Faculty Iran experts: Oil flow will resume

by Beth Murphy

Three of Eastern's authorities on Middle East politics, economics and history agree that Ayatollah Khomeini's takeover in Iran will not cause serious oil shortages in the United States.

Oil production in Iran has been cut off since Shah Muhammed Reza Pahlavi was deposed.

The U.S. Department of Energy is predicting serious shortages which may lead to gasoline rationing and other conservation measures.

About 5 percent of U.S. oil imports come from Iran.

Muhammed Ahrari, assistant professor of political science, said, "Oil production (in Iran) might begin sooner than one expects," but added that most oil producers will supply domestic needs first. He cautioned that when Iran resumes producing for export, they may not export as much oil as in the past.

Ahmad Murad, chairman of the economics department, is not worried about a gas shortage. "We (Americans) are good customers of the Iranians. Ultimately they will sell to us," he said.

Herbert Lasky of the history department also believes the trouble in Iran will have little effect on the United States oil supply.

"Iran is in serious financial difficulty, they can't dictate where the oil goes," Lasky said.

"The fact that the State Department is wringing their hands is foolish," he added.

Lasky considers United States' image a larger problem than the oil situation.

"The United States has no foreign policy which would make us look like a declining power—powerful but impotent," he said.

Ahrari believes the United States supported the now deposed prime minister "simply because (he had) the Shah's blessings."

Although the Ayatollah has claimed control of Iran there is some doubt of his ability to control his followers, according to a report for the Wall Street Journal.

There are religious and political factions within Iran which still differ on how the country should be run, Lasky said.

The religious right (Khomeini and his followers) will have to deal with the political left (Marxists) before the revolution is complete, he said.

Backgrounds affect attitudes

Peer pressure, cultures instigate wariness

(Editor's note: In this, the second of a series which will examine black/white relations at Eastern, a black Eastern administrator discusses reasons for misunderstandings between the two races.)

by Ted Gregory

Peer group pressure and different cultural backgrounds are two reasons why a "general wariness between black and white students" exists at Eastern, an instructor said recently.

Johnetta Jones, director of afro-american studies, said these problems build the apprehension which exists between blacks and whites on campus.

Jones said the different home lives of the students and the environment around which they grow up contributes to "the different cultural backgrounds" between blacks and whites.

She said a black student coming from an inner city urban background and a white student from a small town rural environment have a difficult time finding things in common.

This situation promotes an uneasiness between black and white students, Jones said.

Peer group pressure can also be a problem in race relations, Jones said.

"The pressure can be tremendous, and, it exists within both groups," she said.

"As a result of these problems, neither group understands the other and it's much safer to stay in your own group," she said.

"One way to solve these problems would be to have activities that appeal to both races," Jones said.

"I think what blacks want on this but equal treatment," she said.

campus is not preferential treatment,

She urged campus organizations such as fraternities and clubs to develop programming for both groups.

"It can be done with just a little fore planning," Jones said.

Jones said "the atmosphere on campus seems to be more relaxed than last spring."

She was referring to a series of letters to the editor in the Eastern News last spring concerning black students not standing during the playing of the national anthem at basketball games.

"The series of letters was a wound that opened up," Jones said.

"At times last spring, I was totally frustrated about the situation," she said.

Jones said the letters did not cause a major problem because school was coming to a close and students had other things on their minds.

"But that particular set of letters

Afghanistan denies all blame

KABUL, Afghanistan — Afghanistan Monday denied it mishandled the abduction of American Ambassador Adolph Dubs, who was killed in a gunbattle between police and his kidnapers.

"I see no reason for any aspect for which we could be blamed," Vice Premier Hafizullah Amin said.

The United States has accused Afghanistan of disregarding its request to avoid force and to negotiate for Dubs' release.

Amin, speaking at a news conference, said the ambassador had refused a police escort that was offered three months ago.

Amin also said Dubs had been warned that he was being followed.

"We consider the American protest completely baseless because we took measures with a high spirit of humanity and for the purpose of saving the life of the ambassador," Amin said.

He said he hoped his government's expression of grief over Dubs' death will help ease the strain between Kabul and Washington.

Khomeini warns 'bandits' in Iran

TEHRAN, Iran — Unidentified "counter-revolutionary elements" set fire to the U.S. consulate Monday in the northwestern Iranian city of Tabriz, the city's state-run radio reported.

The one American assigned to the post had left Tabriz on Sunday, U.S. officials said.

Amid other reports of disorder, the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini warned he would crush any "bandits" causing trouble and view their activities as an uprising against his new Islamic republic.

Tabriz Radio, now in the hands of supporters of the Ayatollah, appealed to local citizens to put out the fire at the consulate.

