Troop supporters seek awareness from Americans

...personal positions on the Persian Gulf War and think of the troops.

That's what rally organizer Joe Haley told an audience of troop supporters Monday night.

The rally began with an opening prayer by the Rev. Richard Shellabarger of the Bible Center Church in Charleston.

David Dosier, a junior sociology major and commander of cadets for Eastern's ROTC, began his speech by saying he was not a politician or philosopher, but a soldier who is glad the support rallies will not continue.

"If the troops hear they are not supported, a little virus of doubt will grow among the troops, but talking about rallies like this could be a doubt buster," he said.

Associate History Professor John Haley, who had served three years in Vietnam, said patriotism, family tradition and personal development are common reasons why people join the military.

"Unlike other professions that decide when to use the skills required, a soldier cannot make that personal choice," he said, adding the United States has had a symbiotic relationship with the military.

"Americans believe they are nice and will never be used," he said, "but they object to using them in times of war."

diers from landing on the "human trash heap" of war, the show of support can be meaningful, he said.

From his past experience, Haley said visiting or calling the families of the military is the best way to offer support on a personal level.

"Give some token of recognition to the families to show you understand what it means to have a very important member taken from the family," Haley said.

The audience was encouraged by the speakers to pray for peace and to pray the soldiers will be brought home safely.

"No matter how bad it gets, don't let a soldier die without knowing he was doing the right thing," Dosier said.

Other rally participants included the Mattoon American Legion Post #88, the Patriots Marching Color Guard and American Legion Post #68 of Sullivan.

The Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and soloist Scott Hines sang "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Saddam levies threat of nuclear capability

By the Associated Press

Saddam Hussein on Monday raised the specter of chemical-biological warfare — and even nuclear weapons — in Iraq's fateful confrontation with the U.S. superpower. Meanwhile, scores more of his air force pilots were slipping out the back door to Iran.

CNN's Peter Arnett, who interviewed the Iraqi president, said Saddam claimed that the missiles his military has fired at Saudi Arabia and Israel have chemical, biological and nuclear capability.

The dozens of Scuds launched thus far have carried only conventional warheads. The Iraqis have chemical and biological weapons, but Western analysts question whether Iraq is technically capable of equipping missiles with such warheads.

As for nuclear warheads, some analysts believed before the Persian Gulf war broke out that Iraq was a year or two from developing a primitive atomic weapon. But the U.S. military says its recent air attacks eliminated the Iraqi nuclear network.

As recounted by Arnett, Saddam skirted the question of whether the Iraqis would use unconventional weapons.

"Iraq will use weapons that equate the weapons used against us," Arnett quoted Saddam as saying. "All the air superiority ... that has come upon us has failed."

Spill experts tackle Saudi coast threat

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — Experts from around the world raced to the Saudi Arabian coast on Monday to help the kingdom defend its vital desalination plants against an oil slick.

A Norwegian company that helped fight the Exxon Valdez spill in Alaska was sending a pollution-battling ship capable of swallowing a half-mile of oil daily. It was to reach a critical desalination plant on Tuesday.

British Petroleum Co. was flying in more than 70 tons of oil booms and suction skimmers. A team of experts from the U.S. Coast Guard and Environmental Protection Agency arrived in Riyadh and immediately met with Saudi officials.

The slick was several days away from Jubail, site of the world's largest water desalination plant and one of many such facilities in the path of the spill.

We have maintained our balance, using only conventional weapons." But, Arnett said, the Iraqi leader then suggested Baghdad might be "forced" to take drastic action.

"We pray that not a lot of blood will be shed from any nation," he quoted him as saying. "We pray that we shall not be forced in taking a forced measure."

University will pay more than $177,000 of water bill

By MIKE CHAMBERS
City editor

Eastern will be held accountable for slightly more than $177,000 of what originally was estimated to be a $300,000 water bill from a meter that city officials contend they knew nothing about.

That figure was agreed upon Monday by both city and Eastern officials during one of several meetings that has been held since November.

It was then that city employees discovered a water meter in the Douglas Hall lot that hadn't been read in 14 months and that Charleston Mayor Wayne Lanman said was built without the city's permission.

Altogether, Lanman said, the university will pay $177,319, which is the total amount of billable water usage that both sides will confirm based on individual records.

"The conversation (in Monday's meeting) was cordial, and we are in total agreement on how the payment will be resolved," said Lanman, adding the bill could be sent as soon as Tuesday.

“The conversation was cordial, and we are in total agreement on how the payment will be resolved.”

After Eastern pays the initial agreed-upon amount, the two sides will meet again before the end of the week to settle on an additional $31,262, the remaining unverified amount of possible water usage.

Between the amount Eastern President Stan Rives has agreed the university will pay and the remaining $31,262, the alleged bill totals $208,581. That's still far less than the $292,288 the city first assessed after finding that 56 million gallons of water had not been charged to the university from the Douglas Hall meter since June of 1989.

"Well, that $292,000 figure wasn't a definite figure," Lanman said following the meeting. "It was the estimate of (the amount of water)."

If the two sides cannot settle the difference between the two totals, a certified public accountant who will act as an arbitrator. Both sides have agreed to honor the accountant's final dollar amount, thus avoiding a court battle.

The final amount will be above Eastern's average monthly bill of between $45,000 and $60,000, but Rives said it will be within current appropriations.

The Illinois State Budget Appendix for 1991 shows Eastern is given about $5 million for utility bills and other contractual services. Eastern's Internal Budget shows that $380,000 of that is earmarked for water utilities.

