Seeley charged

Victim's parents look back at trail of tragedy

By JIM ALLEN
City editor

The parents of alleged murder victim Jane Manbeck said their daughter failed to heed warnings to avoid a boyfriend who Tuesday was charged with her strangulation death.

Both James Seeley's psychiatrist and Manbeck's parents had warned her to avoid the 30-year-old Charleston man because of "violent tendencies" he had displayed, Maurice and Dorothy Manbeck said.

Seeley, Manbeck's boyfriend for a year, was charged Tuesday with four counts of murder in connection with Manbeck's death Monday evening.

Seeley's initial hearing will be held Wednesday at 8:30 a.m. at the Coles County Courthouse.

The body of Manbeck, a part-time art student at Eastern in her junior year, was found by police at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Seeley's trailer at 1700 Adams Ave. Police were led to the scene of the crime after Seeley had called the psychiatric ward at Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center for help.

According to the victim's parents, Maurice and Dorothy Manbeck, an attendant at Sarah Bush kept Seeley on the phone while police were notified, arriving at the trailer to find Seeley still on the phone.

Charleston Police Chief Maurice Johnson confirmed the account and that Seeley was the only other person in the trailer when police arrived.

Such was the ending of Jane Manbeck's life—one strewn with high school success, yet toward the end a tragic and confusing mental illness after a car accident, her parents said.

After two semesters at Eastern, Jane, 23, decided she wanted to live with a friend in California "to find out what it was like," Mr. Manbeck said.

Then waiting at a bus stop with her friend in California, the two were struck by a car, critically injuring Jane. The freak accident on July 3, 1981, marked a turning point in her life, the Manbecks said.

After the accident, Jane spent a month in the intensive care unit of a California hospital before being released to spend another two weeks at Sarah Bush.

"She was confined to a wheelchair until Christmas of that year," Mr. Manbeck said. "But as her physical condition improved, her mental condition worsened."

She was then diagnosed by three physicians as having schizophrenia as a result of the "closed head" injuries involved in the auto accident, he said.

A spokesman at Sarah Bush's psychiatry ward refused to comment on either Seeley or Manbeck's diagnoses.

"The last few years have been very hard on her mentally," Mr. Manbeck said. "She always had such high standards that if she thought she couldn't get an 'A' in a course, she'd drop it."

Emotionally, her parents said she was ever-changing on a cycle ranging from controlled to

"problem" behavior. "I think the mental problem was affecting her seriously," he said.

Her worst year started in 1984, Mr. Manbeck said, when their daughter "was in and out of Carle, Mayo, (University of Illinois)-Chicago, Sarah Bush, Mercy (See VICTIM, page 9)

BOG presidents review proposed chancellorship

By MIKE BURKE
Staff writer

Several presidents from the Board of Governors' schools Tuesday criticized the proposed restructuring of the board.

The BOG will take action on a measure which would make the presidents of its five schools responsible to a chancellor, rather than the board itself, at the next BOG meeting Oct. 24.

With the addition of the chancellor, the current position of executive director will be eliminated.

The five BOG schools which would be affected if the restructuring is approved are Eastern, Western and Northwestern Universities, Governors State and Chicago State.

"To have a chancellor is one thing. If we were just changing the name (from executive director to chancellor), I wouldn't be opposed to that," Eastern President Stanley Rives said Tuesday. "I think this (proposal) goes further.

"The institution may lose that direct access to the board. I have to oppose anything which limits direct access of the institution to the governing board," (See BOG, page 8)

Faculty vetos change-over

The Faculty Senate Tuesday unanimously opposed the proposed change-over from an executive structure of the Board of Governors system to a chancellorship.

"After examining the draft set of amendments to the Board of Governor By-laws and Governing Policies, the Faculty Senate at Eastern Illinois University opposes the chancellorship because it would reduce the degree of diversity and autonomy currently exercised by the universities in the BOG system and weaken the role of the university president," Jayne Ozier, faculty senate chair, (See FACULTY, page 8)

Marching Blue to remain in seats

Eastern's marching band's new seat in the home stands of O'Brien Stadium has drawn some negative reactions from students, but no changes in the arrangement are being planned.

Complaints have been made about where the band is sitting, Athletic Director R.C. Johnson said. People have reported they couldn't hear or see the band.

But "our intention is to continue the arrangement," Johnson said. "In all fairness, when something is new you need to give it an honest chance before making a change."

However, if negative comments continue to come in, the band's seating arrangement will be reconsidered, Johnson said.

The decision to move the band was made this summer by the music department chairman, the band director and the athletic director.

The band sat in the south end zone and the east stands under former directors, Johnson said.

First-year Band Director Thomas Brawner said, "I think I feel, as the majority of the band does, that we are now part of the activity."

Under the previous seating arrangement, the band couldn't see what was going on in the game and often started entertaining themselves rather than getting involved in the game, Brawner said.

Brawner said he received no complaints that the band cannot be heard, but it is a physical problem.

If the band sits in the away stands or the end zone they are too far away to be heard, Brawner said, and with the band in the home stands they are facing the wrong way for the crowd to hear them.

"It's a common problem," Brawner said. In order to make up for this, the band plays the fight song twice—once toward the team, and the second time so they are facing the crowd, he said.

Mexico City clean-up continues

MEXICO CITY—Thousands fled the city Tuesday, fearing disease from polluted water and decaying bodies. Others watched rescues pull survivors from earthquake debris that had imprisoned them for days, praying to see relatives.

Workers dug and listened on ultra-sound equipment, specially trained dogs sniffed and pawed in the desperate effort to find the estimated 1500 people still buried before it's too late.

Teams digging through the rubble of an apartment building reached a 70-year-old woman, but she refused to come out "because I am naked and people are going to think I have no shame."

