Revised grade appeal plan awaits Student Senate OK

by Patty O'Neill

Students who are not satisfied with the current grade appeal process may have a better chance to change a grade if a new appeal policy is approved by the Student Senate and the administration.

Senate Executive Vice President Dan Hunnicutt proposed three changes in the current grade appeal policy, which was tabled at Wednesday's Student Senate meeting.

Hunnicutt said the major changes in the proposal would provide for a five-person appeals board, three of whom would be faculty and the other two students.

One of the students would be the executive vice president.

The current board includes four faculty members and the executive vice president, who acts in an advisory capacity only.

Hunnicutt proposed that at the close of each appeal session, a decision would be released either calling for no action on the appeal or a re-grading of specific areas of the student's work.

Also, the faculty member could be instructed to grade the student's work again and recommend to the academic dean and vice president for academic affairs that the grade be changed.

The final change in the proposal states that if the committee reaches an unsatisfactory decision to either party, it may be appealed to Samuel Taber, dean of academic services.

If one of the parties is still unsatisfied, a final appeal could be made to the vice president for academic affairs, who will have authority to make a final decision.

In addition, the Senate unanimously approved the vote on the two referendums passed by the student body last Wednesday.

The Textbook Library referendum would raise the rental fee for books $20 per semester. The student activities fee referendum raised the general activities fee $1.75 per semester and will provide student publications with an addition $35,000 per year.

The results now go to Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin for his approval.

In other business, the Senate approved a bylaw change designating who will attend future student government conferences.

The bylaw change included an amendment which enables one member of the legislative branch—with preference to the Senate Speaker—to attend conferences.

Prior to the amendment, the proposal called for equal representation of the executive and legislative branch. Student Senator Bill Mueller proposed the amendment, arguing that the amendment would allow for "flexibility" in choosing who will attend conferences.

Budget poses problem—Marvin

by Scott Hainzinger and Jane Meyer

Eastern may have some difficulty in meeting some of the budget reductions suggested by the Illinois Board of Higher Education to meet Gov. James Thompson's higher education budget, Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin said Tuesday.

The areas in which reductions were recommended by the IBHE under Thompson's request include energy costs—a 4 percent reduction, non-personnel costs—a 4 percent reduction and personnel costs—a 1 percent reduction.

To meet these reductions, there would have to be internal reallocations "which would be very difficult to do," at Eastern Marvin said.

"Internal reallocation is easier when an institution is not growing and when an institution already has a sufficient financial base to allow this to occur," Marvin said.

However, he noted that the IBHE has determined that Eastern is already $1.3 million underfunded.

The underfunding along with Eastern's continued growth in the past seven years complicates the reallocating process, Marvin said.

"Frankly, we're strong, viable and growing," Marvin said. "It's extremely difficult to reallocate anything."

"It's easy to take money from a nongrowing area to a growing one. The truth of the matter is that we're (Eastern) growing across the board," he added.

IBHE Executive Director Richard Wagner said the board had recommended an 18.3 percent increase for universities' utility costs in its own budget, but when preparing a budget under the governor's recommendation, the increase was lowered to 15 percent.

Marvin said the 4 percent reduction in utilities "is possible" because Eastern is already using some energy conservation methods and would apply others to meet that requirement.

The board had also recommended an 8 percent increase in non-personnel costs such as travel costs, printing and contractual services. Under the governor's guidelines, that figure was reduced to 4 percent.

"Essentially this is just a 4 percent increase," Marvin said. "Looking at a 10 to 12 percent increase in inflation, this means you're going to have to reduce the amount you buy."

To meet the requirements for the 1 percent reduction in personnel costs Marvin said the personnel services base of $21 million would have to be reduced by about $212,000.

"Since we are a growing university, there aren't any positions that we don't need," Marvin said. "You can see what kind of problems this creates."

Universities were informed of the governor's proposed budgetary support for higher education Monday.

Wagner said although the governor's $1.23 billion budget proposal represents an increase of $87.1 million over last year's estimated expenditures of $1,141.2 million, it will not allow state colleges and universities to "go as far".

Thompson's budget recommendation represents a $50 million reduction from the $1.28 billion budget recommended by the IBHE in January.

The Board of Governors, Eastern's governing authority, originally asked the IBHE for $31.2 million for Eastern's operation for fiscal year '82 which is an 11.3 percent increase over last year's $27.1 million.

The IBHE reduced the original request of $31.2 million to $30.2 in its January budget and most recently to about $29 million in its allocation of the governor's figure.

In a letter asking the IBHE to prepare a second budget under his fiscal guidelines, Gov. Thompson called 1982 "a year of limited new spending."

