Aid recipients to pay 10% of award to ISSC

by Peggy Schneider

Eastern students who received financial aid awards from the Illinois State Scholarship Commission this semester will soon have to pay the commission back 10 percent of the amount they received.

The ISSC voted Monday to reduce all spring financial aid awards by 10 percent, which will require Eastern's Financial Aids Office to rebill 2,200 students, Financial Aids Director Sue McKenna said.

Each student's award will be reduced by 10 percent, she said.

The maximum amount of money a student will have to pay would be about $44, or 10 percent of $432.65, the amount of tuition and fees this semester, McKenna said.

The reduction affects 70,000 students throughout the state, ISSC Director Larry Matjeka said last week.

Matjeka, however, could not be reached for comment Monday about the 10 percent reduction.

Associate Director of Financial Aids John Flynn, who could not be reached for comment Monday because he was attending the commission meeting in Springfield, estimated last week that rebilling Eastern students may cost Eastern about $3,300 — including postage, clerk salaries and computer programming.

Flynn also said last week that rebilling probably could not begin until May 4 because campus computers would be tied up in registration.

McKenna said she did not know how much the rebilling would cost Eastern, or when the rebilling would begin.

An underestimation of the drop-out rate of those no longer needing the financial aid because they have found other means of aid, or a drop out of school has forced the commission to seek additional funds to cover a $2.7 million short-fall, Matjeka said.

The reduction was made late this year because the exact trend of drop-outs was not calculated until recently, Matjeka said earlier.

Although the commission has sought additional funds from the Illinois General Assembly in the past, Matjeka said the legislature would not support supplying the funds now while it was cutting other state budgets.

Renovations of Union area slated to begin by August

by Mary Holland

Renovation work on the vacant cafeteria in the University Union to transform it into a leisure and recreation area for students will begin in August, Union Area Head Bill Clark said.

Plans for the space include a craft center, an open study area, gift shop, television lounge and billiards room.

The project, which has been budgeted to cost $253,000, should "probably" be completed by spring of 1982, he said.

"The Union Board and staff feel increased leisure activities will be a positive thing for students," Clark said.

He said the Union Board developed plans for the space after compiling results of a survey taken by students earlier this semester.

The survey asked students what they would "use and want" in the Union, Clark said. When the space served as a cafeteria it did not pay for itself, Clark added.

He said he felt the recreation and leisure center would lead to much better utilization of the space by students.

The renovation work will be financed through the reserve account—essentially a savings account—in which the Union, residence halls, and the O'Brien Field deposit surpluses after bills have been paid, he said.

The groups generate their income through room and board rates, student fees, and cash sales, Clark said.

At a recent Faculty Senate meeting, several senators expressed a desire to create a faculty club or dining room in the cafeteria space.

Clark said if the space was used in that way, students would be subsidizing a meeting place for faculty.

"If they want to start a faculty club or dining room, they will need to support it," Clark said.

AB to hire full-time accountant

by Crystal Schrof

A full-time accountant to be hired by the Apportionment Board will eliminate confusion and eventually save money, Financial Vice President Todd Daniels said.

Daniels said the AB will hire a full-time accountant to exclusively take care of the accounts the AB administers.

He said the problem in the past has been that the University Union and the AB have shared the same workers, thus creating a work overload.

Often the work overload was left for student help and therefore was not always done properly, Daniels said.

Daniels also said that in the past group accounts have not always been kept up-to-date, resulting in confusion in some accounts.

The pay for a full-time accountant will cost less than the present system, he said.

"The Apportionment Board should be able to save around $600 by hiring a full-time accountant," Daniels said. The Accountant Clerical II will be paid about $7,200 per year.

Spying by Chicago cops may be banned by city

CHICAGO (AP)—The city of Chicago reportedly has agreed to a proposed court order banning political spying by Chicago Police and other city employees, according to a report published Monday.

If approved by U.S. District Court Judge Susan Getzendanner, the agreement would cap seven years of litigation by a coalition of three dozen citizen groups and several individuals, according to the Chicago Sun-Times.

The coalition and individuals sued to stop police surveillance of legitimate civic, community, civil rights, religious and political activities.

The newspaper said restrictions imposed by the order would make it the most stringent such action in the nation.

City Corporation Counsel Stanley Garber; Rick Gutman, attorney for the Alliance to End Repression; and Matt Piers, a Better Government Association lawyer representing the American Civil Liberties Union, signed the settlement Friday afternoon, the Sun-Times said.

Gutman and Piers signed on behalf of the organizations and persons who brought the so-called "police spying" class-action suits.

The Sun-Times said Mayor Jane M. Byrne, who had delayed the proposed settlement in December by saying the city needed more time, authorized its approval last week.

The order will be in the form of an injunction, rather than a consent decree, the Sun-Times said, which could bring immediate contempt proceedings as punishment if it is violated.

