Ten-day trip

Marvin reflects on conditions in Poland

by Madeleine Doubek

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin recently returned home from a 10-day trip to martial law-controlled Poland. The trip was an experience he said he will never forget.

"All in all, I'm glad I went, although I wouldn't want to do it again to be honest with you. I was frightened and I was very glad to get home again," Marvin said.

Marvin traveled to Poland with three other American university presidents as part of a monitoring and evaluation committee for the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

The AASCU and Poland's Ministry of Education signed an agreement in 1980. Marvin said the agreement called for an evaluation committee to determine if the United States is ready to begin more exchange efforts between Polish educational institutions and American educational institutions.

Marvin said the official part of the trip was "satisfactorily accomplished."

"The Polish government and academic officials are perhaps more interested than ever before in opportunities for exchange between Polish scholars and American scholars," he said.

The formal part of the visit included meetings with the Minister and the Ministry of Science, Higher Education and Technology, the Director of the Polish Academy of Science, and a meeting with the Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs for North America, Marvin said.

In addition, he said he visited eight Polish universities in Warsaw, Katowice and Krakow.

Marvin said he and his colleagues privately met with American scholars working in Poland. He said the scholars believed "the turmoil which existed (in Poland) was livable."

He added the scholars "were allowed to do the work they came to do, provided of course, that they stayed out of the political affairs of Poland."

Marvin said the committee agreed it would be difficult to send an American scholar to Poland now, but despite some extremely difficult times the committee decided to keep the working agreement with Poland and "proceed with caution."

The evaluation committee will meet next in America in November 1983, Marvin added.

Although the business end of Marvin's excursion went well, he said "it is the real side, the non-official side, that left me most worried about the future of Poland."

"It is extremely difficult for Americans to live in the country now," Marvin said.

Basic necessities are rationed. Meat, flour, butter, sugar and shoes are all limited and people must have government coupons to purchase these items, Marvin said.

"Non-laborers are allowed two kilograms of meat per month. There is a shortage of everything. Stores have nothing to sell. The economy of Poland is nearly bankrupt," Marvin said.

"Martial law is evident. Streets are patrolled by people with machine guns. There is extreme tension and a lot of harassment of people by the government's militia," Marvin said.

He said he was in Krakow the day a young man was killed two and one-half miles from the Krakow square. "The square was literally surrounded with militia men."

Marvin said he learned from talking to citizens and officials that the government is very negative toward President Reagan's efforts to bring attention to martial law, while Polish citizens are pro-Reagan.

They admire Reagan because he is the only Western leader who has called attention to their oppression, he said.

Marvin said he was struck by the vast contrast between his two visits to Poland. "In 1980, the people were full of hope for the future. In 1982, the people are filled with despair, he said.

"I was saddened and discouraged by my visit."

BOG to hear dean, minor, list requests

by Stacy Wells

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin will recommend a candidate for the position of dean of the School of Education at Thursday's meeting of the Board of Governors.

In addition, Eastern will request approval for a public relations interdisciplinary minor in the speech communications and management marketing departments.

Eastern's fiscal year 1984 BOG capital budget priority list also will be presented for approval by the BOG. Eastern has requested $2.5 million in capital budget requests.

Of all the capital budget requests for the BOG system, Buzzard Building renovations were at the top of the list, Deputy Executive Director Thomas Layzell said.

In addition to the Buzzard renovation request, Eastern will request approval to spend funds for construction of a new School of Business facility, a plan to upgrade the Energy Management System and an energy cost-avoidance system, Layzell said.

Other spending requests needing BOG approval include rental of caps and gowns for fall 1982 and spring 1983 commencements, $30,000 for Eastern's 1983 and 1984 general catalog, replacement of a pool filtration system at Buzzard Building, delivery and installation of a television studio, and production control room equipment.

Other items include approval to purchase two Chevrolet sedans, light fixture replacements and shower room renovations for the residence halls.

The BOG also will hear reports from the ad hoc committee on common computer software. The committee will recommend to the board organizational changes necessary to implement common computer software.

Last year, the BOG recommended implementation of a plan for all BOG schools to share computer programming that is common to the schools.

Shared computer programming will allow consolidation of student billing operations so only one check to pay tuition and room and board would be necessary from the student.

Some other programs which will be shared include financial accounting, admissions, registration, payroll personnel and student records.

The BOG will meet at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Holiday Inn in Macomb, Ill. and at 9:00 a.m. Thursday at Western Illinois University.

Soviet official leaves office

MOSCOW—Soviet officials have told the Communist diplomats in Moscow that Andrei P. Kirilenko, the man who ran Soviet heavy industry and oversaw the Communist Party organization, has retired from the Kremlin's ruling 13-man Politburo.

Kirilenko, 76, had been considered a prime contender to succeed Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev until reports earlier this year that his health is failing.

Konstantin U. Chernenko, 71, and Yuri V. Andropov, 68, have been considered the other strong contenders. Chernenko is a close Brezhnev aide and Andropov is the former head of the KGB.

Parliament blasts 'delinquents'

WARSAW, Poland — Parliament enacted laws cracking down on "social parasites," juvenile delinquents and drunkards Tuesday over the objections of members who said the new laws are aimed at Solidarity union members and other dissidents.

As the bills headed toward approval during a debate in the 460-seat Parliament of the Communist-run government, non-Communist Deputy Karol Malcurzynski warned the new measures could be used against fired workers of the outlawed Solidarity union, journalists and those purged under martial law.

He called the bills "pernicious and demagogic."

Deputies also appealed privately for political trials of former leaders now ousted and disgraced, including one time Communist Party chief Edward Gierk and his closest assistants, for bad economic decision-making. The appeal was reported by sources at the Parliament building.

Orchestra strike ends in Chicago

CHICAGO — Members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra voted overwhelmingly Tuesday to accept a three-year contract calling for a 27.7 percent wage increase, ending a four-week strike.

A tentative agreement between the Chicago Federation of Musicians, Local 10-208, was reached with The Orchestral Association on Monday night. The vote to approve the agreement was 94-4.

Rehearsals will begin Wednesday for the opening concert the next night at Orchestra Hall.

Former CIA agent found dead

WASHINGTON — Kevin Mulcahy, the former CIA agent who blew whistle on Edwin Wilson and other former CIA agents for allegedly aiding Libyan terrorists, was found dead Tuesday in Shenandoah County, Va., a CIA spokesman said.

