IAB votes to retain golf funds

by Brad Patterson
The Intercollegiate Athletic Board voted unanimously Nov. 21 to permanently fund the golf team but decided not to reinstate the gymnastics program.

Meeting just before Thanksgiving break, the IAB voted on a recommendation made the previous evening at a special board meeting that gymnastics should not be restored, at least not in the near future.

Student IAB chairman Boyd Kowalski said, "The committee showed that the cost of reinstituting the gymnastics program was too much this time."

Among the reasons given for the decision was the cost of refurbishing the equipment, the high cost of insurance premiums for the gymnasts and the cost of hiring a men's and a women's coach.

In voting to permanently restore the program, the IAB also approved a statement that the implementation of any future decision to drop a sport take place one year after the decision is made.

Don Dotzauer, student executive vice president and a member of the IAB, said, "I really think this shows the IAB willing to take a stand."

"It provides a guarantee for golfers," he added.

Dotzauer was referring to the decision this fall to drop the golf program immediately because not enough funds were available to hire a coach.

However, the sport was reinstated when an area golf instructor volunteered his time to lead the team.

Golf, gymnastics and the men's tennis team were dropped in the spring of 1975, again because of a lack of funds.

However, a $3.50 per semester fee was approved the following spring to fund the women's sports program, thereby freeing up enough money in the men's program to fund the minor sports which had been dropped.

Athletic Director Mike Mullally then proposed a schedule to reinstate the sports. Under his plans the gymnastics program for both men and women could have been restored this fall.

But Mullally said this fall the program could not be reinstated, again because of a lack of funds.

In other matters, the board considered a bylaw which would guarantee funding of transportation to national tournaments for women's sports.

Presently the National Collegiate Athletic Association pays for the transportation of male athletes to postseason play but each school must pay women athletes who travel to tournaments.

Tugger, former frat mascot, dies

by Karen Kunz

One of Eastern's legendary figures will no longer be strolling the quads this spring during Greek Week.

Tugger, the 185-pound former mascot of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, was hit by a car Nov. 21 near his home in Effingham.

Scott Blum, president of the Sig Taus, said Tugger was found by Gwen Husek, the wife of Sig Tau alumnus Tom Husek, who has been taking care of the dog for more than two years.

Blum said when Husek discovered Tugger was missing, she went looking for him and found his body on the side of the road.

"He had definitely been hit by a car," Blum said.

Tugger's body was brought back to Charleston the night of the accident and buried at the Sig Tau house on Seventh Street.

A mixture of Labrador and Newfoundland, Tugger was an impressive sight not only on campus but at several Greek gatherings. He was a familiar part of rush parties and often joined the Sig Tau members on stage at Greek Sing each spring.

Tugger made his last appearance on campus during Greek Week last April after two frat members drove to Husek's farm in Bloomington to bring him to Charleston for the festivities.

Brought to the Sig Tau house as a pup in 1967, Tugger's huge size earned him recognition but eventually led to his being "put out to pasture."

In the fall of 1976, Tugger was forced to leave his home at the Sig Tau house when numerous complaints were made by neighbors about his wanderings and barking.

So many complaints were received by Charleston officials that it sent a warning letter to the house that summer threatening to take legal action and file a formal complaint.

The chapter's alumni association also said the dog had to leave because of rule infractions concerning keeping Tugger in the house.

Since the fraternity could not confine Tugger outside, the Sig Taus had to move him to Husek's farm in McLean, near Bloomington, and later to Effingham when Husek moved.

In a recent Eastern News story about Tugger, Sig Tau member Bruce Fulton said the dog's "intimidating size and ferocious bark scared little kids and the mailman."

But, he added, "Tugger never really hurt anyone and he never tore up anything around the house."

In his last appearance on Eastern's campus, Tugger's age had begun to show. In addition to a little gray around the muzzle, his pace was not as quick as the days when sorority members came to the Sig Tau house to get his paw print for a scavenger hunt.

