Daley concedes early

Byrne leads in mayoral contest

CHICAGO (AP)—With more than a million votes counted, Jane M. Byrne narrowly led Tuesday in her bid for nomination to a second term as Chicago's mayor.

State's Attorney Richard M. Daley conceded defeat, but U.S. Rep. Harold Washington's supporters remained optimistic.

Amid widespread allegations of vote fraud, U.S. marshals were ordered to impound all ballots after they were counted—as possible evidence in criminal prosecutions.

Daley, a leader in early returns, conceded he would not win shortly before midnight. Daley was running third in his bid to follow his father into City Hall.

Washington, who captured the support and imagination of black voters with his crusade-like campaign to become Chicago's first black mayor, had moved up to second, 12,301 votes behind, with 1,011,844 votes counted.

With 2,574 of 2,914 precincts reported, the results were: Byrne, 351,771 or 33.0 percent; Washington, 339,470 or 31.8 percent; and Daley, 320,603 or 30.0 percent.

U.S. Attorney Dan K. Webb announced the impoundment of all ballots even before the polls closed. Once the ballots are counted, Webb said after reaching an agreement with Chicago elections board Chairman Michael E. Lavelle, they would be stored in a warehouse and "their integrity will be assured by U.S. marshals."

Lavelle said he had "no real basis to evaluate the merits of those complaints." However, he said he agreed to impound the ballots because "public perception of security is the most important thing that can be done right now."

Federal officials and local watchdog groups said complaints were pouring in. Four election judges were charged with election code violations and 10 others were arrested on such other complaints as tearing down posters.

Election officials predicted that despite light rain, a record 1.275 million on the 1.6 million registered Democrats would vote in the party primary, tantamount to election in the heavily Democratic city for the last 50 years.

Former state Rep. Bernard Epton ran unopposed in the Republican primary, and will face the Democratic nominee April 12.

Army registration needed for aid

by Mike Dominick

Male students wishing to receive financial aid for fall will be required to show proof of registration with the United States Selective Service System.

Sue McKenna, Eastern's director of financial aid, said the U.S. Congress last fall passed an amendment to the Selective Service Act of the Constitution.

The amendment, which was signed by President Ronald Reagan, stated that all college students who fail to register for selective service will not be eligible for financial aid.

John Flynn, associate director of financial aids, said the requirement will go into effect for all students receiving aid after June 30.

"The financial aid that is affected under this requirement comes under Title IV, which is the funding law for higher education," he added.

Flynn said Title IV involves all funds under the federal aid program, including all state funds that come from the program.

Flynn added that some of the aid programs included are the guaranteed loan, college work-study, grants-in-aid and national student loan plan.

All students must sign a certification form and also present a copy of their certificate from the selective service to receive financial aid, Flynn added.

If a student has lost his copy, beginning Monday the financial aids office will have letters available for students to send to the selective service. The selective service will then send a copy of the certificate to the student, he said.

Teele to ask for support of proposals

by Crystal Schrof

Student Body President Terry Teele said he will ask the Student Senate Wednesday to support two proposed changes in Eastern's pass-fail option.

Teele said he will ask the senate, through his State of the University address, to support the changes proposed by the Arts and Sciences Student Advisory Committee.

The committee's first proposal advises that a change should be made in the time period the registration office will accept pass-fail request cards.

Currently, students have two class days to decide if they wish to take a course pass-fail, but the committee is requesting that the time period be extended to 10 class days.

The committee's reason for the change, as stated in the proposal, is "the current decision time is so brief that, in some instances, the class in question has not met even once before a pass-fail decision must be made."

The committee is also asking the Council on Academic Affairs to consider the possibility of allowing a student to earn a grade of A even if a course is taken under the pass-fail option.

The request asks that students who have chosen the pass-fail option and earn a grade of either A or F have that grade recorded on their transcript. Students receiving a B, C or D grade would continue to have "pass" recorded on their transcript.

The proposal, which College of Arts and Sciences Dean Jon Laible sent to the senate for endorsement, states that the committee is proposing the modifications and has asked the CAA to discuss the pass-fail option.

Laible will also address the senate Wednesday concerning the proposed pass-fail option changes and will answer questions about the proposal, Teele said.

Also, Teele said he will ask the senate to consider rejoining the Illinois Student Association.

The ISA is a student organization responsible for researching what affects students in higher education and representing student interests as a lobbying group in Springfield.

The ISA holds monthly meetings for state school representatives to exchange ideas and programs.

Last year the Student Senate voted not to pay $300 in dues to maintain ISA membership.

The Student Senate will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

Supreme Court starts libel trials

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court cleared the way Tuesday for the start of two libel trials, against newspapers in Illinois and Missouri.

And in a third libel case, the justices let stand a $400,000 award against a John Birch Society magazine.

The court, without comment, refused to hear arguments aimed at killing a suit against the Peoria, Ill., Journal Star on charges filed by Frank Wanless, a former village attorney for Morton, Ill.

At issue was whether it is up to a trial jury to decide whether the newspaper's failure to pursue all avenues of investigation represents "actual malice" against Wanless.

Drunk driving law portion passes

SPRINGFIELD—A key portion of Illinois' new drunken driving law was approved by the U.S. Supreme Court Tuesday as justices ruled that refusal to take a sobriety test may be used as evidence of guilt.

"We're hopeful that this will help get people to take the Breathalyzer test," said Jim Edgar, Illinois secretary of state and Eastern Illinois University graduate.

Edgar was a backer of a 1981 bill that revamped the state's drunken driving law. The new law includes a provision allowing prosecutors to use a motorist's refusal to take a breath test as evidence in court.

Federal government buys town

EUREKA, Mo.—The federal government promised Tuesday to spend $33.1 million to buy the entire town of Times Beach and move its residents to protect them from dioxin contamination.

Environmental Protection Agency administrator Anne M. Butford told reporters the EPA will pay for the immediate relocation of all the town's residents and businesses, with Missouri footing the remaining 10 percent of the cost.

Hospital deaths prompt inquiry

SAN ANTONIO, Texas—A grand jury is investigating the "suspicious" deaths of at least a dozen hospitalized infants who have been linked to the same licensed vocational nurse, two newspapers reported Tuesday.

The chairman of the county hospital district promised later in the day to cooperate with any investigation of infant deaths at Medical Center Hospital.

"We have not had any evidence or wrongdoing in this institution," Dr. Wilian Thornton said at a meeting of the Bexar County Hospital District board of managers.

Rescue of Social Security begins

WASHINGTON—A House subcommittee tentatively agreed Tuesday to raise payroll taxes, curb benefits and force new federal employees to join the Social Security system as it pieced together a rescue plan for the giant retirement system.

The actions by the House Ways and Means panel would yield $165.1 billion in savings or new revenue through the end of the decade and substantially embrace the bipartisan recommendations of the National Commission on Social Security Reform.

Saudi Arabia: protect oil wealth in order to fight global price war

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP)—The United Arab Emirates declared OPEC's $34 base price dead Tuesday and Saudi Arabia vowed to take whatever measures are necessary to protect its oil wealth in the face of a global price war.

The two countries met with fellow Persian Gulf OPEC members Kuwait and Qatar amid reports they were considering slashing the price of their oil as much as $7 a barrel, following a $5.50 cut by OPEC member Nigeria and $3 cuts in North Sea oil by non-OPEC members Britain and Norway.

Qatar's oil minister, Sheik Abdul Aziz bin Khalifa al Thani, said, "For sure there will be a price cut...a good change of by more than $4." He made the comment after a three-hour meeting at the home of Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani.

