Deadline set for business admission

by Audrey Dumentat

Students who want to enroll in upper-division business courses in the spring semester must apply for admission to the School of Business by Oct. 1. School of Business Dean Ted Ivarie said Friday.

Pre-business majors must have completed a minimum of 42 but no more than 59 semester hours plus three out of five required courses with at least a grade of "C" in each in order to apply, Ivarie added.

After successful completion of the remaining two required courses and 60 semester hours, a student who has been admitted to the School of Business will be granted final admission status, Ivarie said.

The required courses include Accounting 2100, "Principles of Financial Accounting;" Accounting 2150, "Principles of Managerial Accounting;" Data Processing 2175, "Computer Based Systems and Business Applications;" Management 2460, "Business Law I;" and Management 2810, "Business Statistics I."

Business majors who have completed 60 or more semester hours do not need to apply for admission because they have been accepted into the School of Business under the old admissions policy, Ivarie added.

Students wanting to apply for admission to the School of Business should make application to Blair Hall Room 101.

Applicants will be notified of their admission status by Oct. 15, Ivarie said.

Non-business majors who need to enroll in upper-level business classes should alert their advisers, department chairmen or deans, Ivarie said.

A specified number of seats in upper-level business courses have been allocated to each of the other schools at Eastern. These seats will be given to non-business majors who need them to fulfill their requirements, Ivarie said.

New transfer students who wish to apply for admission to the School of Business should do so at the Admissions Office in Old Main Room 116, Ivarie added.

Regardless of student status, all prerequisites for upper-division courses must be met before a student can take an upper-division course, Ivarie said.

Senior business students will be given priority over juniors so they will be able to meet their requirements for graduation, Ivarie added.

Ivarie said 90 percent of those students who apply will be accepted according to their overall grade point average, Ivarie said.

Students who do not meet the criteria necessary for admission to the School of Business will continue as pre-business majors and must reapply when they have met the admission requirements, Ivarie said.

After enrollment in an upper-level business course at Eastern, students may not transfer an equivalent course from another college or university, Ivarie added.

Students conquer 'King Bionic' sub

by Bob Goode

Senior Shawn Schwingle proved that man can conquer a 15-inch submarine sandwich.

Schwingle emerged as the winner of the First American Eat-off sponsored by Yogy's Hoagies, 1448 Ninth St., when he made the final swallow of his "King Bionic" in 6:24, just two seconds before the time of second-round winner senior George Lyon.

Schwingle and partner Sandy Kotar, senior, won a keg of beer and a 6-foot sandwich from Yogy's.

"I didn't think I'd win. I hadn't practiced eating a King Bionic," Schwingle said. "I'm going to have a big party."

Teams consisting of one male and one female were required to eat a 15-inch "King Bionic" sandwich in record time.

The female member of the team fed the sandwich to her male partner from across a table. The male had his hands tied behind his back.

A crowd of spectators eagerly awaited the beginning bites of the eat-off Saturday morning in the woods behind O'Brien Stadium. The event attracted many people who had various reasons for attending.

Junior Brenda Slifer said, "I knew a guy in the eat-off and I wanted to see someone get sick."

Slifer got her wish when sophomore Dan Koester did just that in the third round.

Freshman Sandie Laster said, "I'm really glad I came to the eat-off. I've never been to an eating contest before. I couldn't believe how much food they stuffed into their mouths."

Sophomore Dave Bryden stuffed the King Bionic into his mouth in a time of 7:30 to win the first round of competition.

"The whole key to winning it was the way my partner, sophomore Kelly Bridges, fed me," Bryden said. "I was mad at her at the start, but then she started feeding me right. I didn't take time to even taste the King Bionic because I was eating so fast. My jaws hurt now."

As the second round began, an occasional "shove it down his throat" and "eat it, eat it" could be heard from within the crowd.

Lyon, who was fed by partner freshman Lauren Glasgow, won the second round with a time of 6:26.

When the third round began,

Lyons' time was the score to beat in order to win the eat-off.

Glasgow said, "It was really fun, we're going to do it again. We were only two seconds away from winning."

Students get chance to register in drive

by Lisa Jostes

Eastern students who have not registered to vote in Coles County will be able to register this week at the Student Senate voter registration drive.

The main purpose of the registration drive is to "encourage" students to register to vote in the November election, Coles County Election Administrator Betty Coffrin said.

The drive will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the Union Ballroom.

Students will need to bring a driver's license and proof of Coles County residency such as a residence hall meal sticker or an addressed bill or letter, Coffrin said.

Students also will be able to make an official voting district address change at the drive, Senate Speaker Terese Lang said.

Students who are registered voters in Coles County should report address changes if they have moved to a residence in another precinct.

Coffrin added that 18 student senators were sworn in as deputy registrars for the voter registration drive.

Two Coles County Courthouse supervisors also will be helping with the drive to help answer any questions about registration, Coffrin said.

Coles County Clerk Jackie Bacon also will be assisting at the drive.

Bacon has helped organize Student Senate voter registration drives since she has been in office, Coffrin said.

China will not join nuclear ban

PEKING—China on Sunday said it will not join a world nuclear test ban until the Soviet Union and the United States reduce their nuclear arsenals.

The English-language Peking Daily said in an editorial that a nuclear ban without reduction of existing arsenals would only help Moscow and Washington consolidate their nuclear superiority over non-nuclear states.

"The Chinese government is willing to undertake its obligation after the two superpowers fulfill theirs," it said.

Leaders want alternative to war

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Academic leaders representing 25 colleges and universities have signed a letter asking President Reagan to seek alternatives to nuclear war.

The letter, made public Friday by the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame, asks the president to make a "major investment in planning, negotiating and cooperation to establish civilized, effective and morally acceptable alternatives to nuclear war."

Princess: kids challenging

LONDON—Princess Grace said in one of her final interviews that the raising of children was her greatest challenge.

"Being a mother is a very creative job," she said. "In today's world, it may be looked down on but I think there is no greater challenge to women than raising children and trying to help them build their characters."

The interview was carried in the Sunday People, a British tabloid newspaper. The princess died at the age of 52 after an auto accident.

