Panthers win—on to semis!

Fans greet gridders at airport

by Carl Gerdovich
Saturday was a special day for Eastern and a large crowd of Panther fans.

It has been a long time since Eastern football has produced a winner and early Sunday morning a large group crowded the Coles County Airport lobby, greeting the first Panther winner since 1951.

Eastern's Panthers had just returned from a Thanksgiving holiday in California where they defeated the nation's fourth ranked Aggies from the University of California-Davis in the opening round action of the NCAA's Division II football playoffs.

"This is real thrilling. I was really excited with that turnout," Eastern Athletic Director Mike Mullally said. "I've been here for four and one-half years now and it was the first time anyone ever met an Eastern team like this."

"It was especially exciting because my wife and kids were there to see it. Getting them to realize the pressure involved in building this program was difficult at times and it was hard for them to understand why I often times missed dinner," Mullally said. "I think this helped them to realize and understand."

One of those present at the gathering was Bob Gilbertson, owner of Bob's Package in Charleston, who donated four cases of champagne for the celebration at the airport.

"Win, lose or draw, we would have been there," Gilbertson said. "This Panther team and the coaches deserve a lot of credit in getting Eastern where they are now."

Gilbertson said the Charleston area began organizing the airport scene Saturday morning with the help of the Panther Booster Club.

Gilbertson and two of his employees - Bruce Bovett and Art Dietrich - began stirring interest and with the help of WEIC radio were able to get the word around.

"I was really impressed with all the independent interest," Gilbertson added. "There were a lot of people showing interest outside the university."

Calvin Smith of Eastern's speech communication department said the crowd began gathering at the airport a little before midnight, when most of the people were told the team was expected to arrive.

However, the plane was over-fueled in Sacramento, Calif., delaying departure time for nearly one hour.

Gilbertson said he was impressed with the fact that so many people waited for the team despite the delay in arrival.

Panthers top Aggies, stay alive

by Carl Gerdovich
DAVIS, Calif.—Eastern's Panthers took a giant step forward Saturday in a bid for the NCAA Division II football championship.

Playing a very intense game, the Panthers used several big plays in stunning the University of California-Davis, 35-31, before an estimated crowd of 8,500 at Toomey Field.

The fourth ranked Aggies entered the contest recognized as a strong defensive unit while the Panthers brought a high-powered offense into the game. Both were in classic form, but the Eastern offense came out ahead.

The win now advances Eastern into a semi-final game this Saturday against Youngstown State, which defeated Nebraska-Omaha in the Division II's Midwest game. The Panthers will host the semi-final match at O'Brien Stadium.

"I thought we played a real good game. We used several big plays that really gave us some momentum," a delighted head coach Darrell Mudra said.

"I think our kids are really highly motivated. Things have been going great lately," the head coach continued. "These guys have played with a lot of desire. Cal-Davis is a great team, the best we've seen. To play them and win at their home field is quite an accomplishment for us."

When we asked about the momentum going into the rematch against Youngstown, Mudra definitely (see PLAYOFF, page 12)

PLO wants home, peace

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat says the Palestine Liberation Organization is willing to renounce violence and grant de facto recognition to Israel if an independent Palestinian state is established, Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., reported Sunday.

Findley said he talked with Arafat for four hours here Saturday night and the guerrilla leader told him he considers himself a moderate among hard-line Arab leaders.

He quoted Arafat as saying the PLO "will accept an independent state in the West Bank of the Jordan River and Gaza Strip with a corridor in between."

Strike shuts down Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A general strike called by Moslem religious leaders and politicians who want to topple the beleaguered shah of Iran virtually shut down this strife-torn country Sunday, and new anti-shah violence erupted in the provinces.

Official reports said troops shot and killed at least nine people and wounded 30 in the town of Gorgan, 185 miles northeast of here, when anti-government demonstrators did not obey orders to disperse.

Rioters reportedly tried to set fire to several buildings and a bank but were driven off by security forces.

Refugees leaving boat

by The Associated Press

The miserable throng of Vietnamese refugees stranded abroad the freighter Hai Hong off the Malaysian coast was thinning out Sunday.

The first of 604 bound for Canada arrived in Montreal and some of the remaining 1,900 are to leave this week for homes elsewhere in the West.

The first of 220 bound for France are to leave Wednesday. Belgium will take 150. West Germany will take 1,000 Vietnamese refugees, although all might not be from the Hai Hong.

Sadat: Peace will come

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—President Anwar Sadat said Sunday he believes Egypt and Israel will sign a peace treaty "sooner or later" despite the current deadlock in the Washington negotiations.

"There are problems and it will take time but that does not mean I am pessimistic, not at all," Sadat told reporters.

"Sooner or later we shall be signing an agreement. This is a fact."

But in Israel the state radio said Prime Minister Menachem Begin reaffirmed Israel's position in a Cabinet meeting Sunday that there is no reason to send negotiators back to Washington at this point.

Klan marches peacefully

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A feared confrontation between the Ku Klux Klan and black activists failed to materialize Sunday when robed Klansmen marched through the French Quarter to a white supremacy monument.

Blacks had said they would confront the Klansmen, but Police Superintendent James Parsons persuaded the KKK to reschedule the march to an earlier time.

The Klan procession by less than 100 took about 10 minutes and was followed by a five-minute ceremony at Liberty Monument.

Muck removal delayed

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—A dispute over what kind of dredge is to be used may delay removal of tons of underwater muck containing dangerous PCB chemicals from the bottom of Waukegan Harbor.

Lake County Health Department officials favor a dredge called the Oozer, made in Japan, which siphons up the muck like a vacuum cleaner.

It has never been tried in this country and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says it would be reckless to bring it in before more studies are conducted about removal of the toxic chemicals.

Visit to lobby group raises senate doubt

by Bob Nasenbeny

Two student government leaders who recently attended an Illinois Student Association meeting said they would like to take a closer look at the student lobbying group before having Eastern join.

Bill Mueller and Chris Cooper, co-chairmen of the Student Senate Student Awareness Committee, attended the state-wide meeting in Springfield Nov. 12 to "get information and check up on it (the ISA)," Mueller said.

"Right now I'd like to see Eastern hold off on joining it, and look into it further. Northern Illinois pulled out of the ISA recently and I'd like to talk to them first before joining," Mueller said.

Cooper said the ISA does not have a full-time lobbyist as it had earlier hoped to have.

"The ISA does not have enough money to hire a full-time lobbyist right now, and they were thinking of hiring two part-time lobbyists instead," Cooper said.

"The ISA meeting seemed very unorganized to me, although it did have some good points. It seems to be a good idea if they can get the wheels rolling, but right now the wheels aren't rolling," Cooper said.

As a result of the Nov. 12 meeting,

Student Body President Tom said he has changed his stance joining the lobbying group.

"Right now I'm a bit skeptical joining the ISA. Northern pulled out and there's been a loss of about 10% in revenue in the ISA.

"I'm going to leave it to the administration of (Bob) Buckle, student body president-elect) to act on that matter next semester. Right now the organization (ISA) isn't that good," Holden said.

For Eastern to join the ISA, the Student Awareness Committee must recommend membership to the Student Senate, which in turn would act on the recommendation.

There are two types of membership. One is a general school membership which provides ISA status and a general vote in the organization and costs $200.

The second type of membership is executive, which costs 25% of a full-time student. In this type of membership schools have a major role in policy matters and can veto resolutions.

Colleges that have already joined the ISA are Illinois State University, Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville and Carbondale, and Loyola University.

Applications available for spring financial aid

by Karen Hamilton

Students should apply as soon as possible for financial aid or scholarships for the spring semester, Susan Sparks, financial aids director, said recently.

To qualify for financial aid from Eastern, students must first apply to the Illinois State Scholarship Commission, then complete Eastern's aid application and a "Financial Aid Form" or "Family Financial Statement," she said.

The deadline to apply for Eastern financial aid for spring semester is Feb. 1. After that date, however, students can still apply for BEOG grants.

BEOG grants can be applied for at any time as long as the students are enrolled, Sparks said.

In addition to state grants, a number of award scholarships are available each year, Ken Hesler, director of the grants-in-aid program, said recently.

Hesler encouraged students who are interested in applying for talented student awards in journalism, athletics, speech, art, student leadership or music to talk to the heads of those departments.

In charge of issuing scholarships from those areas are: journalism, Dan Thornburgh; art, Suzan Braun; music, Rhoderick Key; speech, Elwood Tame; student leadership, Bill Clark, and athletics, Mike Mullally.

Academic achievement awards are also available and are listed in Eastern's catalog. Students should check with the catalog so they can apply for awards in their areas of study, Hesler said.

For details on applying for these awards, students can contact the department heads in their particular areas.

Hesler said students should check into the numerous scholarships and awards granted. "There is a whole hodge podge of aid out there which many students are not aware of," he said.

For more information regarding applying for financial aid, grants or service awards students should consult the financial aids office in the Student Services Building or the university relations office in Old Main.

Disco dance for charity starts today

A special "Twin City Disco Dance" sponsored by the Embarras Valley Unit of Multiple Sclerosis will be held Monday.

The dance, which will feature the Star Sound System, will be held at the Rhythm and Roll Skating Center in Mattoon.

A disco dance contest will be featured with the winners receiving cash, dinner for two and theatre tickets, a news release said.

Door prizes, ranging from banana splits to steak dinners, will also be given.

All proceeds from the dance will be donated to benefit research into multiple sclerosis, which is a disabling affliction of the central nervous system in young adults.

The dance will run from 7:30 to 10 p.m. advance tickets are $1, and tickets at the door will be $1.50.

Advance tickets can be obtained by calling 345-3932 or 348-0230.

Film may show two JFK assassins

DALLAS (AP) - An amateur photographer took pictures that, according to one photo analyst, may show two people in the Texas School Book Depository double-window from which President John F. Kennedy was shot, minutes before the shots were fired, the Dallas Morning News says.

