BZAP decision angers residents

STUART TART
writer

A group of Charleston residents listened angrily as the Charleston Board of Zoning Appeals and Planning rejected an appeal Thursday that would have blocked the building of a home for the mentally handicapped in their neighborhood.

The appeal was filed by neighborhood residents in response to zoning officer Jeff Finley's decision to issue a building permit for the Gaylord Tull House.

BZAP president Bill Heise's insistence that testimony on the appeal be limited to the legality of the permit's issuance frustrated residents' more emotional attempts to argue against the home.

"I don't understand why there's such a concentration of these facilities in one area," one resident said. "There seems to be a feeling among residents that there's been some collusion."

The Tull home will be the fourth home for the mentally handicapped to be built in the area of 18th St. Currently, Alpha House, 1701 18th St.; Omega House, 910 17th St.; and Heritage House, 738 18th St., also function in the area while there are no such homes elsewhere in Charleston.

Richardson called Mr. Finley the first day that the survivors stepped foot on the property behind me," said Susan Richardson, another neighbor protesting the home. "We certainly thought that was soon enough to find out what was being built on the property."

However, Richardson, whose house is in front of the site of the Tull home, said she was unable to get information on what the property was being surveyed for until after the permit was issued.

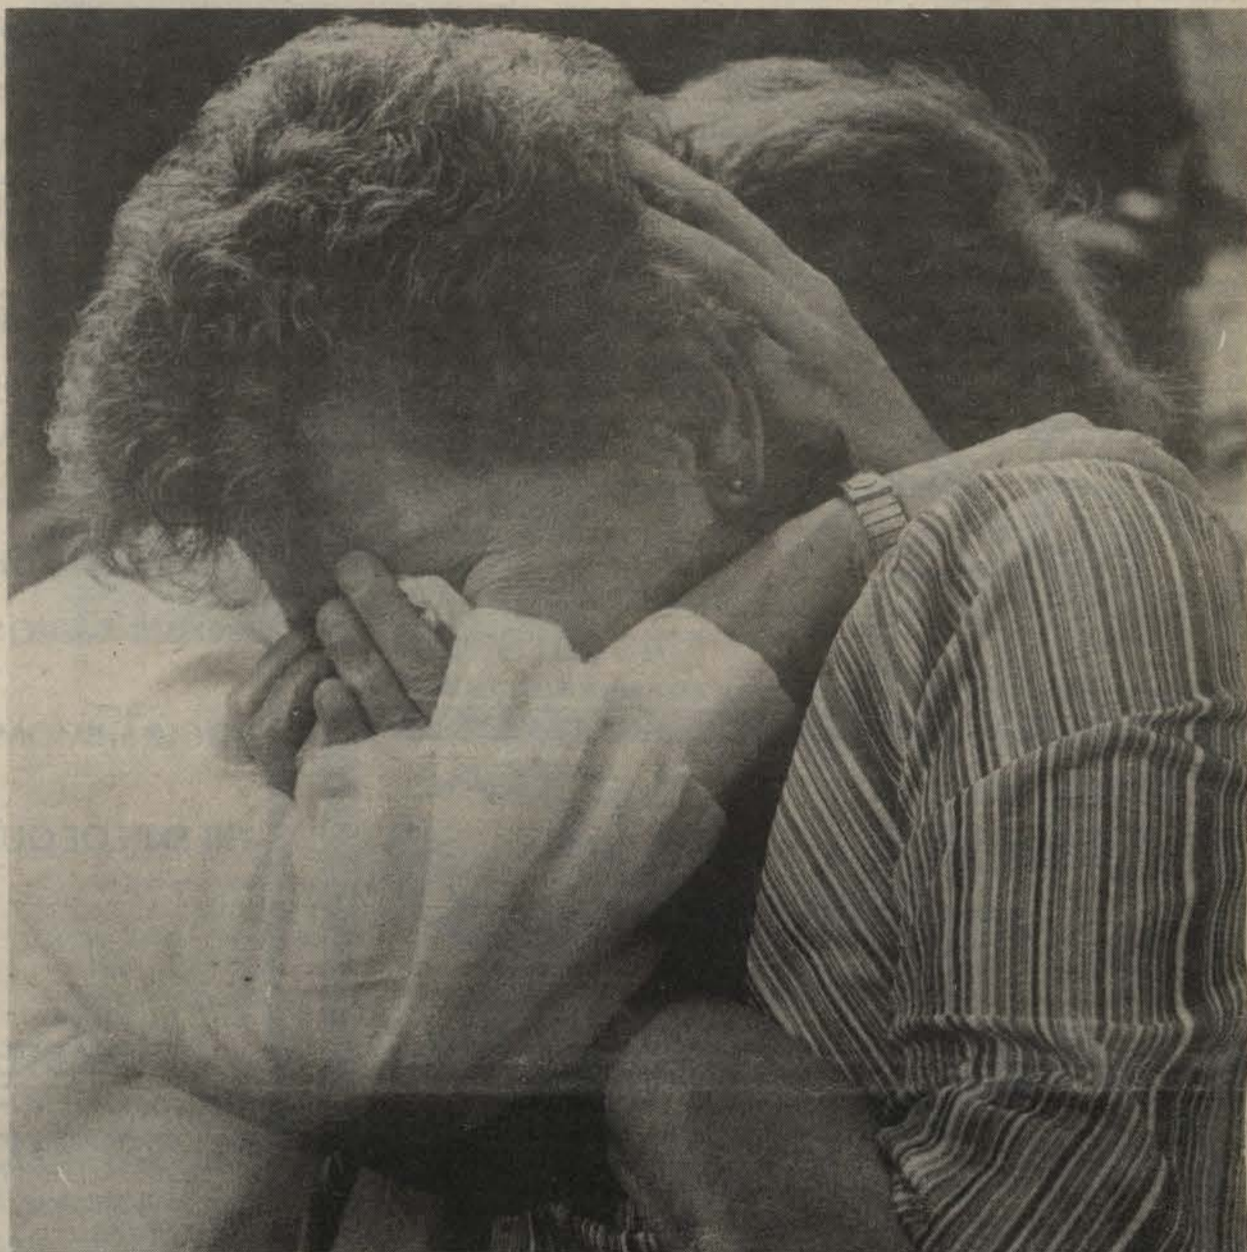

"At the time of application, it becomes a public record," Finley explained at the meeting. "Before it is not public."

Richardson said she originally called Finley on January 14 and was told Finley could not release information on the property until an application for a building permit was received.

Richardson said she called Finley back weekly thereafter but was unable to get information on the property until a March 14 Charleston Times-Tribune article explained the Tull home was to be built.

The topsoil was removed and the building guidelines for the foundation were set when the permit was issued," Richardson pointed out. "How could we have found out what was going to be built so much sooner? From this time on we were told we were late to do anything about it."

Richardson said her concerns about the home included the possibility of her property value declining.

"If there is no effect on property values adjoining a group home, then why, when we contacted two realtors, were we told that they couldn't properly appraise our property because they didn't have any experience with appraisals of homes located as close as mine to a group home."

Prevention is 'bottom line' in controlling AIDS virus

This is the final article in a series of five examining AIDS in conjunction with Illinois AIDS Awareness Week.

AMY ZURAWSKI
writer

Although the future for AIDS and its victims does not appear very comforting, preventive measures can lessen the chances of contracting the deadly virus.

