Fee hike

Vice president for Student Affairs Lou Hencken addresses the Student Senate about a possible student fee increase next year Wednesday in the Arcola-Tuscola Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Hencken predicts approval of student fee increases

By DAN DAHILL
Staff writer

Vice President for Student Affairs Lou Hencken told the Student Senate Wednesday that an increase in student fees will probably be approved at next month's Board of Governors meeting.

Hencken said a $15.25 per semester student fee hike will be discussed at the BOG meeting March 23 and 24. At that time, the BOG will review, discuss and vote whether to approve the proposed student fee increases by Eastern and four other BOG schools.

Currently, Eastern students pay $376 per semester in fees. The proposed student fee hike would boost fees 4 percent each semester to $391.20.

The hike would increase fees for Textbook Rental Service from $59 to $65 per semester. Textbook rental fees have not changed since 1991, when book fees dropped by $3.

Hencken's plan also proposes a $5 fee increase for Lantz Gymnasium and O'Brien Stadium. Students fees for Lantz have not increased from $7.50 since the fee was initiated in 1969. The pharmacy fee is also scheduled to increase from $3.50 to $6.50 per semester.

"My experience has been that in my 17 years in housing, the BOG has never voted to not approve student fee increases," Hencken said.

He said Eastern's student fees are among the lowest of the BOG schools.

WEIU-TV, students begin settling

By ANDY PURCELL
Campus editor

Station managers and student staff at WEIU-TV's "News Scan" broadcast began to iron out a compromise on the program's format Wednesday when they agreed to produce a live, student-anchored newscast at least once a week.

Students called the meeting Wednesday with managers "a step in the right direction."

"We're happy they're agreeing to our proposal, even if it's partial agreement," said Andy Bane, a producer/director with the station. "This is a big step; we're not at a standstill and we're not taking a step back."

Under the compromise, students would anchor live once a week. Administrators and students agreed that more live broadcasts could follow once students become accustomed to the live format.

"We have to get used to going live again before we can do it every night," said Janet Erdman, a "News Scan" reporter.

No date will be set for starting the live broadcasts until after a meeting Monday between WEIU administrators, students and Mid-Illinois Newspapers.

John Beabout, the station's general manager, said he will release a statement after Monday's meeting detailing the changes and when they will begin.

During Wednesday's meeting, Beabout, Station Manager Hal Wilson, and Mike Brad, acting director of news and public affairs, discussed a revised student proposal with

American spies exposed by accused CIA traitor

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least two Soviets who spied for the United States were killed after being exposed by the career CIA officer who has been accused of selling national security secrets, American officials said Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the accused officer's wife has been cooperating with the government since she was arrested along with her husband on Monday, according to one official, commenting only on condition of anonymity.

The official would not say what Maria del Rosario Casas Ames has disclosed. But her cooperation could be crucial to the government's effort to learn how much damage she and her husband, CIA operations officer Aldrich H. Ames, might have done.

The Clinton administration seemed determined not to allow the issue to ruin relations with Russian President Boris Yeltsin.

President Clinton said the case involved a "very serious" breach of security "because of issues that I am not at this time at liberty to discuss." But he cautioned against a drastic change in U.S.-Russia relations.

"I do not think the facts of this case at this time undermine in any way shape or form the policy we have followed the last year toward President Yeltsin and his government and the forces of change in Russia," Clinton said.

The administration has asked the Russians to defuse tension over the spy case by voluntarily removing from Washington one or more of the Russian intelligence officers connected to the alleged 1985 recruitment of Ames and his wife, Rosario.

Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas called the case "as damaging as any in U.S. intelligence history." He said that at a minimum the Russians should "cease and condemn efforts to penetrate American intelligence." In Moscow, officials played down the importance of the case and said it should not provoke "excessive political emotions." Some said the United States continues to spy on Russia.

Russia's Foreign Intelligence Service chief, Yevgeny Primakov, told The Associated Press he had never heard of Ames.

The Ames family was charged Tuesday with conspiracy to commit espionage, a charge that carries a potential penalty of life in prison.

Mexican students cross the border

TECATE, Calif. (AP) — The white pickup truck bounces across the Mexican border then drives less than a mile before pulling up to the only school bus stop in this tiny town. A dozen kids jump out.

In a few minutes a yellow bus will take these children and 60 others standing at the stop to their schools in the United States.

To opponents of illegal immigration, the scene is just another example of outsiders unfairly using services meant for Americans.

But the activity on this isolated edge of San Diego County is not so simple. Many of the youngsters are U.S. citizens. Their parents choose to live on the other side of the border, in Tecate, Mexico, where crime and housing costs are lower and the standard of living, for a certain wage level, is better.

The Mexican Tecate is a bustling city of 51,557. Tecate, Calif., in contrast, has just 198 residents, a few shops, a gas pump, a pottery business and a parking lot for semi-trucks.

15 student workers from WEIU-TV and "News Scan."

In November, "Mid-Illinois News Scan," formerly "News Scan 51," began, using reporters and editors from the Mattoon Journal Gazette and Charleston Times-Courier as anchors.

Earlier this month, students submitted a proposal asking that "News Scan" be returned to a live, student-run format. They have complained that the joint-operating agreement allows Mid-Illinois employees to assume positions that should be reserved for students and detracts from the station's educational function.

The original student proposal, presented Feb. 4, asked that the newscast be returned to a live broadcast in a 6:30 p.m. time slot and be written, directed, produced and anchored entirely by students from the WEIU-TV studios in Buzzard Building.

The program is currently taped in the newsroom of the Mattoon Journal Gazette.

In their revised proposal, the students agreed to a 9 p.m. time slot under the stipulation that it be produced live.

Students said although they are confident any disagreements with the station's administration can be resolved through compromise, the process is not yet complete.

"This is a good sign," said Patty Culhane, a student reporter and producer. "There is still some compromising that needs to be done."

Students also said they do not want to eliminate Mid-Illinois Newspaper employees from the program and have never considered them adversaries.

"I don't see them as 'bad guys,'" said reporter Jerry Peck. "I just think we're all put in a bad situation."

