U.S. marines suffer attack in Lebanon

BERUIT, Lebanon (AP)—Despite reports a cease-fire was to take effect, U.S. Marines came under renewed attack near Beirut airport Sunday evening, suffering another casualty and raising the day's toll to three wounded.

Christian neighborhoods in east Beirut came under heavy shelling from the Druse and Syrian-controlled mountains overlooking the capital, the state radio said.

Marine spokesman Maj. Robert Jordan said mortar rounds and rocket-propelled grenades hit the perimeter of the Marine base in west Beirut about 45 minutes after the truce was supposed to have taken hold at 7:30 p.m. EDT.

Another Marine spokesman, Warrant Officer Charles Rowe, said one Marine was slightly wounded in the nighttime barrage as he and the other men again went on their highest state of alert, diving into bunkers and fox-holes.

As the shells fell, the battleship New Jersey patrolled offshore in a show of U.S. naval might.

State radio said U.S. presidential envoy Robert C. McFarlane told Lebanese President Amin Gemayel earlier that all parties had agreed to a truce, and President Reagan's national security adviser, William Clark, told reporters in New York that an agreement would be announced in Damascus.

Reports of an accord to end hostilities between the Lebanese army and Syrian-backed militias have persisted in Beirut for days. But Syria reportedly had blocked a cease-fire by making new demands on the Lebanese government.

One of the Marines wounded around noon Sunday was shot in the arm by a sniper east of Beirut airport, Jordan said. The terminal adjoins the southern slums where the Shiite Amal militia has been fighting the Lebanese army for three days.

Rowe said a second Marine was hit by shrapnel in the leg shortly afterward when a rocket struck the "Charlie" company position on the airport perimeter.

The spokesman said a helicopter flew both wounded men—neither identified—to the American warship Iwo Jima offshore for medical treatment, but their conditions were described as good.

Students observe police patrol

Editor's note: Daily Eastern News reporter Marc Pacatte and photographer Brian Ormiston accompanied Assistant Police Chief Herb Steidinger on patrol Friday to make firsthand observations about recent party-related arrests.)

Marc Pacatte

It was quiet in Charleston Friday night.

Phil Montgomery, Eastern's student board of Governors Representative, also rode in a patrolling squad car because "there's been so much publicity" about parties and student arrests. "I thought it was my responsibility—or someone's responsibility—to take a look and see what was going on."

The patrol occurred between 10 p.m. Friday night and 3 a.m. Saturday morning.

Montgomery said, "Unfortunately, we only had one party call. I was hoping we would have more."

Charleston's Assistant Police Chief Herb Steidinger said he was sorry that there was nothing for Montgomery and the reporters to see. However, he added that as a police officer he was pleased the town was quiet.

"This is the first quiet weekend we've had all month," Steidinger said Friday night.

Only two students were arrested during Steidinger's patrol—one after picking up a car and then running from police and another for public consumption of alcohol.

There were several other instances of students carrying open liquor outside of Mothers, Ike's, Rocs and E.L. Krackers. Steidinger did not make any arrests despite the violations because he was in an unmarked car and was out for observation purposes only.

He said a big problem police have with students is when they walk in the streets on their way to and from the bars downtown.

"The later it gets and the drunker drivers become, the students are just asking for trouble," Steidinger said.

Montgomery said he learned a lot from the ride with police despite the lack of party complaints.

He noted that "students have a tendency to compound their own problems by being jerks about the situation" when police stop them for questioning.

The officer he rode with was "very pleasant and nice" to students while the students "tended to be real mouthy," Montgomery added.

"You have to take it with a grain of salt because I was there," but the patrolman was "very polite the entire time," he said.

"I can feel for the cops to an extent," Montgomery said, adding that he had his eyes opened after being on the patrol.

Neighbors: no party complaints

Douglas Backstrom

Most Charleston residents interviewed Sunday said they have had no problems with loud student parties despite the arrest of 36 Eastern students this past week.

Charleston's Assistant Police Chief Herb Steidinger said more complaints from residents this year and a change in attitude among students is the cause of the arrests.

