Special Olympics participants reap rewards Saturday

By TAMMIE LEIGH BROWN
City editor

Steve Howe gracefully took off his hat when Eastern's Brean Ramsey placed a ribbon-strung Special Olympics Family Festival medal around his neck.

Howe, a 49-year-old Special Olympian from Decatur, said he had fun participating in the 14th annual festival Saturday at Lakeland College in Mattoon.

Of the 1,200 volunteers, more than 700 Eastern students were Friends-for-a-Day for the festival. And Ramsey, a freshman pre-medicine major, was Howe's Friend-for-a-Day.

Ramsey said she volunteered because she was interested in the event.

"And it was so great," she said.

She admits that Howe was a challenge at first, because he was "excited to get to going and participate in every game."

But after she assured him he would get a chance to play with everything, they both had a great time.

Proudly pulling nine ribbons of participation out of Howe's goody bag, Ramsey said Howe was good at every game he tried.

But Howe was modest about his great feats, only saying "this is an early birthday present." Howe will be 50 on Tuesday.

Festival events included karaoke, golf, clown rebound, skeet ball, darts, bowling and bow and arrow.

The duo even rode on a fire truck. Ramsey said Howe was such a gentlemen because after he got off of the truck, he helped the younger people on the ride get off as well.

"He's very social," Ramsey said. "And he talks to everyone."

The event, geared toward Special Olympians of Central Illinois, was a day of music, games, and entertainment for more than 1,000 people.

The festival is essentially a fun day for anyone who had participated in Special Olympic games during the past year.

The day featured a parade and carnival-type events, which

CUPB allocates funds for three police officers

By DEANA POOLE
Administration editor

The Council on University Planning and Budget Friday approved a $33,000 allocation to match a federal grant to fund three additional university police officers.

"This $33,000 is going to part of their salaries," said Lou Hencken, vice president for student affairs.

The grant began three years ago under the Federal Crime Bill which sought to put more officers onto the streets. Last year, three police officers were added to the university's police force.

Hencken said after the grant ends, the university will not have to continue making special allocations for the officers' salaries.

"This is totally self-sufficient," he said. "We've moved all money in for their salaries incrementally over a three-year period."

CUPB members also approved an annual allocation of $200,000 for the purchase of new computers for the university.

"This is $200,000 in recurring money just to buy computers and $150,000 of that will go to Academic Affairs," said Eastern's President David Jorns.

CUPB members also discussed how the university spent money during Fiscal Year 1997.

During FY 97, Eastern spent $3,903,714 in appropriated operating funds, which is $676,314 more than the university received from the state and through tuition and fees.

Kim Furumo, director of budgeting, said the university had additional money to spend for planning because pay-outs were low last year.

"Pay-outs were low and sick leave was low, so a lot of money

"This is totally self-sufficient. We've moved all money in for their salaries incrementally over a three-year period."

- Lou Hencken, vice president for student affairs went into planning," she said.

Pay-outs include medical coverage for faculty and staff and paid sick days.

"We are going to be pushing a million (dollars) in sick leave and accrued leave pay-outs," Jorns said. "This will be a tight year."

"I think we'll have higher pay-outs and retirements this year, so I hope we can keep the planning money up," Furumo said.

The university also spent $1,132,802 on planning expenditures during FY 97.

In other CUPB business:

CUPB members were given the third draft of Eastern's constitutional plan, which was formerly called the strategic plan.

The plan is a list of goals and objectives the university will complete by the year 2000.

"This is the third draft and if you accept this draft, it will be the last one," Jorns said.

Jorns asked members to take the draft back to faculty and staff members for feedback. He said members will vote on the plan on Oct. 17.

CUPB members Richard Keiter, professor of chemistry; Lida Wall, dean of the College of Sciences; Ted Weidner, director of facilities planning and management; Brian Anderson, graduate student; and Bill Schnackel, director of housing and dining services were

Eastern's faculty salaries 18.4 percent lower than state average

By DEANA POOLE
Administration editor

Eastern's faculty salaries remain 18.4 percent lower than the state average, despite a 13.9 percent salary increase over the past three years.

According to the Illinois Board of Higher Education's Weighted Average Faculty Salary Survey, Eastern's faculty salaries for fiscal year 1997 average $43,400, which is $9,800 lower than the state average of $53,200 a year.

Eastern professors receive an average of $53,500, which is $13,000 or 19.5 percent lower than the state average. Associate professors receive $45,300, which is $4,100 or 8.3 percent lower than the state average. Assistant professors receive $36,300, which is $5,800 or 13.8 percent lower than the state average. Instructors receive an average of $24,400 a year, which is $2,400 or 9 percent lower than the state average.

Kim Furumo, director of budgeting, said Eastern faculty members have received significant salary increases since 1995.

"We have made that a top budget priority for several years and designated a lot of resources to it," Furumo said.

Eastern's President David Jorns said last year Academic Affairs allocated $302,000 to aid in funding salary increases.

"The amount of money that could have been spent on equipment was put into the salary pool, making it far and above the amount given by the IBHE," said Terry Weidner, vice president for academic affairs.

During the past three fiscal years, faculty have received an increase in salary of 13.9 percent, which is 6.6 percent higher than the average state salary increase of 7.3 percent.

"Our increases have been significantly higher than increases given at other institutions," Furumo said.

The average Eastern salary in FY 95 was $38,100 and $40,900 in FY 96.

"You can see how underfunded our faculty have been at a comparable level," Furumo said.

"We are making progress," she said.

◆ LOOKING FOR VOLUNTEERS

The EIU Blood Drive Committee is looking for students interested in helping with the blood drive or volunteers to work a blood drive.

The committee meets at 7 p.m. Wednesdays in the Kansas Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

The first blood drive of the semester will be Sept. 29 to Oct. 1 from 1 to 7 p.m., and Oct. 2 and 3 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the University Ballroom of the Union.

Any students interested in volunteering should call ANNE BERGSTROM at 581-2237.

◆ AIDS EDUCATION

The University Board is working to bring the AIDS Memorial Quilt to Eastern this winter and is looking for enthusiastic students to participate in bringing the quilt to campus.

The UB AIDS Memorial Quilt Committee will have an informational meeting at 9 p.m. Tuesday in the Charleston/Mattoon Room of the Union.

For more information or to ask questions contact MELINDA MORRIS or ANNE YBARRA in the UB office at 581-5117.

◆ WORKING TOGETHER

Eastern students have an opportunity to work with elementary students in the Adopt-A-Student program. The program pairs Eastern students with elementary students to work together for one hour a week for four weeks to work on homework, reading and other school activities.

CYNTHIA RICH, reading tutorial director for the Reading Center, is in charge of the program. Any students interested in joining the session that begins Oct. 14 can sign up by calling her at 5728 or coming by the Reading Tutorial Center.

Rich also is trying to plan other activities regarding multiculturalism in schools and would like to have Eastern students help with these activities.

◆ NEW EXECUTIVES

The Multi-Cultural Student Union elected its new executive officers for the 1997-98 year.

The new officers are: Executive Director MORAN BEASLEY, a senior history major; Vice President CATIE KIRSCHNER, a senior elementary education major; Secretaries YOLANDA BAILEY, a senior psychology major and JILL GEOCARIS, a senior social science major; Treasurer KEITH JOHNSON, a senior psychology major; and Historian RYAN HARDIN, a senior education major.

MCSU meets at 6 p.m. every Wednesday in the Martinsville Room. All students are welcome.

Beasley said the group's function is to celebrate the diversity of individuals while learning to work together as a people.

