AISG to work against possible tuition increase

By Joe Natale

The Association of Illinois Student Government (AISG) will prepare a position paper against a possible tuition increase for either the 1976 spring or fall semester at the University of Illinois (U of I) Jean Galovich, executive vice president, said Monday.

AISG is a Springfield lobbying group which represents the students from its member colleges and universities in the state.

Galovich said AISG anticipates that a tuition increase at the U of I would be a "danger signal to other state schools that tuition may go up."

The report by AISG's Tuition Study Committee of which Galovich is a member should be finished by Oct. 1 and the committee's intention is to include opinions against tuition increases by higher education officials in the state and Gov. Dan Walker.

Galovich said AISG decided to act against a tuition increase because the U of I Board of Trustees will consider a $90 per year semester increase at its Oct. 15 meeting.

Currently, tuition at the U of I is $496 per year and Galovich said if the U of I Board of Trustees okays the proposed tuition hike, it will be sent to the Board of Higher Education's Committee on Tuition and Others Student Costs, which will then make recommendations to Walker to approve or reject an increase.

In the past, Walker has spoken out against tuition increases, Galovich said but AISG wants to take some action against a possible increase in case Walker changes his mind.

"We can't sit back and say, 'Oh, Dan will be against a tuition increase.' We have to do something," Galovich said.

"Any time in the past that AISG has asked Walker about tuition hikes he has said he's against a tuition increase but the problem is long is he going to do this," she added.

Woman fires gun at Ford; misses

San Francisco (AP) — President Ford was shot at Monday by a woman who police said was cited Sunday illegal possession of a gun and questioned by the Secret Service. The President was not injured.

Ford was emerging from a hotel when the shot was fired, and Police Lt. Frank Jordan said an alert patrolman deflected the woman's .38-caliber pistol as the gun went off about 35 to 40 feet from the President.

As the cheers of the crowd turned to screams, Ford was rushed by Secret Service agents into a waiting limousine and sped to the airport. The presidential jet took off about 30 minutes later.

A woman identified as Sarah Jean Moore, 45, was taken into custody immediately after the shot rang out. She was a known activist who had been involved with the massive food giveaway organized last year in an effort to free kidnaped heiress Patricia Hearst.

The woman was carried bodily into the St. Francis Hotel, where she was held. An arraignment was set for 5:30 p.m. PDT.

An hour after Air Force One took off, White House Secretary Ron Nessen contacted by radio, said of the President's mood. "In a word, he is relaxed."

Robert Meade, television adviser to the President, said, "Ford was not hit he is fine."

The President's motorcade sped away from the hotel seconds after the shot, racing toward the airport at 70 m.p.h. It was accompanied by motorcycle police and a police helicopter.

The President's wife, Betty, was waiting for him at the plane here.

It was the second incident of the day, and it followed by two weeks an attempt on the President's life in Sacramento by a disciple of mass-murder Charles Manson.

