Senate makes petition to get fall break back

By LORI EDWARDS
Associate News Editor

A petition to get fall break back at Eastern is being circulated Monday and Tuesday by the Student Legislative Committee of the Student Senate.

But administration officials said the petition is poorly timed because the Board of Governors approved the 1986-87 calendar at its September meeting. Changes could not be instituted until the 1987-88 school year.

Student Legislative chairman Joe O'Mera said the petition will be available in residence halls, fraternity houses, sorority houses, Coleman Hall, Applied Arts, Blair Hall, the Union and on the Library quad.

O'Mera said he hopes the petition drive nets 7,000 signatures and they can be presented to the BOG at the Oct. 24 meeting at Western Illinois University.

"The more people we get, the better it's going to look," O'Mera said.

While members of the administration said they are not against the concept of a fall break, they believe the petition could have been timed better.

"The timing is not superb in that the board approved the calendar for next year at its last meeting," Eastern President Stanley Rives said.

Sam Taber, dean of student academic services, said, "The earliest they're talking about is the fall of 1987-88."

He added initial work has already begun on the 87-88 calendar. It will be presented to the Faculty and Student Senates in February and they will respond to it by April.

The calendar is given to the president in May or June, and he submits it to the BOG in September.

Rives said the board reaction to the petition may be to ask the university to reexamine the issue "and we might have another group look at the question."

The fall break was eliminated after the Faculty Senate passed a resolution calling for more class days in the Fall semester.

A faculty/student/administration committee was developed to look at options for increasing the number of fall class days.

Rives said the committee considered starting classes earlier, running classes later and cutting fall break.

The fall break solution was considered the most viable because starting classes earlier would have caused an increase in room and board rates, Rives said. Running classes later would push the semester too close to Christmas.

The BOG approved fall break elimination at the Sept. 1984 meeting for the 1985-86 school year.

Rives said the optimum goal is to have 15 class meetings per credit hour in a semester, or 45 classes for each three credit hour class.

Taber said, "Theoretically, what you try to achieve is 15 Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays."

But Taber said the university does not always end up with that because of idiosyncracies in the schedule.

Rives said the petition circulation "doesn't really surprise me. I'm not hostile personally to the concept of fall break."

However, he said the faculty senate was right to (See SENATE, page 3)

Seeleys claim son faced rejection in his relationship with Manbeck

By JIM ALLEN
City editor

A psychologically troubled James Seeley was feeling frustration and jealousy in his relationship with slain Eastern student Jane Manbeck, his parents said Friday.

Raymond and Alice Seeley speculated their son, who is charged on four counts of murder in connection with Manbeck's death, faced a wall of rejection that may have been difficult for him to overcome.

"She was going out with another guy and still coming back to Jim," Mr. Seeley said. "It's a hard thing for a well person to be rejected, but for him it may have been twice as hard."

Seeley, who was diagnosed as a schizophrenic, is scheduled to appear in a preliminary hearing at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the Coles County Courthouse.

At the preliminary hearing, States Attorney Nancy Owen is expected to present sufficient evidence to Judge Paul Komada to justify the charges leveled last week against the 30-year-old Charleston man.

Owen had hinted in an earlier Charleston Times-Courier report that Seeley's brother and sister were seeking assistance from a private law firm. However, his parents confirmed he would utilize Public Defender Lonnie Lutz.

Seeley, of 1700 Adams Ave., is currently in detention at the Coles County Jail with bond set at $200,000.

While Manbeck, a 23-year-old art student, was also diagnosed to be schizophrenic, Seeley's disorder was believed to have been caused by a long bout with drug abuse earlier in his life.

Manbeck, however, was diagnosed by three doctors as having been affected by a freak accident in 1981 when a car jumped a curb and struck her and a friend as they waited for a bus.

Both Manbeck's and Seeley's parents said the couple met while receiving treatment for mental disorders through Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center's psychiatric ward. The two were also seeing the same psychiatrist, the parents said.

Manbeck and Seeley's relationship grew complicated when she informed him she was dating another man and was considering ending their year long relationship, the elder Seeley said.

While having spent little time with his son since the arrest, he said Seeley was "heavily burdened with guilt" and had little else to say.

The younger Seeley was "a real good guy and a caring individual. You couldn't find a better guy to be around when things were good," he said.

But when in a downward cycle of his manic-depression, Seeley became the epitome of depression, several times attempting suicide, his father said.

Because of this unpredictable nature, Seeley said his son was hard-fought to hold a steady job and could not effectively handle stressful situations.