Angie Odom, who has been working at WEIU-TV for two weeks, said she had mixed emotions about working at the station.

"It's kind of scary when you come into a situation like this," Odom said. "But it's also exciting to know students have some say in what happens."

Although it was not discussed at the meeting, students said, they plan to pursue their proposal of creating a position for a student-elected representative on the decision-making board of WEIU.

"They said that type of position already exists on the advisory board," Culhane said. "But we want a decision-making spot."

The revision also calls for the division of the newscast into two segments. Students would anchor their segment of the program from the WEIU-TV studios and cut away to a Mid-Illinois anchor in the newsroom of the Journal Gazette for an update on stories being pursued by Mid-Illinois Newspapers.

The new proposal requires students to prepare pre-recorded news packages for use by the Mid-Illinois anchors during spring and Christmas breaks.

Hencken

"There aren't fears in cutting services if you raise student fees along with the rate of inflation," Hencken said. "I think it would be a serious mistake to say 'I think we're going to improve services but also raise student fees by 10 percent.'"

Senate members asked Hencken why student fees were not being used to fund Booth Library, which many senate members thought is inadequately equipped.

"The university can only raise fees for student funded programs such as Lantz Gym, O'Brien Stadium and the Student Rec Center," Hencken said in response to the question. "Student fees cannot be used to fund Booth Library."

Hencken said funding for the library comes from state funds.

Raising student fees usually never exceeds 3 or 4 percent, but may change if a certain fee remains the same for several years, Hencken added.

The proposed $2 fee increase for student transcript copies is necessary to cover the increases in university salaries, higher costs for postage and paper and for an imaging system that would store all academic records on laser discs.

With current technology, Hencken said he would eventually want to store all student records on laser discs. All transcripts of current Eastern students are stored in fireproof cabinets, he said.

Also being proposed is a $10 charge for a new service that would guarantee overnight delivery of student transcripts.

The $10 fee would be used for overtime pay needed for administration workers to prepare students' "express transcripts," Hencken said.

In other matters at Wednesdays senate meeting:

- Faculty Senate members Richard Wandling, John Miller and Gary Aylesworth addressed faculty and student concerns at the meeting. One issue discussed included whether faculty should maintain its vote on the Apportionment Board. The Student Senate last week voted down a resolution calling for faculty members to act as non-voting members on the AB.

- The senate approved funding for the "Panther Hotline," which would inform students on the various bar alternatives. The hotline will be used by different student organizations to help publicize their upcoming events. The senate expects the hotline to be in use in four weeks.

Shea Cooper, an English graduate student, has her temperature taken while filling out the necessary forms to give blood Wednesday during the spring blood drive in the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Blood drive nears goal

Three-day total exceeds 900 pints

By SCOTT BOEHMER
Staff writer

The success of the first three days of Eastern's blood drive has coordinators hoping to collect more than 200 pints above their initial goal.

Coordinators said the drive, which has taken the most donations of any drive since 1991, may have its 1,200-pint goal increased to 1,400 pints.

Dave Cline, blood drive coordinator, said 305 pints of blood were collected Wednesday, giving Eastern a three-day total of 957 pints. Thursday's donations need to total 243 pints to reach the goal.

Cline said Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, which is competing with Eastern to collect the most donations, has collected 614 pints in three days.

All types of blood are still needed, although, Cline said, O positive and negative, A negative, and B negative are most in demand to maintain an "adequate" blood supply. Type O blood, the most common type, is most needed.

According to Cline, about 48 percent of all blood collected is type O, although there is still a demand for it, as it constitutes about 52 percent of all transfusions.

"If there is not type O blood available to keep up with the demand, it is sometimes necessary to go outside the region," Cline said.

Since October, blood banks across the nation have dealt with low blood supplies, prompting a "code red" alert in two regions of the country in December. Cline said "code red" alerts occur when hospitals need blood immediately and elective surgeries are in danger of being canceled.

Blood collected in this drive will be used in hospitals in the East Central Illinois region, which serves counties in Illinois and Missouri.

Cline said blood collected from one person can be used to treat 11 prematurely born babies or three adults.

Greek community announces merge

By DAVE HOSICK
Staff writer

The greek community has announced the merging of the Black Greek Council, the Interfraternity Council and the Panhellenic Council into a single body to promote communication between greek groups.

The new group, called the InterGreek Council, will provide all greeks with an opportunity to present upcoming events, workshops or programs to the entire greek community at once.

The new system will not eliminate the autonomy of the individual systems but will serve as an advisory council, said Ceci Brinker, assistant director of student activities. It will not establish policies and procedures.

"This will hopefully help to disprove the misconception that the greek system is segregated," Brinker said. "Although there are some structural and cultural differences between greeks, they all share common goals and purposes."

Evette Pearson, president of the Black Greek Council, said she sees this newly formed group as an important step in improving greek relations.

"This merger is an effort to bring all greek events together," Pearson said. "It's important that there is some communication between all greek groups."

Pearson said she is confident the new system will be a valuable asset to Eastern's greek system.

"This new council will help improve relations between all greeks, whether they are black or white, men or women and so on," Pearson said.

The idea to combine the councils was first proposed last fall, when the councils returned a survey suggesting the idea.

"The survey showed that all the councils thought the relationships between all greeks needed some improving," Brinker said.

"The councils saw a need to develop some appreciation and understanding of how each works and operates, while at the same time promoting unity among one another," Brinker said.

Pearson said although forming the council is a positive step, the transition to the new system will not be a smooth one.

"There will be some problems because you are dealing with different attitudes and cultures that are coming together," she said.

"I do think that, if all the groups come in with an open mind, things will begin to work out," she added.

Executives to speak at management forum

By HEIDI KEIBLER
Staff writer

Executives from Motorola Co., Amoco Corp., and Morton International will be speaking at Eastern today in a forum on quality management.

The executives, all from the Chicago area, will be sharing various quality strategies of their companies and discussing how each company has changed the culture of the business world, said Yunus Kathawala, Eastern's chairman of computer and operations management.

Kathawala said having executives from large, multinational companies speak to students and faculty is a way of communicating the importance of quality programming in companies and other industries.