Supreme Court to hear Fry rights violation suit

by Karen Kunz

The student Supreme Court will decide in a preliminary hearing Tuesday if it will hear a suit brought by junior Mary Fry against the housing office.

The hearing will be held at 7 p.m. in the Union addition Kansas Room.

Don Cook, adviser to the Supreme Court, said Monday Fry is asking the court to render an opinion on her suit.

Fry alleges that her rights were violated under the Student Bill of Rights when the housing office refused to grant her an exception to the rule requiring all freshman and sophomores to live in the residence halls.

As a sophomore, Fry wanted the exception so she could move into the Covenant House, a house for women run by the Christian Collegiate Fellowship.

Fry asked for the exemption on the grounds that freshman and sophomore women are allowed to live in sorority houses.

When she was denied the exemption, however, Fry moved into the Covenant House anyway and was requested by the housing office to pay housing fees for the semester she did not live in the dorm.

Witness decision near

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP)—Police say a decision will be made by Wednesday on which of the 80 survivors of the Peoples Temple suicide-murders can return home and which will be held as suspects and material witnesses.

Three members of the sect were questioned by police at headquarters Monday, but Assistant Commissioner Skip Roberts said no charges were filed. He would not say what the questioning covered.

"We just want to question them some more and go back over their story," Roberts said. He said they would be released but did not say when.

Boozers held hostage

WYANDOTTE, Mich. (AP)—A man with a rifle held 10 tavern customers hostage Monday for up to eight hours during which the drinks were on the house and five of the hostages turned down a chance to leave, police said.

One of the hostages, Ben Dudley, a 41-year-old truck driver, said Gary Cornell, 35, of this Detroit suburb entered Bill's Corner Bar at 1:40 a.m., then went back out and returned with a rifle.

"Give everybody a drink. This is not a holdup or stickup. I've got problems," Dudley quoted Cornell as saying.

Police said the incident ended without injury after a reporter came to the bar to talk with Cornell about his problems, which included charges of mistreatment by a hospital. Cornell was then taken to Wyandotte General Hospital.

Carter to tighten budget

ST. LOUIS (AP)—President Carter, declaring that "no aspect of government will be sacred," warned the nation's top urban leaders Monday that the next federal budget will be "very, very tight" and that they will have to exercise restraint to help fight inflation.

"All of you have been through the budget cycle yourself, and you know what it is to face unlimited demands with limited resources," he told the board of directors of the National League of Cities.

In an earlier speech before the league's annual convention, Carter pledged "to do this without starving useful programs." He said repeatedly that military spending will be scrutinized as carefully as domestic programs, but he did not say military spending would be cut.

Court to restudy decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—Illinois' highest court was ordered Monday by the Supreme Court to restudy its decision blocking the state from filing charges of delinquency against a 16-year-old boy who accidentally killed two children in an auto accident.

The justices acted after receiving an appeal from Illinois Attorney General William Scott, who argued that state authorities should be free to charge John M. Vitale as a delinquent minor because of alleged involuntary manslaughter.

The high court's brief order told the Illinois Supreme Court to determine "whether its judgment is based upon federal or state constitutional grounds, or both."

Elderly patients missing

ST. LOUIS (AP)—State social workers joined police in the search Monday for several elderly patients missing from a suburban nursing home described by an investigator as "horrible...just filthy." The patients were removed without explanation early last week from the Jera Su Manor home in Manchester, authorities said.

A search of the grounds started when relatives of the missing patients told police they were worried because they could not contact the home during the Thanksgiving holidays. Police found the home unlocked and the patients and staff gone.

Charges filed against Charleston resident

Two more charges of attempted kidnapping and aggravated battery were filed Nov. 21 against Mikey Daniels in connection with the attempted abduction of an Eastern student last month.

Daniels, 18, a Charleston resident, had been charged with two counts of attempted kidnapping and aggravated assault after an Oct. 16 incident at Carman Hall.

Jim Dedman, assistant state's attorney, said Monday that Daniel's jury trial is set for January.