U.S. officials were unable to confirm the report of the fire, but said that Michael Metrisko, the only American assigned to the consulate, had returned to Tehran on Sunday.

Heavy fighting was reported last week in Tabriz, 330 miles northwest of Tehran. Up to 700 people were reported killed when army units joined pro-shaw activists in battles against forces loyal to Khomeini.

In a statement broadcast over Tehran Radio, Khomeini ordered his irregulars to aid police and the army in "maintaining law and order... a group of bandits and unlawful elements are taking advantage of the situation and are making efforts to pursue their evil objectives."

Khomeini, leader of the year-long uprising that forced Shah Mohammad Reza Palahvi from power, did not specify who the "bandits" were.

But his comments appeared directed at the mix of common criminals and political opponents now in possession of weapons taken in widespread looting of police stations and military garrisons in past weeks.

Chemical fire forces fleeing

GREENVILLE, N.C. — A predawn fire raged out of control Monday at a chemical storage facility, forcing some 1,000 residents to flee their homes into the aftermath of one of the worst winter storms in recent years.

Explosions rocked the vicinity of the blaze that began at 4 a.m. and burned out of control for nearly six hours at the Coastal Chemical Corp. facility on the outskirts of this eastern North Carolina city.

Authorities feared the fire would create toxic fumes as it consumed the plant.

About 8 a.m., shifting wind spread the smoke that billowed 1,000 feet into the air toward Greenville, and authorities took steps to evacuate additional residents.

Residents of one subdivision were forced to flee into a winter storm that dumped about 3 inches of snow over the city as firefighters worked to remove two railroad tank cars.

Residents slogged through snow to reach two Greenville high schools where they were temporarily housed.

Meany attacks foreign policies

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. — AFL-CIO President George Meany broadened his attack on President Carter Monday, complaining that Carter's foreign policy lacks direction and that his economic policies are failing to head off a recession.

Meany, whose relations with Carter have steadily deteriorated during the past two years, said the president's performance has not improved since a year ago, when Meany gave Carter a "C-minus" grade.

Asked if the AFL-CIO would support Carter for re-election in 1980, Meany said, "I'll talk about that when the time comes."

Meany had been critical of Carter's economic programs for some time, but on Monday he assailed the president's handling of foreign affairs.

Asked about China's invasion of Vietnam and the turmoil in Iran, Meany said sarcastically, "I think our government has taken a very strong position. . . we deplore the invasion of Vietnam by Communist China and we deplore the invasion by Vietnam into Communist Cambodia.

"I think this is the way our foreign policy acts. Something happens and we deplore it," the 84-year-old labor leader said. "Frankly, I don't know what our foreign policy is today."

Weapons show draws protest

ROSEMONT, Ill. — Police arrested 13 demonstrators Monday, including several who tossed or sprayed blood and another substance to protest against an international arms technology and weapons show.

The arrests occurred as some 50 persons demonstrated outside the O'Hare Exposition Center, where the show, "Defense Technology '79," is being held.

Joseph K. Peterson, a spokesman for the Rosemont Public Safety Department, said the demonstrators planned a torchlight parade for Monday night, with some 400 persons expected.

On Sunday, some 2,500 demonstrators turned out as the four-day show began. Police arrested five on criminal trespass charges.

Talks possible in school strike

ST. LOUIS — Negotiations to settle the 35-day-old public school teachers strike are likely to resume by the end of the week, teachers union spokesman Demosthenes DuBose said Monday.

At issue in the dispute, which has idled 74,000 students and closed 156 public schools since Jan. 18, are teacher demands for higher salaries, smaller classes and more preparation periods.

The board of education insists it doesn't have the money to raise salaries.

A cooling-off period was declared by mediators last Monday following a week of marathon bargaining sessions that resulted in what one mediator called "no significant progress."

Evelyn Battle, president of Local 420 of the American Federation of Teachers Union, said Sunday that teachers are trying to "save the profession and the school system" with their strike, which began Jan. 16.

Police search for kidnapper

ROCKFORD, Ill. — Police searched Monday for a gunman they said held a woman hostage in her home for two hours and then abducted her.

The woman, Carol Kuntzelman, 32, was released unharmed later in the Chicago area.

Authorities said the man may have been the same person who robbed two businesses earlier Sunday night.

They said the incident with Mrs. Kuntzelman began shortly after the robberies when a man pushed his way into the woman's home as investigators searched the neighborhood.

After about two hours the man took Mrs. Kuntzelman and a guest's car, along with about $300 from other guests, and drove to the Chicago area, where he left on foot.

Mrs. Kuntzelman drove unharmed back to Rockford.

