Soderberg OK'd by deans for post

by Scott Apland and Jim Caldwell

Deans and department chairmen Friday accepted Eastern President Stanley Rives' recommendation that Margaret Soderberg be appointed acting vice president for academic affairs.

Rives is currently obtaining opinions from campus constituents before making an appointment of an acting vice president to be approved at the Board of Governors Oct. 27 meeting.

The acting vice president will serve until the vacancy has been filled following a formal search process.

Rives told department chairman that Soderberg, associate vice president for academic affairs, "would accept" the appointment as acting vice president.

"If for some reason she would say 'no,' then Jon Laible would be considered for the appointment," Rives said. Laible is dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The recommendation of Soderberg of will be presented to the Faculty Senate Tuesday, he added.

In addition, the deans and chairmen approved the tentative schedule Rives outlined concerning the appointment process for the new vice president for academic affairs.

A search committee will be formed "fairly soon" to select the permanent vice president, he said.

The proposed committee would be comprised of two members selected from the Council on Academic Affairs, Council of Deans, department chairmen and Faculty Senate, respectively.

In addition, a single member from the Council on Graduate Studies, Council on Teacher Education and Student Senate, will be selected to serve on the committee.

Rives said he would appoint two committee members at random from the campus "to balance it."

"It will take awhile for the various groups to meet and choose representatives for the committee," he said, adding that he expects the search committee to meet next month.

"The first thing that the committee will do is establish criteria for the position," Rives said.

Rives said he believed any qualified applicant for vice president should have "some administrative as well as teaching experience and a record of scholarly activities and research writing."

Rives said he hoped the committee could advertise for the permanent position by late November and cut off applications by Feb. 1.

147 Americans killed Marine post bombed

BEIRUT (AP)—A suicide bomber crashed a pickup truck packed with explosives into the barricaded lobby of a building full of sleeping U.S. Marines early Sunday and blew it up.

The Pentagon said 147 Marines and Navy men were killed.

Moments later another suicide terrorist drove a truck-bomb into a building housing French troops. State radio quoted civil defense workers as saying 25 soldiers were killed and 12 were wounded.

The French Defense Ministry in Paris said the death toll was nine dead, 14 wounded and 53 missing.

The two bombings were the most savage attacks on the multinational force since it deployed in Beirut last fall at the Lebanese government's request to help keep peace in the capital, ravaged by years of civil war and foreign intervention.

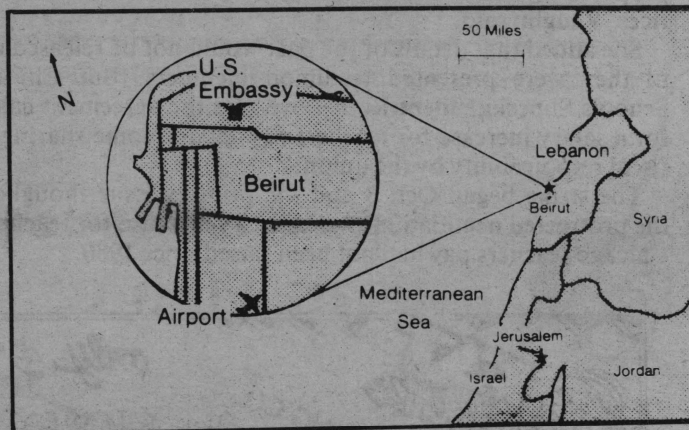

The bombing at the Marine command post at Beirut airport caused the largest number of casualties suffered by American forces since the Vietnam War.

"I haven't seen carnage like that since Vietnam," Marine spokesman Maj. Robert Jordan told reporters, his own arms covered with blood from helping carry the dead and maimed. Most of the leathernecks were asleep on cots when the explosion rained tons of concrete and glass shards down on them.

Frantic Marines, some clad only in bloodstained underwear, grabbed shovels to dig for buried comrades crying for help, while others stood sobbing, stunned.

Blood formed puddles on the ground. The area was littered with shattered glass, singed clothes, helmets and cooking pots.

Jordan said the blast hurled several Marines clear of the building and that some survived. The truck-bomb, estimated by Jordan to contain at least 2,000 pounds of explosives, ripped a crater 40 feet deep by 30 feet across.