CIA spokesman Dale Peterson said the agency was informed of Mulcahy's death by the sheriff's office in Shenandoah County. Peterson added, "we do not know any further details."

UAW votes not to strike Chrysler

DETROIT (AP)—Workers at five of six United Auto Workers union locals voted Tuesday against striking Chrysler Corp. next Monday, as UAW members turned out in large numbers for a one-day referendum.

All local union officials said the turnout was heavy. Analysts said the vote was too close to call, but most local union officials predicted workers would be against a walkout.

The options were to strike Chrysler companywide at 10 a.m. next Monday or continue working under the terms of an expired contract while contract talks recessed until January.

Talks collapsed Oct. 18 when Chrysler said, "there simply is no more money" for an immediate pay raise the workers had demanded.

The rank-and-file had overwhelmingly rejected an earlier tentative contract that contained no immediate pay hike and tied wage boosts to quarterly profits and reinstated cost-of-living protection, beginning in December.

Chrysler officials had said a strike could severely cripple the automaker, which was just beginning to strengthen its finances after a close call with bankruptcy.

Chrysler has passed the word that with or without a strike, bargaining will not resume until next year, said Jim Burton, co-chairman of the election committee at the New York state local.

Burton said that would mean "we would be sacrificing a week's holiday pay in addition to weekly checks."

The company lost $3.27 billion from 1979 to 1981 and was bailed out by $1.2 billion in federal loan guarantees. Chrysler earned $256.8 million in the first half of this year, mainly from the sale of its profitable defense subsidiary.

Governmental killings reported

LONDON (AP) — Thousands of people, especially in Central America, were killed last year on the orders of their government, Amnesty International said its annual report Wednesday.

"Governments must not be allowed to evade responsibility when they choose to obliterate suspected opponents," the London-based human rights movement said in the 367-page review of political imprisonment, torture and executions in 121 nations in 1981.

The Nobel Peace Prize-winning organization stuck to its tradition of refusing to make comparisons or identify the world's worst offenders against human rights.

The report ranged from cataloging "continuing repression against all forms of dissent" in the Soviet Union to expressing concern at a record 924 people on death row in the United States. It cites El Salvador, Guatemala and Syria for civilian killings by troops or officially approved "death squads."

Amnesty said Iran, where Islamic courts condemned an average 13 people a day, including children, to death by firing squad during the second half of 1981, topped the 34 nations where death sentences imposed by courts were carried out.

The organization, which opposes capital punishment, said 3,378 prisoners were known to have been executed during the year—nearly triple the number in 1980.

Laced Excedrin found in Denver

DENVER (AP)—Colorado stores were urged to pull extra-strength Excedrin capsules from their shelves after a man became ill from taking a capsule of the pain reliever laced with toxic mercuric chloride, authorities said.

After the poisoning Monday, state health officials advised residents to stop taking Excedrin and return what they have to the stores.

"I want people at home to put it in plastic bags and not touch it any more than they have to" in case police need to check Excedrin bottles for fingerprints, said Dr. Barry Rumack, director of the Rocky Mountain Poison Control Center.

He said handling capsules containing mercuric chloride, used in mercury batteries, fireworks and dyes, would probably not poison anyone who did not swallow them.

Larry Gomez, Denver district director of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, said he lacked authority to order stores to quit selling Excedrin, but called for voluntary action and said federal agents were checking store shelves for other tainted capsules.

U.S. Food and Drug Administration spokesman Chris Smith said in Washington the agency had no plans to order a recall of Excedrin, even in Colorado, because the tampering appeared to be a local issue.

At least one supermarket complied with requests to remove the Excedrin capsules from sale.

Legal Service offers advice to future off-campus renters

by Keith Clark

Student Legal Service Director Steve Davis offered a warning Monday to students who live in Eastern's residence halls who may be considering moving off-campus in the future.

"Always keep in mind that if you're going to move off-campus, the lease offered by a landlord will almost always be one-sided," Davis said.

Davis made his remarks at a Student Senate-sponsored Housing Forum Monday night.

Davis advised students to bring any lease they are considering signing to him so he can clarify any problems concerning the lease.

Davis said the biggest problem with leases is getting landlords to perform repairs which they promise to make.

"The problem is they (landlords) will force you to pay the rent on time, but that doesn't mean that they will make their repairs on time," Davis said.

Davis said as a form of protection, students should always "sign in and out" with the landlord.

Davis said students and landlords should sign an agreement which states the general condition of the place to be leased before the student moves in.

That way, Davis said, students cannot be unnecessarily charged for damages which they did not cause.

Davis said he is "encouraged" by the recently formed Off-Campus Student Housing Association because OCSHA may help to keep some landlord-tenant problems out of court.

Student Body President Terry Teele said OCSHA will act as a mediator between landlords and tenants who are having problems and also will set up meetings between the two parties.

Davis said keeping cases out of court is a good idea. "You never know what might happen if you go into court," he said.

Speaking on behalf of the landlords was Ed McClain of Eli Sidwell Realty, who offered students a warning about subleasing an apartment or house.

McClain said many students are not aware of the fact that although they may only be subleasing a house or apartment to someone, they are still liable for any damages.

"Even if you are subleasing a house or apartment, you are still liable for what happens, regardless if you're living there or not," McClain said.

McClain also offered students some tips when they are considering whether to move off-campus.

"Know the people who you are entering a lease with because once you move in, you will be surprised to find out that an off-campus residence often offers less space to live in than a residence hall," McClain said.

Consequently, he added, if students do not really like who they are living with there will be problems.

McClain also advised students to draw up a set of rules to govern their residence, for example, who will do the cooking and cleaning.

McClain also said students should try to sign a lease which begins in January and runs for a year.

"Landlords do not like to have vacancies for the summer," McClain said.

McClain advised students to carefully read their lease and bring any questions they have to either the landlord or to Davis.

He said "probably half the people here at Eastern who sign leases have not even read them."

He said another very important thing for students to know is local ordinances and laws.

Students could avoid many problems, especially when they are having a party, by knowing the law, McClain said.

Housing at Holiday Inn to continue

by Pepe Conran

Housing Director Lou Hencken said Eastern will most likely continue to use the Charleston Holiday Inn for additional student housing.