Looters arrested after blizzard

BALTIMORE — Mayor William D. Schaefer imposed a 10-hour curfew Monday night as shotgun-toting police made more than 140 arrests for looting after the city's worst winter snowstorm ever.

About 85 state troopers were dispatched to the city's downtown area for standby duty, authorities said.

Police spokesman Dennis Hill said there had been more than 640 reports of looting or breaking and entering across most of the city's commercial districts.

Asian conflict

China's attacks stop, may be pulling back

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — China's attack on Vietnam was reported stopped about six miles inside the border Monday and Western intelligence sources said some Chinese units may be pulling back.

Vietnam said it inflicted heavy casualties on the Chinese, killing 3,500 troops and destroying more than 100 tanks since the invasion started Saturday.

The Voice of Vietnam, monitored in Bangkok, said the Vietnamese killed 1,000 Chinese troops and destroyed 30 tanks in the rugged mountain province of Hoang Lien Son and reported similar figures in Cao Bang province.

In Long Son province, Vietnam claimed 600 Chinese killed and 20 tanks destroyed and said the strategic "Friendship Gate" border area was littered with some 60 destroyed Chinese tanks.

Fighting was reported in other northern provinces as well. The reports could not be independently verified.

The Vietnamese Embassy in Bangkok said the Chinese advanced no more than six miles into Vietnam.

Peking has said the attack was in retaliation for "armed incursions" by Vietnam over the past year.

A quick strike followed by withdrawal would be similar to China's 1962 action in northeast India, when China invaded to make its point in a border dispute, then pulled back.

The official Chinese news agency Hsinhua has carried little about the invasion and no detailed reports of the fighting. Japanese news reports from Peking said China banned all demonstrations concerning the war.

Bangkok sources discounted reports of continued Chinese air strikes deep into Vietnam. Thai intelligence said the only Chinese planes still involved were spotter planes directing Chinese artillery fire.

A dispute between China and Vietnam has simmered since the communists took over Vietnam in 1975.

It has increased over the past year with China accusing Vietnam of mistreating ethnic Chinese, and with Vietnam's backing of the overthrow of the China-backed Cambodian government of Pol Pot.

Kremlin issues warning, puts army on alert

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin appeared to be staying out of the Chinese-Vietnamese conflict Monday after issuing a statement conspicuously void of possible Soviet moves against Peking.

However, the Soviets were said to have put their army on alert and canceled leaves.

The key phrase in Sunday's Kremlin statement of support for Vietnam was,

"the heroic Vietnamese people... are capable of standing up for themselves."

This was followed by the reminder that Vietnam has "reliable friends" and the warning to Peking to "stop before it is too late."

The statement fell short of suggesting direct Soviet intervention.

Moscow reports were circulating that the Soviet military had been put on alert and that leaves were canceled because of fighting in Asia.

The Soviet Defense Ministry's foreign desk, when asked about the report, said Monday night, "we do not give out such information."

However Soviet journalist Victor Louis, often an unofficial pipeline for leaks, reported in the London Evening News that the army has been put in combat readiness and that troops were being called back from leave.

He said in response to a telephone query that such alerts are not unusual here.

As a rallying cry, the Kremlin has brought out an American protest slogan from the days of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia: "Hands off Vietnam."

Officials see no threat to U.S. interests

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials see no threat to the United States' immediate interests if the Soviet Union, which sharply criticized China's invasion of Vietnam, in the Asian conflict.

It was felt that the fighting was not likely to develop into a major crisis beyond Asia, and a senior White House official said he had seen no evidence to indicate China planned to overrun its southern neighbor.

But, he said, "I don't think it is possible to predict how far the Chinese will go."

The official, who asked not to be named, described U.S. intelligence on the fighting as "quite good."

The United States, considering itself the only global power in a position to talk effectively with both Moscow and Peking, contacted the two capitals after the fighting began Saturday.

Other officials, who also asked not to be identified, said the United States used its new relationship with China to tell Peking in no uncertain terms that it disapproved of the move against Hanoi.

The United States, these officials said, called on the Soviet Union privately, in addition to its public statements, not to try to counter the Chinese attack.

The White House official said that although Moscow and Hanoi had signed an agreement of "friendship and cooperation," the U.S. interpretation of the pact is that it commits the two only to consultations.

World peace threatened

by The Associated Press

Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, warned Sunday that China's invasion of Vietnam threatens world peace.

"We are very much in danger of a third world war. It could be starting at this moment," the New York Democrat said on a local interview show in New York City. But he added: "I would bet that it won't happen."

However, Senate Republican leader Howard Baker of Tennessee cautioned that the United States should remain an observer in the conflict.

