Governor ties school reform to extra bucks

by Mary Holland
Daily Eastern News Correspondent

DECATUR—Gov. Jim Thompson said Saturday more dollars for education will not come without educational reform and a commitment from state taxpayers.

"If the people of Illinois want the best educational system that money can buy, then by God, we've got to pay for it," Thompson said.

Thompson's remarks came at the annual meeting of the Illinois Press Association, where he was joined by U.S. Senate candidate Paul Simon, D-Ill.

The two men were questioned about a number of issues including educational funding and the state's economic problems.

Simon, who is running against Sen. Charles Percy (R-Ill) in the Nov. 6 general election, said aid for higher education decreased by $4 billion in 1983-84, and vowed that he will continue to fight any additional cuts.

"Charles Percy has supported cuts in higher education which in the long run do a disservice to the country," he said. "We have saved money there like money is saved when we buy a house and don't put a roof on it."

However, Thompson said funding for education has to come from the people, and "if the Paul Simons' have their way," deficits will increase.

"We're not getting that money from Mars. We're getting it from you," Thompson said. "Isn't the real question what people expect from state government in the next four years and how much are they willing to pay for it?"

Thompson said recent tuition hikes by state universities were necessary because the state has paid a disproportionate share of the cost of higher education for the past seven or eight years.

"I know students don't like to hear that," Thompson said, "but on the other hand, taxpayers don't want to pay more because the tuition allotment is too

Still 'silly'—Butler wins anger, admiration from senate

Lesley Richards
Some of Student Body President Joe Butler's coworkers say he has kept his campaign promise that "Student government will never be the same."

But, in keeping with his controversial campaign, Butler has won the stamp of approval from others he works with.

Butler's campaign was based on the political principles: graft, corruption, decadence and lies."

During his campaign, Butler made pledges to use all funds from Student Senate budgets for himself and replace the senate phones with dixie cups and strings.

Now in office for just under five months, some of Butler's unorthodox antics during his campaign to be "big cheese" have fallen by the wayside, some of his coworkers said.

Senate Speaker Ron Wesel said, "He seems to be adjusting well, in lieu of the fact that he has not had much experience in student government."

"He worked really hard on the calendar committee and is taking this position very seriously," Wesel added.

Glenn Williams, Eastern's vice president for student affairs, said in the two contacts he has had with Butler, he was very impressed. "The meetings were very cordial and successful."

Athletic Director R.C. Johnson noted that the couple of meetings he has had with Butler were very productive.

In addition, Johnson said Butler impressed him as an "extremely intelligent individual."

Butler said he has had far fewer problems working with administrators than he had originally anticipated.

On the other side of the coin, Butler has evidently started to ruffle the feathers of some of the people that he works most closely with.

Senate Adviser Anita Craig said Butler is not blending well with the senate.

"He has maintained his distance and his own distinctiveness. He is trying to do things in a nonconformist way and has not sought out any guidance," she said.

Craig added that he has "very different and unique approaches to doing things."

Butler also seems to have agitated Executive Vice President Angelynn Richardson. She said her responsibilities as vice president have increased considerably.

"Butler is not aware of the full responsibilities of his job and I have had to take on some of the ones that he has overlooked. Aaron Shepley (Board of Governor's representative) has agreed to help me and I also have appointed an assistant," Richardson said.

She also was annoyed by the fact that Butler has not been keeping his office hours. "I have seen him in" the Student Senate Office "only one time this week."

When asked about how the other members of the senate viewed him, Richardson said, "I don't know what they think about him, but I do know that they can't find him."

Butler said his relationship with Angelynn Richardson could be labeled

Interest group endorses Mondale

Walter F. Mondale accused President Reagan on Sunday of making a "cynical rewrite of history by invoking the names of past Democratic presidents and the former vice president accepted the first-ever endorsement of the National Women's Political Caucus.

In his weekly paid radio announcement, Mondale urged Democratic voters to ignore Reagan's appeal to vote Republican on election day.

Under a second Reagan term, Mondale said, there would be a "scary, intolerant, dangerous future. If you cross over to the Dallas Republicans, that's what you get. You don't just get the balloons, the pep rallies and the happy talk. You get (the Rev. Jerry) Falwell, Nicaragua and Star Wars, too."

Judge bars lawsuits against bank

CHICAGO—A federal judge has issued a temporary order barring customers of the troubled Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. from filing lawsuits in a host of jurisdictions in their efforts to block a federal bank rescue plan.

The action removed a major threat to approval of the bail-out plan.

The order was signed Saturday by U.S. District Judge Milton I. Shadur after an emergency court session. The order prevents the bank's borrowers from filing lawsuits on the rescue plan anywhere except in federal court in Chicago.