Mary Ellen O'Shaughnessey, co-chair of the University of Illinois AIDS task force, said the bottom line to the control of AIDS is safe sex.

"People need to understand that AIDS can be the night stand that never goes away," she said. "People need to become more careful about who they choose to have sex with."

O'Shaughnessey said she is concerned that many young people believe there has to be penetration associated with sex in order to leave both sexual partners satisfied.

Mutual satisfaction can be brought about in many ways other than through direct intercourse," she said. "Abstinence isn't very satisfying for anyone, but there are other ways."

O'Shaughnessey said mutual masturbation is something many people do not consider as an alternative "but it's an option that works very well," she said.

Oral sex is also listed as a high-risk activity for individuals concerned about contracting the AIDS virus, O'Shaughnessey said.

"It's hard for a young couple, because satisfaction is so important, but people need to be very careful and really trust and really know someone before they sleep with them," she added.

The key to safe sex is preventing the exchange of body fluids, O'Shaughnessey noted.

"Education about the risks of sex is very important," she said. "Sexual relationships have to be based on something other than sex, because of the possibility of contracting a disease. People need to understand the dangers. If they don't, it could be literally deadly."

Eastern's Health Service Director Jerry Heath said he would suggest using a condom at all times during any type of sexual intercourse to prevent the spread of disease.

"People shouldn't be taking any chances at all because (AIDS) is not a disease you can cure once you get it," he said. "If you don't do safe sex, you are really being silly."

Before people consider sex without condoms, Heath said it is very important to be sure of the relationship and the other person's sexual history.

"If you've been involved in a monogamous relationship for some time, you're pretty safe, but past that, I would use a condom at all times," he added.

Gunmen goes on shooting spree

PALM BAY, Fla.—Two men armed with rifles opened fire at two downtown shopping centers Thursday, and officials said one police officer was killed and at least 14 people wounded.

The gunmen, authorities said, then took an unknown number of hostages in a supermarket. One gunman was taken into custody, said a police spokeswoman.

Up to 100 police officers converged on the scene and police snipers were stationed on rooftops, according to witnesses. Hundreds of shoppers were evacuated from the area and many others were lying on the ground, but in the confusion and panic it was not immediately clear how many had been shot.

“Thirty is the number of bodies we have on the ground, Palm Bay Police spokeswoman Louise Brown said. She said one police officer had been killed, and another injured, but did not know the condition of the others.

Ten dead after building collapses; 40 workers buried under concrete

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—A downtown apartment building under construction collapsed Thursday, trapping up to 40 workers under tons of concrete, killing at least ten people and injuring 12 others, authorities said.

Police Superintendent Joseph Walsh estimated it could take a week or more to clear the rubble and find all the victims.

He said about 40 workers were believed trapped when stacks of concrete flooring and steel beams collapsed at the L’Ambiance Plaza project at about 1:30 p.m.

Rescue workers “have to lift the rubble before they can actually work,” Walsh said. “The state police have their dogs here. We have sounding devices. We have everything. But it’s a question of taking time.”

Families of the workers gathered at a high school to await news.

Joe Grabarz, an aide to Mayor Thomas Bucci, said four bodies were pulled from the rubble and placed in a refrigerated truck at the site. A fifth person was declared dead at Bridgeport Hospital, a spokeswoman there said.

“I can see blue jeans sticking through the collapsed concrete from where I’m standing,” said WICC radio reporter Tom McCormack, who was across the street from the accident scene.

About 50 construction workers were in and around the building at the time, Grabarz said.

Builders were using a technique known as “lift-slab” in which workers pour all the concrete floors for a building on the ground.

Comedian clowns, jokes for crowd

By TINA POSZICH
Staff writer

Performer Tim Settimi roller skated into the Union Grand Ballroom Thursday night, entertaining a crowd with a "moving" performance. After falling, he said, "Gravity-it's not just a good idea, it's the law."

"Being an altar boy was my first experience on stage. It's like a concert every week, wearing matching Boy George outfits with Father," Settimi said.

Settimi commented on the audience of about 50 by saying, "Great, you guys look like a jury."

However, he soon warmed up the crowd with a touching pantomime called "Refugees," in which he portrayed various people from both sides of a war. Included were the bartender, drunk, tough guy and pool shark.

Settimi tries to take pantomime further than most mimes. "I wanted to learn mime so I can do music and visuals at the same time," he said.

"The only real magic there is, is your imagination. That's why it (mime) works. The stronger your imagination is, the more real it is," Settimi said.

When he first began pantomiming, he started on the streets. "People don't expect to see you in the streets. Their comments are, 'this sucker's on drugs.'"

Referring to his Catholic school days, Settimi compared the nuns to "neo-Nazis in Penguin suits." He said to avoid their wrath via the rosary, he sang the word "watermelon" repeatedly when he did not know the Latin.

Halfway through the performance, Settimi picked up a guitar and sang his version of some Top-40 tunes. "I wrapped my yellow Chevy round the old, oak tree" was included in his "alcohol awareness portion of the act."

Settimi, a graduate of Western Illinois University, reflected upon his college pranks. "Pranks always take place in the bathroom because you're most vulnerable with your pants down by your ankles," he said.

In a song he co-wrote with a roommate, he addressed being in love in college. He sang, "You be the lemon, I'll be the tea."

With a sudden urge of improvisation, Settimi popped off the stage and grabbed an audience member's purse. After rummaging through it, he produced a puppet from a wallet. A hair pick turned into a pitchfork that went along with a commercial for "New Country Cornflakes."

Settimi said that he encourages audience participation, but not hecklers. "As long as they are having a good time and showing me that, that's all that matters."

New classes and honors courses win CAA support

By MICHELLE MUELLER
Staff editor

The Council on Academic Affairs Thursday unanimously passed two proposals from the Honors Program and one from the psychology department.

The proposals were passed with seven members present. Although eight members are needed for a quorum, none of the proposals were controversial and none of the members present objected to holding the meeting, said CAA chair Kandy Baumgardner.

The approved psychology course, Psychology 4820, "Psycholinguistics," reflects research done in recent years in the area, said psychology instructor John Best, who will teach the course. The course will be an elective for psychology majors. With passage of the course, Psychology 4860, "Psychology in Criminal Justice and Behavior," will be deleted from the curriculum.

Also approved was an honors management course, Management 4391, "Administrative Policy for Honors Students." The Honors section will go into greater depth than the regular section of the course, 4360, said management and marketing instructor Edward Marlow.

With the new course, some changes in the Honors Business Program were made. Business 4444, "Honors Independent Study," was dropped from the requirements and 4644, "Honors Thesis" was dropped.

The CAA also passed an Honors Senior Seminar, EIU 4043 (H), "Leadership: Theory and Practice." The course, to be offered spring of 1988, was modeled after a similar course at another college, said English instructor Sharon Bartling, who will teach the course.

"It has grown out of an interest I have had for many years," Bartling said. The course will use a wide number of texts ranging from Shakespeare's Henry V to Lee Iacocca's Iacocca. The course will also require an "acquaintanceship" in which students will spend time with a contemporary leader during spring break, Bartling said.

EIU Foundation approves selling of university house

AMY CARR
Administration editor

The EIU Foundation voted unanimously Thursday in favor of selling the university house, the residence designated for the Eastern president, to the state.