"For a change, we have the opportunity to sit on our rock and watch the waters swirl by," Baker said on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

He said that at the moment, the Chinese invasion "is not that serious... The national interests of our country are served by quietly watching."

That advice was echoed by Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, who appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Glenn, who is on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the best course of action for the United States was to stay out of direct involvement and counsel restraint on the parties.

BOG elimination bill like 'moving furniture'

(Robert E. Hartley is the editor of Lindsay-Schaub newspapers.)

by Robert E. Hartley

As quickly as you can say "pay raise" Illinois higher education officials last week denounced a plan to realign public university governing boards.

James Furman, executive director of the Board of Higher Education, said there is no reason to change. Seconding the motion was John Corbally, president of the University of Illinois, who concluded the suggestion is without merit. Others chimed in.

Thus saith higher education, or more accurately, those who would be affected by change. Higher education is not well served by such hasty and arrogant declarations.

Playing chess with university governing boards is not new fun. Since the present structure—called the "system of systems"—was developed in the 1960s, the higher education community has defended it successfully against all comers, fighting off attempts to refine, reform and refurbish.

Reputations, jobs, egos and dollars were at stake, and in the power game the U of I and Southern Illinois University won. They also had the most to lose. Realignment suggestions almost always attacked the U of I's three-campus structure and the SIU dual-campus arrangement at Edwardsville and Carbondale.

That was a mistake because the U of I had the strongest alumni constituency in Illinois, and once turned up to high volume it caused politicians to quake. SIU had some of the state's most powerful politicians on its side.

On that score what was good for the U of I also was good for SIU. Southern interests recognized the U of I as No. 1, but they wanted to be No. 2 and escape being lumped with Eastern, Northern, Illinois State, Western and later, Sangamon State. That's like playing in the consolation bracket.

Protecting turf always was the game, and judging from last week's comments the game hasn't changed. That statement applies to the legislators who unveiled their plan as well as higher education officials.

What inspired the official outburst was a plan by state representatives Douglas Kane, a Springfield Democrat, and Jim Edgar, a Charleston Republican. They want to reshape a higher education under governing boards organized along geographic lines rather than historic cliques.

Most of what they suggest is a variation on old themes, but there are some interesting points in the proposal. In brief they would:

1. Break up the three-campus U of I system.

2. Put all Chicago operations under one governing body. (It could interest the Chicago voting bloc in the Legislature.)

3. Strengthen SIU by adding Sangamon State University to that system. (The U of I has burned openly since it lost a battle some years ago to have Sangamon put under its wing.)

4. Bring the also-rans (Western, Eastern, et al) under one board giving it more common interests and clout in Springfield.

From that sketchy outline you can see why some higher education officials have run.

Nevertheless, it's hard to be sympathetic to the Kane-Edgar plan, even though some elements of it make sense.

The two legislators are among those in Springfield who believe the state's financial problems can be solved by moving the furniture rather than tackling the question of raising revenue. They are beggled by revising formulas and snatching dollars from one part of the state for another.

Increasingly that is the name of the game in Springfield as the dollars are harder to find and some areas of the state literally are starving financially. The game begins with Gov. James Thompson doling out dollars that are inadequate for everyone. Then the Legislature, scared out of its socks by the prospect of a tax increase, begins looking for ways to rob Peter to pay Paul.

This process serves to keep the Legislature busy, and supposedly responsive to public preference for putting the change from one pocket into another. But it's eyewash.

Beyond those political considerations Kane and Edgar have not answered the "why" of the matter. The problems of retaining and acquiring quality faculty, sustaining enrollments at the smaller state universities, and keeping the cost to students and parents at a decent level are not solved by shuffling governing bodies.

But in the spirit of giving everyone his day, even if the motivation is suspect, the Kane-Edgar plan deserves full legislative hearing. The irksome jerks by Furman and Corbally are better forgotten.

Letters to the editor

Fee unfair

Editor,

Your editorial of Feb. 15 on elimination of overload fees raises several questions.

The editorial says the proposal "makes no provision for replacing the lost funds" if overload fees are eliminated.

Just how is the Council on Academic Affairs supposed to replace the lost funds? Hold a bottle drive? CAA merely recognizes that overload fees are unfair and should be eliminated.

Further, the News says that the proposal "ignores inequities in the present system of assessing tuition." The CAA proposal also ignores the dangers inherent in the unstable political situation in Guatemala, and for similar reasons: both are irrelevant to the subject of overload fees.

If the Eastern News is seriously concerned with saving money, it seems inconceivable that the News could seriously suggest that the University adopt a graduated tuition rate. The extra time and expense involved in adjusting and mailing fee bills and refunds to reflect adds and drops should be sufficient reason to reject this idea.