Richard F. Levy, an attorney representing Continental, told the judge that delays caused by the lawsuits could "destroy this transaction."

He said there is "substantial risk this transaction will be delayed. If delayed, the transaction may simply blow up."

Memos indicate payoffs made

CHICAGO—Secret memos handwritten by the late Howard Hughes disclose an attempt to buy control of the White House through a series of payoffs to leading politicians of both parties, says Michael Drosnin, the author of a new book on the reclusive billionaire.

Excerpts from the book, "Citizen Hughes," appear in the November and December issues of Playboy magazine.

Spokesmen for the Hughes estate could not be located for comment by telephone Sunday.

U.S. ships posted at Lebanon; Americans moved for medical care

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three U.S. warships carrying combat Marines cruised off the coast of Lebanon on Sunday as five more Americans wounded in last week's embassy truck bombing were evacuated for further medical treatment.

Richard Murphy, the assistant secretary of state supervising the investigation into Thursday's attack, went to Damascus Sunday for talks with Syrian officials, Carol Madison, a U.S. Embassy spokesman in Beirut, said.

Murphy was "conducting consultations," she said, but gave no details.

The Shreveport, a landing dock and transport ship that was one of three U.S. naval craft on minesweeping duty in the Red Sea this month, arrived off Lebanon Saturday night. The Shreveport completed its part of the multinational minesweeping detail last week and passed through the Suez Canal last Tuesday.

Madison said two other U.S. warships accompanied the Shreveport, but she did not know their names.

She said aboard the naval contingent was the 22nd Marine Amphibious Unit, the same unit brought into Beirut last fall to replace Marines after a truck bomb killed 241 U.S. Marines and sailors in October. A Marine Amphibious Unit usually has about 18,000 men.

Madison said the U.S. ships were staying outside of Lebanese waters—the Shreveport was reported at least 30 miles offshore—and did not detail what role they were expected to play.

But the Shreveport was believed to be taking part in the evacuation of Americans wounded in last week's Embassy attack. At least nine people, including two U.S. servicemen were killed when an explosives-packed van driven by a suicide bomber dodged security men and barricades and blew up near the entrance of an embassy annex. Twenty Americans were among the 75 wounded.

Madison said five wounded Americans were evacuated Sunday for treatment abroad. She said nine injured people were evacuated Saturday—eight Americans and a Lebanese woman employed at the embassy.

Reagan wants to 'size up' Gromyko

NEW YORK (AP) — President Reagan, armed with what aides described as a new flexibility toward the Soviet Union, prepared Sunday to use a social reception to personally size up Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in advance of their formal talks Friday.

The president, who has studied the style and tenure of one of the most influential men in the Soviet Union, was meeting Gromyko for the first time at an evening reception in honor of heads of delegations to the opening of the United Nations General Assembly session.

After a brief handshake as the Soviet diplomat moves through the receiving line at the event at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, the president will have a further chance to speak to Gromyko when he mixes with the guests later.

The gatherings this week will mark the first time Reagan has met with a top Soviet official since taking office more than 3 1/2 years ago. Aides acknowledged he was sensitive to charges by Democratic challenger Walter F. Mondale that he has not done enough to improve relations with America's chief rival.

Reagan, who addresses the General Assembly for the third year in a row on Monday, flew to New York a day early to attend the reception as well as a luncheon meeting with UN officials, including Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar.

"Yes, I look forward to it," Reagan told reporters of his upcoming meeting with Gromyko as he sat at the luncheon table with Perez de Cuellar and other U.S. and U.N. officials.

Senate fills vacant seats

by Amy Zurawski

The Student Senate has filled several of the vacant senate positions and various student faculty board seats.

Junior Karen Wessel was appointed to the senate as a residence hall senator and sophomore Scott Franzgrote has been appointed as an off-campus senator.

The open seats of Judicial Board Representative and Council on Graduate Studies were assigned to junior Brian Christensen and graduate student Anita Heninger respectively.

Freshman Richie Johnson was appointed to the committee seat of Sports and Recreation. The Communications Board will be headed by senior Mark Erwin and sophomore Stacy Hill.

Sophomore Carolyn Smith has been assigned to the student seat of the Council on Teacher Education. The Supreme Court Justice seat was filled by senior Joe Wheeler.

Several student faculty board vacancies were also filled. Senior Paula Johnson was appointed to the Housing Board while senior Leslie Garrigan was appointed to the Health Service Committee. Sophomore Kim Dumentat will serve on the Publications Board.