In that letter, Thompson requested that the IBHE address "the high priority need" of increasing faculty and staff compensation by providing for an 8 percent salary increase and 2 percent catch-up raise.

Wagner said the 8 percent increase would take effect on July 31, 1981. The 2 percent raise would be implemented on January 1, 1982.

Beginning the catch-up raise in January would allow the cost of that increase to be split between two budgets, those of fiscal year's 1982 and 1983, Wagner said.

In accord with previous board priorities, Thompson asked that the Illinois State Scholarship Commission be given funding sufficient to cover processing of a projected number of 178,000 applications in 1982. He also requested funds be granted to raise the ISSC's maximum award from $1,850 to $1,950.

The IBHE recommended that the maximum be raised to $2,000 in its budget.

$61 increase

Tuition hike goes to BOG for further consideration

by Jane Meyer

If the Board of Governors approves a recommendation Thursday to increase tuition by 10 percent for the five BOG schools, the fact that Eastern students will have to pay an additional $61 next year for tuition will become more of a reality.

Eastern students currently pay $606 per year for tuition, and if the proposed is approved by the BOG and the Illinois Board of Higher Education, students would be pay $667 yearly.

BOG Executive Director Donald Walters said he will make the tuition increase recommendation to the board following a suggestion by the IBHE in January to increase tuition for Illinois universities by 10 percent.

IBHE officials said the increase in tuition is needed to help maintain its proposed $1.28 billion budget for fiscal year 1982.

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin said Tuesday that he thinks the BOG "should go with what the IBHE recommended."

He explained that an increase in tuition is a must because of inflationary pressures.

"It is not anything we welcome, but it is understandable," Marvin said.

Student Body President Bob Glover said Wednesday that although members of the Students Against Tuition Increase had discussed going to the meeting to lobby against the increase, only BOG representative Terry Teele would be attending.

In October, when the BOG held its meeting here, Eastern students attended the meeting to hold a peaceful demonstration to show their support against a tuition increase.

At the October meeting, Walters said the Eastern students who did attend the meeting expressed their opinions in a way that the board members would remember their concerns when it came time for the board to vote on a tuition increase.

Police puzzle disappearance of two Atlanta children

ATLANTA—The disappearances of two more black boys prompted police searches in Atlanta neighborhoods Wednesday, as prospects dimmed for a federal cash outlay to bolster special inquiry in the cases of 20 dead and missing black children. Public commissioner Lee Brown said the cases of the black boys who disappeared Tuesday were being handled by the missing persons division and had not been turned over to the special unit set up in the other cases.

About 1,700 people are reported missing in Atlanta each year, Brown said, and 80 percent are found in 24 hours. Reports of missing children—even habitual runaways—have lately been receiving wide attention because of the continued killings of children.

Dempster D. Williams, 10, of southwest Atlanta, was last seen at his home at 8 p.m. and was reported missing within hours, police said.

Thermal Heard, 14, of northwest Atlanta was last seen at 3:30 p.m. at a downtown park trying to catch a bus to suburban College Park. He was reported missing Wednesday.

Child disappearances are not turned over to the special child deaths task force until it is determined if they fit the profile of the 20 other cases under investigation. All the dead and missing children investigated by the task force were aged 7 to 15, all were black, and many received little parental supervision. All but two were boys. They were killed or disappeared over the past 19 months.

Earthquakes hit Greece, dozens injured or killed

ATHENS, Greece—Two heavy earthquakes and 195 tremors rocked Greece, killing 12 people and injuring dozens, officials reported. Five people were missing and feared dead in the wreckage of a seaside hotel.

Thousands of Athenians spent Tuesday night in the streets or in their cars, warned by authorities that continuing aftershocks could cause more damage.

Police reported that residents of Athens were streaming out of the capital today for shelter in the suburbs, but public transport was running normally and most shops opened this morning at their usual times.

The Athens Seismological Institute said the largest quake, at 10:53 p.m. Tuesday, measured 6.6 on the Richter scale. A second large shock about six hours later registered 6.3 on the scale.

Attendance jumps nationally when movie prices slashed

CHICAGO—Attendance jumped an average of 150 percent in about 500 movie houses in the Plitt Theater chain that experimented with $1 admissions on Tuesday, a company executive says.

"The experiment is over—bargain Tuesdays are here to stay," said Harold Klein, Plitt executive vice president, Wednesday. "Attendance was up as much as 300 percent in some of the theaters, and averaged out to about 150 percent."

The $1 price was charged during the day as well as at night. Plitt is the nation's third largest theater chain and is headquartered in Chicago.

