Murder of Eastern graduate shocks friends

Chere Lynn Crowell-Hyett

by Jerry Fallstrom

The violent murder of Chere Lynn Crowell-Hyett, 21, a December Eastern graduate, in a library at a Champaign elementary school Monday, brought feelings of shock from some of her friends Wednesday.

"I was real shocked," said junior Linda Tolley, 20, a resident of Stevenson Hall. "It's unfortunate that something like that had to happen. I see no reason why something like that should be allowed to happen."

Crowell-Hyett, an elementary education graduate, was slain Monday while working as a substitute librarian at the Dr. Howard school in Champaign.

Funeral services for Crowell-Hyett will be at 2 p.m. today at the First Baptist Church of Aledo.

According to Champaign police, Crowell-Hyett's throat was slit with a single-edged razor blade. Police said the slaying was related to a sexual attack on the woman.

Tolley said she knew Crowell-Hyett for about a year, having met her through Crowell-Hyett's sister, Kayla, an Eastern student.

Charged with Crowell-Hyett's murder is an 18-year-old high school student, Phillip Peoples. Peoples, who was working at the school through a vocational program, is being held on $500,000 bond.

Peoples entered no plea in Champaign County Circuit Court Tuesday. State's Attorney Thomas Difanis said he would seek the death penalty.

Crowell-Hyett was married to Allen Hyett, a University of Illinois student. She was a member of Kappa Delta Pi education honorary.

Another friend of Crowell-Hyett's, junior Cathy Pruitt, 20, said she couldn't believe it when she heard about the murder. "I felt sick. I couldn't believe it," she said.

"It's on my mind a lot," she said. "It scared me because I'm going to be a teacher and to think something like that could happen to a librarian is scary."

Weather

Thursday will be mostly cloudy with showers and thunderstorms developing with highs in the mid 50's to mid 60's.

Showers and thunderstorms will be likely Thursday night with lows in the mid 40's.

Hostages may be held extra months

by the Associated Press

The 50 U.S. Embassy hostages in Tehran must spend at least two more months in captivity, since their fate is only a secondary issue facing the new Iranian Parliament, an Iranian diplomat who recently met with Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini said Wednesday.

The attention of Iranians appeared focused on parliamentary election returns Wednesday, not on the hostages. But in the Netherlands, the United States called the attention of the world court to the plight of the imprisoned Americans, saying they have been treated inhumanely and calling for condemnation of Iran as a flagrant violator of international law.

Republican pressure mounted in the Senate, meanwhile, for the Carter administration to take new steps to pressure Iran.

In a speech prepared for the Senate, Sen. Richard Lugar of Indiana said he feared the hostages may never be freed if the United States does not follow a "strong and bold course."

He called for the U.S. government to prepare a naval blockade and mining of Iran's harbors, and to detain all Iranian diplomats in the United States. Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker called Lugar's statement "appropriate."

The hostage have been held for 20 weeks by young Moslem militants demanding return of the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his fortune to Iran.

Revolutionary leader Khomeini has said the Americans' fate must be decided by the new Majlis, or Parliament, which will not be fully elected until April 4. Other Iranian leaders have said it will be May before the Parliament is sufficiently organized and ready to deal with the question of whether and when to free the hostages.

"There will be no solution to the hostage question before May 15," Iran's ambassador to Kuwait, Ali Shams Ardakani, told the Kuwait newspaper Al-Siyasseh on Wednesday.

Results from last Friday's elections for the 270-seat Majlis have been coming in slowly, but they show candidates endorsed by the clergy-led Islamic Republican Party in the lead.

Primary results get varied responses

by Dan Brannan and Jerry Fallstrom

Reactions to Tuesday's primary election varied as Coles County Democratic chairman Joe Connelly said he was not surprised by the results, while Coles County Republican chairman, Herb Brooks said he was surprised.

"There were no big surprises for me," Connelly said. "However, there were an unusual number of Democrats crossing over to vote for John Anderson."

Connelly added that Larry Stuffle, who won renomination for 53rd district representative, had an extremely strong showing in Coles County.

Brooks was especially surprised at the margin by which Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal defeated Attorney General William J. Scott for U.S. senator.

"I thought the race between Scott and O'Neal would be much closer," Brooks said.

