Too much money and too many poor people in the world could spell

City landlords protest annual $30 fee proposal

By TIM SHELLBERG Staff intern

Many of Charleston's landlords advised the city to target its "slumlords" and those who violate safety and health codes rather than each landlord through a yearly licensing

At least 100 citizens attended a Tuesday night hearing in the City Council Chambers to discuss an ordinance which would impose on all landlords a $30 fee per dwelling yearly licensing fee and an additional $3 fee per occupant.

The ordinance was proposed to ensure proper maintenance of rental buildings by implementing regular inspections. The $30 fee would be used to finance the inspection process. The City Council tabled action on the ordinance at the March 20 council meeting until Jeff Finley, the city's building and zoning officer, could hold the hearing.

"I don't feel we need to pay a fee for me to do my job," local landlord Gene Archer said. "We need to get the individual people who have violated (the city health code) and deal with them."

"It would take 15 minutes to inspect a house, and at $30, that comes out to $2 per minute," said Dorothy Hunt, 2309 University Drive, "And that's exorbitant."

Many landowners felt the city should take care of the "slum units" and leave the other rental dwellings

"Jeff Finley knows he is welcome to inspect any of our houses any time he wants," said Daisy Lamb, 17 W. Madison Ave. "Go after the slumlord, don't go after

Even the city's finance commissioner, John Winnett, had criticism for the ordinance.

"I used to be in the rental business, and I worked my butt off," he said. "I feel sorry for the people making good with what they got.'

Others suggested the city become more involved in the process of cleaning up the dwellings.

The police will not help me when I call," said a female landlord, "At a party in one of the units I manage, I was urinated on and almost gang-raped."

Jim Long, 1030 10th St., suggested working with the existing codes to find a solution.

Others questioned the methods the city would employ to inspect the city's rental dwellings.

Eastern, Recontek eview water issue

BY TONY CAMPBELL

Recycling is usually thought to e a positive environmental step. But the building of the Recontek lant upstream from Embarras River has some local residents fearing the plant may accidentally leak hemicals into Charleston's water supply and seriously affect Eastern, s largest single user.

Eastern's Presidential Advisory Committee met with Recontek representatives Monday to listen and review information on the risk involved in having the heavy metal recycling plant, which will recycle 50,000 to 60,000 tons of hazardous waste a year, located in Newman, about 25 miles north of Charleston. The PAC will review the information from Recontek and decide what position Eastern will take on the matter.

In addition, members of the Coles County Board, also concerned about the possibility of conaminated water supply, are waiting write a letter to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to see if Eastern President Stan Rives will sign it.

Richard Pyles, assistant to the vice president of administration and finance and a committee member, said the committee reacted favorably to the meeting with Recontek representatives, but noted a recommendation will not be made to President Rives until members of the chemistry department have a chance to review information and check the facts.

Pyles said the committee's largest fear of the Recontek was the possibility of contaminated material eventually seeping into the Embarras River, therefore contaminating Charleston's drinking water.

"Eastern is the single largest user (of water from the river)," he said. "Our greatest fear is it would damage the water quality and we'd have to shut down the university."

Pyles said the original permit for the Recontek facility would allow the company to place a drainage line into the river to release process water, noting the company has informed Eastern officials that none of the water will be released.

They told us that it would be cheaper for them to loop the water to a holding tank and treat it," Pyles said. Therefore, the plant would reuse the water instead of pumping

Bush waits on issuing

WASHINGTON (AP) President Bush held off Tuesday on sanctions against the Soviet Union for its crackdown on Lithuania, saying he wanted to avoid any steps that would "set back the progress that has been made in Eastern Europe." Bush said any actions that might be taken would most likely be "on the economic side" but would not include a grain embargo.

"I'm concerned that we not inadvertently do something that compels the Soviet Union to take action that would set back the whole case of freedom around the

Shortly after Bush spoke, President Vytautas Landsbergis of Lithuania issued an angry statement saying, can the needom of one group of people be sold for the freedom of another? What then is the idea of freedom itself?" "This is another Munich," Landsbergis declared, referring to the 1938 pact in which France and Britain allowed Germany to take control of Czechoslovakia.

Students urged to attend Wednesday rally

Eastern students concerned with the rising cost of higher education are urged to attend a 3 p.m. campus rally Wednesday to show legislators they are not in favor of a tuition increase.