So far, MCSU is planning a panel discussion on campus life and the stereotypes at Eastern for this semester, Beasley said. The group also will be having a bake sale sometime in the semester.

Charges filed in decades-old crimes

TORONTO (AP) — Seven former employees of a Catholic boarding school were charged Thursday with sexually and physically abusing Cree Indian students decades ago in northern Ontario.

The charges resulted from a five-year investigation into horrific allegations of abuse at St. Anne's Residential School in the remote community of Fort Albany, on the western shore of James Bay. The school closed in 1973.

Former students told investigators of being raped by priests, lashed with wire whips and receiving shocks while strapped into a homemade electric chair.

St. Anne's opened in 1903 and was run by the Roman Catholic church on behalf of the federal government.

In 1992, the Fort Albany Cree community asked the Ontario police to investigate after years of hearing stories of abuse at the school. Investigators interviewed more than 900 former students.

The five men and two women charged, who are to appear in court in Sudbury, Ontario, on Oct. 15, ranged in age from 49 to 77. The charges included indecent assault and assault causing bodily harm.

The police investigation divided the Cree community in Fort Albany, where Catholicism is the predominant religion. Many former victims and their supporters were eager to see the abusers brought to justice, but some elders argued that holding trials would needlessly reopen old wounds.

Chechens defie Russia with executions

GROZNY, Russia (AP) — With bursts of gunfire from their AK-47 rifles, members of a Chechen firing squad sent a defiant message to Moscow on Thursday as they publicly executed two convicted murderers.

The executions, the second this month, were carried out under recently imposed Islamic law.

They were intended both as a graphic warning to criminals in the restive Muslim republic and as the latest assertion of Chechnya's independence from Russia, which denounced the earlier executions.

A crowd of several thousand gathered to watch in Grozny's former Friendship Square as the two convicts were chained to a wall, a black cloth draped behind them. The men were allowed to pray after they were brought to the square.

The pair, convicted of killing two women and an 11-year-old girl, were shot to death by six male relatives of the victims.

Three of the executioners wore masks.

One of the convicts survived the first erratic blasts of gunfire. A member of the firing squad then rushed up and unloaded a fatal barrage into him, a scene shown on Russian television news.

As the shots were fired, the crowd shouted "God is great!" Many onlookers praised Chechen authorities for resisting Russian pressure to stop public executions, but others wept. Malika Takhayeva said she was rethinking her support of public executions after witnessing Thursday's killings.

"After what I've seen, I'm not sure it was right," she said.

"It was very shocking. I probably will be unable to sleep for a week after this."

An Islamic court found that Rasul Dashukayev, 29, and Said-

Hasan Khasiyev, 26, had stabbed to death three members of a family they stayed with in a Chechen village.

In Moscow, where President Boris Yeltsin had described the Sept. 3 executions of a man and woman in Grozny as "medieval," a Russian official swiftly spoke out against the latest killings.

Deputy Prime Minister Ramazan Abdulatipov said the public executions fly in the face of international law cited so often by Chechen authorities. "One should act toughly, but at the same time within the framework of the law," he said, according to the Interfax news agency.

The furor over the executions highlights ongoing tensions between Russia and Chechnya, where the Muslim authorities continue to thumb their noses at Moscow and run the southern republic as if it were an independent country.

such as: the blue M&M, Batman and Robin and Ronald McDonald.

All participants received a T-shirt, ribbons and a medal. Their names were entered into a drawing in which they had a chance to win anything from Walkmans to 19 inch televisions which were donated by area merchants.

"(The event) was wonderful," said Dan Horn, festival chair. The 13-year veteran said, "This won't be my last year. As long as I'm in the area, I'll be here."

Horn said he is grateful for Eastern's cooperation in organizing so many volunteers because most people come out for one reason, and then return every year because of another.

"Once you do it, you're hooked, and you want to experience the day," Horn said.

Matthew Manuel, junior consumer affairs major, was glad he came to the event.

"There maybe some communication problems, but a good time is universal," he said. "Definitely people should volunteer."

The look from the faces of the clients—it's all worth it."

Ramsey agreed. She said she will be back next year.

Administrative hiring issues to be focus of Faculty Senate Members to examine Eastern's Internal Governing Policies, Senate constitution

By REAGAN BRANHAM
Managing editor

The Faculty Senate Tuesday will continue discussion of when it is appropriate for the senate to intervene on administrative hiring issues.

The senate will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the former BOG Room in Booth Library.

The two intertwining conflicts that have arisen recently — interpretation of the Faculty Senate Constitution and faculty input on Internal Governing Policies — have led to discussion of when the administration should inform the senate of issues and when the senate is allowed to give a recommendation.

The discussion of the interpretation of the constitution began two weeks ago when the senate was informed that the university was adding an assistant vice president for business affairs.

The senate was not told of the new position until a search committee was already reviewing applications.

According to the Faculty Senate Constitution, the senate should be made aware of the addition of a major administrative position before the search begins.

The senate will discuss whether an assistant vice president for business affairs is a major administrative position.

"What we need to do is get a clarification for our interpretation," said Faculty Senate Chair Gail Richard.

Richard said she does not know if the senate will take any action or if it will try to define what the constitution intended.

Richard said the senate will also discuss Eastern's Internal Governing Policies regarding administrative hirings and the role that Faculty Senate should play.

She said she also does not know if any action would be taken regarding the Internal Governing Policies.

"They also may put their own interpretation on the Internal Governing Policies," Richard said.

She said the senate also may take a referral to the person who monitors that Internal Governing Policy.

In other business, Richard said she has not heard back from Vice President for Academic Affairs Terry Weidner about the four suggested revisions the senate made to the Instructional Technology Support Plan.

Search committee sets plan of attack

Tentative schedule planned for vice president for academic affairs search

By DEANA POOLE
Administration editor

A 13-member search committee for the position of vice president for academic affairs met Friday to establish a tentative timetable for the search.

Jill Nilsen, special assistant to the president and chair of the committee, said an appointment should be made prior to spring break.

She said the position's starting date is set for July 1998 and the salary will be determined based on the candidate's qualifications.

Open on-campus interviews tentatively are scheduled for mid-January to early February, Nilsen said.

Nilsen said the advertisement for the position was published in The Chronicle of Higher Education and in Black Issues of Higher Education and sent to several universities.

Nilsen said the committee will take nominations of qualified individuals on- or off-campus.

"The committee wants to actively solicit nominations," she said.

Applications will be accepted until Oct. 17.

Nilsen said the search committee members equally represent the university.

tee members equally represent the university.

"The search committee members were chosen to represent the various colleges so that each of the academic college and the other areas were represented and so there is a balance in terms of diversity," Nilsen said.

The search committee members include, Ted Ivarie, dean of the College of Business and Applied Sciences; Ellen Keiter, chair of chemistry department; Bill Addison, professor of psychology; Reed Benedict, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology; Ron Gholson, professor of secondary education and foundation; Tina Leonard, faculty assistant in the counseling center; Ted Weidner, director of facilities planning and management; Frank Hohengarten, dean of enrollment management; Annette Samuels, assistant professor of journalism; and Sarah Bordenkircher, student vice president for student affairs.

Cynthia Nichols, director of affirmative action and cultural diversity, will act as an ex-officio member.

Terry Weidner, vice president for academic affairs, will retire in December of 1998, but will be on administrative leave beginning in

150 employers available for students at job fair

By SCOTT BOEHMER
Campus editor

Eastern students will have an opportunity to make contacts with 150 potential employers at the Fall Career Day/Job Fair Tuesday.