The latest official count put the death toll at 3000 from the two major earthquakes that struck the heart of the city last Thursday and Friday.

The city government said 7100 people were injured and 600 remained in hospitals.

Springfield gives band go-ahead

SPRINGFIELD—The heavy metal rock band AC—DC got the go-ahead to perform at the city's convention center after local officials, fearing a lawsuit, reversed an earlier decision barring the band from renting the hall.

The scheduled concert Oct. 3 came under fire from local church groups that contended that the band's song lyrics were "lewd" and "satanic."

But the Springfield Metropolitan Exposition and Auditorium Authority Board voted 6—5 Monday to approve an out-of-court settlement to avoid a lawsuit by the band and its promoter, JAM productions of Chicago.

Board attorney Bruce Stratton said the settlement includes a court order that the board rent the Prairie Capital Convention Center and, in return, the band will not seek damages from the board.

A week ago, the board vote was 5—5 on renting the hall to the band, and JAM Productions and the group said Friday that they would go to court if the board did not agree by noon Tuesdat to let them use the hall.

Tribune is printed despite strike

CHICAGO—Despite a strike by 1,042 production workers, the Chicago Tribune has printed a full edition every morning for the last two months.

A boycott by the unions has cut sales by only 2000 papers. Advertisers haven't abandoned the paper. And the three striking unions have hired a public relations firm to cary their case to a seemingly indifferent community.

"It's almost a forgotten situation," said William Boorman, a vice president for the International Typographers Union, whose 240 Tribune members went on strike July 18. Joining the ITU members were 546 pressmen and platemakers and 256 union mailers, the people who stuff inserts and get the papers on the delivery trucks.

The strike has pitted one of the nation's biggest media companies against printing craft unions.

Farm aid monies aren't in yet; proposed goal might not be met

CHAMPAIGN (AP)—The $50 million cash crop promoters once envisioned from the huge FarmAid concert on Tuesday remained far from harvested, and critics contended entertainers' politics may have offended some viewers and reduced potential contributions.

Othes said contributions from Sunday's star-studded 14-hour concert may have been reduced by other factors, including public awareness that many farmers are well-off and the diversion of attention from FarmAid to the earthquakes that rocked Mexico City.

Concet publicist Victoria Rose said a nationwide audience Sunday called 1-800-FARMAID and pledged between $8 million and $10 million.

She said that when corporate donations, mail contributions, and revenue from tickets, concessions, and a planned music video and album are added, the total could "real easily" reach the $50 million hoped for by concert organizer Willie Nelson.

However, a spokesman for the nation's largest farm organization said many farmers "were disappointed" that some of the entetainers publically endorsed a controversial farm bill by Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, which proposes increased govenment price supports.

"It was the performers who got out of hand," said Mel Woell of the Ameican Farm Bureau Federation. "Willie blew it. It could have had a more positive impact if it hadn't been politicized."

Nelson got the idea for the FarmAid show from the Live Aid concets held simultaneously on July 13 in Philadelphia and London, which has raised $58 million for starving Africans.

Nelson wants to use the money from FarmAid tp provide assistance to the nation's struggling farmers, and to call attention to their plight.

Tom Curl of Clinton, president of the Illinois chapter of the American Agriculture Movement, said, "I admire Willie Nelson and the others for having the guts to stand up for what they believe in and promoting this (Harkin's) farm bill."

But Woell and others said a number of factors besides politics may limit the cash-raising potential of FarmAid, especially when compared with Live Aid.

These included the likelihood of a smaller television audience for FarmAid, the fact that FarmAid was national rather than international in scope, the more compelling nature of the plight of starving Africans, and public awareness that many farmers are financially sound and already receive millions in commodity price supports.

FarmAid was telecast live by the Nashville Network, which transmits by cable to an estimated 25 million households. A three-hour prime-time segment was also syndicated to 156 television stations.

However, Live Aid's three-hour finale was carried live by the ABC-TV network, reaching an estimated 40 million viewers, while other telecasts sent the show around the world.

Farmer debt plan announced

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Governor Thompson on Tuesday proposed a $100 million farm—debt reorganization plan, as well a renewal of last spring's $25 million planting loan program as a short—term "helping hand" for the state's financially troubled farmers.

The Republican governor said he would ask the General Assembly to approve the programs next month, along with a $1.9 million program to provide financial advice, legal aid and family counseling to farmers.

Thompson, who had expressed doubts about state financial aid to farmers as recently as last spring, said his proposal could help as many as 2500 farmers obtain cut—rate operating loans and let as many as 500 farmers restructure their existing debt at lower interest rates.

"I believe there is a place for a rational state farm policy, and I am willing to try," he said.

Under the debt reorganization plan, the state would guarantee as much as 85 percent of a refinancing loan up to $300,000, with a bank or other lending institution guaranteeing the remaining 15 percent.

Thompson said the plan would allow farmers to refinance at interest rates as much as 2.5 percentage points below market rates. Farmers whose debts exceed 40 percent of their assets would be eligible.

The operating loan proposal, enacted as a one-time emergency measure last spring, would let farmers borrow as much as $150,000 for spring planting expenses. The state would pay half the interest, and the farmer would have five years to repay the state.

The governor's announcement came a day after Democratic gubenatorial candidate Neil Hartigan outlined a farm assistance plan that also calls for a debt-reorganization plan, state—subsidized operating loans and stepped—up counseling for farmers.

'Star Wars' to advance U.S. defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Reagan's "Star Wars" missile defense program could "substantially increase" America's safety under certain conditions, but it will never be able to protect the entire country from nuclear attack, science advisors to Congress concluded Tuesday.

A study by the Office of Technology Assessment said the United States would need "great technical success" in its research program along with a change in the Soviet Union's strategy to also emphasize defense rather than offense.