In addition to the Chicago area, some of the major cities with theaters in the chain are Detroit, Minneapolis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Birmingham, Ala., Miami, Dallas, Little Rock, Ark., and Chattanooga, Tenn.

BOG program review criticized by faculty...

by Linda Fraembs

The Board of Governors' annual program review system was criticized Tuesday by Eastern faculty members and Vice President of Academic Affairs Stanley Rives, who said a future revision in the review policy could be beneficial.

The Council on Academic Affairs is responsible for evaluating the various programs at Eastern which is part of the BOG program review. The Council on Teacher Education and Council on Graduate Studies also evaluate programs in their areas, teacher education and graduate programs, for inclusion in the review.

Individual programs are reviewed and given a classification of one of the following: expand, status quo, status quo*, eliminate, phase down and suspend.

These classifications are based on program data received from Rives' office "a few weeks before the evaluations are due," Carol Elder, CAA subcommittee chairman, said.

The CAA then makes its recommendations to Rives, who in turn submits his recommendation to the BOG by March 1.

The CAA voted at its meeting last Thursday to rate all of Eastern's programs status quo, meaning they are not subject to change.

Elder said all programs were placed in this category because "there are no other categories available that adequately describe how the programs are."

She explained by saying that although the system allows for many stages in the eventual elimination of a program, there are no gradations between the expand and status quo ratings.

"There are not very many ways of fine-tuning in improving the programs," Elder said.

CAA member Steve Whitley said the process "is not very beneficial as it now exists."

Rives said he feels the annual review of programs may not even be necessary.

"A five-year intensive evaluation program would be more appropriate," he said.

Eastern's programs do undergo such an evaluation now, but the CAA has no input into the process, Elder said.

Whitley pointed out that the CAA, as well as the Council on Teacher Education and the Council on Graduate Studies are all involved in evaluating programs mainly to inject faculty input into the process.

COTE Chairman Russell Fischer said his problems in reviewing programs in the past have been twofold.

Fischer said COTE members sometimes did not have adequate information to categorize the programs.

"The expediency in which we have to act" has also been a problem, he added.

...CAA to hear report by subcommittee

by Laura Henry

A revision of the current pass-fail policy and a subcommittee's statement regarding the categories for the Board of Governor's annual program review will be two of the items for discussion at the Council of Academic Affairs meeting on Thursday.

The pass-fail revision submitted by the Student Senate, suggests that the current pass-fail deadline be extended to 4:30 p.m. on the 13th class day of the semester and a student registered pass-fail for a course who receives an 'A' be awarded the grade.

Last week, the council found the categories to be "inadequate as defined."

Subcommittee chairman Carol Elder said the committee will have something to present to the council, although she added that she was not sure of the form it would be in.

"It could be a recommendation to the council, or just thoughts and concerns," Elder said.

Elder and CAA members Cindy Rozmin and Dave Buchanan met Wednesday to formulate a statement on the program review.

The council will also vote on whether to retain the present policy of a university honor system consisting of a Dean's list, Honor's list or University Scholar's list or return to one previously used, CAA chairman Ron Wohlstein said.

Wohlstein said that the old system which was in existence until Dec. 1979 has provisions for honors or high honors.

Since there was not a vice president of academic affairs when the university honor system was passed in 1979, it was never implemented, Wolstein said.

Now that the office has been filled, questions regarding the new system's implementation have been raised, Wohlstein said. A motion was made at the last meeting to return to the old system instead of trying to implement the new, he said.

Two proposed class revisions, one in GEL 2430, History of Geology, and MUS 2562, Introduction to Music Literature, will also be discussed.

The CAA will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday in the University Union addition Tuscola-Arcola room.

Bylaw approval a needed change

Student Senate's approval of a constitutional bylaw change concerning the selection of representatives attending student government conferences was a conscientious step.

The bylaw requires that all expenditures for "transportation, lodging, registration" to any student government conference be approved by the Student Senate.

We do not believe this issue is just another "quarrel" between executive and legislative branches of student government. The bylaw change should be the concern of all Eastern students because it involves expenditures of student funds.

The proposal was made because of a controversy that arose when Student Body President Bob Glover selected four executive officers (including himself) to attend a conference at California State University-Northridge during spring break.

Three of the four representatives chosen by Glover were seniors and, because of that fact, some student senators doubt that the three were the best choices.

Glover contends that the California conference was designed for executive officers not senators. He added that many other conferences this spring would cater to the needs of student senators.

This particular development brought up the issue of who should select representatives to student government conferences. The appointment process should be more open, requiring equal representation between the executive and legislative branches and allowing the Senate to approve the choices. Student Senate's action ensures that end.