The job fair will run from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in Lantz Gymnasium. It is free and open to all Eastern students with a validated ID card. Alumni and non-students will be charged a $10 fee for attending.

Shirley Stewart, director of Career Services and Student Services, said the job fair is geared toward both students who are looking for jobs and internships and those trying to find out about different types of employment.

She said the job fair will include potential positions for all majors offered at Eastern.

A total of 150 employers will be in attendance, which is the largest number of employers ever at an Eastern job fair.

Stewart said in the past, 132 employers have attended job fairs at Eastern, and last fall 120 participated.

"We did a mailing to over 3,000 employers that we have in our database, and I think that mailing hit people at a time when they were interested in recruiting for internships (and) interested in recruiting for full-time positions," Stewart said.

She said one of the biggest benefits of the job fair is the opportunity for students to make contacts with potential employers. She said the companies will be looking for December, May and summer graduates.

"A lot of recruiters want to recruit in the fall, so if they want to invite students for additional interviews after the job fair they have time to do that," Stewart said.

Among the employers at the job fair will be May Department Stores, McGladrey and Pullen, LLP (an accounting firm) and Oak Brook Hills Hotel and Resort, Caterpillar.

Students will benefit by career seminars for specific majors

Today, business students have the opportunity to prepare for life after college – an opportunity to get practical experience preparing to make the transition to their specific career field.

Student Accounting and Finance Day is an all-day event geared to give students the chance to talk one on one with professionals in their career fields.

Such an activity, specifically catered to business students, is sure to be helpful to participants compared to the more general-

Editorial

ized help of the Career Planning and Placement Office, whose services may be shoved in the faces of all juniors and seniors through a 30-minute seminar/infomercial, a proposal that is pending Student Senate approval.

While Career Planning and Placement offers basic interviewing and resume-writing workshops, activities like Student Accounting and Finance Day will more likely leave students better prepared to walk into a job interview at an accounting firm.

Seniors and juniors will benefit from Accounting and Finance Day because they are one step closer to graduating everyday. These services will give students an upper-hand when applying and interviewing for a job.

Unlike the proposed Career Planning and Placement seminar, today's activities serve a very defined purpose for a specific group of students.

Certain business organizations on campus are taking the initiative today to bring the professional world to Eastern students interested in making accounting or finance a career choice.

Mock interviews will be offered to give students the experience in being interviewed by a professional in the accounting and finance fields. The interviews will be based on topics like public and private accounting and the transition from student to professional.

This is a positive way for students in these majors to get their feet in the door professionally. Thirty-seven people from accounting firms, banks and other companies will be a part of the event.

It will most certainly be a more advantageous situation for accounting and finance majors than a 30-minute seminar on career planning.

Students should take the opportunity to talk with representatives from the companies to get their names and resumes into the real world. By getting their names known, students are one step closer to finding a job.

Student-fee money is not public commodity

The American system of democracy, and most others for that matter, is based heavily upon the idea of checks and balances. Government bodies are not supposed to be able to take action without the approval of other governmental agencies.

To put it another way, a governmental agency is not supposed to be able to just write a check or take some other action without it going through all the agencies required to approve it.

One would tend to believe that members of Eastern's Student Government base their decisions on this process. And, for the most part, one would be correct.

However, that did not happen with a recent "emergency" additional allocation made by Student Vice President for Financial Affairs Steve Zielinski.

Zielinski made a $950 emergency additional allocation, which did not go through the Apportionment Board, to pay for a marching-band competition during this year's Homecoming parade.

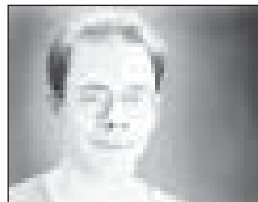

Typically, all AB additional allocations are required to go through the board itself for approval. Zielinski rationalized his choice to go without board approval by noting the extended length of time this process takes and the infrequency of AB meetings in the fall semester.

The amount of the allocation, $950, may seem trivial to Apportionment Board members, who allocate literally thousands of dollars in student fees every year.

However, their reaction to the allocation apparently will not matter now. The money – more than 10 percent of all the money they have available for all additional allocations this fall – is already on the way to the University Board's coffers.

The money will be used to pay $100 to all participating marching bands and a $75 honorarium to both of the two judges.

The idea of the high school band competition has already

SCOTT BOEHMER
Regular columnist

“What is important is the means by which the marching-band competition is funded and how that funding comes about.”

been applauded by several members of the campus and city community. But then, that is to be expected, seeing as it has been touted as a means to improve relations between Eastern and the city.

Indeed, the competition will help repair the image of Eastern's Homecoming, which was marred because of some of the actions during last year's parade.

But the issue of whether or not the competition itself should actually be funded is not what is important. What is important is the means by which it is funded and how that funding comes about.

If this competition is so important, its organizers should have coordinated it long enough in advance for the funding either to have been budgeted or to have been able to go through the proper additional-allocation process.