Living in trailers next to each other, the younger Seeley often went to his father with his problems and for help. Neither Seeley nor his wife, Alice, were home the night police found their son in the trailer with Manbeck's beaten and strangled body.

"We kept as close a watch as you could," the father said. "You had a situation where he is an adult; he is knowledgeable about what was going on. But he had these periods of time where he needed to be helped."

Last Monday night, when the murder occurred, Seeley called the attendants at Sarah Bush. While they kept him on the phone, they notified police, who in turn, arrived while he was still talking.

"We always extended our help to (Jim)," Mr. Seeley said. "Jim expressed his feelings very openly and (the relationship problem) was something that was bothering him. I mentioned to him there were

Conference could free hostages

JOLIET—The sister of a Roman Catholic priest among six Americans held by Shiite Moslem extremists in Beirut said Sunday she was hopeful a possible news conference for some hostages could lead to his release.

"You have always got to have that hope, but whatever happens, we are ready for it," said Mae Mihelich, sister of the Rev. Lawrence Martin Jenco.

She said the family learned from news reports some hostages might appear at a conference and immediately called the State Department Sunday morning.

Mrs. Mihelich said family members were told the State Department was trying through Lebanese contacts to learn more after an anonymous caller told a Western news agency Sunday in Beirut such a news conference would take place.

"We don't think it's a hoax," Mihelich said. "It came out of Beirut and the State Department is contacting their people there. We just have to play it hour by hour."

Agency ordered to return infant

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A Circuit Court judge has ordered the Tennessee Department of Human Services to return a 1-year-old girl to her parents in Illinois saying the agency wrongly took the infant while the mother was stranded here.

Judge James Swearingen issued the order to return Tanika Glover to her mother, Marie Ewing, 20, and father, Willie Glover, 23, both of Chicago.

The child has been in the agency's custody for about a month.

The mother said she was traveling by bus from Macon, Ga., to Chicago in August when she was robbed during a stopover in Memphis. She was forced to seek shelter at the Salvation Army until her relatives could get money to her.

Three weeks later, after Miss Ewing had already purchased a train ticket home, a state caseworker took Tanika away, claiming the child was being neglected because the mother had no permanent address.

Plane crash kills 17 parachutists

JENKINSBURG, Ga. (AP)—An airplane filled with parachutists crashed on takeoff from a private rural airstrip Sunday, killing all 17 people aboard, officials said.

The single-engine Cessna 208 Caravan crashed in a pasture around 12:30 p.m., said Federal Aviation Administration spokesman Roger Myers.

"The airplane was apparently climbing out after taking off and a witness stated that the engines stalled," said Preston Hicks, a National Transportation Safety Board investigator who was on the scene.

Grady Wyatt, who lives near the crash site about one mile from the West Wind Sport Parachute Center, was out in his yard when the plane flew over just above the treetops.

"The plane came up and looked like it could hardly stay up. A few minutes after that, I heard a crash, what sounded like a crash," said Wyatt.

Mob kills black man during clash as violence begins in white areas

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A mob burned a black man Sunday in the second straight day of clashes between rival black groups near Durban, and anti-apartheid violence spilled into white areas for the third day in a row, police said.

Police also reported they shot and killed a black man heaving a gasoline bomb in Dordecht in eastern Cape Province.

An explosion that police believed was caused by a bomb that went off in the men's room of a hotel near Durban where about 150 black youngsters were guests at a "children's day," but no one was injured.

Peter Davidson, owner of the Executive Hotel in Umlazi, a black township west of Durban, told The Associated Press: "We don't know who would have done it. I am not involved in politics."

The youngsters, ranging in age from 9 to 15, were gathered for a party the hotel sponsors on Sunday afternoons for parents and their children. Police said there was little damage.

The death toll from Saturday's street battles between rival black groups in Umlazi was unclear. Police said four people died, but the independent South African Press Association reported six deaths.

Gangs of Zulus loyal to hereditary leader Chief Gatsha Buthelezi, a moderate, had fought black followers of the United Democratic Front, the largest multiracial group opposed to apartheid. The Front calls Buthelezi a sellout to the black cause.

New battles that appeared to stem from Saturday's killings broke out in Umlazi on Sunday. Police stressed they were not connected to the explosion at the hotel.

They said a black mob attacked two black males there, "burning one man to death and seriously injuring the other with knives."

Police said they killed an unidentified black man throwing a gasoline bomb in Dordecht, a small eastern Cape Province town 298 miles south of Johannesburg.