A Sixth Street resident said she has not had many problems with student parties, however she said her neighbors complain of the parties.

"There is noise, but it does not bother me. I have lived here for 26 years and all I do is close my door."

"The noise does bother my neighbors, but they don't call the police. I'm not sure if the police should come in on this anyway. The students don't mean any harm," she added.

A Fourth Street resident said the Charleston police should be brought in if parties start after midnight. "Police should slow parties down if they start late at night."

"I don't have trouble with loud parties. A lot of my neighbors complain, but they don't call the police," she noted.

Two 10th Street senior citizens who live next to the Sigma Kappa house said they have no problems with student parties. "We don't have problems at all. But if people are having problems they should complain to the police."

A Ninth Street resident said he does not have any problems with parties. "I don't live next to a fraternity house so I don't have to deal with loud noise."

However, one Eastern student who lives on 10th Street said the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity house across the street from where she lives "causes problems constantly."

"The lady that lives downstairs from me goes across the street to quiet the parties down. They never listen to her so she calls the police," she said.

Regency Apartments manager Doris Hamilton said students should be considerate of their neighbors when having parties. "Students should not have to listen to the noise of loud parties of their neighbors if they don't want to,"

U.S., China revive strategic talks

PEKING—Defense Secretary Casper W. Weinberger said Sunday that China and the United States should revive their strategic dialogue and cooperate militarily to safeguard world peace.

Weinberger never mentioned the Soviet Union, but his remarks were considered a clear call for resurrection of a U.S.—China dialogue to counter what Washington and Peking both call Soviet expansionism.

"Close U.S.—China relations and cooperation in the strategic area serve both our national interests and also the interest of world peace and stability," Weinberger said at a banquet after his arrival from Tokyo.

Marcos orders riots to be quelled

MANILA—President Ferdinand E. Marcos on Sunday ordered his riot troops to crush all unauthorized demonstrations, and warned protesting businessmen they would be tracked down and arrested.

He rejected a proposal by Cardinal Jaime L. Sin to share power with an advisory council.

Marcos, in his "Report to the Nation," said his orders to the military were that demonstrations without government permits "will be immediately dispersed" with the use of non-lethal weapons, such as tear gas.

Continental airlines grounded

HOUSTON—Travelers stranded by a sudden grounding of Continental Airlines swamped other airlines Sunday while officials of the Texas-based carrier worked out plans to get some of the planes back into the air.

Continental, which has lost $109 million so far this year—and is $650 million in debt, announced Saturday it is filing for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy laws.

Shelling resumes on Marines despite cease-fire arrangements

NEW YORK (AP)—President Reagan, displaying crossed fingers, said that a Lebanese cease-fire agreement announced by U.S. officials "is a first step." But the president said there is still "a long way to go" in solving the troubled Middle East nation's problems.

As Reagan spoke, shelling resumed on U.S. Marine positions in Beirut, despite comments from U.S. officials here and in Beirut that all parties had agreed to a cease-fire at 7:30 p.m., 1:30 p.m. EDT. One Marine was injured in the latest attack, bringing to three the numbered wounded Sunday.

The president, with U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar at his side, spoke by telephone with Lebanese President Amin Gemayel early in the afternoon.

Reagan then told reporters who asked about the cease-fire: "Now they can get down to the real business of settling the issues and bringing about a solution to the Lebanese problems. We are all very happy about this first step."

An hour and a half after the renewed attack in Beirut, Reagan was asked if he thought the cease-fire would hold, and he once again held up crossed fingers.

The president made his comments after conferring with Perez de Cuellar in a hotel suite. Reagan is in New York to address the U.N. General Assembly on Monday.

38 IRA terrorists escape from jail

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—Thirty-eight IRA guerrillas armed with smuggled weapons shot their way out of top-security Maze prison Sunday in the biggest jailbreak in British history. They killed one guard and wounded six others, authorities said.

Army helicopters and scores of policemen with tracker dogs swarmed around the countryside at large late Sunday, police said, and were believed headed for the Irish border or the safety of West Belfast's nationalist enclaves.

Prisoners stopped motorists and hijacked cars "all over the place" to make their getaway, an officer said.