Besides assuring equitable representation in selection of delegates to student government conferences, the bylaw change will add more regulation to Student Senate's travel expenditures.

The new bylaw requires representatives to present to Student Senate a written report on what was accomplished at the conference. This section of the proposal is valuable because student fees pay for travel to many of these student government conferences.

Editor:

I'd like to respond to those gentlemen who expressed their low opinion of my opinion.

Mr. Shaw, I neither lay claim to nor desire the label "cowboy." You suggested that if there's something in the paper I "can't relate to, don't read it." Since I doubt that you can relate to my viewpoint, I'm sure you're not reading this letter, but I'd like you to know that Mr. Roberts has been with Channel 3 since the station went on the air over 25 years ago; he's been a professor at the University of Illinois; he helped the State of Texas when an oil slick hit its coast two years ago and, in spite of his obvious poor health, he's still trying to be of service to the people of central Illinois. The man has class and I admire him. I was making no comparison of this gentleman to your "middle-aged kid." There's none to make.

Mr.s' Ricciardi and Mason, forgive me for being so unstylish and not recognizing fashionable trendiness in city folk. (And here I thought it was gross superficiality. Silly me.) Thank you for pointing out the obvious: millions of people don't read this paper and lots of Chicagoans attend Eastern.

I didn't imply the former and the latter is not my fault. My point was that if something happens in Chicago, find out about it through Chicago media. The Daily Eastern News could've found something with more extensive student appeal. Relevance is relative and to those of us raised downstate there's nothing relevant about Rayner or Dahl.

Mr. or Ms. Withheld, I've seen Ray Rayner's show. I was not amused. I'm being less narrow-minded than ethnocentric. As for what I'm walking through, I can't tell the cow dung from the bullhumph that a few northerners have so abundantly supplied. Don't ever change.

Gigolo-types are nothing but plastic

Andy Robeznieks

The subject of this column is "why I'm glad that I or any of my friends did not win the EIU Gigolo Contest."

Now some girls out there may be asking "why would any guy not want to be the EIU Gigolo?"

Well, I'm glad you asked.

For one thing, by popular definition, the EIU Gigolo would be everything an Eastern coed could ask for: a guy with a nice haircut, nice clothes, and most of all, an expensive car.

In other words, this symbol of masculinity—the EIU Gigolo—would require feminine approval before he does anything.

The typical EIU Gigolo must rise extra early each morning to make sure his hair is all plastered back and every hair is in place because women like the blown-dry disco look.

To keep his women happy, the EIU Gigolo must dish out heavy bucks to buy clothes designed by some flake in New York just because women like men who wear ugly (fashionable) clothes.

Those shirts with the ugly small collars are an example of what I'm talking about.

The EIU Gigolo must be ready to fork over even more cash to buy a sleek sports car that can't run on anything but expensive unleaded premium gasoline because women are impressed by expensive cars.

Those pseudo-Richard Geres who think they are being studs by imitating the American Gigolo are actually being fools who are being manipulated by the editors of Playgirl magazine and girls who wear too much make-up.

Those striving to be an EIU Gigolo will probably grow up to be henpecked husbands.

Now a lot of guys with tight pants and feathered back hair may disagree with me and say their gigolo lifestyle has brought them joy, happiness and many women. But who really cares?

If all it takes to pick up a certain type of girl is to dress in the latest fashion and have your hair done in the latest style, what does that say about that type of girl?

Whatever happened to using wit and charm to win a girl's heart?

Is it worth becoming the mirror image of a department store mannequin just to improve your chances at scoring in the bars?

It may be worth it to a few plastic individuals but to the vast majority of real flesh and blood, American young men, it probably isn't.

And, since I or any of my friends did not win, or even get nominated for the honor of being EIU's Gigolo, I can rest assured knowing that mine and their unplasticity is still intact.

Sorry girls, you may think the American Gigolo-type guy is the living end, but speaking from the guy's point of view, he is a joke.

Why stand for a flag?

Editor:

I am writing in response to the letter printed Feb. 24, headlined "Stand up, please!"

To the three faithful Americans who are concerned whether I stand up for the National Anthem or not. If they really wanted to know, why didn't they ask me? I would have told them that it is against my religious belief to respect a flag. I am very proud to be an American citizen.

I don't worship Christ on a cross but this doesn't mean I don't believe in God. Why should I respect a symbol when I can respect the true faith within my heart?