The foundation passed a resolution authorizing the sale of the house to the state providing they pay all costs on the house and the closing costs.

The house, located at 1112 Williamsburg Dr., has been a popular subject recently following a recommendation from the Illinois Board of Higher Education directing universities leasing presidential residences to study their buy-out options.

The Board of Governors, Eastern's governing body, approved Eastern President Stanley Rives' request to purchase the property at a cost not to exceed $52,600 on or before June 30.

The cost includes $48,954 principal, plus interest payable on the foundation's existing mortgage and $1,200 estimated legal fees, recording, abstracting and related closing costs.

The university has leased the property since October 1972.

Terms of the lease provide that the BOG has "... the option to purchase said premises for the sum of $1 plus the payment of all necessary expenses incident to the transfer of title, at such time as the foundation has satisfied all indebtedness incurred by it in connection with the acquisition, retention, maintenance and repair of said premises."

The foundation also discussed the possibility of transferring its portfolio from Harris Bank to another financial institution.

Although members did not cite any specific problems with continuing to do business with Harris Bank, they did express some concern with at least hearing offers from other companies.

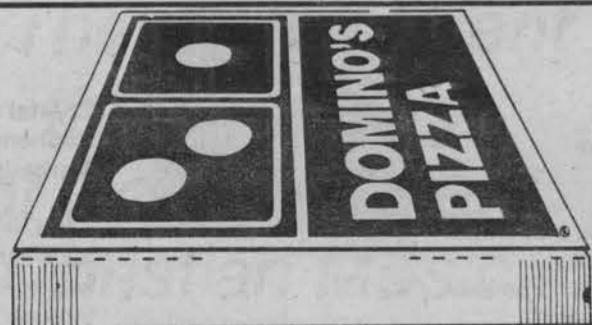

"If it's not broken, why fix it?" said foundation president Jim Roberts. He added that the foundation does not have an obligation to ask companies for their offers, however, he is willing to listen to those which are presented.

The foundation also discussed plans to hold its first board meeting in the Brainard House, 1548 Fourth St., the official home of the foundation. The foundation "moved into" the home June 1.

Executive Officer Daniel Thornburgh told members they should be able to hold their first meeting in the house this June. A conference table has been made specifically for the foundation partially out of wood taken from Old Main.

"We are very satisfied with the facility and situation there," Thornburgh said.

When can you make contact with officials?

Student government is the voice of the student body, yet the senators have no required office hours when students may call or visit the senators.

The only members of student government required to have office hours are the executive officers and the senate speaker.

Editorial

The senators are only required to attend the senate meeting, and one committee meeting each week. That totals only about two hours each week.

According to senate members, much of their work is done outside the senate office so there is no reason to require senators to maintain office hours.

Also, student senators must work around other schedules such as work and classes, but they ran for public office and should be accessible.

Another excuse for not being in the office is there is not enough room in the government office for all the senators. However, there is a work area in the office and they don't all have to come in at once.

Even government leaders complained about student senators not spending enough time in the senate office through much of this semester. A handful of the more dedicated senators are in and out of the office stopping in to ask what is going on.

Even if the senators are stopping by the office and attend the meetings they each should spend at least one hour a week in the government office when students can be sure to contact their elected officers.

One way to inform students which senators are in the office during a specified time is to post a list in some of the buildings, such as the Union or residence halls, listing the senators, their phone numbers and when they can be found in the office.

The reason for the phone numbers in the listing would enable students to contact senators at home if need be. The office hours would help insure the senators accessibility to the student body as promised during the spring student government campaign.

If the student senators are supposed to be available to the students they should have some type of office schedule so students can reach them and not have to rely solely on the chance of running into them on campus.

EISCCAP is on the 'right wing fringe'

Editor:

John Preston addressed some good, but inappropriate questions to EISCCAP (Daily Eastern News 21 April 1987).

For starters, Mr. Preston makes the unwarranted assumption that EISCCAP might actually prefer fact over fiction. Not to date, John. A second misconception would surely be that EISCCAP would even define the word "Peace" by any standard acceptable to an even marginally free society. After all, even solitary confinement can be viewed as a peaceful experience . . . can be . . . by some.

Lastly, it has become obvious to this observer that EISCCAP is not at all what it would posture itself to be. Far from it to lay the handle of left wing pro-Soviet lunatic fringe on this bunch. These are obviously extremist right wing U.S. Patriots—that is, if they are any thing at all other than a pure and simple lunatic fringe.

Think not? Consider the net effect of EISCCAP's preposterous tenets upon the educated and sensible Western ear. Such tripe can only serve to drive a thoughtful person into the rightist camp in order to avoid any ideological association with such moral, ethical and intellectual vacuousness.

It's pretty good reverse psychology, actually. And after all, John, it's not at all kind to demand rational answers from those who support a comprehension of global affairs, governmental and social systems of the world, etc., which would rank well into the net deficit column.

New comics strips could be improved

Editor:

Although I was not a fan of "Chanelle's Daily" I disagree with Nancy Gent, who said that the strip's two replacements "are quite an improvement." The two strips seem to be based on crude beer jokes nearly every day and April 14's "The Outer Zone" was a direct and blatant rip-off of a "Far Side" panel. Since a quiet majority of EIU's students do not consume alcohol on a regular basis, your average reader likely finds these strips to be tiring, not funny and in poor taste. They are a sore spot in an otherwise adequate college newspaper.

was sponsored by several Christian organizations on campus.

Students express Christian faith

By ELIZABETH CURVEY

Amidst the half-built booths for Celebration '87, a crowd of about 50 people gathered in the Library Quad Thursday to reveal their Christian faith.

"The purpose of this event is to make people on this campus more aware of Jesus Christ," said sophomore Brian Hibdon, an executive board member of the Inter Varsity Christian Fellowship group.

J.D. Wilson, a musician from North Carolina, kicked-off the celebration, which was held from 5 to 8 p.m., by sharing the limelight with Eastern students who performed skits and songs.

Wilson began his first set with "When There's Really Love," a song he hopes will soon be heard on Christian radio stations.

"When we were in the tent this afternoon, it was raining so we prayed for the rain to stop and it did," Wilson said.

"I'm happy the people here have great faith and that they can see God move through prayer after he moves," he said.

After Wilson's set, juniors Lisa Rhoads and Sheryl Masters from Inter Varsity sang a duet entitled "Love in Any Language."

"I was scared but when I got up there I was fine," Masters said.

Next, a few Eastern students performed a skit encouraging the audience to abandon the stereotypes that are commonly associated with students who have strong Christian faith.

The performers peeled away the "typical" masks of the "Jesus freaks" by emphasizing that God wants people to be themselves.

Sophomore Craig Cambell said the idea of these groups speaking to Eastern students was good.

"I think it's a super idea. Not only the campus in general, but society as a whole needs to be aware of how Christ came to serve them," he said.

Senate awaits Student Party expenditures

By DONELLE PARDEE
Government editor

Because of a student government election by-law change, the Student Party has until 5 p.m. Friday to turn in its financial statement from the April 15 student government elections.

Elections Chair Colleen Murphy said she had originally given the Student Party until 5 p.m. Thursday, but the Student Senate decided during Wednesday's meeting to extend the deadline one day.

After going through the financial statements and checking all the receipts, Murphy said the Action Party's statement is correct.