Yamani said earlier that Iraq and Libya were expected to join the session Wednesday, which would decide on lowering prices and on future ties with other members of OPEC.

Yamani declared that the Gulf Arab oil producers were "the principal power within OPEC." He did not specify what steps he envisioned. But possible measures the Saudis could take include cutting production, lowering prices or both.

In oil trading centers the spot price of crude fell more than $1 a barrel. Saudi crude, which sells on contract at $34 dropped to about $27.25 on the spot market from $28.75 a day before.

The oil minister of the United Arab Emirates, Mana Saeed Oteiba, told reporters: "There has to be a price reduction, or else we shall be unable to preserve our interests and our markets, if we maintain the present" OPEC base price.

Reagan insures Israeli's border

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Reagan declared Tuesday he has reversed a "truly alarming" decline in America's global influence, and offered to flex that renewed muscle by insuring Israel's border security if it quickly pulls all its troops back from Lebanon.

"This administration is prepared to take all necessary measures to guarantee the security of Israel's northern borders in the aftermath of the complete withdrawal of the Israeli army," the president said in a speech to the American Legion.

Reagan called again for Israel, Syria and the PLO to withdraw their forces from Lebanon "in the shortest possible time." Similar pleas over the past months have gone unheeded.

Reagan gave no details of how the United States would guarantee the borders. His spokesman, Larry Speakes, said one option was using U.S. troops, probably as part of a multinational force, upon a specific request and if their use was an essential part of an agreement.

Speakes sought to play down the president's statement, saying it was no change in U.S. policy. "We have emphasized all along the security of Israel's northern border is one of the principal goals which the United States believes negotiations must attain," he said.

In the first reaction from Capitol Hill, Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., called the president's announcement "an awfully big commitment for us to make."

EPA awards accused company

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Environmental Protection Agency sanctioned the award of a $7.7 million contract for toxic waste cleanup to a company accused of trying to cover up its own pollution problems. The company was represented by a former consultant to the EPA's administrator.

The contract to Chemical Waste Management Inc. has come under scrutiny by Congress as part of a ballooning investigation into whether politics played a part in the "superfund" program to clean up dumps posing threats to the health of millions.

Chemical Waste, of Oak Brook, Ill., is represented by Denver lawyer James Sanderson, Seymour, Ind., who for 15 months was a paid, part-time consultant to EPA Administrator Anne Gorbis. Sanderson removed himself from consideration for the No. 3 job at the EPA after he was accused of improperly aiding another client while working for the agency. The FBI is investigating.

Sanderson removed himself from consideration for the No. 3 job at the EPA after he was accused of improperly aiding another client while working for the agency. The FBI is investigating.

Rep. James Florio, D-N.J., one of five House subcommittee chairmen investigating the agency, has demanded explanations from Sanderson and Mrs. Burford by Thursday. Sanderson said he did nothing improper and "I resent being dragged back into the follies in Washington."

Sanderson said he had no involvement in the negotiations which resulted in the awarding of a contract to Chemical Waste to clean up the dump or the citation issued against Chemical Waste's Lowry landfill in Denver.

Students' financial aid may be cut

by Douglas Backstrom

About 600 Eastern students could be denied financial aid next year as a result of the Illinois State Scholarship Commission's decision to raise the minimum financial aid award from $120 to $140, an Eastern financial aid official said Tuesday.

John Flynn, Eastern's associate director of financial aid, said he expects 600 students to be cut from state-funded aid programs because of the increase in the minimum award granted, which was approved at Thursday's ISSC meeting.

Flynn said he based his prediction on the number of students who received financial aid this year when the minimum ISSC award amount was $120.

"Since ISSC raised the monetary award amount (for next year), $700,000 would have been taken from other loan programs, and it would just wipe students out," Flynn said.

ISSC Director Larry Majetka said the ISSC also discussed several modifications of its fiscal year 1984 budget formula.

Majetka said one of the modifications of the budget refers to students' eligibility to receive the ISSC's monetary award.

Freshman are required to provide a minimum of $1,400 per year toward their education, while sophomores, juniors and seniors will be responsible for $1,800 with the modified formula, Majetka said.

Another modification will be a limitation placed on the number of award applications processed for the next school year.

Majetka said ISSC members have been discussing this issue since September because they "are trying to fit this formula into the budget."

Weather causing problems for blood drive

by Melinda Wilson

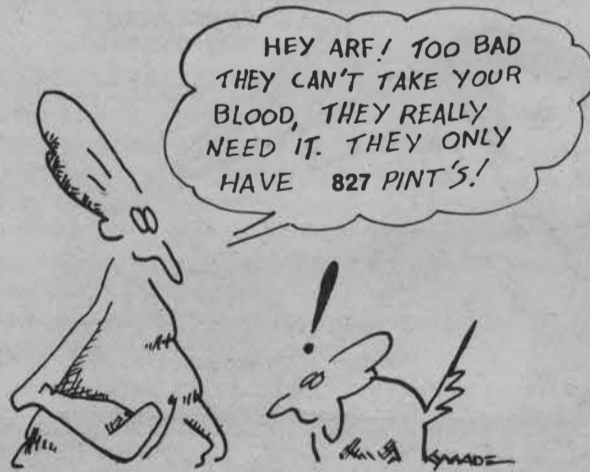

Charleston's unseasonably warm weather is continuing to play havoc with the blood business.

Red Cross blood drive workers collected a less-than-expected total of 461 pints of blood Tuesday, as blood drive chairman Sandy Beard said some possible donors had to be refused because of high body temperatures.

She also added that the warm temperatures probably caused more people not to donate because they were outside enjoying the weather.

The 461 pints donated Tuesday boosts the drive total to 827 pints. This year's goal was set at 1,750 pints.

"We are still hurting because of the weather but we are doing pretty well with approximately 400 donors each day," Beard said. "Out of the 524 volunteers who donated, 80 were first time donors and 63 had to be turned away."

Faculty Senate makes additions to proposed plan

by Crystal Schrof

The Faculty Senate made three additions Tuesday to the proposed faculty evaluations of deans and department chairmen.

Faculty Senate Vice Chairman Richard Goodrick proposed adding questions to the evaluation form which were drafted by political science instructor Larry Thorsen.

The senate adopted three questions which Goodrick proposed for use on the evaluation forms. One question will ask faculty if the chairperson is available to consult with students and faculty during a set period every day.

Another question asks if the chairperson supervises the secretary and office in a routine and effective manner.

The third question added to the evaluation forms asks if the chairman effectively administers contracts with the University Professionals of Illinois, the union which negotiates for Eastern's instructors.

Goodrick said one example of the need for chairmen to administer contracts occurs when a faculty member must teach an overload. Before the instructor is scheduled with the extra teaching hours, the chairman should discuss how the overload works within the faculty-member's contract.

The proposed evaluations are the result of a senate subcommittee study which began last semester after several senate members expressed concern that currently there is little faculty input into the evaluation of deans and chairmen.

The evaluation form would be used by Eastern's administrators as a means of determining how well a particular dean or department chairman performs his job.

According to the evaluation form, a new dean or chairman would not be evaluated his first year in office but would be evaluated every year thereafter.

Faculty members would use a numerical rating scale to evaluate the performance of their superiors, with one used as the lowest and five used as the highest rating.

The deans and chairmen will be evaluated in several areas, including exhibition of an understanding of political and economic problems confronting the department or school under their jurisdiction.

Ratings will also be given on how well the dean or chairperson communicates with his staff, if he delegates authority and assigns tasks appropriately and if he makes use of consultation before making decisions.