Princess Grace, who gave up a Hollywood film career to marry Prince Rainier of Monaco, said, "You want to give them your experiences in life, but they have to learn for themselves. You cannot make your children's decisions."

Volkswagen takes top ranking

WASHINGTON—For the sixth straight year, Volkswagen has captured the top spot in the government's annual mileage rankings, taking No. 1 with an innovative car that has a stop-and-start engine.

The Big Three U.S. companies, which managed to break the foreign stranglehold on the top 10 for the first time last year, had no such luck with 1983 models. The best they could do was No. 11 for two General Motors cars equipped with Japanese-built engines.

The No. 1 car, a diesel-powered Volkswagen Rabbit, became the first vehicle to reach the 50-miles-per-gallon barrier in the annual rankings released Sunday by the Environmental Protection Agency. EPA ranks cars according to their mileage on its urban driving test.

Crowd demands Begin to resign

JERUSALEM (AP)—Prime Minister Menachem Begin held an emergency Cabinet meeting Sunday as hundreds of Israelis protested the massacre of Palestinian civilians in two Beirut refugee camps.

An estimated 500 demonstrators gathered at Begin's home and broke the tranquility of the Jewish New York holiday with shouts demanding that Begin and Defense Minister Ariel Sharon resign.

Police scuffled with the protestors and used tear gas to disperse the crowd that included at least four left-wing members of Parliament.

Another crowd of angry demonstrators was waiting when Begin emerged from a synagogue Sunday afternoon after a prayer service and about 150 people staged a protest near the northern border with Lebanon, Israel radio reported.

Opposition Labor Party Shimon Peres went on television to demand that Begin and Sharon resign, saying "they have ministerial responsibility for two things"—ordering Israeli troops into west Beirut last Wednesday and allowing the massacre to occur.

Egypt, Israel's only friend in the Arab world, announced Sunday it may withdraw its ambassador from Tele Aviv in protest if the fighting in Lebanon escalates.

President Reagan, who expressed "outrage and revulsion" at the hundreds of deaths in the refugee camp massacres, has called for the immediate withdrawal of Israeli troops from west Beirut.

Begin's government, seeking to ease some of the pressure, began moving troops out of several Beirut neighborhoods but there was no indication of a full-scale evacuation from the Lebanese capital.

Massacre blamed on Israelis

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Justified or not, blame for the massacre in two Palestinian refugee camps is falling on Israel, which shouldered responsibility for keeping the peace when it stepped into west Beirut and the heart of the Lebanese tragedy—last week.

Israel said it sent troops into Beirut's Moslem sector to prevent chaos and more bloodshed after the slaying of Christian President-elect Bashir Gemayel. At the very least, the ensuing massacre by Christian gunmen has to be considered a ghastly policy backfire.

Israelis are asking many questions about the slayings, blamed by officials here on militiamen loyal to Gemayel's Phalange Party.

How could revenge-minded Phalangist have been let into the camps? If they sneaked in, why didn't Israel troops have better control? And the toughest question of all: When will there be an end to Israel's seemingly endless involvement in Lebanon?

Stung by the massacre at the Sabra and Chatilla camps in west Beirut, which the International Red Cross said left hundreds dead, Israeli troops pulled back from the camps Sunday and let Lebanese army soldiers take over.

The Foreign Ministry sought to deflect criticism by saying, "The massacre is only proof of what we feared might happen, and the presence of the Israel Defense Forces has prevented a much greater massacre from taking place."

Rail service in Illinois halted

CHICAGO, (AP)—A nationwide strike halted much of the rail service in Illinois Sunday and promised trouble for 120,000 people who ride commuter lines on weekdays in the Chicago area.

The Regional Transportation Authority, which oversees mass transit in the six-county Chicago area, said it has drawn up contingency plans for some alternate service, but withheld releasing them publicly, saying it wants to continue "monitoring the situation in Washington."

Subways, elevated trains and buses are unaffected by the strike by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Negotiations in Washington broke down Sunday morning and while new talks were scheduled there were efforts to get them back together.

The RTA said the only commuter line operating in the Chicago area is the South Shore Line, which travels along the southern rim of Lake Michigan to South Bend, Ind. Engineers for that line are covered by different labor contract.

Most Amtrak service was discontinued in Illinois, except for some trains also not covered by the national agreement.

Three internal candidates to compete for dean's job

by Madeleine Doubek

Students and faculty will have the opportunity this week and early next week to interview the three internal candidates competing for the dean of the School of Education position.

Associate Dean of the School of Education George Schlinsog will be interviewed on Monday and Tuesday.

Charles Joley, director of the Occupational Education and University Liaison Officer to the Illinois Office of Education, will field questions on Wednesday and Thursday.

Donald Smitley, chairman of the Department of School Service Personnel, will be available for questioning on Sept. 27 and 28.

The candidates are scheduled to field questions from a variety of groups and committees.

Faculty and department chairmen from each of the departments in the education school will have the opportunity to interview the candidates as will members of Eastern's administrative councils—the Council on Academic Affairs, the Council on Teacher Education, the Council on Graduate Studies and the Faculty Senate.

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin, Vice President for Academic Affairs Stanley Rives and the deans from Eastern's seven schools also will have the opportunity to interview the candidates.

A special time also has been set aside for any faculty or interested student to question the candidates.

Any student or faculty member can talk to the candidates from 2 to 3 p.m. in the Union addition Oakland Room throughout the six interviewing days.

Donald Lauda, education search committee chairman for the School of Education dean, said, "We are asking for people to let the committee know how they feel about the candidates."

Lauda said anyone who wants to comment on the candidates should do so by Oct. 1. Interview response forms will be available at the conference rooms and comments should be directed to the search committee.

"People can call on the phone or write their opinions on the back of a napkin," Lauda said, "just so long as they let us know how they feel about the candidates."

In addition, the search committee has invited administrative personnel from local public school sectors to question the candidates.

"We would like input from the public school sector. It is important because the School of Education is in the business of providing teachers for the public schools," Lauda said.

Lauda said he hopes to meet with the search committee members and make a recommendation to Marvin by the first week of October.

Marvin then will announce his final decision, Lauda said.