Daily Eastern News Graphic by Jerry Moore

Medics and survivors laid out dead Marines in rows, their bare feet protruding from under blankets.

In Washington, the State Department received a report from Beirut saying a group calling itself the Islamic Revolutionary Movement asserted responsibility for both attacks.

According to the report, an anonymous caller telephoned the Beirut office of the French News agency Agence France Presse and said two of the movement's fighters, named as Abu Mazin, 26, and Abu Sija'n, 24, perished in the suicide bombings.

That group had not been heard of before in Beirut. The caller reportedly told the AFP the movement would not rest until Beirut was controlled by "revolutionary Moslems and the combative democratic youth."

Lebanese army ambulances, bulldozers and vehicles from all contingents in the multinational force rushed to the blast sites to help evacuate the wounded.

Reagan grieves over deaths

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Reagan expressed grief and determination Sunday after the bombing-deaths of 135 Marines and sailors in Beirut. As U.S. military leaders debated ways "to reduce our vulnerability" in Lebanon, Reagan scorned the "bestial nature" of the assassins and vowed they would not "drive us out of that area."

Grim but resolute, Reagan said "we must be more determined than ever that they cannot take over that vital and strategic area of the earth or, for that matter, any other part of the earth."

I know there are no words that can express our sorrow and grief over the loss of those splendid young men and the injury to so many others.—President Reagan

The president cut short a golfing vacation in Georgia and returned to the White House to meet twice with his national security advisers. They explored a U.S. response and what Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger called "circumstantial evidence" implicating Iran.

Pentagon and State Department task forces were set to work on options to protect the Marine peacekeeping force. Secretary of State George Shultz cancelled his Monday trip to El Salvador and Brazil.

Reagan registered his outrage and determination in a statement delivered without notes on the White House lawn. "I know there are no words that can express our sorrow and grief over the loss of those splendid young men and the injury to so many others," he said.

Hours after the Marines were slain in their sleep at barracks near Beirut airport, Weinberger said on CBS-TV's Face the Nation show, "There's a lot of circumstantial evidence. Much of that points in the direction of Iran, as in the case of last April's bombing the American embassy."

Later, at the Pentagon, Weinberger said, "We are trying to work out ways to reduce the vulnerability and improve the Marine position."

He would not be specific, except to imply that the headquarters for the Marine force could be moved offshore to one of the U.S. Navy ships standing off Beirut.

Other Pentagon sources, speaking only on condition they anonymous, said one possible course of action under study would be to bring Marines out to the amphibious ships when they are off duty. The Marines could be shuttled back and forth as shifts changed along the perimeter along the Beirut International Airport, officials said.

Asked whether the Marine contingent might be reinforced, Weinberger replied: "I don't see that additional forces would do anything but complicate the problem."

He related Sunday's attack on the Marine compound to a similar bombing of the U.S. embassy in Beirut last April, in which 17 Americans and several dozen others were killed.

Leaders of nations around the world denounced the bombings that killed scores of American and French troops.

Pope John Paul II called the attacks an act of war and Israel's new prime minister said they were "a despicable crime."

Chicago teachers to vote on pact

CHICAGO—Chicago Teachers Union vice president Jackie Vaughn said the union's House of Delegates will meet Monday afternoon to approve the contract and will recommend that the pact be accepted by the rank and file.

The union's 27,000 members were expected to vote on the proposed agreement Monday night at 20 separate district offices, Vaughn said.

She added that details of the pact would not be released until they were presented to union members. But Chicago Schools Superintendent Ruth Love said the agreement called for a salary increase for teachers as well as "some sharing of fiscal responsibility by the union."

The strike began Oct. 3 and the primary issue throughout the protracted negotiations was a salary increase for teachers. Chicago teachers pay had not been raised since 1980.

Test on Reagan's military arms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress applies its first real test this week on whether simmering anger over the Soviet Union's destruction of a South Korean airliner will boil over into stronger support for President Reagan's rearmament drive.

It was also unclear what effect, if any, the bombing attack that left at least 146 U.S. Marines in Beirut would have on the $246.3 billion Pentagon spending bill for the budget year that began Oct. 1.

The House is expected to spend at least days, beginning Tuesday, considering defense spending measure.