A companion OTA study raised new questions about U.S. anti-satellite, or ASAT, weapons and cautioned that while this country may lead now in a technology field related to Star Wars, the Soviets are likely to catch up.

"What this means is that after spending billions and billions of dollars, we could find that we have bought ourselves greater instability than the world has ever confronted in the atomic age," said Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

The 324-page study of the Star Wars program, which is known formally as the Strategic Defense Initiative, was done at the request of Aspin's panel and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Release of the report comes in the midst of a debate over the place of the High-tech missile interception program in the nuclear balance between the two superpowers.

The SDI program "carries a risk" that it could start an entirely new arms race and could create "severe instabilities" if it made the Soviets think the United States was seeking a first strike capability, the study suggested.

It noted there is confusion over the specific goals of Star Wars. Some supporters of the program want a so-called "Astrodome" defense that would defend the entire nation, while others call for a defense of U.S. missile sites. Critics say the latter would violate the 1972 treaty limiting missile defenses.

The study concluded that while anti-missile weapons could "substantially increase" the safety margin in a nuclear attack, "assured survival of the U.S. population (the 'Astrodome' defense) appears impossible to achieve if the Soviets are determined to deny it to us."

Students represented on City Council

By MICHAEL CLARK
Staff writer

A new concept to provide Eastern students with better access to the Charleston City Council started Tuesday as the first student representative appeared at the council meeting.

Joe O'Mera, student senate legislative leadership committee chairman, will be serving with Terry Mueller as non-voting members on the council. Mueller was not present at Tuesday's meeting.

O'Mera said the representatives will be able to sit in on all council meeting voicing the concerns of students with matters dealing with the city.

Charleston Mayor Murray Choate said, "I'm looking forward to working with the student representative."

Other council members, including Commissioner John Winnett and Bruce Chism, also voiced support for the project.

The council also unanimously passed a resolution which will give Charleston responsibility for maintaining South Fourth Street, which previously was a responsibility of the state.

Choate said the state offered to make structural improvements on the street if the city would take over the maintenance.

"The state said the project would be considered earlier if we took over maintenance," Choate said. "The project could be started as early as 1987," instead of the projected date of 1992.

The project could include new curbing and sidewalks for the road. Choate said the road will only require minimum maintenance such as snow plowing and suggested the road may not have to be repaired for 20 years.

The council also put on file for public inspection a petition requiring the property located 1420 Sixth Street to be torn down.

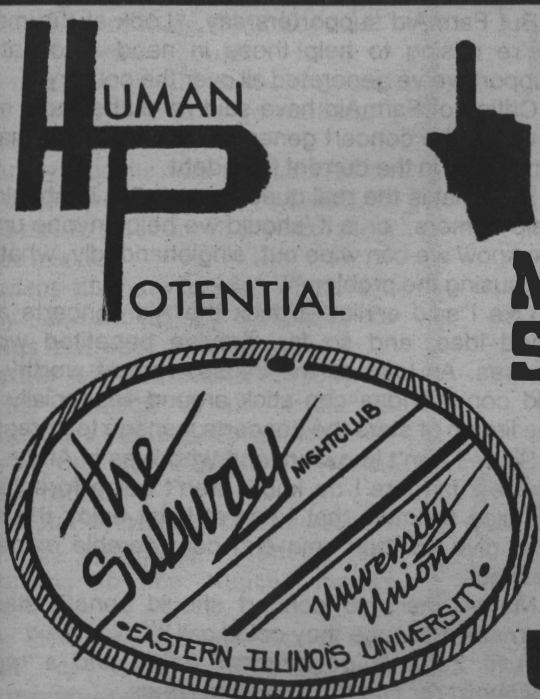

The property, which is located behind the Marathon Gas Station on Lincoln, was cited by the council as being unsafe to the public.

If the resolution is passed at the next council meeting, the city attorney will file a subpoena in Coles County Circuit Court to have the owner of the property to tear down the house.

The council also voted on a resolution which would close the streets around the square for the city's annual Fall Festival.

Plans have also been revealed for the closing of portions of Lincoln Avenue for the Eastern homecoming parade.

Choate also made a proclamation which would make the week of October 7 through the 13 as Fire Prevention Week in the city of Charleston.

University Board is currently looking for 3 enthusiastic people to coordinate the committees of Mainstage, Human Potential, and the new dry pub Subway. No experience necessary.

Guest Rooms give students an alternative

When there was no room at the inn things worked themselves out for Joseph and Mary.

But for Eastern students, no room at the inn during events such as Homecoming, Parent's Weekend and graduation means a lot of inconvenience.

Editorial Consequently, because of the lack of adequate accommodations, parents and alumni are often left praying for miracles. With this problem in mind, the Charleston Area Chamber of Commerce has initiated "Operation Guest Room."

The project, chaired by Judy Hofstrand, is scheduled to be put into practice Nov. 1 for Parent's Weekend.

Hofstrand said "Operation Guest Room" is a "pilot" program, and if it works in November, the organizers of the program will keep a file of volunteer hosts for other events.

Students and their parents should take advantage of this program so it will survive and grow.

The program costs a mere $30 for a single room and $35 for a double per night. In addition, there is a $2 charge per order.

But the tab is worth it—bed linens, access to a bath and breakfast are part of the program.

Also, the host homes must be visited and approved by Hofstrand before it will be used in the program.

Hofstrand said that about 30 people, including some Eastern instructors, have already volunteered to open up their home for "Operation Guest Room."

"Operation Guest Room" also gives visitors a chance to see a different angle of Charleston—that from the residents point of view.

Actually, this concept is not a new one. Other university towns sponsor similar programs, which have proved to be effective.

And, with local hotels and motels already filling up for Parent's Weekend and Graduation, "Operation Guest Room" provides good alternative lodging for alumni and parents.