He said the escape created "total bedlam" at the 900-inmate jail outside Belfast, site of the 1981 Irish Republican Army hunger strike and home to some of Northern Ireland's most-hardened convicted bombers and killers.

Tensions rise over war powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war powers compromise that moves onto the floor of the House and Senate this week may answer some of the questions hanging over the U.S. Marines in Lebanon, but is unlikely to ease the tensions between Congress and the administration over their powers to send troops into battle zones.

When Secretary of State George P. Shultz testified before congressional committees last week, he made it clear repeatedly that President Reagan, in his words, "has no intention of turning over to Congress his constitutional authority as commander in chief."

The act passed by Congress over Nixon's veto in the waning days of the Vietnam War, requires the president to notify Congress within 48 hours whenever he sends troops equipped for combat abroad.

Rives: more academic funding needed

by Sheila Billerbeck

Stanley Rives, seventh of eight Eastern presidential candidates, told student government members Friday that Eastern's academic problems are centered around funding.

Rives, Eastern's acting president and provost, said more funding is needed to continue Eastern's reputation as an academically qualified institution.

More funding is needed to provide faculty and administrative positions, improve the student-faculty ratio and enhance the quality in academic programs, Rives said.

"I believe there are problems at this institution that couldn't be solved without the additional resources that we deserve," he said.

"We really deserve another three million bucks!" he added.

At the current level of funding, one possible solution would be to address the distribution of resources and reallocate funds so they are most efficiently utilized, he said.

In addition, Eastern's School of Business is currently faced with an over-enrolled and under-funded problem, Rives said.

To solve this problem, steps are being taken to limit the number of business majors entering Eastern and to reallocate funds to provide more faculty positions.

Concerning the Faculty Senate proposal to restructure the Council on Academic Affairs, Rives said he sees no problem with the committee and if it were up to him, "I would leave CAA alone, it operates pretty effectively now."

The proposal suggests reducing the number of student representatives from three to two, while increasing the number of faculty members from nine to 13.

Rives said he has "heard no rationale presented" involving that proposal, and "sees no problem with the current level of representatives."

Rives said he believes the problem lies with the lack of departmental representation within the CAA.

"The problem is that the majority of faculty elements in the CAA come from one department—English," Rives said.

Rives said a better solution would be to limit the number of faculty representatives from each department.

Blood donors follow painless procedure

If a stab of pain that lasts no longer than a couple of seconds does not bother you, then you may be a potential blood donor.

As a potential donor you will be greeted by a flurry of activity upon entering the Union Ballroom, as nurses and volunteers go from station to station performing their assigned tasks.

The system may look confusing at first, but every station has a specific function and a person there to make sure it gets done.

- A typist will take down personal information and transfer it to a small form which you will take to each station.

- At the next stop, your temperature will be taken while you answer some questions about your general health and read a pamphlet about giving blood.

- The next volunteer will take your blood pressure, check your pulse and make sure there is enough iron in your blood for you to donate. The test for iron, a relatively painless procedure, involves having your finger pricked and some blood drawn.

- If you pass the preliminaries, you are now on your way to donating a pint of blood. After presenting your form at the next table, you will be issued a small plastic pouch. Then you and your pouch are sent to a table with a nurse ready to take your donation.

- The nurse will relieve you of your form and the pouch and get you situated on the table. Once you decide which arm you prefer to have the blood drawn from, the nurse will locate a vein and clean a spot for the needle.

Now that brief stab of pain comes into the picture. But it's only for a couple of seconds—just make an ugly face and it will be over before you know it.

- Most donors are at the table for 10 minutes or so. When you are finished, the nurse tapes some gauze to your arm and someone will come and escort you to the canteen area.

- After arriving at the table, you are expected to sit and munch on sandwiches and cookies and have something to drink. The refreshments are offered in an attempt to make sure you are really all right before you leave.

- One last thing: if you have hairy arms, tearing off the bandage is far more painful than any other part of blood donation. Be swift and merciful when removing bandage. Scream if necessary.