He said the forum is important to students in all areas because quality management goes beyond just companies.

"Total quality management can involve service industries, non-profit industries and all other industries," Kathawala said. "Consumers demand better quality now and expect to get it."

The executives scheduled to speak are Paul Noakes, vice president of external quality programs for Motorola; Donald Tarnberg, customer focus manager for Amoco and Albert Greene, vice president of total quality management for Morton International.

Jennifer Meyers, a graduate assistant for computer and operations management, said the 300 available tickets to the forum were all distributed by Tuesday. Tickets for the event were given out on a first come first serve basis.

Correction

A caption on Page 1 of Wednesday's edition of The Daily Eastern News incorrectly described a photograph. The chair pictured belongs to junior Dan Trutter. Trutter, junior Mark Porter and senior Sara Smith are art studio design majors.

An article in Tuesday's newspaper misquoted an Eastern senior who spoke at a forum on the city's bar-entry age. Eric Williams said he recalled Eastern students driving to Champaign taverns on Sundays two years ago, not last Sunday as indicated.

Sigma Nu case not as serious as those of past

During the past few years, Eastern has seen its share of hazing violations. The recent allegations of mental hazing by the Sigma Nu fraternity are only the latest in a long line of offenses.

Last fall, Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity was sanctioned and placed on a six-month probation after an investigation revealed that alcohol-related hazing on "Big Brothers Night" was responsible for the hospitalization of one pledge.

Last school year, Zeta Phi Beta sorority received a one-year probation for hazing and recruitment violations. In 1991, Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity was suspended for four years when a university investigation concluded that pledges were physically abused in hazing activities. Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity was given a four year suspension for hazing in 1990.

The Sigma Nu fraternity, the latest alleged offender, is currently under investigation by its national headquarters and Eastern's Office of Student Activities for an alleged case of mental hazing during a ritual ceremony.

Sigma Nu pledges were allegedly told they had failed their final pledge exam and would be given one chance to avoid expulsion from the fraternity. This "last chance" allegedly consisted of questioning by chapter executives with pledges believing if they answered three questions incorrectly, they would be "sent home."

Howard Price, Sigma Nu's former academic adviser, said chapter executives continued to ask pledges questions until they did answer three incorrectly and that only after the pledges were led to believe they had failed did chapter executives tell pledges the truth.

In comparison with past hazing incidents, the Sigma Nu case does not seem nearly as serious. Pledges were not subject to physical abuse or alcohol-related hazing where a life may have been in danger.

If the chapter is found guilty of hazing, it should be subject to punishment just as all of those that went before it. But this incident must be put into perspective.

The Sigma Nu case is not as serious as hazing cases in the past, and the university should take this into consideration when deciding the fraternity's punishment.

Dear Mom,

I've learned so much in school this year that I don't know where to begin. I guess I'll start with what I learned last semester. Last semester, I learned from the Los Angeles riots and the Reginald Denny beating trial that it's OK to throw a brick at another person's already bleeding head.

Isn't that something?

What glorious freedoms I never knew we had. If everyone else is running around breaking the law, you can too. I think maybe you're supposed to.

Mom, I can't believe you fooled me all of these years by telling me that I shouldn't do something dumb just because my friends did. You'd always say, "That's no excuse. If he jumped off a bridge, would you?"

I thought this principle always applied, but I've learned it doesn't. It must only apply in the neighborhood and not in the real world.

When I asked if this brick throwing was wrong, I was told that no, it wasn't. The brick throwing was just correcting an earlier mistake when four Los Angeles policemen were told it was OK to beat black motorist Rodney King.

"Isn't that two wrongs equaling a right," I asked. Sorry Mom, I don't think the things I was taught as a kid apply anymore. Were you fooling me with that one too?

I guess it's much like Santa Claus or an allowance or being grounded. Certain things must her husband on that night, but the courts said her husband, John Wayne Bobbitt, didn't do it. The wife then did what she did, and the same courts said she didn't do it.

I guess this means that nothing bad really happened on either side because no one got in trouble. This seems to be closely related to the two-wrongs theory.

Well, Mom, there is no reason to get upset. I forgive you. I forgive you for telling me not to do wrong things just because others do them. I forgive you for telling me two wrongs don't make a right. I even forgive you for the honesty-is-the-best-policy line you always fed me.

I know you didn't purposely tell these things incorrectly; you just didn't know any better. I understand that. After all, how could you have known? You never went to college.

P.S. - Say hi to Dad.

Older people put too much emphasis on being 21

Dear editor:

Why 21? That is a primary question that must be answered in coming weeks concerning the rights of young adults in our community.

Voting rights had to go through the same formative stages before the voting age was reduced to 18 from 21. Why must we have the same stupid procedure which takes years and years to accomplish the same ends? It appears that older people are making decisions for young adults who will someday become the older people.

If those 18-, 19- and 20-year olds are suffering from pangs of delayed adulthood imposed on them by others, they must convince the older people - the decision makers - that they, too, are responsible adults. If Eastern's 18-, 19- and 20-year-olds don't pack the Grand Ballroom in the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union next Monday night (for the city's third public liquor forum), they can kiss the opportunity to be treated like responsible adults goodbye for years to come.

Pack the ballroom. Come armed with information. What is the bar-entry age in your hometown? What is the bar-entry age in Paris or Mattoon? And in the non-university towns nearby?

University students should not have to suffer because those who were once 18, 19 or 20 have forgotten what it felt like to be discriminated against because of their ages. Come with the facts, responsible facts. Convince the decision makers that you are a responsible young adults.

Mary was 17 when she gave birth to Jesus. Richard the Lion-Hearted was 19 when he lead a crusade to recover the Holy Land. How many responsible adults who made a positive mark on society were young adults? Name them. Look at the U.S. Constitution. Why did the framers decide on age 35 for a president and age 30 for representatives? Age 21 used to be the age at which a squire could aspire to knighthood. It is not a biological milestone or even an important point of passage in life.

How did 16 become the right age to get a driver's license? Would high school graduation have been a more reasonable mark in life? When do Christian people allow a child to pass from one stage of life to another or receive communion? Why 21? Why 19? The voting rights act is a proper parallel.