Questions police attitude in mishap

Editor:

This past weekend a close friend and I were enjoying ourselves at the bars uptown when we remembered that we had left our bicycles uptown earlier that day to take a ride that was offered to us. So instead of walking back we decided to "kill two birds with one stone" and ride our bicycles.

On our ride home my friend had to swerve to avoid riding through some broken glass and this caused him to rub up against the curb and take a spill. At that time a Charleston Police officer happened to be driving past and stopped. We both expected the officer to ask him if he was all right and without injuries. Instead, he told him how stupid he was for falling. He then called in to the station, and within a minute or so a second police officer pulled up.

Here we were, two legal adults, riding our bikes home now at the side of the road with two police cars and officers. After a minute or so we were split up by the officers and each of us were issued $10 violations for riding at night without lights.

I question the violation envelope which has nine pre-printed violations for cars. All of the violations for cars are $5 while bike violations are $10. Why, when a driver does something illegal is it only $5, but when a bicyclist does something illegal it doubles.

Also, did the first officer have to tell him he was "stupid" and then treat both of us so badly? I don't blame him for writing the violations, sure we were doing something wrong by riding at night without lights, but this man is hired to protect and serve. With an attitude like that I wouldn't want to see how he protects us, and I fail to see how someone like this could serve us.

James A. Berryman

'Aid' idea OK, but just for worthy causes

It all started with BandAid.

Think back to last December. BandAid was the name of the group of English pop and rock stars that got together and sang "Do They Know It's Christmas?" to benefit the starving people in Africa.

Then, not to be outdone, American pop and rock stars got together and formed USA For Africa, and made "We Are the World," to further benefit the starving people in Africa.

Then, outdoing both groups, Bob Geldof thought up LiveAid, a two-continent 24 hour extravaganza with English and American pop and rock stars to benefit starving people in Africa.

And then came FarmAid. But country-western-pop-rock star Willie Nelson's concert had a new twist. Instead of a benefit for starving people in other countries, FarmAid was to benefit a group of people here at home—American farmers.

Imagine that. A benefit for people who are hurting in the land of plenty... and the people who form the backbone of America, those whose end products feed most of the people in this country.

I think FarmAid was a good idea. And it was a good idea to have the concert in Champaign-Urbana... the town is in the center of Illinois, and Illinois is the center of the American farming community. It's America's heartland.

But, looking at my crystal ball, ever faithful, I can see a string of Aid concerts benefiting everything from nuclear disarmament to saving Chinese elms. And with that string of concerts will come a string of apathy from the American people.

With a possible onslaught of Aid concerts, the American people will become distanced from any feeling for anyone or anything requiring help.

There's a phrase called Too Much of a Good Thing. What it means is that if somebody has too much of something he really likes, pretty soon he'll be sick of it.

The analogy which illustrates this best is the little boy who cried 'wolf.' If I remember the story correctly, a little boy kept telling people there was a wolf when there really wasn't one. And when there really was a wolf, nobody believed the little boy because he'd told them that so many times before.

Notebook:

Julie Zook

So far, the Aid concerts have benefitted some worthy causes. But pretty soon, some entrepreunering youngster will decide his crop of marijuana needs help, and he'll organize a grassroots effort to aid his illegal activity.

Other possibilities: BagLadyAid. SoupLineAid. PeopleWithPurpleHairAndWartsOnTheirNosesAid. The list is endless.

Bob Geldof, who organized the LiveAid bash, said last weekend that he can see an abuse of Aid concerts in the future.

But FarmAid supporters say, "Look at the money we're raising to help those in need. Look at the support we've generated all over the country."

Critics of FarmAid have said no matter how much revenue the concert generates, it would only make a small dent in the current farm debt.

But what is the real question here? Is it 'should we help farmers,' or is it 'should we help anyone unless we know we can wipe out, singlehandedly, whatever is causing the problem'?

Like I said earlier—I think the Aid concerts are a good idea, and so far, they've benefitted worthy causes. As long as the causes remain worthy, the Aid concert idea can stick around—especially with the lineup of stars the concerts manage to attract.

Since I don't know anyone who lives in Africa, and the few farmers I do know aren't being foreclosed, it's nice to know that I can at least enjoy the stars who give up their time and considerable money to help out.

Maybe the next concert should benefit starving journalists. Maybe they could call it ColumnAid.

Senate to share ideas in booklet on government

By AMY LANDERS
Staff writer

Student senators will have a chance to make comments and suggestions for the Student Government Information Booklet during Wednesday's Student Senate meeting.

Senate Speaker Larry Markey said Tuesday the senate will be looking at the booklet, which is designed to inform students about what student government is and does.

"It tells about the boards and committees, and about the responsibilities of the executive officers and senators," Markey said.

"It's more or less a booklet to let students get to know us. It's an outreach kind of thing," Markey said.

"The students shouldn't have to come to us, we should go to them, and this is one way for us to go to them," Markey added.

Markey said he was not sure when the booklet would be out, but said, "I would like to see it out in the next three to four weeks."

Student discount cards, which are finally in, should be available to students next week, Markey said.

Markey said distribution of the cards will be discussed by the senate at Wednesday's meeting, sscheduled for 7 p.m. in the Union-addition Arcola-Tuscola room.

In addition, Markey said the senate will be approving student appointments to the student faculty boards.

The new senators will receive approval of their committee appointments as well, Markey said.

Choosing a long distance company is a lot like choosing a roommate.

It's better to know what they're like before you move in.

Living together with someone for the first time can be an "educational" experience.

And living with a long distance company isn't any different. Because some companies may not give you all the services you're used to getting from AT&T.

For instance, with some companies you have to spend a certain amount before you qualify for their special volume discounts. With some others, voice quality may vary.