Your turn

Stiff rules bother biker

Editor:

Because I ride a bicycle everywhere, I am keeping myself in shape, I am not polluting (remember pollution? It was one of the gripes of the 60's) the air and I am not contributing to the general wasteful, consuming attitude of the "good ol' US of A."

Pfeiffer says we must conform to general traffic laws. So even though we do not have the same rights (for example, we cannot ride on Fourth Street), we are expected to uphold the same responsibilities. So when I'm riding home to 13th and Monroe from Eisners, with a backpack full of a week's worth of groceries, in the rain, I must ride two and a half blocks out of my way so I'm always going the right way on these one-way streets?

Forget it—I think I deserve a break or two for riding a bike and I'll be damned if I subject myself to any more such inconvenience.

One more word about lights—what makes those cops think I can afford a $10 ticket? If I could pay that, I could afford to have a light on my bike!

Nancy Cunningham

Landlord looks foolish

Editor:

As all students have undoubtedly noticed, one of the major issues of this school year is that of the party situation.

An example that this is forever in the news is the "Kool-Aid" house. Everyone knows they had a party and wound up in trouble for it. As a result, people are thinking twice about having parties. But I can't help but feel bad for these girls. They made a mistake, as we all have at one time or another, and they have most likely learned from it.

Theoretically, shouldn't tenant-landlord problems remain just between the two involved parties? However, it seems evident that their landlord Ron Tarvin has taken delight in "rubbing their noses in it" (to quote a worn-out phrase).

Yet in trying to make these girls an example, or look foolish, Mr. Tarvin himself comes out looking foolish and unprofessional.

Having had the opportunity to view several of Mr. Tarvin's properties, it would be absurd to blame their conditions on the parties that may or may not have taken place on their premises. Such conditions had to be in existence long before the present tenants graduated from high school. They are the result of years of neglect.

Adviser offers criticism

Editor:

Why is it that everytime I read The Daily Eastern News, two quotations immediately come to mind?

The first deals with the ability of the press to critique everyone but themselves:

"Freedom of the press belongs to those that own one."—A.J. Liebling.

The second deals with the prose of the News' editorial staff:

"They write the worst English I have ever encountered. It reminds me of a string of wet sponges; it reminds me of tattered washing on the line; it reminds me of stale bean soup, of college yells, of dogs barking idiotically through endless nights. It is so bad that a kind of grandeur creeps into it. It drags itself out of the dark abyss of pish and crawls insanely up the topmost pinnacle of posh. It is rumble and bumble. It is flap and doodle. It is balder and dash."—H.L. Mencken.

Keep up your tireless efforts.

Charleston government

Texas hurricane leads to commission

Editor's note: the following article is the first in a six-part series explaining Charleston government and the roles of individual commissioners.)

Mark Jordan

September of 1900, a hurricane hit Galveston, Tex., and caused widespread damage.

In the aftermath of the hurricane, businessmen were appointed to reconstruction of the town. After Charleston was rebuilt, the businessmen they had accomplished much at a relatively small cost.

The businessmen who organized the reconstruction of Galveston also devised a new form of city government—the commission form, Eastern Illinois science instructor Richard Goodrick said.

The commission form of government gained popularity in the early 1900s, but since 1920 its popularity has steadily declined.

Local Government Charleston at work

Of the thousands of municipalities in the United States, only 175, including Charleston, are governed under the commission form, Goodrick noted.

Goodrick said he did not believe Charleston is run more efficiently because of the commission form of government.

"In other forms of government, the mayor is the administrator and the council members are the legislators," he said.

"But in the commission form of government, each commissioner is an administrator and a legislator. It causes a lack of formal leadership. It also causes an unresponsiveness on the part of the community," Goodrick added.

Charleston Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer said he disagreed with Goodrick. "I feel that the people are satisfied and that there isn't anything to get involved about."

Pfeiffer said election of commissioners is conducted every four odd-numbered years in April. The next election is in April of 1985.

Charleston's government is composed of five commissioners who each head a different department. Pfeiffer serves as mayor and liquor and police commissioner.

Other commissioners in the city include Finance Commissioner John Beusch, Public Health and Safety Commissioner Olga Durham, Public Property Commissioner John Winnett and Streets and Public Improvement Commissioner Wayne Lanman.

