hire a man of his caliber.

Madison will change to one-way street

by John Plevka

If weather conditions permit, one-way street signs on a one and one half block stretch of Madison Avenue will be erected before the end of February, a city official said Monday.

The Charleston city council last week unanimously voted to make the street one-way eastbound from Division Street to the "five points" intersection for safety reasons.

City Planner Larry Stoever said Monday the street will remain two-way until the signs are posted.

"We'll just have to wait until the weather conditions get better and for additional manpower to become available before we can get the signs up," Stoever said.

The council designated, Madison one-way because of the "dangerous traffic configuration at the five point," Stoever explained.

The "five point" section is the intersection of madison, State and Third Streets in the northwest sector of Charleston, and has been the scene of numerous accidents, Stoever added.

"There have been a number of accidents at the five points involving both property and personal injuries, and they seem to be picking up some," Stoever explained.

Stoever recommended to the council that the change be made for safety reasons.

Stoever said by converting the short hoped accidents will be curbed by ending the cross traffic through State Street. Currently, cross traffic in that area is not required to stop, Stoever said.

Stoever noted that many of the accidents involved out-of-town drivers not familiar with the intersection, but he added that local motorists have not been immune from mishaps there.

Stoever attributed the apparent increase in accidents there to an increase in traffic, which "is related to the community and the university both growing."

In authorizing the one-way stretch, the council also tabled a request from several neighborhood residents to allow parking on the south side of the street.

Parking is currently permitted on the north side, but because of the Lincoln Elementary School, located at Madison and Division Street, additional parking is needed residents say.

Committee, board posts available to students

by Greg Pate
Eastern students who want to get involved in campus decision making may do so by applying for available openings in 16 student government committees and activity boards.

All seven student-faculty boards and eight Student Senate committees currently have openings for students, Tom Holden, student body president, said recently.

Students interested in joining any of these committees should contact the Speaker of the Senate, Murphy Hart, or the chairperson of the committee which the student wants to join.

The committees have no limit on how many students can join, interest is the only requirement, Hart said.

Students interested in joining one of these committees or boards should contact either Holden or Hart at the Student Government Office at 581-5522, Holden said.

The student-faculty boards are: the Intercollegiate Athletic Board (IAB), the Publications Board, the Sports and Recreation Board, the Communications-Media Board, the Performing and Visual Arts Board, the Apportionment Board (AB), the Health Service Board and the Model United Nations (U.N.)-Debate Board.

The IAB, which has one opening, governs Eastern's participation in intercollegiate sports in accordance with NCAA rules and regulations, Holden said.

The board consists of five faculty and four student members.

The Publications Board governs literary magazine The Vehicle and the Warbler, and has three openings.

The board consists of three faculty and four student members.

The Sports and Recreation Board, which has one opening, governs men's and women's intramurals and those recreation activities which receive student activity money.

The Communications and Media Board, which serves as the governing and budgetary body of the Eastern News and WELH radio, has two openings.

The Performing and Visual Arts Board now has four openings. The board governs and coordinates activity of general music, theatre, and art that receive student fee money.

The Model U.N.-Debate Board, which has four openings, serves as the governing and budgetary body for the debate team and the Model United Nations.

There are three faculty and four student members on the board.

Senate Speaker Murphy Hart said recently all eight senate committees have openings. The committees are: Academic Affairs, Governance, Appropriations, Elections, Campus Relations, Housing, Political Studies and Public Relations.

The Academic Affairs Committee this semester will approve new class proposals, review teacher evaluations, and work on the summer school curriculum, Hart said. The Appropriations Committee reviews budget proposals by the Apportionment Board.

The Campus Relations Committee handles student complaints and athletic funds.

The Election Committee will oversee the student government elections which will be held this spring.

The committee will also handle a special election to approve a proposed Constitutional amendment introduced last week if it is passed by the senate, Hart said.

The amendment provides a procedure to fill vacant senate seats.

The Housing Committee deals with Tenant-Landlord disputes and handles student problems from both on and off campus.

The Governance Committee is currently reviewing all student organization constitutions looking for provisions that need changing.