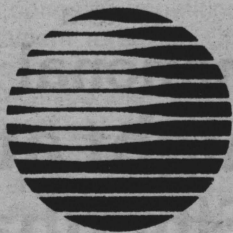

But when you choose AT&T, there won't be any surprises when you move in. You'll get the same high-quality, trouble-free service you're used to.

With calls that sound as close as next door. Guaranteed 60% and 40% discounts off our Day Rate—so you can talk during the times you can relax. Immediate credit for wrong numbers. Operator assistance and collect calling.

So when you're asked to choose a long distance company, choose AT&T. Because whether you're into Mozart or metal, quality is the one thing everyone can agree on.

Concert chairman resigns

The University Board will soon be searching for a new concert coordinator after receiving former coordinator Kacey Troyer's resignation at Tuesday's UB meeting.

Troyer said the time involved was not worth the little that was accomplished.

"It's too much for any one student to do," Troyer said.

Troyer did suggest the board make the position worth class credit since so much time is involved and, "expectations from administration is so high."

UB chairman John Allston said the board will probably have interviews for the position in two weeks.

In addition, the board passed a mandatory attendance policy for interviews of new coordinators.

The policy, which requires the attendance of all board members, can be waived by the chairman if a legitimate excuse is presented.

In other business, the board approved a amount not to exceed $169 to be spent on flowers for the Homecoming King and Queen.

In addition, an amount not to exceed $210 was allotted for the purchase of T-shirts for Homecoming parade officials.

Allston also mentioned interviews for three new coordinators will be held Thursday at 5 p.m.

The three positions open are Subway coordinator, Mainstage coordinator and Human Potential coordinator.

Fire department sponsors CPR workshop to educate students

By STEVE SMITH
Staff writer

A Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation workshop, offered by the Charleston Fire Department, teaches Eastern students CPR methods and how to use them.

The seminar, titled "CPR in the Workplace," will be presented from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Martinsville Room of the Union.

Larry McGinness, captain and emergency medical technician of the Charleston Fire Department, will instruct the course.

He said the sessions will cover one and two person CPR, clearing obstructed airways and other life-saving techniques.

"Knowledge of the CPR technique by the public can save lives. It only takes two to three minutes without oxygen before brain damage starts. Six minutes is fatal," McGinness said.

Sometimes it takes four minutes for medical technicians to reach a victim, he said.

The workshop is geared toward the average citizen and no medical knowledge is required or recommended, McGinness said.

Upon completion of the program, the Red Cross will issue a CPR card, which is valid for one year to participants and permits them to use CPR if the need arises.

Although all materials for the course are provided, McGinness said he does recommend that participants purchase the CPR book put out by the Red Cross for $1.

The six-hour program is being sponsored by Eastern's Community Business Assistance Center, the Small Business Administration and the Charleston Area Chamber of Commerce, he said.

McGinness said any interested individual may attend the session at no charge.

For further information or to register for the sessions, call Terry Maris in the College of Business at 581-3526.

BOG

Rives added. Presidents from several of the other BOG schools also expressed some dissatisfaction with the proposed change.

"I prefer to have presidents report directly to the board rather than through a chancellor," said Leslie F. Malpass, president of Western Illinois University.

"I have mixed feelings about it," said Governor's State President Leo Goodman-Malamuth, who said any change in the structuring of the board should protect the president's authority on campus matters.

"If the system becomes overly bureaucratic, then it's not a good system," Goodman-Malamuth said, adding he would wait and see how the changes would work.

However, John Cownie, provost of Northeastern University, finds no problems with the proposed change.

Cownie is fulfilling the duties of the president at Northeastern, who is recovering from surgery.

"I think the president's access to the board will not be eliminated," Cownie said.

"It (access) will become a more formal process, undoubtedly," Cownie said, pointing out that the board built access into the proposal by allowing any dispute between the chancellor and a president to be brought before the board.

Cownie also believes it was not the board's intention to reduce the presidents' authority on their campuses, but rather to delegate some of the board's authority to a single member, who will be able to carry out the work of the board more efficiently.

Chicago State University President George Ayers could not be reached for comment.

Faculty

said for the group.

Currently, an executive director heads the BOG system but would be replaced by a chancellor with the change-over. With a chancellor, all BOG presidents would report and be responsible to him. Under the executive system, the president of each BOG school, including Eastern, Northeastern, Western Chicago State and Governor's State, report only to the board.

"It really strips the role of the president. I think that's what we should be concerned about," Scott Smith said.

Don Dolton, representative of the University Professionals of Illinois, discussed the reasons why the Eastern union agrees with the change-over.

"We feel the BOG as a system will benefit with external forces. Eastern will have more political clout with a chancellorship," he said.

Dolton said when the Board of Regents switched to a chancellorship, the chancellor's salary was set at $80,000. Eastern executive director Thomas Layzell soon received a pay increase to $85,000.

"When this happened, we knew what was coming," Dolton said.

Carol Stevens then asked if the BOG would change to a chancellorship "no matter what we think?"

"We're not privy to that information," Dolton said, "but I would say yes. We saw it coming when they raised Tom Layzell's salary."

Dolton insisted the only profit the union would receive from restructuring would be that it would be "easier to get information to the board which is now more difficult."

Senate chair Jayne Ozier said she discussed the rationale for the change-over with Layzell in a phone conversation last week.

"He said we should have a clear line of responsibility so there would be more unity and cohesiveness within the system," Ozier said. "He also stated the president will be primarily responsible for the management of the university."

Layzell told Ozier the chancellor would be chief executive and would attempt to bring "a balance between autonomy and inter-dependence." And he would also not make recommendations to the board without "first consulting the university."

Eastern President Stanley Rives said the BOG favors the change because it believes the board is "operating at a competitive disadvantage," since all of the other Illinois universities are governed under the chancellor system.