Three other men have pleaded guilty to charges surrounding the event.

One of them, Bob Jones, 23, of Charleston, was not sentenced as of Monday since the judge is waiting for a report by the county probation officer, Dedman said.

Philosophy forum set

Three Eastern faculty members will present a forum on various philosophical views of the human body at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Coleman Hall Room 228.

The forum will acquaint students with current solutions to philosophical problems, Robert Barford of the philosophy department, said.

George Colby of the English department will present "The Mystical View of the Body," the Indian point of view. Barford will bridge the gap between the Indian view and the Western view in his lecture, "The Body as Object and as Flesh."

The scientific view of the body will be presented by William Kirk of the psychology department, Barford said.

Each speaker will lecture for no more than 15 minutes, he added.

Admission is free to the public and students of psychology and anthropology are encouraged to attend, Barford said.

Solar presentation slated

A slide show of solar heated homes in New Mexico will be featured during a lecture Tuesday by energy consultant Leonard Merry.

Merry, whose appearance is being sponsored by the energy management fraternity Beta Tau Upsilon, will present the slide show at 9 p.m. in Carman Hall Room 121.

Currently running a solar energy heating design/consulting firm called Uncle Ray's Energy in Petersburg, Bl., Merry is experienced in science research and has spent four months in New Mexico studying solar heating.

While in New Mexico, Merry photographed some of the unique solar heated buildings and has included the slides in his lecture.

In addition to explaining the basic principles of solar heating and energy efficient design, Merry will be available for questioning following the lecture.

Council to discuss proposals

New course proposals for the art and special education educational guidance departments will be discussed Monday by the Council on Teacher Education.

The COTE will meet at 2 p.m. in the addition Tuscola-Arcola Room. COTE Chairman Kathlene Shank said Monday the COTE will also discuss a proposal to require a mathematics course for elementary education majors.

Members of the special education and elementary education faculties will be present to discuss the course proposals, she said.

Senior Bruno to present recital

Senior music major Donna Bruno will present a recital at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Dvorak Fine Arts Concert Hall.

Bruno, a mezzo-soprano who has been active in opera while at Eastern, is singing a group of seven gypsy songs, dances, secretary of the music department, said.

She will also sing a German song, "Kinder Totenlieder" by the German composer Mahler.

A contemporary piece by Samuel Barber entitled "Dover Beach" with accompaniment by a string quartet will also be presented.

Admission is free to the public.

Former aide arrested in Moscone shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - San Francisco Mayor George Moscone and city supervisor Harvey Milk were shot and killed Monday at City Hall, and a former supervisor was arrested, city officials said.

Police arrested Dan White, who resigned earlier this month but then asked Moscone to reappoint him. Moscone had not been expected to agree and was due to name a successor Monday.

Police said White had first gone to Moscone's office inside the ornate, domed City Hall, at Civic Center 15 blocks from the waterfront.

After Moscone was shot, White ran down the hall to his former office where Milk was shot, authorities said. Then White fled the building, police said.

It was not immediately clear why Milk, who had his own office, was in the one formerly occupied by White.

A police radio broadcast said that White, 32, drove to the Police Department's Northern Station in the North Beach area and surrendered about 35 minutes after the shootings.

Mel Wax, Moscone's press secretary, said White came to the mayor's office about 10:40 a.m. PST and asked to see Moscone. White did not have an appointment, but Moscone saw him in the outer office and invited him into his private office.

Wax said normally someone sits in when the mayor has visitors, but Moscone said in this case there was no need.

"I didn't want them to see each other. I thought that would be a bad scene," Wax said.

"They were alone when this happened. There were three shots, as I understand it," Wax said.

Reserve your seat to watch new era unfo

A 1-10 team slated to end up last in its conference finds itself 10-2, and playing the first ranked team in the championship semi-finals.

Going to a school with a winning football team is a new experience for Eastern students, and having the only winning football record of the state universities, including the University of Illinois, is an even newer situation.