The tuition freeze rally, sponsored by Eastern's Student Government, will be held in front of Old Main, along Lincoln Avenue for students to show they are not in favor of raising tuition Tuition at Eastern has risen from $510 to $1,527 in the past decade. With a 2.4 percent increase budget recommendation from Gov. James Thompson facing additional cuts in the General Assembly this spring, tuition may be increased again as early as the fall semester of 1992.

The purpose of the rally, organized by Student Body President Patty Kennedy and Student Senate Speaker Brett Gerber, is to give Eastern students and administration, faculty and staff members a chance to voice their feelings about the possibility of a tuition increase.

Guest speakers from the Illinois Student Association and the University Professionals of Illinois are scheduled to speak at the rally. Student Senate members, including Kennedy, Gerber and Board of Governors Representative Dan Riordan, also are scheduled to speak.

In an effort to get people aware of the planned rally, student government members wrote letters to various campus organizations as well as faculty and staff members.

Secretary to be honored for her support to greeks

By ERIKA SMITH

Every now and then everyone needs a pat on the back, a few words of thanks or a smiling face to know how much they are appreciated.

And since Wednesday marks Secretary's Day and "The Week Zeus Got Loose," another special day for Greek Week 1990 has been added to the agenda -Norma Taylor Appreciation

Taylor, who has served as greek secretary in Eastern's student activities office for four years, will be honored throughout the day by Eastern's greek chapters who have relied on her for many responsibilities, including keeping track of membership records and programs.

"Norma has done so much for everyone involved in Greek Week that we decided to dedicate this day especially for her," said Eileen Sullivan, student activities director and greek adviser.

Each fraternity and sorority chapter was told to keep the day's activities secret from Taylor and to surprise her in one way or another. "Typically, balloons or flowers will be sent to Norma from each chapter because of all of the individual help she has done for everyone," Sullivan said.

Taylor was presented with a plaque Tuesday night at an awards banquet and told of the special day in store for her.

"I'm real pleased and excited about what is going to happen throughout the day," Taylor said. "I have no idea what to expect, but at least I know that I am accepted."

And since Taylor is unaware of each chapter's plans, her only anticipated thought is "maybe they'll let me go home on time."

And that "feel good" atmos phere persisted throughout seven rousing numbers, soulful blue and emotion-evoking ballads.

After beginning with Eugen Thorne's "Focus," the ban shifted into a calmer mode wit "42nd and Broadway," by Gen Mulligan, featuring senior Jame Warfield's heartfelt soprano sa ophone playing. John Coltrane ballad "Naima" followed.

The ensemble's versatilit came to the forefront in Georg Cables' "Camel Rise," when ban members used percussion "toy to accompany the song. Mar Stanaford, senior saxophonis heightened the musical variety l playing flute in Tom Kubis' " Who's Sorry?"

Individuality is a standard for jazz improvisation, and gradual assistant Paul Weiler demoi strated it well by playing a portion of "Night Train" and throwing confetti during "Blee Fat Blues, by Frank Foster.

The nine graduating member were announced before a version of Benny Goodman's "Don't B That Way."

Warfield said, "I look forward to graduating, but I'll miss the band." Bill Petersen said, "lt' been a pleasure to play with s many fine musicians.

Fire chief admired Eastern

By STEPHANIE CARNES
Features editor

Not many people in the Charleston community admire and respect Eastern as well as former Fire Chief Melvin Taylor did.

Mr. Taylor, 70, died suddenly April 13 at Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center after a massive heart attack at his home. He is survived by his wife Louise, of 44 years, and two sons, Howard and Sgt. M.P. Taylor.

"He felt that the university was a very important part of the community, and that the university was the backbone for keeping the town going," said Mrs. Taylor, who is a retired newscaster for local radio stations. "His favorite paper was The Daily Eastern News."

Mr. Taylor initiated the industrial fire brigade and highrise fighting evolutions at Eastern. A certified fire inspector for 30 years, he also was prominent in the establishment of the fire department ambulance service and EMT training program.

"He was truly a very common person with outstanding leadership capabilities," said Coles County coroner Dick Lynch. "He never let his position interfere with his judgment and feelings about people."