Pfeiffer's job entails numerous tasks

Editor's note: the following article is the second in a six-part series explaining Charleston government and the roles of individual commissioners.)

Kevin McDermott

Approving liquor licenses, appointing health officials and signing the legal contracts are just a few of the official duties of Charleston Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer.

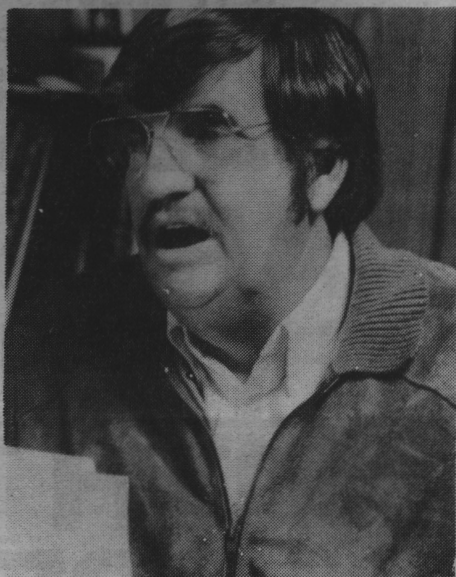

The mayor is the liquor commissioner and is over the police department," Pfeiffer explained.

He is in charge of naming health officials, and he makes all appointments to appointed positions with the consent of the council," he added.

Pfeiffer said the appointed positions in the city include the city clerk, the fire chief, the fire chief and health building inspectors.

Pfeiffer became mayor four months after former Mayor Bob Hickman died to take a position with the Secretary of State's office. At the time, Pfeiffer was the finance commissioner, and also serves as the mayor pro tem.

Pfeiffer served as finance commissioner for six years before his appointment as mayor.

Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer

One of the mayor's more important responsibilities is his position as liquor commissioner.

As liquor commissioner, Pfeiffer said he handles all business relating to the liquor industry in Charleston, including bar closings and drinking age restrictions. He also reinforces liquor laws.

The mayor also conducts the city council meetings, which convene every month on the first and third Tuesday nights. He also votes on ordinances and resolutions along with the four other commissioners.

While Pfeiffer votes on resolutions and ordinances, he is not able to make or second a motion to approve them. In addition, the mayor does not have veto power.

Problems halt WELH start

by Michael Sitarz

"Due to faulty wiring from last year" and the lack of a station engineer, WELH FM campus radio station is not expected to broadcast until later this week, WELH station manager Dan Pedersen said.

Although the FM has not been hooked up, transmitters have been placed in the residence halls so that students may receive the AM 640 station, "the strongest," Pedersen said.

WELH Business Manager Ross Olsby said, "When we come back in the fall, it is like starting a new company" because the station completely shuts down over the summer.

Wiring diagrams necessary to pin point the wiring problem were misplaced by last year's engineers and intense testing must now be done to locate the problem, he said.

"We're taking a nice, slow, easy process. Every year that we've gotten set up here, it has been kind of haphazard," Pedersen added.

Olsby said FM broadcasting has also been delayed because the station engineer left after agreeing to work for them. This made it necessary to find someone experienced to work with the equipment, he said. Olsby declined to offer the name of the former engineer.

WELH "plans to meet with the AB to discuss future budgeting procedures," to improve the quality of the equipment. However, no specific amounts have been set.

Play tickets go on sale Monday

Tickets for Eastern's production of "You Can't Take It With You," go on sale Monday at the Doudna Fine Arts Center's ticket office.

The comedy, currently being revived on Broadway, revolves around the antics of the zany Sycamore family during the great depression.

The family's off-the-wall patriarch, Grandpa Vanderhof, quits work one day during the prime of his life to raise African violets. Each member of the household goes about pursuing their own pet diversions such as ballet or making firecrackers.

Performances will be given five consecutive nights starting at 8 p.m. Sept. 30, with a matinee performance at 2 p.m. Oct. 2.

Tickets are $3.50 for adults, $2.50 for senior citizens and youth and $2 for Eastern students.