In other business, the senate revised dates for the upcoming Faculty Senate elections. Nominations for all open positions are due by March 3, rather than Feb. 24, which was previously named as the deadline.

The list of candidates and their statements will appear in the March 8 senate minutes. Faculty Senate elections are slated for March 22 and 23.

Pass-fail sign-up extension needed

Reform is needed for Eastern's pass-fail option, and the Student Senate should support a proposal to change the option system.

The senate should endorse an extension of the time allotted for registering to take a course pass-fail, as outlined by the Arts and Sciences Student Advisory Committee.

The committee recently proposed two changes in the present pass-fail operation and Jon Laible, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, asked the Council on Academic Affairs to discuss the pass-fail option.

The committee has asked the Student Senate to support the proposed changes.

The first proposal recommends extending the registration period for the pass-fail option from two to 10 class days. The committee contends that students currently do not have sufficient time to decide whether to elect the pass-fail option.

The committee's second proposal recommends that students should be able to receive an A in a class they opted to take pass-fail, if their class work merits the grade.

The senate should support the extension in registration time, but the committee's recommendation for A-grading in a pass-fail course should not be endorsed.

Students should not be allowed to receive an A in a class they have opted to take pass-fail because the pass-fail option is just that—an option. If a student wants to receive an A in a class, he should not take that course pass-fail.

College students should know their own capabilities well enough to decide which course each semester, if any, they want to take pass-fail.

Editorial

And, if they feel capable of earning an A, they should not sign up to receive a P or an F.

The arts and sciences committee contends that "faculty have observed that a student taking a course pass-fail may do very well in the course only to let work quality deteriorate as demands of courses taken for regular grades increase."

The ability to "let work quality deteriorate" is one of the major reasons students choose to take a course pass-fail. As the semester progresses, students may need to devote more time to regularly graded courses and ease up on the work they do for their pass-fail classes.

The pass-fail option was originally designed to allow students to enroll in courses which they are interested in, but which fall outside their major, so they can be introduced to an unfamiliar subject without worrying about grades.

Extending the pass-fail registration period to 10 class days would give students the opportunity to attend each class at least twice and therefore make a more informed choice before opting for pass-fail grading.

The current registration policy often forces students to make their pass-fail choices before attending the first session of their classes.

The Student Senate should take a step toward making the option more practical for students by supporting an extension of the registration time, but it should not support the plan to allow students to receive an A when they sign up for pass-fail.

Swimmers thank coach

Editor:

As senior members and co-captains of the women's swim team, we would like to thank all the students and faculty who supported us throughout our struggle with R. C. Johnson concerning the revocation of scholarship monies.

We would also like to thank a great man without whom the "cause" would not have existed, head swim coach Ray Padovan.

Throughout this whole ordeal, Coach Padovan has thought of the swimmers' welfare above his own. Without scholarship monies it is almost impossible to recruit and the whole program will soon die out. With the end of the program will come the end of Coach Padovan's job—a job to which he has devoted a great portion of his life.

Padovan is currently in his 17th year at Eastern and in that time he has produced more than 150 All-American swimmers. In 1981, Padovan was named Coach of the Year for Division II swimming—the most prestigious award a coach can receive.

In essence, the swimmers' fight to retain the scholarship monies is more than just monetary. It is a fight to save the future of a fine program and the great man behind it! As senior members we are not affected financially by the cut, but we are affected emotionally.

We have been fortunate to swim under the direction of Coach Padovan for four years and we will treasure our experiences forever. We would like to see Coach Padovan as "Head Skipper" for a long time to come, thus enabling many future swimmers to have the opportunities we had.

In closing, we would like to thank Coach Padovan for all he has done and to ask Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin and Johnson to take five minutes out of their busy schedules to examine the tremendous mark that Ray Padovan has made on swimming and the reputation of Eastern Illinois University.

Thanks for support

Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the students of Eastern Illinois University and the community of Charleston for their support and patronage of the Residence Hall Association during the past year.

Thanks to you, during this past weekend Eastern was voted the Outstanding University in the state of Illinois. We received the title at the state-wide Illinois Residence Hall Association conference at Illinois State University.

We appreciate your enthusiasm and look forward to your continued support in the upcoming year.

How to avoid mistakes when filing aid forms

(The following column is the third in a five-part series on financial aid.)

"I don't understand what's wrong. I keep answering the questions from the Pell Grant Program which are asked on the Student Aid Report that was sent me, and it just keeps coming back! How can I get their system to accept it?"

You can save us, as well as yourself, a lot of problems if you let us see any correspondence you receive from Pell Grant before you return the Student Aid Report for corrections. We'll advise you how to clarify the problems.

There are at least nine major errors made by students and their families in completing financial aid forms. The most common one is failing to understand what is meant by "household size"—one applicant listed it as 11 by 14 inches.

The number in the household are those for whom parents will provide more than half of their support for the period of time from July 1, 1983 to June 30, 1984—including yourself.

Other common errors include:

- Failing to list child support being received for all those counted in the "household size."
- Filing the financial statement before income tax forms are completed. You need exact figures from the tax return to keep from making corrections later; don't estimate.
- Claiming to be self-supporting without finding out that you do not meet the eligibility requirements.

Aid advice:

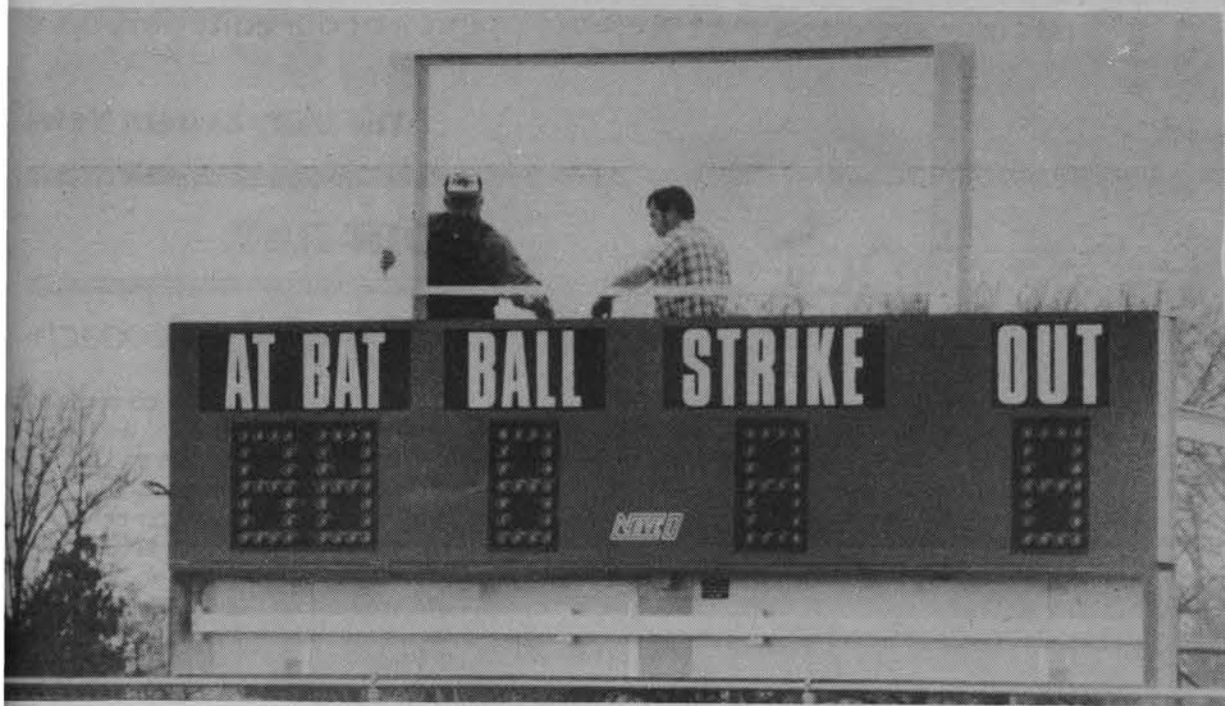

Sue McKenna

- Using the income of the wrong parent on the financial statement, if your parents are divorced or separated, or failing to include a step-parent's income when it is required.
 - Using the wrong Social Security number—one student waited six months this year for his award because he inserted one wrong digit in his Social Security number box.
 - Omitting Eastern's code (1016) on the Family Financial Statement.
 - Failing to read form instructions thoroughly.
 - Failing to respond to requests for further information.
- Any one of these errors can cause delay in the processing of your financial aid applications.