Mr. Taylor was very much admired by Charleston residents and especially the local firemen. Charleston Fire Chief Tom Watson regarded Mr. Taylor as a close friend, even during his childhood.

"I grew up with his kids," Watson said, "And he let us slide down the brass pole (in the fire house). We weren't supposed to, but he let us anyway.

"He always tried to make you laugh with some kind of joke," Watson added. "He was just a happy, go-lucky guy. But when it came down to business, he was all business."

Not only was Mr. Taylor dedicated to his work at the fire department, but he also was known as a family man. "I think he was a real good family man," Watson said. "He and his wife both were dedicated to their kids and other kids as well. They would invite them (other kids) in their house and give them a pop anytime."

"He was a very caring person about the community and the students," Lynch added. "You didn't downgrade the students in front of him."

"His dream was to write a history of the fire department," Watson said, "But he didn't get around to it. He gave me all the information he already had, and I hope I can someday finish it for him."

Mrs. Taylor gave special mention to the active and retired Charleston fire department personnel – the men who respected her husband. "They provided an honor guard at the funeral home and at the cemetary and also provided transportation," she said.

Mrs. Taylor, who is still recovering from the loss of her husband, said, "He was gentle, trustworthy and usually would take a risk for the citizens of Charleston.

"I have to thank God for helping me through all this," she added. "He has made me a stronger person because of it."

IBHE surveys minority students

By WENDELL HUTSON
Staff writer

The Illinois Board of Higher Education is circulating surveys around eight Illinois public universities in an effort to examine how minority students feel about attending a predominantly white university.

The results of the survey, to remain confidential, will be tabulated over the summer by the Center for Higher Education at Illinois State University.

"The survey will help develop a data base which will enable us to analyze the trends of minorities," said Charles Morris, vice president of administrative services at ISU.

Morris added the survey also helps to identify successful programs as well as programs that need improvement. "It can help develop better strategies, services and programs at schools that need it," he added.

While Eastern is one of the eight universities included in the survey, Morris would not divulge the other schools participating.

However, he does encourage all minority students to take time to fill out the survey. "There is nothing to fear," he said, urging students to mail the completed survey in as early as possible.

Among the questions asked are grade point averages, which allows a comparison between the GPAs of minority students, and the total yearly income of parents.

However, several students and faculty members feel the IBHE will not get fair answers with such questions.

"Those type of questions are demographic questions," said Johnetta Jones, director of minority affairs

As an alternative, Jones suggests next year's survey include both black and white students. "If they want to get the core of the problem among students, they need to survey all students," she said.

Terry Watson, a history professor at Chicago State University, added surveys intended for minorities only, sometimes provoke racial tension. "It gives minority students ammunition to use as their reason for hating whites."

Senate to vote on proposed bylaw change

By ANITA MAIELLA Staff writer

The Student Senate will vote on a proposed bylaw change Wednesday night that may expand the duties of the senate secretary and rename that post.

Senate member Blake Wood said if the proposed bylaw is passed, the title of "secretary" would be changed to "chief of staff."

"Senate thought it was appropriate to change the name because the office will not only include secretarial work," he said.

The person appointed to chief of staff will be the public relations director of student government, and will coordinate press conferences and public relations, Wood added.

The chief of staff would also be required to work on budgets, assist the senate executives and reinforce copies of all legislation, Wood said.

In an earlier interview, Senate Speaker Brett Gerber said that if the bylaw is passed, the chief of staff will be appointed by the senate speaker and the student body president.

If passed, the bylaw change will not take effect until the chief of staff is appointed next fall.

In other business, Jan Mac-Donald, an activist for the POW/MIAs will come before the senate to listen to senators' ideas on spreading the word on campus about the Prisoners of War and those listed as Missing In Action from the Vietnam War.

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Arcola-Tuscola Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

It's party time for the students here at Eastern

Fun in the sun today.

Bring your blankets, boom boxes and buddies.

Bring your frisbees and have some fun.

This might be the biggest party of the year. And if it is successful, there might be others planned.

Student Government, in the best interest of the students, has organized a party for Wednesday afternoon in front of Old Main. Maybe enough people will show up to clog Lincoln Avenue.

Many students don't need a reason to party, but there's going to be something there for everybody.