If a dean cannot be selected from Eastern's three candidates, an external search will be conducted during the next academic year, Lauda added.

The position for the School of Education dean opened up last spring when it was vacated by Frank Lutz.

Candidates for the position are required to have an earned doctorate with college teaching experience, a minimum of three years of administrative experience, eligibility for rank within one of the university departments and the ability to work with state public school personnel.

Make voices heard—register to vote

Editorial

Eastern students should let their voices be heard by registering to vote in this week's Student Senate voter registration drive.

Students who have not yet registered to vote will be able to do so Sept. 20, 21 and 22 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the University Union Ballroom.

In order to register to vote, a student need only present a driver's license and proof of Coles County residency, such as a residence hall meal sticker or an addressed bill or letter.

Students who are currently registered in Coles County can change their addresses if they have recently moved.

It is vital that students register in Coles County because they live here nine months out of the year and, thus, are represented mainly by officials elected from this area.

Registering to vote will only take a few minutes and opens the door to an opportunity to express your views through one basic American right. Many times, college age voters complain about state laws or policies. By registering, those voters give themselves a chance to take action to end those complaints.

If students register to vote, the 18- to 21-year-old age group is one step closer to turning itself into a powerful voting body.

Students should register to vote now so they can actively participate in the November election and choose officials who give them the type of representation they need.

And now, more than ever before, with tuition rising and financial aid being cut, students need to tell their state representatives know their concerns and feelings.

The Student Senate should be commended for organizing the voter registration drive at a location that makes it more convenient for students to register to vote.

So, if you're not registered, take advantage of this opportunity and register to vote. Then, put that registration to work and prove that student needs must be heard and served.

The Northern Star

Officials praised for not requiring signed reports

A lot of people get a bit edgy when they're asked to sign on the dotted line. They begin looking for the fine print even when it's not there. And they wonder if the signed document will come back to haunt them.

Well, it appears that a few Northern officials are familiar with these feelings. And it appears Northern students won't have any reason to get edgy when it's time for them to evaluate teachers.

However, some Eastern Illinois University faculty members seem to think it is important to know the names of students filling out evaluations. We don't think so.

When asked about requiring students to sign faculty evaluations, two Northern officials said "no," and one official wanted signatures to remain optional.

We are sure pleased to hear these officials feel this way, and we hope other officials at Northern feel the same.

Not only are their views encouraging, but also their reasoning.

Students should not be forced to put themselves on the line—especially when it is unnecessary. Eastern's Faculty Senate's proposal to hold students accountable for what they might say misses the purpose of the evaluations.

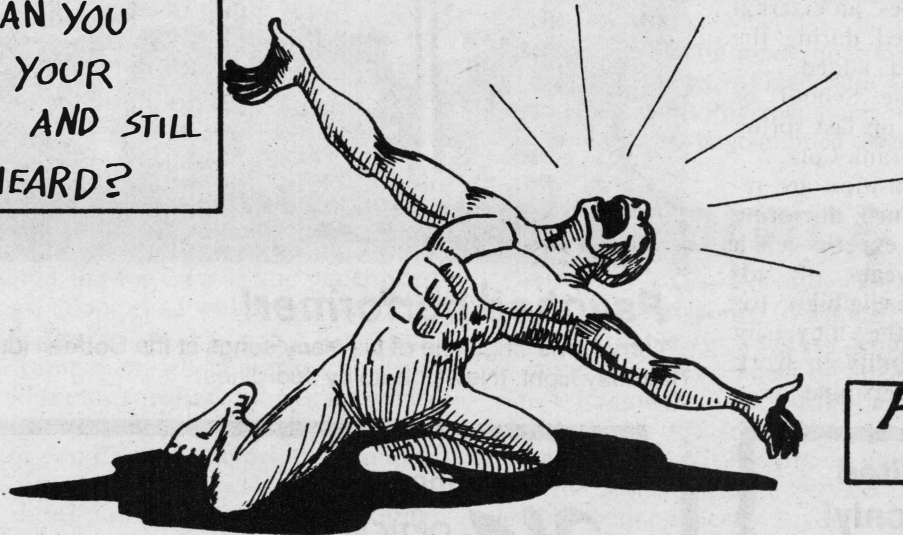

Next thing you know, Eastern faculty members will want to help their students answer "correctly." In effect, there would be no reason to ask teachers to leave the room while students ponder the teachers' performances.

A Northern official stressed that students' evaluations are important because they help teachers improve their courses. That is the purpose of evaluations. Signing evaluations isn't going to enlighten teachers further.

The student evaluations are meant to be viewed collectively when teachers are reviewed. If there only is one student who swears the teacher is no good, that evaluation will be viewed compared to the rest.

Finally, students should remain anonymous because of the chance of students having the same teacher again. A conflict would arise if a teacher is refused a pay increase because of student evaluations.

Band replies to column

Editor:

This letter is in regard to a statement made by Keith Clark in Thursday, Sept. 16's issue of The Daily Eastern News. In his personal file, he stated, "The Pink Panthers did practically the same routine they have been doing for the past three years and the band played many of the same songs we have heard countless times."

Keith, you seem to have the notion that the Marching Blue gets together on Saturday morning and practices a show, learned at the beginning of the year, for a few minutes and then goes onto the field to perform it. Well, sir, it's not that easy. So far we have had three home games in a row. There are only five days in a week excluding weekends. We utilize all of those days learning, practicing and perfecting our shows. Contrary to what you say, Keith, we change the show every week. Granted, some parts may be carried over to the next week's, if there are two games in a row, but the show as a whole is always different.

The reason for carry-overs should be obvious. It is physically impossible to teach 172 people four or five new drills to perform every week. Time simply does not permit it. It may appear easy to march in different formations, but it takes countless hours of work to perfect our formations.

We are very dedicated to what we do. If you are bored with us, Keith, why don't you join us and use constructively the time you waste complaining?

This letter was signed by 172 band members

Attendance not needed

Editor:

In response to John Humenik's "Apathy Crusaders" commentary (Sept. 14), I would like to reply that being a student at Eastern does not require attendance or support of the athletic teams. I am personally a very big sports and college football fan but have not and probably will not see an Eastern game this year.