The water meter was installed by Harshman Plumbing Co. in a 1989 project to improve water pressure to Lincoln, Stevenson and Douglas halls.

Lanman said the meter was installed without city permission, but company owner Hal Harshman said the city knew the meter was installed. In addition, Rives gave information in an earlier meeting which verified Harshman's claim, Rives said.

"What occurred here is that a meter was installed. It was simply not read for a period of time, and estimates were made (by the city)," Rives said.

Itemized bills showing that Eastern was being charged for only 20 of 21 meters on campus pass by Physical Plant Director Vic Robeson, but he said that he and the university was aware of the meter but not the billing errors.

Seminar addresses eating disorders

By JILL BAUTER
Staff writer

A small group of concerned students attended an eating disorder workshop Monday night to learn more about anorexia nervosa and bulimia, conditions which affect mainly women.

Jenie Lenihan, a psychologist at Eastern's Counseling Center, conducted the program on "Anxious Eating - What to Do?" at the Rathskeller Balcony in the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Lenihan said anorexia nervosa is a deliberate self-starvation which even affects people of normal weight. The victim may see herself as being overweight when, in reality, he is grossly underweight.

Bulimia, said Lenihan, often starts with a diet that becomes out of control. Victims may eat large amounts of food at a time, induce vomiting, use laxatives, engage in excessive exercise, and practice other extreme behaviors.

Lenihan warned that these disorders may cause a number of serious medical conditions if untreated and undiagnosed. Victims may suffer from irreversible heart, liver or kidney damage. However, "This is really not a medical illness because of the emotional component," said Lenihan. The disorders may only be a symptom of depression and other psychological problems.

Lenihan urged those who are bulimic or anorexic to seek professional help. The Counseling Center provides free, confidential help which includes group therapy. According to Lenihan, group therapy provides understanding and balances social pressures, like dieting, with a therapeutic social experience.

Lenihan also advised friends of bulimics and anorexics to expect denial, but to show loving concern and persist in trying to help.

The workshop also featured a film and a talk from a young woman who has struggled with an eating disorder for nearly six years.

by the allied precision bombing Saturday of the mechanism that allowed the oil to be pumped into the Persian Gulf, U.S. military officials said.

But environmentalists say so much crude already has poured into the waterway that an ecological catastrophe was certain.

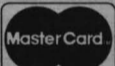

For the arid desert region, the top priority was protecting the desalination plants that treat water for two-thirds of the region's estimated 18 million people.

U.S.-led allied forces in the war with Iraq also depend in part on the plants, which make sea water drinkable. Saudi Oil Minister Hisham Nazer told King Fahd and his Cabinet that the slick contained roughly 11 million barrels of oil, or 460 million gallons, making it by far the biggest spill ever.

ROTC awards member students 18 scholarships

By LORI HIGGINS
Campus editor

The ROTC department awarded a total of 18 scholarships during last week's award ceremony.

Cpt. Vance Chartier, from ROTC, said eight state ROTC scholarships and nine state ROTC transfer scholarships were given.

These scholarships pay full tuition and activity fees and incurs absolutely no military obligation until the junior year," he said. The student must remain enrolled in ROTC and maintain a 2.5 GPA to be eligible for the scholarship.

The eight students who received the state ROTC scholarship were: John Hill, a freshman political science major; Thomas Williamson, a freshman sociology major; Matthew Gillespie, a freshman zoology major; Eric Chaffer, a freshman history major; Rene Israel, a freshman pre-nursing major; Charles

Webb, a sophomore pre-chemical engineering major; Kelly Evans, a freshman pre-engineering major

Gulf war worries ROTC students

By LORI HIGGINS
Campus editor

Despite what some may believe, students enrolled in Eastern's Army ROTC program have little chance of being called to active duty in the Persian Gulf.

Cpt. Vance Chartier of ROTC said ROTC students are safe from a federal call-up unless they are also members of a National Guard or Army Reserve unit.

"If they're in the National Guard or Reserves, then they're eligible," Chartier said. "If they are in any of those categories then they are obligated to go if they are called up."

Chartier said many students believe ROTC students would automatically be called to active duty during a state of war. He said that when the ROTC department was recruiting last semester, one of the first comments he would get from students was "I do not want to go to the Persian Gulf."

"By being in the ROTC, it doesn't mean that they'll be called up," he said.

For the first two years in the ROTC program, Chartier said there is "absolutely" no military obligation for students until their junior year. At that time, the student will either become a contracted officer in ROTC or leave the program altogether.

"(For) Those who are contracted - the chances of them going are slim. We have a number that are contracted with us and they are not susceptible to call-up right now," Chartier said.

At least four present members of the Army ROTC department have been called into active duty and are now serving in the Persian Gulf. The two that had been contracted, and are also part of a National Guard or Reserve unit, were junior Dan Byer and freshman Ed Perry. Chartier noted two other underclassmen were called up.

"We do have several graduates that have been called up," Chartier said. Those eight members that were called up were "either on active duty or in a Reserve or Guard unit that got called up."

and; Carolyn Thompson, a junior health major.

And the students who received the state ROTC transfer scholarship were: Michael Boliard, a junior industrial technology major; Daniel Brown, a sophomore psychology major; Timothy Webb, a junior economics major; Martin Mooney, a junior elementary education major; Chad Kessler, a sophomore physical education major; Jason McGraw, a freshman math major; Kurt Hammond, a senior psychology major; Scott Dickson, a freshman pre-business major; and Dawn Quantrell, a freshman psychology major.