Suit against Nazi march in Skokie dismissed

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - The Illinois supreme court Monday dismissed a suit filed by World War II concentration camp survivors that sought to bar Nazis from marching in Skokie, a predominately Jewish Chicago suburb.

The suit, filed by the survivors of the holocaust, argued that psychological and emotional scars caused by imprisonment in Nazi death camps would impell survivors to attend and attempt to halt the Nazi march, possibly by violent means.

The action today was the second major victory for the National Socialist Party of America in four days.

The state Supreme court ruled Friday that the Nazis have a right to parade and display swastikas in Skokie.

Friday's ruling involved a suit filed by Skokie village officials that claimed the march would trigger violence.

The court ruled that Skokie residents were not impelled to attend the Nazi rally, saying "One man's vulgarity is another man's lyric."

"This Monday's ruling is totally unprecedented," said Jerome Torshen, attorney for the survivors.

"The supreme court ordered dismissal without giving the plaintiffs a hearing, without reading the motions without considering the merits, Torshen said.

He added, "The court has denied the litigants the right to be heard."

"All the pieces are coming together now," said David Hamlin, executive director of the Illinois American Civil Liberties Union, which is defending the Nazis.

WIU administrators visit campus

by Craig Stockel

The coordinator of contract food services and the director of housing of Western Illinois University visited Eastern's campus Monday to collect ideas from Eastern's facilities, Housing Director Lou Hencken said Monday.

Jim Gardner, coordinator of contact food services, and Dale Meador, director of residential facilities, visited Pemberton food service, dormitory rooms in Lincoln Hall and Stevenson Tower, and the new social recreation areas in Carman and Thomas Halls, Hencken said.

"I was only on campus a couple of times previously. I was very much impressed with the changes in the halls, especially the remodeling of Carman," Meador said.

The sanitation in the food services was "above average" from that of other schools, Gardner said.

Gardner added that he approved of the idea of keeping student IDs while residents are in the cafeterias.

"At Western, IDs are handed back after the number has been checked. We don't have a problem with utensil theft because an immediate $15 fine is imposed on anyone who is caught," Gardner said.

Hencken also gave Meador and Gardner a tour of the Housing Office operations, including the computer billing system.

"I think they may try the same type of computer system for billing as we have here," Hencken said.

It is a "common thing" for university housing directors to visit other schools for improvements for their own institutions, Hencken said.

"I just came back from Purdue from a meeting of the Great Lakes States Housing Association," Hencken said.

"The association, which includes Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and a province in Ontario, provides an outlet for discussion among housing directors. It is a place for idea exchanges between schools," he added.

New poetry—graphic arts form on display

by John Cook

A collection of French poetry combined with graphic illustrations is now on display through Feb. 13 in the showcases of the Doudna Fine Arts Building.

Le Cercle Francais de Poesie, or French Circle of Poetry, is presenting the works of two French artists, Leopold Reynier and Rene Touzalin, a representative from the Circle, said Monday.

Illinois representative Pierre Fassie said the display is a "peaceful way of presenting a different culture. It's communication—a way of getting to know each other."

Poetry is printed on processed paper, made from cotton and linen cloth. The cloth is then shredded and crushed for approximately 30 hours and mixed with water. The resulting pulp is then placed into a mold and dried.

The flowers which appear in the paper are mixed into the pulp. The poetry is then printed onto paper, which is done in France on a mill which is powered only by a water wheel, using no electricity.

The purposes of these exhibitions are to take poetry to the public, to make the works as enjoyable to the eyes as they are to the mind and to promote the new form of combined visual art and poetry, the Circle representative said.

Le Cercle Francais de Poesie started an American branch in August of 1976 and had an exhibition at the University of Illinois in January of 1977.

The exhibition at Eastern is the seventh to take place in the United States.

Food service: a reason for continuing deficit

addition to other activity and school fees.

One of the major reasons for the deficit is that the Union food services, which are the Panther Lair snack bar, the Union cafeteria and the Rathskeller, and which are expected to be revenue-generating facilities, are losing money yearly.

A report prepared last year by former student senator Craig Courter, then assistant to Student Body President Mick Chizmar, shows in fiscal year 1976 the total food service budget was set to produce a $52,615 profit, but, instead, produced a $44,298 profit.