In a copyright story Sunday, the newspaper reported that greatly enlarged still frames of movie film taken by Charles L. Bronson, of Ada, Okla., were analyzed by Robert Groden, of Hope Lawn, N. J., who has served as consultant on photographic evidence for the House Select Committee on Assassinations.

The Morning News published, in black-and-white, a nine-frame sequence of pictures taken from color film and enlarged 100 times.

They show the double-window on the sixth floor of the depository, from where the Warren Commission said Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, fired the shots that killed Kennedy.

In each frame, a faint, light-colored area in the left side of the window changes shape from frame to frame, while a similar area in the right portion of the window remains more stationary.

Groden described for the Associated Press what he saw in the blow-ups, each of which shows what he called a "set" of windows—a double-window on the sixth floor and another directly below on the fifth floor. The movement he described was on the sixth floor.

"There is another person moving in the next set of windows enlargement," he said. "He, the figure, is wearing a bright red shirt. Another figure appears to be wearing a brownish-tan-nish or olive shirt. It's difficult to tell because the windows are dirty. I can make out figures moving simultaneously in both sets of windows.

"A man appears to be wearing a bright red shirt..." he added. "From all the descriptions of Oswald and the shirt he was arrested in was dark brown."

"You can actually see one figure walking back and forth hurriedly," Groden told the Morning News. "I think what was happening there is the sniper's nest was actually being completed just prior to the shots being fired."

Groden, who "enhanced" the famed Zapruder film of the assassination, is continuing to analyze the Bronson film, the newspaper said.

No faces are recognizable in the film.

Kottke's humor blends in well with his talent

Leo Kottke (Auditorium, University of Illinois-Champaign)

Leo Kottke, guitarist extraordinaire, is a serious instrumentalist, sometime vocalist, and obscure humorist.

Kottke is one of those people you would like to introduce to your parents, then sit back and watch.

First, the folks would say, "My what a nice looking young man."

He looks 17 but he's closer to 30. Then the folks would invite him in and Leo might start talking.

"Wow, these glass swans are nice, but where do they go to the bathroom? And how often?" A regular looking wacko is the most dangerous kind. Give Kottke a guitar and the nut continues, more subtly, but more calculatedly.

Kottke can't hear much on stage, he tells us. Consequently all screams from the audience become deciphered somewhat abstractly by Leo.

He reacts to sound but not to words. Example:

Audience: Play it Leo!

Leo: Socks? Yeah, I wore em.

Audience: Boogie!

Leo: What?

Audience: "Bean time" Leo!

Leo: Whew, tucked my shirt so far under my ass I'm about to break my neck (then he blasts into some crazed fingerpicking as funky as solo 12-string guitar can manifest itself).

Kottke has a way of confusing the issues.

One wonders how a totally instrumental piece revolves around the fact that Leo's dad spent some time as a golf pro and sold chipped beef out of his car somewhere in Michigan.

The stories are spontaneous, the songs are slick and moody, like maybe a melodramatic cartoon soundtrack.

Sometimes Leo never talks, but when he does, beware of band-aid box hearing aids and the lip of the nearest hill.

You know something is clicking when you can picture these things as Leo winds through virtuoso gut-string instrumentals.

As a solo artist, Kottke has discovered toys: the phase-shifter, color box, poly-syntho-frying pan-mutron-alidocious and what not. The gizmos aren't overbearing.

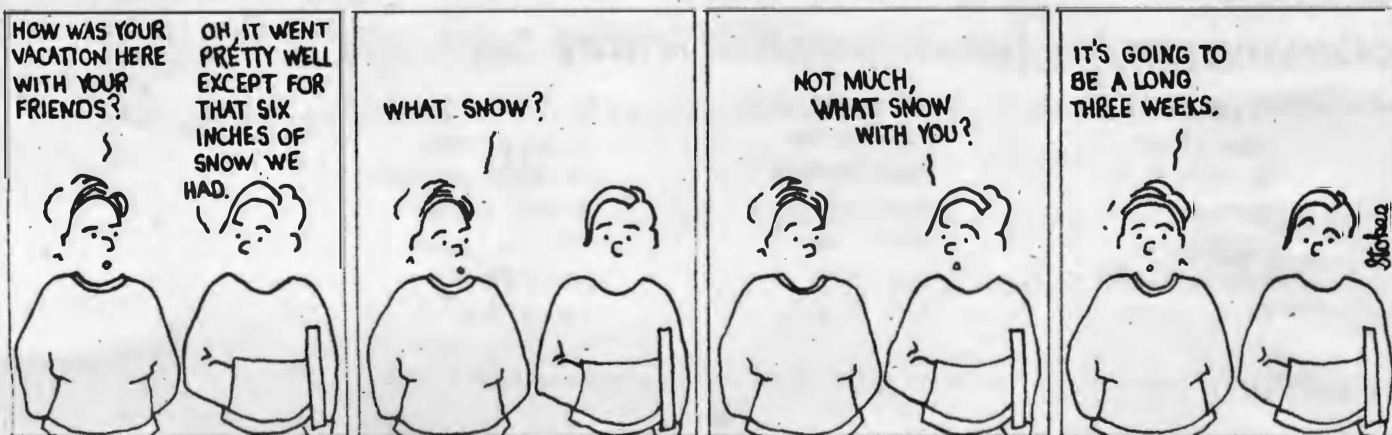

Leo's playing could subdue the mightiest fuzz box. His music is neo-classical folk on rye and he might be grouped with John Fahey and Peter Lang.

Like Fahey and Lang, Kottke creates a dichotomy in presentation from highly percussive instrumentals and rousing vocal pieces like "Pamela Brown" to the mysterious, almost soundtrack style pieces.

In any case, he is one who looks normal, talks bizarre, and plays above and beyond the call of sounding good.

A regular looking wacko is the most dangerous kind...Danger, sweet danger.

Women still have long way to go

A federal task force has found women are discriminated against for most of their lives by federal laws, government rules, regulations and traditions.

In a 370-page report, a 14-member task force on Discrimination stated tax laws keep women from the work force, Agriculture Department rules treat women as property of their husbands and parts of the criminal code are sexist.

The task force reported its findings to President Carter. Some of the findings include:

—The federal government employs fewer women than private industry.

—Only 2.7 percent of federal executive positions are held by women.

—With couples where women must work to supplement family income, even a low paying job could push the couple's income into a higher tax bracket, forcing them to pay higher taxes.

—Married women who pay the same Social Security as their male co-workers have their benefits determined by their husband's pensions when they retire. Little regard is given to their earnings.

—When a farmer with a Farmer's Home Administration loan dies, his widow cannot continue repaying the loan without refinancing, even if she was a co-signer and joint operator of the farm.

We're glad to see the government is taking steps to eliminate laws for women.

The actions must start somewhere and the government should set an example by cleaning its own house of sexist references.

But it's a shame, as the report shows, that they have such a long way to go.

Editor:

An open letter to: Daniel E. Marvin, Tom Holden, and Co., regarding the recent decision to move the art exhibit to the poolroom.

Although I recognize your need to relocate the art gallery, as a billiard enthusiast, I personally view your decision as inconsiderate and disgraceful.

From personal experience, I have seen many students and faculty members enjoying the pinball machines and the pool tables in the University Union poolroom.

As to putting the tables "into residence halls or wherever they are needed," how can you expect them to be treated with the same respect and care that they received in the Union poolroom?

The obvious result is that the tables will fall into a general state of disrepair and hence will soon become all but worthless if situated in the dormitories (case in point: the pool table in Carman Hall, which is never brushed).

As to the advantages of the poolroom for its storage space and its constant temperature, I think you are hitting an all-time low for reasons supporting the move.

Come on now--do you intend to store the National Archives down there? I can see the decision as no thing more than a "cop-out," unless I am given further evidence why the poolroom had to be the victim of such a relocation.

From a personal standpoint, you can take your art gallery and pocket it!

Debacle

Editor:

The election of Daniel Crane to Congress is another example of what political democracy is impossible under capitalism due to the powerful influence of "big money" in political campaigns.

Crane's expenditures were among the largest in the entire nation and dwarfed the spending of his Democratic opponent. The election was clearly purchased by the Crane forces.

It is not surprising that Crane received huge campaign contributions since he is an archreactionary favoring, for example, a flat rate federal income tax which would make the present tax structure even more unfair.

The only real answer is democratic socialism, with worker control of business and industry.

One very favorable aspect of the present political climate is the tax revolt. Over the past 45 years capitalist politicians, in an effort to save the capitalist system, have pumped hundreds of billions of dollars into every conceivable social program.

Thanks to the tax structure the tax bill is paid chiefly by the middle class not by the rich. Working people simply can no longer afford to bail out the capitalist system through high taxes.

America can and should develop a socialist society, with political and economic democracy.

Landslide victory surprises student officers

by Pat Sheehy
 Newly elected student government executives said recently they were surprised by the margin of their victory and attributed their win to several factors.
 The ticket, composed of Bob Buckley, Laura Funk and Tom Dersch, won Tuesday's election by a landslide margin.
 Student body president-elect Buckley said, "We had a strong ticket and we worked as a team—that's what counts. We tried to look objectively at the election and that's why we were all so surprised with the results.

 Executive Vice President elect Funk said, "We weren't expecting the big off-campus turnout, and around six o'clock we went tearing around to the residence halls trying to get some more people out."
 Tom Dersch, who ran unopposed for re-election as financial vice president, said, "It's tedious work running a campaign and it's easy for conflicts to arise, but we didn't have any. We felt like a team. Each of us pulled hard for the other."
 "Several factors contributed to our win. It's a combination of efforts that put together our substantial victory," Dersch explained.