Ticket information and reservations can be obtained by calling 581-3110 during ticket office hours.

loan program toughens rules for repayment

CHICAGO (AP)— One college graduate, certain that she could file for bankruptcy and escape repaying her student loan because she was broke, told the judge in new designer jeans she was promptly told to pay up.

Another college graduate tried to avoid loan payments by providing a fake Social Security number on the application. But after the Illinois State Scholarship Commission discovered that the number belonged to an Illinois state trooper who drove for an attorney general, the student was persuaded to repay his debt.

The anecdotes go on and on, according to the commission, which has set up a tough collection program so the state won't have to reimburse lenders millions of unpaid loans. The unpaid loans currently add up to more than $93 million.

Illinois' default rate is 3.63 percent, higher than the national average of 2.23 percent, but it's more than twice as high as it was two years ago, said Shirley Daniel, the commission's assistant director of claims and collections.

Daniel said that people from all walks of life default on student loans, including ministers and judges.

Lawyers are the most difficult because they try to shoot holes in all loan documents they signed," she said.

Neighbors from page 1

They do have a right to complain. Students should do whatever the law says," Hamilton added.

Although many residents have not had trouble with loud student parties, landlord Ron Tarvin said he has experienced some problems.

Tarvin, owner of the Kool-Aid house and ex-Schit house, said, "The police sent me a notice 10 days ago explaining to me that one of the houses I owned had a party that really got out of hand."

Tarvin said he knew of one party in one of his houses where three tenants had three kegs for a 15-person party. The party started at 11 p.m., but the kegs came to the party after the house closed at 1 a.m.

The police received several calls about the party, Tarvin said. As a result, Tarvin received the notice from the police about the party problem.

Tarvin said students should pay attention to Charleston police when they say they will warn them before arresting them if the party gets too loud.

"The law should be followed," he said.

Steidinger said repeated complaints about the same party usually leads to arrest. However, police do not go to the house until the first complaint has been filed.

While this is the basic policy, Steidinger said policeman may deviate from these procedures, depending on the circumstances.

"If there is a person that seems extremely intoxicated, we may not arrest them that night because he may be hard to handle," he said.

However, Steidinger added that the police has 18 months to arrest the individual according to the Illinois statute of limitations.

Most complaints fall under the category of disturbing the peace, Steidinger added.

went 58 yards in three plays.

The Panthers eventually broke the game open in the following quarters as they registered 14 points in each stanza.

Ball said another factor contributing to the landslide was an injury to Hayes.

"He (Hayes) got hurt in the second quarter and we had to get him out of there," Ball said. "We lost our rhythm and we didn't have quite the quarterback replacements we needed.

Rafferty and Wright connected on touchdown strikes of 14 and 11 yards in the third quarter and Techera added the extra points to push the Panthers ahead 28-0.

Eastern's defense played a key role in the third quarter as Gary Bridges intercepted a pass and Dave Ferguson recovered a fumble to set up two scoring drives.

The Panther drives, which came 50 seconds apart, covered 23 yards in four plays and 11 yards on one play, respectively.

Scott increased the lead to 35-0 at 14:28 of the fourth quarter when he scored from one yard out to cap a drive which covered 64 yards on eight plays.

Payton completed Eastern's scoring with a 60-yard touchdown pass to Roy Banks at the 7:10 mark.

Banks' reception immediately followed Tyrone Covington's interception, which was the fifth of Eastern's six thefts during the afternoon.

Gassmann paces men harriers to top race...

Long
KOSH, Wis.—Eastern senior Gassmann, who posted his best performance of the season, paced the men's cross country team to a second-place finish at the American Championships.

Gassmann scored 93 points to follow champion and Big Ten Conference powerhouse Purdue University in the 28-team field.

"There was some real good competition at this meet," Eastern assistant Tom Akers said. "We ran a hard race. The only problem was that Gassmann was in full force."

Gassmann (Gassmann) is our big gun," Akers added. "He did a super job for Gassmann captured second place in a field of 307 runners with a time of 24:27. Purdue's Bill Shuey, an NCAA All-American last year, finished first with a time of 24:27.