Hencken spoke at the Student Senate-sponsored Housing Forum Monday night.

"We probably will continue to use the Holiday Inn because the students there want to stay there," he said.

Hencken said 80 Eastern students are living at Charleston's Holiday Inn this semester.

In order for the Holiday Inn to be used as a residence hall, a minimum of 40 students must be living there.

"The main concern with students staying at the Holiday Inn is how they will get around," Hencken said.

Hencken said not many freshmen know how cold the Charleston winters are and they might be a bit unprepared in the winter when they have to walk to campus.

Hencken also spoke on how the money generated from residence hall video games is used.

"The money received by each residence hall can be used for making extra repairs to the halls," Hencken said.

Thomas and Carman halls generate the most revenue from the video games, therefore those halls will receive the most repairs, he said.

Also, Charleston police officer Rob Conforti spoke about off-campus parties and precautions students should take when they have a party.

A student planning on having a party at his house or apartment should contact the Charleston Police Department in advance, Conforti said.

"Two officers will then explain what is expected (of party-goers)," Conforti explained.

Many students forget that those renting the house are responsible for what happens at their parties, Conforti said.

When the neighbors complain to the police, the police must then go the party and issue a warning to the students who live in the house or apartment, he said.

Conforti said arrests can be made if police must return a second time to a party.

Budget increase covers accounts for food service

by Randy Kessler

Eastern's residence hall food service budget for fiscal year 1982 totaled just under $4.6 million, with large increases from FY 81 in the miscellaneous and programming accounts.

The food service actually only spends 40 percent of its budget on food items, Food Service Director Beverly Sterling said, while the remainder of the budget is spent in such areas as new equipment, special dinners and miscellaneous expenses.

Miscellaneous expenditures in the FY 82 food service budget increased by 152.7 percent over last year.

In FY 81, the amount used from the miscellaneous account totaled $926.56. This increased to $2,341.68 in FY82.

Sterling explained this increase was a result of the increased spraying in the kitchens for insects and pests.

"The kitchens are given a thorough spraying at the end of the school year and again before we open up in the fall," Sterling said.

"I won't say that there aren't some pests that come from shipments of food, but a lot of pests come from the dorm rooms because of the amount of food kept in the rooms," she added.

The programming account increased by 100 percent in FY 82. This account is budgeted for items such as decorations for dining rooms for special meals.

In FY 81, the amount spent was $36.75. This figure increased to $74 in FY 82.

The purchase of food service kits for special meals was mainly responsible for the increase in money spent for programming, Sterling said.

Special meal kits, such as one for a Christmas dinner, include decorations for a specific meal.

"If a hall wants to use linens for a candlelight dinner for the Thanksgiving dinner or Christmas dinner, the food service budget will cover half of the cost of linens, with students covering the other half," she said.

The largest amount of food money was spent on meat, Sterling said, with fresh and frozen vegetables and canned fruits being second.

Sterling said new equipment usually is not purchased until late in the year, which helps keep food service budget down.

"We don't buy any new equipment until very late in the year when we are relatively sure that maintenance and repair costs are taken care of," she explained.

This year the university purchased $41,352 in kitchen equipment for items ranging from the repair of a freezer frame to new dishwashers.

"If we see we are doing well toward the end of the fiscal year we try to institute some of the students' requests in the halls, such as the enlargement of the salad table," she added.

Sterling said additions were kept to a minimum this year in order to keep room and board costs as low as possible.

Misuse of mailing labels warrants strict action

John Beusch, Secretary of State Jim Edgar's campaign finance director, acted irresponsibly and unethically when he released university mailing labels to a group of Eastern alumni to promote Edgar's campaign.

Beusch is currently on a leave of absence from Eastern's Office of Public Service and Development to serve on Edgar's campaign.

When requesting the names and addresses of 32,000 alumni from Alumni Services, Beusch stated the mailing labels would be used to notify alumni of a possible conference in Hawaii in November 1981.

The information was printed on university mailing labels by Eastern's computer services.

When plans for the conference fell through, Beusch decided to save the labels. He later turned them over to a group of alumni to supplement a mailing list they had already compiled.

The labels appeared on letters sent out to alumni soliciting votes for Edgar, the incumbent in the Secretary of State race—a purpose for which they were not intended and for which they should never have been used.

Before the Alumni Services Office released the information to Beusch, he was required to sign a clear-cut agreement which reads in part: "I understand that I am responsible for the use of the personal alumni data herein requested and I agree that alumni data requested will be used under my supervision solely for purposes essential to the operation of the University."

The promotion of a politician is not "essential to the operation of the university" so a breach of contract and of trust resulted when Beusch released the labels.

In addition, the services of a state-funded university should not be used to promote the election of a partisan candidate. Release of the labels compromised Eastern's reputation and unfairly gave an advantage to the Edgar campaign.

When confronted with the contract violation, Beusch said he was unaware of the university policy concerning the use of university mailing labels.

But ignorance is no excuse for the negligent release of the labels. Besides, Beusch signed the release statement which specifically points out that Eastern labels may not be used for anything other than the reason for which they are requested.

In a violation this serious, a simple reprimand will not suffice. Eastern officials should investigate the matter further to determine whether Beusch's release of the label warrants stricter action.

Dean shares concerns

Editor:

I share the views and feelings of the 33 students concerned with the library copiers. There is an additional new machine on order now, and we have installed a separate machine for general faculty and library use in order not to tie up the coin-operated machines.

As recently as Oct. 15, I was on the telephone to the Xerox Corporation complaining about the down time and asking for a complete revamp of all our machines.

Not only do I share your feelings and concerns, I have been more vocal and irritated about this matter than anyone else on campus. It is my hope that we will have a resolution to the matter shortly.

You will be able to verify with the Purchasing Department or the Xerox Corporation Regional office, the long standing negotiations.

Questioning coverage

Editor:

I attended the Wreckin' Crew concert Oct. 23 and thought it was great. I was waiting to see the coverage of it in The Daily Eastern News, but was very disappointed when I saw it.

I couldn't help but notice the difference in the amount of coverage given to this band compared with The Kind. The Kind's coverage included interviews with the band members and more than one picture of the band's performance.

However, the Wreckin' Crew's coverage had one very small picture in the corner of the page and little to say about the band's performance. Am I being too sensitive about this, or is there a legitimate reason for the difference?