 "It's a matter of others being pleased with our previous efforts. We campaigned hard and got tremendous response from student groups. Twenty-four percent of the students voted. That's a large turnout," Dersch added.
 Buckley said, "We really pushed people to get out and vote. I thought it would be a lot closer but our friends really pulled through for us."
 Dean Prokos, who was elected collective bargaining representative, said, "I was shaky but I had a lot of help and support from the officers and senators. The reason I won was my past experience and involvement in student Senate.

 "I didn't go door to door but I was hoping the informed students who knew of my experience would get out and vote. I'm glad they did," Prokos added.

Football fever heads west,

Although the members of Eastern's football team had to spend their Thanksgiving vacation holiday away from home, the results were worth the effort.

Playing in the first post-season football game in Eastern's history, the Panthers Saturday rolled over the University of California-Davis 35-31 in Sacramento.

And the story is not over. Eastern Saturday will host a rematch with Youngstown State to decide which team will advance to the finals.

While in California, the gridders took the opportunity to ride the city's fabled cable cars and in the picture in the lower right the players survey the surroundings.

But a few days later, it was back to business. For linebacker Alonzo Lee, it was business as usual as he played his usual strong game and grabbed a crucial interception with two minutes late in the game.

Like most of his teammates, Lee often raised the "No. 1" symbol as the game neared completion, as seen in the picture to the left.

After the game, Lee receives a congratulatory embrace from Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin in the picture to the right. Marvin, other athletic officials and the wives of the coaches voiced their support throughout the game, as seen in the picture at the bottom.

McGhee found some time to taste some fresh crab meat Wednesday evening when the team journeyed to San Francisco after practice, as seen in the adjacent picture.

Television screen plans for LSD still 'in limbo'

by Lindy Charnesky

Plans to install a five-foot television screen projection unit in the lounge of the Lincoln-Stevenson-Douglas complex are still "in limbo" Douglas Hall Counselor Gene Ritchie said Sunday.

Ritchie said the LSD Coordinating Council voted to purchase the television unit, estimated to cost $2,600, and is still waiting to receive offers from three vendors.

Money to pay for the TV unit will come from "anticipated desk revenue," Stevenson Counselor Keith Kohianzo said.

Desk revenue includes sandwich and pizza sales, he added.

Kohanzo said that the housing and business offices will lend the $2,600 to the complex to purchase the unit.

Ordinarily the desk revenues would go to dorm activities and to buy desk equipment, Kohanzo said.

Ritchie said if the Coordinating Council does accept a bid for the unit it must decide where and how the TV will be stored to prevent vandalism.

"The big stopper would be how to maintain the unit," he said.

"We would have to worry about people gouging out the screen or tearing it up," Ritchie added.

AIS adviser to be named

A new foreign student adviser will be chosen within two weeks from a field of three candidates, Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams said Monday.

The three candidates were chosen from among 29 applicants by a screening committee chaired by Elmer Pullen of the financial aids office.

The screening committee, which also consisted of three international students, two faculty members, four administrators and a student senator, is scheduled to interview the third of the selected applicants Tuesday.

The three names will then be submitted to Williams, who will assist President Daniel E. Marvin in making the final decision, Pullen said.

The half-time position has been vacant since the retirement of adviser Enlaee Anderson in September.

The job was given part-time status six years ago due to a cut-back in the university's budget, Williams said.

U.S. troops move out of Guyana

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) - A U. S. military task force, its gruesome task at Jonestown completed, began moving out of Guyana Sunday.

Black smoke hung over the airport here as the troops burned uniforms, boots, tents and anything else that might have been contaminated by the decaying bodies at the site of the mass suicide-murder.

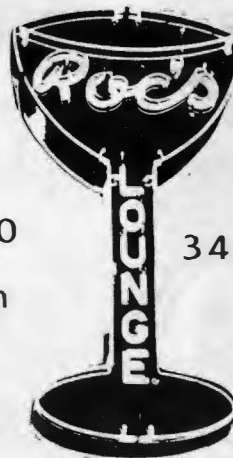

The contingent's commander, Col. William I. Gordon, said a total of 909 bodies were found at Jonestown. The count had fluctuated slightly from Saturday, when the last corpses were removed and officials said 912 were found.

The total dead in the week-end of violence stands at 918, including Rep. Leo J. Ryan, D-Calif., and four others killed in an ambush at the Port Kaituma airstrip, and four cult members murdered at the sect's Georgetown headquarters.

The body of one Guyanese was reported among the dead in Jonestown. The identity of this victim, the first known non-American among the bodies, was not known.

The evacuation of bodies was finished Saturday night, with the departure of the last American C-141.

Grapplers 'fare well' in no-score meet

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Steering clear of unfavorable weather conditions, Eastern's Grapplers rerouted their scheduled trip to the Oklahoma Open and headed instead to the Southern Open in Chattanooga, Tenn. for a nonscoring meet this weekend.

Rounding out the Division I dominated event with four semi-finalists and two finalists, the Panthers "faired real well" head wrestling coach Ron Clinton commented. "I'm real pleased with the performance and I think if they had kept score we would have placed 4th or 5th."

Weighing the rather steep competition and the Panther performance, Clinton remarked, "Anytime you can place in the top five with 15 Division I schools, you're doing pretty well."

Ending up on top for Eastern was heavyweight Dave Klemm who beat Herald Smith, a world class wrestler from the University of Kentucky, with a 9-6 mark and was also awarded for having the most falls in the least amount of time throughout the tournament.

Bob McGuinn at 134 lbs. was the other Eastern finalist who finished in second place behind Jerry Kelly of Oklahoma State in a 9-8 match.

Bob Holland dethroned Jeff Cutler of Florida University 11-3 to take a third place title. Jim McGinley finished 6th in semi-final competition, dethroned 8-4 by Mike Kuzioia from

Semi-final playoff bowl tickets on sale

Tickets for Saturday's Eastern Illinois-Youngstown State NCAA II Semifinal Playoff Bowl will go on sale at noon Tuesday at the University Union Box Office. Kickoff is at 11:30 a.m. CST.

Three thousand reserved seats will be on sale available to anyone at $5 per ticket.

Students only may purchase a special $2 ticket, but all students must present a validated ID with that ticket when entering the stadium, Eastern athletic officials said.

"Those persons who had regular season tickets will be able to purchase reserved seat tickets at the assistant director's office in Lantz Gym," said Mike Mullaly, athletic director.

"These tickets will also go on sale at noon Tuesday but will be held only until 5 p.m. Wednesday," he added.

Telephone orders will not be accepted, either in the University Union or at the Lantz Building.

Cagers to host Millikin

by Brad Patterson

The Eastern Panthers will be trying to answer some questions Monday as they host Millikin University at 7:30 p.m. at Lantz Gym.

Head coach Don Eddy must settle on the right combination of players from his array of talented players.

"Right now we are not close to getting a combination," Eddy said. "The first few games will go a long way toward getting that combination."

The Millikin encounter will be the first of three home contests for the Panthers this week, after Monday they host Missouri-St. Louis Wednesday and take on Southwest Missouri on Saturday.

Eddy will decide from a number of players to get his starting lineup.

Junior Lance Jones and sophomore Mike Pickens have the inside track at the guard positions, although Eddy stresses that the two are not assured of those spots.

"Delbert Miller (a freshman from Columbus, Ohio), Chuck Turk, Dave LeTourneau, and Jimi Oldham all have played well, and all do different things well," Eddy said. "I expect all of them to play some and contribute."

Up front, the Panthers are loaded. Returning starters Craig DeWitt and Dennis Mumford should team with sophomore Jim Williams in the starting lineup. Williams, from Monticello, sat out last season with a knee injury, but has responded well in the pre-season workouts.

"Williams is a complete player," Eddy said. "He is good defensively, and a good rebounder, and is a real smart ball player."

The Panther depth should prove to be a strong point all season. Among those who will come off the bench will be Tom Thigpen, a part-time starter last season, burly Jeff Jacob to add power, freshman Ricky Robinson and senior Mike Stumpe will all combine to give the Panthers maneuverability off the bench.

The Big Blue of Millikin enter this season with four starters back, including leading scorer from a year ago, Dave Pistorius. Pistorius threw in 14.5 points per game last season, and will be a factor in Monday's contest.

Also returning for Millikin are 6-foot-5 junior Mark Kreke, a 12.3 scorer a year ago, 6-foot-5 senior Rich Rames, and 6-foot-2 guard Gary Jackson.

"We always seem to have tough games with Millikin," Eddy said. "We beat them by three points last season (89-86 in Decatur) and they always have players who are fundamentally sound."

Eddy looks for the Big Blue to play a controlled type of game in Lantz on Monday.

"They will use a patterned style of offense and look for the good shot," Eddy said. "If we don't play well, they will give us a lot of trouble."

Payton and Harper lead Bears over Tampa Bay; set team mark

CHICAGO (AP)—Roland Harper and Walter Payton led a crushing ground attack and combined for 249 yards Sunday to power the Chicago Bears to a 14-3 victory over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in a National Football League game.

Harper picked up 144 yards in 25 carries and Payton added 105 in 27 carries while the Bear defense sacked Tampa Bay quarterback Mike Rae eight times for a total of 61 yards in losses.

The result left both teams with 5-8 records and tied for third place with Detroit in the Central Division of the National Conference.

Tampa Bay, although outplayed, held a 3-0 lead at the half on a 44-yard field goal by Neil O'Donoghue. But the Bears rallied in the second half to score touchdowns on 3-yard runs by Payton and quarterback Bob Avellini.

Payton put the Bears ahead late in the third quarter on his 3-yard slant which capped an 80-yard drive highlighted by Avellini's 20-yard pass to Greg Latta. Avellini scored on a 3-yard rollout in the fourth quarter.

Harper and Payton became the second Bear tandem in history to gain more than 100 yards each in a game. On Nov. 6, 1955, Bobby Watkins and Rick Casares also accomplished the feat in a 52-31 victory over Green Bay. Watkins carried 14 times for 115 yards and Casares 16 times for 115.