However, the Voice Party statement is missing one receipt, she said. The missing receipt is for an advertisement in The Daily Eastern News.

Murphy said she has notified members of the Voice Party that they could have the extension, but was told they didn't have the receipt.

"Everything else checks out, Murphy said. "I don't see why they would make up a figure." She added she considers the statement to be complete and doesn't believe the missing receipt to be an election violation.

Murphy said the only reason the matter would be discussed is to see if there is any way the Voice Party can get the receipt.

If the missing receipt turns out to be an election violation it would go through the same process as all election violations and the sanctions would be the same, Murphy said.

The Action Party spent a total amount of $902.68 and the Voice Party spent $425. Student Senator Dan Beeman said the Student Party spent less than $400, but hasn't determined the exact amount.

Student Senator Roger Thomson said he didn't know if the amount of money spent would make a difference. He said he thought student apathy and name recognition is why Action won.

Twins convention opens Sunday

DOUGLAS FOSTER
ALLISON RYMSZA
Writers

For once, individuality is out and being like someone else is the "in" thing to do.

The 23rd Annual Convention of the Illinois State Twins Association is scheduled for Sunday in the Birmingham Best Western hotel.

Registration for the convention begins at 10 a.m. and continues through 1:30 p.m., said Bobbie Prater, the newly elected treasurer of the Twins Association.

At 12:30 p.m. a fellowship luncheon is scheduled, followed by the annual state twin judging contest at 2 p.m., she added.

The contestants will be judged in 22 categories, Prater said.

"Last year we had twins from the ages of 2 months to 80-years-old," Prater said.

She said that the judging is more difficult when contestants are young children because they look so identical compared to the older contestants.

The Twins Association will hold its annual meeting after the judging is completed, Prater said. Membership dues are $2 per twin for infants through 12-years of age; $3 per twin for 13-to-20-years and $5 per twin for those over 21.

Interested individuals may obtain convention information by calling (618) 669-2281 or (618) 669-2405.

Author to appear at reading of his play

LISA TURNBULL
Writer

Playwright Shannon Keith Kelley will appear at the reading of his play "Practical Magic" at 4:00 p.m. Sunday in the EIU Play Room of the Rodna Fine Arts Center.

Kelley, a resident of Springfield, will be at the reading to discuss and answer questions. He will also be participating in English and theatre classes at Eastern earlier on Friday.

English instructor David Radavich will be directing the reading, which features Eastern instructors Terry Allen and Pat Lenihan.

Also participating in the reading will be Zoanne Allen, Anne Zahlan and Therse Supple, performers from the Charleston area, said Radavich.

He added the performance is a "staged reading with little movement."

Radavich said there were two reasons why no students were involved. First, was the fact that "The Skin of Our Teeth" is playing. Radavich didn't want to take away from that play.

He said another reason was that the characters in the play are in their 30s and he felt that older people can relate to the situations in the play better than students.

BSU and RHA get together with senate

The Student Senate Minority Relations Committee is holding a cookout at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at 1400 Seventh St. with the help of the Black Student Union and the Residence Hall Association.

Minority Relations Co-chair Krista Leahy said the purpose of the cookout is to "bring out the international students," but everyone at Eastern is welcome.

IGA Foodliner, 700 W. Lincoln Ave., will be supplying hamburgers and other food, but there will be a charge of $2 at the cookout, which will probably last until dark.

This is the first year for the cookout, so it's "real flexible" and "should be a good time," Leahy said.

FREE SPINAL EVALUATION*

Organization Day to aid 50 groups

Organization Day, sponsored by the student government and University Board, is scheduled from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday on Eastern's Library Quad.

The purpose of Organization Day is to inform students new to Eastern about different things Eastern has to offer.

"It is a great tool because it recognizes many of the organizations on campus, and gives freshman an idea of what extracurricular activities they want to get involved in," said Senate Speaker Tim Taylor.

"We are aiming for 50 to 60 organizations to set up tables to give students information of what Eastern has to offer," he added.

The organizations participating include the Residence Hall Association, Black Student Union, various fraternities and sororities, campus Christian organizations and the senate.

Charleston developing tourism brochure

Charleston may have its very own visitors brochure in the next few months if Tourism Advisory Board plans go as expected.

Ron Stearns, chair of the Tourism Advisory Board, said the board is now accepting design ideas for the brochure.

The deadline for brochure development proposals is May 1. Proposals will be reviewed by the Tourism Board at their May 6 meeting.

Stearns said once a design has been selected, bids will be accepted for the printing job. However, the brochure would have to be printed locally, he said.

Once they have been printed, the brochures would be mailed to tourism and visitor centers throughout the state. Although the board has not decided exactly how many brochures to print, 5,000 is a ballpark figure, Stearns said.

Coroner to attend state convention

By MARY PALLISER
Staff Writer

Coles County Coroner Dick Lynch will be out of town for a while as he touches up on a few current issues.

Lynch will be attending the spring conference of the Illinois County Officials Association April 27, 28 and 29 in Springfield.

"The convention will have opportunities to discuss problems in the county," said Lynch.

The speakers at the convention will discuss legislative matters, sudden infant death syndrome, forensic anthropology, safety of coroners and other current issues, Lynch said.

"We are trying to formulate a mandatory training program for all coroners," Lynch said.

FINAL EXAM CHANGES

Students who have three final examinations scheduled on one day may fill out a request for a change in the office of the Dean, Student Academic Services, Main 116. Forms for requesting a change will be available after March 13, 1987 and must be submitted no later than Wednesday, April 29. Students are discouraged from requesting instructors to deviate from the published examination schedule. Reasons of personal convenience such as work, transportation arrangements, or vacation plans, do not constitute ground for approval of examination changes.

Samuel J. Taber, Dean
Student Academic Services

NEW GENERAL CATALOG

The new 1987 & 1988 General Catalogs are here. Students may pick up a copy at Room 120 Old Main between the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and 1:00 to 4:00 p.m., starting Tuesday, April 28, 1987. You must present a valid ID card in order to obtain a copy of the new catalog. If you do not have a valid ID card, go to Dean Johnson's office in 219 Old Main.

James E. Martin
Registrar

INTERSESSION REGISTRATION

IF YOU ARE A CONTINUING STUDENT WHO DID NOT PRE-ENROLL FOR INTERSESSION 1987, you may register on Friday, May 1 in Registration Operations Room (south basement McAfee) between 9:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m.

When you register on May 1, bring your I.D. card and

PAYMENT FOR TUITION AND FEES.

Michael D. Taylor
Director, Registration

FEE ASSESSMENT

You are responsible for providing accurate and current information so you will be billed correctly for tuition and fees. Pre-enrollment fee billing is based on the type and amount of scholarship coverage, the course load, the class level, and residency type DURING THE SPRING TERM.

If there are changes in the way you should be billed for Summer Term, you should give the new fee information to Registration Office personnel. A student who pre-enrolls has two convenient opportunities to correct fee status information: a student may complete a new fee certification card (1) during pre-enrollment OR (2) at early enrollment (Wrap-Up) JUST BEFORE paying the cashier.

A student who has questions regarding fee assessments should come to or call the Registration Office.

A current sophomore who expects to become a junior at the close of Spring Semester should pay upper-division fees for Summer.