One other scholarship was awarded to Christopher Fowler, a sophomore sociology major. Fowler received the federal ROTC scholarship, which pays full tuition, most fees and $100 a month.

In addition to the scholarships awarded, five students were contracted to become full ROTC officers. In order to be contracted, a student must have completed the first two years of the ROTC program, where there is no military obligation.

Those students that were contracted were: Michael Daniels, a junior history major; Karen Allen, a junior recreation administration major; Kina Howard, a junior pre-business major; Martin Mooney, a junior elementary education major; and Timothy Webb, a junior economics major.

Senate to hear BOG results

By MATT CAMPBELL
Staff writer

The Faculty Senate will discuss the results of a meeting between Board of Governors Chancellor Thomas Layzell and special investigator David Stanczak, concerning hiring improprieties under Verna Armstrong, Eastern's vice president for administration and finance.

Armstrong has been the focus of a nearly three-month old investigation in which the BOG hired Stanczak to probe into allegations hiring practices.

On Monday, the senate's executive committee, which is comprised of chair David Carpenter, member Patricia Fewell, and secretary John Miller, met with Layzell and Stanczak to hear the a report concerning the investigation and the Jan. 17 BOG meeting in Chicago.

Miller said the executive committee would probably discuss the findings of Layzell and Stanczak's report in executive session.

The senate will also discuss the findings of a committee headed by Marietta Deming, which has been investigating the issue of adjusting the final exam schedule to remedy problems and complaints from faculty and students concerning the Friday study day and Saturday final exams.

The present system has been in use for two years, and is designed to allow teachers more time to grade final exams before final course grades are due.

Deming said the report addresses the concerns of those who have complained about the system. But because of time constraints, the committee was unable to factor in the opinions of those faculty and students who may support it.

CAA discusses gender course for general education program

By RYAN CUNNINGHAM
Administration editor

At a special meeting Tuesday, the Council on Academic Affairs will continue to discuss a proposal on a gender course that will satisfy the requirements for the new general education program.

The proposal, submitted by the Women's Study Council, is part of the "human behavior, social interaction and well-being" segment of the new program that will be implemented with the fall 1991 freshman class. It is designed to provide 40-46 hours of required general education classes that may be included in Eastern's 1991-92 catalog.

"The course is called 'Women, Men and Culture' and will look at gender's role historically and cross-culturally," said Linda Coleman, chair of the academic subcommittee of the Women's Study Council.

Coleman added that the three-hour gender course is an essential category in understanding an individual's role in relationships and society. "Gender is a fairly important aspect in most professions today."

The CAA will meet at 2 p.m. in the 1895 Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

In other business, the CAA also will continue its discussion on the cultural diversity component, but according to council Chair Larry Bates the council would not have enough time to give the segment proper attention and may have to put it off until the council finishes its core considerations.

The CAA failed to come up with a working definition of cultural diversity at its regular meeting last Thursday.

Brazilian students visit Eastern

By SANDY BEAUCHAMP
Staff writer

Ten Brazilian exchange students are getting a taste of the American version of university life.

The students, who are from Sao Paulo, Brazil, will remain at Eastern for about two months as part of an exchange program that also sent 10 American students to a university in Brazil.

During their time here, the students will keep busy with a 15-credit-hour schedule that focuses on marketing and business administration.

"They are doing fine, once they got their classes together," said Teresa Metzger, assistant coordinator for University Relations.

The students, who are fluent in English, were equally surprised and excited upon their arrival to campus Jan. 6. Many said that so far Eastern and the United States are better than they expected.

For several, though, Eastern was unique to them - the United States wasn't. Some of the students, ranging in age from 18 to 24, have spent time in the states.

Ana Marie Russo has visited Washington State; Tamaki Shinagawa, who was born in Japan, attended Indiana University; and Andre Vaccaro has visited various parts of America five times.

Still, compared to other universities he has attended, Vaccaro said, "I think this college is much more friendly than our own."

Ana Elisa Russo agreed. "At our college people are not nearly as friendly. Everybody here says 'hi' and 'hello' to everyone else."

International Tea treats students to foreign dishes

By LORI HIGGINS
Campus editor

Tuesday's International Tea will be spiced up a bit, as students will be treated to a variety of dishes, including the way tea is prepared in India.

This month's tea, which is the first of the semester, will be from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Wesley Foundation, 2202 Fourth St. The tea will feature an array of dishes from several foreign countries.

"It's a tea that is something different from the other teas because normally we have a sponsor but this time the international students are providing the snacks," said Brigitte Chen, Eastern's international student adviser.

International teas are typically sponsored by some outside organization, which pays for all refreshments served at the event.

In addition to dishes from India, there will be refreshments served in a Spanish flavor, Brazilian, Malaysian and German. Chen added there will probably be many other countries represented.

"We lost one of our tea sponsors, and the students decided they wanted to fill in as a nice gesture," she said.

The international tea also features a speaker each month. Tuesday's speaker will be Shirley Moore, Eastern's dean of academic development. Chen said Moore will discuss some of the supplemental services available to students, such as the writing center.

No matter how festive the tea may be, it could be somewhat dampened with an escalating Persian Gulf War. Chen said she believes some of the parents of Eastern's international students are concerned about reports of terrorism.