Sharon Bartling of the English department has started a petition drive opposing the restructuring of the BOG.

The petition was the idea of a "number of faculty people" who wanted to express their views. The signatures will be given to Layzell after the Oct. 8 petition deadline.

In other action, the senate discussed the campus security problem. Carol Stevens proposed a questionnaire survey to distribute to Eastern faculty concerning break-ins in their department.

"We want to determine if it's a campus-wide problem and if we should pursue it," Ozier said.

Twelve Eastern students take road-trip to Kentucky

By AMY DOLAN
Staff writer

Twelve Eastern students from the Recreation Department participated in an outdoor consortium earlier this month in Brandon Spring, Ky.

The group, escorted by recreation instructor William Smith, participated in outdoor activities with other universities including Auburn, Murray State, Georgia, Oklahoma State and Northern Iowa.

About 58 students participated in the program conducted by the Tennessee Valley Authority in an area known as Land Between the Lakes.

Smith said, "One of the most valuable benefits of the trip was the hands-on experience that the students were able to become involved in."

"These included problem solving situations and practical interactions between the members of the different groups."

In addition, Smith said each student was given a leadership responsibility which included planning, organizing, and conducting an in-house program to study the facility.

During the consortium, two Eastern recreation majors, John Patterson and Lisa Bysina, applied for and won scholarships from the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Smith said Patterson and Bysina won the right to attend a ten-day workshop sponsored by the American Red Cross in June that will include instruction on aquatic recreation and other safety programs.

Bysina said, "I was surprised to receive the scholarship. I had no knowledge of the scholarship until the consortium."

Patterson said, "The experience of the scholarship will enhance the consortium. The experience provided an opportunity to work with recreational professionals and will, later on, provide collegiate contacts."

"I'm looking forward to going back down to Brandon Spring for the water safety seminar," he said.

Bysina said, "The experiences could help me to find field work and help me in running recreational programs, especially in canoeing and sailing."

"The TVA provided a great program with good information and knowledge," she said.

Smith said to be awarded the scholarships, the applicants had to fill out an application, go to an interview and write a one-page paper describing a need and interest in water safety.

(in Champaign) 10 times over 1984.”

It was during that period, her relationship began with the drug-rehabilitating Seeley. “That’s how they met—at the psychiatric ward of the hospital.

“She had been seeing him for a year and had been advised and warned by both psychiatrists and us that (Seeley) could be dangerous,” Mr. Manbeck said. “She saw the psychologist that day and (Seeley) came to pick her up.

“He had, on a couple of occasions, roughed her up a bit, and he threw a chunk of concrete through a window near the door (at the Manbeck home) and a rock through a bedroom window. He definitely displayed some violent tendencies.”

But regardless of warnings, the Manbecks said “sometimes everything was fine, but Sunday (Seeley’s) psychiatrist told her she couldn’t see him for two weeks.”

Prior to her accident, life went smoothly, her parents said. Graduating 16th in her class and with honors from Charleston High School in 1980, “Jane was a very outgoing girl,” her father said. “(She) had lots of friends and she played basketball when they first started the program—she worked an awful lot at that.”

CHS Girls Basketball Coach John Easter said, “Jane wasn’t a starter—she was just a fun-loving girl and always gave everything she had to anything we were doing.”

Easter said he knew Seeley, also from CHS, but refused to comment on Seeley’s high school career.

In a 1983 Charleston Times-Courier article, Seeley confessed to first using illegal drugs at 14, estimating that his heavy drug abuse included using LSD 60 to 70 times and smoking an average of four to five marijuana cigarettes a day.

In the summer before her senior year in high school, Jane stayed with a family in Malaysia as a member of American Field Services.

An eerie aspect of the trip, Mrs. Manbeck noted, was a letter received from their daughter which said she had been told she had inadvertently allowed “demons” to enter her body while napping in a taboo home.

While the parents scoffed at the incident, her father said it may have hit her at an impressionable time of her life.

in its former location in the end zone.

Senior Diane Breuss said, “I hate where the band is now. They always got the crowd more into the game (before). Sometimes it was more fun to watch the band in the end zone than to watch the game.”

Darrin Bowen, a junior and a Student Senate member, said he preferred the band in its old seating arrangement.

“You could see the band better on the end zone. Plus, the Pink Panthers sat with the band, and I enjoyed watching them.”

Sophomore Todd Denton said, “I think it was more entertaining when they sat in the end zone area.”

Ann Matheny, a member of the Panther Marching Band, said, “We (the band) should sit on the end zone because we have more fun and it’s not as crowded there. I’ve heard that some people in the stands can’t hear us.”

Ueberroth, Fehr at odds on testing again

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth on Tuesday asked major league players to voluntarily submit to drug testing. The players' union responded that the action may be unlawful and indicated it would tell players to ignore the request.

At a news conference, Ueberroth said he had designated a representative from each club's management to deliver letters to every major league player. The letters ask players to submit to urinalyses three times a year beginning in 1986. Ueberroth said he had asked for responses to the letters by Friday.

At the same time, Ueberroth said he had decided to postpone any punitive action against seven players who testified in the federal drug trial in Pittsburgh on Philadelphia caterer Curtis Strong.

"Baseball is on trial," Ueberroth said, "and it has suffered public humiliation in the last few weeks, not to anybody's surprise, least of all to mine. I've wrestled with what to do as commissioner."

Ueberroth said the program would be similar to one already being used to test minor leaguers and non-playing major league personnel. Tests would be done without notice, but would always be conducted in the player's clubhouse. They would be conducted by medical people, and he said there would be no punitive steps taken against players who tested positively.

"Anyone with a positive test would receive immediate, continued testing and treatment," the commissioner said. "He would get counseling and help appropriate to the individual."