Only two other backs had gained more than 100 yards this season against the Buccaneer defense, Horace King of Detroit and Haskel Stanback of Atlanta.

Playoff win brings Panthers home for semis saw it as an advantage, especially at home.

"You bet it's an advantage for us," he said. "I think the fact that it is Youngstown will eliminate the possibility of our players letting up."

Eastern coupled together several key defensive plays and timely offensive maneuvers, preserving its winning ways and keeping alive its bid for a national football championship.

Linebacker Ray Jeske turned in his finest performance of the year, intercepting a short pass from Davis quarterback Mike Moroski and returning it 72 yards to the Aggie three-yard line.

The play set up a one-yard plunge by fullback Lonnie Denton, giving the Panthers a 14-10 lead and all the momentum they needed.

"Jeske is a real smart football player. He's been a great leader for us," Mudra said. "He works hard studying films and although he's not great physically, he's a smart player."

Trailing 10-7 late in the opening half, the Panthers Cris Larsen's blocked punt gave the Aggies excellent field position at the Eastern 31 yard line.

On the first play from scrimmage, Moroski's short square out pass was picked off by Jeske, who returned it down the sideline before being chased down at the three.

"It was just a matter of being in the right place at the right time," Jeske said. "I slipped behind the back and simply stepped in front of him."

Jeske raced down the near sideline, accepting key blocks along the way before the Aggies Jeff Zimmerman dragged him down from behind.

"(Tom) Seward threw some excellent blocks. In fact, he took two people out of the play," Jeske said. "If I wasn't so darn slow, I could have scored."

Eastern's Poke Cobb (30) runs around the left end escorted by offensive tackle Bob Norris (70). Cobb threw a 42 yard touchdown pass to Scott McGhee for the

The Panthers electrified the crowd in the opening minutes of the second quarter when Mark Campana reversed a punt and ran 72 yards untouched for a 21-10 advantage.

Following Dan DiMartino's second half kickoff, the Davis offense stalled after three plays as Aggie punter Chip Dull booted a high kick to the right side of the field.

Campana received the kick at the Eastern 28, reversed direction and followed a wall of blockers down the far sideline as a stunned Aggie specialty team watched.

"We had the play set up to be returned to the right side of the field," Campana said when asked if he reacted on his own. "We've worked a lot on that situation and it developed just right."

"I got a super block from Jeske and after I turned the corner my eyes just lit up when I saw the wall in front of me," Campana added.

Panther quarterback Steve Turk threw a pair of TD passes and runningback Poke Cobb lofted another for the other Eastern scores.

Turk's first aerial score came in the opening quarter when Scott McGhee faked Aggie cornerback Mel Byrd inside, then darted downfield for an easy 25-yard scoring play.

At the 4:53 mark of the third period Turk turned a second and 17 play into a 37-yard pass play for another Eastern TD on a screen pass to fullback Jeff Forster.

Gridders give thanks together during break

by Carl Gerdovich

SACRAMENTO, Calif. - Thanksgiving for Eastern's Panthers was a bit special and unusual, but the circumstances involved were most appropriate.

Although some 3,000 miles from home in Sacramento, Calif., members of Eastern's football team gathered to participate in a celebration which set the scene for what this team is all about -- togetherness.

Panther players, coaches and administration shared a Thanksgiving dinner, giving thanks for the success this football team has enjoyed. Approximately 20 turkeys were prepared and served for the occasion, just two days prior to the reason the Panthers were out west.

By virtue of its 9-2 record, Eastern was on hand for opening round action in this year's NCAA II football playoffs. The Panthers were matched up against the University of California-Davis' Aggies at Toomey Field on Saturday afternoon.

The Aggies had been in the playoffs before, whereas Eastern had never experienced post-season play. Perhaps one reason why Panther head coach Darrell Mudra was just happy to be there.

Mudra, Athletic Director Mike Mully and President Daniel E. Marvin had a few words of praise for the success of the Panthers while Mudra reminded his players that special thanks were in order.

Middle linebacker Alonzo Lee took an opportune moment in leading the team in prayerful grace that closed with "and finally, Lord, we give thanks for all the good things that have happened to us because we know there are a lot of other people who'd love to be in our shoes."

The conclusion of grace brought a start to the meal as all enjoyed a typical Thanksgiving meal while a local camera crew from a Sacramento television station panned the crowd and talked to various players about their feelings of being away from home.

Panthers on TV

The Eastern-Youngstown State NCAA semi-final playoff game will be regionally televised by the ABC Television network.

Eastern Sports Information Director Dave Kidwell said Sunday that an ABC public relations official said that the 11:30 a.m. contest will be shown in selected parts of the Midwest.