To reverse these losses and to produce ideas to attract more business to the Union, the student-faculty Union Planning Committee was developed last spring.

The committee report called for extensive changes in the food services, which it cited as outdated in their food serving concepts.

The Panther Lair food and promotion concepts, including basic menu and serving techniques, were developed in the 1950's, and the Union cafeteria has not changed its menu offerings since it opened in 1957.

Renovations have begun in almost every area in the Union, including new offices for Bill Clark, area head of student activities and the Union, and Phil Lindberg, director of arrangements, new television facilities in the Union mezzanine, and a planned $48,000 redecoration of the Panther Lair.

"Our method of merchandising food is outdated," Clark said, and because of changes in the cafeteria and the Rathskeller, "income on a daily basis has increased."

Clark said recently that funds for renovating the Panther Lair will come from the bond surplus.

The Union is intended to be run as a service to students, and is partly funded through the bond revenue fee.

Because of this function, prices are kept as low as possible in service areas, including the duplicating center, in hopes that revenue-producing areas such as the bookstore, can carry the load, Grove indicated.

In fiscal year 1976, the duplicating center was budgeted for a deficit of $4,410. The actual deficit, however, was $4,740, a $330 greater deficit than budgeted.

The bookstore, which is intended to make up for areas such as the duplicating center, was budgeted at a

Senate plans vote

The Faculty Senate will vote Tuesday on a proposal to change requirements for membership and voting privileges on the Council on Graduate Studies (CGS).

The Senate will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Martinville Room, Senate Chairperson Robert Shuff said Monday.

Shuff said that in the past, membership on the council has been "open to any faculty member". However, the CGS approved the current proposal to redistrict membership last semester, so that faculty would not be eligible to serve on the CGS simply because they were taught graduate courses.

profit of $67,134 but actually only made $51,477, Courter's study discloses.

This means that not only did the duplicating center go deeper in the red than planned, but the revenue-generating area made less money than budgeted.

In addition, many areas in the Union addition require upkeep and increasing utility costs, but produce no revenue. These include the ballrooms, conference rooms on third floor, student government offices, and lounges.

Because the union is a service-oriented building, the university formerly paid for the Union director's salary, fire protection, retirement costs, utilities and bookkeeping.

However, in 1970 when the "budget crunch" became apparent, the university cut those items from the general revenue budget, Herb Brooks, director of the Union, said.

Brooks explained that previous to the budget crunch, the university paid for those items because of faculty and general (other than student) use of the building.

However, because the cost of educating students has increased, while the state has not increased tax money, the general revenue budget had to be cut, Clark said.

The salaries, utilities, and union operating and insurance costs have been paid out of a "surplus" of the bond revenue funds that were collected from students for the actual building of the Union, Clark said.

Graduate student Greg Magill finds himself alone in line at the Rathskeller. The Rathskeller deli was recently added to boost food service income and eliminate the Union's operating deficit. (News photo by Peg Mercer)

Kuhn refuses Blue to change colors to red . . .

NEW YORK (AP)- Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn rejected the trade of Vida Blue to the Cincinnati Reds Monday, but urged the two clubs to restructure the transaction.

The decision, announced by his office after Kuhn had left for Boston, was precipitated by the $1.75 million that the Reds had paid Oakland owner Charles O. Finley for Blue, a 3-time 20-game winner.

Kuhn has placed an informal $400,000 ceiling on the price any team could pay another club for an individual player. The Reds and A's tried to skirt that limit when Cincinnati included minor league slugger Dave Revering in the Blue deal which was announced at baseball's winter meetings in Hawaii last December.

Within minutes of the announcement of the trade, Kuhn informed both clubs that he was withholding approval pending his examination of the transaction.

Finley and Reds President Bob Howsam spent two days testifying at hearings called by the commissioner earlier this month. There was an attempt at a compromise that would have sent other Reds players to Oakland and reduced the cash involved in the transaction. But when that could not be worked out, the commissioner stopped the deal, then suggested that the two clubs re-negotiate during the second interleague trading period that runs from Feb. 15 to March 15.