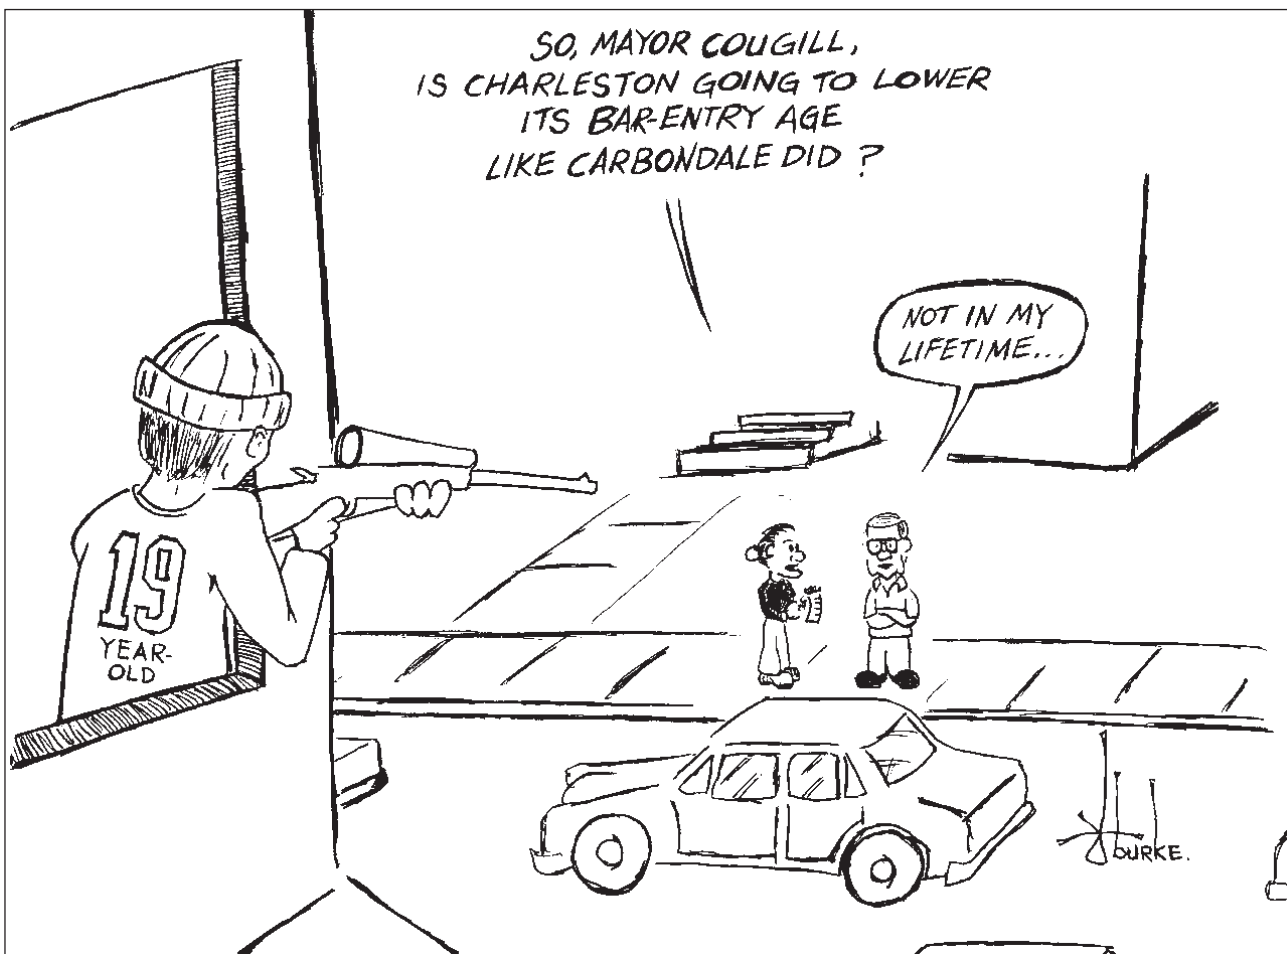

This additional-allocation process should be considered especially important when the event that it is intended to fund uses student-fee money for an event that is not geared toward students.

Another issue that should be considered is whether fee money from all students should be used to pay for an activity intended to make amends for the actions of a small minority of students. Again, more consideration on this matter should have been warranted.

Simply declaring there is an emergency need for an additional allocation does not make it so. Nor does it necessarily mean that the allocation is intended to fund should be funded through student-fee money.

Zielinski should not have the only word when it comes to how the AB dishes out student-fee money. There is a board that is set up to consider funding requests, and it should have been consulted here.

Women's rugby team reflects the very best of collegiate athletics

To the editor:

The Eastern Hornets women's rugby team had its first game of the season on Sept. 13. Despite losing 27-7 to Loyola University of Chicago, the ladies showed lots of pluck, skill and character. A goodly crowd cheered on two sides, turning in a most entertaining display reflecting the very best traditions of intercollegiate athletics.

For this fall semester, the Hornets are fortunate in having the services of an Australian coach and an American conditioner. Neville Tickner, a Central Queensland University student, is completing his undergraduate course work at Eastern and directs the Hornets' coaching. John Kilgore, a professor of English, heads up the conditioning arm of Hornets rugby.

The lady Hornets have an attractive fall schedule, and they are eager to to the throne is given the title "prince of Wales," partly to signify that he is the heir. The prince of Wales does not "become" the king of Wales. As a major in journalism, he may want to check his facts next time. I realize this may seem petty, but we owe it to Diana's memory to be correct about her son's future role.

Letter policy

The Daily Eastern News accepts letters to the editor addressing local, state, national and international issues.

They should be less than 250 words and include the author's name, telephone number and address. Students must indicate their year in school and major. Faculty, administration and staff should indicate their position and department. Letters whose authors cannot be verified will not be printed.

Depending on space constraints, we may have to edit your letter, so keep it as concise as possible.

Get the facts straight: Prince of Wales is the future king of England

To the editor:

You might want to let Kristopher Jones know that in his column Friday, he said that Princess Diana was the mother of the future king of Wales.

Just an FYI: William will be the future king of England. Wales is part of the United Kingdom, and the heir

Businesses to show-off products

Expo to feature local retailers

By JESSICA SEDGWICK
Staff writer

Businesses from the retail industry, health care providers and service organizations will be showcased at the upcoming Coles County Business Expo.

The sponsors of the event, the Charleston Area Chamber of Commerce and Mattoon Chamber of Commerce, are looking for volunteers and businesses to participate in the expo.

The two-day event is scheduled for Oct. 17 and 18. The doors will be open to the public from noon until 7 p.m. on Friday and 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Saturday. This year's Expo will be at the National Guard Armory in Mattoon, located just west of Interstate 57 on Broadway Avenue.

This business expo will target the general public. It will provide an excellent opportunity for the citizens of Charleston and Mattoon to see what products and services are available and what they have to offer, said Vallery Mullens, executive director of the Mattoon Chamber of Commerce.

The expo promotes commercial, industrial and service businesses throughout Coles County, she said.

"It provides a good opportunity for students interested in business to ask questions of the entrepreneurs and observe demonstrations presented by the exhibitors," Mullens said.

The business exposition had traditionally been held every other year, but due to demand the sponsors have decided to hold the expo annually. This will be the 12th year the two chambers of commerce have jointly sponsored this event.

"People are usually surprised at what this county has to offer," Mullens said.

Exhibitors may sell merchandise directly to the public. Food vendors will be present throughout the event. There will also be drawings for free gifts.

Expo '97 will be open to the general public. There will be no charge for admission. Free parking will be available.

For more information, entrepreneurs and volunteers can contact the Charleston Area Chamber at 345-7041 or the Mattoon Chamber at 235-5661.

Nurse allegedly spreads HIV to patients

HOUSTON (AP) — An HIV-positive nurse with a drug habit may have contaminated vials of narcotics on the job, prompting a hospital to recommend 53 former patients be tested for the AIDS virus.

There is no way to tell if dosages for patients were drawn from the vials of Demerol, Dilaudid and morphine that had been opened or tampered with at Twin Oaks Hospital, the facility's chief executive officer Steve Altmiller said Thursday.

The hospital is notifying patients it treated between July 11 and Aug. 13, he said.

The nurse passed a drug screening test before starting work in July. He resigned three weeks later, telling hospital officials he had participated in a drug-treatment program, Altmiller said.

Drinking results in bank robbery

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Getting drunk in the morning and griping about bills with the guys prompted 77-year-old grandfather Ray Boeger to hop in his Cadillac and rob a bank.

Boeger, a businessman now saddled with debts, used an unloaded gun and an old Halloween costume to make off with $1,100, he told The Orange County Register.

"I had been drinking with some friends," Boeger said. "We were talking about how the banks don't give loans to small businesses. It was money, money, money. And all the money we owed. One guy couldn't afford to pay his taxes."

Boeger is a former advertising executive who built a successful electric-car company. But bad business deals and medical bills for his wife's kidney problems left him hurting financially.

He has no prior criminal record. While downing four pints of English ale on Wednesday, Boeger got into a heated discussion about money troubles at a bar, the newspaper reported Saturday.

The beer and bad feelings "triggered something in me," Boeger said.

A little while later, he drove to the Huntington Beach branch of World Savings & Loan, armed with an unloaded pistol and wearing a fake mustache and beard left in the car since Halloween, Boeger said.

He said he asked the teller to cash an $800 check. She asked if he had a gun. He said yes, and showed it to her. Two bank employees then started shoving bundles of small bills into his hands, Boeger said.

He thanked them and left with $1,108, unaware it contained an exploding dye packet that went off and splattered him with red ink when he got outside the bank.

On his way home, he said he went to another bar and had a couple more beers. A witness near the bank gave police his license plate number and he was arrested a few hours later.

Now free on bond, he was charged with armed robbery and faces up to 25 years in prison if convicted.

Road project to help protect snakes

GLENVIEW (AP) — An island of prairie in the midst of suburban Chicago is home to the eastern massasauga rattlesnake, but a road project has planners worried that the rare reptiles will end up under the wheels of fast-moving cars.

State transportation engineers are so concerned about the threat to the snakes that they are working with state and federal biologists on a project that may be a first — a snake wall.