A sound system will be there so come out and hear the sounds of the party.

Student government has no idea how many people are going to show up. But they have invited everybody. The more people that show up the better the party will be.

The weather is supposed to be nice again. Who wants to sit in a hot class at 3 p.m. when it's 80 degrees outside? And if you're already going to be outside, go ahead and drop by. Come out and have some fun, raise your voice and raise some hell.

Let's see just how loud the student body can really be.

Of course there is a purpose to this party. It's to show the students' discontent with what looks to be another tuition hike. It's true that student government did organize it and the party has serious overtones. There will be speakers. But it doesn't mean the rally just has to be a bunch of people standing around listening to speakers.

Stop thinking of protest as violent, leftwing habits left over from the 1960s. It's 1990 and time to take a stand no matter where you stand politically. This, from the students viewpoint, is something that disregards political ideology. A tuition freeze is something all students should be able to agree on. A strong show of support is very effective and works.

So come out to Old Main at 3 p.m., have some fun, and show your support.

TODAY'S QUOTE

Partying is such sweet sorrow.

Supremacist's self-love a sad story

"Of course I care about the environment, but I think we've got too many speeches and not enough recycling centers," the 18year-old college freshman said. "I've got sacks of cans and bundles of paper right here, and I don't know where to go."

One might react favorably to this statement. Nothing wrong, you say, with a seemingly intelligent student showing concern David for Mother Earth.

Now let me reveal this Bradley University freshman is Matt Hale, leader of the American White Supremacist Party.

Between his classes and mine on Tuesday, I reached Hale at his East Peoria home. In addition to the topic of Earth Day, we talked about his violin playing and his father, a member of the East Peoria Police Department.

Lindquist

He told me he doesn't "hate" blacks or Jews.

"I've been pretty much a loner for most of my life," Hale surprisingly said. "I've had a select group of friends who mostly are in the party. I don't really care about seeking out friends; I love myself."

We talked about his group's plan to sponsor a nationally syndicated white supremacist talk show on Peoria Public Access programming.

"Heck, Public Access is for public access," Hale said, referring to protesters who hampered proceedings of the three meetings of the American White Supremacist Party. "Any attempt to block me would be illegal."

The California-based talk show "Race and Reason" is a 30-minute weekly program produced by white supremacist Tom Metzger (Metzger's son, John, was featured prominently on the famed "Geraldo" skinhead

Hale has also opened a phone line in East Peoria to spread his group's "message." If you call the number, you'll hear Hale admit party meetings have featured more opposition than members (24 at last count).

But Hale, who majors in both political science and music business, has high hopes.

"I'd like us to become an actual political group as b as the Republican or Democratic parties, who aren getting much done," said Hale, who said he is disgusted by the "monopoly" the two established parties have claimed in American politics.

Hale said voters deserve a choice, and all the American voters should be white.

At this point of our conversation, I began to los interest. The U.S. Constitution upholds freedom of speed (as in Public Access TV and phone messages) and the democratic process (the birth of new political parties,

When Hale started in on ideology, however, exercised freedom of choice (as in not buying the

"It's not something from my childhood; it's a total impersonal observation," he said. "It basically came reading history. I've felt this way since I was 11 years of I do feel whites are mentally superior."

I called Hale out of curiosity. What makes someone 1990 take up a cause this ridiculous, I wondered.

"I can't think of any cause as important," Hale sai adding people often ask him if he's just a kid seek

"My mom said that at first, but now she she knows li into the group's beliefs," Hale said.

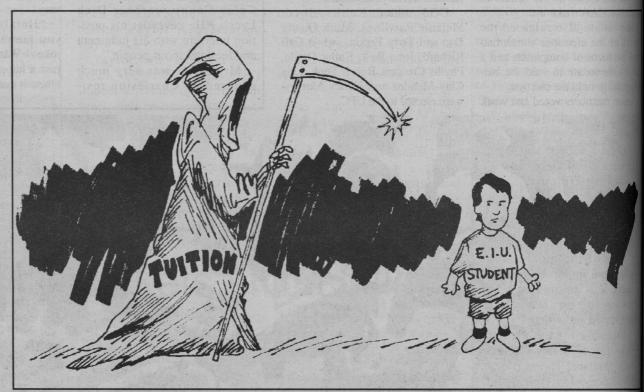

Would this type of individual meet opposition

Let's hope so.