The main reason I doubt I will enter O'Brien Stadium is that after watching powerhouses like Clemson, Georgia, North Carolina and Pittsburgh, I felt I would have been disappointed with Northeast Missouri. Also, attending the Saturday afternoon game would have meant forfeiting the chance to see other top-ranked football games and possibly the best tennis day of the year.

I have heard many good reports on the Panther football squad and would like to see them do well in Division I-AA. However, I would rather see the top-ranked teams compete on television than sit in a bad seat at O'Brien and watch Northeast Missouri, Wayne

State or Akron.

The article claims it is "unfair to players" that students don't support the teams. Those players are also students and I would dare to say that very few of those full-ride students spend their time supporting other Eastern teams by attending their games.

Registering quick, easy

Editor:

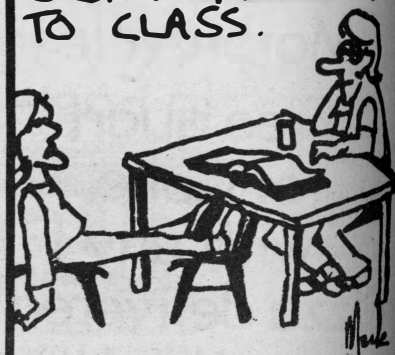

You now have the opportunity to make your voice heard. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 20-22, the Student Senate is holding its annual Voter Registration Drive. It will be held in the Union Ballroom from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This is a quick and painless process. It only takes a few minutes to register or to change your registration to Coles County, which can always be changed when you leave.

Important issues are upcoming, as are elections. These issues will affect you. The only way to have a say in them is to vote and you should be registered in Coles County. Your vote is important. The majority of your time is now spent at Eastern, so register to vote, then vote—have a voice.

WOULDN'T COLLEGE BE GREAT IF WE DIDN'T HAVE TO GO TO CLASS.

Dudley house donated to historical society

by Erin Powers

In 1891, a surge of construction took place in Charleston in an effort to upgrade the appearance of the city.

A stately old house sits at 895 Seventh St. and is a product of the surge. The deed to the house was officially presented Wednesday to the Coles County Historical Society by owner Tilford Dudley.

Four Eastern students currently reside in the Dudley home.

"The students will be permitted to go on living here through the end of the school year," Stanton Dotson, historical society president, said.

Ed DeYoung, a freshman accounting and management major, said the house "is a very fine building."

Senior Bill Jonathan, a finance and marketing major and two-year resident of the house, agreed with DeYoung.

"This is really a nice house. The woodwork is beautiful. I have really enjoyed living here," he said.

Dudley's father, Dr. Gerry Dudley, purchased the house for $7,500 when he returned from World War I in 1920.

"He apparently paid cash for it," Dudley said.

A recent appraisal estimated the house's value to be $68,000.

As time and money permit, the house will be open for public tours, Dotson said.

He said the Historical Society hopes to receive community donations for maintenance of the house.

"Mr. Dudley is very devoted to Coles County," Dotson said.

Tilford Dudley was born in 1907 on East Main Street in Charleston.

He went through the Charleston public school system and graduated from the Teacher's College High School, which was located in Old Main at Eastern.

After obtaining a law degree from Harvard Law School, Dudley moved to Washington, D.C., where his illustrious career began.

Dudley's first position was under the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He handled the legal work in a land reform project.

Dudley was given a $25 million budget with which to buy land surrounding large urban areas for town development.

"I set records in getting the job done quickly and cheaply," Dudley said. "There wasn't as much red tape in those days. We could get things accomplished faster."

Another position Dudley had was that of trial judge on the National Labor Relations Board.

"One case involving the Ford Motor Co. lasted four months," Dudley said.

During President Harry Truman's administration, Dudley was on a committee that fought for a liberal civil rights program.

Hubert Humphrey was selected as the committee's speaker. Dudley said he and several committee members stood around Humphrey while he was in his undershorts and discussed the contents of the upcoming speech in which Humphrey announced the adoption of the civil rights program.

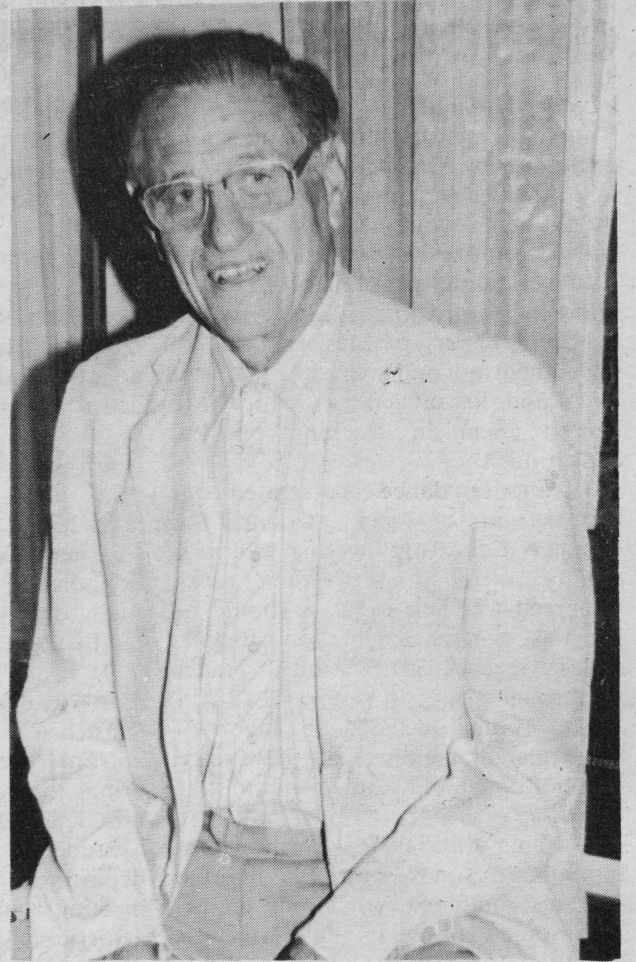

Dudley also served for a number of years on the Political Action Committee of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

"Unions hadn't been politically active before this time," Dudley said.