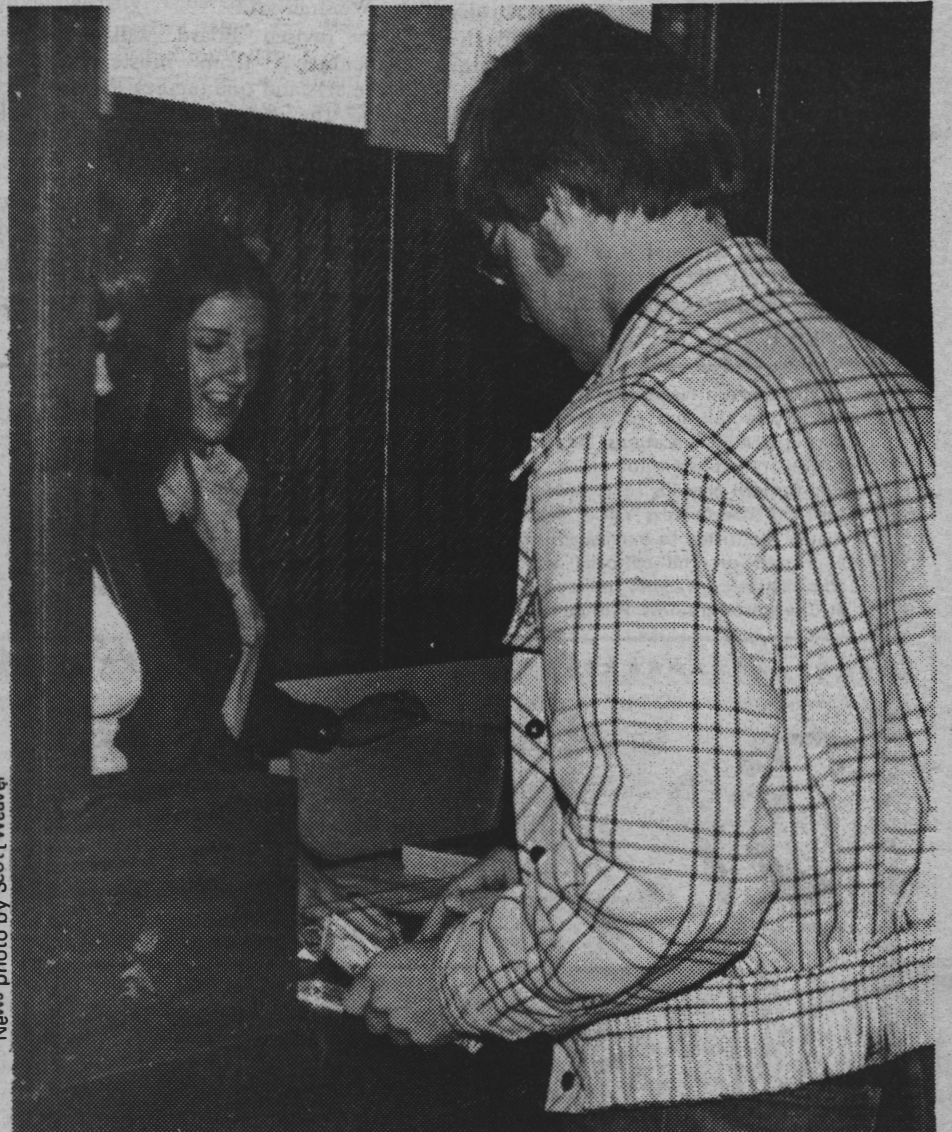

Earlier Monday, a 24-year-old man was taken into custody after allegedly showing a note threatening Ford's life to a hotel employee.

Jordan said Miss Moore was questioned at about 2 p.m. Sunday in front of her residence in the city's Mission District. "in the course of the conversation, she was searched and officers found a gun. They brought her immediately to the Mission Station and confiscated the pistol."

A San Francisco police captain, William Conroy, said the woman had been checked by the Secret Service on Sunday and had been cleared.

"The Secret Service examined her and passes her," he said. "She was on the Secret Service questionable list, and they checked her out and passed her."

The Secret Service had no immediate comment on the report.

Fontez Harris will plead innocent to charge of pulling fire alarm

By Mark Wisser

Fontez Harris said Monday he did not turn in a false fire alarm at Carman Hall and added that he would be willing to take a lie detector test to prove it.

Harris, a freshman from E. St. Louis, is charged with pulling the alarm shortly after midnight Sept. 5. If convicted, Harris faces a possible prison sentence of one to three years and a fine up to $10,000.

There are three reported eyewitnesses to the incident, only one of which is said to have seen the alarm actually pulled.

One of the other two witnesses, Ed Beyers, said Sunday that he saw Harris near the alarm before it went off and running away afterwards while the other witness, Stephen Podwojski, said he ran after the suspect.

Harris said Monday that he couldn't be the one who was chased because he walked all the way back to his room in Thomas Hall.

The three have reportedly signed statements as to what they saw and will be testifying when the case comes to court.