It's one everyone appears to be enjoying, however, and we hope that transfers into O'Brien Stadium this weekend.

A sellout crowd is predicted for Saturday's game with Youngstown, a crowd which should be made up predominantly of students.

Eastern has an excellent chance of avenging its earlier loss to Youngstown for a trip to the nationals: the Panthers will be at home and up from an exciting playoff game in California.

Youngstown is a good team, though, and it may be that the Panthers' chief advantage will come from a new weapon—a stadium packed with student fans.

Reserve a seat for this Saturday's game, and savor knowing that you will be part of what looks like a new era in Eastern's sports program.

Nice try

Editor:

As chairman of the department of foreign languages I thank Josh Martin for his article on foreign languages (News, Nov. 15). I would like, however, to correct some misimpressions which he apparently carried away from our interview and has passed on to the readers.

First, the choice of a negative headline immediately creates the impression that a requiem is in order. I assure the university community that foreign languages are alive and well and living in Coleman Hall. Since 1973-74, in fact, the total departmental enrollment has increased almost 50 per cent.

Secondly, I did not compare the number of French and Spanish students with German majors. I said that majors in all languages had been declining but that French and Spanish were now maintaining a consistent level while German had continued to decline.

Third, I did not say that only 50 per cent of the high schools require a foreign language. I said that about 50 per cent of U.S. colleges require a foreign language for entrance.

Fourth, the statement about students missing out on something etc. etc. did not come from me. Perhaps it was made by Chris Otten, the student interviewed.

Fifth, I said I favored small classes in foreign languages, not a small department!

Sixth, I said that we couldn't offer additional courses without new staff and that this would require money.

Seventh, I spoke of service courses, such as our new 1002, which might interest non-majors. These are not "foreign service programs."

Finally, I spoke of our new proposals, Cadet Teaching and Lab Resources, which will be limited to French and Spanish students in teacher education and which may strengthen our teacher program. (These have since been approved.)

Thanks again, Josh. I give you A for effort and intention; but I regret that your results were not commensurate with these.

Leo L. Kelly, Chairman

Rally round

Editor:

Yay troops. Democracy wins out for the good once again. Mamie sends congratulations. . . telegrams flooding in. Last-minute rallying of forces.

People of this district, blah blah, sending a message. Mandate to be silly. Thank all those who made this letter possible.

The supreme effort was made by some of you on election day: not counting the votes I got from people too oblivious to know who they were voting for, or who punched the hole by mistake.

I got 199 people's votes—people who were either of such sound mind that they agreed with my ideas, or who cast all their deadly seriousness aside and threw their secret lot in with mine, in what they perhaps hoped would be an insignificant act of defiance.

I am here to tell them that no act of defiance is insignificant, and to say yay, hurray with those of you who were amused and/or provoked by my campaign literature.

The funny and provocative talk hopefully won't stop because I've been elected. I will be begging your attention fairly regularly, I imagine, about things that may or may not be tremendously interesting, but that will be important to those among you who realize how defenseless people are if they have neither power nor knowledge of what's being done to them by the people who do have power.

I will try to tell the truth, and tell it as loud as is necessary. If I don't, please tell me.

Now, rising to an emotional finish, some catchy words to keep the masses happy (and mad): from Jerry Farber's "The Student as Nigger:"

"I'm not particularly optimistic about the possibility of a student government actually liberating students from external control. Perhaps the ideal student government would be a sort of suicide machine.

It would offer to confer with the faculty to work out equitable approaches to decision-making where both the students and faculty are concerned.

It would, of course, be promptly dissolved by the school authorities, who'd point out that they hold final responsibility for the administration of the campus.

The student government could then reconstitute itself as a real student government—an underground student government, if you like—abandoning the "official" puppet role. It would then be in a position to work for the students freely and without fear.

Letters to the editor

It would also have helped to the issues involved very clear."