Four UB posts filled by board

by Lisa Green

The University Board has unanimously appointed four new committee coordinators, filling the vacancies on the UB executive board.

The new coordinators include sophomore Annette Green, Human Potential; junior Sheila Murphy, Mainstage; junior Tracy Benham, Performing Arts and sophomore Dennis Hanna, Productions.

UB Chairman Floyd Akins said 11 students were interviewed for the positions. Three of the coordinator positions have been open since the beginning of the semester and the fourth position became open last week when sophomore Kathy Walsh resigned.

Akins said he is "ecstatic" that the coordinator posts are filled.

"They seem to be on the money; quality people to do a quality type job," he added.

UB Vice Chairman Tim Mulholland said most of the students have worked with the UB for a year or less. "We are a very youthful board. What the new people make of it can really shape the board."

Akins said the youth of the board is going to help the UB. He added, "It's gonna definitely take time, but they're (new coordinators) going to be broken in fast. All of them have upcoming programs," he said.

In other business, Akins said the UB will have a retreat Sept. 30 in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room to discuss fundamental procedures and leadership development skills.

In addition, Jay Hagberg, public relations coordinator said 1,610 "Eventful" calendars have been sold. The remaining calendars, which list UB sponsored events, will be sold this week at the Union Box Office.

Break downfall leaves time for better learning

It's gone. Fall break has been canceled—and with good reason.

Last week, the Board of Governors approved a new fall calendar which will go into effect next year. The new calendar calls for the elimination of fall break and adds a class day on the Wednesday now reserved for fall schedule changes.

Editorial

Naturally, many students have claimed that the loss of vacation time just doesn't seem fair and that's understandable. In the period of time most of Eastern's current students have been enrolled here, fall break has been in existence.

However, these students are placing the value of enjoying one free day over a more important priority—getting their money's worth from their education.

Ideally, as the Council on Academic Affairs has noted, classes should meet 45 times each semester in order to cover all material. Currently, Monday, Wednesday and Friday classes meet only 42 times during the fall semester.

Even if the value of furthering one's education still doesn't seem to outweigh the importance of rest and relaxation, consider one other factor.

The academic calendar was bound to be changed eventually because Eastern's administrators and the BOG believe that students' education is more important than a couple of days off—whether students agree or disagree with them. Had fall break not been subtracted from the schedule, some other holiday would have been infringed upon.

Fall break was not the only option. A university-wide committee composed of students, instructors and administrators also considered deleting Wednesday from Thanksgiving break. Isn't five days off in a row better than only three?

In addition, the committee considered shortening winter break. This would take away from time spent Christmas shopping, celebrating and relaxing between fall and spring semesters.

All things considered, we feel that the BOG made a wise decision by eliminating fall break. It will enhance Eastern students' education, and actually allow students to have more free time when they really need it.

Your turn

True legal choice?

Editor:

Recently The Daily Eastern News published a letter from Pepe Conran who appears to be pro-choice on the issue of abortion.

He said that the land we live in is a land of freedom. I feel we need to ask how much freedom we do have. Do we have the freedom to openly use illegal drugs or to end our own life when we consider it no longer worth living?

You might say that these laws are designed to protect the individual. However, there are laws that protect other people from crimes, such as murder or rape.

The true question is whether the fetus should be considered a person. Science tells us that when the sperm and ovum unite, they become a complete genetic package programmed for development into a mature adult. Nothing will be added except time and nutrition.

It has also been medically proven that the baby's heart starts beating 14-28 days after conception and by the 30th day almost every organ has started to form. He moves his arms and legs by six weeks and by 43 days his brainwaves can be read. By eight weeks the baby has his own fingerprints, he can urinate, make a strong fist and feel pain.

Unfortunately, the Supreme Court does not believe that this is enough to "qualify" the fetus as a human being and the "choice" is yours.

Contrary to popular belief, anti-abortionists aren't out to deprive people of their rights. We believe that everybody, whether they be unborn, deformed, mentally retarded or normal, deserves the most precious right of all, the right to life.

Mike Lauher

Go for the buttons

Editor:

I've followed the campus security situation since spring semester '84 and read all the arguments against the use of both buttons and an escort service. I'm surprised that neither of these have been put into effect.

The reasons for the use of these systems have been cited over and over with no good arguments against them. Let me list a few proofs that there are no good arguments against either of these ideas.

Joe Rapist is not going to wear a button. Joe Rapist hides in the shadows, not allowing his features to be seen. No attacker would risk his features being identified by clear head-on recognition with a button.

And no female student is going to walk with a guy that has a button and is wearing a ski mask. If you're close enough to see the button, then you'll be close enough to see his face. This makes even non-registered or fake buttons unuseable for an attacker.