Harris' arraignment is scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday in Coles County Circuit Court.

Harris, who said Monday he has no previous criminal record, said he will plead "not guilty" to the charge. He added that he has no attorney at present but said he wants the public defender assigned to his case.

Beyers, who said he saw Harris next to the alarm before it went off and running from it afterwards, said Sunday that he can "positively identify" the person as Harris.

Harris said Monday that the alleged eyewitnesses must be mistaken, saying, "I think everybody's got the wrong fella."

He added that he was "outside the building for around a minute before the alarm sounded."

Wednesday an anonymous source said he saw Harris "a couple feet behind me" when the alarm went off. The source added that he and Harris were near the east curb on Ninth Street when they heard the alarm sound and saw lights start to come on in the hall.

A housing office employer said Monday that he heard Beyers and the alleged eyewitness to the incident talking afterward and that they apparently didn't agree on the description of the suspect.

Among the things they didn't agree upon, the source said, was whether the suspect had a goatee. He added that the only thing they agreed upon was that the suspect was wearing an orange shirt.

Beyers said Sunday, though, that there was no disagreement then or now as to the suspect's description.

Harris said he had been visiting two girls, one of whom he knew as "Candy" and was talking to them near the north tower elevator. He said he didn't know the other girl's name.

Harris said he then left through the door near the north tower counselor's apartment. He added that Candy saw him leave.

The fire alarm which was activated is near the elevator.

Faculty Senate to discuss reactions to board change

The Faculty Senate will discuss at its meeting Tuesday the Student Senate reaction to changes the faculty body made in the composition of the Performing and Visual Arts Board, Terry Weidner, senate chairperson, said Monday.

The meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the University Union Martinsville Room.

At its last meeting, the senate approved an additional faculty member to serve on the board. With that addition, there is a five to four student-faculty ratio on the board, Weidner said.

"We received a memo from Student Senate speaker Bill Scaggs which basically said that we had gone over the Student Senate's head in approving the plan," Weidner said.

At Thursday's Student Senate meeting, the senate commissioned Scaggs to ask President Gilbert C. Fite not to approve the change in the Performing and Visual Arts Board because it did not go through proper channels.

Senator Jeff Baker of the At-Large District said during the student senate's discussion of the Faculty Senate's action the "Faculty Senate shouldn't have gone over the Student Senate's head."

"The board spends student fee money and the Faculty Senate should have had the common sense to contact us," Baker said.

"We have sent a copy of the proposed plan to Student Body President Mick Chizmar. I want to emphasize that we had no intention of going over the Student Senate's head on this," Weidner added.

The changes in the board were made because of the reorganization of the Music Department from five sections to two, Weidner said.

The revised board will include a representative from music, art, and theatre arts and one faculty member from outside the department. The members must be approved by the Faculty Senate.

In other business, the senate will be discussing the "Approvals of Curriculum Changes" plan from Peter Moody, vice president for academic affairs. The plan would reduce the load of academic councils in approving course changes, Weidner said.

Lawyer denies Nixon responsibility for tape gap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's lawyer said Monday that the former president has denied under oath any "personal responsibility" for the 18½-minute gap in one of the White House tapes, one of the few remaining mysteries in the Watergate scandals.

Attorney Herbert J. Miller Jr. said Nixon made the denial before Special Watergate Prosecutor Henry S. Ruth and two members of a grand jury who questioned him for 11 hours last June 23 and 24.

A panel of court-appointed experts concluded before Nixon resigned the presidency that the gap was the result of at least five and perhaps as many as nine manual erasures of a crucial conversation between Nixon and his chief of staff H.R. Haldeman.

The conversation occurred June 20, 1972, three days after the original break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters, and Haldeman's notes show the subject was Watergate.

Miller referred to the tape gap Monday during a three-hour hearing before a special three-judge court that is considering Nixon's attempts to regain ownership and control of the White House tapes and 42 million documents accumulated during his presidency.