Brooks, who supports George Bush for president, said Bush has to be hurting after the Illinois primary.

"If his candidacy is not dead, it is badly wounded," Brooks said.

Brooks said he feels Ronald Reagan would be a much more viable candidate for president with Bush as a running mate.

Brooks said he was not surprised by Nancy Owen's impressive finish in the Republican race for state's attorney over James Dedman and Rick Hobler.

"Nancy worked very hard from day one," Brooks said. "I think the Mattoon area supported her very well."

"I think we have come up with some very acceptable and electable Republican candidates," Brooks said.

Owen, currently Coles County public defender, said she was pleased with the way the election turned out.

"With a three-way race for the Republican state's attorney nomination, I had no idea what to expect."

Stuffle said he was disappointed by the support he received from Eastern students. Stuffle, who received more than 77 percent of the vote in Coles County, won only 58 percent of the vote in Precinct 16, and 67 percent of the vote in Precinct 17.

"I'm happy with the support I got from Coles County as a whole," Stuffle, an Eastern graduate, said. "It will be hard for two of us (Democrats) to win House seats in November."

The other Democrat who will appear on the ballot for the November election is 54-year-old Danville resident Eugene V. "Radio" Thompson.

Coles County Clerk Jackie Bacon said local races such as the state's attorney contest had a lot to do with the turnout of 36 percent, which compares to a 22 percent showing in the 1978 election.

"The weather made a difference in the turnout," Bacon said. "In bad weather, the elderly cannot get out, and those who live in outlying areas tend to stay in when it's bad out."

The first use of the new punch card voting system caused very little confusion, Bacon said. "I think the new voting system worked extremely well," Connelly said.

Scott convicted Wednesday

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott was convicted of income tax fraud Wednesday by a federal jury that deliberated 46½ hours after a 10-week trial. Scott, in his fourth term as the state's chief legal officer was found guilty on one indictment and innocent of four others by a jury of 10 men and two women. The verdict was read by U.S. District Judge John Powers Crowley as Scott sat listening in the packed courtroom. Scott, 53, sat without expression and put his arm around his wife, Ellen, who burst into tears when the verdict was read.

Three Mile Island may not reopen

It's likely the Three Mile Island nuclear plant may never reopen because of mounting expenses and public pressure, an electrical engineer told the Public Utility Commission on Wednesday. Dr. Robert Parente said PUC has underestimated the cost of cleaning up the reactor damaged last March. He said it could cost well over $1 billion to clean up and restore the crippled unit.

United Auto Workers to meet

Key officials from every United Auto Workers local affected by the 139-day strike against International Harvester Co. were summoned to Chicago today for a meeting that could mark the end of the longest national strike in UAW history.

HUD undersecretary to speak at conference

by Patti O'Neill

Melvin Miller, undersecretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, will be one of the key speakers at Eastern's fifth annual Public Administration Conference Thursday.

Miller, an attorney, will give a luncheon address at 12:15 p.m. in the Union addition Heritage Room on "Urban Partnership."

Miller is just one of a number of speakers scheduled for the conference, which will be held Thursday and Friday in various rooms of the University Union. Larry Thorsen, chairman of the political science department, said.

"The conference is for public administrators at the state and local level, public servants, professors and instructors from Illinois and surrounding states," he said.

"This is a chance for students to talk with and hear government managers and see interaction between faculty and public administrators," he added.

The agenda for the 20 panels during the two days is as follows:

At 9 a.m. Thursday in the Charleston Room is a discussion on mapping for planning agencies, and in the Effingham Room is a discussion on the behavioral aspects of policy planning

Petitions available for student government posts

by Kit Walmsley

Petitions for student executive officers and senators are now available in the Student Government Office in the University Union. Mark Hudson, elections chairman, said.

Interested students may pick up a petition between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. until March 26, when petitions are due, Hudson said.

To qualify for student government positions, students must have a grade point average of 2.0 or above, live in the district they want to represent and not be on academic probation while in the senate, Hudson said.

A student is on academic probation if his grade-point average drops below 2.0.

Fifteen senate seats will be available, Hudson said. Four seats are open in the residence hall district, five seats in the off campus district and six seats in the at-large district.