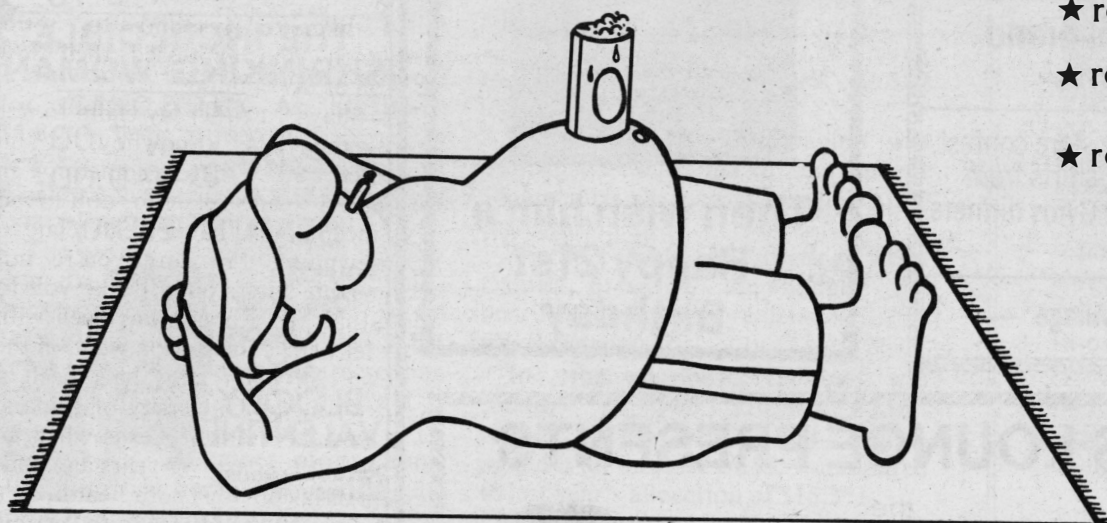

To the three concerned students: you were right, I won't stand up for the National Anthem because you wrote to the editor.

AB to make final decision on three budget requests

by Cathy Crist

Having heard the initial 1981-82 budget requests, the Apportionment Board will finalize the Sports and Recreation, Student Senate and AB budgets Thursday in the Union addition Paris Room.

The Sports and Recreation department requested $42,461—a $7,757 increase over last year's allocation of $34,703.

The largest increase in the budget is for student payroll. An additional $5,849 is being requested to cover the new minimum wage requirement of $3.35 per hour, Sports and Recreation Board chairman Ed Marsh said.

The payroll budget was $29,969 last year.

Director of Intramurals David Dutler said he is hopeful that AB's support of the sports and recreation budget will help keep the program at high quality.

Last year a number of programs were modified because of budget cuts made by the AB in 1980-81.

"We want to maintain a high quality sports and recreation program for the students at Eastern," he said.

The Student Senate, represented by Financial Vice President Todd Daniels, requested $15,226 for its budget—a $626 increase over last year's $14,600 allocation.

Proposed major line item increases in the Student Senate's budget are in the areas of student payroll, with a request for a $431 increase to cover the higher minimum wage and an additional $100 from last year's $450 allocation in supplies.

Also, a $54 increase is being requested from last year's $1,380 telephone line item.

At the AB meeting, Daniels will present a detailed list of the Student Senate's travel expenses for the $3,000 travel line item.

At the Feb. 19 AB meeting, when Daniels presented the budget, the board requested a more detailed list of travel expenses.

In other business, the AB will finalize its own $16,245 budget request. This year's AB budget includes an increase of $599 compared to last year's allocation of $15,371.

A $499 increase in the civil service line item is due to a change in employment. Daniels said the current secretarial position will be divided into two jobs—secretary and a bookkeeper.

A question and answer period will follow the lecture. Admission is free to the presentation.

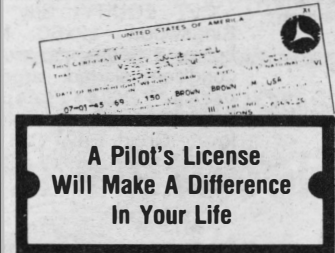

Coal expert to discuss reserves

"Illinois Coal Reserves and its Economic Impact on the Future of the State" will be discussed 7 p.m. Thursday in room 332 of the Science Building.

The speaker will be Heinz Damberger, head of the coal section of the Illinois Geological Survey. Alan Baharlou, chairman of the geography-geology department, said Damberger's agency has been assessing and estimating coal reserves and the feasibility of exploration.

Baharlou said, "this presentation will be significant because coal is projected to be the second most important source of income for the state."

Academic Affairs to probe summer school proposal

by Crystal Schrof
The Student Senate Academic Affairs committee will meet Thursday to discuss the proposed pass-fail option and research the possibility of a two five-week summer school session.