In Cincinnati, the Reds said they would have no comment until they could study the 15-page decision.

In Oakland, Blue's attorney, Richard Sequeira, said he would have no comment until he gets the decision.

It marked the second time that Kuhn has refused to allow Finley to move Blue to another team. Nineteen months ago, the commissioner blocked the sale of Blue to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million and also disallowed sales for $1 million each of outfielder Joe Rudi and relief pitcher Rollie Fingers to Boston.

. . . leaves Finley 'disenchanted' on decision

CHICAGO (AP)- Charlie Finley, owner of the Oakland A's, said Monday that baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's decision to void the Vida Blue trade to Cincinnati was "very disenchanting to say the least but nothing unexpected."

"It's ridiculous when you pour millions of dollars into a club over the years to develop five consecutive division titles and three straight world championships and not receive any support in doing so and then be deprived of selling a player like Vida Blue for $1.75 million who without question, will be playing his option out next year and will be placing himself on the bidding block and receive $2 million or more himself and the club that developed him receive nothing," said Finley.

"I needed to sell Blue to keep the ship afloat in 1978," he said. "I lost $596,000 in 1976 and $1.2 million in 1977 and needed the proceeds from the sale of Blue to keep the ship afloat in '78.

"Kuhn states that this deal affects competitiveness. I don't know what he's talking about. Does he want to see clubs go bankrupt? I don't know why I should be penalized and not be able to get some of my money back in order to stay in business," said Finley.

"I might add that my future actions will speak for me," he added. "At this time I do not wish to discuss what these actions will be other than to say I will enjoy meeting him (Kuhn) in the courts once again in round two. And, if I might sound like Muhammad Ali, round two might be the knockout blow for Boo-hooie Kuhn. Get that spelling right. It's B-o-o-h-o-o-i-e.

Tankers hope to travel to Western Kentucky

by Rudy Ruettiger

The men tankers, weather permitting, will travel to Bowling Green, Ken. for a rescheduled meet with Western Kentucky University on Tuesday.

The meet was cancelled on Saturday because of the blizzard that hit the Midwest last week.

Head coach Ray Padovan said "Right now we have a 50-50 chance of going if the weather is clear."

Western Kentucky is a five hour drive from Eastern and Padovan said he will make a decision at 10 a.m. Tuesday on whether the swim team takes the trip.

The time for the meet will be based on what time Eastern leaves for Western Kentucky.

Padovan will take 14 to 15 swimmers and divers to the meet which will be the top dual meet on the Panther schedule.

"Western Kentucky (a NCAA Division I school) is probably the best team we will face all year," Padovan said. "They have some real top front line people."

"They (Western Kentucky) have four real good individuals in the backstroke, breaststroke, sprint free style and butterfly individual medley. These four individuals are head and shoulders above the rest (of the swimmers)."

"The people we will take will depend on whether they feel they can go academically," Padovan said. "This is short notice for some of the swimmers who have tests scheduled for Tuesday."

The swimmers traveling to the meet will be Charlie Dunn, Bill Spangler, Joe Nitch and Dave Watson.

Also making the trip will be Frank Muchna, Steve Boone, Mike Foley, John Monaghan, Jim Bart and Mike Parratto.

Rounding out the squad will be Joel Edwards, John Oller, Al Hibbert and divers Al Cymbal and Eric Swanson.

"I don't know what kind of meet it will be," Padovan said concerning the closeness of the meet's outcome.

"If we swim our best and they swim their best, it probably will be difficult for us to beat them."