He said baseball's winter leagues, with the exception of Venezuela, have joined the program. Venezuela was excluded because "they have severe penalties, and we will have no penalties," Ueberroth said.

The acting executive director of the players union, Don Fehr, called Ueberroth's action "a plain, old-fashioned attempt not to bargain. . . but to bypass the union."

The early indication was that players were favoring Ueberroth's proposal, with a hitch. The New York Mets voted unanimously in favor of the plan, subject to details being worked out with the Major League Players Association.

The seven players, one retired, called to testify in the recently concluded Strong trial were Lonnie Smith of Kansas City, Dale Berra of the New York Yankees, Keith Hernandez of th New York Mets, Enos Cabell of Los Angeles, Dave Parker of Cincinnati, Jeff Leonard of San Francisco and John Milner, formerly of the Mets, Montreal and Pittsburgh.

and 13th in all-purpose running at 159.

•Eastern is No. 3 in total offense with 492 yards, while the passing offense is fourth with 346.7 yards a game and the scoring offense 12th with a 32.7 points per game average.

Football footnotes dSaturday's game at Southern Illinois will be Eastern's first contest in the newly-formed Gateway Conference. SIU is 0-1 in league play after losing 40-28 to Southwest Missouri.

•Western Illinois' Ron Johnson nabbed Gateway defensive player of the week honors after the Leathernecks' 55-20 blasting of Michigan Tech. Johnson recorded seven unassisted tackles, three assists, one interception and one sack.

•Through the first three games, the Panthers have remained relatively injury-free. It will be the same offensive unit Saturday that has started all season. Defensively, the Panthers have been healthy also, although a mild shakeup for Saturday is a possibility as defensive coordinator Larry Edlund will not announce starters until midweek.

•Despite reports that I-AA football programs face financial problems down the road due to lack of TV contracts, I-AA attendance is up 11.09 percent from 1984 to 12,108 per game, according to The NCAA News. Meanwhile, Division I-A attendance has dropped 1.65 percent to 42,599.

•Eastern is rated 73rd among the nation's 192 I-A and I-AA teams in the USA Today's mathematical ratings with a 69.14 mark. Saturday's opponent, Southern Illinois, is 165th.

•Discussing the recent Jekyll-Hyde performances of Eastern's defense, cornerback Brian Newby, the Panthers' 'secondary player of the week,' says the 'D' needs to get off the roller coaster it has been riding.

"The defense has got to come out playing every week, not just one week here and one week there. It's the attitude the players take into the game. You saw how up we were against Indiana State and then we hit a team like Saginaw Valley which we'd never heard of before and let down."

UIC comeback ruins spikers' revenge plans

By DAN VERDUN
Assistant sports editor

CHICAGO—Eastern's volleyball team found out Tuesday that vengeance isn't always easily attained.

For a time it appeared that the Panthers were headed toward a victory over the University of Illinois-Chicago that would avenge an earlier loss to the Flames in the championship of the Lady Tiger Classic.

All appeared to be going well for the Panthers, as they took a seemingly-comfortable 2-1 lead in the match.

However, Illinois-Chicago roared back to capture the final two contests and topple Eastern 15-17, 15-13, 6-15, 15-10 and 15-8.

The loss dropped the Panthers' record to 11-3, while the Flames improved to 7-5.

"I'm very disappointed in losing twice to the same team in a season, especially since we were up 2-1 in games," Eastern coach Betty Ralston said.

"The first three games we played very strong," Ralston said. "Our lack of blocking effectiveness killed us in games four and five."

"We had too many mental lapses in crucial situations. We had plenty of chances in games four and five, but just couldn't take advantage of them."

Senior outside hitter Judy Planos led Eastern's offensive attack with 17 kills and a .255 hitting percentage. The Evanston native also had two service aces.

Junior middle hitter Maura LeFevour added six kills with no errors and a .462 hitting percentage.

Sophomore outside hitter Diane Eiserman contributed 14 kills and two service aces to the Panther cause.

Freshman middle hitter Gianna Galanti collected six kills, two service aces and hit for a .545 percentage.

Senior co-captain Misty Buckhold had three service aces, raising her season total to 10.

"We must regroup and get ready for a positive week ahead," Ralston said.

"We have to show what we are made of this week," Ralston said. "All the teams we play this week are very competitive. We can't take any team too lightly, regardless of record."

"Again, I can't stress enough that we must concentrate more on the court. Our intensity must improve and if we get a lead on the opposition, we must put them away."

Eastern's offensive stars near top in NCAA rankings

Slotback Calvin Pierce has quickly become the Panthers' top receiver after the first three games.

And his success in Eastern's passing attack has elevated him to the No. 1 slot in the country in receiving yardage among NCAA I-AA receivers.

Pierce has caught 26 passes for 380 yards thus far. Only Glen Kozlowski of Division I Brigham Young has more receiving yards than Pierce. Kozlowski has compiled 436 yards in four games.

Pierce also ranks fourth in I-AA in passes caught per game with an average of 8.7. He has twice caught 12 passes in the first three games—for 166 yards against Northeast Missouri and 186 last week against Saginaw Valley.

His 186 yards receiving vs. Saginaw was the third highest single-game total in Eastern history, only nine short of Willie White's 195.

"On a lot of my receptions the yardage comes from good down-field blocking," said Pierce, who also has been extremely uncooperative with opposing tacklers after catching passes.

Simply offensive

Quarterback Sean Payton, who broke three school records and tied another last Saturday while gaining ESPN player of the day honors, has a shot at another record this week when the Panthers play at Southern Illinois.

Payton is closing in on Poke Cobb's No. 2 standing for total offense. With

Football notebook/Jeff Long

4,906 total career yards, Payton needs 256 to eclipse Cobb's 5,161. Eastern's all-time career leader is Jeff Christensen with 6,185.