"I'm sure the students are thinking about it. I cannot see any way we wouldn't talk about it. It's (Tuesday) our first meeting since the war began and it's on everybody's mind," Chen said.

It hasn't been just the friendly atmosphere that has surprised the students. They have gotten a dose of seasonal snowfall and ice accumulation they termed as "awesome."

Ana Elisa Russo said she would love to learn how to ski. "It is something we can't do in Brazil."

Something else that may be different from what they have experienced is residence hall food. But unlike some typical Eastern students, the Brazilian students said they like it.

Before returning to their homes in Brazil on March 2, several of the visitors expressed a desire to visit one of America's most exciting landmarks - Walt Disney World.

Bush's message better include domestic agenda

When President Bush gives his State of the Union Address to Congress Tuesday evening, we hope Mr. Bush can find a way to talk about something other than how we're "winning" this war.

Bush has shown little interest in outlining a domestic program, and has shown great interest in making war with Iraq.

But as everyone knows, the president's policy in the Gulf has much to do with a domestic agenda at home, little to do with attacking "naked aggression."

The Persian Gulf undoubtedly will involve Congress when the president asks for more money — likely in the form of a supplemental appropriation bill — to pay for the war he is waging there.

As every $700,000 Patriot missile is launched from either Israel or Saudi Arabia to knock down enemy scuds, our own domestic war continues to flare without any "sure fire" remedy to knock it out of the sky.

For this war, if it is not attacked soon, may be just as dangerous as the one in the Persian Gulf.

Our recession is at its worst level in recent memory, perhaps the worst in history. Some economists have even projected this one may evolve into a depression. The prospects of war may change that a bit, but it remains a recession nonetheless.

We don't see many headlines of our bailout of the savings and loan crisis anymore because war headlines have pushed that crisis out of the mainstream it used to be so much a part of.

Everyone knows George Bush was trained to be a "foreign policy" president, but the bottom line is that a good president knows how to address many aspects of the job, not just those which he finds exciting and nifty.

Many people argue that what Bush is doing in the Middle East, that what he did when he strong-armed a worldwide alliance against Iraq, is solidifying for himself a place in history as a powerful president.

We agree that Bush may be solidifying for himself a place in the history books, but not for his brilliant foreign policy. We worry that the distinction will come at the cost of a domestic economy, one that seems to be uncontrollably hurling toward depression.

So when Bush makes his speech, let's hope he remembers the problems we have outside of the Persian Gulf.

TODAY'S QUOTE

Sometimes a fool makes a good suggestion.

Nicolas Boileau

The terrorists are in our own borders

In the words of our beloved President: "I won't be held captive in the White House by Saddam Hussein."

Bush was talking about the perceived threat of terrorist attacks in the United States.

First I must note that Bush cannot compare himself to the typical American. Of course Bush doesn't have to seriously contemplate the possibility of a terrorist attack on the White House.

The president has to know he is by far the safest American in the country — and I'm angered by his statement. If terrorist attacks were to take place, the focal areas would be commercial airlines and other easy targets where Americans congregate. I know for sure Air Force One wouldn't be targeted.

Who is in more jeopardy? Bush, who is surrounded by secret servicemen, or the typical American, surrounded daily by other frightened Americans.

However, the real area of concern is the hoopla and paranoia surrounding the idea of terrorist attacks. The growing concerns by some Americans that they will be the victim of an attack has been blown out of proportion.

Research has shown that most Americans are more likely to be killed or injured on the highway than by a terrorist attack. But the datum has not reduced the anti-Arab or terrorist sentiment flying through the country.

Some would say Americans should be aware and take the threat of terrorism seriously. They say this maniac Hussein has committed terrorist attacks on Israel and other countries, not to mention environmental terrorism in the form of an oil spill.

I don't advocate that Americans mindlessly parade around and not be leery that terrorist activities could happen. Hussein is a madman who has fathered some heinous attacks; and the possibility of terrorist attacks is still within the realm of reality.

Tonya Adams

Still, however real that threat may be, I don't condone the terrorism that some Americans are perpetrating against Arab-Americans — especially those of Arab descent.

Terrorism is wrong no matter who the perpetrator or victims are.

So far the only victims of terrorism in this country are Arab-Americans. Many Arab-Americans have been beaten, their stores and businesses robbed and vandalized, their lives threatened and most importantly they have been harassed by our government.

Now tell me who the real terrorists are? William Sessions, the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has said that Arab-Americans have not been harassed in any way. But that is not what Arab-Americans have stepped forward to say. Still, Sessions went on to say that Arab-Americans can simply say, "I don't wish to be harassed by you (FBI agents)" and not be bothered. I find that hard to believe.

Examples of terrorism paranoia are: people in Georgia buying up gas masks, a boiler explosion that injured people and killed one — believed to be a terrorist act in fact it was not — and a lady who wanted to buy a crib for her baby's crib.

I believe Americans should not go overboard: No one should be made to feel captive in this society.

We must acknowledge the possibility, but not be so engulfed in our terror that we infringe upon the freedom and safety of others unjustly.

The FBI director has said that this country is safe from terrorist activities, but I'm sure how solid Sessions' assurances are. Most Americans need to bring their paranoia about terrorism down a couple of notches.

If this paranoia continued to escalate, there may be a move to intern Arab-Americans. I don't want that to happen. We hope we have learned our lesson from World War II.

We certainly don't want history to repeat itself.