IM support

Editor:

I would like to respond to Rick Williams' rude letter of Nov. 16, to Dr. David Dutler of the Intramural Department:

I was more than disturbed by your harsh letter as were others I talk with.

I was Dr. Dutler's secretary for years and the former director's secretary for one year. From this experience I came to know how the intramural system was being run quite well.

Since coming to EIU, Dr. Dutler changed the intramural office completely and it was definitely for good.

Dr. Dutler's main concern has always been directed to the student body. He does not consider it as being an intramural department."

As far as the $20 deposit for entering teams: it's about time to institute this rule. Do you realize how unnerving it is for another set of officials, and the intramural personnel when one team does not bother to show up for a scheduled contest?

I am sure you are guilty of this time or another yourself!

Try being on the other end, as an official, and a team does not show up for a game without notice. Any fraternal team willing enough to play gladly collect $20 and show up for their games.

Racquetball courts are so much in demand anymore and because of this some action must be taken. Just happy you aren't paying 50 cents a court as they did two years ago.

Dr. Dutler has always been open to student suggestions about the sports but nobody ever suggests: all they are gripe.

Mr. Williams, your sarcastic suggestions about water polo, weightlifting, and a $50 racquetball court don't show how childish some people can be!

Try working with Dr. Dutler instead of always against him.

Student court to make decision on suit today

CCF paid the fees for Fry. Cook said if the court decides to hear Fry's suit, it can begin proceedings Tuesday after the hearing if both sides are ready or can postpone action until later.

He added that should the court decide in favor of Fry, the opinion of the court along with its recommendation for any action will be sent to Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams.

"The student Supreme Court does not have the power to take any action," Cook said. "It can only give an opinion and a recommendation."

Fry said she is also planning on filing a suit against the university in federal court in Danville. Fry will be represented in the federal case by the American Civil Liberties Union.

Rev. Bob Ross, adviser to CCF, said Monday, "As far as I know it has not been filed. Our attorney in Chicago said he is still working on it," Ross said.

Ross said he does not know who will be representing Fry at the Student Supreme Court hearing but "I am sure we will have somebody there to assist her."

When contacted Monday about who would represent the housing office in Fry's suit, Housing Director Louis Hencken said he did not know anything about the suit.

Changes to be completed

Faculty Senate constitutional amendments should be ready for presentation to the entire faculty for approval early next semester, Senate Chairman Robert Shuff said Monday.

Shuff said the senate has gone through every article but has tabled a couple of items to later rewrite certain terms.

He said the senate should complete all of the amendments at its meeting at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Martinsville Room.

The amendments will be presented to the faculty for approval article by article, Shuff added.

Besides definition of faculty, Shuff said articles of change concern the establishment of committees, procedure for voting and the process of amending the constitution.

Other changes concern officers and their duties and the relationship among the Faculty Senate, the administration, Student Senate, student body and the faculty at large.

Energy group to present film

A film and lecture on solar energy will be sponsored by the Coles County chapter of the Prairie Alliance at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon Room.

A film, "The Last Resort," which presents the issues surrounding protests against a nuclear power plant in Seabrook, New Hampshire will be shown.

After the film, Brian Crissey of Illinois State University will present a lecture, senior Karen Greenburg, program coordinator, said.

Flicks

'Voyage'

The Eastern Film Society will present "Voyage In Italy" at 5, 7, and 9 p.m. Tuesday in the Buzzard Education Building Auditorium.

The movie is about a couple who travel to Italy while their marriage is dissolving. The environment rejuvenates their marriage.

Ingrid Bergman and George Sanders star in the film.

Admission is $1.