Joe Rapist does not attack accompanied females. The escorts could be girls also, or guys, or even dogs. Joe Rapist does not or cannot take on two healthy bodies at once. He attacks females alone and unescorted by anybody.

If escorted, a female and her escort would not need to use force of any kind. Presence is enough. The attacker does not like the odds. If an escort is to wear a T-shirt as identification, the same rule as above for the buttons applies. Recognition of identifiable features dissuades any attack.

Since the buttons already exist, and the escort service would involve greater expense and training, then I suggest the administration institute the registration and dispensing of buttons. And not just to guys. If a girl sees another girl with a button that denotes the area she lives in, walks around, goes to class, et al, they will walk together. This makes the incident of attack almost impossible.

Farewell to wizard

Editor:

The Verge on Sept. 20 implied that I "was not able" to make the change in format from the block to strip for my cartoon "From the Wizard's Closet."

This is incorrect. The fact is that after I have done 415 cartoons in the block format, I did not see a good reason to change on an editor's whim. It is my feeling that the creative spirit should not be stifled in the name of neatness.

Although I am not a journalism major but a physics major, I have maintained professional standards during my years of cartooning since I began in July 1981. I have been a member of the Society of Collegiate Journalists since my freshman year at Eastern and have received an honorable mention award for one of my cartoons in a national contest.

During my years of cartooning, I have yet to miss a deadline. I have received no complaints from the student body. I have worked for exceedingly low pay (about 50 cents a cartoon compared to a $5 minimum I have received elsewhere). After considering my unique contribution of Eastern humor, six previous editors were able to find space for "From the Wizard's Closet."

As the present editor cannot, I would like to take this opportunity to say farewell from the "Wizard's" friends—Dexter, Snake, Rufus, Big Mack, Milhous, Stan, Jim Scott, Slugger and Linda, the "Potheads," Dennis, Knees, "Crusher," Wolfgang, "Frank the talking computer" and Pem Hall's A.K.—who have reflected the many varied students (and professors) I have known at Eastern.

Letter policy

The name and telephone number of at least one author must be submitted with each letter to the editor.

Only the first three names from letters containing more than three authors will be published unless further specified.

Letters submitted without a name (or with a pseudonym) or without a telephone number or other means of verifying authorships will not be published.

Authorship of letters will be verified by telephone or by means otherwise specified by the author prior to publication.

Names will be withheld only upon justifiable request.

Letters should not exceed 250 words. Letters which exceed the 250-word limit will be edited to standards with author's permission.

Authors addressing controversial issues must consider time for rebuttal.

Endorsement letters will not be published on election days.

Phone book delivery set for this October

Campus phone books will not be distributed for another month, Harry Read, director of information and publications, said.

Read said he has been in contact with the publishers of the books and currently, they are scheduled for delivery some time around Oct. 19.

Governor

Both men said higher education needs to be linked with economic development. Simon said higher education should be used as a magnet to attract business.

"We need to use the college system to work with business to build the economic base of the state," Simon said.

Thompson, who described his decision to cut educational funding two years ago as "personally painful," said he would be willing to support a tax hike for education in exchange for reform.

He said some educational leaders have said to him "give me the dollars this year, and we'll give you the reform next year."

"I said, 'hey, this isn't a new governor you're talking to. I've heard this before. You give me the reform and I'll give you the dollars,'" Thompson said.

He said this reform needs to include more efficiently run college campuses, closer ties between higher education and business, and a greater emphasis on technology.

He also said teachers' salaries need to increase so brighter students are attracted to teaching. "We're not getting the best college graduates going into teaching as we once did," Thompson said. "That's a very, very disturbing trend."

On other topics, Simon said communities need to work harder to attract new industries to their communities. "Communities which expect General Motors to fall out of the sky and move into the community—well it just doesn't happen."

"Economic decline is not an act of God. It's the result of human decisions and human decisions can change that," he added.

Simon said he believes in "common sense and fiscal prudence" and blamed the nation's booming deficits on careless spending in the defense industry.

"When you take your child to a toy store, you can't let them buy every toy in the store," he said. "Well, when you take your admirals and generals to the weapon store you can't let them buy every weapon in the store."

Thompson said the state's improving economy should encourage people to work harder for continued improvement. "Just because the recession is slipping is no reason to sit back and say we're doing great, we don't have to do more. We always have to do more," he said.

Thompson said the economic fortunes of the state are linked with the city of Chicago, and chided Chicago Democrats for political turmoil that is driving business away.