The newspaper said the settlement would establish a series of safeguards, including rules and record-keeping requirements police would have to follow if they wished to investigate any groups or individuals pursuing constitutionally protected First Amendment activities.

The ACLU announced in December that the FBI and CIA, which also had been defendants in the litigation, signed consent decrees to limit spying on civic, community and religious groups.

The ACLU and Alliance lawsuits were directed originally at the now-defunct Chicago Police "Red Squad," the anti-subversive unit of the Police Intelligence Division.

Reagan's address tonight to relay tax, budget cuts

WASHINGTON—President Reagan, readying his return to public life, on Monday fine-tuned his speech to Congress, preparing to tell the nation that "the day of decision is near" for his economic program of tax and budget cuts.

He worked on the speech Monday morning at the presidential retreat in Camp David, Md., before returning to the White House in the afternoon to meet with his chief speechwriter.

Entering the executive mansion after the 30-minute flight home aboard a U.S. Marine Corps helicopter, the president carried a thin briefcase bearing a red tag. He uttered a one word response to a shouted question about how he felt, four weeks after he was shot in an attempt on his life: "Good."

The president is also likely to make a personal reference to the assassination attempt, said deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes.

The address, which is expected to last no longer than 15 minutes, will be the president's first public appearance since he was wounded in the shooting March 30.

IRA claims credit for bomb blast death of policeman

BELFAST, Northern Ireland—A booby-trap bomb planted in a hijacked truck exploded in Belfast on Monday killing one policeman and injuring three others. The bombing, claimed in the name of the Irish National Liberation Army, followed the arrest of 20 prominent supporters of jailed hunger striker Bobby Sands.

Sands, 27, a convicted Irish Republican Army Guerrilla recently elected to British Parliament, was reported drifting nearer to death on the 58th day of his fast at Maze Prison.

Northern Ireland's security chiefs canceled all

Tuesday's (AP) News shorts

police leave as the British province prepared for widespread violence if Sands dies.

In London, Scotland Yard said a letter-bomb sent to a Conservative member of Parliament was safely detonated but that it might be part of a new IRA offensive against prominent Britons. It was the second such mail-bomb in three days.

A delivery truck, hijacked in central Belfast early Monday and rigged with a bomb, was driven into the predominantly Roman Catholic Andersonstown district where police found it. The bomb went off as they tried to move it, police said.

Thompson launches program promoting sulfur coal use

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The state is launching a "comprehensive" program to promote the use of Illinois' high-sulfur coal, Gov. James R. Thompson announced Monday.

Thompson said he has appointed Lt. Gov. David C. O'Neal to chair an Illinois Council on Coal Development. The council has been directed to expand markets for Illinois coal and intensify efforts to attract synthetic fuel development based on coal, Thompson said.

The governor said he also has created an Energy Review Board to speed up the issuance of state permits and licenses to energy projects.

"If Illinois is to win its share of energy development projects, we must chart a swift, orderly path through the maze of rules and regulations," Thompson said. "We must help, rather than hinder, project sponsors in bringing new coal ventures to completion."

Space shuttle begins voyage back to Florida for repairs

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif.—The space shuttle Columbia today began a two-day piggyback return flight to Florida, where it will be refitted for another voyage into space.

The shuttle's departure, bolted to the back of a special Boeing 747 jetliner, came shortly before 10:30 a.m. PDT and followed repeated delays—the last for repair of a brace holding the spacecraft to the jetliner.

All went well as the tandem craft took off from the dry lake where the orbiter Columbia landed earlier this month after its successful maiden space mission.

"It was a loud noise," said NASA operator Dennis Sedman, who watched the Boeing 747 lift off with the shuttle on top. "I watched it taxi, and then it was in the air."

'Pro-life' supporters gain footing from Supreme Court

WASHINGTON—States may outlaw abortions performed outside hospitals on women more than three months pregnant, the Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The decision was a significant victory for the "pro-life" or anti-abortion forces in the heated legal and political battle sparked by the Supreme Court's 1973 ruling that legalized most abortions.

Without waiting to conduct oral arguments or to write an opinion, the court voted 6-3 to uphold an Indiana law that makes it a felony for a doctor to perform an abortion, other than a first-trimester one, away from a hospital.

A doctor who runs a Gary, Ind., abortion clinic and three women identified in court records only by fictitious names sought to block enforcement of the law.

Greeks end fun week with songs, but...

by Michele Morgan

An active week of fun and games was highlighted Sunday by the Greek Sing and choral presentations in Lantz Gymnasium concluding the activities for 1981 Greek Week.

Shari Sullivan, secretary of Greek Week activities, said the first place trophy for the sororities formal division of Greek Sing was awarded to Sigma Kappa for its presentation of "A Melody from Cinderella" directed by freshman Ann Laury. The second place trophy was awarded to the Alpha Phi's for their performance of "Selections from Lost Horizon" directed by senior Celeste Archibald.