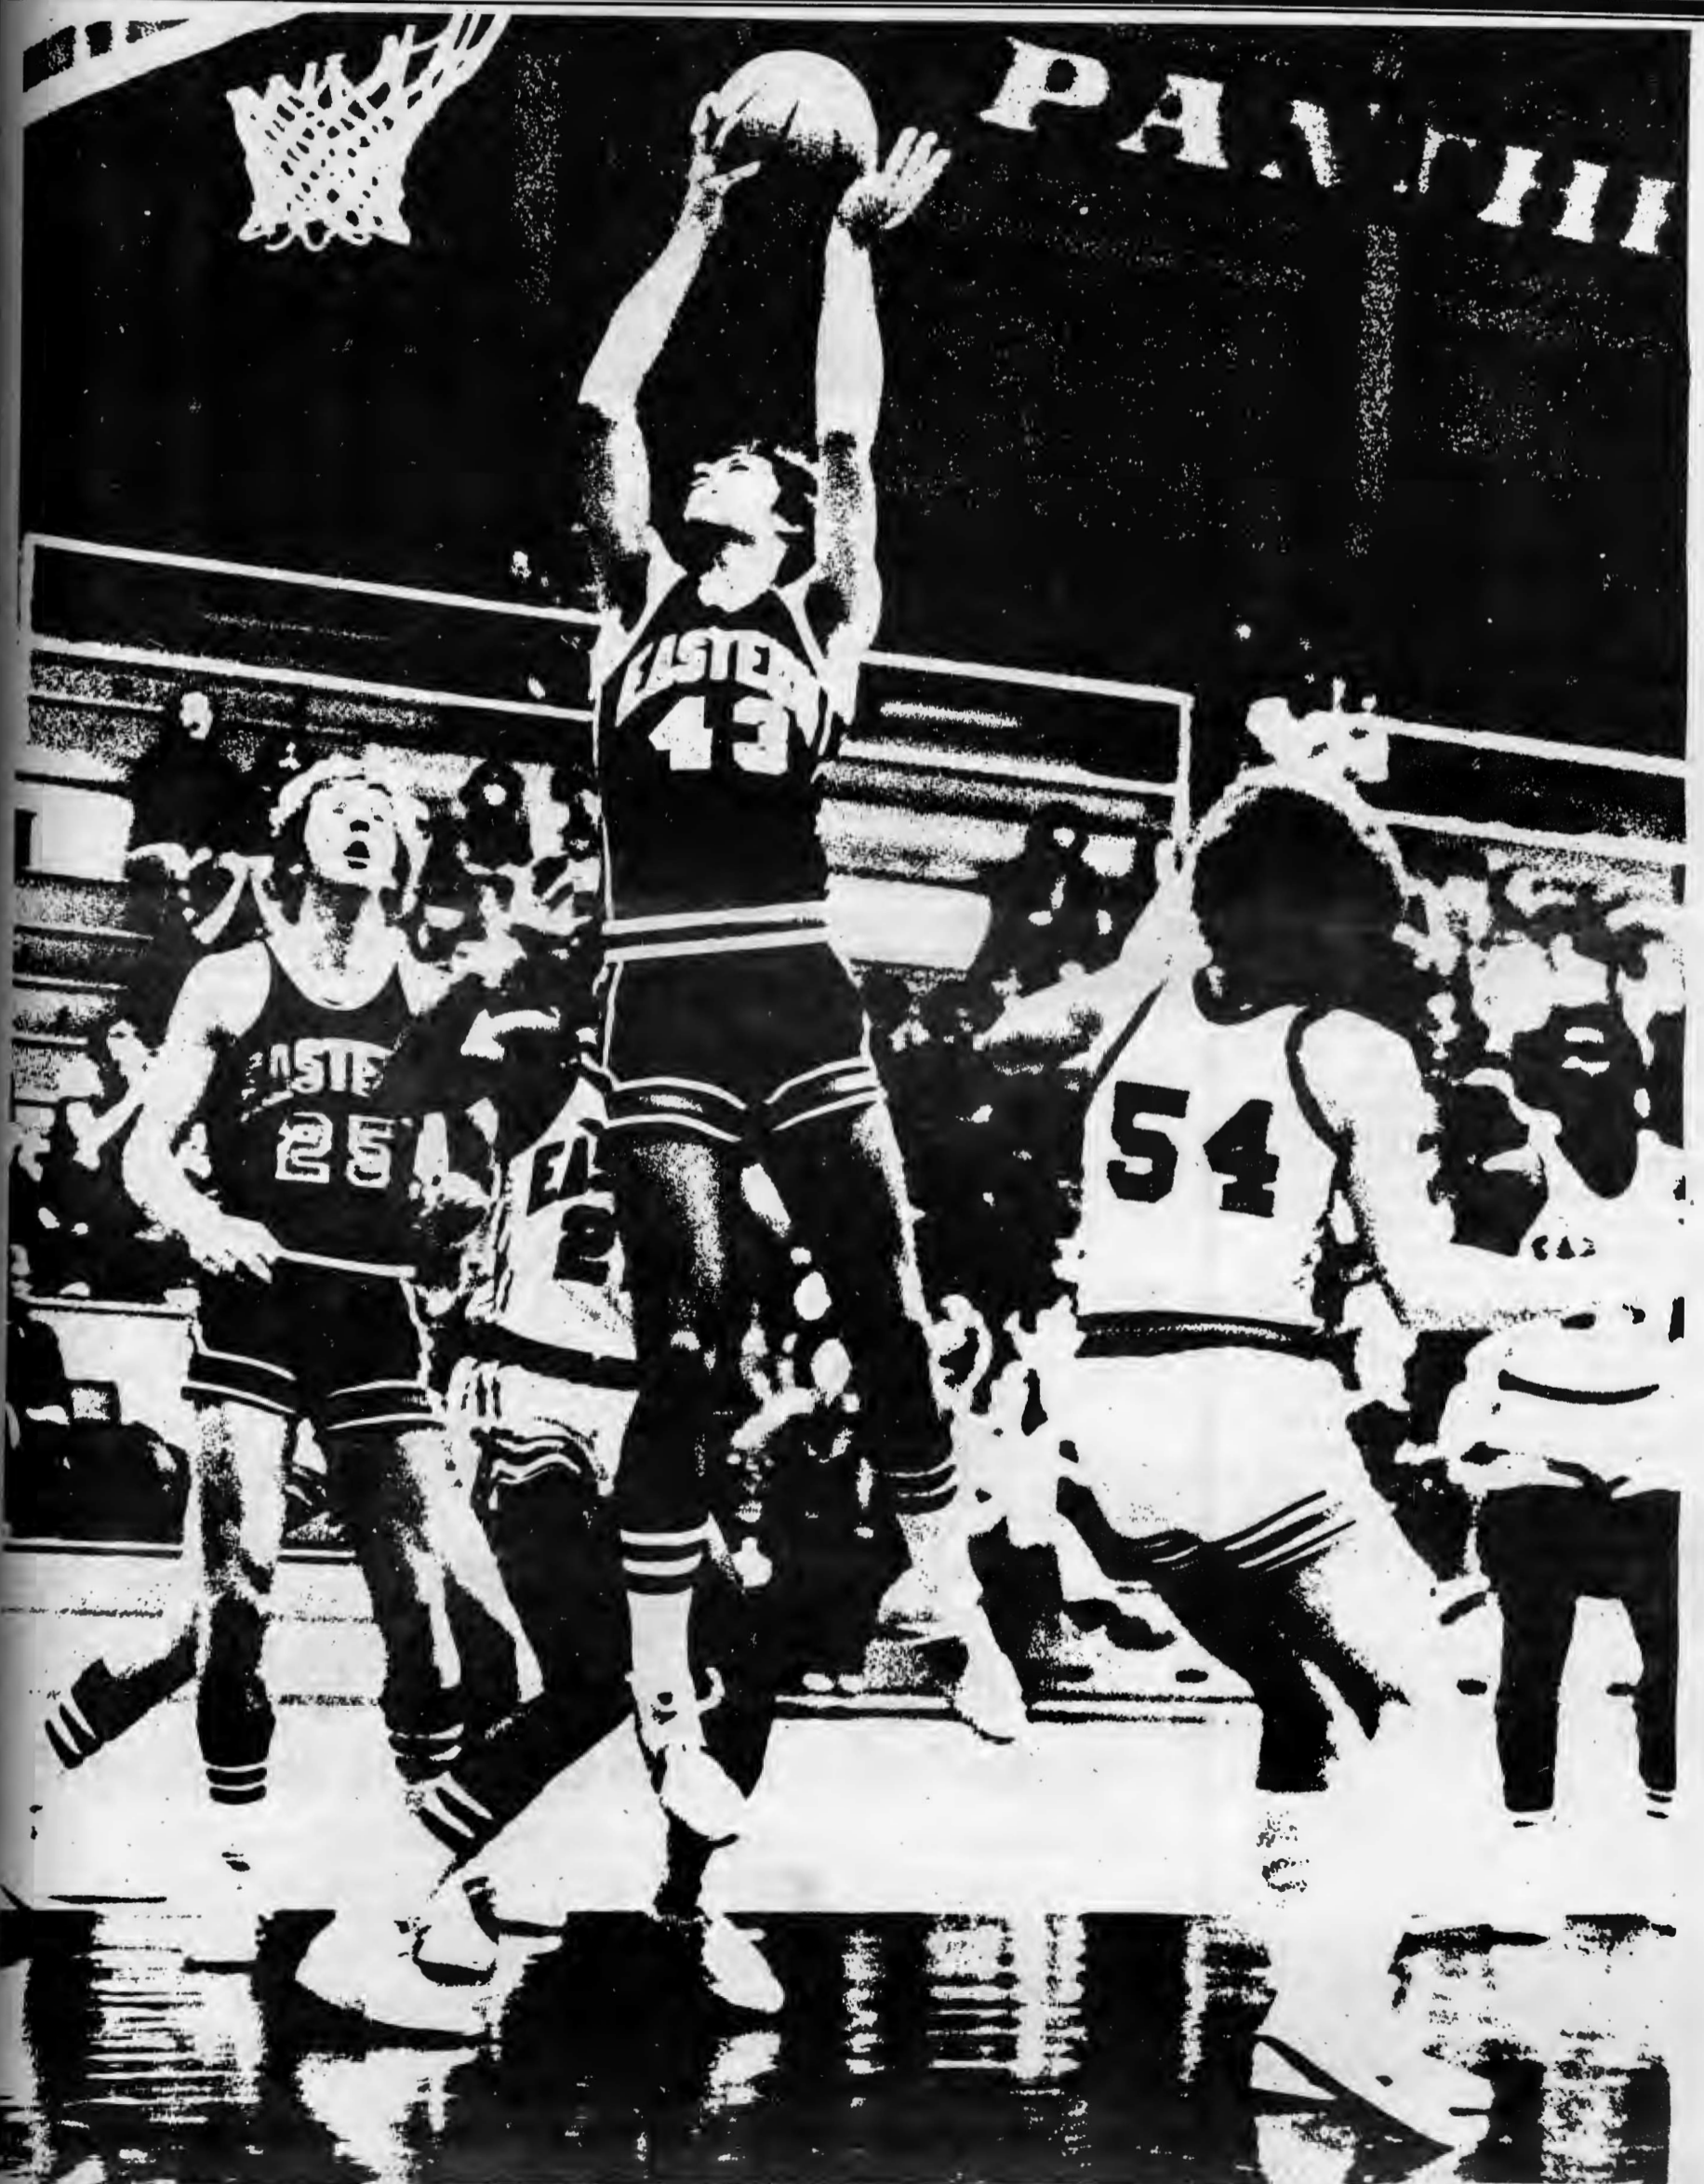

"ABC will announce Monday what market the game will shown in," Kidwell said.

The network will be televising the Army-Navy game nationally as the second part of the program, with four regional games, the Eastern-Youngstown game included, as the opener game.

Supporting roar comes from Panther crowd

by Carl Gerdovich

If there is anyone at Eastern who believes that basketball is not a game of total involvement, this is not the place to be.

Eastern basketball stems from involvement, not only by the players themselves, but also from fans whose role has gained them national recognition.

Monday's basketball home opener against Millikin University will give the Eastern fans an opportunity to voice their role in the program again in helping the Panthers seek their fourth consecutive post-season appearance.

For the last few years, Eastern's basketball program has concerned itself with fan involvement unmatched by any other Division II school. The fan's role has brought both praise and criticism, but it's greatly appreciated by Eastern coaches and players alike.

"The fans are a big advantage to us," Panther head coach Don Eddy said. "They can put a very emotional strain on opposing players."

"The home crowds here are tremendous and it hurts us in our road games, where crowds are a lot smaller," Eddy said.

Panther fans, who have led the nation in Division II attendance for the last three years, have filled Lantz gym numerous times and should turn out in record crowds again this season as Eastern promises an exciting campaign in the Mid-Continent Conference.

Eastern basketball has averaged over 4,000 fans per game in recent years and last season sent 1,500 screaming supporters to the NCAA Division II finals in Springfield, Mo.

It was at the conclusion of the NCAA's third place game when Eastern Athletic Director Mike Mullally held up a sign reading "Eastern fans are number one," as the crowd reacted with a roaring approval.

However, not everyone appreciated Eastern's fan support.

Following the semi-final game at the national tournament which saw Wisconsin-Green Bay defeat the Panthers, Green Bay coach Dave Buss said "I'm glad we finally beat Eastern and their horseshit fans."

That comment brought national attention, but again, the Eastern players and coaches backed the fans in recognizing their role in the program.

"The fans play a role that's beneficial to us. At times it fires up opposing teams who are not used to playing in front of big crowds. The home advantage really helps us," Eddy said.

"There's also more pressure at home. People expect a person to play well," Eddy added.

Craig DeWitt, a top returnee for the Panthers this season, enjoys the crowds, finding them both beneficial and working against a player.

"The fans' support motivates a guy to play well. The big crowds help us, especially on the road," DeWitt said.

"The fans are quick to pat you on the back, but they're also quick to criticize when a guy does bad. Their yelling just makes you want to play better," DeWitt said.

Returning guard Mike Pickens, who like DeWitt, played a leading role in the Panther surge a year ago also appreciated the fans saying, "the crowd definitely helps us play a little better."

Eddy searching for best combination

by Brad Patterson

This year's edition of the Eastern Panthers will have a new look, and though the look will be new, the results could very well be the same.

Last season's 22-10 team culminated a late season surge by finishing third in the nation in the NCAA Division II finals. That team was paced by backcourt standouts Charlie Thomas, Derrick Scott, and William Patterson, all three-year regulars.

This year's squad appears to have both talent and experience on the forward line, as opposed to last season, when Eastern started two freshmen and a sophomore up front.

The guards are talented again this season, but young. Lance Jones, a 6-foot-4 junior from Normal, was a part-time player last season, while his probable running mate Mike Pickens was a 6-foot-1 starting forward a year ago.