"White people today are divided," Hale said. "I crazy and sad.'

If one of the divisions includes Matt Hale, definitely is.

Your Turn

Warbler is good but incorrect again Dear Editor:

The 1990 EIU Warbler covers a wide variety of memories from the past year. I am certain that creating such an elaborate book takes long hours of research, planning, creativity, and work. I appreciate all of the time and effort put in by those who produced this year's yearbook.

I do have one concern about the Warbler. This is the fifth year I have been a part of the EIU Women's Track and Field team, and this is the fifth straight year that the EIU yearbook has misprinted information about our team. Pictures are mislabeled, times, places and people are incorrect and highlights of the season are not even mentioned. As stated before, I appreciate all the work involved in creating this book of memories, but those of us who also dedicated hours of work, time and devotion actually making these memories would appreciate being in touch with the coaches, who would gladly work with them to sum represented correctly. I encourage next year's staff to get up the season highlights, to correctly identify pictures and to proof articles before they are printed. This would make the yearbook have more meaning for me, and it might aid the Warbler staff to create a much more realistic publication.

Lastern graduate wakens to reality

Dear Editor:

Three years ago, I graduated from Eastern. Since then, I've always been surprised at how poor of a reputation we have. Of course when I went to school there was a small percentage of people on campus that made a bad impression - but no more than any other university.

That's what I used to think! Last weekend opened my eyes and made me realize how this university has gotten such a bad rap.

A friend and I came to Eastern to see The BoDeans. While at the concert, someone took a key and scratched the entire right side of my friend's car, which she purchased less than a month ago. Needless to say, I felt bad; not just for her, but because it gave her a really bad impression of the college from which I graduated

It really pains me to hear slu about Eastern. But I guess if incide like this happen to people who our campus, we are all doomed! live with this stigma.

Bart Simpson T-shirt is offensive

Dear Editor:

I'm writing because I offended by a Bart Simpson T-si on sale in Carman Hall Monday. I shirt showed Bart with t supposedly rappers. I was offender because the two blacks were t black. They were super dark and h big, thick, white lips. The shirts w being sold by Sigma Tau Gamma think they should apologize to blacks and stop selling that particular T-shirt. The character of Bart Simps is suppose to be funny but I did find it to be humorous but sick.

Greek points continue adding up for games

By TISHA LANSING Staff writer

A fun time will be had by all of Eastern's greeks as "The Week Zeus Got Loose" continues with "Greeks Get Loose at Zeus Games" at 3:30 to 6 p.m. Wednesday in the Grand Ballroom of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Sorority and fraternity chapters will send volunteers to the games to receive spirit points for participating. After the week's conclusion, the chapters holding the most points will be named the ultimate fraternity and sorority.

Eileen Sullivan, assistant student activities director and greek adviser, said the volunteers will take part in "fun, relay-type games."

Some of the games include such traditional games as a water balloon toss, a wheel barrel race and a pudding eating contest.

However, other games, like the dizzy bats game, are not as traditional Dizzy bats is a competition in which contestants take off running to a certain point, put their heads on top of wiffle-ball bats and run in circles until dizzy.

The contestants then run back to the starting point, usually falling down in confusion, with the winner being the first one across the finish line.

Sullivan said the games create a more fun, relaxed environment, unlike the more serious games also scheduled throughout the week

Gisser brings funny repertoire for show

Comedian Keith Gisser, a three-time winner of Showtime's Funniest People in America contest, will perform for the University Board's final comedy show of the year on Wednesday.

Gisser, a 29-year-old Cleveland native, will entertain students at 8 p.m. in the Subway of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

"I'm very pleased with the success of the Subway's shows this semester," said UB Vice Chair Meg Meyer. "Gisser's act is a good way to close out the semester."

Gisser is the founder of Hysterical Society, a comedy-oriented club, and is the agent of Hysterical Management.

Subway coordinator Brian Moushon said the comedian uses prop humor in his shows along with improvisations, topical humor and audience participation.

Gisser has performed at several colleges and nightclubs in the Midwest and has appeared in such movies as "The Light of Day," starring Michael J. Fox and Joan Jett, and "Miles from Home," starring Richard Gere.