One more suggestion (and this one will save you money): it is not necessary to send corrections to ACT for use on the Family Financial Statement; which requires an additional fee, unless the financial statement has been rejected by ACT. Just tell us what is incorrect and we'll advise you what action to take.

Tomorrow: what it means to "validate" a financial statement.

—Sue McKenna is director of Eastern's Office of Financial Aids.

Reflection's hosts community play

by Mike Dominick

"6 RMS RIV VU" will be presented in early March by the Charleston Community Theatre at Reflection's Restaurant.

Eastern English instructor Dick Rogers said the play was written by Bob Randall and deals with two middle-aged married people who meet while looking at an empty New York apartment.

Neither person is accompanied by their spouse and while they are looking at the apartment, they get locked in, Rogers said.

They get acquainted while they are locked in, decide to have dinner when they get out and later decide to have an affair, he added.

Randall wrote the title in the manner he did—"6 RMS RIV VU"—because it is the way it would appear in a newspaper advertising apartments for rent, Rogers added.

Rogers said the play's cast consists of area residents, but the play is being put together by various Eastern staff members.

Rogers, Doug Bock, speech-communication department chairman, Dan Dailey, Taylor-Lawson residence hall food service employee, Carol Stitt, business education instructor, and John Beabout, radio-television center director, are working on the play, Rogers said.

The play "6 RMS RIV VU" will be presented March 3-8 and dinner will accompany the performance.

Jody Mullen, supervisor at Reflection's, 506 W. Lincoln, said ticket prices range between $9.50 and $15 depending on the dinner and the night of the performance.

Mullen said dinners will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the play will start about 8:30 p.m.

However, the March 6 performance will be a matinee with dinner served at 1:30 p.m. and the play beginning at 3:30 p.m., she said.

For more information and tickets, interested individuals can call Reflection's at 345-2300.

Talk to focus on thinking, problem-solving

Few people manage to avoid "shortcomings in their thinking process," said psychology instructor John Best, who will conduct the Counseling Center seminar "Problem-Solving" Wednesday.

"Very few people are unaffected by pitfalls in problem solving," he added.

Best said he will talk about his research on thinking and problem solving in order to help students and residents of the Charleston community solve their personal dilemmas.

Being aware of "our thought process" is often difficult, he added. "Evidence suggests that it is hard to teach general strategies on problem solving, but we can monitor our own thought process by asking questions about our own thinking."

The seminar is scheduled for noon Wednesday in the Union addition Greenup room.

Board to review editor nominees

by Debbie Coventry

The Publications Board will name the 1983-84 Student Publications editors in chief Wednesday, Student Publications Advisor David Reed said.

Reed said the board will select The Daily Eastern News, The Summer Eastern News and the Warbler editors in chief. Reed and Warbler Advisor Mary Wohlrabe will make suggestions to the board concerning editor in chief nominees.

Also, Reed said the board will discuss purchasing a small business computer system for Student Publications.

The computer would be used by the Student Publications business department for payroll and advertising billing, he said.

Reed said he will also ask the board to increase the fiscal year 1983 budget by 5 percent in order to cover increases in payroll and additional newsprint.

Also, the board will discuss the proposed FY 84 Student Publications budget. Reed said the proposed budget will be similar to the FY 83 budget because there will not be any significant increases.

In other business, Reed said the board will hear progress reports from News Editor in Chief Lola Burnham, Warbler Editor in Chief Becky Corzilius and Vehicle Editor John Stockman.

Also, Reed said the board is still in the process of seeking bids for an electric forklift grabber.

A grabber would allow 1,000-pound rolls of newsprint, currently stored on their sides, to be stacked on end.

The Publications Board will meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Union addition Greenup Room.

Student scholarship honors King's ideals

A scholarship established to honor the memory of civil rights leader Martin Luther King is currently available to an Eastern student.

David Maurer, Eastern's chapter president of the American Association of University Professors, said the scholarship was formed by the association in 1969 to honor King's memory and his ideals.

Every year a monetary award is presented to a full-time student who shows "academic excellence, outstanding character and a desire to improve the quality of human existence," Maurer said.

This year's award is worth $175, he added.

Students, faculty and staff members may nominate a student for the scholarship before the March 11 deadline, he added.

"Nobody is barred. It is open to any full-time student who is in good academic standing," he said.

Nomination forms are available from AAUP chapter members Francis Stokes, Kandy Baumgardner and Maurer.

AP: Budget problems cause national crises

by the Associated Press

It's happening in cash-strapped hospitals in Philadelphia and Chicago where poor people with no health insurance are sometimes turned away unless they come with dollars in hand.

It's happening at gas pumps across the country where fuel taxes are climbing to meet the cost of repairing crumbling highways.

It's happening in classrooms on dusty rural roads or city asphalt, where children have no desks and chairs or learn from textbooks so dated that teachers remember them from their own school days.

With almost every state struggling with the worst rash of budget problems in memory, the impact of deep service cuts and increasing state and local taxes is being felt by Americans everywhere.

A 50-state survey by The Associated Press found officials from the industrial Northeast to the more prosperous Sunbelt conceding that the days when higher state taxes and service reductions could be avoided are over. Programs for health, welfare and education make up the lion's share of state budgets, and those are the areas most deeply affected by budget woes.

New Jersey's only city hospital, the 500-bed Jersey City Medical Center, is $16 million in debt and on the verge of collapse.

Lower Medicaid payments have meant that private hospitals in Chicago, Houston, and St. Louis have limited the number of poor patients they will admit, or are demanding cash up front before accepting poverty cases. Public hospital officials say that as a result, the poor have been deferring medical care, and those who do come to hospitals are sicker.

The recession and cutbacks in domestic spending by the Reagan administration have stripped states of surpluses many had accumulated in the late 1970's, the last period of relative prosperity.

Nowhere is the decline in states' fortunes better illustrated than in California, which four years ago boasted a $4 billion surplus. In 1978, voters passed Proposition 13, which sharply limited property taxes. The state used its surplus to protect locally provided services and consequently ran up a $2 billion deficit.

The National Governors' Association found that all but seven states have imposed either across-the-board or selective spending cuts for 1982 or 1983. The Tax Foundation found $3 billion in new taxes were raised permanently or temporarily in 21 states during 1982.

The AP found that 33 states have raised taxes or more of many state budgets, and public schools and universities are absorbing some of the biggest state cutbacks. In Michigan, Gov. James Blanchard said in January he was indefinitely postponing $500 million in aid to public schools and state colleges and universities. Many fear that aid is gone for good.