As in previous legislative rounds on the administration's military build up, challenges focus on some major nuclear-weapons programs including the $2.1 billion earmarked for building the first of a planned 100 MX intercontinental missiles.

Europeans protest deployment

by the Associated Press

Nearly a half-million demonstrators poured through the streets of Brussels, Madrid and Paris on Sunday in the second day of Western European protests against deployment of new U.S. nuclear missiles.

Anti-missile campaigners hailed the weekend turnout of more than one and a half million people as a clear sign of widespread opposition to the impending deployment of 572 Pershing 2 and cruise missiles.

There were no reports of arrests or violence Sunday. On Saturday, when more than a million Western Europeans sat-in, formed human chains and marched, West German police arrested 1,000 protesters.

In Brussels, marchers converged in three columns on the city center in the biggest anti-missile protest ever in Belgium. There was no official count, but police said the crowd was much larger than the turnout of 200,000 in an October demonstration.

Research concerning coal usage continues

by Nancy Bridges

Eastern is currently conducting research concerning coal which could lead to the perfection of a process called liquefaction.

David Buchanan, chemistry instructor and head of the research team, said the research concerns the study of basic coal characteristics. "This is really basic chemistry related to coal," he said.

The long-term goal of the research is to "increase utilization of Illinois coal," he noted. Liquefaction, which changes solid coal to a liquid fuel, would increase the marketability of Illinois coal by making it cleaner and easier to transport.

Liquefaction would change coal into a substance called "syn-crude," which is "something like crude oil," Buchanan said. With current technology, syn-crude could be processed at oil refineries.

In addition, Illinois coal currently contains sulfur which, when burned, combines with substances in the atmosphere to become the acid rain that often falls over New England, he said.

The laboratory research is being done by graduate and undergraduate students, Buchanan said. Some students work for academic credit, while others work for payment provided by a $22,000 research grant from the Illinois Coal Research Board, a division of the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources.

The research grant was to be used from December 1982 through December 1983, Buchanan said. He added that he plans to submit an application to the Illinois Coal Research Board for funding to continue the research.

Research is important to Eastern because it allows the university to attract and support graduate students, Buchanan, who is also acting dean of the Graduate School, said.

Proposal could hinder departments

Eastern President Stanley Rives' proposal to create a College of Applied Arts appears to be a futile attempt to achieve the goals of decreasing administrative overhead costs and increasing instructional resources.

Although the recommendation seems to be a good idea on the surface, the proposal is vague and too many important facts remained untouched.

The proposal would establish the College of Applied Arts as a combination of the School of Home Economics, School of Technology, Career Occupations Program and Military Science Program. Barbara Owens, current dean to the School of Home Economics, would become the dean of the College of Applied Arts.

However, both the School of Home Economics and the School of Technology vehemently disagree with the proposal, claiming the combination of the four schools would create a loss of identity for each program.

The School of Home Economics faculty position paper stated they prefer to remain a separate academic unit and that restructuring would risk the school's strength, viability and effectiveness.

The School of Technology faculty position paper said the proposal would create negative effects because of the loss of a dean position and consequently would decrease school representation.

According to Rives' proposal, eliminating the currently vacant position of dean of the School of Technology would save about $40,000 in administrative overhead costs.

Editorial

However, thus far Rives has not presented a cost analysis of the proposed reorganization.

And if Owens was to accept the position as dean of the College of Applied Arts, it would seem appropriate for her to receive a pay increase for the additional responsibilities. Likewise, the current assistant deans who would also take on additional responsibilities should receive pay increases. Those deserved increases could eliminate any kind of cost reduction Rives is expecting.

Essentially, any savings from the proposed College of Applied Arts could be regarded as a pittance when considering the loss of prestige and independence of the involved departments.

Although Rives has said the main goal of the proposed College of Applied Arts is to reduce administrative costs, no examples have been given to explain where this money is going to be saved or the actual amount reduced from administrative costs.

The School of Home Economics and the School of Technology, both independently accredited and regarded highly in their fields, would not seem to benefit by being blended into the proposed College of Applied Arts.

Thus, the proposal to combine the four departments into the College of Applied Arts just to reduce administrative overhead costs is not justified.