Thompson, who has served as governor for eight years, said he will base his decision to run for a fourth term on family concerns and his future effectiveness.

Simon added that he is running for the senate because he believes he will do a better job than Charles Percy.

"I'm not a candidate for U.S. Senate because I want a title," Simon said.

Simon joins Percy with surprise festival visit

Percy dedicates square's renovations

"This beautiful courthouse has witnessed the drama of the story of American politics."

—Charles Percy

Kevin McDermott

"We have bipartisan support here today," U.S. Rep. Charles Percy, R-Ill., told the crowd at Charleston's square Saturday. A few minutes later he realized how right he was.

U.S. Rep. Paul Simon—Percy's Democratic opponent in the Nov. 6 election—paid a surprise visit to Percy and Charleston officials at ribbon-cutting ceremonies on the square Saturday.

Percy arrived in Charleston during the annual Fall Festival to dedicate the renovation work being done on the square.

Following speeches from Charleston Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer and Finance Commissioner John Beusch from the steps of the county courthouse, Percy praised Charleston as an historic site.

"This beautiful courthouse has witnessed the drama of the history of American politics," Percy told the large crowd gathered in the 7th Street area.

He added that, 18 years ago, he co-authored the revenue-sharing legislation which has helped fund the downtown renovation.

"$50 billion has been spent in revenue-sharing since then," Percy said. "No reports ever have to be sent back to Washington. The decisions are all made by local officials... Whatever the local communities decide (the money should be spent on), that's the way it ought to go."

"Government should come from the bottom up, not from the top down," he added, to the applause of the crowd.

Shortly after Percy cut the red ribbon stretched across the steps of the courthouse, Simon made a surprise appearance at the festival.

Calling the event "an unscheduled mini-meeting" between him and his opponent, Simon spoke briefly on his commitment to spur economic development in Illinois.

He also praised the relationship between him and Percy. "We respect each other," Simon said, "and that's the way a campaign ought to be."

The Fall Festival included outdoor displays and booths for food and goods, and entertainment from the Charleston High School marching band.

Pfeiffer said the fair began as a sidewalk sale, and has evolved over the past several years into an annual, city-wide celebration.

Earlier in the day, Percy attended a ribbon-cutting ceremony for Expo '84 at the Coles County Airport.

Expo '84 Co-chairman Gary Witt said the biannual trade fair, which is co-sponsored by the Charleston Area Chamber of Commerce and the Mattoon Association of Commerce, featured displays at the airport by area businesses and organizations. The theme for this year's exposition was, "Coles County Prosperity Through Unity."

Talking with reporters after the Expo '84 ceremony, Percy touched briefly on American involvement in Lebanon, and defended the U.S. invasion of Grenada.

Music chamber series sings with variation

by Dawn Stultz

Eastern students will have the opportunity to hear a variety of music through the 1984-85 Tarble Arts Center Chamber Music Series this year.

Opening the TAC series will be a program performed by music department faculty members Sept. 30.

The Nov. 4 program will be presented by the Artis Quartet, a young string quartet from Vienna, Austria.

The Deller Consort from England will appear Feb. 15. The Consort specializes in authentic performances fo Renaissance and Baroque vocal music.

A special recital is planned for March 10. The event is being conducted in honor of the 300th anniversary of the births of J.S. Bach and Handel.

University performers will join forces to present several chamber music masterpieces written by the Baroque composers.

The chamber series will conclude with Janus, a trio which performs current and past music.

Season tickets to the events are available to students and the general public. The cost of these tickets are $4.00 for students and $10.00 for the general public. Single admission price is $1.00 for students and $2.50 for adults. Children under 12 are admitted free. Tickets are on sale daily except Monday at the Tarble Gift Shop and will be sold at the door prior to each concert.

Each of the recitals will be held at 3:00 p.m. on Sundays except for the the Deller Consort.

'Hill Street' nabs most Emmy awards

LOS ANGELES (AP)—NBC's top-nominated "Hill Street Blues" won awards for director and supporting performers at the 36th annual Emmys on Sunday night, as the network captured nine of the first 16 prizes in a bid to dominate the awards for a fourth year.

Writing awards went to "Cheers," for comedy, NBC's still struggling hospital series "St. Elsewhere" for drama.

RHA vote ends in unanimous veto of Buddy Button plan

by Julie Zook

The proposed Buddy Button security system was vetoed unanimously by the Residence Hall Association following the program's failure in the Student Senate.

RHA president Joe Wheeler said the Buddy Button system had been "made a mockery of," and he was "reluctant to support a system that has been made a joke of."

Recently, The Daily Eastern News reported that several buttons were given out at a party Aug. 31.