While serving on the PAC, Dudley said he met Eleanor Roosevelt. She was a speaker at a CIO convention in Chicago.

Dudley also said he spoke with Dwight Eisenhower and tried to convince him to accept the Democratic nomination for president in the 1948 election. The CIO felt that Truman was not a viable candidate.

After Eisenhower told Dudley that he would support big business if he became president, Dudley recommended the CIO not nominate him.

Tilford Dudley officially presented the deed to the Dudley home, located at 895 Seventh St., to the Coles County Historical Society Wednesday. (News photo by Norman Kjos)

PE majors surveyed want dance class requirement

by Mary Holland

Physical education majors questioned Sunday by The Daily Eastern News said they believe a modern dance class should be a requirement for both men and women physical education majors.

In a random sampling, PE majors said Physical Education 2230, "Techniques and Theory of Modern Dance," gives them an understanding of their body and its movements which will benefit them in teaching physical education.

The modern dance class created controversy at a recent Council of Teachers Education meeting when PE faculty members and their dean disagreed whether the class should be kept as a requirement for students seeking teacher certification in grades six through 12.

The council decided in favor of departmental members as they voted that both men and women should take the class.

Although the class was formerly only required for women PE majors, students complained that only requiring women to take the class was discriminatory.

To resolve the conflict, the PE department wanted to require both men and women to take the class.

However, Walter Lowell, dean of the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, said he believes the class should be an elective rather than a requirement because students do not want or need the class.

Yet, men and women PE majors who have taken the modern dance class disagreed with Lowell's assessment.

PE graduate student James Hall said he believes there should be more dance classes in the PE curriculum.

"It can't hurt, but it can always help," Hall said. "Why take it out just because he (Lowell) doesn't think it's right?"

Hall said many men probably think the class is "weird" at first, but they like it better once the class is underway.

Senior PE major Gary Baker, president of Eastern's Gymnastics Club, added, "I think Dean Lowell is going on a false assumption because all he's heard is the bad stuff about the class. I think it's a good deal that everyone takes it."

Other students agreed with Baker. Sophomore Becky Bates said she initially did not want to take the course but liked the class once she was in it.

"I wasn't good at dancing and didn't want to take it, but once I did, I learned a lot," she said. "The whole reason for college is to be exposed to things that you normally wouldn't expose yourself to."

Students agreed with several PE department members at the COTE meeting who said the class had an aesthetic value which justified keeping the class as a requirement.

Baker said the class taught body movements that most students are unaware of and can help athletes in any sport. "Dance is well-known for enhancing an athlete's ability."

He said half of the class is devoted to stretching exercises and added, "Any athlete needs more stretching than they're already getting."

PE majors also think the class will help their teaching future by giving them a well-rounded background, including the ability to teach dance in schools.

Apartment balcony safety worries student residents

By John Best

Some students living in Youngstowne and Regency balcony apartments believe their balconies are unsafe.

Questions concerning balcony construction arose when a balcony at 2400 Cambridge, Apt. 1210, collapsed last weekend.

Apartment dwellers at Youngstowne Apartments said they are concerned about problems with weak balcony railings at their apartments.

Bob Shatter, 312 Nantucket, said, "Our balcony is pretty unsafe. The front railing is only held in by a couple of nails."

"The balcony isn't going to fall. The problem is with the railing—it's really, really bad," Shatter said.

Carrie Kmoch, 406 Nantucket, said, "The slats (railing) around the sides are falling. We're having a party tonight (Friday) and we're keeping our legs in front, on the ground, because we're scared to put it on our balcony."

Germaine Mikelson, 408 Nantucket, said, "Some of the slats are falling out. I wouldn't have more than a few people out there at one time."

Mikelson said she reported the problem of the slats falling out to the Youngstowne office more than two weeks ago. She said she doubts the balcony will get fixed this semester.

John Young, Youngstowne Apartment owner and manager said, "We had a carpenter inspect all of those balconies and they seemed safe."

Young said the balcony that collapsed last week had been put under an "unusual amount of weight."

In addition to the weight, Young said ants had been eating into the wood which also weakened the structure.

"We've checked them all and rebuilt the ones that are bad. They're all safe," he added.

In addition, a spokesman from the Youngstowne Apartment office said the balconies were checked for repairs between the end of summer school and the beginning of fall semester.

Tom Michaels, Charleston city building inspector, said he was unaware of any major problems with apartment balconies and said he thought apartment maintenance men would handle any problems.

Residents of Regency Apartments also had complaints about their balconies.

Jim Ploetz, 31 Standford, said he complained three weeks ago to the Regency Apartment maintenance office about problems with his balcony.

"The thing just shakes when we go out there. The guy who was supposed to repair it came out here and we showed him how it shook and he left and never came back," Ploetz said.

Ploetz said he did not plan to have any parties on his balcony because he was worried that it would collapse and possibly injure or kill someone.

Chris Ambrose, 21 Windsor, said his balcony floor was rotting away and the railings were falling off.

Tom Grady, 36 Windsor, said the railing on his balcony was "damn cheap."

Doris Hamilton, Regency Apartment manager and Frank French, Regency maintenance superintendent, were unavailable for comment.

Spiker streak broken; drop three at tourney

by Susan McCann

CARBONDALE—Although Eastern's spikers' six-game winning streak was snapped Friday, the Panthers rebounded with a final-match victory to salvage their weekend at the Saluki Invitational.

The Panthers dropped a 15-7, 15-10, 11-15, 15-9 decision to Southern Illinois to open the tournament, but Eastern coach Carol Gruber said even one victory against the highly-regarded Salukis was a boost for her young squad.

The Panthers did not play well against Missouri Friday, Gruber said, and the Lady Tigers came away with a 15-12, 15-4, 15-7 victory.

The Panthers failed to break into the winning column Saturday when Louisville handed Eastern a hard-fought 10-15, 15-6, 15-12, 9-15, 15-11 loss.

But the Panthers finished the tournament with a 13-15, 15-13, 17-15, 12-15, 15-3 decision over Memphis State, raising Eastern's record to 7-4.

"The victory helped us out because we ended on an up note to prepare for the rematch with Bradley (at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Peoria)," Gruber said.