•Payton's four TD passes last lifted his career total to 37, No. 2 on the school's all-time list behind Christensen's 51.

Banking on Banks

Wide receiver Roy Banks has certainly made the most of his playing time in an Eastern uniform.

The All-American has played in just 16 collegiate contests, but has already caught 95 passes, an average of almost six a game.

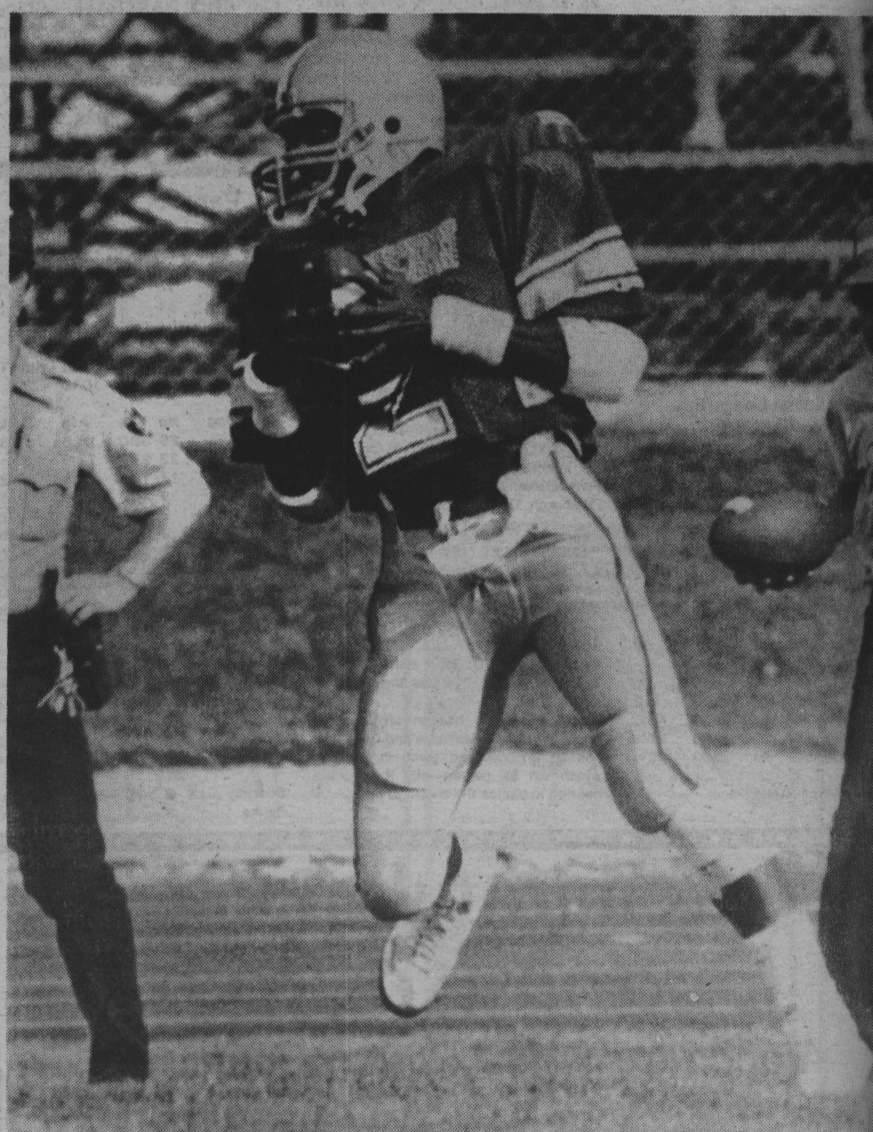

In that short time, he has entered Eastern's top five in receiving yardage with 1,620 yards. His 21 career TD receptions rank third and place him fifth for total TD's.

NCAA I-AA stat chat

Payton is second among I-AA quarterbacks in I-AA passing yardage with 1,040, trailing only Eastern Washington's Rick Worman, who has 1,064 in three games. Payton is fourth in total offense, averaging 334 yards a game.

•Banks is tied for seventh in receptions per game at 7.6.

•Running back DuWayne Pitts is No. 9 in rushing at 124.7 yards a game (See EASTERN, page 14)

Cards win fifth straight, lead by 3

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Terry Pendleton singled home two runs in the first inning, and the St. Louis Cardinals scored twice more on a third-inning Pittsburgh error en route to their fifth straight triumph, a 5-4 decision Tuesday night over the Pirates.

St. Louis' victory, its 12th in 13 games, kept the Cards three games ahead of the New York Mets as leaders of the National League East. Both have 11 games remaining, including three with each other Oct. 1-3 in St. Louis.

Pendleton's single, his third game-winning hit in five games, was one of seven hits off Pittsburgh starter Lee Tunnell, 4-10. It chased home Willie McGee and Tommy Herr, who had singled and doubled with one out.

Ricky Horton, 3-2, pitched the first five innings for the Cards in only his second start of the season. Ken Dayley got the final two outs for his 11th save.

Jays extend East lead

TORONTO (AP)—Dennis Lamp pitched 4 2-3 innings of shutout relief to improve his record to 11-0 and the Toronto Blue jays scored two runs on wild throws to the plate to beat the Boston Red Sox 6-2 Tuesday night.

The victory, combined with New York's 9-1 loss to Detroit, gave the Blue Jays a seven-game lead over the Yankees and lowered Toronto's magic number to six.

Lamp, who relieved rookie left-hander Steve Davis with one out and the bases loaded in the fourth, got Jackie Gutierrez to ground into a double play to end the threat and keep the game tied 2-2. Lamp, who gave up three hits, gave way to Bill Caudill in the ninth.

Al Nipper, 9-12, who beat the Jays 13-1 in his last outing, was charged with the loss.