At-large representatives represent all university students and may live either on or off campus.

All six executive positions are open. They are student body president, executive vice president, financial vice president, and Board of Governors and collective bargaining representatives.

Those running for a senate seat must get 25 signatures from students who live in their district. Candidates for an executive position must get 100 student signatures, Hudson said.

Student elections will be held April 16. Residents of Carman Hall and the South Quad will vote in Coleman Hall and other students will vote in the video tape lounge in the University Union, Hudson said.

at the state and local level.

At 10 a.m. a presentation on grantsmanship in planning will be conducted in the Mattoon Room, and education for planning will be discussed in the Effingham Room.

At 11 a.m. legal aspects of planning in Illinois will be covered in the Charleston Room.

A luncheon will follow at 12:15 p.m., including Miller's luncheon address.

At 2 p.m. coalition building among small towns will be discussed in the Effingham Room, local government planning will be covered in the Charleston Room and dissection processes for planning will be talked about in the Greenup Room.

From 7 to 9:30 p.m., a discussion on zoning and subdivision regulations will be held at Lake Land College in Mattoon.

The conference will resume Friday with a discussion of collective bargaining in the public sector at 9 a.m. in the Charleston and Effingham rooms.

At 10 a.m. personnel management in Illinois will be covered in the Greenup Room, and the courts and patronage will be discussed in the Effingham Room.

At 11 a.m. a presentation on CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) subsidies for local government will be given in the Effingham Room and affirmative action in public agencies will be discussed in the Charleston Room.

A luncheon will follow in the Heritage Room at 12:15 p.m., featuring George Dingies of the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs speaking on the department's mission.

At 2 p.m., labor management in public sectors will be discussed in the Effingham Room, and a presentation on training opportunities for local government employees will be held in the Charleston Room.

All presentations in the conference, sponsored by the political science department, are open to students and faculty, Thorsen said.

Bill, it's time to mend some political fences

Dear Bill,

You probably don't remember me. I was the guy you kept falling on when the Eastern News staff played the Student Government in flag football last year.

I know you're busy being student body president, so I'll get right to the point. I think you're making a mistake about Linda Phillips.

Maybe you might think it's none of my business, but I think it is Bill. You see, for the past six months I've been covering the Council on Academic Affairs meetings for the News, the same council Linda Phillips serves on as student representative.

Covering CAA meetings doesn't necessarily make me an expert on Student Senate Administration, but the experience has given me a ringside seat in witnessing Linda's performance.

Linda does her "homework" when it comes to CAA. She is always prepared to debate on the important questions brought before that council. She presents her views or at least what she sees as the student body's opinion on these issues.

Herb

I know she comes out of left field a lot of the time, but Bill you can't blame her for being a little wild-eyed at times.

On diplomacy, Phillips would rate a ".05" on a scale of "10", but on dedication I'd give her an "11".

The main complaint you have Bill is the fact Linda is a presidential appointee voicing ideas slightly opposite "left" of the Student Senate. Come on Bill, that's nothing more than a P.R. statement. In translation it means "I

Eastern News Opinion/Commentary

Thursday, March 20, 1980

don't like Linda's style and want someone else on the CAA who will play ball."

Bill it seems you're punishing Linda for doing her job, which is representing the students at CAA meetings. I'd hate to see a good student rep like Linda Phillips be lost because of some personal differences.

Bill why don't you invite Linda over to Ike's or Marty's for a beer or two and try to iron out your respective differences. It's amazing what a combination of beer, jukebox music and the aroma of cigarette smoke can do for student government politics.

In the long run Bill a compromise with Linda could help secure the power of the presidency. You see if Linda and her supporters are satisfied then you won't hear any more talk about "electing" the student reps instead of appointing them. Think about it Bill, the Student Senate will be one big happy family again.

I know you and Linda can work it out if you both swallow a little pride.

Letters to the editor

More is better

Editor,

We're writing in response to Thomas Virzi's letter of March 18 concerning his poor attitude on donating blood. As we donate blood, we believe that the American Red Cross will use our blood to the best of their ability.

If many people took the attitude that their donations was in "vain", the apparent "excess" of blood would be a shortage of blood. Isn't donating blood one very special case where having more than enough is better for humanity than not enough?