"Our guards are not a weak point, but an unknown quality," said Eastern head coach Don Eddy. "We have a lot of people who can play, so these guys will have a lot of competition."

Among those pressuring Jones and Pickens are freshman Delbert Miller, sophomores Chuck Turk and Jimi Oldham, along with sophomore Tony Hamstead.

"All seven of those players could see a lot of playing time this season," Eddy said. "They all have talent, and all deserve a chance to play. I like happy players and they have to play to play happy."

If it looks like a tough job for Eddy to mesh the seven guards into the right combination, then the front court appears to be even more difficult to figure.

No less than eight players will see action up front for the Panthers this season, leading to the assumption that Eastern will be more inside oriented defensively than it was a year ago.

"We will rely more on our inside people on offense naturally more so than we did a year ago," Eddy said. "We have a lot of people who can score inside."

Among those who can score are returning starters Dennis Mumford and Craig DeWitt. Mumford, a 6-foot-9 sophomore started every game as a freshman, and as the season wore on improved his game tremendously.

Mumford has gotten a little longer, and he is jumping better than he did last year," Eddy said. "He is playing very well right now."

Also back is another starter, Craig DeWitt, who averaged 11.5 a year ago. DeWitt, a 6-foot-8 junior, is counted on for more scoring this campaign, along with rebounding and defense.

The third starting position is up for grabs between Tom Thigpen and Jim Williams.

Thigpen was a walk-on last season after competing for the Eastern football team. Thigpen, a 6-foot-5 sophomore from Thorton, led the team in field goal percentage last season, although he only appeared in half the games.

"Now that Tom is concentrating on basketball, it should really help his game," Eddy said.

Williams sat out last season with a knee injury, but has responded to treatment, and is at full strength. Eddy is high on the freshman from Monticello, and looks for a big contribution from Williams this season.

Other contenders of front line duty will be sophomore Jeff Jacob, and freshman Ricky Robinson.

Jacob appeared in all but two games last season, and made valuable contributions off the bench. Robinson, a 6-foot-6 All-Stater from Aurora East lacks just game experience to be a valuable asset for this Panther team.

Adding depth to the Panthers up front is senior Mike Stumpe and sophomore Leigh Hankins. A measuring stick of how deep the Panthers really are is the fact that Stumpe, the only senior on the team, started seven games last season.

"We have a lot of players, and a lot of talent," Eddy said. "We are relatively experienced for a young team, and I feel really good about our depth."

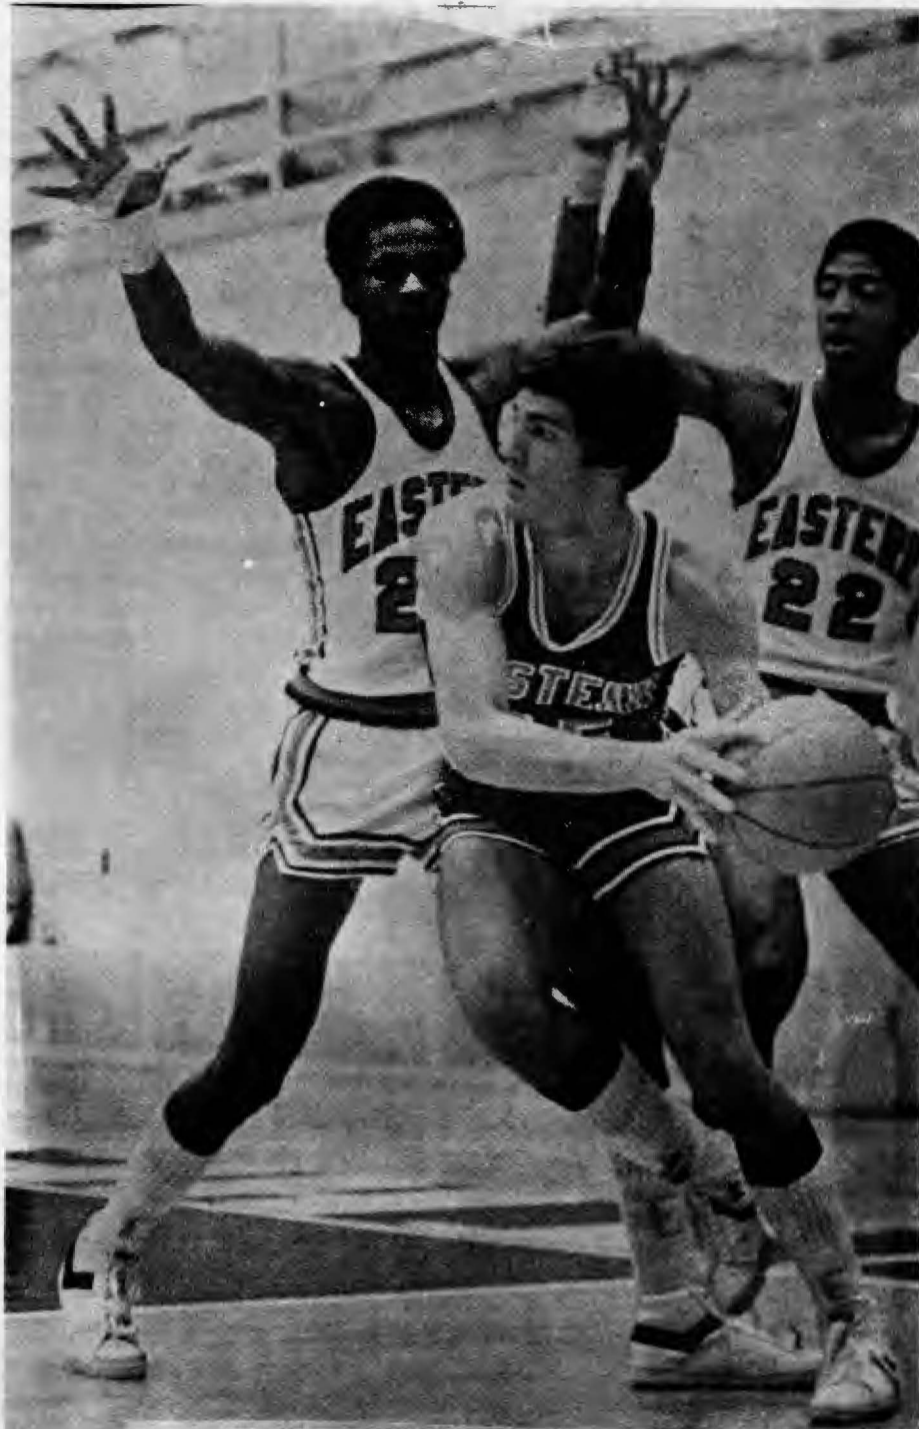

"We will be a physically strong team," Eddy continued, "and potentially a good shooting team."

Concerning the team's chief weakness, Eddy jokingly replied, "coaching."

"We really don't have a glaring weakness, although our defense is a question mark at times," Eddy said.

The overall performance of the Panthers in 1978-79 depends mainly on whether or not Eddy can get the right combination together, and that combination can jell.

"Our goal is just to play as well as we can," Eddy said. "If we can do that, we'll be a good team."

Eastern's Chuck Turk is double teamed by James Oldham and Ricky Robinson (22) in the Panther's intrasquad game. Turk and Oldham will see action at the guard positions, while Robinson is a prime candidate for a forward spot. (News photo by Craig Stockel)

Jones, Pickens slated to lead 1979 drive for trip to nationals

by Matt Davidson

The success of this year's Eastern basketball team will depend upon a number of factors. The key to the Panthers could very well rest in the hands of Mike Pickens and Lance Jones.

The Panthers are coming off a banner year in which they took 3rd place in the NCAA Division II championships in Springfield, Mo.

Gone from that team are Charlie Thomas, Derrick Scott, and William Patterson who gave Eastern backcourt strength for four years. Because of their graduation Jones and Pickens are going to be called on to pick up the slack.

Pickens was a starting forward on last year's team, but will be asked this year to fill one of the vacant guard spots. Jones, a part-time player last year, is a leading candidate to quarterback the ballclub this season.

"I learned quite a bit from Thomas and Scott since I had a lot of sitting time the last couple of years," Jones said. "I feel I can be a positive influence on the team."

On the other hand Pickens will be making the switch even though he has never played guard before in his basketball career.

"The change from forward to guard has been tough. I never have handled the ball before," Pickens said. "In high school I always played inside."

Eastern head coach Don Eddy thinks that Pickens will work out fine in the backcourt.

"There is nothing that Mike Pickens cannot do on a basketball court," Eddy said.

Even though many observers think that the guard slots are a big question mark, according to Eddy the talent is there.

"I don't think it is our weak spot but more our unknown spot," he said. "We have seven guys who can play."

Although Pickens and Jones appear to have the inside track on the open spots, they are being pressured by other talented players.

Junior swingman Jimi Oldham, sophomore Chuck Turk, and freshman Delbert Miller all should see considerable playing time this year.

This year's team is different from last in the experience of the front line. Last year the front line was young and relatively inexperienced, while the guards were seasoned veterans; however, this year the situation is reversed with the experience being on the front line.

The top candidate for front line work for Eddy are sophomores Craig DeWitt, Dennis Mumford, and Tom Thigpen. All of these performers saw considerable playing time last year and are going to be counted upon to be the nucleus of the ballclub under the basket.

DeWitt, a 6-foot-8 junior forward, will be called upon to pick up some of the scoring slack, which is needed due to the loss of Thomas and Scott.

"My height is going to help some," DeWitt said. "I know it is an advantage for my shooting. I also have more confidence in my shot now," he said.

"Although Charlie was a major factor in scoring, this year it will be more evenly spaced and distributed more widely," he said.