Women cagers take 3rd in turkey tourney

Captain Lisa Williams pulls down one of her five rebounds in the season opener against Chicago State in Lantz Gym. (News photo by Buddy Eastburn)

by Vicki Woodbury
 Eastern's womens basketball team continued their winning ways over the holidays by clenching a third place title in the William Wood Thanksgiving Tournament in Fulton, MO. Friday.
 In an eight team double elimination tourney, Eastern defeated Southeast Missouri on their first night out by a score of 60-56.
 Four players led the attack against SEMO, scoring in double figures. Leading the team was Lisa Williams who scored 14 points followed by Marche Harris and Jody Furry's netting of 12 each plus Joann Huber who dropped 12 and pulled in 12 rebounds.
 Saturday afternoon the Panthers tipped off against the host team, William Woods. Even with Veda Sargent, Furry, Williams and Huber all scoring in double figures, William Wood dealt them a 59-55 licking.
 "The game with SEMO was pretty physical. They will probably be the roughest team we'll face all season," head coach Melinda Fisher said. "The difference with William Wood was they went to the line 22 times shooting 13 for 22 and we went to the line 5 times shooting three out of five," Fisher added.

 Although defeated, all was not lost and Eastern tipped off again this time defeating cross-state rival Western Illinois in a 63-50 whipping.
 "We had the lead right from the beginning. We took the percentage shots, handled the press and they only came within eight points of us the entire game," Fisher said.
 Fisher cited the performance of the players who really made things work. "I was really impressed with the performance of Jody Furry. She was the most consistent, scoring in double figures in two games. Lisa Williams also played real well, even though she was moved to three different positions. She handled each of them pretty good," Fisher said.
 Fisher also cited the winning performances of Jane Archer and Jane Bertolino who came off the bench to score 20 points alone in the Western game.
 Bertolino's 20 point game was the tournament high for any women's basketball player.
 Furry was nominated by her teammates as the player of the week, an honor that includes the Chicago State game and the William Woods Tourney.

Furry noted about the game, "We played pretty well. We had some weak spots, but for the beginning of the season that's pretty good. If we keep it going, it's going to be pretty hard to stop us."

Reserved tickets on sale for semis

Tickets for the Eastern-Youngstown State NCAA Division II semi-final game will go on sale at 12 p.m. Tuesday in two locations.
 Student tickets will be on sale at the University Union ticket office, for $2, and non-student tickets will be sold at the Lantz ticket office.
 There will be 5,000 reserved seat tickets available to anyone at $5 per ticket.
 Students only may purchase a special $2 ticket, but all students must present a validated ID with that ticket when entering the stadium, Eastern athletics officials said.
 "Those persons who had regular season tickets will be able to purchase reserved seat tickets at the assistant athletic director's office at Lantz Gym," Eastern Athletic Director Mike Mullally said. "These tickets will go on sale at noon Tuesday but will be held only until 5 p.m. Wednesday," he added.
 Telephone orders will not be accepted either at the Union or at the Lantz Building.
 Gates will open at 10:05 a.m. Saturday for the contest, which is set to kick off at 11:30 a.m.
 "It is best to come early, especially those people who will have general admission tickets," Assistant Athletic Director Ron Paap said. "The early starting time may confuse some people, so things may be a little tight as far as seating is concerned."

 On the day of the game, all seats that are left will be on sale for $5. All the seats sold Saturday will be general admission.

ABC TV prepares for semis' regional coverage

The ABC Television network is getting plans together for the regional telecast of the Eastern-Youngstown State NCAA Division II semi-final game Saturday.
 Donn Bernstein, public relations man for the network, said that the game would be shown in certain parts of the midwest. Eastern Sports Information Director Dave Kidwell was not informed of the actual market the game would reach Monday, but should know on Tuesday.
 The game must be sold out by 12 p.m. Thursday, for the game to be shown in the Charleston viewing area. If the game is not a sellout, then the game will be blacked out in a 120-mile radius.
 "We must sell 9,500 tickets to constitute a sellout," Athletic Director

Mike Mullally said. If the game is not sold out, the blackout will affect both the ABC affiliates in the area, WAND-TV Channel 17 in Decatur, and WBAK TV Channel 38 in Terre Haute, Ind.
 The network did announce who would be announcing the regional broadcast from O'Brien Stadium. Vern Lundquist, a Dallas sportscaster, will handle the play-by-play chores, and Ben Martin, a former coach at the Air Force Academy will do the color commentary.
IM entry date set
 The entry deadlines for the Intramural handball and wrestling tournaments is set at 4:30 p.m. Friday. A $10 forfeit fee must be included with the entries.