This letter was signed by 21 people insure adequate amounts for emergencies a minimum amount must be kept on hand. Even if this blood should become outdated it has not been "wasted." The fact that it was there is a safety precaution to allow for accidents, medical or surgical emergencies.

I commend the people of this area, and Eastern students in particular, for responding so generously in the past to this vital need.

I urge those who have contributed blood to continue to do so. I know first hand the terrible urgency that accompanies many calls for blood. Please, for the sake of accident victims and invalids, continue to support this life-giving activity.

Phyllis Rearden

Brainstormin'

Editor,

I would like to publicly congratulate Bill Clark for the tremendous strides he has made in making 'Our University Union' a joyous and satisfying place to visit. Those new signs telling us what's happening are really cute and catchy, Clark.

They almost take the place of the information desk at the U of I's union--and those meal specials are really something. Whoever dug up the art student to get those together was really brainstorming and that's what we're paying you people to do--brainstorm.

And the new stamp vending machine!!! Hey, isn't that something! Now we can (at last) send an overseas letter without taking the long walk up to the square. At Eastern, even being able to get a stamp at the Union is indeed A Big Deal. The only thing that can possibly compare is that great special on M and Ms which was a real boost to an otherwise mundane week. Thanks again, Clark, for listening and getting us all these new far out goodies.

And speaking of goodies--I can hardly wait to get my hands and mouth around one of those ice cream cones those great signs keep telling me about. With all these super attractions I'm sure our Union will be up to par with Southern, Northern, and U of I any year now despite the now 'non-existent' deficit. Of course now that you get more of our student fee money, we expect big changes and Boy! are we thrilled to see them happening.

One small criticism, Clark. Do you think we could do something about the plastic foam that gets thrown away in the Panther Lair? I don't have to remind you of the recycling processes plastic won't go through. Our great leader Jimmy Carter is talking about a new frugal lifestyle that will surely cut inflation. Since the Union is doing well in other areas, surely we could find it in our budget to help cut inflation by cutting out needless waste.

Americans are extremely extravagant with the products we waste to wipe our faces, counters, spills, etc., and then just toss away. The plastic foam we eat on and the plastic we eat with in the Union is an example of this waste. If we must live more simply, let's start here at Eastern with reuseable plates and tableware. It may be a great sacrifice but we will be doing it for The Good Of Our Country.

Thanks again Clark, for listening and caring. If you need more student fee money for this small change--let me know. I will gladly campaign, personally speaking directly to each student and explaining the need for what ever increase you suggest, $10 to $50, to make the University Union an even greater place to be.

Keep up the brainstorming!!
Starla Stensaas

News change

Editor,

Having been readers of the Eastern News for the past six years, we have witnessed a consistent and apparently deliberate change in editorial policy. The focus of the "News" has dramatically switched the university itself (and student interests) to national and international issues (and, we suspect, Eastern News staff interests). This switch greatly disturbs us.

Certainly this development has crowned the "News" with some prestigious journalism awards, however we feel it has been at the expense of the readers' best interests. Student government coverage has been - with some exceptions - dismal; campus organizations must beg for news space; and intramurals are treated as if they do not exist.

Students should be aware that this was not always the case! Even a surface investigation of campus coverage in earlier times (pre-1977) will reveal a vastly superior quantity and quality.

We feel that the Eastern News has an obligation to its readers to consider reporting campus and university news as its top priority. As alumnae living in northern Illinois, we subscribe to the "News" largely to remain current regarding Eastern issues. We suspect most students read it primarily for that reason. It is apparent that CBS, NBC, ABC, UPI, AP, TIME-LIFE Inc. etc. adequately report international and national news. There is no valid reason for the Eastern News to compete in those areas.

We do recognize the value of "journalism honors" to young journalists, but priorities must operate under a sense of proportion. After all the "News" exists only because for years it has been funded by student fee money and is effectively granted a campus monopoly by the university establishment.

In a nutshell, the Eastern News is a public service and must service public (student) needs.

Susan and Mike Petrik

Keep on giving

Editor,

This is a reply to the letter about the problem of outdated blood.

As the former head of a hospital blood bank I can assure you that the Red Cross does not "waste" blood.