It does not seem unreasonable to me that all full-time students pay a fixed tuition fee and have the option of taking extra hours as he thinks necessary, with no penalty attached to ambition and industriousness.

Costly show

Editor,

On Sunday evening, Feb. 4, my date and I attended James Britton Zabka's holograph and laserium show.

The show lasted no longer than 45 minutes and cost me $6. The entire performance was a disappointment.

Perhaps I did not understand what was taking place on the screen. However, Britton offered no introduction, no explanation, and no closing statements on his show. Art work and a videotape were on display in the lobby, but I paid $6 to see the equivalence of PBS fillers.

I wish I could have appreciated Britton's talent, but his presentation was poor and over-priced.

Snow delays city roads reparation

City officials will have to wait until the weather gets warmer and thaws out city streets before they can gauge the amount of damage caused by the severe winter.

Street Superintendent Clinton Brown said Monday, "quite a few repairs will be needed this spring, but the roads will have to thaw out before estimating the costs of fixing the pot holes."

Mayor Bob Hickman said the city council would be looking into road repair allocations in three to four weeks when the commissioners formulate the new budget.

Hickman added that road repairs cost the city last year about $23,000.

He said that Lincoln Avenue, Illinois 130 and Madison Avenue were state roads, and the state was responsible for their upkeep.

"The city planned to resurface Tenth and Van Buren streets, not necessarily due to the weather, but because they were bad anyway," Hickman said. "Most city streets, though, will need some type of repairs this spring."

Brown stated that he had enough materials to fix the roads in the short run.

As to a related weather program, both city officials said this year's snow route plan was successful.

The city established various streets as snow routes to help in snow clearing operations for the first time this year. These streets must be cleared of all vehicles when it snows two inches or more.

Brown said the plan made his job "a lot better," and the clearing operations "smoother than last year."

Hickman said the plan "worked good" even though some people were inconvenienced by having to move their cars off the designated routes.

"Once the people were educated to it (the plan) of moving cars, everything worked well," he said.

Hickman added that the snow route plan has helped emergency vehicles get around the city easier than last year when streets were clogged with snow and made passage by emergency vehicles difficult.

Petitions for AFT officials due Friday

Petitions for the offices of president and treasurer of Eastern's American Federation of Teachers chapter are due Friday to Stanley Harris, chairman of the AFT nominating committee.

Floyd Merritt, former president of the AFT, resigned Jan. 18 because of a heavy teaching schedule. Frank Abell of the library has been acting as president for the past month.

The office of treasurer was vacated in September when Tim Gover, former AFT treasurer, resigned. Del Crabill was selected acting treasurer by the AFT board.

Petitions may still be obtained from Harris in room 110E, Coleman Hall.

Also due Friday are petitions for Illinois Federation of Teachers Convention delegates. These are to be turned in to Scott Smith, chairman of the chapter balloting committee.

Petitions may be obtained from Smith in room 223, Science Building.

Ballots will be mailed to AFT members on March 5. They must be returned to the elections committee by March 12.

Smith said all applicants must be concerned with the overall welfare and status of the BOG and the university and must show leadership, interest and knowledge of collective bargaining."

Tuttle wants to use facilities more for groups

by Betsey Guzior

Dale Tuttle, Eastern's new director of arrangements, plans to achieve greater use of campus facilities by both student groups and non-university organizations.

"The students' use of Eastern's facilities is my main priority, but we must work out a balance between the community organizations and campus groups," Tuttle said Monday.

"We have to please campus groups, who are not charged for use of the facilities, but we also have to make money by scheduling community groups to meet here," Tuttle said.

Tuttle works year-round scheduling meetings and activities on campus for various organizations.

...new arrangements director

Eighty percent of the scheduling is in the University Union for clubs and conferences, but Tuttle also arranges activities in Lantz Building and residence halls.

Tuttle plans on "selling Eastern" statewide to any organization that may be looking for a place to meet.

"Eastern's buildings have the capability of drawing medium-sized conferences of about 100 to 300 people during the school year," Tuttle said.

Tuttle also wants to increase use of the residence halls during the summer for organizations that come to campus for educational camps.

Another goal for Tuttle is to schedule more faculty organizations to meet on campus.

"There are many faculty groups on campus that have chapters which could hold conferences here," Tuttle said.

Some of the groups now scheduled to meet on campus are the Residence Hall Association conference, an educators' conference and the Boys' State convention, Tuttle said.

Tuttle previously worked as student activities director at Rock Valley Junior College in Rockford.