"There's only a one-in-a-million shot of putting a snake on one side of the road and having it get to the other side alive," said Chris Phillips, a biologist with the Illinois Natural History Survey and one of the scientists working with transportation engineers.

The snake wall would run parallel to Wi llow Road north of Glenview for about 1,000 feet.

Transportation officials say the road widening is needed because of a surge of development in the area, including housing construction planned at the 1,100-acre former Glenview Naval Air Station.

The eastern massasauga rattlesnake once ranged throughout the central Midwest and some parts of the East, including northern Illinois, eastern Iowa, parts of Missouri and even into Pennsylvania and New York. Its range is now limited, and in Illinois it is an endangered species.

As rattlesnakes go, the eastern massasauga rattlesnake is tiny, reaching only 30 to 36 inches. Other species can reach up to 96 inches long. And it is timid, preferring to hide when humans walk by.

Gore hopes to boost Russian trade

MOSCOW (AP) — Vice President Al Gore arrived in Moscow on Sunday vowing not to let a campaign-financing controversy get in the way of his work to boost U.S. trade and economic cooperation with Russia.

The controversy, which focuses on Gore's fund-raising activities during the 1996 election campaign, will not sour the mood of his three-day visit "in the least," the vice president said, responding with a smile to the question from reporters at the Vnukovo airport.

"I'm glad the free press is making dramatic progress here," he said. Gore and his wife, Tipper, were met at the airport by Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin and his wife, who greeted them as old friends. The two men co-chair a commission on economic and technological issues, which has met twice a year since 1993.

The vice president is leading a high-level U.S. delegation, including several Cabinet members, who will hold meetings Monday and Tuesday with Russian officials on a wide range of topics.

Chernomyrdin said the commission will tackle cooperation in the areas of fuel and energy, space, nuclear energy and ecology.

Atomic Energy Minister Viktor Mikhailov proposed Sunday that the United States assume joint control over the Bushehr nuclear power plant that Russia is building in Iran, the ITAR-Tass news agency reported.

Mikhailov made the proposal in a meeting with U.S. Energy Secretary Federico Pena, saying it would "dismiss all suspicions from the part of the United States about Russia giving out nuclear technology to Iran." There was no immediate response from U.S. officials.

Russia aids Iran with new missile

JERUSALEM (AP) - With the help of Russian scientists, Iran is developing a missile capable of reaching Israel and will have the ability to produce the missiles within 18 months, Israeli officials said Sunday.

Israel is trying to rally the United States and Europe in efforts to persuade the Russians to end support for the development of the Shahab 3.

"The calculations are that within 18 months they will be able to deploy the first Shahab 3 missile," said an official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The official declined to say if elements of the missile system had been test-fired. However, a second official said components of the missile system had been successfully tested recently.

The Shahab, Farsi for "meteor" or "shooting star," has a range of 800 to 900 miles.

Once the missile is operational, Iran will be able to produce the missiles without Russian help and develop a longer-range missile - the Shahab 4 - capable of reaching all of Europe as well as Western China.

Israel views development of the missile as a destabilizing element that could upset the balance of power in the region, especially since the warheads would be capable of carrying chemical weapons.

At the same time, Israel is about to receive the U.S.-made F-15i, a fighter-bomber with a range capable of reaching Iran.

Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu raised the issue with visiting Secretary of State Madeleine Albright earlier this month and canceled a natural gas deal with Russia that was in its embryonic stages as a sign of its concern.

Four mental officials in custody for allegedly aiding criminal's escape

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - Egyptian security officials took four mental health officials into custody Sunday for allegedly taking bribes and aiding the escape of the man who attacked a tour bus at the Egyptian Museum.

The arrests came as the bodies of the nine German tourists killed in Thursday's attack were flown to Frankfurt. A private service was held at the city's airport, attended by relatives and German government officials.

Police said they arrested the head of Egypt's mental health institutions, the head of the Khanqa Asylum, where alleged attacker Saber Abu el-Ulla was a resident, and two orderlies at the asylum.

The prosecutor-general ordered them detained for 15 days as he considers charging them with accepting bribes and aiding Abu el-Ulla's escape from Khanqa three days before the attack, police said. Police also were questioning three other employees of the asylum about the escape.

The Egyptian driver of the tour bus also was killed in Thursday's attack, and at least 24 people were injured, including seven Germans.

Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak has ordered military prosecutors to investigate the case against Abu el-Ulla and his brother, Mahmoud. The two were detained at the museum.

The president's order, issued late Saturday, means the alleged killers likely will be tried in a state security court or military court, as is the norm for suspected Islamic militants. Verdicts and sentences in such trials can be appealed only to the president, who invariably turns down pleas for clemency.

The attack came just days after a military court handed down guilty verdicts against 72 Islamic militants, sentencing four to death and the rest to long prison terms.

On Saturday, the Abu el-Ulla brothers returned to the museum before dawn to re-enact the attack for police, state security prosecutors said.

Prosecutors told The Associated Press that Saber Abu el-Ulla smiled during the re-enactment and said: "I have always wanted to be an actor."

Women's soccer drops game to Dayton 3-0

By BOB MOSCHEL
Staff writer

Steve Ballard

The Lady Panthers dropped their record to 1-4 on Sunday with a 3-0 home loss to Dayton.

"We just did not connect mentally with each other, and it seemed like no one would go to the ball," junior defensive player Diane Markus said.

Nearing the end of a scoreless first half, Dayton junior defensive player

Julie Wilde and senior midfielder Angie Beecroft scored goals to extend the shutout. Stacy Martin dribbled in past Eastern's defense and goalie to score the first goal of the game.

In the second half of the game, the Lady Panthers once again came up empty as Dayton senior forward shutout.

The win improved Dayton's season undefeated record to 7-0.

Eastern had eight total shots in the game and Lady Panther head coach Steve Ballard was issued a yellow card in the game when he tried to pursue the referee to explain a ruling.

"I don't think it was so much Dayton playing great, as it was us (Eastern) not playing to the extent of our ability," said sophomore forward Alma Ayala.

After the first 10 minutes of the second half, the Lady Panthers were down 3-0. For the remaining 40 minutes in the half, no one scored but Dayton's offensive efforts more than doubled Eastern's.

"The difference between our game with Dayton and Illinois was like night and day.

"We just weren't mentally prepared on first touch of the ball to go out and beat them," said senior midfielder/forward Kendra Williamson.

VICTORY from page 12

find the endzone and the score stood at 22-14 in favor of the Panthers until the 11:00 mark in the fourth quarter. That's when sophomore Chad Lerner came on to kick a 27-yard field goal and extended the lead to the final score of 25-14.

For a while though, it looked like the Panthers were going to be in for a long night, as Illinois State marched down the field on the first drive of the game for a touchdown.

Freshman wide receiver Andrade Armando ran 32 yards for a touchdown and capped off the five play, 67-yard drive to start off the game.

"They came out smoking," Spoo said. "We knew they were capable of those kind of things."

It took the Panthers until the beginning of the second quarter to get on the board with a 22-yard touchdown pass from Simpson to sophomore wide receiver Solomon Burcy at the 14:53 mark.

The scoring drive was set up by one of junior defensive back Chris Watson's two interceptions on the night, and the Panthers took over on the Redbird 38 yard line.

A little more than two minutes later Illinois State completed a six play, 61-yard drive with an 11-yard touchdown pass from Glenn to freshman wide receiver Jacob Niete.

However, the Panthers fought back on the next possession as McDavid scored on a 15-yard run, and sophomore tight end Seth Willingham ran in for the two-point conversion which gave Eastern a 15-14 lead that they would never relinquish.