"We played 10 games on Saturday. That really tends to test your conditioning," Gruber said. "I'm proud to say so far, so good, as far as conditioning is concerned."

Although the Panthers proved they were in good physical shape, Gruber said her squad hurt itself with a less-than-potent offensive attack.

"We gave the opposition too easy a time on defense," Gruber said. "We need to put the ball over more aggressively."

Southern stops spikers

After dropping the first two games with the Salukis, Eastern fell behind 8-1 in the match's third game.

Sonia Locke scored two kills to lift her squad to a 10-4 advantage, but Stacy Cook served the Panthers to within 10-8.

Mary Ann Seiwert's two aces gave Eastern a 12-10 lead and Kathy Briggs added another as the Panthers eked out a 15-11 win.

Eastern went on top 5-2 in the fourth game, but the Salukis battled back to score a 15-9 win and take the match.

Missouri sweeps Panthers

The Panthers jumped ahead of the Lady Tigers 8-5 in the first game, but five service aces by Sharen Olmstead boosted Missouri to the opening win.

Olmstead added two more aces and Dianne Berg hit an unreachable serve for the final point in the second game.

Missouri chalked up the victory with a 15-7 triumph.

Louisville edges Eastern

The Panthers got off to a quick start against the Cardinals, with Briggs serving an ace to open the match. But Louisville rallied to take a 7-4 lead before the Lady Panthers could regroup.

After notching the opening-game victory, Lesa Moore, who played for Eastern in 1980 before transferring to Louisville, went to work on the Panthers. She served seven straight points, including three aces, to put her squad on top by a 7-0 score.

Although the Panthers never threatened in the second game, they held a 12-10 lead in the match's third game.

But Eastern's spikers were stopped cold and Louisville reeled off five points to take a 2-1 lead in the match.

The Lady Panthers then rallied with a 15-9 win, but a pair of serving errors at crucial times killed Eastern's chances in the deciding game.

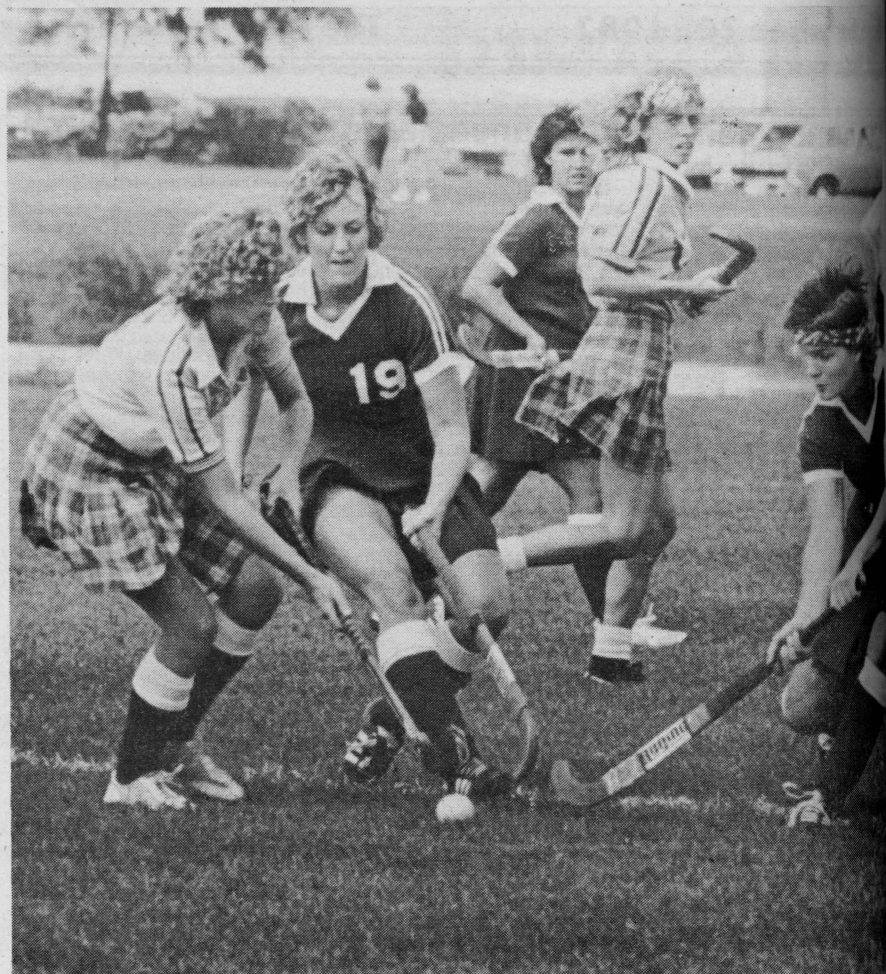

Panthers outlast Memphis

Eastern lead Memphis State 9-5 in the first game, but the Lady Tigers roared back to take a 10-9 lead en route to the 15-13 victory.

In the second game, the Panthers fought back from an 11-6 deficit to score a 15-13 victory.

Eastern went on top with a grueling 17-15 win in the match's third game. Briggs served six straight points, pulling the Panthers within 14-13 and Rhonda Morel scored a kill for the game's final point.

Eastern jumped out to a 13-1 lead and coasted to the final-game 15-3 triumph.

Tough defense?

Leading 13-0 in the third quarter, Christensen drove Eastern to another score, this time hooking up with Nixon from eight yards out with 5:07 remaining in the third quarter.

During that drive which notched 10 plays and 54 yards, Christensen used Staple and Nixon mainly as receivers. On the second play of the series, Christensen hit Nixon for a 15-yard pass reception and six plays later found Staple for a nine-yard completion.

Kicker Dave Strauch added the extra point to increase the Panthers' margin to 20-0. Christensen concluded Eastern's scoring with a 19-yard pass to Jerry Wright with 4:34 remaining in the contest.

During that drive, Christensen found Holoman and Androff for seven- and 10-yard pass receptions. Staple chipped in 10 yards on the ground.

The Tartars, after missing a 35-yard field goal which was blocked by Panther Gary Bridges in the first quarter, had a golden opportunity to get on the board with 1:06 left in the game.