Choir to perform musical

by Pam Johnson

The Unity Gospel Choir will present a short musical comedy, "Swing School", at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Buzzard auditorium, choir president Stephanie Smith said Friday.

The play is a 30-minute parody on a junior high classroom situation which is done completely to music, director Glenda Gray said.

Following the play will be a take-off from the television game show, "The Gong Show," which will feature faculty and students, Smith said.

The choir has been a recognized organization on campus for two years and they hold afternoon services every Sunday at the University Baptist Church, Smith said.

The choir will also sponsor a concert at 6:30 p.m. March 3 in Dvorak Concert Hall featuring guest singers from Chicago Heights, East St. Louis, and Chicago, Smith said.

Admission will be 50 cents for the play. Money will be used to help pay for a choir trip to the National Baptist Student Retreat in Jackson, Mississippi, Smith added.

EFS schedules film about death

"All that Heaven Allows" a film about a woman whose husband dies and her attempts to overcome her grief will be shown by the Eastern Film Society Tuesday.

The film, starring Jane Wyman will be shown at 5 p.m., 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. in the Booth Library Lecture Room.

The woman has an affair that many people find shocking because of her brief period of mourning, an English department spokesman said recently.

Admission is $1.

Seminar scheduled on financial aid, loans

A financial aids seminar will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Coleman Hall auditorium.

Signs posted on campus list the starting time as 7:30 p.m., but the time is actually 7 p.m., Johnetta Jones, Afro American studies director said Monday.

The seminar will include a question and answer session with Financial Aids director Sue Sparks.

Any students with questions about loans, grants or financial aid should attend the seminar, a financial aids spokesman said recently.

IM head's travel fees to be discussed by AB

The Apportionment Board Tuesday will decide whether the Eastern director of intramurals should be given student fee money to attend a convention, AB Chairman Tom Dersch said Monday.

The AB will meet at 4 p.m. in the Union addition Effingham Room.

Intramural Director Dave Dutler has requested $325.39 from the AB so he may attend the Intramural and Recreational Sports Convention to be held in April in Atlanta.

Dersch said the AB has had "a considerable amount of discussion on this issue" and he said "some final decision will come about this week."

The AB will review its policy toward travel allowances at the meeting, Dersch said.

The AB will also discuss a self-sufficiency plan for the Eastern News, he said.

nity pledges had to rape a white woman to be admitted into the fraternity.

The rumor turned out to be unsubstantiated and totally untrue.

"It was a pure and unadulterated rumor, but that's the kind that gets people beat up and murdered," Jones said.

Jones, who is also an assistant professor of sociology, graduated from Southern Illinois University-Carbondale in the late '60s when campus as well as racial unrest was at a peak on America's universities.

"I can't really compare the two campuses," she said. "When I was at Southern in the '60s, things were much more tense than are now," she said.

"The '60s were a time of change, of trying to achieve," she said.

Jones said, "I think the '70s are a time of maintaining the status quo."

"The '60s had a hope for improving conditions all over the world, and now in the '70s, we seem more concerned with just getting people jobs," she continued.

Jones seemed optimistic concerning race relations at Eastern.

"At this point in time, relations seem to be better and I'm hopeful for the future," she said.

Eastern hockey club splits weekend contests

Eastern's hockey club scored its first victory Friday night by trouncing Knox College 9-2, but then dropped a contest against the Kankakee Elks 7-4 at Kankakee.

The weekend split left Eastern's season record at 1-2-1.

Sparked by the scoring of Terry Rolheiser and Mike Noonan, Eastern raced out to a 7-0 lead and eased past Knox College in Peoria.

Rolheiser scored the first four goals of the match, and Noonan followed with one to give the squad a 5-0 command by the end of the first period.

Noonan got two more goals on assists by Joe Kearney, before Knox could make the scoring column on what Noonan, Eastern's team captain, called a "lucky shot."

"Our goalie Bill McGeary had the puck the whole way and made the save, but the puck trickled into the net," Noonan said.

Knox scored again early in the third frame on a deflected shot and then Eastern countered with its last two goals.

Eastern's Steve Saverwein scored on a shot set up by Brad Bray and Dave Scott, and then Scott connected on a slap shot.

Noonan pointed out that his team played very well considering only nine players were present for the contest.

"Our best skater Tom Wilson and Dave Steinburger played the whole game on defense," Noonan said. "Playing the whole game is just remarkable. Tom is on the cross country team, and he seems to be able to skate on forever. Dave just plain goes on guts."

"The both played really well together and they can break up any scoring drive," Noonan added. "Tom is just a great all around player. I believe he blocked five or six shots himself."

in championship competition. Both his junior and senior years in high school he placed 14th in the 100 and 200-yard breaststroke. Last year as a freshman at Eastern, he finished 16th in the 100 and 200-yard breaststroke in the nationals.