Show up Monday and act like responsible adults who are striving for the rights they deserve instead of whimpering spoiled brats who need a nipple on their bottle. You want a logical right. Help others who will come in the future to obtain those rights now.

Union is not the wasteland depicted in letter to editor

Dear editor:

I am writing in response to a Feb. 22 letter written by Annette Lynch. My involvement with the University Board as the Videotape Coordinator requires that I spend much of my time in the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union. In the two months since taking my position, I have not seen this "eerie place" that Lynch wrote of.

This is not the 1960s; Charleston and Eastern have changed greatly in the past 20 or 30 years. There are now several fast food restaurants lining the strip on Lincoln Avenue that draw the townspeople and some faculty off campus for a lunch break.

Even with this diversification, there are many students enjoying the movies that have been programmed for the week on most weekdays between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Besides the students in the video lounge, there are several students clustered in the television area across from the University Ballroom. McDonald's is packed for lunch five days a week, and the bowling alley is also filled with students during the day.

Even during the evening, there are students huddled in the vending lounge studying or student organizations holding meetings on the second and third floors. The Union provides what it states, a union for the students filled with activities to benefit all students on campus.

Work study program gets lift from IBHE aid

By CHRISSE MOCH
Staff writer

The Illinois Board of Higher Education will recommend a $50,000 state grant for Eastern to fund the university's Illinois Cooperative Work-Study Program at its meeting Tuesday.

The Illinois Cooperative Work Study Program, which is currently in its second year at Eastern, places students in internships.

If the recommendation is approved by the IBHE, this will be the third consecutive year the board has voted to support the program.

"The idea behind the grant allows students to be able to apply classroom education to work experiences," said Cynthia Nichols, program director.

Nichols said last year the program placed 50 students in internships. She said this year 44 students have been placed so far. The year doesn't officially end until after the summer term.

Nichols said the work-study program is available to all departments on campus that have written reports to the IBHE supporting the grant.

Nichols said these departments include geography, geology, art, zoology, political science, journalism, sociology, physical education, health studies, leisure studies, psychology, home economics and all those in the Lumpkin College of Business.

Nichols said students who participate in the program are selected by the faculty intern coordinator in their departments.

"Each department has their own procedures for selecting students and the student also interviews at the site," she said.

Nichols said students have held internships at hospitals, printing and graphic design companies, public accounting firms, newspapers, city and county government offices and conservation facilities.

"All the (grant) money goes directly to the students," Nichols said. "It is paid out in student stipends."

A requirement of the grant is that the employee pay approximately half of the student stipend, she added.

"It's a matching grant between the university and the employer," Nichols said.

Blizzard plagues Chicago

By The Associated Press

Blizzards, rain and flooding. One thing is for certain: Drought is nowhere to be found on Illinois' list of plagues.

Snow snarled air traffic at O'Hare International Airport, forcing hundreds of delays and cancellations Wednesday.

Snowfall so thick it erased the Chicago skyline also forced the airport to completely halt incoming flights for a period around midday.

Some travelers lucky enough to be on flights that actually landed faced trouble in the parking lots: Their cars were stuck in drifts up to 3 feet high.

"We have a triple whammy here with blowing snow, drifting snow and falling snow," airport spokeswoman Lisa Howard said.

During lighter snowfall, the Federal Aviation Administration restricted incoming and outgoing flights to 25 each per hour, Howard said. She said O'Hare typically handles 100 flights each way per hour.

Flooding outweighed other weather concerns in western Illinois.

On the Rock River Wednesday morning, a dike burst under the pressure of a 3-mile ice jam.

"And now we've got water coming into the back side of Erie," Assistant Fire Chief Doug Rutledge said.

Volunteers worked to sandbag against the waters, which threatened some homes and the city's water plant, Rutledge said.

Trade center trial coming to a close

NEW YORK (AP) — The jury in the World Trade Center bombing trial began deliberating the fate of four Muslim fundamentalists Wednesday after a judge warned them that political beliefs are not on trial.

U.S. District Judge Kevin Duffy instructed the federal court jurors to put aside "sympathy, suspicion or prejudice" and to suspend "any personal feelings you may have about any political beliefs." He urged them to use their common sense to decide if the men are guilty of the Feb. 26, 1993, attack that killed six people, injured more than 1,000 others and caused $550 million in damage to the world's second tallest buildings.

Charged with conspiracy are Mohammad Salameh, 26, of Jersey City, N.J.; Nidal Ayyad, 26, of Maplewood, N.J.; Mahmud Abouhalima, 34, of Woodbridge, N.J.; and Ahmad Ajaj, 28, of Houston. If convicted, they face life in prison without parole.

Soon after deliberations began, jurors asked to hear readbacks of testimony from two witnesses and to view a model of the Trade Center parking garage. They worked about 2 1/2 hours before recessing for the evening.

Deliberations, which were to resume Thursday, could last weeks.

There were more than 1,000 exhibits presented and more than 9,000 pages of testimony from 207 witnesses.

The judge has said he will not sequester the jurors.

During closing arguments that ended Wednesday morning, lawyers urged the jury to review various parts of the trial transcript and to look at certain exhibits from the trial that started Sept. 14.

Defense lawyers had tried to put special emphasis on the testimony of a gas station attendant, Willie Hernandez Moosh.

Moosh pointed out two jurors — instead of two defendants — as the men he saw the morning of the blast putting gas in a yellow van like the one that prosecutors said carried the bomb.

In its rebuttal, the prosecution noted that Moosh later corrected himself, pointing to two defendants and insisting it was them he had seen. Prosecutors urged jurors to reject the defense's implications that the government had concocted a web of conspiracy to trap the defendants.

Duffy spent considerable time Wednesday explaining to jurors the factors they should use in deciding whether the testimony of a witness is credible — such as their candor, demeanor and ability to express themselves.

Also Wednesday, a letter Salameh wrote to Duffy complaining about the closing argument of his lawyer, Robert Precht, was entered into the court record.

In the letter, sent to Duffy Sunday, Salameh said: "I object to everything Mr. Precht said in his summation ... in its totality and detail. ... I would never have agreed to (it) had it been told me."