Michael D. Taylor
Director, Registration

ATTENTION PRE-BUSINESS STUDENTS

Students who will have 60 semester hours completed AND all five of the following courses completed—ACC 2100, ACC 2150, DAP 2175, MGT 2460, MGT 2810—with a grade of C or better by the beginning of Fall Semester 1987, may now apply for admission to the College of Business (Blair Hall 101) for Fall Semester, 1987. In order to pre-enroll in upper-division business classes, admission to the College of Business is required. Deadline for making application is June 15, 1987.

T.W. Ivarie, Dean
College of Business

COMPLETE EARLY ENROLLMENT

If you pre-enrolled for Interession/Summer, complete early enrollment in the Registration Operations Room (South basement McAfee). Present you ID card according to the following schedule by last digit of social security number: (e.g., SS no. xxx-xx-xxx5 reports NOT BEFORE 9:00 a.m., Wed., April 29)

0,1,2 9 am, Tue., Apr. 28 5,6,7 9 am, Wed., Apr. 29

3,4 11:30 am, Tue., Apr. 28 8,9 11:30 am, Wed., Apr. 29

ALL STUDENTS 9:00 a.m., Thursday, April 30

DOOR CLOSES EACH DAY AT 2:00 P.M.

STUDENTS MAY REPORT AFTER THEIR SCHEDULED TIME BUT NOT BEFORE.

Completion of early enrollment INCLUDES PAYMENT OF TUITION AND FEES due for Interession/Summer.

The deadline for completing early enrollment is 2:00 p.m., Thursday, April 30. FAILURE TO HAVE FEE BILLS PROCESSED BY THE CASHIER BY APRIL 30—EVEN IF NO MONEY IS DUE—WILL RESULT IN CANCELLATION OF YOUR SCHEDULED CLASSES.

DO NOT have checks for Summer sent to the University. AT EARLY ENROLLMENT (April 28, 29, 30), you must pay what is due. ALL STUDENTS MUST STOP AT THE CASHIER STATION WHEN COMPLETEING EARLY ENROLLMENT.

Maton heads to Drake

By BARRY BOTTINO
Sports editor

Eastern's men's track team will begin winding down the outdoor season as four competitors will head to the Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa while the rest of the squad will travel to the Parkland Invitational in Champaign.

The Panthers will send junior All-American Jim Maton to compete in the invitational section of the 800-meter run, in which he is still trying to qualify for the NCAA national meet in Baton Rouge, La.

Maton's best time in the 800-meter run this year was 1:48.35. The NCAA qualifying time is 1:48.1.

Moore will also send senior Scot Adamson to compete in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles and run a leg on the 1,600-meter relay along with Maton, sophomore Ian Isaacs and junior Darnell Thompson.

Moore said that the 1,600-meter relay competition at Drake is as tough as that at the NCAA nationals.

"It's the toughest outside of the NCAA (nationals)," Moore said. "If we're going to place, it will take a personal season best. We are going to have to run in the 3:14 to 3:10 range to place."

On Saturday, the Panthers will compete in what Moore calls a "leftover" meet at Parkland College in Champaign.

Those who aren't competing at Drake will travel to Parkland.

"The Parkland meet will help me make the final decision on who is going to the conference meet," Moore said.

The AMCU-8 outdoor conference track championships will be held May 1-2 at Western Illinois University in Macomb.

The Panther injury list increased again Thursday as senior Dan Matas' name was added.

Matas injured his back in a domestic accident in his apartment Wednesday.

Netters off to SWMS

By DINO TIBERI
Staff writer

Eastern's men's tennis team hopes for a finish in the top four this weekend, as they travel to Southwest Missouri to compete in the AMCU-8 conference tournament.

Despite a 9-0 whitewashing at the hands of Indiana State on Tuesday, the Panthers are confident that they'll do well.

"I would be very disappointed if we didn't finish in the top four teams," said coach John Bennett. "Hopefully the seeds will be good, some wins in the first round will be good for our confidence," Bennett added.

Keith Hansel, playing at No. 5 singles, also is looking to a upper division finish. "I'm looking forward to the 'second season. I'd like to finish in the top four in the conference," Hansel said.

Southwest Missouri looks to be the favorite this year, as they have five of last year's six singles champions returning. The Bears have won the last three titles in a row, after Eastern won the first AMCU-8 championship in 1983.

Northern Iowa has been the runner-up to Southwest Missouri the past two seasons, while Eastern has finished in the fourth spot the past two years.

Bennett said that this will be a chance for his team to finally meet some teams that are close to his talent-wise.

"We've been at a disadvantage to this point because we have played many teams that are able to give out scholarships, but now the majority of teams will be at our level," Bennett said.

Cards drop Cubs 5-2

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rookie Jim Lindeman and Jack Clark drove in two runs apiece and Danny Cox pitched his first complete game of the season as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 Thursday at Busch Stadium.

The victory pulled St. Louis into a first-place tie with the idle New York Mets in the National League East. Chicago had won the first two games of the three-game series.

Cox, 3-0, scattered 11 hits with no strikeouts and no walks.

Split squad to two meets

By JEFF D'ONOFRIO

Eastern's women's track team will split up this weekend, sending representatives to both the Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa and the Ball State Relays in Muncie, Ind.

Coach John Craft will travel to Drake with this year's three outdoor standouts, Valeta Strickland, Kristi Baum and Lauren Lynch, while Assistant Coach Lisa Einheuser will lead the rest of the team at Ball State.

from his trio this weekend. "All three are ready to break loose and do something fantastic," he said.

Baum established a school record in the javelin last week with a throw 148-7, while Lynch set a school record two weeks ago in the 800-meter dash with a time of 2:09.06.

Although the meet at Drake is a big one, Craft does not want to downplay the Ball State competition.

"The competition will be there," he said. "It will give people who haven't done well this year a chance to put some good numbers up."

Craft said that the team is pretty much coasting at this point in the season. "We're just having fun right now, trying to get ready for the conference meet."

Senior Janine Jarris, who has been ill of late, will not compete for a few weeks, Craft said.

Gridders hobble into scrimmage

By BARRY BOTTINO
Sports editor

Eastern's football team will showcase its tentative 1987 squad Friday night in the annual Blue-Gray game at 7:30 p.m. at Charleston High School's Trojan Hill (15th and Harrison).

Tickets at the gate are $1. All seats are general admission.

Head coach Bob Spoo, who replaced Al Molde in January, will feature his squad in a "controlled scrimmage".

"There will be about 50 snaps for each team" in the split squad contest, said offensive coordinator Kit Cartwright.

"It will be a full-scale hitting scrimmage," Cartwright said.

Due to the large number of injuries suffered during spring practice, the Panthers are not healthy enough to pit two full teams against each other.

On offense, Panther returnee running backs James Marable and DuWayne Pitts are suffering from ankle and lower leg problems, respectively.

While the Panther defense has suffered injuries to honorable mention All-American John Jurkovic (defensive lineman), Jeff Mills, Bill Cochrane and George Boykin (linebackers) and defensive back-field personnel Rod Reynolds, Scott Johnson, Kevin Hunter, Daryl Holcombe and Eugene Humphrey.

"This is going to be a good film to grade off," said Cartwright, who plans to use this game for continued evaluation of the Panther troops.