RHA donated $50 last spring to the senate toward payment of the buttons, but Carolyn Smith, Eastern's RHA national communications coordinator, said, "Regardless of what we (RHA) think of the program, I don't think we should ask for our money back."

However, Wheeler said the security problem could not be ignored any longer. He added that the Buddy Button proposal was an effective way of alerting the university to the problem of campus security.

In other business, RHA vice president Leslie Garrigan said the recent drop of fall break and the addition of a class day were the "two most feasible suggestions" concerning Eastern's academic calendar revisions.

Sanders at seminar: weight loss brought by good eating habits

by Beth Kirkman

Most students who skip breakfast and eat light meals are caught in the evening with the three college P's: popcorn, pizza and Pabst Blue Ribbon, counselor Bud Sanders said during a seminar this week.

Sanders said students should eat three meals a day and balance those meals with behavior modification and exercise.

Making these adjustments can help students gradually control their weight and keep it off permanently, he said. The seminar, "Permanent Weight Loss," was sponsored by the Counseling Center.

Sanders said a good way to start a weight loss program is to record food intake and the amount of exercise in addition to normal activity for one week.

Exercise is excellent, but should be limited. Sanders said exercising for more than 30 minutes continuously, three times a week is unhealthy. The key to exercising is finding something you enjoy and doing it moderately, he said.

In addition, in any weight loss program there have to be reasonable goals, both short term and long term, Sanders said.

"fair to middling"

A little less annoyed, Tammy Walker, acting financial vice president, said the friction between Butler and Richardson could be caused by the fact that "Butler is still a little unsure of his duties."

Walker also said she thought Butler is, "a very sharp and intelligent individual who just happens to have a different approach to student government. The senate was not ready for his ideas."

Right now, Butler said his major concerns include tuition increases, the voter registration drive, campus security and his four new coalitions: peace, truth, plenty and love.

Overall, Butler commented on his adjustment to the position of president saying, "You have to find out how the machine works before you can throw a wrench in it."

Spikers shut down Lewis, roll to three game sweep

by Joseph Anglum

Eastern's volleyball team had to fight off a potent Lewis University offense before finally wrapping up a three-game sweep of the Flyers Saturday in Lantz Gym.

Lewis, expected to crack the top 20 in Division II when the polls are released Tuesday, came out strong in game one and held Eastern in check to take a 3-0 lead before the Panthers cracked the egg on the scoreboard.

Eastern rallied from that deficit and took the lead 6-3 when Maura LeFevour lobbed a shot over the net and out of the reach of the unsuspecting Flyer defense.

However, Lewis overcame their weaknesses and tied Eastern at eight before the Panthers could put it away.

Senior co-captain Gretchen Braker led Eastern from the tie at eight, and served the Panthers to a 13-8 count before Eastern finally won the contest 15-12 to take a one game lead in the match.

"We have a good lineup when Gretchen is serving the ball," Eastern head coach Betty Ralston said. "The kids have a lot of action."

As in game one, Lewis jumped out to an early lead in game two before the Panther offense put a score on the board. Eastern tied the game at two, and took a 3-2 lead before Lewis tied the score at three.

On that play, Lewis setter Betsy Meyer took a spike to the face before teammates returned the ball and tied the score.

The Flyers found themselves on the short end of a 7-3 count before eventually creeping back to within a 7-6 margin.

Eastern freshman Diane Eiserman tallied the final two points of the contest as the Panthers took game two by a 15-7 score.

Game three proved to be all Eastern as the Panthers jumped out to a 3-0 lead and mounted it to 8-1 forcing Lewis head coach Karen Lockvear to call her last timeout.

Lewis seemed a bit unorganized and confused as they strived to keep within striking distance of the Panthers.

Lewis's effort proved to be too little too late as Eastern walked away with the game 15-5 to conclude the three game sweep.

Lockvear admitted her squad was out of control in game three.

"We choked," she said. "Eastern hit hard and my kids froze. Eastern's kids looked a lot more confident than we did."

Eastern was able to clear the bench as the whole team saw some playing time.

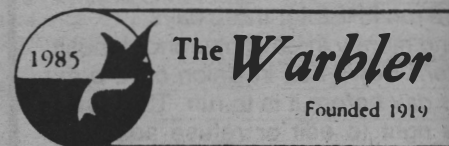

"The kids know this is when they're going to get to play," Ralston said. "This is when the non-starters get a chance to prove themselves."

Eastern now travels to Indianapolis for a Tuesday match with Butler University before leaving for the Rice tournament in Houston, Texas on Wednesday.

"Our game plan for the next week and a half is survival," Ralston said.