Your turn

Objectivity questioned

Editor:

Twice in one week The Daily Eastern News has carelessly offended members of its readership. First, an article on the reportedly tasteless stage show of the Tubes stated that the females in the audience were offended, and males loved the show. This suggestion is an insult to the Eastern students, men and women who did not and could not perceive to enjoy a mock rape scene and explicit sexual behavior on stage.

After managing to shake off my disgust and disenchantment with the News, I was again struck with negligent, tasteless catering to the prejudices, misconceptions and offenses of a newspaper staff that obviously, with all frequency, abandons its objectivity. I picked up the News Friday morning and at first glance, I was hit with the figure of a distressed student sporting some frightful electrical equipment on his head and a caption that read, "Junior Kurt Christensen receives shock treatment to learn the evilness of homosexuality..."

Immediately I thought, my God, the psychology professors who have not yet realized that homosexuality is neither a disorder nor an "evil" as affirmed by the American Psychological Association, have been torturing a trying to "cure" homosexuals. Only after recovering from the initial shock did the second half of the caption offer some slight relief.

I do not wish to suggest that coverage of the theater department's meritable productions should not receive front-page attention. My point is that the editing staff must exercise some discretion as to how their coverage is displayed. The photograph and caption were strikingly misleading enough to make my heart race. The News seems to suggest that homosexuality is evil, and that shock treatment is used to teach those horrible gay people a lesson.

In fact, homosexuality is not evil, nor can it be "cured" by shock treatment or any other tortures.

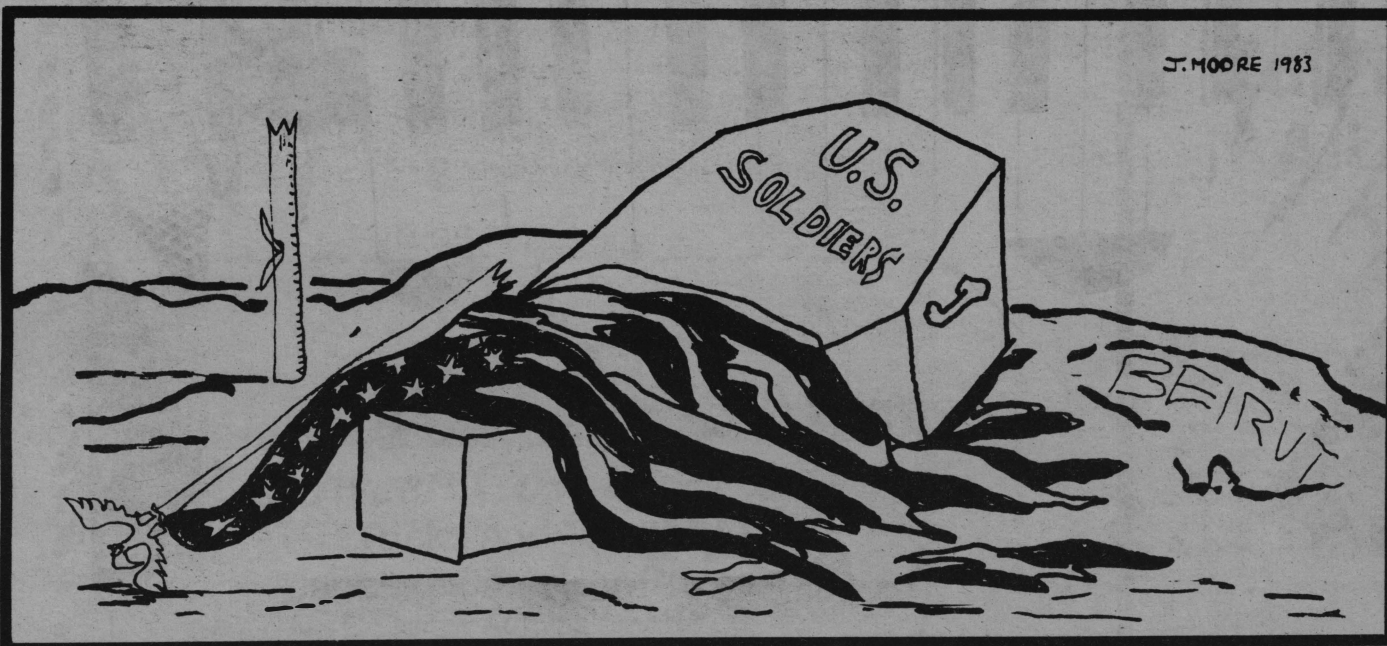

My suggestion is that a newspaper having an obligation to serve its readers in a non-discriminatory, objective manner, must not pass judgment on a particular group or culture for the more than 5,000 women, 5,000 men, and about 1,000 homosexuals on this campus, not to mention other probable groups who have been affected. I ask the News to abstain from such offense.