Eastern can clinch AMCU tourney spot

By MIKE FITZGERALD
Staff writer

At least one spot in the AMCU-8 post season baseball tournament could be decided this weekend when Eastern hooks up with Northern Iowa for four games at Monier Field.

Saturday's double-header will begin at 1 p.m. while Sunday's twinbill starts at 12 noon.

Eastern is coming off a 15-12 loss to Illinois, and were rained out of action against Southern Illinois on Wednesday.

The Panthers, 20-17-1 overall, are tied for first place with Southwest Missouri in the Gray Division with 5-3 records. Eastern needs only two victories in the four-game series to wrap up a tournament spot.

Northern Iowa, at 3-5 in the conference, must win three games to stay alive and await the outcome of the Southwest-Western Illinois series on May 2-3. The Panthers can only guarantee a tourney entry with a four-game sweep of Eastern.

Eastern coach Tom McDevitt is not taking the four-game series lightly.

"Northern Iowa is considerably better than they have been in the past," McDevitt said. "They've got good footspeed, and they split with Western Illinois earlier this year."

Northern Iowa is the top hitting team in the conference with a .371 team batting average. It also boasts the top two hitters in the AMCU-8 in shortstop Eric Snider (.431) and second baseman Dave Smith (.422).

Both teams are near the bottom of the league in team ERA with Eastern at 6.87 and Northern Iowa at 6.76 on the season.

From the looks of it, the series should be an offensive show.

Eastern continues to rip the ball, batting .323 as a team. Shortstop Tim Bogar leads the team with a .408 average and has hit 11 home runs while driving in 31.

Outfielder Shannon Coppel is coming off a three hit performance at Illinois which included a solo home run. He also leads the team in runs batted in with 35.

The Panthers have also been getting strong performances from AMCU Player of the Week Mike Rooney, who is hitting .331 with 10 home runs and 33 RBI's.

Eastern will be in action again on Tuesday when it hosts St. Louis in a 1 p.m. double header at Monier Field.

Softballers head to Northern Illinois Tournament

By MIKE FITZGERALD
Staff writer

This weekend will be a very busy one for Eastern's softball team as it travels to Northern Illinois to play in a five-team round-robin tournament.

The first annual tournament will begin at 9 a.m. Friday at West Campus Diamond in Dekalb with the Panthers going against St. Louis University. Eastern will also play at 10:30 a.m. against Wisconsin-Green Bay.

The Panthers, who are 17-14-1 for the year, will tackle Ball State in a 2 p.m. contest on Saturday, and the host Huskies at 4 p.m.

Eastern is currently riding a four-game winning streak, although the Panthers were rained out of their home finale Wednesday against Miami of Ohio and will not make up the double-header.

The opener against the Billikens should prove interesting because St. Louis has stolen a remarkable 67 bases in 70 attempts this season, and Indiana team earlier in the season which stole 11 bases in a double header.

St. Louis enters the tournament with a 23-16 record and has posted the most victories out of the tournament's participants.

Top hitter, Missy Keim, is hitting .373 and has stolen 13-13 bases. Dawn Elser is hitting .340 with 20 RBI's and 18-18 stolen bases.

The Billikens' pitching staff isn't overpowering with only 59 strikeouts to their credit. Eastern hit well against an Evansville staff which did not overpower it.

The Panthers will more than likely face the tournaments' other contenders on Saturday.

Ball State, a team Eastern will face on April 28 at Muncie, Ind., is tearing up the Mid-America Conference offensively.

The Cardinals, 20-17 on the season, lead the conference with a .300 team average, and have held opponents to .207 on the season.

.300 or better. Denise Diaz leads the team with a .397 average and is riding a 19-game hitting streak. Cindy Sands is hitting .349 and leads the conference in RBI's with 33 and triples with eight.

Eastern, while only hitting .238 as a team, has started to bring its bats back to life. The Panthers collected 10 hits in the second game against Evansville and must continue to hit well if they expect to win some games this weekend.

In the tournament's final game against Northern Illinois, Eastern will face possibly one of the toughest hitters in the country.

Outfielder Jill Justin is having an impressive year for the not so impressive Huskies. She is hitting at a .536 clip while leading every offensive category on the team.

Justin has also hit 15 doubles and five triples for Northern, which is 15-15 on the season going into a double header with DePaul on Thursday.

Lady netters go for second win of season

By MIKE MURPHY
Staff writer

The 1-14 women's tennis team will try to remain on the winning track Friday as it hosts DePauw University on the Weller courts at 3 p.m.

"We're a lot better team than our record shows," said coach Grant Alexander.

Alexander is hopeful that sophomore Maureen McKeon will feel strong enough to play singles as well as doubles on Friday. Alexander said the weather could be a key factor in how well her injured knee holds up.

He added that McKeon's knee felt good throughout Tuesday's practice in warm weather. However, the knee bothered her during the indoor match on Wednesday.

"I hope they keep the good attitude going into Friday's match," Alexander said. "DePauw is a team that if we play well, we can beat," he added.

Alexander is looking for strong play deeper in the line-up. "We have to win the bottom three or four singles positions to win; that's where we're strong," Alexander said.

The No. 3 doubles team of freshman Gretchen Fagen and sophomore Beth Stuckey looks to continue their winning ways Friday. A win would give them an impressive overall spring record of 10-6.

Friday's will be no easy match for the lady netters. "We can't play average and win we have to play good," Alexander said.

Celebration always offers a wide variety of things to see and do, and this year's Celebration weekend promises to be better than ever, said Vaughn Jaenike, dean of the College of Fine Arts.

"I think we're going to have larger crowds this year, and will be able to accommodate them," Jaenike said. He said the number of programs this year may be slightly fewer in number than last year, but added "the quality of programs we have is higher than in re-

On Saturday and Sunday a total of 39 craft booths will be set up around the library quad. These booths will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day of Celebration.

Also, 17 different craft booths will have items for display and for sale. These include: watercolors, clay, jewelry, etching, wooden toys, leather goods, drawings, layered hardwood, knives, embroidery, weaving, photographs, painting, lamps and glass goods.

The people who make and sell these crafts come from many different locations. Some are from the Charleston area, while others come from as far away as West Virginia and Montana.

People hoping occupy a booth at the festival must send an application fee of $35 along with three picture slides of their work. The work must be original. No kits, mold-made items, t-shirts or commercial products are allowed. Each artist must furnish his own booth furniture and display equipment.

The application is then selected or rejected by the Art Fair Selection Committee after careful review, Jaenike said.

If enjoying the wide assortment of displays and other entertainment makes you hungry, there will be a number of booths providing a variety of tastes for any appetite. Local merchants, fraternities and not-for-profit organizations will serve as vendors.

Jaenike estimated there will be about 13 food booths.

The list of foods to be served includes: french fries, onion ring, soft pretzels, Pennsylvania Dutch pastries, hot dogs, tacos, barbequed ribs, bratwursts, barbequed pork tenderloins, turkey legs, Won Tons, egg rolls and a children's booth will serve snow cones and corn dogs.

The food booths will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Movie combines mystery, violence and voodoo

DIANA WINSON
writer

"Angel Heart," a movie mixing elements of mystery, violence and voodoo, is an intense drama focusing on a detective's attempts at tracking down a missing pre-World War II woman.

The movie, starring Mickey Rourke as detective Harry Angel, is set in 1955 New York where Angel is hired by a somewhat mysterious Louis Cyphre (played by Robert DeNiro) to find out what happened to Johnny Favorite.