"After seeing his tape and meeting him at the conference last year, I liked how he got the students involved with his act," Meyer said. "He's very friendly, outgoing and loves students."

He has opened for and worked with entertainers ZZ Top, John Cafferty, Joan Jett and Violent Femmes.

"I don't think anyone should miss this show," Meyer said. "Because it's a little different than any other we've had this year in that there's so much student involvement. I like comedians that get the students involved."

Admission to the show will be 50 cents.

Less than five hours after it rode to space aboard the shuttle scovery on Tuesday, the $1.5 bilon telescope sent its first test dio signal. At the sign of life, plause and cheers erupted at the oddard Space Flight Center in aryland where astronomers monmed their spacecraft.

"As near as we can tell, everything looks perfect," said astronaut Steve Hawley from the shuttle. Hawley's job on Wednesday will be to drop the telescope overboard for a 15-year stay in space.

Discovery, trailing an arc of white smoke into a brilliant blue sky, carried the silver-colored telescope to an orbit 380 miles above Earth - higher by 70 miles than any previous shuttle. There, the Hubble will stay to search for yetunseen wonders of creation with instruments that can look 14 billion years backward in time.

Each trip around the Earth was taking the Discovery crew 97.3

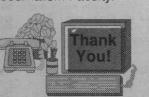

minutes, longer than on any previous shuttle flight because of the altitude. The view was different,

"I've got to tell you, I just made it up to the flight deck for a first look out the window," said mission specialist Kathryn Sullivan, who flew the shuttle once before, in

Hawks edge Blues to knot series at 2-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Wayne Presley and Michel Goulet scored 36 seconds apart in the second period and rookie Ed Belfour won his first playoff start as the Chicago Blackhawks defeated the St. Louis Blues 3-2 Tuesday night, evening their playoff series 2-2.

Belfour was spectacular in the third period, protecting a one-goal lead with 18 saves. He finished with 31.

The right fielder dove for the ball and it hit off the side of her glove. Stice circled the bases and beat the throw home for an threerun in the park homer.

The Panthers added a run in the third when right fielder Rose Dirks reached on a threebase error. Voisin followed with an RBI single to give the Panthers a 4-0 lead.

The Cougars came back with two of their own in the top of the fourth, but winning pitcher Jill Richards shut them down the rest

"Although these two games don't count, we're really thrilled," Arendsen said. "The future is on our side.'

Greg Millen started the Blackhawks' first 10 playoff games in goal, but did not dress for Game 4. Belfour had a 1.45 goals-against average in four relief appearances behind Millen earlier in the playoffs.

Presley got his seventh goal of the playoffs, surpassing his season total of six, on a screened shot from the left side at 2:06.

Goulet made it 2-0 when he knocked in a loose puck in the crease that goaltender Vincent Riendeau failed to clear.

Trent Yawney scored the winning goal with Blues star Brett Hull penalized for drawing blood from the face of Chicago's Jocelyn Lemieux with his stick. Hull received a major penalty and a game misconduct.

Lemieux had been hanging on Hull in the Blackhawks' end when Hull swung at him, receiving his first penalty minutes of playoffs.

Hull, who has a playoff-leading 10 go and 17 points in the playoffs, also had eight-game playoff scoring streak stopped.

Yawney scored on the resulting five minute power play, getting his second goal the playoffs on a shot from the point at 18th group of slouches. They are currently ranked fourth in the nation in hitting, including the country's number one hitter, JoAnn Barnes. Koehl had beaten the Panthers in a game earlier this season, but they struck back at her with six hits including a triple by Tammy Steice en route to a 2-1 extra-inning victory. She had, however, retired twelve in a row until Stice's triple in the seventh.

"I was nervous going out there today," Koehl said. "I was surprised at the true strength of their hitting."

Koehl will not be totally alone next season. Joining her will be teammate Joy Parlier, an outfielder who is known for her power hitting. She is currently batting .259 with four triples and one overthe-fence home run.

"She has excellent power and a real good arm," said Ramsey. "She can hit the ball a long way. She's not as sensational a player as Koehl, but she's good enough to contribute to Eastern's team."

The Panther baserunners were master thieves Tuesday, swiping three bases in the first game and four in the second game as well.