The Lambda Chi's took the first place trophy in the fraternity formal division of Greek Sing for its renditions of "Looking Over A Four-Leaf Clover", "Hello Dolly" and "Mame." The Lambda Chi's were directed by sophomore Kirk Bedwell. The second place trophy went to Delta Tau Delta for their performance of a "Melody from My Fair Lady" directed by sophomore Kevin Rettke.

Alpha Gamma Delta sorority won the award for the women's informal division with a medley of commercials entitled "A Very Strange Melody" directed by junior Angie Patrick. The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity captured the trophy for the men's informal division for their rendition of "King of the Road".

In addition to trophies for winners of Greek Sing, the games held throughout the week also brought home awards for the competitors.

Although the rainy weather on Wednesday was less than desirable for the games, Saturday's sunshine seemed to make up for it with a nice day to conclude the weeks outdoor competitive events taking place near the campus pond.

The first place spirit award for Greek Week went to Kappa Delta sorority and Lambda Chi fraternity. The Alpha Phi sorority and Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity captured the second place spirit award.

The sportsmanship trophy went to Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority and Delta Tau Delta fraternity, for their show of sportsmanship throughout the games.

In the men's division for individual games, Pi Kappa Alpha took the trophy for the Little Man's Tug-O-War, while the Sigma Pi's placed second. In the Big Man's Tug-O-War, the Phi Sigs took first place and the Sigma Pi's took second place.

The Little Man's Tug-O-War is for men under 165 pounds and the Big Man's Tug-O-War is for men over 165 pounds.

The Sigma Pi's placed first in the canoe race followed by the Sigma Chi's at a close second. The Phi Sig's took the first place trophy for the bike race followed by Delta Tau Delta in second place. Bombardment was won by the Sigma Chi's with the Sigma Pi's placing second.

Beta Sigma Psi fraternity won the trophy for the men's obstacle course with the Sigma Pi's placing second. The Sig Kap's were awarded a first place trophy for the women's obstacle course with second place going to Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority.

First place in the watermelon pass was won by the Alpha Phi's followed by the Alpha Gams in second place. The Sig Kap's won the pyramid building contest with the Alpha Gams coming in second. The balloon toss was also won by the Sig Kap's with the Alpha Gams coming in second.

...streaker interrupts Greek Sing

by Sue Ann Rentfrow

Eastern's Greek Sing was briefly interrupted Sunday when a male streaker ran through, clad only in a white bow tie with blue polka dots, while the co-chairmen of the performance were making the introduction of the next group to perform.

Assistant Student Activities Director Ann Marie Cavanaugh said Monday the campus police know the identity of the streaker and that a warrant is out for his arrest.

She said charges will be pressed, but she declined to disclose the man's name, but added he was an alumnus.

A spokesman for the campus police could not disclose the name of the streaker, but said Eastern Detective Jack Chambers was handling the case. Chambers, however, could not be reached for comment.

Cavanaugh said she was "very irritated that he (the streaker) would embarrass so many students who had worked for months to make this a

Rives to give first address to Faculty Senate

by Lola Burnham

Stanley Rives, vice president for academic affairs, will address the Faculty Senate Tuesday for the first time since assuming his position.

Senate Chairman Leonard Wood said Rives will "certainly be invited to address the full faculty at an open faculty meeting in the fall," but his Senate talk will be "an interim way" of finding out Rives' major concerns and objectives.

Wood said Rives has not yet had a chance to speak to the faculty since he took office in January.

In other business, the Senate will discuss appointments to faculty-student boards, Wood said.

He said the discussion will probably center around apparent concerns about "a lack of information as to how the boards were constructed, and what their operating procedures are, and what their responsibilities are."

Wood said he has heard some people voice "questions about just what should the boards be doing."

The Senate may also discuss the summer Senate and the April 30 election to ratify the Senate's revised constitution.

Faculty were given a chance last week to question the revisions when Senate representatives were present after Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin's addresses to the faculty about the budget.

The meeting will begin at 2 p.m. in the University Union addition Martinsville Room.

success."

Immediately after the streaking, Union Area Head Bill Clark went on stage to make a formal apology to the audience and performers, she said. Soon after the apology the crowd settled down and the singing continued.

Clark said the security office was handling the case. He said streaking is a misdemeanor and speculated the man would be charged with disorderly conduct.

He said Eastern's administration was concerned about the matter because "it was a highly inappropriate activity with parents and their guests present."

Although the Greek Sing proceeded as scheduled after the interruption, Clark said the incident hurt the event.

"It did hurt the event, today people aren't talking about how good the Sig Kap's (winner of the sorority formal division) sang, they're talking about the streaker."

Welcome Back

Instructors who deserve praise

Last week, Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin named ten Eastern faculty members to receive $1,000 merit awards for their contributions to the university. We're glad to see that the achievements of these faculty have been appropriately awarded.