The committee will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Paris Room.

Committee members met with Leonard Wood, chairman of Faculty Senate, to offer assistance to the Senate in its research of developing two five-week summer school sessions, Russ Robb, chairman of the Academic Affairs Committee, said.

Currently a five-week and an eight-week session are offered in the summer.

In order to improve the current summer school program, the Faculty Senate is working on the possibility of implementing two five-week sessions, Cindy Rozmin, co-chairman of the Academic Affairs Committee, said.

The committee's goal is to find out if students would be able to pick up more credits with the two five-week summer school session and whether the change would increase or decrease summer tuition, Rosmin said.

In other business, the committee will discuss presenting the proposed pass-fail option to the Council on Academic Affairs.

The committee approved a proposal which would allow students to take up to 13 class days to decide if they want to take a class pass-fail.

Currently, a student has five class days to make the decision.

The committee also proposed that if a student receives an A in a pass-fail course, the A will be recorded on the student's record.

Currently, if a student receives an F in a pass-fail course they receive that grade in their records.

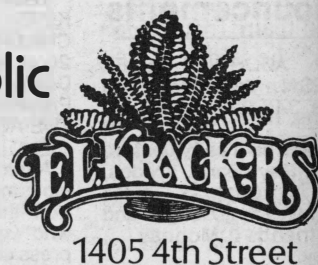

The proposal was approved by the Student Senate and is awaiting the CAA's action.

1 Mona, I've finally decided where I'd like to make my career: State Farm!

State Farm? Great Plowshares! You're going to be a soil tiller. Living an agrarian lifestyle!

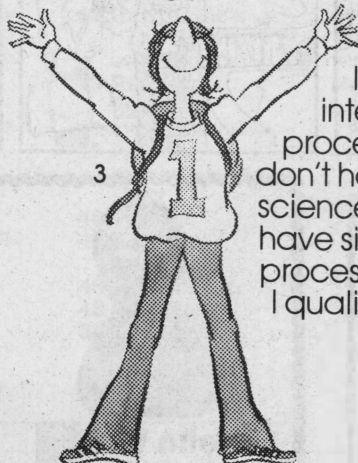

2 Come on now! State Farm is an insurance company.

Virgil, you're going to be a salesman? How could you? Even if they'd have you...

3 Mona, there's more to insurance than selling policies. Insurance is opportunity. State Farm is looking for people interested in a data processing career. I don't have a computer science degree but I do have six hours of data processing courses. So I qualify!

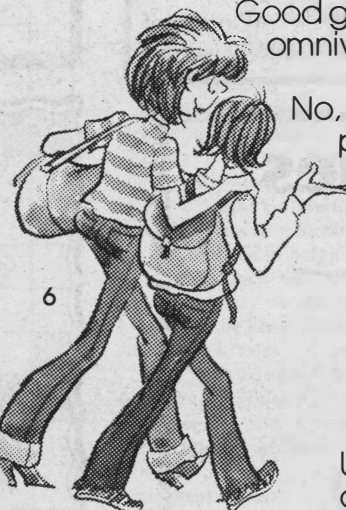

4 Virgil, you're putting me on.

5 No way, Mona. State Farm is looking for men and women with any degree and six to nine hours of data processing courses. Of course, you've got to be interested in a data processing career.

Good grief! They're omnivorous.

6 No, but they're also interested in people in mathematics, accounting, law and actuarial sciences.

7 Incidentally, the pay is great!

Uh, Virgil, wear a clean pair of jeans to the interview.

To get details on career opportunities for computer programmer analysts and auditors contact your Campus Placement Director or visit the State Farm Recruiter. Our representative will be on campus March 13, 1981.

"Everybody on the team loves to play basketball. That's why we're here. Despite everything that has happened, it's been an enjoyable season," Ellis said.

However, Saturday the season ends and so does Ellis' basketball eligibility—something the senior guard has already accepted.

"It's dissappointing, but I knew it was coming and I was ready for it. But I'll never quit playing. It's something you don't just drop after school. I'm a gym rat and I'll be playing here for awhile," Ellis said.

prepared for the meet, but we are a bigger team from a numbers stand point," he said.

Padovan said all the teams are coming in basically the same way, having already qualified their best swimmers.

The conference meet is a full championship program that includes 18 events. Padovan said each school can enter as many swimmers as it wants, but each swimmer is limited to three individual events and three team events.

"This will really be a fairly small competition and the team entries are pretty small," he said.

Last year there was one more school and many more individuals competing, Padovan said.

Eastern finished third out of five schools last year, but won the conference the season before.