Spoo said the two-point conversion was very significant.

"It certainly picked up our momentum," he said. "I don't know if it was the turning point, but it was nice to go up."

"In the first half we made plays out of nothing," Spoo said. "In the second we didn't make plays and we had trouble with penalties."

Indeed they did have trouble with penalties, as the Panthers committed 16 fouls for 132 yards - that's more than the 106 yards the Illinois State team gained on the ground.

Freshman receiver Paul Massat led Eastern with six catches for 75 yards and a touchdown.

"Coach kept calling outs and cuts and Mike did a great job of getting the ball in there so I could catch it," Massat said.

For the second week in a row,

Eastern's defense was led by senior linebacker Thomas Williams as he had eight tackles in the game. He also had a quarterback sack of Glenn.

Illinois State said there was one main reason why they could not stop the Panther offense.

"Our biggest problem defensively was missed tackles," senior defensive lineman Travis Niekamp said. "When it was time to make big plays, we couldn't and they did."

Watson said this game serves as a confidence builder for the defense.

"We respected ISU but we didn't fear them," Watson said. "We have a very strong defensive unit and if we put our minds to it we can stop any team."

"We're building up to that point."

Spoo agrees with Watson that the team must build on this game.

"We must use this as a confidence builder as we move into the heart of the Ohio Valley Conference schedule," he said.

Schilling in record books

(AP) -Philadelphia's Curt Schilling struck out eight Sunday to equal the National League record for strikeouts by a right-hander, tying the mark of 313 set by J.R. Richard in 1979.

Schilling, who started Sunday against the Chicago Cubs, had to battle to get the record.

He gave up three home runs in the Cubs fifth inning - a pair of two-run shots by Lance Johnson and Mark Grace and a solo homer by Dave Hansen - before he got Brant Brown on a called third strike for No. 313.

Schilling gave up 10 hits over five innings before he was pulled for Ron Blazier.

Schilling did set a Phillies team strikeout record, breaking the old mark of 310 by left-hander Steve Carlton in 1972. Carlton is the only other Phillie pitcher to strike out 300 in one season.

Schilling notched his 311th strikeout when he got Sammy Sosa, the NL leader in strikeouts, to end the third inning. It was Sosa's second strikeout in the game and 167th this season.

Smiley gets unwanted break

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - John Smiley was finishing his warmups in the bullpen, tossing off a curveball.

Bystanders then heard a crack. Then a horrifying scream.

The Cleveland pitcher broke his arm near the shoulder, plunging him into instant, agonizing pain.

"I'd never seen anything like it," Indians pitching coach Mark Wiley said.

"My stomach turned," said relief pitcher Jason Jacome.

The 32-year-old left-hander, who figured in the Indians' postseason plans, was preparing to face Kansas City on Saturday night in his first start since tendinitis in his left shoulder and elbow sidelined him Aug. 30.

Now his season, at the very least, is finished.

"Just imagine the shock of it," pitcher Orel Hershiser said Sunday. "He was near the end of his warmups, just about to go into the game. That means he was throwing well, his arm felt good. If you're getting some pain, you'd be starting to back off. But he was feeling fine and going after it. And then all of a sudden. ..."

All the players and coaches in the bullpen turned when they heard the bone snap.

"You could see it was deformed through the skin," Jacome said.

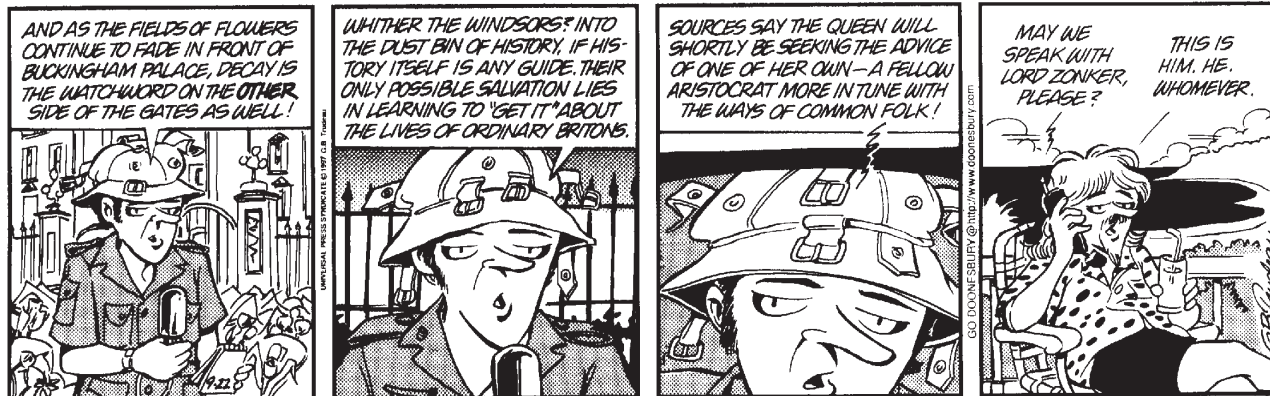

"He was in extreme pain. He was yelling. I'm sure it was agony. I hope I never have to see something like that again." Flanked by two trainers, Smiley slowly walked in from the bullpen and was hurried to the hospital "He screamed and grabbed his arm," Wiley said. "We just kind of held him until the trainers could get out there for him."

Spikers not up to challenge at Kentucky tourney

Volleyball team ends weekend without a win

By JASON COLET
Staff writer

Despite the Lady Panthers' inability to come up with a win at the Kentucky Conference Challenge over the weekend, Lorri Sommer was named to the All-Tournament team.

Even with the 0-3 performance, Eastern head coach Betty Ralston is not the least bit disappointed.

"You've got to be pleased (with our performance)," Ralston said. "I was very proud of the girls. We could have rolled over and died, but we didn't."

Eastern lost the opening match to Michigan State University 15-6, 15-9 and 15-8. Ralston said Eastern probably gave the Lady Spartans the most difficulty out of all the teams there.

"We had some hitters that did really well. These teams were very, very good," she said.

Sommer played in two games and led the Lady Panthers in kills with 10 along with a .348 hit percentage and two block assists.

The next match for the Lady Panthers was against the University of Kentucky where Eastern lost three of the four games.

The Lady Panthers lost the first game 15-2, then bounced back and won 15-8, but fell in the remaining two games 15-12 and 15-11.

"We did not match up really well with Kentucky. (They are) real athletic and have good jumpers," Ralston said.

Eastern got to see Kentucky play Butler before their match and Ralston said that they were not looking good.

"They didn't do anything against Butler," Ralston said. (It was) real difficult to see what they were going to do."

The Lady Panthers finished off the Kentucky Conference Challenge by taking Butler to five games.

Eastern lost the opening game 15-7, then came back and won the next two 15-10. Butler bounced back with two final wins 15-9, 15-13 to secure the match.

"We played really well and got a lot of points in the match," Ralston said.

She said she was very pleased with the players.

"(We) were the only team that's even taken games off them," she said.

Ralston was satisfied to come within two points of the No. 1 ranked Butler in the last game. "We played some good offense and had some great rallies."

Sommer recorded a 20-kill/20-dig match, her second during her career. Kara Harper had a career high in digs with 26.

Freshman outside hitter Kim Blackwell fared well by nailing 16 kills off of a team high 62 attempts.

Sophomore outside hitter Meleah Cutler got some good time as well.

"Meleah Cutler had a real nice match," Ralston said. Cutler had 11 kills, 19 digs, three solo blocks and three block assists.

"That was my best game. I was more mentally focused," Cutler said.