There are not many differences as far as the two bands' backgrounds are concerned. Both are from Chicago, both are touring new albums or singles and both have had experiences with major musicians.

Why the difference in the amount of coverage? I can only think of one reason for this, and I hope my thoughts are wrong for the sake of the reputation of the News.

Voice student concern

Editor:

As you know the general election is coming fast upon us. This year, more than ever, it is very important to get out and let that student vote be heard. There are many issues that affect us and it is thus important to voice our concerns at the polls.

In the Nov. 2 elections there are three people whom we strongly support and hope you will too.

First is Coles County Clerk Jackie Bacon. Jackie is actively seeking her third term in office. She is a professional and has brought many new ideas to her office. Jackie is also the first county clerk to ever bring a voter registration drive to Eastern's campus. She is a strong supporter of our student body and would be very deserving of your vote.

The next individual is Wayne Lanman, candidate for county treasurer. Wayne has much experience for this position. He has 34 years previous banking experience and is currently serving his fifth term as a Charleston city commissioner. He served three of those terms as finance commissioner. If elected, Wayne promises to bring more professionalism to his office. Wayne has a genuine concern for Eastern's students. He has proven that many times in the Charleston City Council, and he is a member of the Panther Club. He, also, would be deserving of your vote.

The last individual is Charlie Coffey, candidate for county sheriff. Charlie has had a wide range of law enforcement experience. He is a native of Coles County and is a 1972 Eastern graduate. If elected, he pledges to make Coles County law enforcement more accessible to the people, more fiscally responsible and to offer better protection for all citizens in Coles County.

Remember to vote!

Miss Black EIU needed

Editor:

This is in response to the letter written by Sue Long in The Daily Eastern News Oct. 26 titled "Why Miss Black EIU?" We believe that a grave injustice has been done to not only the black students, but the entire campus.

In answer to Long's question, there is a need for a Miss Black EIU for a number of reasons. First of all, when was the last time you have seen a black candidate win the title of Homecoming queen?

Second, just because there are separate contests does not mean that these pageants promote segregation.

There are many different cultures on this campus. They interact in many ways, both positive and negative in nature. Because of these different cultures, there is a need for separate activities that support and encourage the cultures to participate.

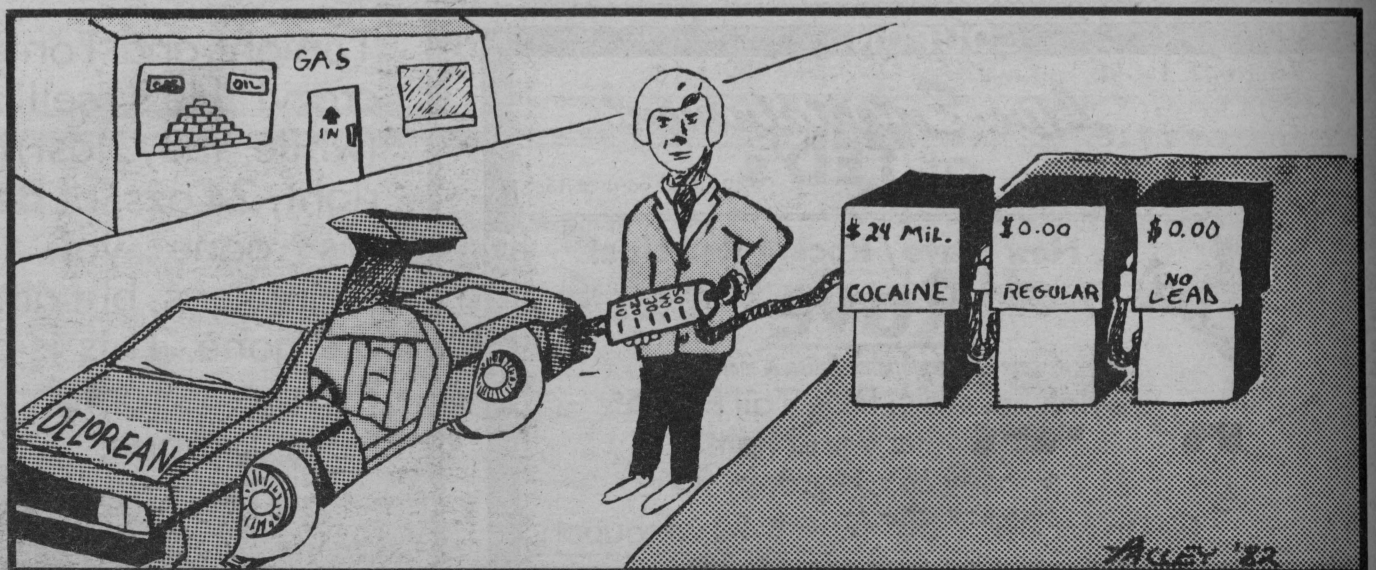

You must not forget who you are and where you came from, even though we all strive for the same educational goals.

We would like to see some proof of what Long is saying about white people working to improve the campus as a whole. Just because there is a Miss Black EIU does not mean we are "holding ourselves" apart. We are simply blacks who are proud of our heritage.

There have been separate beauty pageants for years (Miss Black Chicago, etc.). What makes Eastern so different?

Teele to evaluate senate

Student Body President Terry Teele will give his State of the University address at Wednesday's Student Senate meeting.

Teele said in his address he will outline student government's "strong points and weaknesses."

In addition, Teele said he will present Student Senate goals for the remainder of the year.

"I'll evaluate myself and the senate as a whole," he added.

In other business, the Student Senate will be reviewing the Junior Alliance of Marketing and Management group as a campus organization.

Senate Speaker Terese Lang said Todd Carrier, JAMM president, will address the senate on why JAMM should be a recognized campus organization.

Lang said a vote on recognition will follow Carrier's address.

Carrier originally asked the Student Senate Campus Relations Committee for recognition, but the committee "decided the senate should decide as a whole," Lang said.

The Student Senate will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

College conference scheduled

Students who have transferred from an Illinois community college will have the chance to talk with representatives from their former colleges, Samuel Taber, dean of student academic services and director of community college relations, said.

Taber said representatives from about 25 community colleges will be attending Eastern's Ninth Annual Community College Articulation Conference, which is scheduled for 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Union Grand Ballroom.