Jennifer K. Sowle

(Editors note: The story about the Tubes' concert reflected the opinion of students who attended the concert, not the News' staff. Likewise, the photo of the 5 O'clock Theater production of "The Last Straw" and accompanying cutline did not reflect the opinion of the News staff. Rather, the cutline merely described what was taking place in the photograph and why.)

Do not change ISSC eligibility standards

Change is not always for the better.

There is a proposal before a state legislature committee which would tighten the eligibility standards for Illinois State Scholarship Commission monetary awards.

A group of Illinois university administrators called Educators Concerned for Quality Performance would like to give a percentage of ISSC funds to financially needy college freshmen who rank in the top 10 percent of their high school classes or have B averages.

On the surface, this seems like a good idea. After all, scholarships usually go to those who excel academically.

Right now, the ISSC is set up a little differently. While academic standing is a factor in eligibility for ISSC awards, the average student who plugs along and remains in good academic standing has the same chance of getting an award as the dean's-list student with equal financial need.

No student is harmed by his average standing.

The proposal is not an across-the-board change in the academic standards, but a percentage of average students would be harmed by the measure.

Crossviews:

Northern Star

Traditionally, the ISSC made funds available to those students who showed the financial need and were in satisfactory academic standing with the university. The system should stay the way it is.

It is not as if those with high academic standing are being brushed aside if the qualifications remain as they are. The more scholarly students sometimes receive scholarships from the private sector and through the universities themselves.

The proposal, as it stands, does not cite the percentage of ISSC award money that would be put aside for the top students, but the amount is immaterial.

If the proposal was implemented, even one student who was harmed by the measure would be one student too many.

Jazz trio to play Monday

by Debra Klauer

Eastern students can enjoy the soothing sounds of jazz at 8 p.m. Monday in the Union Grand Ballroom.

The Billy Taylor Trio will perform and Diane Capranica, University Board performing arts coordinator, said "Anyone who is interested in jazz will really enjoy the trio's performance."

Admission to the performance is $2 for Eastern students with ID cards and $4 for the general public. Doors open at 7:30 p.m., she added.

Taylor, the leader of the trio, is an accomplished arranger, pianist, composer, author and lecturer. Taylor received his doctorate in education from the University of Massachusetts and has received a total of six honorary doctorates, the most recent from the Berkley College of Music.

Taylor has been in the music business for 40 years. For the past five years, he has hosted a radio program, "Jazz Alive!," which is a Peabody Award-winning series.

He has composed over 300 pieces and has won many distinguished awards including 1979 Man-of-the-Year award by the National Association of Jazz Educators.

Keith Copeland, another member of the trio, is a percussionist musician who has recorded with Stevie Wonder and George Russell among others.

He has been featured on "The Dick Cavett Show," "The David Frost Show," and "The Good Day Show." Copeland was a professor at Berkley College for three years and also was a clinician for two years at the Eastman School of Music's Summer Jazz Workshop. Currently, he is an affiliate teacher at the Long Island University's Brooklyn Campus in New York.

Victor Gaskin, the trio's third member, is a virtuoso bassist and a singing soloist. He has been the featured soloist with many orchestras including the National Symphony. He has also toured with many famous performers including Duke Ellington, Thelonious Monk and George Shearing.

Senior citizens learn new skills

by Amy Zurawski
Local senior citizens received a chance to enhance their typing skills and broaden their computer knowledge Friday during a microcomputer workshop at Eastern.

The workshop, sponsored by Community Business Assistance Center, was an introduction to microcomputers for senior citizens and taught them basic skills on TRS-80 computers.

Rosanne Sanders, workshop instructor, said, "It seems to have had helped a lot of the seniors to get over their apprehension of computers."