Panthers ease past Millikin in opener 74-58

The Eastern Panthers utilized a big advantage in both depth and talent to ease past Millikin 74-58 in the season opener for both teams Monday at Lantz Gym.

The Panthers never trailed in the contest, and led by as much as 20 points in the latter stages of the game.

"It was a good opener for us," head coach Don Eddy said. "We did what we wanted to do, we played a lot of people, and got some of our younger players into the flow of the game."

The Panthers did play a lot of players, 15 in fact, including the 'Demo 5,' a group of players Eddy brings off the bench with a specific job to do.

"We call the 'Demo 5' for demolition," Eddy said. "They are supposed to demolish the opposition for about two to three minutes at a time."

The five, Delbert Miller, Tom Thigpen, Chuck Turk, Mike Stumpe, and Ricky Robison did give the Panthers a lift when they entered the contest with 8:45 remaining in the first half.

At that time, the game was tied at 18-18. Two steals off the press resulted in baskets, and with 3:00 left in the opening half, the Eastern lead had grown to 32-22.

Dennis Mumford hit two free throws to give the Panthers a 14 point lead 36-22. Mumford banked in a short jump minutes later to give the Panthers a 39-28 lead.

Millikin made a run at Eastern early in the second half, narrowing the gap to 41-35 with 16:20 remaining.

"We were flat at the start of the second half, Eddy said. "We started a couple of new players, and we didn't get the job done right away."

The Panthers maintained a ten point lead for much of the second half, and gradually eased away from the out-manned Big Blue.

The biggest lead of the night was 20 points, when Craig DeWitt hit from outside to put the Panthers on top 72-52.

DeWitt led Eastern in scoring with 19 points, followed by Mumford with 13, and Jim Williams was also in double figures with 10 points.

Mark Kreke paced Millikin with 13 points and Gary Jackson added 12.

"Overall I was pleased with our play," Eddy said. "We were ragged at times, but we did some things well. I was real happy with our rebounding."

Eddy had praise for the guard play of the Panthers.

"All of our guards played well. Lance Jones and Mike Pickens did a good job for the first game. Dave LeTourneau and Chuck Turk really played well off the bench."

Socher, Aggies not ready for Panther win

by Carl Gerdovich

The element of surprise hit the University of California-Davis football team Saturday and Aggie head coach Jim Socher knew it.

Hanging his head in anguish following the Aggie loss to Eastern in the NCAA's Division II playoffs, Socher was feeling the disappointment of a loss he obviously wasn't ready for. Having been involved in the playoffs before, the head coach thought his team was more prepared.

"They really shocked us. They got us good," an emotional Socher said at the conclusion. "I can't really say for sure if we were looking past them, but they beat us."

"We knew it was going to be a battle between our defense and their offense, but what really surprised us was their defense. They swarmed us," Socher said.

Although the final score doesn't show it, the Panther defense turned in a performance unmatched by any other this season. Even the statistics don't show it.

Cal-Davis managed 432 total offensive yards, 358 coming via the pass. Eastern totaled 321 yards, 206 resulting from the air game. However, it was the big plays, when they really counted most, that told the story.

Panther linebacker Ray Jeske's pass interception late in the half proved to be big defensive play that turned the game's momentum around. At least that's how Aggie quarterback Mike Moroski saw the play.

"We were ahead 10-7 and had excellent field position after we blocked that punt. We should have scored on the drive too," Moroski explained. "I didn't even see him (Jeske)."

The Panther's Cris Larsen had his punt blocked by Aggie defensive end Rick Mohr, setting up a perfect scoring opportunity for Cal-Davis.

However, on the first play from scrimmage Jeske picked off Moroski's pass returning it 72 yards to the three yard line. The play set up a one-yard plunge by Lonnie Denton giving the Panthers a 14-10 lead.