Ohio Gov. Richard Celeste ordered a $192 million cut in aid to elementary and secondary schools and $40 million to colleges.

COTE reviews survey of teacher education programs

by Carl Pugliese

An Illinois Board of Higher Education survey concerning the future of teacher education programs in Illinois was discussed Tuesday by members of the Council on Teacher Education.

Stanley Rives, Eastern provost and vice president for academic affairs, said because of the fluctuation in demand in certain areas of education, the IBHE is conducting the survey to determine how Illinois' universities are adjusting to the demand switch.

COTE Chairman Mary Lou Hubbard said the COTE has the opportunity to submit suggestions in response to the survey to Charles Joley, the dean of the school of education, by April 1.

Ron Leathers, assistant to the dean of the school of education, suggested the COTE make suggestions to Joley in an effort to "exercise policy-level leadership."

Leathers added if the COTE makes suggestions to Joley about the IBHE questions, it should formulate a response "in terms of thinking about the future and problems down the line" with education programs.

In other business, Leathers discussed questions the State Teaching Certification Board asked about Eastern's education programs.

Leathers said although the state board approved Eastern's education programs, it had questions about certain sections of the fifth-year interim report submitted for approval last year.

Leathers said Eastern will send the state board clarification of the questions the board had concerning three areas.

The areas include the 42-hour general education requirement for all educational programs, the inclusion of study of French culture in the French education program and a more specific description of the clinical experience for educational psychology and guidance programs.

The COTE also discussed inviting Larry Freeman, manager of the program-approval section of the Illinois State Board of Education, to speak at a COTE meeting about the future of education programs in Illinois schools.

Pork Queen not ashamed to be called 'Miss Piggy'

by Gene O'Shea

Some of freshman Betsy Benjamin's friends call her Miss Piggy, but she doesn't mind at all.

Benjamin was recently chosen 1983 Illinois Pork Industry Queen at the Illinois Pork Conference and Trade Show in Peoria.

"I'm not offended (at being called Miss Piggy)," she said. "Most big-city people don't know what it's about."

Pigs play a major role in Benjamin's life, she said, because she comes from a long line of hog farmers. Her family currently is raising more than 1,500 purebred Hampshires at their farm in Towanda, Ill.

Benjamin, a speech communications major, said her job as queen is "public relations and that should help my major. I want to work PR in the agriculture field someday."

"My job as pork queen is to inform people about the nutritional aspects of pork," she said.

Having one's name associated with pigs may not be most people's idea of fame, but Benjamin takes it in stride.

"I was at ISU (Illinois State University) for a pork promotion and some people yelled things. You have to bear it and know it's not a joke," Benjamin said.

Serving as 1983 Illinois Pork Queen is also financially rewarding. Benjamin received a pigskin jacket, $500 cash, a trip to Chicago and sponsorship in the National Pork Queen contest for winning the title, she said. The national contest is scheduled for March, 1984 in Kansas City, Mo.

She also earns $25 for every appearance she makes on behalf of Illinois hog farmers, and those appearances could add up to as many as 150 this year, she added.

Benjamin said her favorite pig is a sow named Nola which she exhibited at the McLean County Fair. Nola won the title of grand champion.

Benjamin said the olfactory barrage of living with pigs doesn't bother her.

UB to review new acts and ideas

New activities and ideas gathered by the three University Board coordinators attending last week's National Association of Campus Activities Convention in Baltimore, Md. will be the topic of discussion at Wednesday's meeting.

UB Adviser Ann Marie Cavanagh said, "They will discuss some new acts they saw and decide if some are within our range of funds."

Ways to recruit people to fill the positions of mainstage and lecture coordinators will also be discussed Wednesday, she said.

Wednesday will be the last meeting conducted by Chairman Steve Jones and Vice Chairman Cheryl Petrik, as newly-elected Chairman Bruce Quillen and Vice Chairman Nancy Martin will take over on March 1.

The meeting will be at 5:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Union addition Kansas Room.

Come feel the Energy

by Tina Dvorak

Every Thursday you watch it. David Bowie sang about it. And you should not miss it. Can you guess? FAME. Well, tonight, Wednesday, February 23, at 7:00 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom, see the streets of Manhattan come alive, "Bursting with fresh faces, style and energy", according to David Ansen, Newsweek.

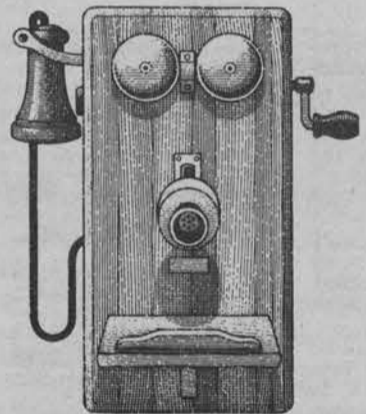

FAME is an electrifying-musical drama set in Manhattan's celebrated High School of the Performing Arts. It is an incisive look at the hopes and dream of Irene Cara, Eddie Barte, and six other young people dying for a foothold in the world of show business.

Rex Reed proclaims, "FAME bursts with electricity from beginning to end" and with electricity prices soaring you can't afford to miss the Cinematheque feature for only $1.25. That's two hours of constant electricity for probably the cheapest rates in South Eastern Illinois. Come feel the energy! This feature is being brought to you by U.B. NIGHT SHIFT

by Leslie Talley

It's late night, and strange things are happening at the city morgue. No, this isn't a horror film, this is Night Shift, which will be shown Friday, February 25 at 6:30 and 9:00 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom.

Night Shift contains an unlikely set of circumstances, which make for an off-beat, hilarious, and touching comedy. Where else could a pimp's dive through a basketball hoop and the pairing of the wimpy, Henry (The Fonz) Winkler with the wonderfully deranged and hilariously hip Michael Keaton, lead to a love brokerage operating out of the city morgue on the Night Shift. It's an excellent comic performance directed by Ron Howard.

"Night Shift is downright affirmative and resoundingly funny," says Newsweek. Sheila Benson of Los Angeles Times calls it, "So likable, so inventive, so deftly performed and so very, very funny." And Archer Winston, of New York Post, states that Night Shift "Wrings out belly laughs."

You won't have to work overtime to enjoy Night Shift, for only $1.25. Brought to you by the University Board Movie Committee.

Dykstra wins conference player honor

by Kirby Flowers

Tim Dykstra was the first Eastern basketball player named "Player of the Week" Tuesday in the newly-formed Association of Mid-Continent Universities.

"When Kevin (Jones) was slowed by the knee injury, Tim really to control offensively a couple games and has kept it up," Eastern head coach Rick Samuels said.

The 6-foot-5 junior forward was presented with the weekly conference honor for his efforts in three Panther wins against Howard University, the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay and the University of Illinois-Chicago.

Dykstra led the Panthers to a 60-59 victory over Howard Feb. 14 in a non-conference contest. He poured in 19 points and pulled down five rebounds to pace Eastern past Howard.

In addition, Dykstra pumped in a bucket from the side of the key to put the Panthers on top 60-59 with 1:02 left in the contest. And the Eastern defense held on for the win.

The next Wednesday at Green Bay, Wis. Dykstra continued his hot streak as he notched 18 points and grabbed three rebounds to help the Panthers defeat conference foe Green Bay 70-60.

The Plymouth, Ind. native helped Eastern down league opponent and AMCU preseason favorite Illinois-Chicago 86-74 Saturday at Lantz Gym to solidify the Panthers' lead in the conference with a 7-1 mark.