"The main reasons for the conference are to give the community colleges' representatives a chance to meet with former students and learn what they (the colleges) are or aren't doing right or wrong at home," he said.

"Secondly, it enables the representatives from the community colleges to meet with our academic department representatives," he said.

Students interested in transferring to Eastern also will be participating in activities.

Seminar to focus on facts of rape

The Counseling Center is offering a seminar Wednesday to help students learn to deal with rape.

Bonnie Buckley, coordinator of the Coles County Women Against Rape program, will show a short film and lead a discussion on the myths and facts of rape in a Life Skills seminar titled "Realities of Rape."

"The talk will provide strategy for the prevention of rape and how to respond if a sexual assault occurs," Genie Lenihan of the Counseling Center said.

No registration is necessary for the free seminar, which is scheduled for noon in the Union addition Greenup Room.

Activist calls for honesty, unity between all races...

by Douglas Backstrom

How long will it take for people to realize that everything they hear about each other on the news is not true? All people have to do is use the Christ force that is in us all, comedian Dick Gregory told a full house Tuesday night in the Union Grand Ballroom.

Gregory became famous as a professional comedian. Today, he is a recording artist, author, lecturer, actor, activist, satirist, critic, philosopher and political analyst.

The lecture was co-sponsored by the University Board human potential and lecture committees.

Gregory said many people believe everything they hear.

"People watch the news and believe everything that (newscasters) announce to the public. That is probably why we are having so many problems. People listen to all the violence that one another are doing to each other."

Gregory said today, whites and blacks can sit in the same room and get along fine.

"Now all they have to do is talk to each other. I don't mean that jive talk, but I mean some serious talking to get to know one another, and maybe by talking to each other, people will be able to stop the manipulation that is making us want to hurt each other."

"One day blacks and whites shall be able to see that blacks are not whites' enemies and whites are not blacks' enemy."

Gregory also talked about how strange it is when people show a non-caring reaction to subjects such as whiskey, cocaine and marijuana.

"They act so normal when they hear things like that, but once they hear something like a man using the washroom, or literally hear him say he has to 'pee,' people will react like they never heard of such a thing. It is as if they were insulted," he joked.

Gregory explained that black people have to deal with unemployment all through their lives.

"For the first time, white people have to deal with 10 percent unemployment. Black people are use to it.

"We all (black and white people) deserve what we are getting. The day shall come when we will all have to stop all our racism and live up to the fact that we are all here to live with each other and not to fight each other."

...as he talks on racism, religion during interview

by Toya Teat

Comedian and human rights activist Dick Gregory said in an interview Tuesday he believes blacks and whites should come together as one instead of living in two separate worlds.

Gregory talked about his views on racism, religion and leadership in an interview before his lecture in the Union Grand Ballroom.

"If racism is moving at a fast pace, we shouldn't try to find ways of stopping the problem at once. We should be patient and take our time," he said.

"Reaching down into our hearts and dealing with love" was some advice Gregory gave to solve segregation.

Gregory also focused on leadership, noting that "all a black organization on Eastern's campus should do is find the right leader and that leader should base his leadership on unity."

Gregory said that although he hopes to see the Equal Rights Amendment passed some day, the world currently is geared toward men.

"This world is a man's world." He said society is still keyed to the male status.

Gregory said he believed in his heart that there will come a day when all women—black and white—will be free and equal.

He added that he believes the women who support the Equal Rights Amendment will see the act passed in the future.

Gregory also commented on his religious background. He said he was happy that God was helping him through his life.

During Gregory's world touring experiences, he spent nearly five months in Iran in 1980 where he conducted a starvation program to let the people of Iran know that "we little people on earth do believe in God, and we're doing this for a purpose."

Panthers move to seventh in NCAA I-AA weekly grid ranks

by John Humenik

Eastern's football team improved its chances for a post-season playoff bid Tuesday, when the Panthers jumped to seventh in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Division I-AA weekly grid poll.

The Panthers, who were ranked 12th last week, used a 31-7 Mid-Continent Conference win over Western Illinois Saturday to lift their season mark to 7-0-1 and remain alive in the I-AA playoff race.

However, the main reason Eastern moved into the seventh spot was because five of the nation's top ten teams lost this past weekend, Jerry Miles, NCAA director of men's championships said.

"Their (Eastern) chances are really good for post-season play, but it's still too early to say," Miles said. "If they keep playing the way they are, I think Eastern has an excellent chance."

Miles said the weekly poll will have a lot to do with the bidding process. In addition, win loss records, strength of schedules and player eligibility is also considered.

Eastern, which competes in the Central Region, receives recommendations each week from the four member polling board. And that board Miles said, aides the NCAA in awarding bids two weeks before the playoffs open Nov. 27.

The board is comprised of Athletic Directors Beanie Cooper of Indiana State University, Gil Peterson of Western Illinois, Gordon Larson of the University of Akron, and board chairman Don Combs of Eastern Kentucky University.

Miles added that the board spoke favorably of Eastern and its undefeated record so far this season Monday in making recommendations to the NCAA.

"The board is really impressed with Eastern, and they feel Eastern's chances are excellent if they continue winning," Miles said.

Eastern could move into the nation's top five ranked teams with a victory over intra-state rival Southern Illinois University Saturday, Miles added.

Eastern head coach Darrell Mudra said making the playoffs is what his team has concentrated, but it took a 16-12 non-conference victory over Indiana State Oct. 16 to get the Panthers ranked among the nation's top twenty teams.

"We're obviously pleased to be ranked. The first step in receiving a NCAA tournament bid is to be recognized as a legitimate contender, and I believe we're getting that notice," Mudra said.

Eastern, which is in its second season on the NCAA I-AA level, has enjoyed a rich playoff tradition in recent years on the Division II level. In 1978, the Panthers captured the national title and two years later finished second.

"I think our kids really deserve the ranking," Mudra added. "But they have to realize that going to the bottom (in the poll) is quicker than rising to the top."

For the Panthers, their only letdown this season came in a 10-10 MCC deadlock with Northern Iowa Sept 25 in Cedar Falls, Iowa. Eastern playoff hopes will depend now on how well its plays in the Panthers' three remaining contests.

Following the SIU clash, the Panthers will be looking for their third straight MCC crown with a victory over Southwest Missouri Nov. 6. Eastern rounds out the regular season with a non-conference home date with Kentucky State Nov. 13.