"I hope the course has sparked some interest in them and they will explore and experiment further," she said.

Although Opal Maris of Champaign said she probably would not invest in a computer of her own, she said that if the chance to use one arose, she would definitely "take advantage of the situation."

"If they taught another class like this one, I would take it," she added. "It's good for me to have some idea of what is going on in today's world."

Terry Maris, assistant dean of the School of Business, said he also believed the workshop was a success.

"It seems that the seniors feel flattered that we have taken time to show them something of such importance in our world," he added.

The School of Business should continue to offer more courses to local senior citizens as a way of expanding the university without having a larger student enrollment, he said.

Eastern President Stanley "Rives wants to keep the university's enrollment around 10,000. In order to do that we will need to expand outside the students and work more with the community. Workshops similar to this one will be a good way to do it," Maris added.

Lelia Bonnstedter of Charleston said, "I enjoyed the class and would probably come back if they had another one."

This is no cheap pizza.

Oh, sure, we could cut down on the size, use artificial cheese, skimp on the items and then sell it two for one. But we just don't believe in doing business that way.

For over 20 years, we've been making the best pizza we know how, and we've been delivering it free, in 30 minutes or less. Call us, tonight.

Drivers carry under $20.

Campus clips

The Counseling Center will hold a workshop Tuesday Oct. 25 at 7:00 p.m. in the Union Mezzanine (Schahrer Room). "Getting Together — Staying Together" will be presented for the benefit of committed couples who wish to enrich and enhance their relationships.

Campus Clips are published daily, free of charge, as a public service to the campus. Clips should be submitted to The Daily Eastern News office two business days before date to be published (or date of event). Information should include event, name of sponsoring organization (spelled out — no Greek letter abbreviations), date, time and place of event, plus any other pertinent information. Name and phone number of submitter must be included. Clips containing conflicting or confusing information will not be run if submitter cannot be contacted. Clips will be edited for space available. Clips submitted after 9:00 a.m. of deadline day cannot be guaranteed publication. Clips will be run one day only for any event. No clips will be taken by phone.

From the Wizard's Closet

As a Marine Officer, you could be in charge of a Mach 2+ F/A-18A, a vertical take-off Harrier or one of our other jets or helicopters. And you could do it by the time you're 23. But it takes a special commitment on your part. We demand leaders at all levels. We teach you to be one. If you're a freshman or sophomore, ask about our undergraduate officer commissioning programs. If you're a junior, check out our graduate programs. Starting salaries are from $17,000 to $23,000. And you can count on going farther...faster.

ST. LOUIS—Eastern's soccer team turned in what head coach Schellas Hyndman deemed "one of the finest performance he has ever seen" Sunday by blanking St. Louis University 3-0.

"I couldn't be more pleased," Hyndman said. "We had every player playing up to their potential as well as intensified soccer for the full 90 minutes."

Eastern, 13-1 and ranked fifth nationally, registered its eighth shutout of the season and maintained its top Midwest region rank over the second-ranked Billikens, 11-2-1.

Consequently, the Panthers are now all but assured of an NCAA Division I playoff bid and home field advantage providing they win their three remaining games.

"This was the big game for us and destroying a good team like St. Louis puts us right where we want to be," Hyndman said.

"We don't want to peak now, because we still have three games ahead of us. But I don't see how we could have played much better," he added.

Eastern forward Damien Kelly, who set a Panther career goal record Sunday, provided the only goal the Panthers needed at the 31-minute mark on an assist from forward Agyeman Prempeh.

Kelly's seventh goal of the year marked the senior's 49th of his career, surpassing Tony Durante's previous mark of 48 goals during 1969-72.

"It was one of the most satisfying goals I've ever scored and coming against a quality team like St. Louis made it even more satisfying," Kelly said.

Panther defense too slick for Leathernecks

by John Humenik

There is a little less than three weeks remaining in Eastern's regular season and already the Panther defense is starting to show its playoff colors.

Predicting a post-season bid is premature, but Saturday the Panthers, 7-1, trounced conference rival Western Illinois University 20-0 at O'Brien Stadium with nothing less on their minds.

"The whole defense put out an effort today that makes me proud to be on a team like this," Eastern defensive captain Robert Williams said. "We really played like a playoff team."