Rourke plays a scruffy, tough-talking Brooklynite who takes to the task somewhat reluctantly. He heads off to track down Favorite, but quickly encounters a major snag—his first lead is up dead.

Angel later treks to New Orleans, where he finds Favorite's former lover Margaret Krusemark (Charlotte Rampling). He also encounters Toots Sweet (Brownie McGhee), one of Favorite's old band members.

When attempting to locate Evangeline Proudfoot, another of Favorite's former loves, Angel meets Proudfoot's daughter, Epiphany, played not-so-convincingly by Lisa Bonet, of "The Cosby Show" fame.

The plot of "Angel Heart" has many twists and turns, eventually leaving many questions unanswered. First of all, the voodoo element of the movie makes for a few bizarre moments, but its involvement with the overall plot doesn't quite gell.

Next, Angel's flashbacks are brought together toward the end of the movie, but not all of them are explained or put into context. For example, one of his very first non-sequitur memories is of two nuns sitting close together. Why he had that flashback is never really explained, along with several others.

Rampling and McGhee are good in their limited roles as the modern-day she-witch and the jazz musician. Bonet's addition to the cast is rather dubious, though one can't help thinking it was only prompted to stir up controversy over one of "Cosby's" kids appearing in the buff. (She does manage to do some kinky things with that chicken, though.)

DeNiro, as always, is good in his portrayal of the spooky Cyphre.

Rourke is undeniably the star of the show, and for Mickey's fans this is a big bonus. However, Rourke seems a little too much like Bruce Willis, even though Rourke has by far superior credits to his name. Also, the Don Johnson stubble and suit that won't wrinkle—in spite of street fights and dog bites—just have to go.

Intensity and drama are this movie's mainstays, and they do provide for a few breath-sucking moments. Also, director Alan Parker threw in a touch of appropriate humor, giving the audience a chance to relax once in a while.

All in all, the movie won't be taking any Academy Award nominations, and probably won't have many repeat viewers, but for one hour and 50 minutes worth of dramatic strangeness, it's worth seeing once.

TALE-END

The family that eats together fights together

writer

I never understood why my brother worked so hard to get lost in the crowd when the rest of the family flocked to the house for holiday dinners.

Unfortunately, the most recent holiday offered me an opportunity to figure out my brother's grand scheme. He's antisocial, but he's also not stupid.

About two months ago, my father informed me that my sister would be returning from Maryland for Easter. At first I was kind of excited, as I had not seen my sister and her family in almost ten years.

However, where there's smoke, there's fire. As long as we had three extra mouths to feed, my father invited the rest of the family and decided to feed another dozen people. It sounded like a good enough idea. I could tolerate the fire gang for a few hours.

I forgot to take into account that the dinner would not be limited only to my siblings. I had forgotten about the seven young children they had produced.

Small children make me nervous, and I had to eat dinner with seven of them, not one of whom had seen his eighth birthday.

As it turned out, I had nothing to fear from the children. I was able to walk away from the dinner table virtually unscathed. They didn't know, or want to know, who I was. Like all good children, they were seen and not heard.

My brothers and sisters weren't.

I understand that my brother, David, and sister, Linda, are about to be inducted into the illustrious 40 club and are facing the dreaded mid-life crisis, but their behavior was not pretty. Actually, there were five people between the ages of 30 and 40 who had not seen each other in a long time.

All was civil and fairly quiet until dinner time. By 5:30 p.m. my brother and brother-in-law had renewed their friendship as old drinking buddies and sister Linda was gargling with champagne. I never thought of my brothers and sisters as cruel people, but I hadn't witnessed a gathering of the clan since I was in seventh grade when I was worried about eating instead of listening.

My brother David is nothing like his two shy, quiet sons. After four or five beers, I found that David has a real ugly side.

Linda was first on the hit-list. I never knew just how sensitive women are about the color of their hair or inquiries about what dye they use to fight the gray.

It's funny how a quiet family dinner at home can turn into a feud more bitter than the Hatfields and McCoys.

After the middle-aged traded a few more verbal fisticuffs about bulging waistlines, the family decided to attack the young. Out came the movie screen and slide projector—I was humiliated in living color.

It's hard to maintain a sense of dignity when you suddenly appear life-size on the living room wall sleeping in a highchair with a chicken bone dangling from your mouth.

At that moment I realized something very important—my brother wasn't just hiding anymore—he had never even come to dinner.

Early music days make for happy memories

By DANE BUCZKOWSKI
Staff writer

Some words about the author:

After covering music and other forms of art at Eastern for the semester, several people asked to see something about my old music days.

Music and the arts have always been a major part of my life, whether it be playing the trumpet in the band or doodling on notebooks. But it's the finer detail within this front that makes it all interesting.

It was only an April fool's joke, but somehow it turned into a catastrophe. This was the case my junior year in high school when the band director's wife was expecting—at any moment.

During the days of slightly immature ignorance, I thought things would be funny when actually they were harmful. Hopefully he can laugh about the incident today.

We were all waiting in the hall for band rehearsal to start when I got the idea for the April fool's joke. I would call the director from the pay phone claiming to be "Jack" from the Checker Cab

Co. Well, this cabby would also go on to say that he has a lady in the car who will have her baby at any moment. He would also wait until the director is ready to go out the door to the hospital before announcing that it was a joke.

Boy, did that backfire.

I ended up with three days in the dreaded "in school suspension"; otherwise known as ISS. After serving a total of 21 hours in the same room within three days, I realized that these kinds of April fool's jokes were for the birds.

But bird jokes were not out of the question. Another time in the bandroom I brought a dead sparrow and stuffed it in a bass clarinet. When Julie the bass clarinetist dumped the bird because no sound came, a riotous situation emerged.

A familiar thing happened after the bird extraction. For some reason, fingers were pointing at me. However, I felt a bit harmonious because there was no way to nail this one on me.

These were events of the inside band rehearsals. There were also devious acts on the football field.

The members of the marching band may relate to this one because of the need to let out pangs of frustration from marching.

Deviant behavior seems to never happen at the proper time. Of course any time can be proper, but consequences have to be served.

We were marching at a home game when my eagerness became too much. I was in such a hurry to get off the field after the pre-game show that somehow my legs did a jig on each yard line.

The dean got in on the discipline this time with another three days in the can. My only sanctuary in ISS was thinking about the new band director's face as I strutted on the yard line.

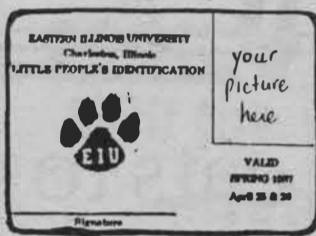

So as the years passed by, certain things changed. I haven't done any major pranks in a while to torture band directors. Why, these days I'm not even in the concert band—but there is still a fire burning in me to play as much music as possible.

Let's hope the band directors of my rowdier days have forgiven me by now. Perhaps some day I will visit my alma mater and I would like it to be a safe and pleasant visit.

Summer job seekers may find few openings

By JEFF BRITT
Staff writer

If they haven't already found employment, students staying in Charleston may have a hard time finding jobs this summer, officials say.

Following a trend from the past few years, summer jobs are scarce again this year, said Ken Reveal, client services supervisor at Job Service in Mattoon.