— Tonya Adams is a staff writer and guest columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Your Turn

Don't jump on the war bandwagon

Dear editor:

When Desert Shield became Desert Storm, the war started by the Allied Coalition in the Middle East was not the only war that began. Another war started within the very core of my existence. A war that saturates the inner corners of my mind and soul. The war I fight is a war of my desperate hopes for the evolution of mankind beyond a nature of hatred, violence, and destruction against a notion that humanity will forever be lost in an abyss of ignorance, suffering, and an inability to truly seek peace.

When I see such an overwhelming majority of Americans supporting the decision by our government to begin a war, I cannot help but question why such absolute trust is now shown in our government. Have the American people so soon forgotten the lies and corruption of our highest officials during Vietnam and the Iran-contra scandal? Today the polls indicate that over 80 percent of the American public approves the decision by our government to put the lives of our defenders in jeopardy, not to mention the lives of thousands of people of other nationalities.

Before you jump on the bandwagon of masses blindly supporting the war, ask yourself exactly why we are at war, and whether the benefits, if any, outweigh the problems. Is our purpose really to stop a madman? If it is, why did the government befriend Saddam Hussein throughout the Iran-Iraq war of the last decade. Ask yourself if freedom is really being defended. It seems our freedom is in greater jeopardy now than prior to war. Finally, ask yourself if military aggression in the Middle East is really to prevent Saddam Hussein from invading other monarchies in a quest for regional dominance, or for expanding military-corporate complex of the United States in an effort to create permanent presence in the Middle East in a quest for global dominance.

My opposition to this war is neither unpatriotic nor un-American. Support of the war does not bring our soldiers home safe and alive. Aggression against a nation does not solve the problems of mankind, it only perpetuates them. Opposition to the war is a humanitarian effort to ensure our government's actions in the war and bring our soldiers home alive.

I plead all Americans to do everything possible to elect themselves through a variety of sources. The mainstream media censored by our government do not rely on this information alone. War is a complicated, delicate matter, it is also a painful, torture and death. Please stay informed and do not support our troops by writing letters and being aware.

Politics of Peace

Story by Amber Grimes * Photos by Thom Rakestraw

"Send George Bush, Send Dan Doyle, send Neil Bush when he gets out of jail," was just one of the comments that could be heard ringing through the air in Washington, D.C. Saturday afternoon.

The protest march began a couple of blocks in front of the Capital building and continued down Pennsylvania Avenue past the long line of police officers standing guard just outside the gates.

Many people traveled all night and even several days to get to protest in time to become a part of the march.

Peter McCabe and his two brothers traveled from Columbia, Mo. to take part in and show their support for the cause.

"I thought it was a good show of support for peace," said McCabe. "I think it is succeeding in getting its point across."

Montgomery College sophomore Nick Vanbrandt traveled to Washington, D.C. to gather more information on the war for himself. "I'm neutral on the whole thing, I'm just here to gather more information," said Vanbrandt.

"But I think if we weren't there there may never be peace over in that country."

College students were not the only people at the protest to voice their opinions on the war in the Gulf. Dan Jensen, a Vietnam war veteran from Doylestown, Pa., traveled four hours to tell people his experiences of war. "I was in a war, there is nothing glamorous about dying. I just don't want other people to go through what I went through," he said.

No matter what the reason for their being there, thousands of people gathered in the nation's capital last weekend to exercise their rights to have and express their opinions and feelings.

"Stop it now" was a simple message that said it all for a group of 20 demonstrators. If marchers did not have signs of their own, many would just join in with other groups who had banners that expressed their own opinions.

An anti-war activist expresses his disdain with the whole Desert Storm procedure. He wore the gas mask in hopes of getting the point across that there is a possibility of the war turning into a chemical one.

Above: By far the most noticeable protester was the 12-foot Uncle Sam who blew his horn in opposition of the war in the Gulf.

Below: A pro-America supporter leads a crowd of 50 other pro-troop demonstrators who antagonized marchers from the sidelines.

Variety acts slated for benefit

BY VIVETTE PEARSON
Staff Editor

More than 14 acts auditioned for a spot in the "Variety Show," a performance to benefit the school's music department. "We wanted to make the show interesting and fun," said Jane Hoerner, member of Sigma Alpha Iota, a professional fraternity for women. The show is scheduled for Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Dvorak

Concert Hall.

The acts will include juggling, lip sync, dancing, singing and a skit, along with an emcee for the evening.

"Anyone could have auditioned," Hoerner said. "We didn't turn any act away."

Sigma Alpha Iota held auditions, but accepted two more acts on Monday to provide more entertainment for the audience, Hoerner said. Funds generated from the show will help pay for new folders for the Eastern bands.

The winning group will receive a $50 prize. Each person involved in the show must pay a $1 participation, and admission to the show is $1.

"The Variety Show use to a tradition in collaboration with the professional male fraternity of music, Phi Mu Alpha, but it's since slacked off," said Diane Helfers, production chair for the event.

The show is sponsored by Dale Bayles Clothier on Campus, Domino's Pizza and TCBY.

AB to wrap up pre-budgeting process

BY ANN GILL
Staff Editor

The Apportionment Board Monday night will tie up any remaining loose ends and unanswered questions before its annual budgeting process begins at next week's meeting.

"We don't have anything specific yet," AB Chair and Financial Committee President Ken Wake said of the 7 p.m. meeting in the Tuscola Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

However, upcoming meetings will be so quick and tidy. The budgets for the boards under the AB's financial jurisdiction and any transfers or additions to those budgets are due by Friday and will take more than a month to process.