The five faculty members chosen for the outstanding teaching awards were Hannah Eads of the art department, Lucina Gabbard of the English department, James Kantner of the psychology department, Michael Leyden of the education department and Susan Woods of the health department.

Those receiving merit awards for their outstanding service to the university were David Buchanan of the chemistry department and Gayle Strader of the home economics department.

Faculty chosen for their outstanding research and creativity were Surheit Day of the mathematics department, Stephen Horak of the history department and Victor Vitanza of the English department.

The criteria for the merit awards was based on additional contributions made outside the teaching realm by a faculty member. We believe it is important that these faculty members are recognized. Their professional dedication extends beyond their everyday duties.

Faculty members at Eastern are paid the second lowest salaries at state universities in Illinois. We commend these 10 instructors. They have given their free time, on salaries which are not exceptional, to help students receive a better education at Eastern. That's exceptional.

In addition, we also encourage students to nominate faculty members which they believe are worthy of these awards. Student nominations play a vital role in the determination of award recipients.

As students, we'd like to thank these faculty members for putting forth outstanding efforts this year. And, we hope other faculty members take notice of the example set by these award winners.

Your Turn

Help out or shut up

Editor:

In answer to letters raised about Student Government elections held April 15, I would like to state that I have now and always did have full confidence in both Paul Hart and Val Averill, the co-chairmen of the Election Committee. My previous comment was widely misunderstood, much to my disappointment. In addition, the election committee did an excellent job considering the number of members allowed to help.

To those students who are not satisfied with how the election was conducted I invite you to contact me or any other election committee member and we will put you to work. It is one thing to criticize others and another to do something yourself.

I sincerely invite your responses if you are willing to help. But, if you aren't, then simply shut up and don't waste our time. Finally, remember that we are simply students doing the best job we can.

John Guile
Election Committee

Andy spews out B.S.

Editor:

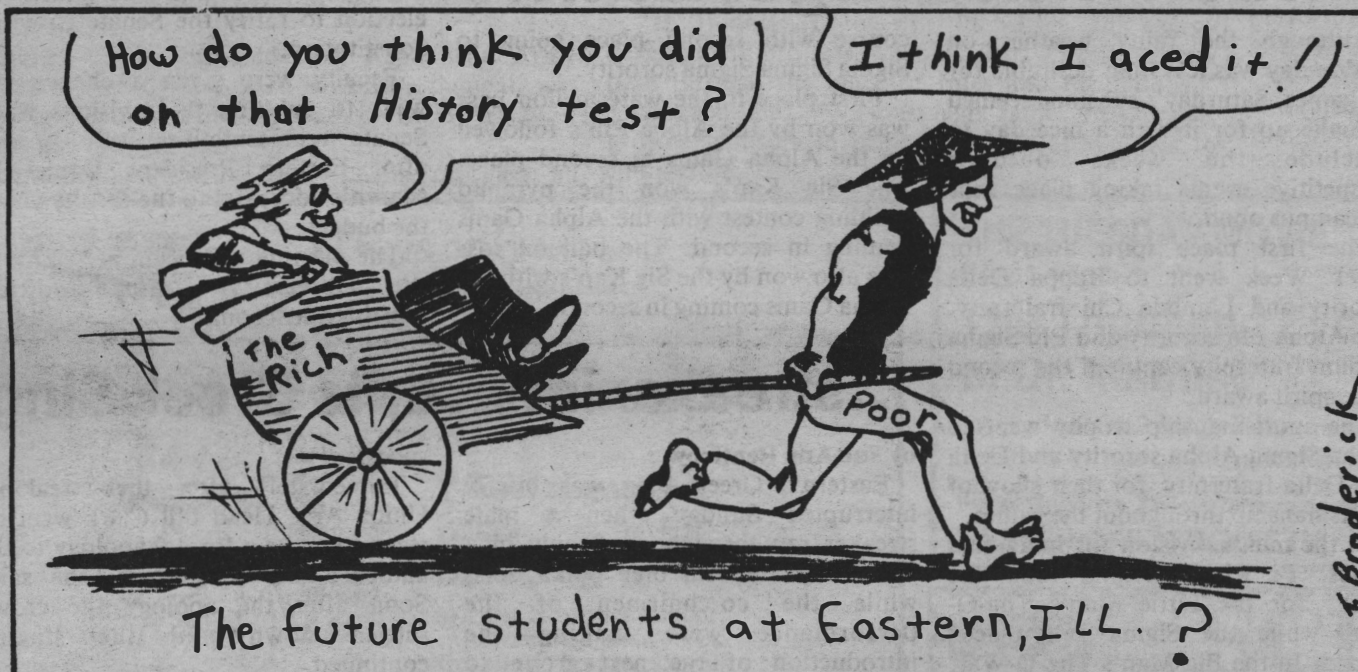

In response to Andy Robezniek's column on April 23—B...S...!