Blood does become outdated, however, for a number of reasons. One patient requiring massive amounts of blood may use all of one type while there may be a surplus of another type. (People can safely receive only their individual type of blood).

The use of blood at any one period of time cannot be totally predicted. A disaster such as a massive train wreck may deplete all stocks. In order to

Cult movie to show in hopes to educate

by Dawn Morville

The Jonestown massacre and the cult related to it are the focus of the movie "Deceived," to be shown at 8 p.m. Saturday in Coleman Hall Room 120 and at 5:30 p.m. Sunday at the Wesley Foundation Center, located across from Lawson Hall.

The film is sponsored by the Wesley Foundation at Eastern and is based on the book of the same title written by Mel White.

According to George Loveland, director of Wesley Foundation, the film is being shown at Eastern because "from what I have understood from people and students, there has been a lot of cult activity in Charleston."

Loveland said he hopes the film will educate people about cults because "the best defense against cults is information about them."

Religious groups, such as the Moonies, prefer college students of above average intelligence who will be a credit to the cult, Loveland said.

Eastern professor George Cooper and his wife June, who are defendants in a $10 million law suit filed by their son, who is a moonie, will be the guests at the Sunday showing of the film.

The film focuses on the November, 1978 Jonestown tragedy in Guyana, a country in South America, in which more than 900 people committed suicide by drinking a "potion" of Flavour-Aide containing tranquilizers and cyanide, Loveland said.

Loveland said former members of Jones' People's Temple and relatives of persons who died in the Guyana massacre are interviewed in the film.

He said the film goes beyond the Guyana tragedy and presents a strategy for dealing with cults and for evaluating new religious movements.

The film will help people think about what they are doing if they are considering changing their religion or getting into a religion, he said.

Handouts will be available which define the difference between a cult and sect and present guidelines for parents who have children in cults or considering joining a cult, Loveland said.

Faculty Senate sets nomination deadline

by Bonita L. Gower

The deadline and criteria for distinguished faculty award nominations were set by the Faculty Senate Tuesday.

Any student, administrator or faculty member who wants to submit nominations for the award should return their suggestion to a selection committee member by April 11.

Selection committee members are Bill Weiler, botany; Dick Rogers, English; Gerald Sullivan, theater arts; Dale Downs, elementary and junior high education and John Wright, technology.

The two faculty members selected for the award will receive a $500 check and a letter of commendation.

Award candidates are judged on three criterion: teaching ability and stimulation of critical thinking; development in terms of professional growth and service to faculty, student and community activities.

The award recipients will be announced April 25 and the awards will be presented at spring commencement.

Elections for faculty committee positions will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday in the University Union lobby and Thursday in the east end of the Union Ballroom.

Voelz totals 275 votes

by Jane Meyer

Coles County results from the 22nd Congressional seat race in Tuesday's primary showed that incumbent Dan Crane, R-Danville, garnered a little more than 66 percent of the Republican votes while Pete Voelz, Democratic write-in candidate from Paris, received almost 8 percent of the votes cast by Democrats.

Vote totals from the rest of the district were unavailable at press time Wednesday.

Crane received 4,093 votes of the 6,179 Coles County Republican votes cast. Voelz, who is a journalism instructor at Eastern, totaled 275 out of the 3,456 votes cast on Democratic ballots.

Crane ran unopposed in his bid for re-election. Voelz was the only declared write-in candidate for either party.

The primary determined the congressional opponents in the November general election.

Four returning lettermen lead Panther golf squad

Featuring four returning lettermen, Eastern's 13-man golf squad will open its 1980 season March 28-29 at the University of Evansville Invitational.

Kelly Spaulding, Marty Robinson, Steve Spitler and Bret Voisin are the returning lettermen and head coach J.W. Sanders said Spaulding is potentially the most likely to produce consistently. In the Mid-Continent Conference last year, Spaulding finished third individually when Eastern placed fourth out of five teams.

"Based on last year and what I saw in the fall, these four will probably start out as the top ones. We have some freshmen and sophomores who may make a contribution as the season progresses," Sanders said. "I say Spaulding is potentially the best because he's played a great deal more than the rest, especially in tournaments. But he's still something of an unknown quantity this spring because he wasn't with us last fall," he said.