Boone views the upcoming nationals meet as a challenge and believes having a couple of seniors on the relay team will bring out the best in them.

"Since both Watson and Spangler are seniors I know I will try a little harder," he said. "This is the best medley we've had in three years."

"I think we have a pretty good shot at placing," he said. However, my goal is just to improve our time again," Boone added "I feel that a 3:35 or 3:36 is within our range."

"Last year I was a member of the 400-yard medley second team," he said. "The practice was there and it helped me gain experience. It especially helped on starts."

As far as individual goals are concerned, Boone hopes to repeat what he did last year in the breaststroke events.

"I will be pretty disappointed if I don't qualify in both the 100 and 200-yard breaststroke," he said.

Being the only freshman on the relay team should be reason enough for Bird to feel quite a bit of pressure with the nationals only a month away. However, the Elk Grove native feels just the opposite.

"I don't really feel the pressure," he said

"I took it pretty serious as a kid," he said. "I still take it serious but now I have a good time while I'm doing it."

During his junior and senior years at St. Viator High School he competed in the state meet, capping his career by placing sixth in the 100-yard butterfly.

Bird sees the role of the 400-yard medley relay team as a catalyst for the rest of the squad.

"It is one of our better events," he said. "If we win, it sets the attitude for the rest of the team."

Hoping to qualify in the 100-yard butterfly, he feels the relay team has not yet reached its potential.

"We hope to drop our time," he said. "We figure we can improve it all the time."

Padovan thinks the potential is there and that if the team is to do well, they will shatter a few records along the way.

"They are hoping to finish in the top six," he said. "To do this they are going to have to break the school record by about three seconds." The record now stands at 3:36.2.

Padovan cited the fact that Watson was a member of last year's 400-yard medley as a possible key to a strong finish.

Women tracksters take ninth at Illini tourney

by Julie Penne

Eastern's women's track team ran up against a strong field of competition Saturday as it finished ninth at the University of Illinois Invitational.

Eastern totalled ten points while first place Michigan State led the field with 121. Western Illinois was second with 93 points and Illinois State claimed third with 59.5.

"This meet was full of top talent," head coach Joan Schmidt said. "Michigan State is consistently in the top ten in the nation, both in track and cross country.

"To show how competitive the meet was, Indiana State won first at the Illinois State Invitational February 3 and this weekend they were sixth," she said.

Also indicative of the competition were the times recorded in the running events, particularly the mile run.

Finishing sixth for the Panthers was Robin Smith with a time of 5:04.6. The winning time was turned in by Natalie Hughes of Michigan State with a clocking of a meet record of 4:57.9.

Schmidt said the mile race was the first time she had ever seen a runner break the five minute time in her four years as coach.

Following her finish in the one mile run, Smith took fourth in the two mile run.

Carmen Ritz added to the total team score by placing fourth in the 600 yard run with a time of 1:28. Ritz was just one second off the winning pace set by co-winners Marilynn Barner of Western Michigan and Karen Roth of Illinois State who tied with a time of 1:27.

"Carmen ran very well, she's looking very strong," said Schmidt. "The times that were recorded in that event were not slouchy times and Carmen ran very smoothly against them."

Ritz also ran a leg for the sixth place finishing mile relay team. Kristian Webb, Tina Bartram and Marsha Tate each sprinted to the final time of 4:08.7.

"The relay was up against six other really tough teams. But they did well, because they knocked off four seconds from their usual workout time," Schmidt said, "The other relay teams really pushed them to perform their individual bests," Schmidt said.

Eastern's Carmen Ritz crosses the finish line first in an 880 yard run earlier this season against Ball State and Southeast Missouri. (News photo by Joan Springman)

UCLA back on top of Division I ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — UCLA, denied the No. 1 position by six points last week, outpolled Indiana State by five points Monday and grabbed the top spot in The Associated Press' college basketball poll.

The Bruins received 23 first-place votes and 1,151 points in balloting by a nationwide panel of 60 sports writers and broadcasters. UCLA, 20-3, edged Arizona State 85-83 and crushed Arizona 110-86 last week.

Indiana State, which outpolled UCLA 1,196-1,190 in gaining the No. 1 position in the poll last week, collected the remaining 37 first-place votes and 1,146 points this time. The Sycamores blasted West Texas State 100-75 but struggled past Southern Illinois 69-68 last week.

UCLA and Indiana State were named on each of the ballots. The Bruins were tabbed no lower than fourth, while the Sycamores were ranked seventh by one voter.