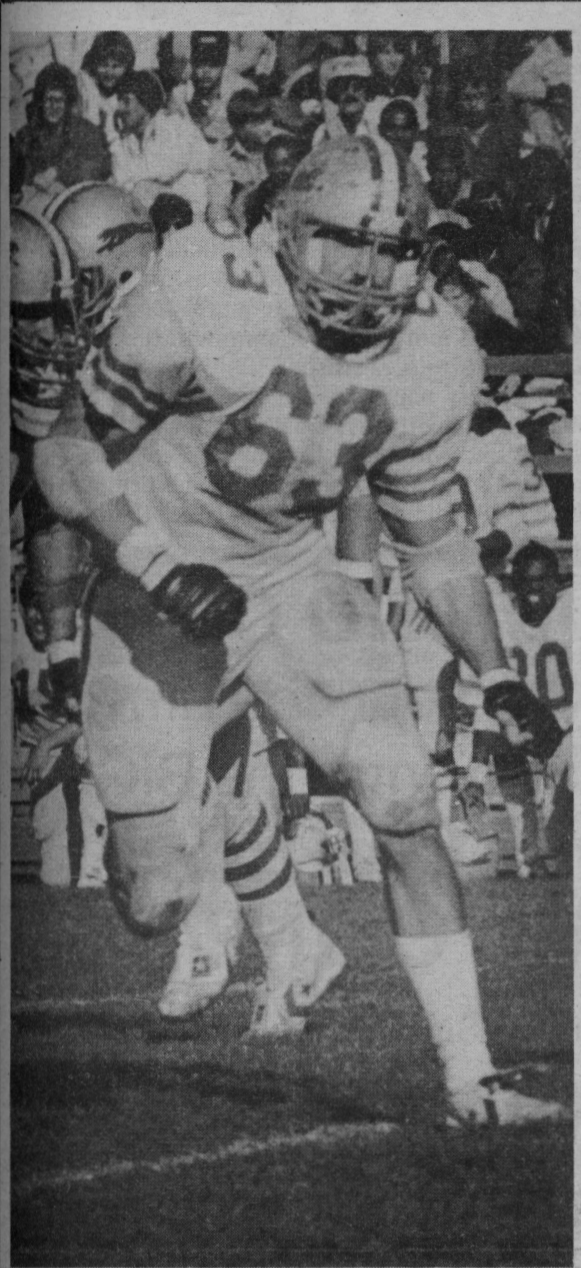

"We really haven't talked about what the poll really means, because most of our planning is in preparation for the last three games," Mudra said.

"I thought this week we would've moved up higher, but now we'll have to see what happens. The kids are improving each week," Mudra added.

Eastern reserve offensive lineman Steve Martin was honored Tuesday with Mid-Continent Conference Offensive "Player of Week". (News photo by Beth Lander)

Martin receives top MCC award

by Paul Black

Following a top-flight performance in Saturday's 31-7 victory over Western Illinois, Eastern reserve lineman Steve Martin has been selected Mid-Continent Conference Offensive "Player of the Week."

Martin, a 6-foot-1, 220-pound junior from Schaumburg, was pressed in to a starting role Saturday, when All-American guard Bob Norris was sidelined with pneumonia.

"He lined up for every down," assistant coach Chuck Dickerson said. "His blocking was one of the keys to our running game and that kind of depth is promising."

Eastern registered 189 yards on the ground to complement a 184-yard aerial show. Martin was credited with the highest rating of any lineman.

In addition, Martin has been named Eastern Lineman of the Week for two consecutive weeks. Martin had received the honor following his fourth quarter performance against Indiana State the week before.

"We didn't nominate Steve for player of the week just because he was moved into a starting position," Dickerson explained. "He graded out the highest of any lineman."

This is the first time that the MCC Offensive Player of the Week has not went to a running back or receiver. Last week, Eastern's Jeff Christensen received the offensive honor.

"It's rare that an offensive lineman gets honored," Dickerson said. "But we're pleased that Steve was recognized for the role he has played in our offensive plan."

Joining Martin as Defensive Player of the Week is Mark Salz, a defensive lineman from the University of Northern Iowa.

Booters need solid win over ISU-E

by Jim Woodcock

The last time Eastern's soccer Panthers played a National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II team they had to settle for one of their five draws this season.

Consequently, Eastern head coach Schellas Hyndman is concerned about the Panthers' 3 p.m. battle with Division II powerhouse Indiana State-Evansville Wednesday at Lakeside Field.

The Panthers realize they cannot afford anything less than a solid victory if they are going to keep their post-season bid hopes alive.

Sporting an 8-2-5 mark and ranked fourth again this week in the Midwest Region poll, the Panthers will face an impressive 11-1-2 Eagle squad—one that Hyndman said "has added better personality all through the field."

Earlier this season, ISU-Evansville downed Oakland University, the same Division II school which fought the Panthers for a tie. So Hyndman said he knows his squad will have his hands full with the Eagles.

"There is no question that they are a fine Division II team," Hyndman said. "We are just going to have to come up with some good performances."

As of now, the Panthers post-season bid outlook is still in limbo. Southern Methodist still has to play North Texas State, both of whom are in front of Eastern in the Midwest Poll. In addition, No. 2 Southern Illinois-Edwardsville meets St. Louis on Friday.

"Those games are going to help determine who goes and who doesn't," Hyndman said. "They (the NCAA) will also capulate on the strength of everyone's schedule and we have an edge there over North Texas."

With eight regions to share the 24 post-season invitations handed out by the NCAA, the Panthers are very much in the picture. Based on the strength of the regions, some regions may get four bids while others only receive two.

"This season our region has really been up and down," Hyndman said. "It is too early to tell but there is nothing saying that we couldn't get in there at the No. 4 spot."

However, Hyndman pointed out that the issue at hand is the match with ISU-Evansville, whom the Panthers dumped in 1981 by a 2-0 count.

"We can't afford to overlook them or anyone else for these four games we have left," Hyndman said.

With his team healthy minus Guy Callipari, who is sidelined for two more weeks with a stressed fracture, Hyndman is looking for more offensive productivity from his men up front.

"We have really been improving on defense and throughout the midfield, but we have got to get the offense to score us some goals," Hyndman said.