There was no indication when the three judges, Aubrey E. Robinson of the U.S. District Court, and Carl McGowan and Edward A. Tamm, both of the U.S. Court of Appeals, would rule on the Nixon civil suit, filed Sept. 7, 1974.

Miller said, "They say Mr. Nixon is untrustworthy, they say Mr. Nixon will distort the record, they say Mr. Nixon created the 18½ minute gap."

"With respect to the 18½ minute gap," Miller continued, "Mr. Nixon was interrogated by the Office of the Special Prosecutor."

Of the Justice Department lawyers, Miller said, "Let them challenge that his Nixon's personal responsibility for the tape gap was denied under oath."

Man arrested for death threat against Ford

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young man was arrested Monday outside a hotel where President Ford was scheduled to speak and booked on suspicion of threatening the President, police said.

Police identified the man as Ronald Carlo, 24, of Mobile, Ala.

Officers said he was turned over to the Secret Service after being taken into custody in front of the St. Francis Hotel.

At the time of the arrest, Ford was inside the hotel attending a luncheon of the World Affairs Council. He was to address the gathering after the luncheon.

The man taken into custody was never near the President, officers said.

Two weeks ago, Lynette Fromme, a follower of convicted murderer Charles Manson, was wrestled to the ground by Secret Service agents as she pointed a loaded automatic pistol at Ford in Sacramento.

Further details were not immediately available.

COTE to hear education course rule

By Debbie Goodman

Secondary education majors may have to be formally admitted to the school of Teacher Education before enrolling in professional education courses if a proposal is approved by the Council on Teacher Education (COTE).

COTE will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the University Union Tuscola room.

The proposal was submitted by Marion Shuff of Secondary Education.

Professional secondary education courses would then be limited to secondary education majors.

In the past students have been able to pick up the education courses as preferred electives, but if the proposal is passed, Ron Leathers, COTE chairperson said, this will no longer be possible.

The proposal would not apply to students in elementary education.

Other item proposals on the agenda include a recommendation for a review of post-baccalaureate certification and a request to add English courses to the major in theatre arts.

New course additions include two speech classes and one elementary education class.

One of the proposed speech courses will be educational assessment of the pre-school child and the other will be the pre-school handicapped child.

The elementary education courses will be language and language arts in early childhood.

CAA should change wording of overload ruling

Sam Taber, dean of student academic services, has sent a memorandum to Steve Whitley, chairperson of the Council on Academic Affairs (CAA), requesting that the rule which prevents transfer students from taking overloads be changed.

As it stands now, a student must have a specific grade point to sign up for an overload and someone who is in their first semester of residence does not have a grade point.

This rule applies to first semester freshmen as well as transfer students who may have gotten straight A's at the school they previously attended.

This rule unfairly restricts transfer students and does not allow them equal academic footing with their fellow students.

For example, seniors need only to have recorded a 2.00 grade point average in order to be eligible for an overload. On Eastern's rating scale that is a C but this student could take an overload while someone who recorded an A or B average at another school could not.

What this rule does in effect then is discriminate against students just because they did not choose, for whatever reason, to start their college education at Eastern.

"Transfer students have no established gpa at Eastern," Taber listed as a rationale for not allowing transfer students to take an overload. This at best, is a weak statement, not on Taber's part but the university's.

Just because a student has no established grade point at Eastern does not mean they cannot handle the work. Their record at their previous school should be indication enough of what they can or cannot do.

To say to someone they cannot take a certain number of hours because they have not been here is institutional snobbery.

However, in a very progressive move, Taber has asked the CAA change the wording of the rule from a specific grade point to being in good academic standing. This means that all student, if they had the grades from Eastern or some other school, would have the same benefits and privileges.

The CAA should support and pass Taber's proposal so that it can go into effect beginning spring so no more students will be discriminated against.

Altamont to keep beer-soaked Scheutzenfest, big revenues

Breathe a little easier, beer-drinkers, polka-amateurs and bratwurst lovers. Those rumors about this year's Scheutzenfest being the last have been flying for years and there's about as much truth to them as there is beer left in your bucket.