Ralston said she was glad to get some good experience for upcoming matches.

"(It's) the only reason I scheduled this tournament," she said.

"This was a chance to get up to three NCAA teams."

The Lady Panthers will host Tennessee Tech at noon in Lantz gym today for their first conference match.

"We need to win," Ralston said. "Now the conference opens for real."

The noon game on a Monday is quite a rarity.

"This has never happened before," Ralston said. "We had a scheduling quirk."

Tennessee Tech asked if they could play earlier than the normal 7:00 p.m. starting time in order to make it back to school and not miss classes.

Ralston hopes this match will draw a good crowd.

The players are prepared for the home conference opener.

"I think we're gonna win," Cutler said.

Lady harriers take second place at EIU Open

By DENISE RENFRO
Sports editor

Cristen Conrad

Senior runner Cristen Conrad finished at sixth place in the meet with a time of 18:42.46.

"I think I could have been in the top five but I had a tough time in the third mile," Conrad said. "I was starting to feel a little sluggish."

Conrad said this meet was just a stepping stone for the team on the way to the conference championships.

"Overall, we're going in the right direction, we just can't go backwards," she said.

Behind Conrad was junior Susan Langer who finished with a time of 19:47.35 for ninth place. Freshman Erika Coull-Parenty took 11th with a time of 19:04.91 and sophomore Jo-Ann Trevino finished 12th at 19:06.83.

"I was really pleased with our women's performance," McNerney said.

The only problem McNerney sees in the women's team right now is the gap between the front four runners and the Eastern runners who finished behind them.

The men's team did not fare as well as the women's. The men finished in sixth place with 143 overall points.

Illinois won the meet with 56 points followed by Southern Illinois-Carbondale with 63 points, Missouri-Kansas City with 71 points, Southwest Missouri with 110 points and Lindenwood with 133 points.

Trailing Eastern were teams from Indianapolis, Danville, Western Illinois, Evansville, Vincennes and Parkland.

In first place for the men was sophomore Joseph Parks from Southern Illinois University-Carbondale with a time of 24:42.42.

Senior Todd Moroney, was the only Panther runner to place in the top ten at the meet. He finished in 10th place with a time of 25:36.08. He was followed by senior Ryan Meece in 15th place at 25:53.35.

"On the men's side we just really didn't show up," McNerney said. "We had some nice individual performances but we have to regroup a little with the men."

"We fell off in some key areas." McNerney said the men could never really get a pack together to run which left the Panthers at a disadvantage.

"The level of competition was high and I guess we just weren't fully ready for it. The intensity was pretty high," he said.

"We had a really nice crowd, unfortunately we didn't come close to getting the job done," he said.

The cross country team has the week-end off and will head to the Loyola Lake Front Invite on Oct. 4 to run against approximately 20 Division I schools.

"Loyola is a really solid team," McNerney said. "Eastern Kentucky will be strong, it will be fun to get a peek at them to see how we match up."

get down, but to keep after it."

Eastern had a chance to put the game away in the third quarter as Panther senior quarterback Mike Simpson completed a 25-yard touchdown pass to senior split end Anton Manuel.

The play was called back because of an illegal procedure penalty against Eastern.

The Panthers ended up turning the ball over on the fourth down of the drive.

"That was rough, that could have closed the door for sure," Massat said. "We were able to come back."

Spoos was very disappointed about the penalty that brought the touchdown back.

"That was a tough one because it was a stupid penalty," he said. "It was not lining up properly, that's terrible."

The penalty problem started with the first series of the game, as Eastern was called for a personal foul, a 15-yard face mask penalty.

As a result, the Redbirds moved into Panther territory at the 39-yard line.

Three plays later, Illinois State's

“That was a tough one because it was a stupid penalty. It was not lining up properly, that's terrible.”

—Bob Spoo,
Panther head coach

wide receiver Armando Anrade took the ball at the 32-yard line and ran into the end zone to give the Redbirds a 7-0 lead.

The troubles continued on the first possession for Eastern. After Simpson hit Manuel for a 34-yard pass and junior fullback Conrad Praamsma followed up with an 11-yard run.

But it was called back due to a Panther holding penalty.

Eastern then went for it on fourth down but came up short and turned the ball over to Illinois State.

Spoos said the team being able to overcome all of the penalties made the win even sweeter.

"That's why it was such a wonderful win," he said.

in there. They competed. They battled. They played a man down again. They had to cover space. They did a good job. Nix finally got his first goal, another front runner scored, which is nice."

Eastern was forced to play a man down for most of the game because starting goalkeeper Ryan Waguespack was ejected on a controversial call with 52 second left to play in the first.

Senior Leatherneck midfielder Bryan Blakemore received the ball in an off-side position, but the foul was not whistled. As Blakemore closed in on the goal, Waguespack came out to make a play. Waguespack slid for the ball, getting a piece of the ball before sliding into Blakemore. Waguespack was whistled for the foul, resulting in a penalty kick, and received a red-card ejection.

"We played a man down for long time," McClements said. "That really takes a little bit out of you. That was just unfortunate. It was just something that happened, it was not a malicious tackle. It makes things difficult."

Blakemore converted on the penalty kick, against Sheehan, to give Western a 1-0 lead at the half.

A similar play occurred late in the second half when Panther senior forward Henry Ospina went in against Martone. Martone also made contact with Ospina on the way to the ball, but instead of a penalty kick, which would have given Eastern a chance to tie, the call was in favor of Western, giving the Leathernecks a free kick at the spot of the collision.

The Panthers outshot the opposition again, taking 17 shots to Western's 14. They were also more accurate than the Leathernecks, forcing Martone to make 11 saves, while Sheehan and Waguespack made a total of nine.

"It's a process," McClements said. "Look at the beginning, we're pummeling them, we're all over them. If we can put an opportunity away then, then we're good to go. It's a totally different game. But that didn't happen. It takes forever and forever, and for every 20 opportunities we get, we're scoring on one instead of one every six and seven. It's not like we don't have quality opportunities, we're just not scoring on the one's we have."

LaFrance agrees with McClements, saying that the game would be different if the Panthers could take the lead early.

"We just need to score first," he said. "That would definitely help us out, not always having to fight to get back in it."

Ospina said the team is putting forth the effort, but is still coming up short.

"Coach is training us to work even when we're tired," he said. "We do control the game, it's just little things. A stupid little pass, and then they counter."

Ospina looks for the team to take more shots on goal.

"I hope so, especially myself," he said. "I'm taking five shots a game, but I'm not hitting any. The rest us, like LaFrance, we're all working hard, it's just we're not having the best of luck right now."

Panthers shoot down Redbirds 25-14

Facts and Figures

539

The Panther offense had a season-high output against the Redbird defense as they racked up 539 total yards with 189 of them in the second quarter.

39:28

Eastern's offense held the ball for 39:28, nearly two-thirds of the game. Eastern's longest drive ate up 5:11 and resulted in 27-yard field goal from Chad Lerner.