"It was a situation where we saw the pitcher warming up, and he had a slow delivery to the plate," Callahan said.

Major base crooks were centerfielder Matt Legaspi, who stole three bases on the afternoon. Infielder Jeff Nelson took two extra bases, while rightfielder Jeff Jetel stole two.

The efforts of pitchers Frank Jablonski and Mike Deese were just carryovers from the Panthers' weekend, which saw just six opposing runs score in four games at Western Illinois.

Eastern's two victories over Illinois Central College, a junior college team from Peoria, did not count on the Panthers' record, but that didn't stop head coach Kathy Arendsen from raving about her team's wins.

"These were two big wins," Arendsen said of the 2-1 and 4-2 victories. "They have beaten every four-year school in Illinois except us.

The wins were in no way easy for the Panthers. In the first game, catcher Lisa Bourazak's two lateinning RBIs gave Eastern the victory in nine innings, two more than the scheduled seven for doubleheader games.

After the Cougars took a 1-0 lead in the top of the seventh, the Panthers came back to tie it in their half of the seventh. Shortstop Tammy Stice, who was 2-for-4 in the contest, tripled just over the right fielder's glove and Bourazak followed with an RBI single down the third base line to knot the score

After a scoreless eight and top of the ninth, first baseman Carrie Voisin reached on an error and went to second on JoAnn Barnes' single. Stice followed with a single to fill the bases and put the bat in Bourazak's hands

Bourazak came through with a fly ball to left. ICC's left fielder caught the ball on a fly and threw toward the plate, but Voisin beat the throw for the winning run.

"Lisa's really come on lately," Arendsen said. "She shows her leadership abilities in many ways, but I think that part of her game (driving in runs) is what she does best."

The Cougars came into Lantz with a 29-6 record on the year and ranked sixth in the nation for JUCO teams. Last year, the team ended the season ranked second.

Much of the Cougars' success has sprouted from pitcher Chris Koehl, who started the first game of the day. Koehl signed a national letter of intent to play at Eastern earlier this spring.

"Chris was outstanding," Arendsen said. "She's the best pitcher we'll face all year. We got the bat on the ball against her, which shows something for our

In the second contest, Eastern jumped out to a quick 3-0 lead in the bottom of the first. After Voisin single and Barnes walked, Stice hit a slicing line drive into right field.

Koehl is a blue chip recruit

By JON DAVIS Staff writer

One of the most special aspects of sports is that it allows people to be heroes. It lifts them up on that pedestal where they can be rewarded and cheered for their accomplishments. Even if it lasts for only a moment, and for some it does, at least they got to be there.

Others have been able to make their entire careers a huge collaboration of heroic stories that add up to one huge epic.

Walter Payton did it in football by becoming the leading rusher of all time. Michael Jordan did it in basketball by defying the laws of gravity, causing people to hold their breaths each time he heads for the hoop. Wayne Gretzsky did it by becoming hockey's all-time scoring Illinois Central College's Chris Koehl plays softball.

And she is good. She is very, very good.

And she is coming to Eastern Illinois next year.

So far this season, Koehl has pitched 114 innings. In those innings, she has struck out 200 batters, walked 12, allowed a measly two earned runs (0.16 ERA) and compiled a record of 16-2. She leads junior college softball in strikeouts per game.

Rewrite the record books, folks. A new hero has arrived.

Koehl is an overpowering pitcher, hurling the majority of her pitches in the mid-60s range. What makes her accomplishments even more brow-raising is that she has been at it for only five years.

"I've been coaching here for years, and we've had five all-ame can pitchers," said ICC head coat Lorene Ramsey. "Chris has had t most outstanding statistics of a pitcher that's played since I've be at this school.

Illinois Central College, which located in East Peoria, is present 29-6. They are ranked sixth in t nation among junior colleges.

Of course, not many schools w overlook the kind of statisti Koehl has piled up, which rais the question of why she chose attend Eastern upon her complete of classes at ICC.

"Well, I chose it for two re sons," Koehl said after the doub header with Eastern. "I think coa (Kathy) Arendson is great an really like the traditional camp and atmosphere here."

Koehl accredits her performan to natural ability. Her coach thin it is much more.