Good times roll for harriers at Midwest Championships

Dan Verdun
KENOSHA, WIS.—Eastern's men's cross country team placed a disappointing fifth in the Midwest Collegiate Championship Saturday.

"I really wanted to do well in this big meet," assistant coach Tom Akers said. "We could have finished in the top three, if we would have had five solid performances, but we only got four."

That foursome of "solid performers" included seniors Nick Whiteside, Scott Pillsbury, Scott Tracy and Dale Righter.

Whiteside breasted the tape in 11th place overall. His time of 25:21 was 12 seconds off his personal best set last weekend.

"What makes that (12-second difference) so remarkable is that last week we ran on a flat course, as opposed to the very hilly one this week," Akers said.

Pillsbury appears to have hit his stride by placing 26th in Saturday's 11-runner field with a 25:44 clocking.

Finishing just behind Pillsbury was Righter. The freshman sensation from Waukegan raced home in 25:46, winding up 27th.

"It may sound repetitious but every time Dale runs, he runs a better race than the week before," Akers said.

Tracy, a Glenbrook North product, won the 8,000-meter circuit in 26:05 earning 43rd position.

Akers said he was "a little disappointed" with the performances of seniors Bruce DeRuntz, Mitch McClure and junior Dan Newman. After starting out to a fast start, DeRuntz had problems with the steep hills. McClure was plagued by cramps throughout the race.

Central Michigan won the overall team title with 73 points. Host Wisconsin-Parkside utilized its knowledge of the trail to capture second. Eastern's 61 team points spotted the Panthers in fifth behind St. John's-Minnesota and Saginaw Valley State.

Eastern's women's team finished 14th out of a 24-team field in its division of the Midwest Collegiate Championship.

"I feel we did very well," coach Dan Lowery said. "We finished right in the middle of the pack."

The Lady Panthers amassed 385 team points, finishing well off the winning pace of 38 by Wisconsin. Iowa State, a perennial powerhouse contending for the national title, placed second.

"We ran the ideal race with no exceptions," Lowery said. "Surprising schools like Iowa and Wisconsin-Lacrosse pushed us down in the standings."

Lowery said his strategy for the team was for the runners to get out to a quick start and to attack the course's hills.

"We ran a very tough first mile, which pleased me," Lowery said.

Eastern's top finisher was Anne Ogle. The junior's time of 18:46 earned her 52nd place among the 260 finishers. The time was Ogle's best of the season, beating her 19:36 clocking at the Ball State Invitational last week.

Sophomore Teresa Paul also turned in her best showing of the season by crossing the finish line at 18:52, winding up 56th.

Junior Erin Healy and freshman Lisa Jostes recorded their quickest times of the campaign, placing 84th and 90th respectively.

"I think we gained a lot of self-confidence from this meet," Lowery said. "The rest of the season should be downhill; I'm really excited about it."

Cubs take two from Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP)—With one exception, the Chicago Cubs breathed a collective sigh of relief following a doubleheader sweep Sunday over the St. Louis Cardinals.

"You know me, I don't take anything for granted," said Manager Jim Frey in refusing to join the revelry accompanying the 8-1 and 4-2 triumphs. "It doesn't mean anything until you've won it. When that day comes, I'm going to enjoy it."

Frey nonetheless heaped praise on Gary Matthews for the five runs the 34-year-old outfielder drove in to help nail down a tie for Chicago's first title of any kind in 39 years.

"Gary Matthews for the last four or five weeks has got some big hits for us. He's a tremendous influence on this ballclub," said the Cubs' manager. "We talked this morning when he came in."

For Matthews, a veteran of 13 seasons acquired by Chicago from the Philadelphia Phillies in late March, the win victories meant "everything is downhill for us now."

Booters blast Quincy in 6-1 win

by Brent Feeney

After the soccer Panthers defeated MacMurray College 4-1 last Wednesday, some fans probably wondered if Eastern could keep up the momentum against traditionally tough Quincy College.

But, not only did the Panthers keep the momentum against Quincy, they dominated the Hawks, scoring five unanswered goals in a 6-1 win Sunday at Lakeside Field.

It was, in the words of Eastern coach Cizo Mosnia, "a total team effort. Our goal for the game was to win by three or more goals, and we did it. Neil (Swindells) really got into the game. He had quite a bit of fun out there today."

That's an understatement. Swindells had the three-goal hat trick, the first for a Panther booter this year. "We were all up for this game, and after the effort we had today, everybody should be really happy," Swindells said after the game.

The Panthers dominated the contest right from the start but Quincy goalie Jim Bruce was up to the task.