The AB oversees the financial affairs of the Student Senate, the Sports and Recreation Board, the University Board and its 14 committees and the AB itself.

None of the budgets to be reviewed have been submitted yet, Wake said, but neither have the projections for student enrollment on which the available funds is determined.

The AB budgets the student fees that are allotted for the upcoming fiscal year to its groups, all of which serve primarily non-academic purposes, Wake said. The amount of student fees that will be available is tentatively determined by the upcoming year's enrollment estimates, which are made by Glenn Williams, the vice president for student affairs.

The projected enrollment is multiplied by $18.15, a figure representing the student fee amounts paid by students. All budget requests from the groups then must fall into that estimated fee amount, Wake said.

Runnin' Rebels stay atop poll

By the Associated Press

UNLV continues unbeaten, but the Runnin' Rebels' dominance is no longer unquestioned.

For the first time in four weeks UNLV (15-0) failed to get all 64 first-place votes in weekly poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

In the poll released Monday, two voters picked Ohio State as No. 1.

The Buckeyes moved from fourth to third after beating Indiana and Minnesota last week.

Ohio State (17-0) was one of four teams in last week's Top 10 which did not lose.

The others were UNLV, a winner over UC-Santa Barbara and Louisville; Arkansas, which beat Texas A&M and Baylor and remained No. 2., and St. John's, which jumped from No. 10 to fourth with victories over Connecticut and Villanova.

UNLV, the defending national champion, is on a 26-game winning streak and has been No. 1 for 11 straight weeks.

In the latest poll, the Runnin' Rebels got 1,598 points, 82 points more than Arkansas and 108 more than Ohio State.

Completing the Top 10 are No. 4 Indiana, St. John's, Arizona, Duke, Syracuse, North Carolina and Kentucky. Arizona dropped to sixth from fifth; Duke moved from ninth to seventh; Syracuse dropped from sixth to eighth; North Carolina dropped from No. 7 to No. 9 and Kentucky dipped from eighth to 10th.

Nebraska (17-2) advanced three spots to No. 11.

Completing the Top 25 are UCLA, Utah, Louisiana State, Virginia, East Tennessee State, Southern Mississippi, Georgetown, Pittsburgh, New Mexico State, Oklahoma, New Orleans, Georgia Tech, Kansas, Seton Hall.

Clemens argues case to Brown

NEW YORK (AP) - Roger Clemens appeared before American League president Bobby Brown on Monday in an effort to overturn his five-game suspension at the start of the season.

Clemens, who was given the suspension along with a $10,000 fine for his actions in Game 4 of the American League playoffs, argued his case along with his agent, Randy Hendricks, and Gene Orza and Michael Weiner of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

"Everybody had a chance to say what was on their mind," Brown said. "We reviewed the tapes and we reviewed the umpires' reports." Umpires Jim Evans and Terry Cooney attended the 5 1/2-hour hearing, along with Umpires Association lawyer Richie Phillips and AL umpires supervisor Marty Springstead. Boston president John Harrington represented the Red Sox.

"We had the opportunity to present our side of what went on," Orza said. "We're hopeful that Bobby, if he takes a fresh look at the matter, will change his mind." Brown, who issued his original ruling in November, said the league was able to obtain two different videotapes of the incident, in which Cooney ejected Clemens after what the umpire said were derogatory comments from the mound. Clemens denies cursing at Cooney until after he was ejected.

Clemens and Hendricks were given until Feb. 28 to submit a brief.

"After I've seen the brief, I need to write a written opinion," Brown said. "This is going to be my first experience with a brief. I don't know if it will be a hundred-page brief or a three-page brief."

Time running out on 5 free agents

NEW YORK (AP) - With one day remaining in the new-look free agency period, five players still were available, including pitcher Jack Morris of the Detroit Tigers.

The new-look free agents have until midnight EST Tuesday to sign with new clubs or stay with their present teams. Morris was the most attractive of the remaining group.

"There's nothing I can say at this point," said Richard Moss, Morris' agent. Moss said that he was talking with other clubs besides the Tigers, so it was unclear where the winningest pitcher of the 1980s would wind up.

California outfielder Chili Davis and pitchers Juan Berenguer of Minnesota, Dave LaPoint of the New York Yankees and Mike LaCoss of San Francisco also were left from the original group of 15. The agents for Davis and LaPoint said Monday that their players would likely retain their present contracts. The first 10 new-look free agents to agree to new deals signed for a total of $79.95 million over 29 years, an average of $2,756,896 a season.

Meanwhile, six players in salary arbitration agreed Monday to one-year contracts, leaving 116 remaining in arbitration. Hearings are scheduled to begin next Monday.

Outfielder John Kruk and Philadelphia agreed at $1,175,000, a raise of $495,000, while infielder-outfielder Bip Roberts quadrupled his salary when San Diego settled at $875,000, a raise of $680,000.

Pitcher Eric Plunk and the New York Yankees agreed to $950,000, a raise of $435,500. Outfielder Dave Martinez and the Montreal Expos settled at $805,000, a raise of $395,000.

First baseman Todd Benzinger and the Cincinnati Reds agreed to $705,000, a raise of $380,000, while infielder Rene Gonzales and the Toronto Blue Jays settled at $306,250, a $100,000 raise.

Grind great Grange dies

LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP) — Grange, football's "Gallop-ghost" who starred as a running back at Illinois and later in professional football, died early Monday at a Lake Wales hospital.