"Finally, I would like to confirm to the court and the government that I am not guilty, but rather innocent of this charge."

In his closing, Precht had said Salameh was an unwitting tool of the real planners of the terrorist attack, who are fugitives.

Bosnia, Croatia sign peace treaty

ZAGREB, Croatia (AP) — Under growing diplomatic pressure from the West, the military chiefs of Bosnia's Muslim-led government and their second-strongest foes, Bosnia's Croats, signed a truce Wednesday.

Many truces in Bosnia have collapsed, but the accord between the former allies against Bosnia's Serbs is likely to gain strength from diplomatic efforts to extend across Bosnia a NATO-enforced truce in Sarajevo.

A new note of discord, however, emerged between Russia and the West when Boris Yeltsin lashed out at NATO for threatening air strikes against Russia's traditional allies, the Serbs, without asking Russia first.

The Russian president reiterated his proposal for a summit between Russia, the United States, France, Britain and Germany to "put an end to the Yugoslav conflict." But the United States and Germany were cool to the idea Wednesday, indicating it was premature.

Foreign diplomats consider an end to fighting between Croats and government forces crucial to an overall peace settlement.

The cease-fire, which takes effect at noon (2 a.m. EST) Friday, covers central Bosnia and Mostar and other areas in the south where Muslims and Croats have fought bitterly since their alliance collapsed last April.

"The U.N. hopes and trusts that it will be respected and implemented by both sides, which is essential in this moment," said Yasushi Akashi, head of the U.N. mission in former Yugoslavia.

State voter totals drop

CHICAGO (AP) — Voter apathy is widespread despite a chance to make history in the governor's race, registration totals from Chicago and collar counties seem to indicate.

In the governor's race — the state's most highly publicized contest — Roland Burris has a chance to become Illinois' first black governor, and comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch is vying to become the state's first female governor.

But none of the candidates truly have captured the public's attention, political analysts said Wednesday.

In Chicago, 1.38 million voters registered before last week's deadline, "only the second time since women got the right to vote that we've been under 1.4 million," said Tom Leach, spokesman for the city's election board. The number of voters registered in Cook, Du Page, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will counties has dropped since the November 1992 presidential election, and Chicago's numbers are at a near-record low.

Registration totals for the March 15 primary are higher in all six counties than in March of 1990, but analysts attributed that rise to population growth in those areas.

Statewide totals won't be available until next week.

In previous campaigns, African-American groups have launched massive voter registration drives in the black community — something that so far is missing this year despite Attorney General Burris' milestone campaign, said political scientist John Pelissero of Loyola University in Chicago.

A similar effort has been lacking for John Stroger, vying to become the first black chairman of the Cook County Board, Pelissero said Wednesday.

"These candidates aren't generating a lot of excitement in the black community. They're not traditionally known as progressive," said Laura Washington, editor of the Chicago Reporter, a monthly publication devoted to race and poverty issues.

Both Burris and Stroger are identified with the regular Democratic organization — not a strong selling point in the black community, Pelissero said.

And, he added, the county's once vaunted Democratic machine has lost the muscle it once used to get out the vote.

Ward-by-ward totals, which would indicate whether totals have dropped more in black communities, won't be available until next week, Leach said.

Burris spokeswoman Lisa Cohen said "get-out-the-vote" efforts for Burris are just beginning, and she maintained he has strong support among blacks and whites statewide.

The fact that Burris would be Illinois' first black governor "is a point of pride for people," Cohen said. But Burris has not made it a "cornerstone" of his campaign, she acknowledged.

Ex-CIA agent lived in wealth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The breakup of the Soviet empire had little effect on Aldrich Hazen Ames. He went right on spying for Russia even after the KGB was gone, the FBI alleges.

"You have probably heard a bit about me by this time," court documents suggest Ames wrote to the Russian agency that replaced the KGB.

The slim, graying CIA official accused of espionage left paychecks uncashed in his office, bought a $540,000 home and a Jaguar with cash and made frequent trips overseas — hardly the lifestyle of a typical civil servant. But the high-rolling habits of the CIA official and his wife apparently went unnoticed for years.

A day after the two were charged with espionage, a clearer picture emerged of the 52-year-old career intelligence officer who was the son of a CIA spy.

Questions raised by bone findings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The discovery of pre-human fossils from Java — at 1.8 million years, the oldest ever found outside Africa — suggests that human ancestors lived in Asia much earlier than once believed and raises new questions about our history.

New chemical dating shows a fossilized piece of skull from a hominid called Homo erectus is 800,000 years older than previously believed, geologists C. C. Swisher III and Garniss H. Curtis announced Wednesday.

The finding shows that Homo erectus lived in Africa and Asia at the same time and casts doubt on a theory that these hominids left Africa only after the invention of a new type of tool.

"This means that we have to look for new reasons of why Homo erectus got out of Africa," Swisher said.

A report on the finding is to be published Friday in the journal Science.

Swisher and Curtis, specialists in the age-dating of geologic specimens at the Institute of Human Origins in Berkeley, Calif., announced their research results at the national meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, which publishes Science.

Clark Howell, an anthropologist at the University of California, Berkeley, said in a commentary in Science that the new date "opens a whole new vista" about pre-human history.

Bernard Wood of the University of Liverpool agreed.

"The whole pattern of human evolution is much more complicated than once thought," Wood said.

Previously it was believed that Homo erectus evolved from earlier pre-humans in Africa and stayed on that continent until the invention, before 1.4 million years ago, of implements called the Acheulean tools. These tools had double edges and were much better than flaked stone used earlier.

"The theory is that this gave Homo erectus a new weapon and enabled him to explore other parts of the world," Swisher said.

Examples of Acheulean tools have been found in Europe and Africa, but none have ever been discovered in Asia. Homo erectus tools found in Asia are of a different design.

This suggests, Swisher said, that some Homo erectus left Africa before the tools were invented and migrated to Asia. After the Acheulean tools were developed in Africa, another group of Homo erectus then migrated to Europe, taking the tools with them.