Scheutzenfest treasurer Dorothy Wolf said Monday that rumors of the death of that huge German beer party in Altamont have been around about as long as the fest itself.

She said there is always discussion about changing the date, but only because the weather is so unpredictable in September and not because college students (like you and me) were overrunning it, as one rumor had it.

"I haven't heard that at all," Wolf said of the reports that college bucketeers were trampling poor Altamont into festless submission.

However, should the community decide to give it up, which is doubtful, it would leave a huge gap in the year's social events, not to mention a lot of people's beer appetites.

It would be a gap which some group, whether independent, greek or university-affiliated, should be more than happy to fill here in Charleston.

Although Wolf didn't have any exact figures, she said the profits from Scheutzenfest have paid for several community improvements such as the large metal building on the grounds, tennis court improvements, etc.

I know of no group that couldn't do with a few thousand in spare change.

Also, the beer bust could be more geared toward students--there was a swarm of us soaking it up--to include, say, rock bands, pizza and the Bump.

Of course, few student-oriented activities as large as such an event could conceivably be as so blatantly hedonistic as Altamont's.

Such blasts are usually viewed as morally corruptive and, in the case of rock concerts, are sometimes ruled illegal, complete with court injunction.

So, as long as the people of Altamont want to keep their Scheutzenfest, it will be up to us to help them celebrate each year. Get out there and practice, team.

Letters

Color should not be issue in Harris case

This is in response to an article concerning the incident in which Fontez Harris was accused of turning in a false fire alarm, and also to the letter by Mr. Crump. What difference does it make whether Mr. Harris is Black or not? The Blacks today say that they want equal treatment, but is this only in certain areas of society?

How can Mr. Harris be a scapegoat if there are witnesses who testify that they saw him pull the alarm? Perhaps there are some people who say Mr. Harris did not pull the alarm. In that case, it is one man's word against another's. If this is so, then why don't both sides consent to a polygraph examination?

If Mr. Harris is innocent, then the guilty party should be found. But if he is guilty, then he should be punished.

In the original article no reference was made to race. However in preceding articles, race has become the major issue, although it is irrelevant to justice.

Like the witnesses on both sides I wish to withhold my name due to possible harassment, which is the saddest part of the entire issue.

Name withheld by request

CIA just keeping up with KGB poisons

In your editorial of 18 September entitled: "CIA Set Itself Beyond Authority of President," you extend yourself naively beyond the realm of supported facts into the land of hypothesis. First of all, your original theme deals with CIA disobedience of a presidential order, but you conclude with a reminder to Congress of its responsibilities. Whom are you blaming?

Secondly, you imply that the CIA would blindly follow the orders of the president in one instance--to "wipe out" someone--but you criticize its failure to follow a presidential order. This is self-contradictory. Furthermore, you place greatest emphasis on scaring your reader and make no constructive comments. Is that all there is?

It is no secret that throughout history, men have spied on and blown up each other. I am not condoning man's lack of self-discipline. At the same time, when you consider the U.S.'s program for weapon development, you must put it in proper perspective.

A weapon is devised to counter the destructive capabilities of sworn enemies. From your remarks, however, I get the impression that you feel the U.S. is the first and only nation on our planet that has ever researched and developed poison weapons.

The following items may give you an idea of the destructive potential of chemical-biological-radiological weaponry presently utilized by other nations.

One of our sworn enemies, the Soviet Union, has used a poison spray gun to kill several men at least prior to August, 1961.

A W. German counterespionage technician, Horst Schwirkmann, was shot with nitrogen mustard gas on 6 September 1964 while visiting a monastery in Moscow.

Nikolai Khokhlov was poisoned with thallium, a rare toxic metal, after publicly criticizing the KGB.

Finally, within the KGB organization, there is an entire directorate tasked with producing exotic chemicals and poisons capable of killing and making death appear natural. This directorate, entitled: "Technical Operations Directorate," is under direct supervision of the chairman of the KGB, Yuri Vladimirovich Andropov.