According to DeWitt, he will be used more around the perimeter to take advantage of his shooting range. "With Dennis and Jeff Jacobs inside, I can help outside some. However, I will move inside if we get in foul trouble," he added.

The center is 6-foot-9 Dennis Mumford. Mumford started most his freshman year at the pivot position, so the year of experience should make the middle a strong aspect of the Panther's inside game.

According to Mumford it took awhile to get adjusted to the style of college basketball.

"At the beginning of last season it was all different," he said. "However, after I saw what I could do, I felt more comfortable."

Mumford cited some aspects of his game he felt were much improved from last year.

"I worked a lot on weights this summer so I feel stronger. Also I have better jumping ability this year," he said.

Akron trying for good start

By Brad Patterson
 Although the Akron Zips are coming off a very disappointing 9-18 season a year ago, head coach Ken Cunningham is optimistic about the upcoming year.
 Cunningham's optimism is well-founded, as the Zips return ten returnees from a year ago, including four starters.
 "We did not have a good season last year, needless to say," Cunningham said. "But with what we have returning, and the freshman class we have brought in, we should be pretty good."
 The main reasons behind Akron's hopes are seniors John Britton and Reggie Hannah.
 Britton, a 6-foot-5 forward, has led the Zips in scoring the past two seasons. He pumped in 19.2 points a contest last season.
 Hannah, a 6-foot-1 guard dealt out assists last year while scoring at a 13.2 clip.
 Two 6-foot-6 sophomores round out the list of returning starters. Joel Price scored in double figures 16 times last season, was also Akron's top rebounder.

 Zane Giles started the last half of the season, and ended the campaign with a 6.5 average.
 "This is a good nucleus to begin with," said Cunningham, now in his third year at Akron. "These guys all have experience, and they took their lumps last season and are ready to give some out this year."
 Other returnees expected to play key roles this season are Marty Wise, Rick Johnson and Fred Grigsby.
 All three of the aforementioned players are guards, with Wise the most highly thought of in Akron circles. Wise, a 6-foot-3 sophomore, played in 19 games last season as a freshman, and Cunningham looks to him as a possible sixth man.
 "Marty got a lot of playing time last season, and that experience is invaluable. He will get a good chance at a starting position," Cunningham said.
 Senior center Rick Kaven adds a bit of depth up front, although depth is one of Cunningham's chief worries.
 "We will be weak off the bench,"

Cunningham said. "The lack of depth will hurt us more than once this season."
 If lack of depth is the Zip weakness, then quickness and scoring ability will be the top advantages, according to the coach.
 "We will be awful quick, both on offense and defense," Cunningham said. "We have people who can score a lot of points, I just hope we have somebody who can stop the opposition."
 As far as newcomers are concerned, Akron is not looking at any freshman as a program savior. However, Rod Leighty, a 5-foot-11 guard, averaged 21 points a game in high school, and may earn a starting job.
 Six-foot-eight center Jerry Abbey adds a bit of depth, as does 6-foot-3 swingman Ryland Braxton.
 Cunningham knows that a good December start is crucial to his ball club, and if that does occur, and the Zips get a few games and some confidence under their belt, the tradition of winning Akron Zips basketball could return in 1978-79.

Youngstown to bring young team forward

By Bill Jeffers
 Who is the third winningest active college basketball coach and still going strong?
 A knowledgeable fan might guess Roger Phelps of Notre Dame, or Bobby Knight of Indiana, or maybe Eastern's Don Eddy. However, they would be wrong.
 The man is Dom Rosselli, who over the last 34 years has compiled a 10-330 record as the head coach of the Youngstown State Penguins.
 Last year's squad finished 16-9, and missed the Great Lakes Regional.
 The main reason for last season's success was 6-foot-8 center Jeff Covington, who set YSU career scoring records and completed his senior season as the nation's sixth leading scorer and fourth best rebounder.
 Covington gained many honors in the past season, including playing in the Pizza Hut Classic, and being selected Basketball Weekly's College Division Player of the Year.

"No question that Jeff made the past four years successful ones," Rosselli said. "He made things pretty easy for me."
 The freshmen recruits must produce this season if YSU is to have another representative team. YSU also lost two other starters to graduation. Covington, Frank Andrews, and Gerald Parks were all three year lettermen, and were instrumental in leading the Penguins to a 74-34 record the past three seasons, and two NCAA tournament bids.
 Rosselli is looking for a leader among his recruits, and he has some talent to choose from.
 Dave Ziegler, Ohio's Class AA 'Player of the Year,' is one top notch freshman, as is Bruce Alexander, who was voted to the All-American Cage Classic's first team.
 Cleveland's Ricardo Ragland averaged 23 points and 15 rebounds per game while gaining All-League and All-City recognition, and possibly the cream of the crop is Robert Carter, an Erie, Pa. schoolboy star. Carter poured in 17 points per contest while leading his team to a 20-7 record.

 "Carter will probably play point guard because of his quickness," Rosselli said.
 Another recruit is JC transfer 6-foot-8 center Mitchell Atwood, who played a year at Cumberland, Tenn. Junior College. However, Atwood will not be eligible until the second semester.
 It is probably good that YSU has recruited a good freshman class. Rosselli said that four of the five starters may be freshmen.
 "We'll have to use the freshmen, we just don't have enough back from last year who could help us as starters," Rosselli said.
 Only two starters return from a year ago, 6-foot-5 forward Steve Miodrag, who averaged 5.0 rebounds per game, and 5-foot-9 guard Joe Votino, who had 111 assists in the 19 games he played.

 Rosselli admits that this might be the year his club takes their lumps.
 "This is a tough basketball league, and without Covington I guess this is one of those years when you talk about teaching character," Rosselli said.

Eastern trip to NCAA finals great panthers, fans; return trip in '79?

Here are just a few of the scenes from last season's NCAA Division II national basketball championships in Springfield, Mo. Clockwise from upper right, Eastern fans storm the court after the Panther's win over Florida Tech in the place game; Freshman forward Tom Thigpen shoots from the baseline in semi-final contest with Wisconsin-Green Bay; Two more freshmen, Mike Jacobs (40) and Jeff Jacob (50) battle for a rebound in the consolation game; Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin enjoys a victory cigar in the Panther dressing room after the tournament while Athletic Director Mike Mullally also enjoys the proceedings; The many faces of Eastern head coach Don Eddy: responsive during the semi-final game, upset about something in the Florida Tech game, and finally, being congratulated after the consolation victory; Rick Scott (14), now graduated, dribbles into a Jacob pick during the third encounter. (News photos by Craig Stockel)

Thigpen, Jones return to assist Panther attack

Getting a head start this year is a-foot-5 forward Tom Thigpen. Last year Thigpen was a member of the Eastern football team, and then coming out for the basketball team behind schedule.

Although he was a walk-on and behind everyone else last year, by the end of the campaign he was a starting forward. Thigpen believes this year he is better prepared for basketball since he is not out on the gridiron.

"Coming from football last year I wasn't in the right shape, so now I feel better and I'm not so stiff."

"This year I have had a chance to learn to play with everybody and got a chance to learn the basics," Thigpen said.

According to Thigpen the Panthers will be the almost opposite of last year.

"We will be more inside oriented due to Charlie Thomas's departure," he said. "This year everybody has to be a leader."

According to Jones the deep and experienced front line is going to make it easier for the guards.

"Our inside game is much more experienced and with the added depth, we can play about anybody," he said.

Jones said that he would have to be one of the leaders from the guard position.

"I am going to have to keep things organized and stay intent throughout the games," he said. Although Jones admitted he wasn't real quick, he said, "I can compensate by playing intelligently."

Pickens also feels that he will have to give the team some leadership.

"Last year Charlie was a leader and all of the younger players looked up to him. They listened and watched what he did," Pickens said. "This year I'll have to do the right things, so the younger players will know how to react."

Tom Thigpen goes high to jam a shot in a Panther practice session. Thigpen will be one of the players fighting for a starting position up front. (News photo by Rich Bauer)

As far as scoring is concerned, Pickens admitted that he did place that high on his priorities.

"I don't care much about scoring, but if I'm hot I'll shoot. But if someone else on the team is hot I'll try to get them the ball," he said.

Jones and Pickens are definitely on the hot seat, particularly early in the season, when the memories of Charlie Thomas and Derrick Scott are fresh in the minds of Eastern fans.

MCC predicts Panther cagers to take first in conference

Eastern basketball fans better hope that the Mid-Continent Conference's basketball coaches, athletic directors, and sports information directors are not as incorrect concerning Eastern in basketball as the league has in football.

The group met in early November at the loop's headquarters in Green Bay, Wis. and picked the Panthers as the top team in the conference.

However, the league also picked the Panther football team to finish last in the MCC, and instead Eastern turned in a 9-2 third place MCC finish, and a place in the NCAA Division II playoffs.

UNI must contend with tough schedule, foes

by Mike Parratto

Coming off their best record in eight years, the University of Northern Iowa expects to have its best team in a long time. The results, however, may not show in the Panthers won-lost record.

U.N.I., 15-12 last year under 6th year Head Coach Jim Berry, faces a tough schedule this year both in the Mid-Continent Conference and outside the league.

"The MCC is a much stronger league than the North Central Conference (the loop the Panthers were in last season). Every team possesses high-caliber talent, something that the NCC did not."

Among the players Berry is counting on is Ron Lemons, a six-foot seven senior who averaged 18.0 per game last season. Lemons, an all-conference player and All-American candidate, led the team in scoring and rebounding. The Des Moines native was also on the North Central Conference Tournament team.

Another senior, Mark Long, who has started since his freshman year, is titled "Mr. Hustle" by Berry. Only 5-10, Long dished out a record 144 assists for the Panthers last season.

The other three starters will all be sophomores.

Six-foot eight center Bill Jones is counted on by Berry to improve his 9.0 average of last season.