150

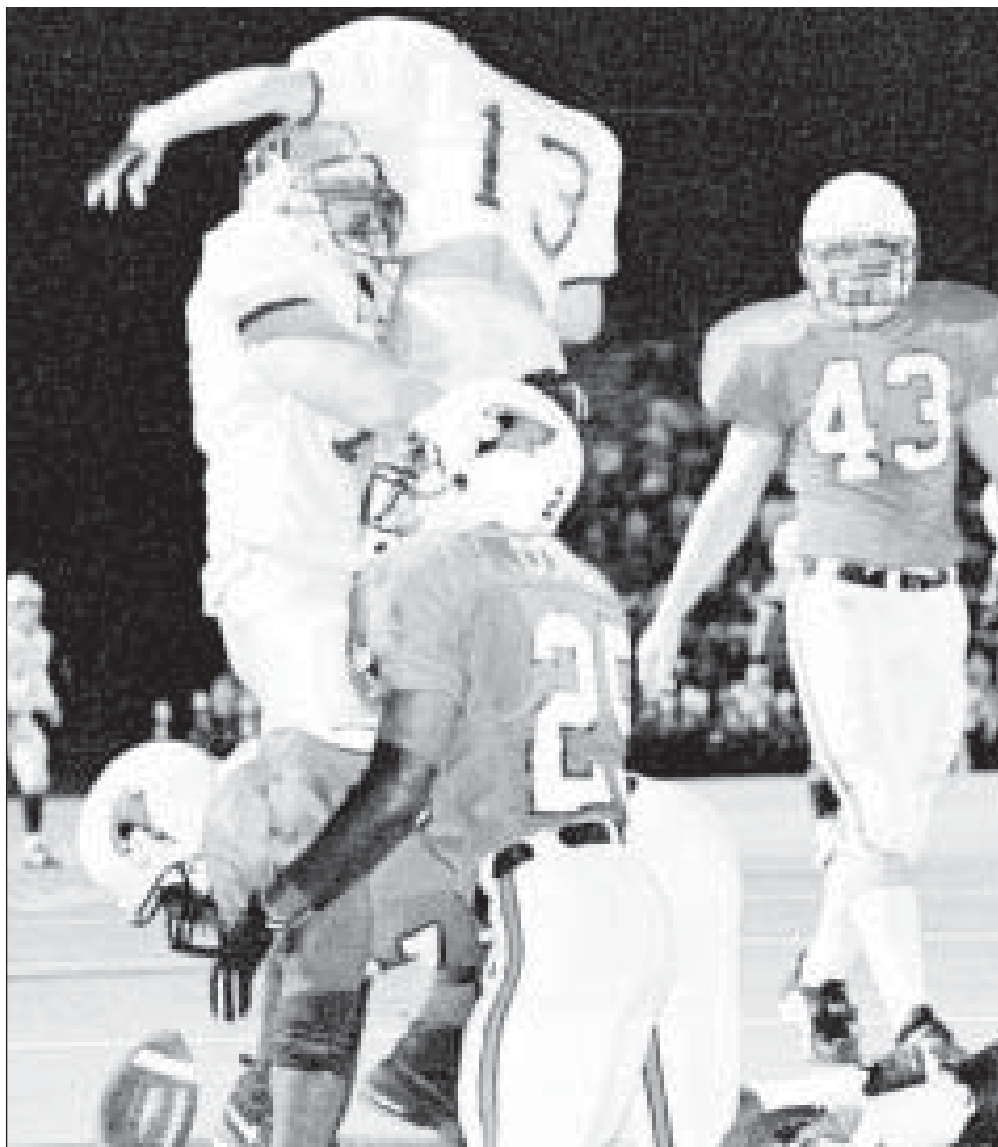

Sophomore tailback Jabarey McDavid ran for 150 yards in the game and by the end of the third quarter had already surpassed 100 yards on the night. The Redbirds' rushing yards totaled 106.

NORMAL – The Panther football team (3-1) extended its winning streak to three on Saturday night with a 25-14 win over Illinois State (2-2) in front of over 9,000 Redbird fans.

"I can't put in words how important this victory was," Panther head coach Bob Spoo said. "As much as I try to forget about it, I still carry the first game in my head, so coming into this game I didn't know where we were at.

"For a bunch of guys to come together like this is great," he said. "It wasn't pretty but it was still a win."

The Eastern offense racked up a season high 539 yards, 275 of which came from the ground game. Sophomore tailback Jabarey McDavid ran wild on the Redbirds, rushing for 150 yards on 21 carries and also scored a touchdown.

"This was the best our running game has been," Spoo said. "The offensive line did a good job opening holes and our backs ran hard.

Junior tailback Justin Lynch chipped in 92 yards on 19 carries, and broke out for a 37-yard run.

"(Jabarey) ran tough, very tough today," Spoo said. "What a great one-two punch."

The Panther defense held the Redbird ground attack to 106 yards, with their leading rusher being senior running back Corey Day with 40 yards.

The quarterback battle was also won by the Panthers, as Eastern quarterback Mike Simpson completed 20-of-31 passes for 264 yards and two touchdowns. On the other hand, Illinois State freshman quarterback Kevin Glenn went 17-of-37 for 129 yards and a touchdown and also tossed two interceptions.

"We've got a lot of weapons and we didn't use them tonight," Redbird head coach Todd Berry said. "I was pleased with Kevin's performance and his toughness."

The "toughness" Berry referred to was the fact that Glenn was sacked three times by the Panthers, not to mention being knocked down numerous times but still got right back up after the play was over.

Coming into the game, the Redbirds led the nation in turnover margin, but Illinois State couldn't continue the trend as the Panthers only gave up one fumble while the Redbirds coughed up the ball once to go with Glenn's two interceptions.

"It obviously wasn't a good performance," Berry said. "Offensively we had some crucial turnovers. Every time we had momentum, we'd shoot ourselves in the foot."

In the third quarter, neither team was able to

Penalties plague Eastern

NORMAL – Even with all the positives that come with a 25-14 win over Illinois State, the Panthers still cannot shake off one negative – penalties. They committed 16 of them in the game.

"They're going to be the death of me," Panther head coach Bob Spoo said. "I just have to keep harping on them."

With the 16 penalties, the Panthers lost 132 yards.

"Penalties affect the team," junior corner back Chris Watson said. "We just have to practice to keep them to a minimum."

Eastern was still able to fight through the penalties and come out victorious in the game.

"People worked hard and good things happened," freshman wide receiver Paul Massat said.

Watson said it wasn't the physical aspect of the game that helped the players overcome the penalties, but it was the mental part.

"We kept our head in the game and we came out on top," he said.

Spoo said he was impressed with the way the team put the penalties behind them and were able to win.

"It was a total team effort and I told the team afterwards that this is the result of hard work," he said. "Yes, I was disappointed by all the penalties. We kept shooting ourselves in the foot and I was concerned that it would come back to haunt us near the end.

"We seemed to have a determination not to

The Panther loss total went to unlucky No. 7 with a loss to the Western Illinois University Leathernecks Sunday, 2-1.

Western took the lead for good in the second half when senior Leatherneck midfielder Jamie Crawford picked up the ball off a rebound within five yards of the Panther goal and put it past freshman goalkeeper Donald Sheehan with 21:50 left to play in the second half.

"Don's doing good," senior Panther forward Dave LaFrance said. "He's tough, he just needs the support from everyone. He kind of gets down on himself. But if we all support him he'd be great out there. He made some key save in the second half, that kept us in the game.

Leading up to the goal, Sheehan made two saves before the ball went past him.

The Panthers tied the game earlier in the second on a goal by junior forward Jeff Nix.

Nix took a high arcing cross from junior defenseman Kyle Mittendorf and volleyed a high arcing shot that dropped in just under the crossbar. Leatherneck sophomore goalkeeper Jordan Martone was caught off his line, and was unable to get to the shot.

"I just tried to get something on it," Nix said. "I was just trying to one-touch it back and get something started. It just happened to go in."

The goal was Nix's first on the season.

Eastern head coach Tim McClements was happy with his team's performance despite the result.

"Through the game, there were times that we played very well and there were times that we didn't," he said. "I think that the kids hung