"I project a tight summer job market again for summer employment," Reveal said. "It's been that way for the last two or three summers."

He said summer jobs are primarily in fast food restaurants and retail stores, but in those places they are "very limited." He said manufacturing and agricultural work, such as corn detassling, are unavailable through Job Service this summer.

He said Job Service has "periodic openings" for summer jobs as well as part-time jobs throughout the year for college students.

The Mattoon Job Service encompasses five counties: Coles, Edgar, Clark, Cumberland and Shelby.

On campus, the Placement Center is another alternative for finding summer and part-time employment.

Jay Knott, director of placement, said the center, which has no reported list of available jobs, aids students in finding summer employment in their fields of study.

"There are a few students who want to get in summer jobs related with their majors. We help them to identify target employers," Knott said.

He said the search for summer employment should begin in early spring. "You have to go to the employer in person to make your interests known," he said. "You have to make dozens of contacts with prospective employers" and "follow up."

He stresses students should seek jobs, as opposed to waiting for jobs to seek them.

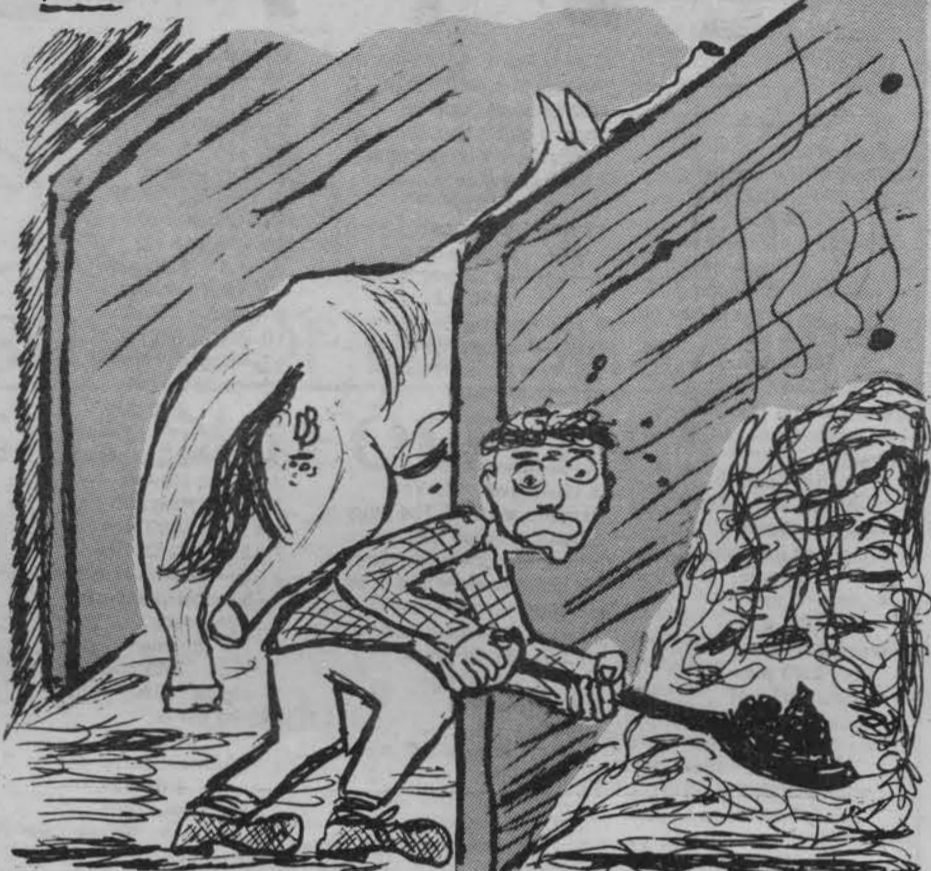

Knott has information on a summer job in financial planning. The job is open to college juniors. He said he isn't as familiar with the students as their instructors, "so I'm publicizing this to the faculty people because I don't know the juniors."

Students in the past have held such common jobs as clerical, restaurant and retail sale work. "There really is quite a variety. In most of the jobs they train you in a few hours or a few days," he said.

Another source is the job board in the financial aid office. "If a department has problems finding students to fill their jobs, they will ask us to fill the vacancies," said John Flynn, director of financial aid.

"Normally they don't have problems finding students." He added "during the course of the year, approximately 3,200 students will work on campus."

NEXT SUMMER I'LL JOB HUNT EARLIER!

He said because the students just come in to get information from the job board, there's no way to determine the number of students that are helped through the office.

REVIEW

Survivor's newest album leaves a feeling of deja vu

By DAN VERDUN
Staff writer

Survivor

When Seconds Count

Is it only me or does every Survivor album sound the same?

Just a few keyboard strains into "Is This Love," the opening song on the band's When Seconds Count LP one finds himself thinking he's heard this tune before.

It's all there, the bouncy keyboards, the rhythmic guitar and drums and the oh-so-familiar vocals. Ah, those vocals. Jim Jamison's voice is easily recognized from albums away.

Following the band's first taste of success with Eye of the Tiger, Survivor installed Jamison as its lead vocalist and left former lead-man Jim Peterik alone to his keyboards.

The switch didn't stop Survivor's success. In fact, the group's achievements grew even larger with the album Vital Signs.

But it does seem as though the band knows when not to tamper with success. Survivor has stayed with almost the exact-same pattern on When Seconds Count that it had on Vital Signs.

The current album is filled with songs of lost loves and hardships ("Man Against the World" and "Can't Let You Go") and the group's attempts at hard-driving rock and roll ("Rebel Son").

And, oh yes, those typical Survivor lyrics are back also. Lines such as "I've seen those mean streets, blind alleys/Where the currency of love changes hands," creep up everywhere.

Still, there's no doubt in my mind this album has and will continue to sell well. The members of this group aren't stupid. They know there is a market for their product.

So next time you're walking on campus and hear what you think is Vital Signs straining from a residence hall window, think again—it's probably When Seconds Count.

Then again, maybe it's not.

Then again, does it really matter?

This performing, recording, rocking group will add lively sounds to the open-air food/music fest on the Quad from 3 to 5 p.m. Friday, April 24. (Sponsored by University Board.)

Mordine & Co.

This well-known Chicago-based troupe will hold master classes at Eastern and workshops in the Charleston school system; and will be featured in an evening performance at 8:00 p.m. on Friday, April 24, in the Dvorak Concert Hall. (Sponsored by Illinois Arts Council.)

Roger Shimomura

Nationally recognized painter, printmaker and performance artist, recipient of the Individual National Endowment for the Arts, and Professor of Art at the University of Kansas, Roger Shimomura has returned to Eastern by popular demand. He will present an evening of multi-media with large-scale puppets and other visual delicacies at 8:00 p.m. on Saturday, April 25. (Sponsored by Illinois Arts Council.)

The Skin of Our Teeth

The Theatre Arts Department at Eastern will present this wonderful comedy by Thornton Wilder on Sunday, April 26 at 8:00 p.m. in the Theatre. This "cosmic burlesque" won the Pulitzer Prize in 1943, but grows more humorous and pointed than ever in our present age of anxiety over nuclear dangers. Shattering the arguments of the prophets of doom, this play is a just cause for "Celebration!" Directed by Clarence Blanchette.

It's a great family fun get-away and