However, Eastern's defense, which notched 60 tackles and broke up two passing attempts in the game, held the visitors from scoring from one yard out. The Tartars had three plays inside the Panther five-yard line.

PANTHER NOTES...The Panthers now turn their attention to their Mid-Continent Conference opener against Northern Iowa in Cedar Falls Saturday night. After opening its conference slate last week on a winning note, Northern Iowa leads the four-team conference.

Ruggers trounce St. Louis 45-0

Greg Weeg scored three tries and paced Eastern's rugby club to the most points in the history of the team in defeating the St. Louis Hornets 45-0 Saturday at Lantz Field.

Weeg's performance was nearly matched by stand-off Dave Lehman, who scored two tries. The most points ever scored by an Eastern rugby team until Saturday came in 1977 when Eastern slammed the Decatur Raiders 44-0.

Winger Mark Horevitz scored on a long run to get the club going and Juan Martinez added the conversion to lift Eastern ahead 6-0. Two minutes later, Weeg shook off two tacklers and gave the club a comfortable 12-0 edge.

Other scoring in the match came on a 25-yard drop-goal by scrum-half Dan Lehman, a long run by Mike Mohler, and a hard-hitting seven-yard plunge by Jon Olson.

The victory lifts Eastern's record to 2-0. The club had defeated Western Illinois 20-0 last weekend. Eastern plays Illinois State in Normal Saturday.

Women booters fall

Eastern's women's soccer team was edged 2-1 Saturday by Quincy College. Eastern's lone score was powered by Dee Dee Durborou on a first-half penalty kick.

Forwards Mary Tiegs and newcomer Teri Robinson were instrumental in leading Eastern's offense, but failed to score without the aid of a Quincy penalty.

Kelly near the crease.

Kelly saw Hough in the middle, and poked the ball over to his fellow captain. Hough just beat the clock, sending the ball past the Quincy goalie with only two seconds remaining in the opening overtime.

The second overtime came with 23 seconds remaining in the match. Just before a Quincy corner kick, a scuffle broke out between both squads and Panther Andre McKenzie and Hawk Jack Horas were sent to the bench by referee Ed Braun for the final seconds.

It seemed to fire Quincy up, and after Hartman made the initial stop on Joe Waldron's shot, the ball caromed off the near post onto Bufe's foot. His shot beat the sprawled Hartman with 13 seconds left and the match ended in the 3-3 draw.

The tie spoiled what could have been an even more rewarding day for Hough, he said. "This has been our luck all year," Hough said.

In Friday's match against Creighton, Hyndman said he thought the Panthers were "flat" but admitted that "they were probably all thinking about the Quincy game instead."

Cross country round-up

Men harriers fall despite strong run

Rhea Nail

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Despite running a strong team race, Eastern's men's cross country team suffered its first defeat this season as the Purdue Bluemakers' edged the Panthers 25-32 Friday.

Purdue's Bill Shuey won the race with a time of 14:43, and Eastern's Tim Warneke led the Panthers in a second place finish and a 24:21.2 time. Panther Perry Edinger rounded out the front three with a 33:33 clocking.

Jack Farson and Curt Carey finished fourth and fifth respectively for Purdue and Eastern's John Sperry rounded out the top six. Shuey, Edinger and Warneke were tied after the first mile but at the second-mile mark Shuey took the lead for good.

Shuey took a 10-yard lead on both Edinger and Warneke before eventually increasing that distance at the four-mile mark. Warneke opened up some ground between himself and Edinger, but could not challenge Shuey, who won by seven seconds.

"We ran a real super race," assistant cross country coach Tom Akers said. "I was real pleased with our runners. They really came through for the team."

"We really went out and went after them (Purdue)," Akers added. "We corrected our problem of keeping our middle runners in a pack and it showed them that it makes a difference."

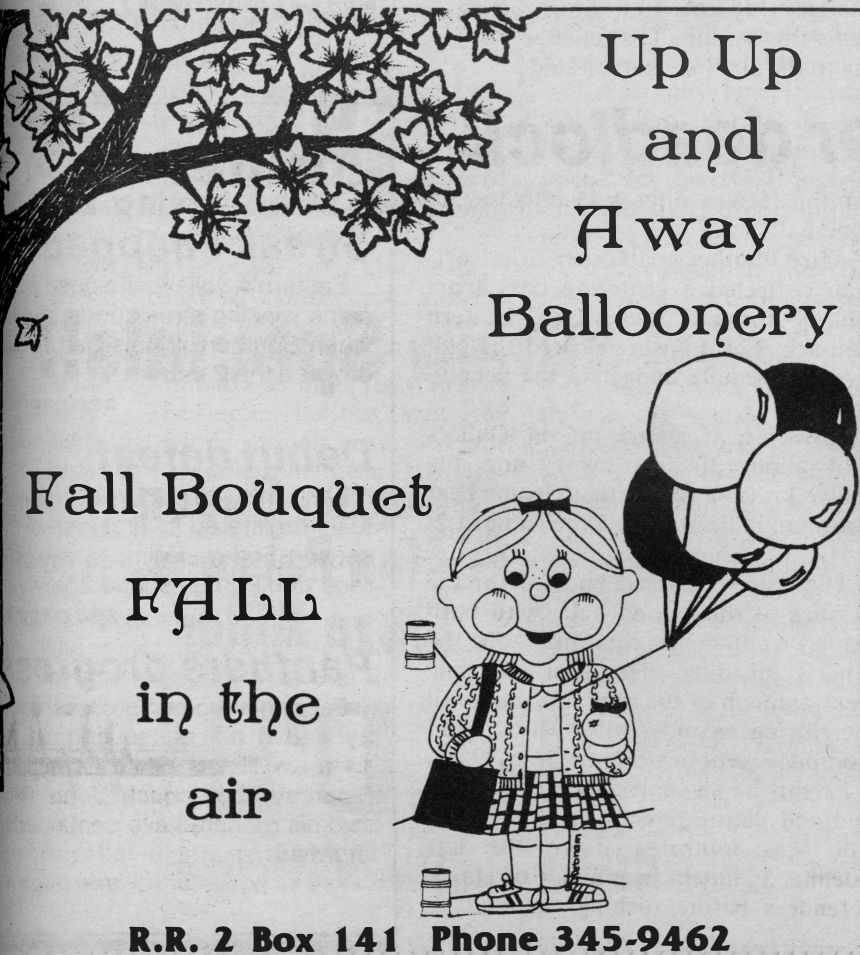

"We're getting our confidence going and we keep improving," Akers said. "I couldn't be any happier with the race we ran on Friday."