Bruce couldn't hold off Eastern forever, and at 35:18, Matt Gamache struck a rising shot from 30 yards out that beat Bruce for a 1-0 Panther lead.

Three minutes later, Swindells scored his first of the game when Guy Callipari took the original shot and Swindells put the rebound into the back of the net for a 2-0 lead.

Gamache then scored his second goal at 42:40 when he fired a shot that caught a Quincy player in the hip and deflected into the goal for a 3-0 halftime lead.

Eastern was so dominant that Hawk coach Dave McKenzie had very little to say after the game.

"We were absolutely flat," McKenzie said. "Today, we were just dominated. Eastern's got a good team, and they really punished us. This game was an embarrassment to Quincy College soccer."

Swindells scored his second goal when Greg Oidman gave him a spectacular feed that Swindells flicked into the net at 58:19 for a 5-0 lead.

"Greg and I had worked on that play all week, and when it went in, it felt really good," Swindells said. "It was a really nice-looking play, and when something you've worked on works in a game, it's a great feeling."

The Panthers got their last score at 75:37, when Gordon Williams chipped a pass to an open Swindells, who had no trouble gaining his hat trick and closing the scoring.

Rockets break away, burn Panthers 38-17

by Jeff Long

TOLEDO, Ohio—Toledo's depth was too much for Eastern's football team to handle Saturday and for the banged up Panthers the biggest pain came in the form of a 38-17 defeat.

Toledo, 2-0, which used a 14-point fourth quarter to put the contest out of reach, literally ran over the Panthers late in the game by rotating players on each down.

"They just had too much depth for us," head coach Al Molde said. "They physically wore us down in the fourth quarter and their depth took its toll. They were always rotating fresh people in there and that was the difference."

The Rockets certainly were deep at the running back position. In all, 10 Toledo running backs ran with the ball, racking up 273 yards total on the ground. The Panthers, who fell to 2-2, were held to minus-three yards rushing.

However, Eastern was not to be deprived of its passing yards. Behind quarterbacks Sean Payton and John Rafferty, the Panthers completed 31 of 54 attempts for 313 yards and one touchdown.

It was the fourth time in as many games that Eastern has topped the 300-yard passing mark. Payton finished the night with 252 yards, completing 27 of 41.

"I think we threw the ball very well," Molde said. "That (313 yards) is about the average we've been doing. But we're going to have to take a hard look at our balance and work on our rushing game."

The Rockets opened the scoring on their very first possession, marching 58 yards before Dave Walker hit a 24-yard field goal to stake Toledo to a 3-0 lead.

Eastern came right back on their first drive to knot the score at three when Steve Berryman connected on a 37-yard field goal.

However, the game didn't remain tied for long. Toledo took only four plays to drive 80 yards for their first touchdown—a 28-yard scoring strike from A.J. Sager to Rodney Whitlow. The key to the drive was a 41-yard run by fullback Jerome Stephens.

After Eastern linebacker Tyrone Covington recovered a fumble at the Toledo 44-yard line, it took the Panthers only three plays to tie the score again, when Payton hit Roy Banks for a 33-yard touchdown pass to cap the quick drive.

The two teams traded possessions from that point on, until late in the second quarter when the Rockets blocked a punt attempt by Eastern's Evan Arapostathis at the Panther 11-yard line and recovered it on the one.

The Rockets converted two plays later to stake a 17-10 lead when Sager dove in for a one-yard touchdown with only 53 seconds remaining in the first half.

"We made some pretty big errors out there," Molde said. "But we were still able to keep it close."

The Panthers were able to strike early in the third quarter after safety Reggie Drew intercepted a Sager pass at the Toledo 32 and returned it to the eight yard line. Payton scrambled in for six yards to tie the score once again.

However, the Rockets made up for the interception with a big play when Sager hit Eric Hutchinson for a 65-yard touchdown—and a lead Toledo would never relinquish.

"We played three quarters of good football and had a chance to win all the way up to the fourth quarter," Molde said. "Up until then, it was anybody's game."

The Rockets sealed Eastern's coffin when halfback Steve Morgan hit Bill Poure against an unsuspecting Panther defense for a 43-yard touchdown pass and a 31-17 Toledo advantage.

Morgan, who also rushed for 130 yards in the game, capped Toledo's scoring with a 45-yard touchdown run midway through the fourth quarter.

"Their rushing game wasn't any more overpowering than Indiana State's was," Molde said. "They didn't gain too much in the first three quarters, but by the fourth quarter, their fresh backs were just too quick for our defense."

"We're still banged up and bruised pretty bad," he added. "We have a lot of soreness injuries and we need to be home so we can heal up."