Gassmann said, "There was a lot of competition out there which made me more psyched."

Akers added that he was running along side Shuey for the first three miles of the race until Shuey pulled ahead and took control.

"He (Shuey) surged about 15 yards ahead of me at the three-mile mark. I told myself to get back up there or it's all over."

"Shuey is a tough runner," he continued. "I really can't think of any mistakes I made, he (Shuey) just beat me."

In addition to Gassmann's effort, the Panthers placed eight of their 11 runners among the meet's top 50 runners.

Bob Beine placed 15th with a time of 25:32 while Paul West grabbed 19th place with a 25:35 clocking.

Aaron Shepley's time of 25:40 was good enough for 28th place, one second ahead of teammate Scott Pillsbury who finished 29th.

Overall, St. Cloud State University, the 1982 NCAA Division II champions, followed Eastern in third place with 125 points.

...while women sport improved efforts

by Jeff Long

KENOSHA, Wis.—Eastern's young and inexperienced women's cross country team showed signs of improvement Saturday by placing 10th overall at the women's Mid-American Championships.

"We're a young team, so we'll progress as we progress," Eastern head coach John Craft said. "We learn a little something every time we go out there and compete."

The Panthers registered 338 points to finish in the middle of the 21-team meet field.

Iowa State University captured first-place honors with 45 points while Purdue University (56 points) and Northwestern University (63) followed in second and third.

"I'm not completely pleased with our performance," Craft said. "But we did do better than the previous week (last place in the Illinois State Invitational) which is a good indication that we're improving."

Becky Catta of Purdue was the meet's top finisher with a 16:58 clocking.

Eastern sophomore Anne Ogle continued to provide the Panthers with leadership in the absence of their strongest runner and team captain, Margaret Smith.

Ogle led all Eastern runners with a time of 18:49, which placed her 43rd out of 172 runners. Theresa Paul, who is still nursing a sprained ankle, took 54th place with a time of 19:07.

Other finishers for the Panthers included Carrie Mortell in 68th with a time of 19:31. Janine Jarris placed 85th with a 20:07 clocking as Sharon Cizek followed in 88th place with a time of 20:12.

Shooters

LeFevour who collected nine of 28 attempts for a 32.1 percent efficiency.

Stacy Cook also contributed to the Panthers' offensive attack by scoring 12 kills in 29 attempts (two errors) for a 31 percent efficiency. In addition, Cook had six service aces.

The Panthers advanced to the championship match by defeating Kentucky State University, 15-2, 15-0 and 15-3 in three-round action.

"Kentucky State has a very young team and they are Division II," Akers said. "They weren't a highly ranked team and we had little trouble beating them."

However, it was difficult for us to match like that and it was hard to get up for it," she continued. "We could have rather played a better match that wasn't good for us."

The Panthers began weekend play

Panthers utilize Wright, airways to crush NEMO

by John Humenik

KIRKSVILLE, MO.—It has been a while since Eastern's football team passed its way to a victory, but Saturday the Panthers routed Northeast Missouri State 28-0 via the airways.

Eastern sophomore quarterback John Rafferty completed 14 of 25 attempts Saturday for a career-high 212 yards, and teamed up with junior Jerry Wright for three touchdown tosses.

"He (Wright) was just playing incredible, and a lot of the passes I threw to him weren't even good ones," Rafferty said. "He was something else. He's a great receiver."

Wright, who hauled down nine passes for 162 yards, registered touchdowns of 44, 14 and 11 yards to spark the Panthers to their third victory of the season and second straight.

Eastern first-year head coach Al Molde said, "We just took what they gave us, and we didn't execute all that well offensively. However, our passing game was there."

Rafferty, playing in his fourth collegiate contest, entered Saturday's non-conference game with a 59.1 completion rate and a 147-yard passing average.

Northeast Missouri head coach Jack Ball said, "The (Eastern) made a couple good throws, and Rafferty really played well. We failed to pressure him."

"Our pressure really wasn't that consistent all day," Ball continued. "I think he (Rafferty) is going to be a good one for Eastern."