Notre Dame and North Carolina maintained the No. 3 and No. 4 positions after easy victories. The Irish, 19-3, collected 1,073 points following triumphs over Manhattan and West Virginia last week, while the Tar Heels, 20-4, received 978 points after beating William & Mary and Virginia.

Southeastern Conference leader Louisiana State, 886 points, moved up one spot into fifth place, ahead of Duke.

Panthers take home finale 88-74

Eastern moved closer to a post-season basketball berth Monday night by throttling Butler 88-74 in a non-conference game at Lantz Gym.

The triumph before 3,400 Lantz fans was the Panthers' third straight home victory and raised the team's record to 17-8.

Eastern has two more important games—Wednesday at Missouri St. Louis and Saturday at Western Illinois—remaining in its regular season before the NCAA chooses the four teams for the Great Lakes Regional tournament.

"I think if we win both we're in for sure," Panther coach Don Eddy said. "If we just win one, we've got a good chance, and if we lose both it will make it tough."

The Panthers finished the first half strong, increased its 38-33 intermission edge early in the second half and then held off Butler's comeback try.

Led by 6-foot-8 forward Craig DeWitt's four baskets, Eastern outscored Butler 10-4 for 48-37 command with 15:37 remaining.

But the Bulldogs, who came into the game 10-14 against a strong schedule, did not fold.

They took advantage of numerous free throw chances and cut the gap to 68-65 with 5:17 left to play.

Then for the second straight game, Panther guard Mike Pickens took over.

The sophomore guard, who has started most of the season, sat out the entire first half due to an ailing foot.

Eddy inserted Pickens at the 14 minute mark of the second half, though, and when the Panther lead got down to three he responded with a flashy driving hook from the side of the lane.

Pickens then rebounded a Butler miss and fired a length of the floor pass to Lance Jones, who connected from the baseline to put the margin back up to 72-65.

After Pickens' two big plays, Butler could come no closer than six points the rest of the way.

Center Dennis Mumford paced the Panthers with 22 points and eight rebounds. He outdueled Butler's 7-foot Mike Miller, who had 15 points and seven caroms.

DeWitt had 18 points and 10 rebounds for Eastern.

Medley relay team anchors Panther tankers

by Matt Davidson

Eastern will be well represented in the NCAA Division II swimming championship in Marquette, Michigan in March.

Seniors Bill Spangler and three-time All-American Dave Watson, sophomore Steve Boone, and freshman Tim Bird comprise the 400-yard medley relay team which had already met qualifying standards for the national meet.

"They have been very consistent and good throughout the year," head coach Ray Padovan said. "They haven't really been dependent on just one person."

Of the members of the squad, Watson, a product of Thornwood High in South Holland, has had the most experience in post-season competition. He is optimistic about the chances of a good showing in the national meet.

"This is probably the fastest medley since I've been here," Watson said. "Realistically we can maybe get in the top six, but for sure we should place in the top 12."

Pressure will be no problem for Watson, who is a veteran of post-season activity.

As a junior at Eastern last year,

Eastern swimmers Steve Boone, left, and Dave Watson comprise half of the 400-yard medley relay team which has qualified for the NCAA Division II national championships on March 15-17.

Watson competed in the nationals in several events. The three individual events he competed in were the 200-yard individual medley, the 400-yard individual medley, and the 400-yard freestyle. He was also a member of the 800-yard freestyle relay that placed in the top eight in the nation.

Watson, who has already qualified for the nationals in the 50-yard freestyle, will be swimming the 100-yard freestyle split for the relay team in the national meet.

Even though the relay team's qualifying time was only 3:38.1, he feels they have the potential to do much better.

"We've been going 38 or 39 all year and we haven't really put a good effort together," Watson said. "If everyone swims together we can get a 3:30 or 3:32."

The other three-year letterman on the relay team is Spangler, who is a graduate of Freeport High School. Last year Spangler took part in the national for Eastern, placing 13th in the 100-yard backstroke, just missing winning All-American honors. A top 12 finish was needed to earn the award.

Spangler wants to place in the top 12 badly and definitely feels the relay team can accomplish what they are after.

"When we put it all together, we can go at least 5 seconds faster," Spangler said. "We know we can't win it, but we think we can finish in the top six."

He will be swimming the 100-yard backstroke for his split on the relay team. On the whole team, Spangler feels that the 400-yard medley team has the best shot to do well in the nationals.

"We have the best chance to get All-American," he said.

Sophomore Steve Boone certainly is not a new face to this area. A native of Charleston and a graduate of Charleston High, Boone competed for the Charleston Swim Club until his junior year in high school.

Like the other members of the relay squad, he also has had some experience (See SWIMMERS, page 9)