Dykstra was 22-34 from the field in three games for a 64 percent shooting percentage. In addition, he had a winning basket against Howard last Monday and played key supporting roles in the wins over Green Bay and Illinois-Chicago.

The only Panther to have started every Eastern game this season has upped his season average to 10 points per game with the three game outburst.

"If he can continue to shoot well from the perimeter, it will keep people from sagging inside on (Kevin) Duckworth so much," Samuels noted.

Eastern cagers to face smaller Indiana State

by Kirby Flowers

Eastern's basketball team will try to out-muscle Indiana State University-Evansville in a non-conference contest 8:30 p.m. (CST) Wednesday at Evansville, Ind.

"It will be a very tough basketball game," Indiana State head coach Creighton Burns said. "They are just so big and bulky that it will cause us problems trying to run our offense."

"Our kids are slender and will have problems going up against (Dirk) Androff and (Kevin) Duckworth," Burns added. "We're just going to go out and try and do the best we can."

However, Eastern head coach Rick Samuels said he thinks Indiana State will be a tough battle for the 11-15 Panthers.

"I think it is going to be a heck of a challenge," Samuels said. "They have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

"They have a big front line and have some good perimeter shooters," Samuels added.

The Eagles front line consists of 6-foot-7 forwards Cully Nelson, Kelly Williams and Jeff Pennington. Guards Lawrence James and Kent Payne are 6-foot-1 and 6-foot, respectively.

In addition, Indiana State has four of their starters averaging in double figures.

Nelson leads the club with a 17 points-per-game average. He is also among the top shooters in Division II, shooting 60.6 percent from the field.

Williams, James and Pennington each average about 15 points an outing around out the top four shooters for the 12-12 Eagles.

Indiana State is also a member of the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference and are currently 4-6 in league play.

Burns said his squad will have to play outstanding defense if his club is going to be successful against the Panthers.

"We have to shut down (Doug) Crook and (Tim) Dykstra from the outside," Burns said. "They are both excellent outside shooters if you leave them open."

"Jones (Kevin) is also a big offensive threat," Burns continued. "If we are going to win we can't let him go crazy on us."

"We will also have to contain them inside," Burns added. "We will have to stop Duckworth underneath."

Eastern will enter Wednesday's contest after an 82-75 conference loss to Southwest Missouri Monday in Springfield, Mo. and Samuels said his squad has to regroup.

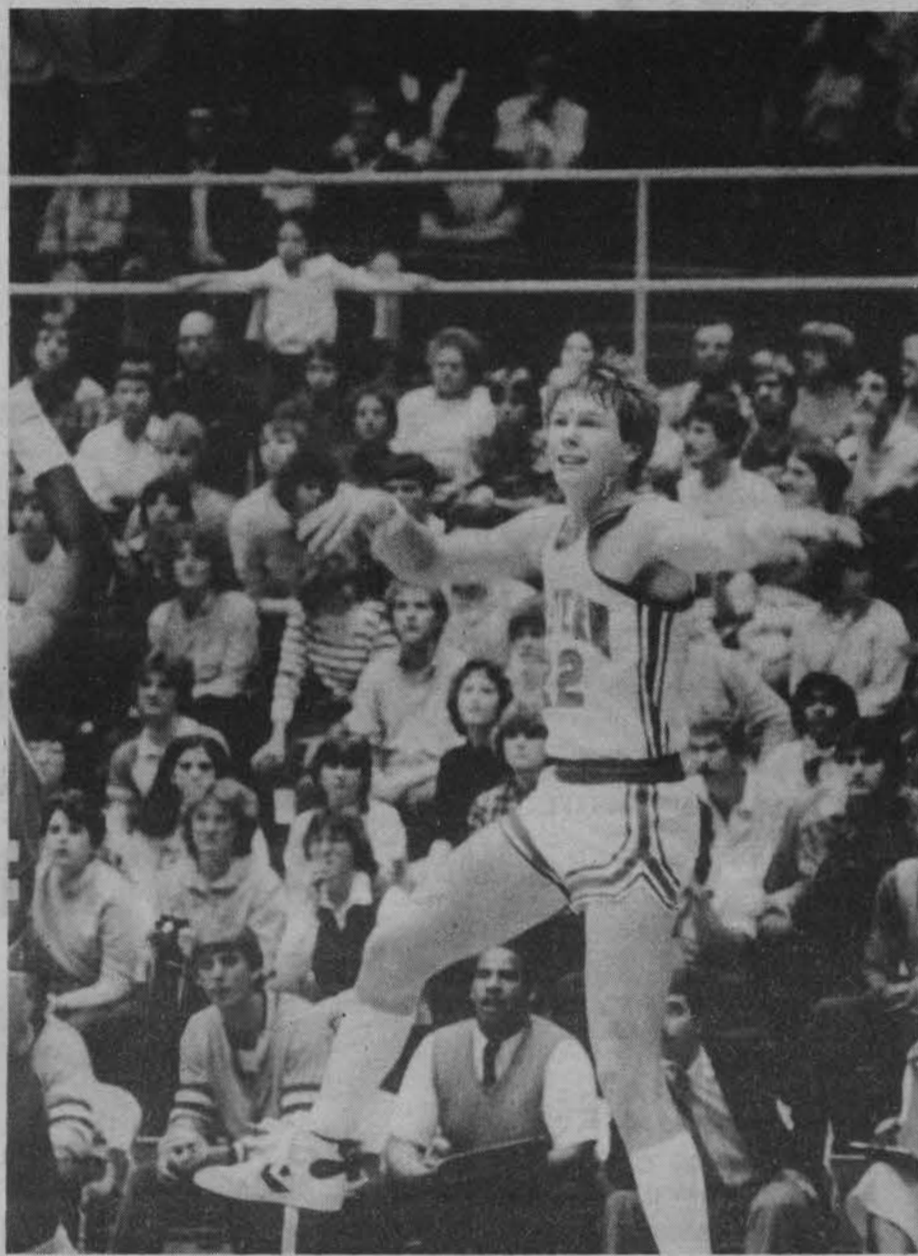

"We have to play more intelligent if we are going to win Wednesday," Samuels said. "We weren't aggressive at Southwest. We will have to be more aggressive against Indiana."

"All is not lost," Samuels said. "We think if we can split on the road and win our remaining home games we will have a shot at the (conference) title."

"Now we have to regroup," Samuels continued. "We told the players that championships aren't dumped in their lap, that they will have to earn everything they get."

The Panther head coach is expected to start Crook and Jones at the guard spots, Dykstra and Androff at the forward positions and freshman Duckworth at center Wednesday against the Eagles.

Panther Notes... Eastern forward Tim Dykstra was named AMCU "Player of the week" for his efforts in the Panthers' three wins last week.

Panther netters field experienced team

by Rhea Nall

Eastern's men's tennis team this spring will be the most experienced squad in several years, with all six starters returning from last season's 12-8 unit.

The Panthers opened their season Feb. 11-12 with a second-place finish in the third annual Eastern indoor tournament. The netters were edged by the University of Evansville 19-18 in the six-team tourney.

Eastern will complete its indoor competition this weekend when the netters travel to Peoria and Joliet to take on Bradley and St. Francis College, respectively, in dual meets. The outdoor season opens March 9.

Eastern will be led by last year's Most Valuable Player, Jon Tuft, who finished 14-6 last season, and Bruce Perrin.

Tuft and Perrin won the conference championships in singles at No. 4 and No. 3, respectively, while as a team the Panthers finished second in the Mid-Continent Conference.