The Panthers were found guilty of offsides on seven occasions in their 1-0 win over Southeast Missouri Sunday, and the violation has plagued Eastern all season.

"The offsides are really hurting us, especially against a team like on Sunday who weren't even trying to put us offside," Hyndman said.

"Our players are trying to sneak through to the goal-side of the defense and are becoming too lazy to work it through. We'll be working to change that," Hyndman added.

Milwaukee's Kuenn honored with AL Manager of the Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Harvey Kuenn, who guided the Milwaukee Brewers to the best record in baseball this season and their first World Series, has been selected American League Manager of the Year by The Associated Press.

Kuenn, 51, who received a one-year extension of his contract only two days ago, was a runaway selection, named on 47 of 79 ballots cast by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Runner-up was Earl Weaver, who resigned this year after 14½ years seasons as manager of the Baltimore Orioles. Weaver received 12 votes in the balloting, which was released on Tuesday.

On June 2, the Brewers had a 23-24 record and were tied for fifth place in the American League East. Manager Buck Rodgers was fired, and Kuenn, the Brewers batting instructor for 11 years, replaced him. Under Kuenn, the Brewers finished the season 72-43 and wound up with a 95-67 overall mark.

In the American League championship series against California, they recovered from a 0-2 deficit by sweeping the final three games in Milwaukee for an unprecedented comeback. Milwaukee and St. Louis played to seven games in the World Series, with the Cardinals winning the Finale 6-3.

But the Brewers, born in 1969 as the Seattle Pilots and moved to Milwaukee a year later, had accomplished more under Kuenn than they had in any of their previous 13 seasons.

"I'm very happy to be coming back with a great ballclub and with guys who are real easy to manage," Kuenn said Monday when his new contract was announced. "It was great winning the pennant, and I hope 1983 will be just one game better than 1982."

Spikers set for rematch with Braves

by Susan McCann

For the third time this year, Eastern's volleyball team will square off with the Bradley Braves Wednesday, with both squads looking to take the lead in the season series.

The Lady Panthers and Braves split their first two meetings, with Bradley spoiling Eastern's season debut and the Panthers later avenging that defeat on the Braves' home court.

The first meeting, in the opening round of the EIU Quadrangular, ended with Bradley coming away with a 15-8, 8-15, 15-8 victory in the best-of-three game match.

But when the spiker teams squared off for a best-of-five series, the Panthers prevailed by 13-15, 17-15, 15-12, 16-18 and 15-5 scores.

Eastern coach Carol Gruber's squad has excelled in best-of-five game matches this season en route to its 31-9 overall record.

The Panther spikers have won nine of 14 best-of-five matches this season, including six wins in eight outings that went the five-game limit.

In addition, just like the Panthers dropped the match's first game to Bradley at Peoria, Eastern has rallied from an opening-game loss to win on six occasions.

Gruber attributed her team's ability to rally to the players' character and added that "they just never give up."

Also, the second-year spiker coach said that her pre-season emphasis on conditioning seemed to give her team extra stamina during longer matches.

The Lady Panthers will have another chance to display their five-game series prowess Friday when they travel to Champaign to face the University of Illinois.

Following that match, Eastern will have one contest each of the next two weeks—a Nov. 2 meeting with Indiana State and a Nov. 9 match with Illinois State, both at Lantz Gym.

Phillies' Carlton wins NL's Cy Young honor

NEW YORK (AP)—Steve Carlton recovered from the worst start of his career this season to win an unprecedented fourth National League Cy Young award Tuesday.

Carlton, of the Philadelphia Phillies, was the only pitcher in the major leagues to win 20 games this year, finishing the season with a 23-11 record and an earned run average of 3.10.

At age 37, Carlton got off to an old man's start, losing his first four games. But he won four of his next five and, once again, was on the form that has made the all-time National League and left-handed strikeout king.

Carlton's league-leading 236 strikeouts this season gave him 3,434 for his career, only 74 shy of Walter Johnson's all-time record of 3,508. Carlton should have little trouble breaking that mark next season, his 17th in the major leagues and 12th with the Phillies.

Carlton received 112 points in balloting by a special 24-member panel chosen by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Runnersup were Montreal Expos right-hander Steve Rogers, who received 29 points, followed by Fernando Valenzuela of Los Angeles, 25 1/2; Bruce Sutter of St. Louis, 25; Phil Niekro of Atlanta, 18; Greg Minton of San Francisco, 4; Joaquin Andujar of St. Louis and Gene Garber of Atlanta 1 each, and Mario Soto of Cincinnati, one-half point.

Carlton received 20 first-place votes and was named runnerup on the other four ballots. He was the only pitcher named on all ballots. Sutter received two of the remaining first-place votes, and Rogers and Valenzuela received on each.

Each member of the panel — two writers from each NL city — voted for three pitchers, with five points for first place, three for second and one for third.

Only three other pitchers — Jim Palmer 1973-75-76, Tom Seaver 1969-73-75 and Sandy Koufax 1963-65-66 — have won the award three times. Carlton won his other Cy Young awards in 1972, 1977 and 1980.

Carlton has struck out 200 or more batters seven times, leading the league in strikeouts four times. He struck out a career high 310 batters to lead the league in 1972, his first with the Phillies after spending five seasons with St. Louis.

Carlton shared another honor this year, with Dazzy Vance of the Brooklyn Dodgers, for being the oldest man to lead the league in strikeouts. Vance led the NL in 1923 with 200 strikeouts.

Carlton also led the league in complete games with 19, innings pitched with 295 2-3 and shutouts with six. This was Carlton's sixth season with 20 or more victories. He was eighth in ERA.

would receive an at-large playoff bid, but Miles said that would be just speculation with three games remaining.

The NCAA awards automatic playoff bids to seven teams which win the seven official I-AA conferences. In addition, three bids would be awarded on an at-large basis and two others to the top independent teams.

Eastern Kentucky (6-0) remained the nation's top ranked team this week in beating Western Kentucky 35-24. However, the Colonels presently lead the Ohio Valley Conference at 4-0.

Second ranked Louisiana Tech (6-1) defeated North West Louisiana 30-0 Saturday, and also lead the Southland conference. With the victory, Louisiana Tech jumped froz fourth place in last week's poll.