Eastern's defense, ranked ninth nationally, tabbed four interceptions, including one for a touchdown Saturday and held the visiting Leathernecks, 3-5, to 170 total offensive yards.

In addition, the Panther defense ran its scoreless quarter streak to eight straight and 14 of the last 16 in registering their third shutout and second league win of the season.

"Our defense might not be in a class by itself, but it doesn't take long to call roll," said Williams who led the Panther interception brigade with his sixth of the season.

"We were trying not to get scored on today, and I think we're good enough not to get scored on during this whole four-game series," he added. "It's a credit to our coaching staff. We really came prepared."

Ironically, Williams was a big factor Saturday in preserving the shutout and advancing Eastern's home winning streak to a record 12 straight before 1,600 fans.

Our defense might not be in a class by itself, but it doesn't take long to call roll—Robert Williams Leading 3-0 after a Henry Castellanos 31-yard second quarter field goal, Williams capped off probably Eastern's finest defensive stance of the afternoon.

The All-American free safety batted down a potential go-ahead touchdown pass at the goal line and ended a Leatherneck third quarter drive which covered 51 yards on 10 plays.

"We knew they were going to throw, and as soon as they went in motion I knew the play was going to my man," Williams said. "I was really happy, because I wanted them to throw to my man."

Moments earlier, the Panther goal-line defense had stopped Western twice at the six-yard line and two yards away from its fourth first down of the drive.

Eastern threatend to add to its three-point cushion at 11:20 of the fourth quarter when the Panthers moved the ball inside the Western 10-yard line.

However, the drive stalled and Eastern settled for a 24-yard Castellanos field goal attempt. A bad snap foiled the scoring drive when Castellanos hit the crossbar.

Western failed to muster much offense after that—at least Ortega Jackson made sure the Leathernecks would not dampen the Panther shutout bid.

Jackson picked off a Mark Bloom fade-pass on Western's third play from scrimmage and ran 32 yards to post Eastern's first of two touchdowns.

"I knew it was going to be a fade, and I knew it was going to be my side," Jackson said. "I just knew I was going to score, because I had the speed to go all the way."

Castellanos added the point after, his first of two, to move the score to 10-0. Eastern never looked back and eventually doubled its margin before it all was over.

Western, the worst offensive team in the Mid-Continent Conference, coughed up its fourth pass of the day to Chris Nicholson and Eastern was rolling again.

Panther quarterback John Rafferty followed with his third interception of the day, but a Western roughing the passer infraction gave the sophomore a second chance.

Rafferty, who threw for 95 yards and ran for 21 more, and standout half back Kevin Staple, 141 yards on 26 carries, failed, however, to move the ball past the Western 13-yard line.

Enter Castellanos. The junior college transfer hit on a 30-yard field goal attempt, his second of the game, and increased the Panther margin to 13-0.

Western's next drive faltered and Eastern regained the ball on its own 37-yard line. Four straight running plays and a 21-yard Western pass interference penalty put Eastern at the Leatherneck 21-yard line.

Fullback Wes Nixon and wide receiver Jerry Wright completed a reverse on the following play and Wright ended up in the endzone with the Panthers' final tally of the game.

GCAC games,

beat Wichita

by Jeff Long

WICHITA, Kan.—Eastern's volleyball team's expectations were on target this weekend as the Panthers received one of their toughest tests of the season.

Eastern head coach Betty Ralston expected league favorite Southwest Missouri State to be tough, and Friday the Bears were exactly that in beating the Panthers 15-10, 4-15, 6-15 and 9-15.

"We came out really strong against Southwest, but when they started to come back, we lost our momentum," Ralston said of the Panthers' Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference opener.

"Although we won the first game, we never got our game going again," she continued. "If we could have put them away early, we probably would've come out on top."

Senior Kathy Briggs, who displayed some top defense against the Bears, led the 20-7 Panthers with 17 digs and eight kills.

Despite the Panthers' first GCAC loss Friday, they bounced back Saturday and evened their slate by dumping Wichita State University, 15-13, 15-5 and 15-7.

Senior Bonnie Fisk and sophomore Judy Planos notched eight and ten kills, respectively to pace the Panthers past the Shockers.

In addition, Planos registered four service aces while Fisk recorded three.