Padovan said half of the Panther team has been resting and they are the ones who will decide the meet.

"We're hoping for several good performances," he said.

The Panthers have consistantly done well this season in relay events such as the medly relay and the 800-yard relay.

All-Americans Tim Bird, Steve Boone, Dave Gibson, Jim Hall, Tom Hussey, Mike Roessler, and Ted Soltys will lead the Panther pack.

Cagers suffer 70-63 setback to Northern

DEKALB—Eastern's women's basketball team suffered a disappointing 70-63 setback to Northern Illinois University Wednesday night.

The Panthers, who were coming off of six straight victories including Monday night's 72-68 win over Lewis University, could not put together a complete team effort, Eastern coach Bobbie Hilke said.

"We didn't take it to them and we did not do a good job defensively," Hilke said. "Plus we watched them shoot free throws all night long."

The Huskies connected on 18 charity tosses while the Panthers could only drop in 11.

Hilke said. "We didn't shoot much and we really didn't penetrate well."

Hilke said the Panthers put up only 23 shots by the end of the first half, which was "far below their average."

One reason which Hilke said contributed to Eastern's poor play was Northern's height.

Using a starting lineup that consisted of a 6-0, 6-0, 6-0, 6-1, 5-7 squad, the Huskies kept the Panthers from the boards.

But one person which was not affected by the Huskie size was Linda Ellsworth who tallied 22 points. But Hilke said she could have scored more.

Four former gridgers sign semi-pro contracts

by Dave Claypool

Four former Eastern football players have signed professional contracts with the Chicago Fire of the American Football Association.

Steve Turk, Dave Miner, Don Pittman and Jack Lafferty signed contracts with the franchise last Saturday after a meeting with the management of the club in Chicago.

"I'm really happy that I'll get the chance to play football again," former Eastern quarterback Turk said. "The league has been going on for a while now, but it's the first time that Chicago has had a team."

Turk was Eastern's quarterback during the 1978-79 seasons and guided the Panthers to their first national crown in '78.

Pittman is the only one of the signees who was a member of last season's NCAA Division II runner-up team.

A strong safety last year, Pittman was a second-team Mid-Continent Conference player and was conference Player of the Week twice.

Miner, an offensive guard, and Lafferty, an offensive center, were members of Eastern's 1978 National Championship team.

"In a way I'm happy to be playing again," Miner said. "I turned down a track scholarship here at Eastern for this, so I'm hoping this will turn into something bigger."

Turk, Miner and Pittman are currently enrolled at Eastern.

The American Football Association, which is a branch of the old World Football League that folded three years ago, begins its play May 30 and continues through Aug. 9.

"It's actually the World Football League," Turk said. "But they didn't want to call it that. But in this league you don't have one team paying high salaries while the others can't. Everyone's pay is based on the gate receipts."

"You play a 12-game schedule—six at home and six away—and we'll be playing all of them at night," Turk added. "Plus we get to play at Soldier Field, (the home site of the Chicago Bears of the National Football League)

Miner said that his main reason for joining the team was for a chance to play in the NFL.

"I'm going to try for a good season and hope that a pro team picks me up for a tryout," Miner said. "It's more a matter of getting some recognition and making a few extra dollars."

Turk said Chicago is one of five new teams to enter the league.

"Austin, San Antonio and Dallas of Texas are new. And so is the team in Orlando, Florida," Turk said. "And the guys that will be playing on the Chicago team are mostly guys from Illinois which were drafted in the third or fourth round and got cut by a pro team."

"I really think I have a good chance of playing," Turk said.

Ellis overcomes adversities, remains happy

by Steve Binder

In many ways, Rico Ellis' basketball career emulates Eastern's basketball team's season this year.

The 6-foot-2 senior has experienced many setbacks, just as the Panthers have had to overcome the abundant injuries and drawbacks of the season.

And like the Panthers, Ellis has eliminated his personal obstacles to the point of becoming the starting point-guard and floor leader for Eastern this season.

But the Chicago Heights-Bloom High School graduate fought a long and tough road to get to the position he has obtained at Eastern.

"I've had my share of setbacks, but I'm just happy to be where I'm at right now," Ellis said.

Ellis suffered his first setback while a senior at Bloom when he sustained torn ligaments in his knee.

"Right now I think I have just fully recovered from that (knee injury)," Ellis said.

After recovering, Ellis attended Joliet Junior College and started for the basketball team for two years, before he transferred to Eastern his junior year.

Ellis then had to deal with seeing very little playing time his first year as a Panther.

"Not playing much last year did not help matters. I think right now that my potential is like that of a freshman. I just have not reached my potential as far as basketball is concerned," Ellis said.