Tennessee Tech (6-0-1) was ranked fifth last week, but a 41-11 victory over Mid-Eastern Conference leader Bethune-Cookman (not ranked) Saturday moved the Golden Eagles into the nation's top independent slot.

Delaware (6-1) notched the fourth spot this week with a 51-7 thrashing of Towson University Saturday. The Blue Hens are also the second ranked independent team.

In line for at-large bids are fifth ranked Northeast Louisiana (6-2) and independent Holy Cross (ranked sixth with a 6-1 slate).

Grabbing conference titles and the remaining five bids are four teams not ranked in the NCAA's top 10 teams. The final bid could go to Boston College which is not ranked, but leads the Yankee Conference.

"STUDENTS PROGRAMMING FOR STUDENTS"

Youth Brings Entertainment to Eastern

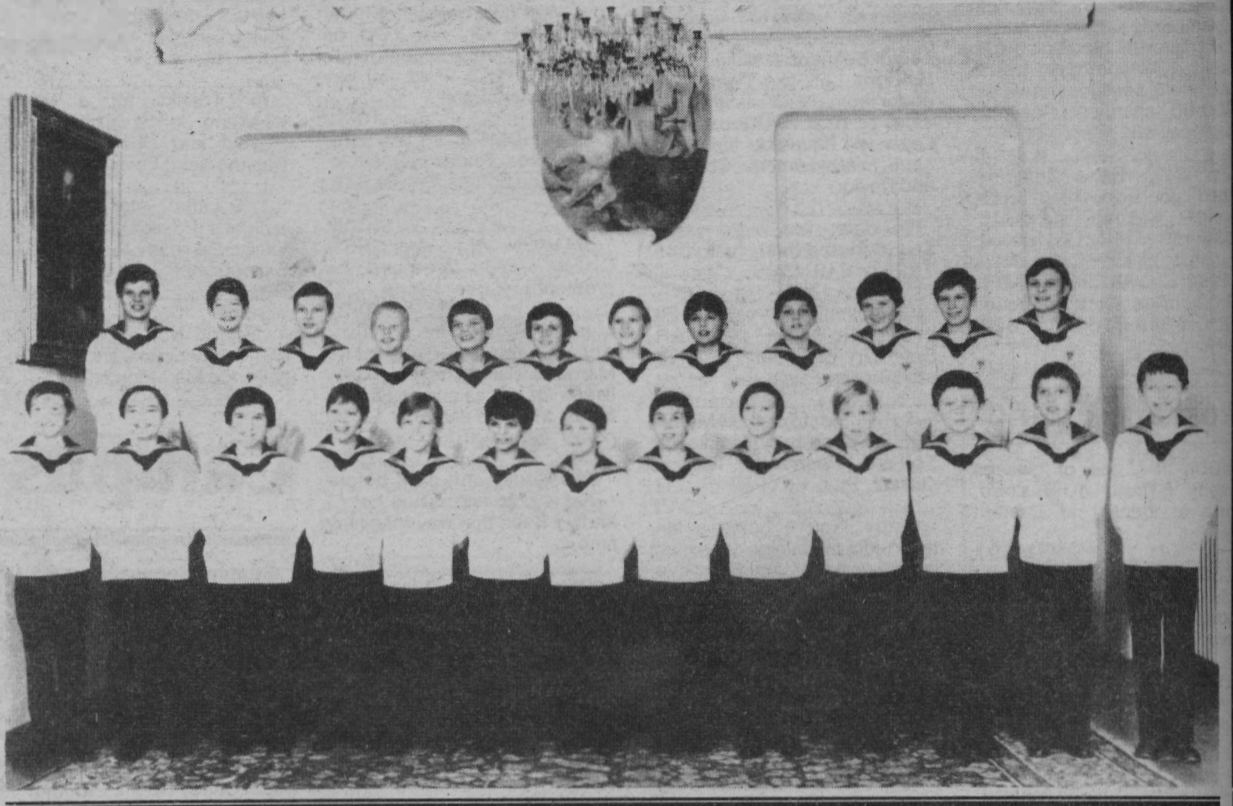

by Darlene Geis

The cultural and historical Vienna Choir Boys who have enchanted millions with their charm and elegance will perform at McAfee South at 8:00 p.m. on November 3.

The choir boys are the most popular choir ever to tour America. The traditions they present preserve a noble heritage dedicated to continuing glories of the past. However, by no means are the choir boys themselves a thing of the past. The remarkably fine blending of unsophisticated childhood with artistic maturity reflects their secret fascination.

"They sang with style, clarity, lightness, and bounce," according to Chris Pasles of The Los Angeles Times. Ranging from the ages of eight to fourteen, the twenty-three member ensemble of boys proved themselves to be highly competent singing actors. Their talents are by far a stroke of luck however. Those who wish to be considered for entry must attend a special preparatory school where they receive a thorough education with special attention paid to the theory and practice of music, as well as instruction on one musical instrument.

The candidate then takes an examination at the age of nine, in which musical ability is the decisive factor, irrespective of creed or social standing. Aside from their live performances, The Vienna Choir Boys have delighted millions in all corners of the world through films, recordings, and television appearances. Now you can be one of the millions to experience the unforgettable fascination only The Vienna Choir Boys possess. Tickets are $5.50 for students with ID's and $6.50 for adults.

You'll Think Twice Before You Go Trick or Treating

by Missy Cook

Are you prepared for the scare of your life? The University Board Movie Committee is providing you with just that opportunity by showing Halloween II Friday, October 29, at 6:30 and 9:00 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom.

"Halloween II is good enough to deserve a sequel of its own. This — like its predecessor — is a class act. Halloween II has a quick pace and a sense of style." — Janet Maslin, The New York Times.

Jamie Lee Curtis, the seasoned terror heroine, is once again relentlessly pursued by the Shape, who leaves a bloody ribbon of murders in his wake.

Come and enjoy a thrilling evening and get yourself in that HALLOWEEN mood. Tickets are on sale at the Union Box Office or may be purchased at the door for $1.25.

Hi! I'm Burny B.
(Look for me every Wednesday)

BURNY B.

Are you going Uptown for Halloween, Burny?

Well, I was hoping to see Halloween II that night.

Why not do both? I hear the movie is on the 29th.

GREAT!

You better stick with just the movie!

If you did that Uptown all of Charleston would go up in smoke.