Women place seventh

NORMAL—Eastern's women's cross country team placed seventh Saturday in the 11-team Illinois State Invitational. The Panthers were lead by Gina Sperry's 10th place finish and 18:09 clocking.

Margaret Smith and Nancy Kramer placed 26th and 43rd respectively to round out Eastern's top three. Carrie Mortell placed 44th and Ann Ogle finished in 48th place.

"I thought we could've done better, but you can't complain when your runners are doing better," women's head coach John Craft said. "I have to be pleased because we're making progress."

Leads Panthers past Wayne State

Christensen resurrects Panther pass attack

by John Humenik

For the past two weeks, Eastern quarterback Jeff Christensen has been booed, criticized and blamed for the Panthers' dismal passing attack. However, Christensen said he proved his doubters wrong Saturday in leading Eastern past Wayne State 27-0 at O'Brien Field.

"I'm back to stay," Christensen said. "Last week when I got booed leaving the field it really woke me up. I'm not upset about that, but I just don't want it to happen again."

"I just needed to get my rhythm back and today was the day," the senior quarterback added. "It takes time, and now I'm getting the feel for our receivers."

Christensen, who threw for 38 yards last week against Northeast Missouri, completed 22 of 36 attempts Saturday for 314 yards. Four of Christensen's tosses translated into touchdowns to help Eastern lift its record to 3-0.

"I was thrilled today for Jeff," quarterback and receiver coach Chris Peterson said. "It has been really frustrating on Jeff and me this season. It really makes me happy he had a good game."

For the first two games, Eastern utilized its running game to beat Illinois State 27-14 and Northeast Missouri 18-17. However, the Panther running game took a back seat Saturday.

"This week I had to pick us up because our running game wasn't as effective," Christensen said. "It wasn't as hard as it looked. It was just a matter of me throwing up to my potential."

Christensen said the big difference Saturday was not so much his performance as it was offensive coach Chuck Dickerson's ability to mix up the plays. When the Panthers had trouble running their sweep and gaining traction on the damp field, Dickerson chose to concentrate on passing.

"They (Wayne State) were keying on our sweep, so we had to make some changes for the first time during a game this season. That change was going to the air," Dickerson said.

"We wanted to tune up our passing game and this week we got back to our basics," Dickerson added. "Jeff really responded well to our mixing of running and passing plays."

Eastern's halfbacks Kevin Staple and Wes Nixon said the switch to an aerial attack affected them, as the pair registered 65 and three yards respectively for the afternoon. The Panthers notched 135 yards totally as Christensen chipped in 19 yards and Darryon White added 48 yards.

"The traction was poor and the (the Tartars) were really playing our run," Staple said. "We said before the game we were going to concentrate on passing, but I felt I could have had a better day."

Eastern's offense made its first mark in the second quarter when Christensen found tight end Dirk Androff for an 11-yard touchdown pass and a 7-0 lead. That drive notched 80 yards on 11 plays as Christensen completed five passes in registering four first downs.

The Panthers scored again on its next series and again it was Androff on the receiving end. This time the scoring play covered 24 yards. Christensen needed just a 34-yard pass completion to flanker Roger Holoman to set up the touchdown strike.

"I wasn't surprised with Jeff today," Androff said. "He's going to get better every week. He played as well as I've ever seen him and he made it easy on me."

Hough scores three in booter deadlock

by Jim Woodcock

It was an emotional roller coaster for Eastern soccer head coach Schellas Hyndman. And when the dust settled Sunday it was a low day for his booters as the Panthers had to settle for a 3-3 overtime draw with Quincy College at Lakeside Field.

A goal by Quincy's Frank Bufe with only 13 seconds remaining in the second overtime period cast a shadow on a sparkling day for Panther forward George Hough.

The tri-captain forward collected all three tallies for Eastern including one in the closing seconds of the first overtime period.

Sunday's stalemate with Quincy coupled with the 1-0 decision over Creighton on Friday at Lakeside Field lifts the Panthers' record to 3-1-1.

"I guess I'm like the players when I say that today's game was ours," a disappointed Hyndman said. "We just weren't aggressive enough at the end and it seems like silly mistakes are the only thing that's causing us problems."

Hough started his day off early with the help of the aggressive play of striker Damien Kelly. When Quincy netminder Steve Todd called for the ball from defender John Hirlinger, Kelly reacted immediately and stepped in between the pair. His pass into the crease was on target and Hough knocked it in after 2:11 of play.

The Panthers kept the pressure on and shortly after a line-drive from Panther midfielder Agyeman Prempeh rattled off the post, Hough headed in his second goal at 30:27 of the first half. Aldo Esposito assisted on Hough's second goal with a crisp centering pass over the Quincy defense.

Quincy then got onto the scoreboard on forward Jack Horas' goal with 7:38 remaining in the half, and at halftime the Panthers enjoyed a 2-1 advantage.

However, the Panthers' lead did not last long into the second half. Defender John Gallo scored the equalizing goal for the Hawks only 4:44 into the second half.

After Panther goalkeeper Eric Hartman deflected a centering pass from Quincy forward Steve Lux, Eastern fullback Rick Lansing cleared the ball from immediate danger in the penalty area.

However, it ended up on Gallo's foot about 30 feet away, and the fullback shot a rocket that cleanly beat Hartman in deadlocking the game at 2-2.

The score remained knotted for the balance of the second half, with both teams waiting to capitalize on the other's mistakes. The first overtime went in much of the same fashion until the closing seconds, when Hough and Company went to work again.

Prempeh had control of the ball near midfield before passing to Swindells, who was motoring down the left sideline. Swindells beat a pair of Hawk defenders before dishing the ball to