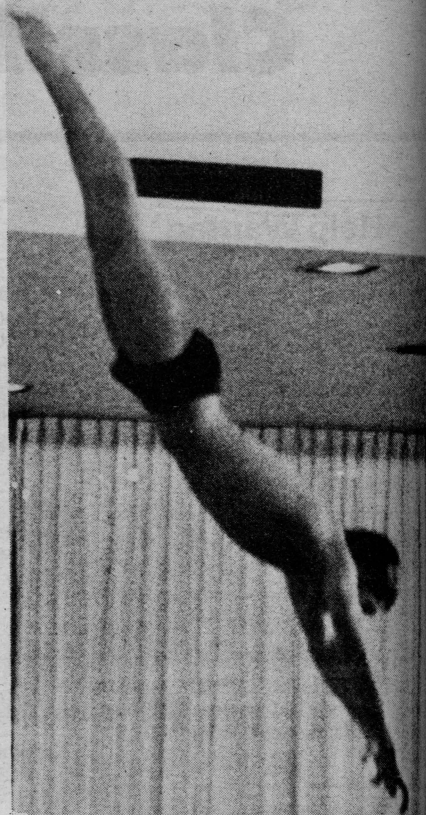

"They (Western Kentucky) have been desperate for a meet. They have not swam in two weeks, Padovan said. "Both teams are coming off breaks."

"We will have a fairly tired team stemming from the two-a-day work outs the Panthers have been going through because of the cancellation of school and the original date with Western Kentucky.

Padovan added that his team is going through "our usual work out schedule for this time of the year." Since the competition has been sparse due to the weather the Panthers are tired.

"It is a funny situation with Western Kentucky," Padovan said. "They have never beaten us, but they were probably stronger than us last year but the meet was snowed out. And this year, again, the meet may be snowed out.

Padovan said he is looking for Joe Nitch, Charlie Dunn, Bill Spangler and Dave Watson to make good showings against the strong Western Kentucky team.

Eastern's pre-game huddle on the court was not able to materialize Monday night when the Spring Arbor game was cancelled. Spring Arbor was not able to leave its campus because of still being snowed in by the blizzard that hit late last week. The game will not be made up and Eastern received a forfeit win because Spring Arbor could not fulfill its contract with Eastern. The Panthers are now 12-7 and travel to Wisconsin-Parkside Wednesday. 12th win comes easily, cagers receive forfeit

by Brad Patterson and Rudy Ruettiger

The Eastern cagers recorded their easiest win of the season Monday, when they were the recipients of a forfeit from Spring Arbor (Mich.) College.

Coach Don Eddy's Panthers, now 12-7 on the season, were scheduled to play the NAIA school Monday night at Lantz Gym, but Spring Arbor was unable to make the trip due to the effects of the blizzard which affected much of the Midwest over the weekend.

According to Athletic Director Mike Mullally, Spring Arbor is restricted by a school rule which prohibits travel during the week other than during an official school break, which was the case for Monday. The same rule also prohibits any overnight stay by the team, except during a break or a weekend.

These two factors, coupled with Eastern's remaining schedule of games, made it impossible for the Michigan school to fulfill its contract to come to Eastern, and resulted in the forfeiture.

Mullally said Spring Arbor was scheduled to play Illinois Wesleyan College in Bloomington on Saturday, and then make the trip south to play the Panthers on Monday. They were unable to get out of Michigan, and could not reschedule the Eastern game.

Eddy said he was 'glad' Eastern received the win because "we needed it, but we would much rather have played it."

"It (the decision of forfeit) is an administrative thing and we can do nothing about it. It was critical we got to play it but if this is the end result of not being able to play it we'll just have to accept it.

"It definitely would have been better for us to have played it. We'll just have to concentrate on Wisconsin-Parkside on Wednesday."

The Panther's most recent competition was on Jan 25 when they trounced Indiana Central 87-58. Their next game will be Wednesday, when they travel to Wisconsin-Parkside.

Badminton team on road

by Julie Penne

After having its triangular meet with Illinois State and Ball State cancelled last weekend, Eastern's badminton team will travel to Normal tomorrow to take on Illinois State University (ISU) in a dual match.

Because of the weather conditions, Ball State cannot compete in the meet.

Head coach Robert Hussey is still optimistic about the Panthers chances of beating ISU, despite the cancellation.

"I really don't think that the meet being cancelled will hurt us. We were ready for the meet last week and we are ready now," he said.

ISU finished second to Eastern in the Southern Illinois Invitational on Jan. 20-21, and Hussey sees the Redbirds as a "good team with strong players."

He said, "This will be a good match for us. We'll have to work hard. It won't be a runaway victory."

Hussey will be taking 14 players to Normal for the meet, with Peg Haney (See SHUTTLEBIRDS page 10)