Grange, 57, died of complications from pneumonia at about 3 a.m., his wife of 49 years, said. He had been in hospital since July and had been on the critical list for a long time.

Grange, one of the storied players of the game and one of 17 members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, made his number "77" famous during his years 1923-25 at Illinois.

Grange's blazing speed and electrifying performances helped catapult him from the inside sports pages to front-page headlines.

"I think I brought some excitement to the game," he once modestly conceded.

In his junior year, he scored touchdowns in 12 minutes and Michigan with sprints of 87, 56 and 45 yards. He scored six touchdowns altogether that game. The next season he scored 363 yards against undefeated Pennsylvania. He was an All-American for three seasons.

The son of a Wheaton lumberman, Grange became known as the "Wheaton Ice Man" when he carried 200-pound blocks of ice to his way through college.

Grange spent 13 years as a player, coach and promoter of pro football. He was in New York several years with a team called "Red Grange's Yankees" in the American professional league. Grange wound up his playing days in Chicago with the Bears, finishing his career as a pass receiver and punting back. Grange scored 56 touchdowns in his pro career.

After several successful business ventures, he retired to Florida and lived at Indian Lakes in Lake Wales. He had been in poor health in recent years and died at the Lake Wales hospital extended care facility.

are swimming extremely poor for this time. They're just tired, which is OK," Padovan added. "They're going to come around sooner or later. It may be when we rest totally."

Eastern's meet against Western Illinois was quite a different story.

Padovan stressed that it is hard to swim two meets back to back, but it's necessary in order to get his Panthers geared up for the big meets when they have to swim three days in a row.

"In a general sense, we did not swim very well (against Western)," Padovan said. "Other than Sue O'Sullivan, I can't think of anybody that swam well both days."

Some bright performances included Colleen Roach's first-place finish in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:06.50 and Jan Rhudy's second-place finish in the 100-yard butterfly, clocked at 1:06.22.

As far as the men's competition, Costello placed first in the 100-yard butterfly with a time of 57.65 and Malone placed second in the 1000-yard freestyle, clocked at 10:56.38.

"We're getting down to the easier part of our season," Padovan said. "We've got a single meet the next two weekends, a week off, and then the big meets (Indianapolis Invitational/Midwest Conference Championships)."

Women visit Western Kentucky

Streak on line against No. 13 Lady Hilltoppers

By CHRIS BOGHOSSIAN
Associate sports editor

Eastern's women's basketball team has found success on the road of late, winning two straight Gateway Conference matchups away from Lantz Gym.

The Lady Panthers, 8-9 overall and 3-6 in the Gateway Conference, take that two-game streak into Bowling Green, Kent., to take on 11th-ranked Western Kentucky at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the E.A. Diddle Arena.

The Lady Hilltoppers, who own a 16-1 record going into Tuesday's contest, lead the nation in three-point field goal shooting at 49 percent, led by junior guard Kim Pehlke (.512) and sophomore guard Renee Westmorland (.509).

But although his team is potent from three-point land, Western Kentucky head coach Paul Sanderford said his players rely more on an inside game.

"We're basically an inside-out team," Sanderford said. "We go for the three-pointers only if we can't go inside."

"We're a post-oriented team, but I'd say if I had to point to one thing for our success, it would be our defense."

Pehlke starts and averages 14.1 points per game to lead a very balanced attack for WKU. Westmorland, her backcourt mate, is next with 12.6 ppg. Starting forward Mary Taylor, a senior, dumps in 12.1 ppg, while senior forward Kim Norman (11.6) adds help off the bench.

Paulette Monroe posts up at the starting center slot and is averaging 9.3 ppg as a sophomore, while junior Lisa Lang starts with Taylor at forward. The Lady Hilltoppers are coming off an impressive 113-69 win over Alabama State last Thursday.

On the other hand, the Lady Panthers' busy road schedule has left them a bit unprepared for Western Kentucky. Eastern, which traveled to Northern Iowa and Drake from Saturday until Sunday, left for Bowling Green at 3 p.m. Monday without practicing for the Lady Hilltoppers.

"We're in a bind, because we've been out of classes for three days," Eastern head coach

Eastern center Stacy Friedrich pulls down a rebound against Indiana State last Saturday at Lantz Gym.

Barbara Hilke said. "We are going into this game without practice so that our kids could be in classes (Monday).

"And we're coming back directly after the game, so we'll get back at some ungodly hour in the morning so that they can be back in classes on Wednesday," Hilke added that the drive will take the team about seven hours.

Eastern is led by starting center Stacy Friedrich, a senior who is averaging 14.9 points and 8.1 rebounds per game. Junior forward Tracy Roller is close behind at 14.3 ppg, while Eastern's other starting forward, Bev Williams, puts in 12.9 and pulls down 7.9 boards.

Hilke said that the key for her team to stay with the Lady Hilltoppers will be to keep the ball out of the middle and limit the number of Pehlke's shots.

"I think we've got to really pack it in on them and then not allow Pehlke to shoot unlimited shots," Hilke said. Eastern is coming off its best shooting performance of the year. The Lady Panthers shot 51 percent from the field in their win over Drake Saturday.

Sanderford said that although his team is one of the top 15 in the country, he isn't taking Eastern lightly.

"They shoot the ball very well, so we'll have to put some pressure on them and contain them on the boards," Sanderford said. "We have tremendous respect for Eastern."

"Any time you're one of the top 15 or 20 teams in the nation, you've got to be ready to play because your opponents always go out and play a little tougher."