Andy seems to have implied that he himself is a Cubs fan. This cannot be true. Although a fan reserves the right to be critical, a true fan must stand strong in his support. No one can deny that the Cubs are off to the worst start of any team in baseball, but eleven games do not make an entire season. Last year, the Cubs reached the lowest point since their last pennant, winning only 64. In response to that, the team was put through a complete overhaul. Only four starters from opening day 1980 were still with Chicago one year later. In conjunction with this overhaul, the Cub management did not promise a pennant. Surely, the only accurate way of determining whether or not the Cubs are successful in 1981 will be to compare their accomplishments with 1980.

I must apologize if I am too critical of Andy. He did note some important insights concerning the St. Louis Cardinals. For example, it is true that the Cardinals are the only team in baseball that can lose 100 games in a season and still find some form of consolation. The Cubs may have lost the most games within their division last year, but it must be noted that they still finished second to last. Winning is everything and only Philadelphia can lay claim to first place. All other teams finished, nothing more.

Because of recent years of mediocrity, both Cub and Cardinal fans have been forced to boast about the past. The Cardinals can claim the most recent pennant while the Cubs hold the overall Series edge. Both, however, are irrelevant. All that counts is...who will win the next one?

Aid cuts may create rich, poor campus

President Reagan's proposed cuts in student aid may change the future social order for college students. These cuts may eliminate the college "middle class."

Now, three classes of students attend college—"the rich", "working poor" and "middle class."

The rich are easy to spot. They drive around in Porsches and Corvettes. They consider Reflections a fast food restaurant and can afford to compete in student government advertising wars. Money is no problem. Finding a way to spend it is.

The working poor students must earn their way through college. They are the bartenders, short order cooks, pizza deliverers, grocery clerks, gas station attendants, Resident Assistants, who try to do their jobs and study at the same time. Have you ever tried to study for a sociology test, write a philosophy thesis and mix a Pina Colada at the same time?

The middle class students are not independently wealthy, but like to have a good time. They require a financial base to do so. They borrow money through the student aid programs at the beginning of the semester and then blow it on pitchers and pizzas throughout the semester.

Unfortunately, they run out of money with three weeks left in the semester and beg for emergency loans—just enough to pay for their utilities and one "End of the Year" party.

Despite their irresponsibility, the middle classers do have redeeming qualities. They have money and the time to spend it to stimulate the local economy—thereby helping the working poor.

Now if the Reaganites get their way, the college middle class will be eliminated. Instead of attending universities, they'll get jobs in the real world. Why go to college and have to work when one can get a job and not have to worry about term papers.

Personal file:

This situation will leave only the poor working students and rich students to attend colleges in the future. Many of the poor working students will lose their jobs because fewer students will demand their services. Without the middle class, the bars, pizza parlors and fast food places will lose business.

Where will the unemployed poor students go for work? To their economic opposite—the rich students. The rich students will need plenty of services rendered. Cars waxed, books carried, piranha fed, exams stolen, to name but a few. The Rich could pay a small pittance for these services and therefore, the working poor students wouldn't have to trap squirrels to survive the winter.

Students would become valets and house maids. Universities would probably set a "domestic" minor program to help show students how they can best serve their "betters."

Thanks to Ronald Reagan and company, college campuses will become feudal states. The loss of the college middle class will cause this social catastrophe.

Then again, it might make sense to set up such a social order in college. Considering the current rate of inflation, it may be that anyone making under $30,000 a year may just have to moonlight as bartenders, short order cooks and piranha feeders.

1981 summer enrollment might exceed last year's

by Peggy Schneider

Eastern officials are predicting the 1981 summer session's enrollment to be similar to, or possibly larger than last year's enrollment of 3,171.

Director of Summer School Charles Switzer said he is "optimistic that we can hold our own or possibly increase this year's summer enrollment."

A total of 2,000 students have already pre-registered for the summer session—171 more students than last summer's total enrollment, Switzer said.

He said he would attribute any increase in enrollment to the poor economy and to better programs offered by Eastern's departments.

Registering for both the intercession and the summer session provides an inexpensive way to get 15 hours credit, since students are paying two-thirds of the student fees charged for the regular semesters, he said.

In addition, students may register for summer school after becoming discouraged with job-hunting, he said.

Academic departments on campus are also preparing a better variety of programs to appeal to the interests of a wider student population, he said.

With the new mail-in registration for workshops and the offering of undergraduate evening courses again this year, students who work during the day, adults in the community, and students from other universities and junior colleges can afford to take summer classes at Eastern, Switzer said.

Switzer said the number of first-time freshmen applying for summer school has increased over last year, and he said he attributes the increase to next fall's restriction of freshman enrollment at Eastern.

Director of Housing Lou Hencken also said he expects the resident halls to be filled to about the same capacity as last year, with possibly a slight increase.

Hencken said he expects about 375-400 on-campus residents this semester, and he said the Housing Office currently has about 350 applicants.

Hencken also said the uncertainty of the economy would bring a lot of late applicants.