In summary, I am not disagreeing with facts you stated or even your feeling that poisons are deadly and therefore awful. This is merely an attempt to remind you that the CIA is playing in the "big league," if you will. Perhaps the CIA should paint a deadlier picture of the odds it and we face.

Women netters rip Millikin for 1st win

By Mark Kellerman

After being whitewashed by the University of Illinois 9-0, Eastern's women's tennis team bounced back to win their home opener Saturday against Millikin 6-0.

Eastern controlled their matches over Millikins as all Panther netters won by straight sets.

The home opener was marked by somewhat strong wind gusts that greatly affected the play.

Kathy Holmes at first singles had little problem in route to a 6-0, 6-1 win.

In the other singles matches, Sue Nyberg scored a 6-0, 6-3 win, and Kay Metzger and Sue Field picked up wins with 6-3, 6-2, and 6-0, 6-0 scores respectively.

Eastern swept the doubles competition rather easily as Sue Nyberg teamed with Deb Doll to win 6-2, 6-0. Holmes and Metzger came back to win the second doubles spot 6-2, 6-3.

"It's just great to get the first win of the year," said netter coach Norma Green. "Although it was terribly windy it's just great to win that first time," she added.

At the U of I Thursday, the story was a little different as every Panther who stepped on the courts found defeat in a 9-0 loss.

Eastern managed to be competitive only in the first doubles slot where Nyberg and Doll took their Illinois counterparts to three sets before bowing out.

"We were just overmatched against the U of I," Green said. "We found them to be another powerful Big Ten team," she added.

Green stated that she believed she would keep Nyberg and Doll together as doubles partners after their performances against the U of I and Millikin.

The Panthers next encounter is scheduled for Saturday at home against the Illinois State Redbirds.

Field hockey team falls twice at SIU

The women's field hockey team was defeated twice over the weekend by Southern Illinois University Carbondale 4-1 and by Principia 2-1.

Coach Helen Riley attributed lack of defense as the reason for the two losses.

"Primarily our defense was not tight enough around the goal. It has to be if we are going to win," she said.

"On offense we lost several rebound shots on goal that could have been turned into scores," she added.

Panther goals were scored by Debbie

Patterson in the S.I.U. game and by Deb Davis in the Principia contest.

The number two team however came up with a victory and a tie on Saturday.

They tied Carbondale 0-0 and defeated Principia 3-1.

Deb Keller knocked home two goals for the victors and Judy Wohler chipped in with the other.

"The girls hustled real good both games, but just couldn't score in the Carbondale game," Riley commented.

Volleyball squad dumped 3 times

Eastern's women's volleyball team felt the brunt of tough competition as the lost each of its three matches to Ball State, Indiana University, and Western Saturday at Macomb.

Ball State and Western took game from the Panthers with Ball State winning 15-10, 15-1 and Western defeating Eastern 15-6, 15-10.

Against Indiana, the match went full three games, but Indiana came out top winning the final two games 15-10 and 15-5 after Eastern took the opener 15-10.

Coach Joan Schmidt said the main reason Eastern did not fare well in Saturday's match was due to her team's failure to move around.

Another factor Schmidt said aided in the defeats was the fact that Eastern did not serve well.

Schmidt also noted that the team was lacking personnel because only eight were on the traveling squad.

Schmidt did say her basically young team "didn't make as many errors, for instance hitting the ball out of bounds."

The team will have to begin moving more "if they expect to win," Schmidt remarked.

"I would have been happy if we would have moved and jumped better," Schmidt said.

Western defeated both Ball State and Indiana University to take first in the match.

Eastern's volleyball team returns to action against Illinois State Thursday at home.

Sports, news staffers predict professional football season

Joe Natale has broken the unwritten rule of crossing the news-sports line.

The mini-Italian believes that he can predict something that is totally out of his realm.