Tuesday's contest will be the last of a three-game road trip for Eastern, which returns to Gateway action Friday against Southern Illinois, the first of three straight games at Lantz Gym.

Burnout

Eastern pounds UIC Flames for fourth straight league win

By CHRIS BOGHOSSIAN
Associate sports editor

Illinois-Chicago coach Bob Hallberg will have to wait at least one more game to earn his 400th collegiate coaching victory.

Hallberg, who notched win 399 against Northern Iowa on Saturday, was hoping to reach the milestone Monday night against Eastern at the UIC Pavilion in Chicago.

But the Panthers, led by guards Steve Rowe and Gerald Jones, pounded out a 68-44 win over UIC for their second straight road win and fourth overall. The Flames lost at home for only the third time in their last 23 games at the Pavilion.

Rowe scored 18 of his 24 points in the second half, and Jones tallied 15 of his 22 before the intermission in helping the Panthers jump to 9-7 overall and 5-2 in the Mid-Continent Conference. Eastern is in third place in the league, one game behind Northern Illinois (6-1) and one-half game behind Wisconsin-Green Bay (5-1).

"It was a great win for us," Eastern coach Rick Samuels said. "The bottom line is, our kids played hard."

"I told them before the game that this is the time to peak. If we consistently give a good effort, good things will happen for us."

Eastern scored the game's first 10 points, eight of which came from Jones. But UIC cut into the lead and tied the game at 12 for the game's only deadlock. The Flames never led in the game.

The Panthers held a 30-22 lead at the half, and not only did Jones do half of the offensive damage, he held UIC guard Tony Freeman scoreless. Freeman came in the contest averaging 15 points a game and finished the night four points before he was ejected late in the game.

Eastern slowly pulled out the second half. After the Panthers cut the lead to 36-30 on a shot by Sean Buchanan, the Panthers went on a 13-4 run, capped by Johnson's 3-pointer that gave the team a 49-34 lead with 1:11 remaining.

The Flames stayed within striking distance until Freeman, who didn't score until the 36-minute mark in the game, was called for a technical foul on Johnson and was subsequently ejected.

Travon Hughes led UIC with 15 points and Brian Hill added 11. The Flames shot just 31 percent from the field on their home court while the Panthers hit 54 percent of their shots, including 4-of-5 from the point land.

The win gave the Panthers their first four-game winning streak since late in the 1988-89 campaign and sets up a showdown when they travel to DeKalb to take on the first-place Huskies Thursday.

Swim teams split two weekend meets

By DON FISHER
Staff writer

Eastern's men's and women's swim teams seem to be getting back on track after splitting their meets over the weekend.

The women chalked up a 154-68 victory against Principia College Friday but fell to Western Illinois 143-90, while the men topped Principia 119-96 and lost 150-72 to Western.

Sophomore Wendy Bast and Susan O'Sullivan topped the 1000-yard freestyle event with Bast placing first (2:04.92) and O'Sullivan touching in right behind with a time of 5:00.86 on Friday.

Freshman Ronae Scheuer placed first in the 200-yard butterfly with a time of 2:23.79 and Lee Singer also posted a win in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 5:34.72.

Diver Karen Adkins won both the one-meter and the three-meter diving competition.

"We (women) had a couple of good swims (against Principia)," Eastern head coach Ray Padovan said. "A couple of people are coming out of their shells and swimming some extremely good times."

The men's meet against Principia was extremely close up until the last two events.

Junior Jeff Moll placed first in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 5:14.87 and Mitch Moon won first in the 200-yard breaststroke, clocked at 2:20.09.

Moon also won the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 4:39.58.

Another first place performance was recorded by the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Brad Padovan, Bill Malone, Mike McCann and Bill Costello.

According to Padovan, the team swam extremely well and Costello is starting to get back down to where he was before the backstroke event.

"The close competition was a little bit and we're starting to get around," Padovan said. "We've got some people swim some of our best times."

Malone placed second in the 1000-yard freestyle with a time of 10:51.63 and Costello also placed second in the 200-yard breaststroke, clocked at 2:09.86.

Eastern's Lady Panthers finished second overall in the EIU Track and Field Invitational on Saturday in Lantz Fieldhouse.

The highlight of the meet came in the 55-meter dash, where Donna Levy left her competition in the blocks by winning in 7.34 seconds. Her time was both a new school and fieldhouse record. Levy also took the 200-meter dash in an impressive 25.60.

Head coach John Craft said that he was pleased that many of his athletes improved their performances from last week's trip to Purdue.

"Overall our people competed well," said Craft. "Many of them improved on their efforts from last weekend."

Aislann Willey was one of the improved individuals after finishing fourth in the 5,000-meter run. She took nine seconds off of her personal best in the race, finishing in 18:52.41.

Ti Jaye Rhudy withstood the pain of a knee injury to place second in the mile at 5:26.81. Also, Kala Scott won her final event, the 800-meter run, by a large margin in 2:31.54 but finished second in the overall pentathlon.

Tara Mayner won the high jump with a leap of 5-feet 7 1/4-inches and was a member of Eastern's 4x400-meter relay which finished second at 4:15.82. Esta Saverson won the long jump and leaped 33-feet 10 3/4 in the triple jump, which pleased Craft.

"The triple jump is real hard on the legs," said Craft. "This was Esta's first time competing in the triple, and she has some shin problems as it is. So we won't enter her in the triple very often, but I was very impressed with her performance."