Swimmers head to Chicago for conference, season finale

By JOHN COX
Staff writer

Fourteen Eastern's swimmers will travel to Illinois-Chicago today to compete in the Mid-Continent Conference Championship, perhaps the Panthers' toughest meet of the season.

The Panthers have faced some of the conference's talents during the course of the five-month season and have one conference victory to speak of over Valpariso in a dual meet.

Eastern coach Ray Padovan said he doesn't figure to finish in the top half of either the men's or women's meets.

"This is a real marathon-type swimming because you swim in the morning, you've got to leave for the pool by 8:30 a.m. and you don't get out of there from preliminaries til 1:30 p.m.," Padovan said. "By the time you've eaten lunch, go back to the hotel, you've got about two or three hours to relax before you go back and start it all over for the evening sessions."

The evening sessions usually end around 9 p.m. and then it's back to the hotel to crash, only to have to get up early and start again.

The Panthers got a taste of a three-day meet last week in Indianapolis where they competed in the Mideast Classic.

Since the Classic was the end result in Padovan's peaking workout system, some time may be added on to Panther times because of a lack of intense muscle work for a continued period of time. However, Padovan said that all the athletes react differently to the lay-off and some of his Panthers will use the rest as a springboard for their times.

And while a few of Eastern's swimmers came up big last weekend some have yet to really explode in a meet.

This will be their last chance this season and for the Panthers to beat a few teams, Eastern swimmers need to catch fire.

Blair wins record fifth gold medal

HAMAR, Norway (AP) — Gimme five.

That's five — count 'em, five — gold medals around Bonnie Blair's neck. Five golden tributes to greatness. More golds than Dick Button or Brian Boitano, Dorothy Hamill or Peggy Fleming, Mary Lou Retton or Wilma Rudolph ever won.

The Champaign native is not colorful, not controversial, not conversational. She's not a quote machine who loves to hear herself talk and see her words in print. She's so much the All-American Girl, she'd probably have to pay to be on "Inside Edition" or "Hard Copy" rather than the other way around. So, then, what exactly is Bonnie Blair? Only the greatest U.S. female Olympian ever.

And to her, that's plenty good enough.

"Maybe in time I'll realize what I've done," Blair said Wednesday after winning her second straight Olympic speedskating 1,000-meter gold medal. "All I know is I loved skating and loved competing."

Blair won the way she almost always wins — easily, with little flair, little flash, just all dash. She skated her best time in six years — one minute, 18.74 seconds — to defeat silver medalist Anke Baier of Germany by 1.38 seconds, the largest margin in Olympic history.

Among all U.S. Winter Olympians, Blair's six medals — she also took bronze in the 1,000 in 1988 — are one more than Eric Heiden, who won all five men's speedskating races in 1980.

started making some shots," Probst said. "I felt more comfortable in my jump shot this game than in previous ones. It was good to see us score the big shots when we needed them tonight."

"Those we're some huge shots by our kids off the bench," Klein said. "And Sarah showed us a lot of things tonight."

Marble's basket at 5:53 put Eastern in the lead for good at 53-52. From there, a three-point basket by guard Nicky Polka and a basket and two free throws by Baugh capped the run, giving them a 58-52 lead with 4:13 left.

Baugh led Eastern with 20 points. But a tenacious St. Louis defense held Baugh to six second-half points.

"I was surprised in the last two games that no one really stepped up and started double teaming Shannon," Klein said. "We starting thinking about how we would respond to Shannon being double teamed. And the kids were able to find the open player."

Eastern will play host to Wright State on Saturday at 5:15 p.m. in Lantz Gym.

The Lady Raiders are in eighth place in the Mid-Continent Conference, two games ahead of Eastern, with three games to play. The top eight teams make the post-season tournament

U.S. Hockey team loses to the Finns

LILLEHAMMER, Norway (AP) — The United States worked six months but will go home without an Olympic hockey medal. Finland has won six games and looks almost unstoppable.

The Finns dominated the U.S. team like they have dominated every other opponent, winning 6-1 and moving into Friday's semifinals against Canada.

In Gjovik, Canada beat the Czech Republic 3-2 in overtime and Sweden blanked Germany 3-0. Sweden's semifinal opponent will be Russia, which defeated Slovakia 3-2 in overtime in Wednesday's last quarterfinal.

Finland was seeded only seventh. But it is 6-0 and has outscored its foes 31-5. Only the United States, with 28 shots, took more than 14 against the Finns.

Sox react to Radinsky news

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Scott Radinsky, so committed to exercise he often biked to workouts and games, will take the same determined approach while undergoing treatments for Hodgkin's disease, his teammates said Wednesday.

"He will go like he does when he goes in a game. He's not going to hold back," Chicago White Sox reliever Roberto Hernandez said.

"At least he knows what's going on. He knows what lies ahead. Rad is as tough as they come mentally and physically," Jack McDowell said. "I think that will come into play."

Radinsky, 25, underwent surgery Monday to remove a malignant lymph node from the left side of his neck. He's returned to his Simi Valley, Calif., home, and will soon begin treatment that will include chemotherapy and radiation.

Radinsky, very popular in the clubhouse, was also a singer in the rock band "Ten Foot Pole." On the mound, the left-hander appeared in a career-high 73 games last season with an 8-2 record and 4.28 ERA.

"I was like everybody else, shocked and amazed that he's got to find out he's got cancer," said Hernandez, who overcame physical problems three years ago when he had a blood clot in his forearm and needed surgery.

Ozzie Guillen, whose wife's sister is married to Radinsky, talked to his teammate Wednesday morning.

"He's taking it the right way. He's taking it strong. He knows he's got to go through a lot of stuff. The doctors explained it to him. He's calm. I think he's all right," Guillen said. "He impressed me. His voice was real normal."

One teammate knows the fear that Radinsky is experiencing. Outfielder Darrin Jackson had surgery for testicular cancer in 1987.

Panthers

boards a game.

As is common on the road, Eastern has had problems shooting in its last three games, hitting on only 34 percent of its shots against Valparaiso on Monday.

The Panthers will really need to knock down the open jumper tonight.

Wright State plays mostly a zone defense, and jump shots are the main weapon used to slice up such a scheme.