McKinney Hall will be open during the intercession, using the Gregg Triad food services, while Taylor Hall north (men) and south (women) will be open for the summer session, using Taylor food services, he said.

McKinney will open May 17 and Taylor will open June 14, he said.

Associate Director of Financial Aids John Flynn said about 240-250 students have received aid thus far, compared to about 300 last year.

About 72 percent, or about $173,054, of the financial aids' $240,354 summer budget has been committed, Flynn said.

He, too, said he expects a last-minute surge of applications especially after grades come out and students find they need to take summer school to make up credits.

Thus far, applications have not come in at the expected rate, Flynn added.

He said he expects many students to wait until the last minute to apply for aid because of their uncertainty over the financial problems incurred by the Illinois State Scholarship Commission and by the rising tuition and fees at Eastern.

Performing arts director sought

The University Board is seeking a new performing arts coordinator for fall to replace current coordinator Cindy Flynn who is transferring to another school.

UB President Al Siepker said interested students should leave their name and phone number at the Student Activities Office on the third floor of the Union.

He said he would get in touch with all the candidates about specific details of the position.

The performing arts coordinator is in charge of productions such as the Vienna Boys Choir and Vincent Price that appeared here recently.

Siepker said the position will be filled Friday. All candidates must go before a selection committee made up of UB members who make the final decision on the new coordinator.

Economic courses added as result of CAA approval

by Laura Henry

The Council on Academic Affairs approved last week two new courses and tabled approval of one until this week.

The courses approved by the council were ECN 4751, "Managerial Economics," and ECN 4875, "Area Studies."

Ahmad Murad, chairman of the economics department, and Lawrence Bates, also of the same department, presented the courses to the CAA.

Murad said ECN 4751 was "the outcome of discussion by members of the School of Business and the department of economics."

"Our students and faculty want this course to be put in to fill a gap in curriculum and because they feel it is an important course," Murad said.

CAA member David Buchanan said he was concerned that the economics department has "more student credit hours per faculty than any other department" and that the CAA's approval of the course may cause an "overload on the classes already offered."

In reply, Bates said "the business school is making plans to decrease enrollment" that will "make our basic purpose of a service school more effective."

The course will be offered during the spring semester and no community college transfer credit will be accepted for the course, Murad said.

The second course, ECN 4875, "Area Studies," will also be offered during the spring semester.

Murad said the course will result in the dropping of ECN 4874, "Latin American Economic Development," and ECN 4876, "Middle East Economic Development."

Murad said the new course "will give us more flexibility to offer other areas of rising interest of the students" because "it will not limit itself to one topic per semester."

The CAA tabled approval of the course, EDF 3500, "Multicultural Education," until its next meeting.

CAA chairman Ron Wohlstein said the course was tabled until next week when it will be presented in the "typical format style" required by the council.

Access work moves inside

by Julie Held

Despite the rainy weather last week, Marty Ignazito, assistant director of the physical plant, said campus accessibility work inside such as the construction of two elevator shafts is still progressing.

"The weather has slowed down some of the outside work, like pouring concrete, but the workers (employees of Harry Martin Construction Co.) have work inside to keep them busy," Ignazito said.

The accessibility project is scheduled to be completed in July, Ignazito said.

Work is progressing on the two elevators which will be located in Coleman Hall and on the outside of Old Main, Ignazito said.

A hole has been bored down into the existing elevator shaft in Coleman Hall to make room for the hydraulic cylinder for the elevator so work there may progress, he said. Work on that elevator had been stopped until the hole was bored.

The foundation has been poured for the elevator which will be placed on the outside of Old Main, he added.

Work to install toilet partitions to make the restrooms in Old Main, Blair Hall and the Clinical Services Building accessible to the handicapped continues, he said.

"We have run into a few things that have to be changed, but those things are always present. There are always problems in a construction project," Ignazito said.

Changes in campus facilities are being made to provide greater accessibility to the handicapped in accordance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 which says all Illinois universities must make their campuses accessible to the handicapped.

Economic trends different—prof

by Mike Pramshafer

Historical trends of resource scarcity and economic growth in the past do not support the trends of today, Harold Barnett, professor of economics at Washington University in St. Louis, said recently.

As little as a decade ago rising costs were not as big a problem to the economy as they are today, he said.

Barnett's lecture last week was sponsored by the economics department.

Allen Maury, of the economics department, said Barnett is considered one of the nation's leading authorities on the subject of resource economics. He is also the author of more than 40 publications.

Since 1957, mineral costs in the United States have declined and costs in labor to produce forestry output have stayed basically the same since the end of World War I, he said.

"Oil prices went downward from 1950 to 1970 mainly because of the cheap oil that was found in the middle east," Barnett said. Coal prices also fell from 1950 to 1970, he said.

In the years 1870 through 1957, 11 percent of U.S. labor provided the United States' needs for extracted goods, Barnett said. Today, it is only 7 percent.