Juniors Jay Johnson, who played in the No. 1 spot last year, and Rob Hopkins, who was in the Panthers' No. 2 slot, will once again challenge each other for the top spot.

Johnson finished 8-12 last year, while Hopkins posted a 12-8 mark, the best record for an Eastern No. 2 player in the last 10 years.

Mark Munie and Tuft posted the top win records at 14-6. Munie played No. 5 singles, finished second in the Mid-Continent and then teamed with Tuft to win the league's No. 2 doubles competition.

Eastern head coach Carl Sexton said he has set a goal for his squad to win more matches than it loses, which his teams have accomplished the last three seasons.

"Our goal is to be over .500 and we've managed that over the last three years," Sexton said. Last year we were 12-8, which is the best overall record in the last 10 years."

"We achieved our goal of moving up each of the last three seasons, so by finishing second (in the MCC) last year, we're going for all of it this spring," Sexton added. "We can win it if we play well."

Kassebaum ready to play

Kathy Leahy
Eastern's women's basketball team, which has been struggling lately, received encouraging news from senior guard Nancy Kassebaum Tuesday.

Nancy Kassebaum, who had been out with a knee injury since mid-January, said she was released from her doctor's care Tuesday and would be able to start practicing Wednesday. "My knee is feeling fine and I'm really looking forward to practicing, but I especially can't wait to play," Kassebaum said.

"I can start practice tomorrow (Wednesday). I don't know when I'll be able to play, but I hope it is real soon," Kassebaum added. "I'm just very happy."

Kassebaum is Eastern's all-time scoring leader, and also leads in assists and steals. She was averaging 17.4 points a game before being sidelined with the knee injury.

In addition, Kassebaum had something else to be especially happy about Tuesday. She was chosen First Team District 4 All-Academic for the second straight year by the College Sports Information Directors of America (COSIDA).

District 4 includes Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin. Kassebaum's name will now be placed on a national ballot.

Kassebaum, a recreation major, said she was very excited about receiving the honor for the second consecutive year.

"I'm excited. It's nice to be able to prove that athletes are able to accomplish something in the academic world instead of just out on the court," Kassebaum said.

Kassebaum said she felt her chances of receiving the national award were better this year than they were last year.

"I have a better chance this year because my grade point average is up," Kassebaum said. "I think I had a 3.72 last year and this year it's up to 3.78."

Kassebaum said she is glad she gave up a small part of her social life and decided to devote it to studying, because it has paid off in the long run.

"People think a lot more of you when you achieve something academically," Kassebaum said. "The compliments you receive far outweigh the time you spend studying."

Illini seek post season bid

(AP)—Purdue's invasion of Illinois Wednesday night might not have that much bearing on the Big Ten basketball race so far as the championship is concerned but the game takes on added significance because of the drive for post-season tournament berths.

"At this point it is a key, pivotal game," Illinois coach Lou Henson told the Chicago Basketball Writers in a telephone interview Tuesday. "We play the same opponents the rest of the year and they did beat us at their place."

That was a 63-62 loss five weeks ago in a basket at the buzzer by Dan Lombizio. Illinois has since won five of seven Big Ten games but Henson feels the Illini must win three of their next five games to gain a berth in the NCAA tournament.

"We need 20 or 21 victories to make a .500 record," said Henson, who's team has an 11-8 record, "but it depends on how the other teams do. Most teams prefer the Big Ten but we like both tournaments."

Purdue coach Gene Keady called the Illinois game "a giant step towards qualifying for the NCAA. If any league gets five teams into the tournament, the Big Ten deserves it because of winning more nonconference games. Whoever wins this game will have a great opportunity for the NCAA."

Keady figures the fact that Purdue defeated Illinois earlier in the season gives Illinois the advantage in this game.

"We will have to play better to be in this game or Illinois will blow us out," said Keady.

Henson and Keady differed on their appraisal of respective players, especially assessments concerning guards Derek Harper of Illinois and Ricky Hall of Purdue.

"Harper has played well all along," Henson said. "As a freshman he led us to the NCAA regionals two years ago but this is his best year shooting and handling the ball and he's one of the best defensive guards in the country."

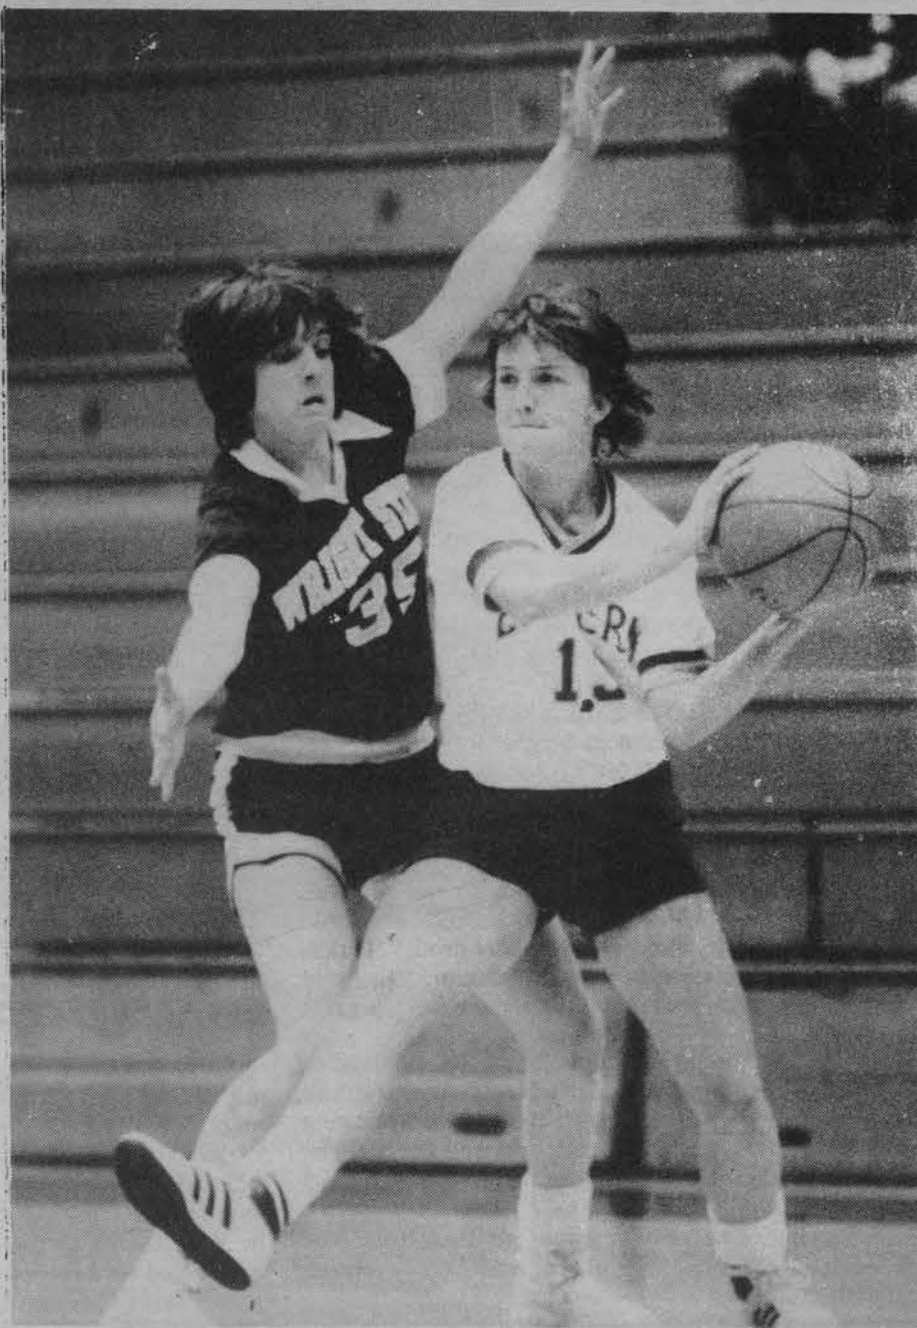

Harper is smoking hot offensively, too. He has made 18 of his last 18 shots from the field and was 11 of 11 last Saturday against Michigan State.