"Hopefully, our offense will come along," said Samuels. "I think that Wright State's winning right now by playing a zone defense, and that's a concern for us right now."

"You've got to be able to shoot against a zone, or it could be a long night."

Baseball

omers, drove in 24 runs and stole 10 bases.

Salazar batted only .244 but scored 19 runs and drove in 11. Dunlop hit .304 in his limited playing time and Martin batted .301 with 24 RBI in 38 games, 36 of which he started.

Callahan predicted the remaining four slots in the lineup will be filled by two junior college transfers, a senior who was injured for much of last season and a junior who will be promoted to a starting position.

Callahan has Shawn Guenther, a transfer student from Parkland College, penciled in as his catcher and Rob Nicholes, a transfer student from Southeastern College, listed as designated hitter.

Fifth-year senior Jason Jetel figures to be the starting left fielder after missing much of last season with a broken hand. Jetel was an all-conference selection his sophomore and junior years and was an all-region choice his junior year.

Finally, Callahan said junior Steve Kimble will likely be in the starting lineup and play right field.

As for pitchers, Callahan lists three senior righthanders as his top returnees.

Probable No. 1 starter Basil Clausen was 6-4 year ago with a 2.56 earned run average and three shutouts. Fellow starter Mike Fahey went 4-3 with a 3.56 ERA, and is listed as No. 2 in the rotation.

Reliever Joe Keusch had just a 1-3 record but recorded a Mid-Con-high six saves and was among league leaders with a 1.67 ERA.

Senior lefthander Andy Keefner and junior righty Willy Hilton are among those vying for the third spot in the starting rotation with Keefner rating the slight advantage, according to Callahan.

"Andy Keefner has made tremendous progress in the past year," Callahan said. "We feel like we're in decent shape as far as starters."

"I'll be surprised if we can play (scheduled games) next Tuesday and Wednesday, and if that is the case, then we'll go down to the Carbondale Tournament (March 4-5) with (Clausen, Fahey and Keefner) designated as our starters."

Eastern's season is scheduled to begin with a game Tuesday at Indiana and another Wednesday with Indiana State at home, if the weather cooperates.

The team was able to practice outside four times during last week's unseasonably warm weather, something Callahan finds to not only be more enjoyable but also more beneficial.

"That was good from the standpoint of as nice as the indoor facility is, you just get cabin fever," Callahan said. "Besides, baseball was meant to be played outside."

Lady Panthers win 3rd straight, 64-56

The Eastern women's basketball team got some help from a surprising source Wednesday night to spark the Lady Panthers to their third straight win, a 64-56 non-conference victory over St. Louis.

The recent success of the Lady Panthers basketball team has been greatly on the shoulders of senior leader Shannon Baugh, who has averaged almost 25 points during the team's streak.

But with Eastern staring at a seven-point deficit with a little under 12 minutes to play and Baugh being constantly double teamed, it was the play of some unlikely heroes off the bench and a freshman that sparked an important game-winning run for the Lady Panthers.

Those players - senior Beth Salvaggio, junior

LaShema Marble and freshman Sarah Probst - sparked a pivotal 19-4 run that helped catapult Eastern's record to 5-18 overall.

"They came off the bench and really provided the scoring when we lost our momentum," head coach John Klein said. "As a team, we buckled down and got the win. We're really starting to play to win. I am proud of the kids."

After a 12-0 St. Louis run put the Lady Panthers behind 48-41, it was Salvaggio, who has been struggling through a shooting slump, that started the run with a three-point basket off the bench.

Probst, who scored 10 of her 12 points in the second half, followed with two straight scores to pull the Lady Panthers within 50-48 with 9:48 to play.

Panthers play host to Raiders

If you can't remember the last time the Panthers played in Lantz Gym, relax, it's been a while.

After a four-game road trip, Eastern will hit its own floor for the first time in two weeks when it takes on the Raiders of Wright State tonight at 7:35 p.m.

The Panthers have been on the road for nine of the last 11 days, which could certainly be an excuse for their recent three-game losing streak.

"We've got some kids fighting some colds, and we played at home two weeks ago against Austin Peay and then we had to jump on the bus the next day and take off," said Panther coach Rick Samuels. "It doesn't seem like we've been back at all since then, so it will be nice to be home."

The match-up could be pivotal as teams enter the final week-and-a-half of the season jockeying for position for the Mid-Continent Conference postseason tournament.

Eastern currently stands a game behind the Raiders in the Mid-Con at 11-12 overall and 6-9 in the league. Wright State comes into tonight's game with a 10-16 overall mark but a 7-8 conference record. The Raiders are tied for fourth place with Cleveland State.