"We are not running out of resources today but on the environmental side of things, we are facing many increasing costs," Barnett said.

Environmental problems have a location dependability. "Where we live will depend on what types of environmental problems that area will have," Barnett said.

Although there has been progress in cleaning up the environment, there is still a lot of work to be done, he said.

Honors banquet planned for Black Student Union

Members of Eastern's Black Student Union will hold their fourth annual honors banquet to recognize academic achievement 6 p.m. Saturday in the University Union Rathskeller.

Torrance Campbell, president of the BSU, said Diane Slaughter, associate professor of sociology at Northwestern University, will be the guest speaker. Her lecture will focus on the benefits of academic excellence and social responsibility.

Awards will also be handed out at the banquet to the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior who has the highest GPA for the year. He said recognition will also be awarded to those who have shown outstanding service to the black community.

Members of Eastern's chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will present a fashion show of spring and summer fashions after the awards, he added.

Tickets for the event are $7.75 and can be purchased by contacting Assistant Student Activities Director Booker Suggs at 581-3829 or at the Student Activities Office on the third floor of the University Union, he added.

African economy to be discussed

Jean Due, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Illinois, will discuss economic development in Africa at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the University Union addition Oakland Room.

Due was a member of the National Academy of Sciences team to Cameroon in 1978 for a workshop on agricultural research management, and she has conducted research in Zambia, Sudan, Malawi and Tanzania, Rebecca Summary of the economics department said.

In addition to numerous articles on African economic development, Due has written a book on Ujamaa villages in Tanzania.

The lecture is being sponsored by the economics department and the economics club. Admission is free.

COTE elections set for Tuesday

The Council on Teacher Education Tuesday will elect its chairman and vice chairman for next year, COTE chairman Russell Fischer said.

The COTE will also discuss the proposed criteria for admission to teacher education for physics, chemistry and music, Fischer said.

The COTE will consider the revisions each of the three departments has made in their admission procedures for teacher education, Fischer added.

The COTE will meet at 2 p.m. in the University Union addition Tuscola-Arcola Room.

ATTENTION ALL FACULTY

The New Revised Faculty Senate Constitution will be voted on by the Faculty April 30 from 8:00 to 5:00 in the University Union Lobby. Absentee voting will be April 29, Room 213H Buzzard Education Building, from 9:00 to 12:00. Eligible to vote are all permanent staff holding the rank of Executive Assistant, Lecturer, Instructor, Assistant Professor, and Professor.

Materials concerning the changes in the Constitution were distributed to all faculty on April 14 and 15.

is as solid as it ever has been," he added.

Consequently, the head skippers of Eastern's football team view next season as a successful one, but not without a few drawbacks.

First, despite having a "great recruiting year," the Panthers will be without the services of 15 starters lost to graduation, including All-Americans Pete Catan, Randy Melvin and Scott McGhee.

Second, the Panthers' defense, excluding a solid linebacker unit of Ira Jefferson, Tom Murray and Bill Mines, will be looking for experience vacated by Catan, safeties Rich Brown and Don Pittman and tackle Charlie Krutsinger.

Thus, defensive coordinator Rick Schachner said he is looking for some talented recruits, who "have been looking great" to fill in some of those vacated positions.

"We'll need some young defensive players to come around for us next year," Schachner said. "We've got solid linebackers, but up front we're still playing a shell game. It's just going to be a matter of time until we find the right combination but I really feel that we are going to put a hell of a defensive team on the field next year."

proper perspective, he said he does have hopes of getting his chances through football's free agency if he is not drafted.

"If I don't get drafted, I just want to find out what other opportunities I have with other teams (through the free agency)," McGhee said.

McGhee said that he has been contacted by the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian Football League and said that if he were to be contacted by the Canadian team, he would sign with them, despite the NFL draft.

Women tracksters finish sixth in weekend relays

by Dave Claypool

RICHMOND, Ky.—With only 12 individuals competing, Eastern women's track team pulled together and managed a sixth place finish in the 22 team field at the Becky Boone Relays last weekend.

Leading the way individually for the Panthers was Gayle Brandon, who placed first in the high jump.

Her leap of 19-feet-4 inches qualified her for competition at the AIAW Division II national meet.

Eastern's other first place tally came from the Panther performance in the 400-meter relay.

The team of Liz Greathouse, Gail Stephens, Gayle Brandon and Mary Burroughs was clocked at 46.7 which was also an Eastern record.

Turning in a second place showing for the Panthers was Burroughs in the 200-meter dash.

Burroughs finished with a 24.9 time, while teammate Greathouse finished fifth at 25.4.

The Panther 800-meter medley relay team turned in a third place finish.

"If they give me a contract and said this is it, take it or leave it, I just might take it," McGhee said.

Another former gridder which said that he has his eyes on a professional career is former offensive tackle Clinton Davenport.