"She's one of those players the just keeps getting better all t time," Ramsey said. "She was n this good last year. She listens an she has the ability to learn an change, which not many player do. A lot of players act like they listening, when in reality trying coach them is like talking to a brid wall."

Ramsey used to be a pitcher he self, which makes it all the mor rewarding to watch Koehl perform

"Because I used to pitch, I kno exactly how she feels and what sh goes through. I get to relive m memories through her in a con structive way.'

Eastern decathletes on target at Drake

By AL LAGATTOLLA Sports editor

Three Eastern track decathletes competed in the Drake Relays Tuesday in Des Moines, Iowa, and the first-day results left interim track coach Tom Akers pleased.

Darrin Steele leads the Eastern contigent with a first-day score of 3,733 points to place him in fifth place at the halfway point.

Steele's teammate Bob Holzer is currently in eighth place with a score of 3,532 points, while Mike Giesler's score of 3,516 points places him ninth among competi-

The automatic qualifying mark for the NCAA meet is 7,480 points, while the provisional mark is

"He (Steele) is just a little under halfway there," Akers said. "Hopefully, with another really good day, the provisional qualification mark is within reach of all three."

Leading the decathlon is former Simpson College runner Kit Janvrin, who won the event last year with a score of 7,800. Janvrin's leading score stands at

"There is some outstanding competition here," Akers said. "Some of the best decathletes in the coun-

Steele and Holzer have won an event each.

Steele won the high jump with a leap of 6-8, while Giesler was tied for fourth with a score of 6-4 1/4. Giesler was third in the shot put with a toss of 45-1 3/4, while Steele placed ninth in the event with a distance of 39-2 1/4.

The 400-meter dash was Holzer's event, with the Eastern athlete taking first with a time of 49.19. Steele took third in the event

Pitching keys baseball sweep By AL LAGATTOLLA

Pitching is the name of the game for Eastern's baseball team. Not to be outdone by a five-hit

6-1 complete game victory by teammate Frank Jablonski in Tuesday's first game win over Butler at Monier Field, Mike Deese faced the minimum 18 batters in six innings of work in the second game, before giving way to reliever Kerry Persons for the rest of the Panthers' 5-0 vic-

The twinbill sweep puts the Panthers at 19-22 overall on the season.

"Big wins," said Eastern coach Dan Callahan. "When you've been struggling like we have been, you'll take them any way you can."

Jablonski was perfect through three in the opener, allowing just a double by Bulldog shortstop John Nies in the fourth inning before the fifth inning, when Butler centerfielder Todd Murphy reached on an error by Panther shortstop Brent Howard.

Meanwhile, Eastern took an early lead by manufactoring a run in the first. Centerfielder Matt Legaspi led off with a single, stole second, moved to third on a ground out by third baseman Jeff Nelson and scored on a grounder to first by rightfielder Jeff Jetel.

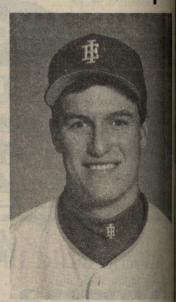

The Panthers padded the lead in the fifth, when 10 Eastern batters came to the plate. Second baseman Chris Steil connected on a one-out double, moving to third on Howard's single. Legaspi knocked in Steil with a single, and two runners scored on Nelson's single, with the third baseman taking second on the throw.

Jetel followed with a walk, and designated hitter Julius Smith doubled both runners home to close out Eastern's scor-

Jablonski's only trouble came in the seventh. First baseman Rafhael Coffee led off with a single, moving to second on a single by third baseman Matt Merica. With two outs, left fielder John Lovat ruined Jablonski's shutout by singling home Coffee, but the righthander settled down, quelling the threat.

Jablonski moves to 1-4 with the victory.

"He has had the worse luck this year - unbelievable,' Callahan said of the Panther starter. "He did everything he was supposed to do on Sunday (when he took a loss in relief). He might be the best 1-4 pitcher

Mike Deese

Jablonski was modest about his effort.

"It wasn't like I was striking people out," Jablonski said "They were just hitting the ball right at people and I had some good defense behind me. Hopefully, we'll be able to keep it up; get on a roll.'

Eastern stayed in the same groove during the second game.

Deese allowed just one hit, bunt single through three and that runner was caught stealing He allowed a single to Coffee in the fourth and he, too was caught stealing.