Rafferty and Wright were removed at the start of the final quarter as the Panthers piled up a 28-0 advantage. However, Eastern's replacements had little trouble matching their teammates' efforts.

The Panthers racked up 297 yards in total passing as reserves Gary Scott and Sean Payton passed for 27 and 6 yards, respectively.

In addition, Scott ran for one touchdown and Payton passed for another as the Bulldogs' season record slipped to 1-3.

"It was what they (Northeast Missouri) were doing," Molde said. "They were playing man coverage, and Wright performed well under the man coverage they ran."

Although Eastern's offense posted its finest outing this season, Molde said the Panther defense set the tone of the contest in the first quarter.

"Our defense did a good job and really got us off to a good start," he said. "And the interceptions we had gave us excellent field position."

Eastern corner back Doyle Foster intercepted a Tom Hayes pass on Northeast Missouri's 22-yard line and scampered into the endzone to get the Panthers started Saturday.

Place kicker Hector Techera, who hit on all six Eastern extra point kicks, gave the Panthers a 7-0 lead at 11:06 of the first quarter.

Ball said, "In spots, Eastern's defense impressed me but they weren't as physical as we thought they would have been. We've played teams which were more physical than they were."

Eastern went ahead 14-0 late in the second half when Rafferty connected with Wright on a 44-yard touchdown pass. Wright's reception capped a Panther drive which (See PANTHERS page 14)

Seventh straight win

Booters, Francis shutout Quincy

by Mike Lynch

QUINCY, Ill.—Eastern freshman midfielder Mark Francis notched two goals Saturday to pace the soccer Panthers to a 2-0 shutout victory over Quincy College.

Saturday's victory was the nationally ranked Panthers' seventh straight and fourth shutout of the season. Eastern goalie Eric Hartman has collected all four Panther shutouts.

However, Eastern head coach Schellas Hyndman said Saturday's non-conference victory did not come easy for his squad.

"Quincy came out very aggressive," Hyndman said. "Saturday's game was probably the toughest match we had this year."

Quincy's physical play was evident as the host Hawks were whistled for 29 fouls, including seven yellow-card infractions and one red-card ejection.

Eastern's play also became more physical as the Panthers were whistled for 25 fouls and assessed a season-high three yellow cards.

"They tried to make us lose our composure so we wouldn't play to our potential," Hyndman said.

"I'm sure they were thinking that if they could get us to lose our composure and get one of our guys kicked out that maybe they could play with us," Hyndman continued.

However, the Hawks' strategy balked as the Panthers held their composure and took a 1-0 lead at the 22-minute mark of the first half. Francis took a cross pass from Agyeman Prempeh and beat Quincy goalie Mike Derrick.

Eastern added an insurance goal in the second half when Francis recorded his second goal. The Panther midfielder took a cross pass from forward Neil Swindells and scored at the five-minute mark.

"Mark's second goal really took the steam out of Quincy," Hyndman said. "It was good seeing Mark finally scoring for us," Hyndman said.

Eastern now turns its attention to Monday's 3 p.m. contest with Southeast Missouri State University at Lakeside Field.

Spikers capture EKV tournament

by Kathy Leahy

RICHMOND, Ky.—Eastern's volleyball team, paced by some impressive defensive play, captured the four-team Eastern Kentucky Classic Saturday.

The Panthers defeated host Eastern Kentucky in four games 15-9, 15-2, 14-16 and 15-8 to claim their second tournament title this season.

"Our defense really showed great improvement this weekend," Eastern head coach Betty Ralston said Sunday. "Our blocking and our play off their blocks was good."

"Our blockers also did a good job of reading their hitters and they were reading dinks very well," she continued. "But our hand positioning still needs some work."

Ralston said Saturday's championship match performance was the best her squad has played all season.

"Eastern Kentucky is a strong team, but we just played very well," she said. "We played together and it was the best match we've played all season."

However, Ralston said she was a bit disappointed that her squad did not capture the championship match in three games.

"We were in charge the entire match and we should have won it in three," Ralston said. "But we made some mistakes and there was a bad call that prevented us from getting the serve back when we were tied at 14 in the third game."

Eastern was led Saturday by freshman