Spaulding also finished second in a multi-team meet at SIU-Edwardsville last season and tied for a second in a similar meet at Western Illinois University.

Although the golfers have not yet been able to work outside, Sander said "I would hope we would have a chance to get outdoors before Evansville. It's still a couple of weeks away."

In past seasons, Western and SIU-Edwardsville have competed with Eastern for bids to the NCAA Division II tournament and Sanders said such will be the case again this season.

"We were competitive with them last year," Sanders said. "They might have had an edge in club depth...We never received consistency from all five golfers. Three would do well and a couple have a bad day. Consistency is our goal. In golf there's strength in numbers." The Mid-Continent conference tournament is slated for the second weekend in May at Western, but Sanders said it might be moved.

to the fact that statistics were not indicative of a player's ability.

"He played summer ball last year and hit .370 and the competition there was probably better than he faced here," McDevitt said. "He's the type of player though, that gets better as the competition does."

Also working behind the plate will be juniors Rich Koenig and Jeff Yocum.

"Rich is a designated hitter, catcher and outfielder," McDevitt said. "He transferred from Indiana State last year and had to sit out a year. He's got good bat speed and a lot of power."

McDevitt also said Koenig hit 10 home runs in fall practice.

Yocum, who was an All-Stater in high school, was a second in hitting at the fall workouts with a .393 average.

"Jeff is a real intelligent ballplayer who should develop into a fine catcher," McDevitt said.

Bears extend Armstrong's contract

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears announced Wednesday that the contract of Coach Neill Armstrong has been extended for two years.

Jim Finks, general manager of the National Football League team, said Armstrong originally agreed to a three-year contract when he signed as head coach prior to the 1978 season. The upcoming season would have been the final year of the pact, but the extension means Armstrong, 54, will remain under contract through the 1982 season.

The Bears compiled a 10-6 record in 1979 and Chicago earned a playoff berth for the second time in three years. The team has won 14 of its last 21 regular season games under Armstrong.

"Neill and his staff have the team heading in the right direction," said Finks, who added that it was a credit to Armstrong that the Bears were able to gain a playoff spot after a mid-season slump last year.

Marvin favors making move to NCAA Division I

by Brian Nielsen

Moving Eastern up to NCAA Division I classification and joining a new conference are among the options supported by Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin, who said the university's athletic program is currently at a "crossroad."

Speaking at Wednesday's Eastern Eyes meeting, Marvin said no final decision has been made on the athletic program's future classification, but he gave his opinions on what he hopes Eastern will do.

"My honest opinion is that we need to make the move to Division I and I-AA (for football)," Marvin said. "But the timing is critical. When we do and how we do it are very essential."

Recent changes by the NCAA have made such a move necessary, the university president told the group of athletic boosters at the Rathskeller.

"In a sense we're at a crossroad right now, and it is not necessarily one of our own making," Marvin said. "There are factors external to this university which have placed us in a critical position."

The main cause for this position came when the NCAA divided Division I football teams into two divisions, Marvin said. The NCAA tried to create a super division at Division I-A which would include the top football powers in the country, while the others would be classified at Division I-AA.

"It simply failed," Marvin said. "Rather than taking the top 30-50 football powers in the country, everybody aspired to join the elite group," Marvin said.

"What happened to us was that many Division II schools decided to move to Division I-AA, so we're left without anyone to play," he added.

"Now we can either de-escalate our program and stay Division II or go down to Division III, or else we can decide to keep our program strong and be ready when we get a chance to go Division I," Marvin said.

If Eastern were to go Division I, Marvin speculated that expenses for football would remain about the same, but rise for basketball.

"In football there would not be a major change," he said. "Right now we have a head count of about 75 scholarships. That would keep us competitive with most Division I-AA programs—not all, but most. basketball, on the other hand, would have to have some more scholarships and funds.

"If we are successful at all in the two revenue-producing sports, then I think we have a good chance at contributing dollars to the other sports," Marvin continued.

Marvin also favored the formation of a conference that would be closer geographically to Eastern. Western Illinois, Southern Illinois-Carbondale, Illinois State and Indiana State were among the teams Marvin listed that could help form the new league.

Western and Eastern are currently members of the Mid-Continent Conference which has a rather clouded future. Illinois State is a Division I independent.