"Jones has put on some weight and has worked real hard over the summer. I look for him to be a key both offensively and defensively."

Joining Jones in the starting lineup will be sophomores Tony Haupert (6-7) and Rod Underwood (6-2), an Oak Park native. Senior Mike Kemp is also expected to see action at guard.

A newcomer to the North Iowa team will be freshman Rod Hadley, a six-foot three guard from Minneapolis, Minn. Hadley, who made some All-American teams in high school, is also out for football.

Berry said "Hadley has a lot of talent and could help us this year if Stan Sherriff (U.N.I. football coach) doesn't get him killed this fall."

Coach Berry, with a 43-91 record, contends that his Panthers can be competitive in the MCC if a few things fall into place.

Berry sees no problem with the U.N.I. offense, as he said, "We have some people who can put the ball in the basket."

The problem with the Panthers according to Berry is defense. "If we can play defense then we can get the job done...last year we had trouble guarding our lunch."

'Different' Leathernecks picked 2nd in MCC

by Keith Palmgren

The Western Illinois Leathernecks will be trying to improve on last season's mark of 12-14, under the helm of second year coach Jack Margenthaler.

"We will be an entirely different basketball team as compared to last year," Margenthaler said. "We will be much quicker and more dedicated to winning," he said.

Margenthaler will bring back three starters. Brad Bainter is the only senior on the team, and is a 6-foot-1 forward-guard who averaged 13.3 points per game last season and has accumulated 992 career points which puts him sixth on the all-time Western scoring list.

Dwayne Banks, a 6-foot-3 sophomore from Peoria Central High School will see considerable action at the guard position. Banks averaged 11.8 points per game and finished second on the team in rebounding with a 6.1 average.

Jeff Nielsen, a 6-foot-7 center will hold down the pivot position this year for WIU. Nielsen averaged only 5.5 points in 25 game appearances, and works extremely hard," according to Margenthaler.

"But we need more scoring from this season," the coach added.

Margenthaler expects to use Randall Jones, a 6-foot-5 sophomore from Madison at one of the forward positions. Jones played in 22 games for the Leathernecks, and lettered as freshman.

"Randy is a great outside shooter, and has matured both on and off the court, and should be important to the team this year," Margenthaler said.

Two juniors that should get some playing time are Terry Barrett and Bud Doroskin. Barrett played in 16 games last year, and hit 50 percent of his field goal attempts.

Doroskin, a 6-foot-7 center, was a starter at the season's onset, but was suspended after the 10th game. Doroskin is the only one of four players suspended who has been reinstated for the 1978 season.

"Bud should be able to help this team with his quickness and height, but needs to get more game experience," Margenthaler said.

Margenthaler has recruited three freshmen with excellent potential and two junior-college transfers.

John Cordes, a 6-foot-7 freshman from DeKalb, "is a fine shooter who takes the ball to the hoop with ease. His quickness and mobility are his strengths," Margenthaler said.

Joe Dykstra, a Des Moines, Iowa native, will play at both the forward or center position. Dykstra was named to the Iowa All-State first team last season, and was listed as the state's number one player.

"Joe is a great outside shooter, who is very physical and a real student of the game," Margenthaler said.

John Washington, a 5-foot-10 freshman, will see action at the guard position for the Leathernecks. Washington was a Chicago Tribune All-State selection, as well as a Mid-State Conference pick.

Victor Law and Keith Anderson are both junior college transfers from Triton JC. Law is a needed outside shooter for the Leathernecks, while Anderson "should give us some of that much needed height inside," Margenthaler said.

One problem with the Leathernecks this season is the loss of the leading scorer for the past two seasons, David Morgan who averaged 20.8 points last year, reportedly took his own life late last May in his home town of Springfield, Ill.

"I think this year's team will be much easier to work with and we will beat some teams many feel we shouldn't," Margenthaler said. "Talent-wise we are equal to last year, and we should be strong at the guards and shooting forward.

"Also, we are very happy to be a part of the Mid-Continent Conference. All of the schools have strong, well-rounded athletic programs," the coach continued. "I do feel we will be very competitive and should be in the thick of things at the end."

Western Illinois Dwayne Banks (13) battles for a rebound in the Panther's win last December. Banks should see a lot of action for the Leathernecks this season. (News photo by Craig Stockel)

Northern Michigan may face long cage season

by Bill Jeffers

One almost has to feel sorry for the Northern Michigan Wildcats in the coming basketball season.

There are several reasons why NMU fans will have little to cheer about. The major problem is the loss of last year's statistical category leaders. Guard Gary Hubka was the leading scorer averaging 19 points per game, while forward Zachary Hicks followed with almost 14.0 a game, and topped the rebound department with 9.5 a contest.

Moving from the Great Lakes Conference into the strong Mid-Continent Conference could be the Cat's nemesis as well. They have to play Division II powerhouses Wisconsin-Green Bay twice and Division I opponents Detroit, Illinois State, and Marquette.

Head coach Glenn Brown begins his 11th year with a 137-121 record, including last year's 12-14 mark. He does have some hope because of eight returning lettermen, three transfers, and a couple of big sophomores up from the junior varsity squad.

Returning are senior guard Dave Bucklin and sophomore forward Gregg Upton, who played the second half of last season as a starter. Also back is the key 6th man, junior forward Randy Jenkins.

Emmanuel West was a third team Junior College All-American forward, and is the leading newcomer while sophomores Mark Mindeman and Dave Minceert are coming to the rescue after being on the JV club. Dave Thorpe and Marty Thallman, both guards, should help pick up the slack of the young team.

Brown is confident his players can carry the load through the team's hard nosed schedule. Of what he has to work with, a .500 season would be considered a success.

"This year's team has many goals but most importantly, if the players play as well as they are capable of then I'm satisfied," Brown said.

Recruits looking strong

'Spiderman,' 'Secretary' top freshman class

Freshman Delbert Miller is a top candidate for the point guard position for Eastern this season. (News photo by Craig Stockel)

by Chris Squire

Two of the top freshmen recruits that Eastern head coach Don Eddy landed this season are "Spiderman," and the "Secretary of the Dunk."

With the loss of Charlie Thomas, Derrick Scott, and William Patterson via the graduation route, the Panthers have added three freshmen guards and a freshman forward to bolster the roster.

Ricky Robinson, proclaimed the "Secretary of the Dunk," is a 6-foot-6 froward from Aurora East High School. He averaged 18.5 points and 14.5 rebounds per contest under the instruction of Ernie Kivisto.

Robinson comes to Eastern with some flashy credentials. He was named honorable mention All-State by both the Chicago Tribune and by the Chicago Sun-Times. He comes by his nickname naturally, as he set a school record with 25 slam dunks.

Robinson sees his job as a Panther as a strong rebounder and defensive player.

"With the depth we have anyone can come off the bench and without the loss of any advantage," Robinson said. "This keeps everyone on the team motivated to play better."

Delbert "Spiderman" Miller is a 5-foot-10 guard from Columbus, Ohio.

Miller made the state's first All-State team, and was named as an honorable mention All-American. Miller sat out last season before deciding on coming to school. He was headed for Lake Land Junior College in Mattoon, but when Laker Randy Coonce was tabbed as an Eastern assistant coach, Miller followed him there.

"The coaches here have really helped me improve my defensive play, which was my big weakness before I came here," Miller said.

Eddy labeled Miller as an "explosive, colorful type of player."

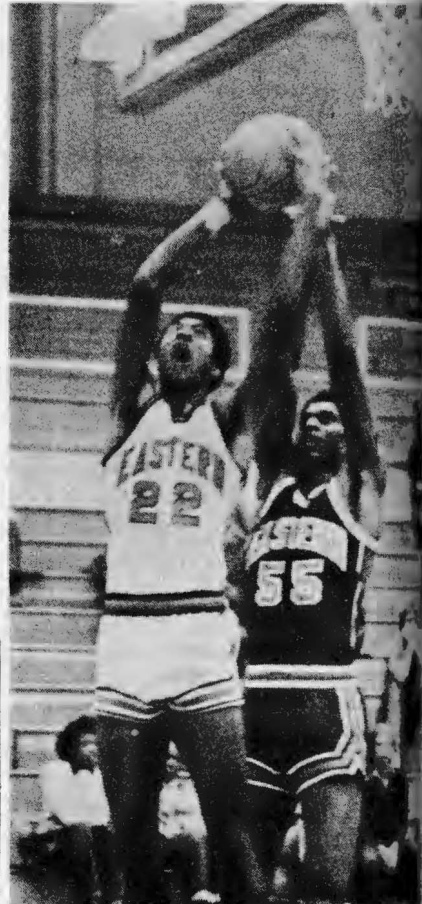

"Delbert is a good penetrator," Eddy said. "He has all the physical tools."

Both Robinson and Miller will see a lot of playing time, according to Eddy.

Two other high school standouts who will appear in an Eastern uniform this season are Granado Walton and Kurt Lorenzen, both guards from Crete-Monee High School. Both averaged over 20 points per game in their senior year in high school, leading Crete-Monee to the conference and regional championships.

Walton sees his job at Eastern as a ball handler, as does Lorenzen.

After Walton made his decision to attend Eastern, he informed his team- (See WALTON, page 11) mate, who was going to Bradley. After visiting Eastern, Lorenzen decided to make the switch.

"I preferred the coaches' style of teaching fundamental basketball, as well as teaching the execution of the plays," Lorenzen said.

All of the newcomers said that the hardest thing to adjust to was the fact that they had to prove themselves all over again after playing starring roles in high school.

Each of the recruits believe that Eastern can better last season's 22-10 record, and perhaps make a return trip to the national finals in Springfield, Mo.

Miller said that "with the returning players, and the freshman, along with determination, and hard work, there is no limit to what we can do."

Robinson put it a different way. "If everyone lives up to their capabilities, and everyone does their part, who knows what could happen."

Maybe a national championship!