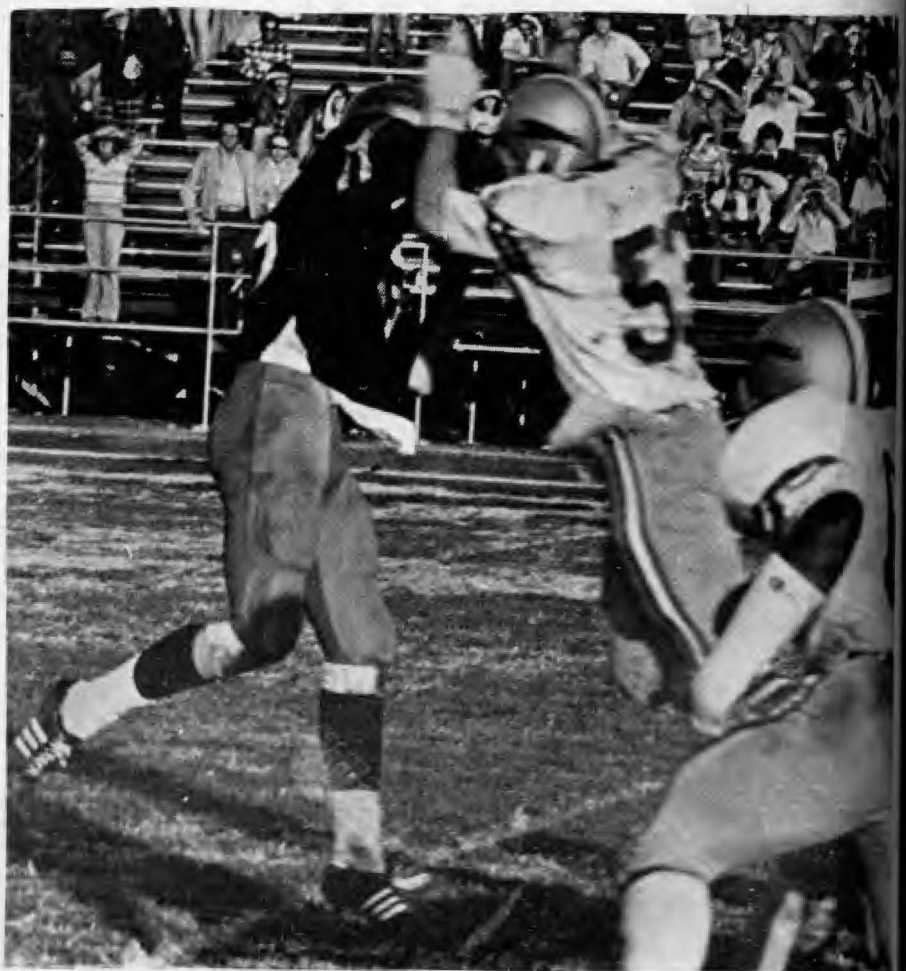

"That play really got the guys down. But then the punt return to start the half killed us," Moroski added.

The Panthers swarming defense stopped the Aggies on their first drive opening the second half. Chip Dull's punt saw Eastern's Mark Campana return it 72 yards for a touchdown.

Statistically, Eastern's defensive efforts may be hard to pinpoint but the key plays were there. Linebacker Alonzo Lee and cornerback Glenn Thomas also had interceptions while defensive end Pete Catan found himself in the Cal-Davis backfield as often as the Aggie backs.

"We wanted it, and that was incentive enough," Catan said. "They thought they had the game and if we were going to win we'd have to take it from them. Well, by God, we did."

Cal-Davis committed six turnovers in the game, each resulting in a scoring opportunity for the Panthers.

Eastern's defense made sure the chance was there.

"The defense was by far the best all year. They had a lot of big plays,"

Eastern offensive coordinator Mike Shanahan said. "They have been doing a great job all year, giving us perfect position to score."