And if the Panthers' floor leader had a few more years of eligibility, "I would progress both mentally and physically a lot more," he said.

Yet Ellis had progressed far enough to become Eastern's point guard this year when guards Warren Patten and Chuck Turk suffered injuries which sidelined them for much, if not all, of the season.

And Ellis has responded by averaging more than 10 points a game while racking up 56 assists.

"Rico has really been valuable for us. Early in the season he came off the bench to spark us and then made the transition to starting guard with little difficulty," Panther coach Rick Samuels said.

"He has given us total leadership on the floor, and his scoring has been an unexpected plus. I don't know where we'd be without him," he added.

The transition Ellis made from coming off the bench to starting this season required some adjustment at first, Ellis said.

"I had to adjust my style of play. As a starter with not much experience coming off the bench I had to adjust my stamina—more from a defensive standpoint," Ellis said.

Defensively, Ellis has contributed 44 steals for the Panthers this season.

But at the beginning of February, Ellis found that his stamina had weakened a bit, causing him to fall into a shooting slump.

"I think I was getting physically tired and that affected my concentration," Ellis said.

He has been averaging 37 minutes of playing time a game.

Ellis attributed his fatigue to the many games Eastern has played in a short time and consequently said, "I wouldn't doubt it if I had a good shooting night Saturday because I've had some rest."

However, despite all his setbacks, Ellis said this season has been fulfilling mainly because every Panther loves to play basketball.

Tankers compete in MCC

by Cathy Crist

In the last competition before advancing to the NCAA Division II Championships, Eastern's men's swim team will take on three opponents in the Mid-Continent Conference meet at Western Illinois University in Macomb Thursday through Saturday.

The MCC includes the University of Northern Iowa, Western, Eastern, and Youngstown State University. Northern Michigan recently dropped its swimming program and no longer competes at the conference meet.

Eastern head coach Ray Padovan said the competition is the last chance for any Eastern swimmers to qualify for nationals.

"Basically we have already accomplished most of our goals this season, but there are still one or two people who could qualify for nationals," he said.

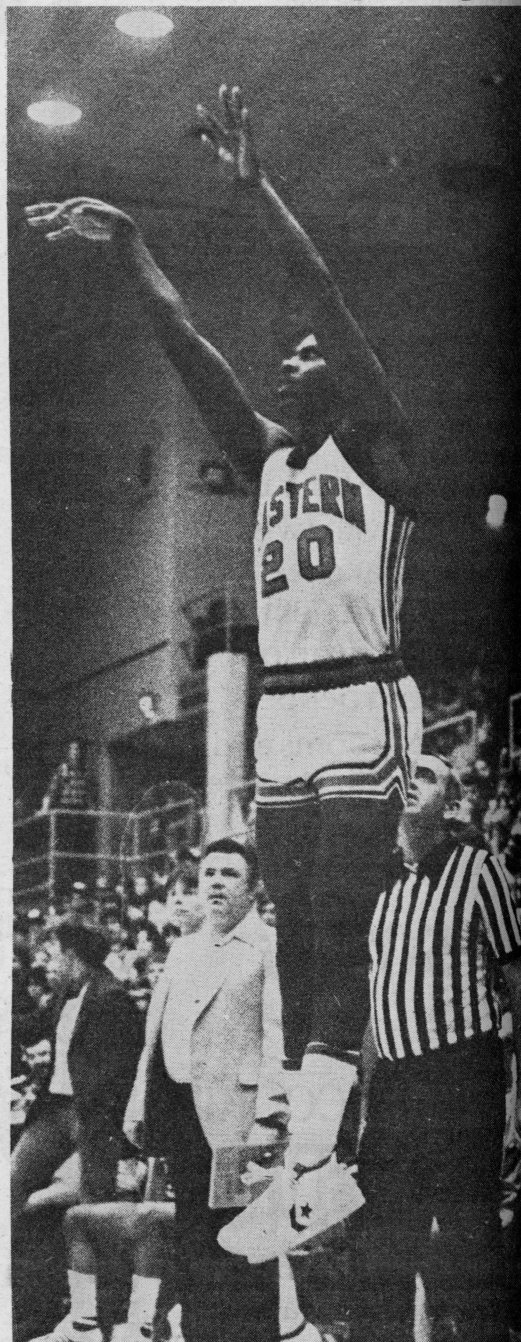

Padovan said he hopes to win the conference and predicted it would be a close race between Eastern and Western.

Western beat the Panthers earlier in the season by a narrow 59-54 margin and again, a few weeks ago, by a few points.

"Northern Iowa may also be a contender as they are the best