Davenport, whose size and speed has been a pleantry to the eyes of pro scouts, said that while he does not expect to be drafted by an NFL team, he does foresee an opportunity to prove himself by being picked up as a free agent.

Pete Catan
Signs pro contract

Catan signs Winnipeg contract

by Steve Binder

One day prior to the National Football League draft, Pete Catan, Eastern's two time All-American defensive end, signed a contract to play for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League.

Paul Robson, assistant general manager for the Blue Bombers, said Monday that he was elated over obtaining Catan.

"We feel absolutely great about signing Pete," Robson said. "We have been trying to sign a defensive end and we feel we have gotten hold of an outstanding one."

Catan is the second former Panther griddier to be signed by Winnipeg. Last year running-back great Poke Cobb signed with the Blue Bombers before being released after one exhibition game.

However, Robson said he felt the Catan will be with Winnipeg for more than just one game.

"In this league, defensively, you need pass rushers with great speed and quickness and that's why we signed Pete. He's definitely going to be a player for us next year," Robson said.

Robson would not disclose the details of Catan's contract, but said that Winnipeg "paid him pretty good."

"A lot of people felt that Pete should really be playing a linebacker position, but he will play a defensive end for us because that's his position, and we don't want to change that," Robson added.

Catan's awesome performances as a Panther earned him Associated Press All-American honors the last two seasons and Kodak All-American status last season.

Softball team splits double-header 2-0, 3-2

by Nancy Saegesser

In a final tune-up for this weekend's AIAW Division II state tournament, Eastern's softball squad split a double-header with the Indiana State Sycamores Monday at Riley Field.

The visitors collected one earned and one unearned run in the fifth inning of the opener and cruised to a 2-0 win behind the shutout work of hurler Laura Daugherty.

The Panthers managed to connect for only three hits and felt the sting of five strikeouts in the frustrating loss.

Sharon Cizek was 1-for-2, banging out a double in the first frame. Nancy Kassebaum got a double in the sixth and senior Libby West, playing in her final contest at Riley Field, beat out an infield single in the fifth inning.

Kathy Richards gave up seven hits in the losing effort.

Clutch offense was the saving grace in the nightcap as the Sycamores took the Panthers 11 innings before folding 3-2.

ISU drew first blood, scoring first baseman Debbie Gadd on a slap bunt past shortstop Kassebaum in the fourth inning.

Eastern tied the game at one when Richards' pinch hit single scored Cizek. Cizek had reached first on a walk and was moved into scoring position by Cindy Eggemeyer's sacrifice bunt.

The visitors tallied again in the eighth when designated hitter Janet Lisch sent a triple to left-center to score Gadd.

Cheryl Tiegs doubled in the Panther half of the eighth and designated hitter Gigi MacIntosh's single sent the game into the ninth knotted at two.

Catcher Kelly Waldrup opened the way for her squad three innings later with a single to left. Kassebaum sacrificed her to second and then centerfielder Penny Berg booted a double over the leftfielder's head to give Eastern their 17th season win.

Eastern will return to action

Thursday when they open play at Edwardsville in the AIAW Division II state tourney. Eastern coach Deanna D'Abbraccio's charges take a number one seed into the weekend battle.

Two still hopeful of future in NFL with upcoming draft

by Steve Binder and Dave Claypool

Former Eastern All-American Pete Catan has signed a football contract with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League.

Don Pittman, Eastern's former strong safety, has also committed himself—his services going to the Chicago Fire of the American Football Association.

Yet, while two of Eastern's most noteworthy seniors of the national runnerup football team of a year ago have already signed a professional contract, two former gridders still have hopes of being drafted by National Football League teams in Tuesday's NFL draft.

Scott McGhee, Eastern's sure-handed All-American flanker has yielded opportunities to play with other organizations, just to see what may come in the NFL draft.

"It will be a bonus to be drafted in the later rounds, but I'm not counting on that. You never know what'll happen," McGhee said. "They (the scouts) never let you know what's going on. They are well aware that I'm available."

Yet, although McGhee has his possibilities of being drafted in (See TWO, page 11)

Strong spring practices leave coaches optimistic

by Steve Binder

The move of Eastern's football program to NCAA Division I-AA from Division II next season might have Panther fans expecting an unsuccessful year.

But with the spring practice season near commencement, and official play slated to begin in about four months, Eastern football coaches expect Panther fans to witness a very successful season next year.

And much of the coaches optimism for their gridders' season next year stems from a "very aggressive and successful spring practice season," assistant head coach Chuck Dickerson said.

"I think we have had an excellent and aggressive spring practice. Overall we (coaches) feel pretty good about this spring," Dickerson said. "We approached it by stressing the fundamentals all over again in order to establish roughness. It is my belief that we can't win without roughness."

Head coach Darrell Mudra agreed and said, "I really feel that we've done the best job ever since the season has ended."

"We had an excellent recruiting year and we've had an excellent spring practice so far. And my coaching staff