"I have to disagree with Lou Henson," said Keady. "Harper is playing very well and is one of the best guards in the nation but I think Ricky Hall is the best defensive guard in the league."

Purdue and Illinois are both 8-5 in the Big Ten, two games behind first-place Indiana at 10-3 and one game behind Ohio State at 9-4. The winner of the Purdue-Illinois game will take sole possession of third place in the Big Ten and remain in title contention.

On Thursday night everyone else will be in action. Indiana will be at Michigan while Ohio State is at Michigan State. Wisconsin goes to Iowa and Minnesota to Northwestern.

On Saturday, Indiana plays at Michigan State and Ohio State goes to Michigan with Wisconsin at Northwestern. Minnesota will be at Iowa Sunday in a nationally televised game.

Rebs still on top of national poll

LAS VEGAS (AP)— Undefeated Nevada-Las Vegas remained atop The Associated Press college basketball poll Tuesday, but the Rebels' enthusiasm was tempered by concern over a knee injury to starting forward Eldridge Hudson.

Hudson missed practice Monday and Tuesday, and was reported doubtful for Thursday's game at Cal State-Fullerton.

The Runnin' Rebels, 24-0 and the nation's only unbeaten college team, received 41 of 57 first-place votes and 1,110 of a possible 1,140 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Houston climbed into second place in the poll. North Carolina, the defending national champion, dropped out of the top ten after losing three games last week.

Rebel coach Jerry Tarkanian has called Hudson a key to the Rebels' chances in the NCAA Tournament.

Hudson first injured his left knee Jan. 6 when he hyper-extended it in a game against Utah State. Ironically, he reinjured the knee in Saturday night's rematch with the Utah team, which the Rebels won 111-78.

"He's one power forward we really need," Tarkanian said of the six-foot-seven freshman. "Early in the year when he was playing well, we were a great team."

Doctors say the injury could be a torn cartilage or a pinched joint capsule. They say it may require surgery after the season is over. Hudson is averaging 5.8 rebounds a game, second best for the Rebels. Tarkanian said Hudson would be replaced by 6-9 Paul Brozovich.

Following Thursday's game at Fullerton, the Rebels travel to West Virginia for a nationally televised game Sunday.

Houston, 22-2, received five first-place votes and 1,040 points in jumping from fourth to second place. Virginia, 21-3, moved from fifth to third, receiving seven first-place votes and 976 points.

Douglas named to All-State squad

(AP)—Dennis Douglas, a 6-5 senior from Quincy and a repeater from last year, was the only unanimous choice on the 1983 Associated Press Class AA All-State Illinois high school basketball team.

Douglas, along with his brother Bruce who now plays for the University of Illinois, two years ago led the Blue Devils to the state championship and last year helped set a record of 64 straight victories before Quincy lost to Mendel Catholic in the semifinals and finished third.

A strong rebounder and inside player, Douglas was named on all 14 ballots cast by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Eric Johnson of Galesburg, also a 6-5 senior who averages 23 points and 14 rebounds a game, missed being a unanimous selection by one vote. Joe Stiffend of Chicago Marshall, a 6-3 senior, was two ballots short of being a unanimous selection.

Rounding out the 12-man team were 6-8 Dave Snedeker of Springfield Griffin, 6-6 Eric Kumerow of Oak Park, 6-1 Tony Gulley of Peoria Manual, 6-3 Bob Cain of Rock Falls, 6-6 Mark Dale of defending state champion East St. Louis Lincoln, 6-7 Tony Reeder of Westchester St. Joseph, 6-6 Chris Berg of Arlington, 6-7 Ken Coplen of Belleville West, and 6-4 Roger McClendon of Champaign Centennial.

Jones, Britt dynamic duo of basketball

WASHINGTON (AP)— Behind the most productive two-man act in the history of college basketball, the University of the District of Columbia is aiming for a second straight national Division II championship.

Earl Jones and Michael Britt, the dynamic duo are scoring and rebounding at a pace unmatched in NCAA annals.

Led by Britt, a six-foot-seven senior forward with extraordinary speed and leaping ability, and Jones, a mobile 7-foot center who can dribble like a guard and shoot from the corner with deadly accuracy, the Firebirds have a 21-2 record this season.

Britt is averaging 25.3 points per game, third best in the nation in Division II, and 10.5 rebounds per game, 15th nationally. Jones is averaging 23.3 points, eighth in Div. II and 10 rebounds which ranks him 18th.

If they continue at their present pace, Britt and Jones will become the first teammates in NCAA history to average 20 points and 10 rebounds per game.

NCAA confirms investigation

MISSION, Kan. (AP)—The NCAA confirmed Tuesday it is investigating Heisman Trophy winner Herschel Walker's contacts with the New Jersey Generals of the United States Football League.

David Berst, NCAA enforcement chief, told The Associated Press his office has begun a probe of reports that the three-time All-American from the University of Georgia signed a professional contract with the Generals, then backed out after changing his mind.

Walker and Georgia officials have denied the reports.

Walker announced Friday that he intended to play his senior year at Georgia. However, he would be ineligible to do that if the NCAA finds that he did, indeed, sign a pro contract.

"I've tried to avoid commenting directly on what we're doing," said Berst, who smashed NCAA precedent by publicly acknowledging the probe.

"The fact is, Georgia coach Vince Dooley has been in constant contact with us on this matter and has invited us to satisfy ourselves that we have the complete facts, in order to make a judgement."

Fishman charges Bull's owners

CHICAGO (AP)—A group headed by Milwaukee businessman Marvin Fishman that has waged a 10-year legal struggle to gain control of the Chicago Bulls charged Tuesday in federal court that its current owners "ran the franchise into the ground and prospered greatly in doing so."

In opening arguments before U.S. District Judge Stanley Roszkowski, an attorney for the Milwaukee group asked the court to turn control of the National Basketball Association franchise over to Fishman and his associates, who first attempted to buy the basketball team in August 1972.

The Fishman group, which contends the Bulls franchise is now worth $13.3 million, is also seeking damages. Under antitrust law, whatever award Roszkowski deems proper can be trebled.

Initially, Fishman, 57, one of the founders of the NBA's Milwaukee Bucks, sought to purchase the team for $3.3 million. An agreement was reached with then-owner Elmer Rich Jr., but when Fishman tried to negotiate a lease allowing the team to continue playing in Chicago Stadium, he claimed Arthur Wirtz, who owns the stadium, refused to meet with him.

Fishman's bid was subsequently rejected by the NBA because the facility he planned to put the team in was deemed unsuitable. Fishman contended that Wirtz, meanwhile, was putting together a group that eventually bought the team.

Other current owners of the Bulls include Wirtz's son, William, New York Yankee owner George Steinbrenner, and businessmen Johnathan Kovler, Lester Crown and Phillip Klutznick.

William Wirtz reportedly recently took over several of his father's responsibilities since the elder Wirtz was hospitalized.

Roszkowski said evidence that Wirtz used his ownership of the stadium to block the sale was "overwhelming."