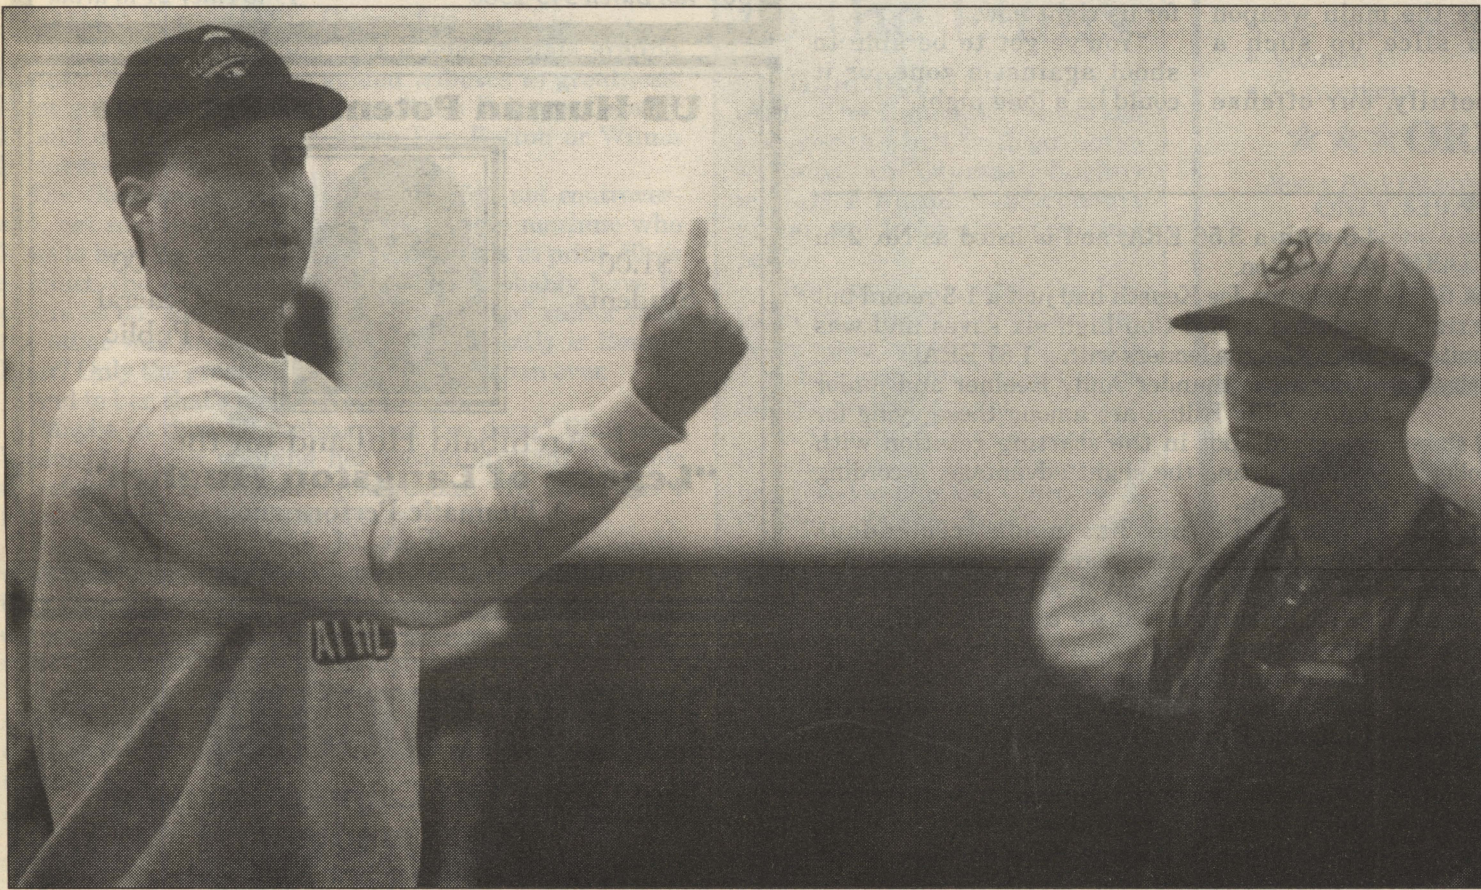

The first time these two teams met this year, the Panthers nipped Wright State 63-62 at the Nutter Center on Jan. 27. Louis Jordan scored 16 points to lead Eastern, and it looked like the Panthers were peaking at just the right time.

Since then, Eastern has cooled off, as its three-game skid suggests, and the Raiders have picked up the pace. After starting out with 2-9 record, Wright State has played slightly over .500, winning three of its last four games.

"But we get 'em in Lantz Gym," said Samuels. "We hope that's a comfort for us right now. We hope that we can come back and have some bounce and really be able to get after it. We have to take advantage of this opportunity to move up in the standings."

Senior center Mike Nahar leads the way for the Raiders. The seven-footer from Holland has averaged 16.2 points a game on a league-leading 59.6 percent shooting, while senior forward Sean Hammonds has averaged 14.1 points and eight Eastern baseball coach Dan Callahan describes his outlook for the 1994 season quite simply.

"I'm more excited about this year than any year since I've been here," said Callahan, the Panthers' coach since the 1988-89 school year. "This is probably the most talented team I've had since coming here."

"We think we've got a chance to win the (Mid-Continent) Conference and, for the first time in school history, to play in a national tournament."

Callahan said two prominent, national baseball magazines have his team listed among the three most likely to win the Mid-Con.

"We, (Illinois-Chicago) and Wright State are picked to finish in the top three," Callahan said.

A solid nucleus of returnees from last year's 23-23 squad is what has both the coach and the experts picking the Panthers so high.

Callahan lists five returning position players among his starters and says his top three pitchers saw significant time on the mound last season.

Last year's infield remains largely intact with senior Keith Mierzwa at first, senior Jeff Guest at second, junior Melesio Salazar at shortstop and sophomore Steve Dunlop at third. Dunlop started 20 of the 31 games he played in, but the graduated Rick Royer was the starting third basemen for much of the season.

Mierzwa batted .292 with seven home runs, 31 runs batted in and nine stolen bases. Guest led the team in hitting with a .387 average, hit three

Kerrigan rises to challenge, Harding sits in 10th

HAMAR, Norway (AP) - As Nancy Kerrigan was spinning and spinning toward an electrifying finish, the ovation grew louder and louder.

When it was over, Tonya Harding could do little else but clap along with the crowd.

Maybe winning was the best revenge.

Seven weeks after an attack that Harding's ex-husband admits he planned, Kerrigan skated an elegant technical program Wednesday that entranced a sell-out crowd and put her in position for a gold medal on Friday.

Harding, after bungling two jumps and skating tentatively throughout, landed in 10th place with all but no chance for a medal. Seated in a VIP booth high above the ice with her coach and her lawyer, Harding stared stonily at her rival's performance, applauding politely.

"To go out there was exciting, and to have all the crowd behind me, and everyone at home as well," Kerrigan said. "As I stepped out there, I felt it. And I was ready."

Was she ever! Forgotten was the assault that severely bruised her knee and could have kept her out of the Olympics. Tossed aside was the controversy that has gripped a nation for nearly two months. Gone was any doubt about her courage under pressure, her guts.

Kerrigan allowed none of that to intrude on this night, her night.

It was more than enough to finish ahead of world champion Oksana Baiul of Ukraine, who was second and European champion Surya Bonaly of France, who was third heading into the free skate, worth two-thirds of the total score. Two-time Olympic champion Katarina Witt was sixth.