Southern and Indiana State are both members of the Missouri Valley Conference, which has teams in New Mexico and Texas.

"The major costs of athletic programs in the future will wrapped up in travel, so some of these teams might reconsider who they play," Marvin said.

Panther 'Big Three' gives McDevitt high hopes

by Dave Claypool

If Eastern head baseball coach Tom McDevitt is correct in his assessment that pitching is the most important aspect of a collegiate baseball program, a prosperous season could be in store for the third-year coaches team.

The fiery commander of the Panther ball club was quick to admit that pitching is the main concern of most college coaches. But in McDevitt's case those worries do not exist.

The "big three" of Eastern's pitching staff could be the reason for McDevitt's lack of worries.

Juniors Elliot Skorupa, Ken Westray, and junior college transfer Randy "Max" Weibel joins the squad for his first season.

Two-time letterman Skorupa and Westray return to the Panther line-up, while Weibel joins the squad for his first season.

The right-handed Skorupa led last year's club with a 5-0 mark and an earned run average of 2.78. He then capped off his sophomore season by being named to the NCAA District IV third team.

Westray, a southpaw, was 2-2 last year and compiled a 5.04 earned run average.

"Kenny's stats are not indicative of his ability," the coach said. "He gained about 20 pounds since last spring and should be real tough."

Before transferring from Triton JC, Weibel compiled a 12-1 record while being the state's winningest junior college pitcher. He was able to go undefeated until the National Junior College World Series.

"Weibel has good stuff and major league curve. I'm looking for good things to come from him," McDevitt said.

The coach went on to mention that the three "should win in college baseball."

"They are all real respectable and I'll be relying a great deal on them," McDevitt said.

Another junior right-hander, Brad White, could be McDevitt's fourth starter for the upcoming trip south. The Panthers will open up a 16-game road trip Saturday at Evansville.

"I'm really not sure about the fourth spot," McDevitt said. "Hopefully we'll know when we get back."

Lenny Lundberg, who was in the starting rotation for the Panthers last season and had a record of 1-2, is another possibility along with senior right-hander Myron Richardson.

"Myron is looking good right now and so is Lenny, so either one could step in," McDevitt said.

Right-hander Gerry Schlechte was also mentioned as was freshman Bill Morton.

"The fourth spot might vary a bit this season," McDevitt noted. "We'll just have to see who comes along for us."

Also making the trip for the Panther pitching staff will be senior southpaw Terry Browne and freshman Ken Polarek.

"We're taking ten pitchers of our 23 players, but Westray, Skorupa and Weibel will be seeing most of the action," McDevitt said.

When asked about possible relievers for the upcoming season, McDevitt said Lundberg, Schlechte and Browne are possibilities.

"Lundberg looks like the type of pitcher who could come in for a couple of innings and be a real stopper. Schlechte might also fit that bill," McDevitt said.

The other half of the Panther battery will also be well represented.

Senior Marty Pulley will return behind the plate to anchor that position for the second straight year.

Pulley, who batted .280 for the Panthers last season and also knocked in 18 runs, will hopefully provide the leadership for McDevitt's squad.

"He's the best catcher in the state. He's got enough arm to play anywhere," the coach said. "He's a type of take-charge player."

McDevitt once again made reference

Young softball team to face tough slate

by John Lipp

With new coach Lynette Nevins at the helm, Eastern's women's softball team has its work cut out if it wishes to accomplish what last year's state championship team did.

This year's team is predominately made up of first and second-year players. Another important factor which may affect Eastern's success is its schedule, which is made up of several Division I schools.

With the difficult level of competition and the lack of team experience, Nevins is hoping for a .500 season.

The team has been training since early January in preparation for the season. Nevins made special mention of her team's dedication, as it has gone through double practice sessions consisting of 6 a.m. and afternoon workouts.

Nevins is counting on senior Deb

McFeeters and sophomore Holly VanRemmen as pitchers. Freshman Nancy Kassebaum, Deb King and Janet Moore, along with sophomore Cindy Eggemeyer are expected to patch up holes in the infield. At catcher, Nevins is looking to senior Phyllis Tambling and freshman Kelly Waldrup to see most of the duty. The outfield will be anchored by Gayla Winter who is also the team's strongest hitter.