Everyone knows it takes a talented individual who has a tremendous amount of knowledge to cover the sports scene, while if you are a news reporter all you have to know is how to tear the paper off the AP wire machine.

Joe is making his first attempt at being a real "man" reporter, but as you can tell by his prediction of the National Football League champion he is merely a novice.

Being the veteran sports reporter that I am, I will give you the correct winner of the 1975 Super Bowl and the teams that will make the coveted playoffs.

Oakland will shake their image of always choking in the post season events and clobber the NFC champion, who will be their West Coast rival, the Los Angeles Rams.

In the NFC Conference, Minnesota will capture the rugged Central Division by beating out the Green Bay Packers in a relatively close race.

Out West the Rams will clinch the title by Thanksgiving, while the Washington Redskins will have a difficult time becoming the East champion as the Dallas Cowboys and the St. Louis Cardinals will battle hard, but fail.

The wild card spot should be filled by the Pack, but the Cards and Cowboys will give chase.

The NFC playoffs will be as one-sided as a hanging with the Rams rolling over all opponents in the post season spectacular.

But the Ram machine will blow a gasket and a ballgame when they collide with the almighty Raiders in the Super Bowl.

Ken "The Snake" Stabler will do a number on the opposition with his pinpoint passing, and the Big Oak defense will level all challengers.

Miami will repeat in the AFC East but will fall to the same immovable force it fell to last season, yes, those same Oakland Raiders.

The real battle will be in the Central Division, where the Cincinnati Bengals, led by their winged wizard Ken Anderson, will dethrone the Pittsburgh Steelers in classical form.

The Steelers will have to settle for the wild card spot.

Oakland will easily capture the West Coast slot and will keep rolling right into the January classic, where they will pick up their championship rings and the cash they richly deserve.

As far as that pint-sized government editor's prediction that the Bills would go all the way, all I can say that he better go back to tearing AP wire or get a job with his uncle Don Corleone as a little hit man.

The difference between the sports staff and the news staff is much like the difference between mice and men. While the people who write the "news" are busy investigation and digging for facts, in order to keep university personnel accountable, members of the sports staff utilize their "nose for news" by sniffing for information in the Lantz Gym laundry room.

Since it is a widely known fact among journalists that sports staffers are on a lower evolutionary scale, I will now present an intellectual prediction of the upcoming professional football season.

In the National Football League, Detroit will take the Central Division, Dallas will win the East and the Rams will be the victors in the West. The wild card team will be Minnesota. When the NFC championship game is over, the Rams will be picking up their airplane tickets for Miami to the Super Bowl.

In the American Football Conference, the Pittsburgh Steelers will win the Central Division. The Oakland Raiders will win the West and the Buffalo Bills will win the Eastern Division. The New York Jets will win the wild card play-off berth.

By picking Oakland to win the Super Bowl, Yonke proves that the only quality of the paper he writes sports stories on are fit only for fish wrapping and for Howard Cosell to blow his nose on.

Oakland is the dirtiest, sloppiest and luckiest team in the history of sports. Although they luck-out during the regular season, you can bet Patty

Joe Natale

Hearst's bail money that they'll choke (as they always have) in championship play.

Proving that a news reporter covers both sides of an issue, not only will I predict the best team in pro football I will also pick the losers.

This year's big losers will be San Diego, Atlanta, New Orleans, Washington and Miami.

Washington and Miami have been in the play-off the last few years, but Miami has lost Jim Kiick, Paul Warfield, and Larry Czonka to the Worthless Football League (WFL). They have also lost Nick Bounoconti and Dick Anderson because of pre-season injuries. As for Washington, Alex Karras summed it up quite well when Joe Namath was destroying them with pin point passes in a pre-season contest when he said, "They may be old, but they're slow."

The very worst team in pro football will be the perennial losers of the Loop--the Chicago Bears.

In the Super Bowl, the Rams will not be able to handle its AFC opponent, the Buffalo Bills.

Just because Yonke reports sports doesn't mean he knows what he's writing about. How do I know? Well, he's a Cub fan.