Ninety miles south, near King William's Town, a black mob ambushed two white men riding in a car on the national highway between Cape Town and Durban, police said.

The crowd burned the vehicle and stoned the men as they ran into the bush. Both men were wounded, one seriously, said the spokesman for the national police department in Pretoria.

Police have nearly quelled 13 months of rioting in the black and mixed-race townships, but whites have been attacked in the last three days in Johannesburg's suburbs, near Cape Town, East London on the Indian Ocean shore and near Port Elizabeth, 500 miles south of Johannesburg.

Second racial riot hits British area

LONDON (AP)—Bulldozers shoved burned-out cars off streets while shopkeepers boarded up broken windows Sunday in the racially mixed slum district of Brixton after a night of rioting erupted when police shot and wounded an unarmed black woman.

A dozen stores were gutted, 26 civilians and 10 policemen suffered minor injuries and 45 people were arrested in seven hours of rioting, police said. It was the second racial riot in three weeks in a British urban slum district.

Scotland Yard said Brixton in south London erupted Saturday night after police looking for a youth believed armed with a shotgun burst into a home and shot his unarmed mother in her bedroom. It called the incident a well-planned operation "that went tragically wrong."

But youths, most of them black, marched to the Brixton police station and began hurling firebombs, paving stones, bottles and pieces of lumber. Stores were looted, cars and trucks overturned and set alight.

Just three weeks earlier, the Handsworth district of Birmingham, home to predominantly West Indian blacks, went up in flames in a riot that black leaders said was prompted by a police crackdown on drug trafficking.

For Brixton, it was the third riot since April 1981.

"Brixton is a cauldron which has been simmering for a long time," said local councilor Paul Boateng.

"It took this incident for it to boil over," he said. "But it could have happened any time because there is a lot of bitterness and alienation felt by young people who have no status in society."

The injured woman, Cherry Groce, 38, spent the night in the intensive care unit at St. Thomas Hospital with bullet fragments in her spine. Doctors said it was too early to tell whether she was paralyzed.

Boateng, who is a lawyer and who visited the family, said Mrs. Groce would sue the police.

The Yard immediately called in a top police officer from another force, Assistant Chief Constable John Domaille of West Yorkshire, to conduct an inquiry.

Pentagon cuts many security clearances

WASHINGTON (AP)—The armed services and defense contractors appear to be meeting Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger's three-month goal of reducing security clearances by 10 percent.

Final figures on the crackdown, which grew out of a Navy spy scandal, are not expected until next month. But Weinberger's deadlines for an across-the-board, 10 percent reduction in clearances expires Monday and some preliminary figures have been compiled.

When the cuts were ordered June 11, there were 4.3 million Pentagon employees, congressional aides and contractor employees with clearances ranging from Confidential to Secret to Top Secret.

The ideas of slashing the number of individuals with clearances is aimed at both reducing the potential sources of information to the Soviets and freeing investigators to perform more thorough and timely background checks.

L. Britt Snider, Pentagon's principal director for counter-intelligence and security policy, told a House panel last week that "it does appear the DoD will meet or exceed the secretary's 10 percent objective by the first of October."

"As of Sept. 15, we estimate that an overall reduction of approximately 8 percent had been achieved. . .," Snider disclosed.

"Each of the military departments has advised that it expects to satisfy the requirement in a timely manner."

Defense contractors, "had eliminated 149,599 existing clearances, or 10.7 percent of the whole" by Sept. 14, Snider continued. "In short, the overall objective has been met."

But Snider also said the Pentagon approved some exceptions to Weinberger's order. While he declined to offer figures, he said the goal won't be met by the National Security Agency and the Defense Intelligence Agency because their employees "have an undisputed need for a clearance."

As for chances of new cuts, Snider said: "I do not anticipate further across-the-board reductions at this time."

Snider also noted, however, that Navy Secretary John F. Lehman Jr. has set a goal of reducing Navy clearances by 50 percent as soon as possible, and Weinberger also ordered a 10 percent reduction in the number of new requests for security clearances during fiscal 1986, which begins Tuesday.

The Navy's higher goal of 50 percent was a direct response to the so-called Walker family spy scandal, which erupted in May with the arrest of John Anthony Walker, a retired warrant officer, who was accused of passing Navy secrets to the Soviet Union over a 20-year period.

Because of Lehman's special crackdown, Snider said the service had revoked or reduced the number of security clearances by at least 26 percent since the scandal began. A Navy source who requested anonymity said Friday the actual total might be as high as 45 percent, but reports were still being received from the field.

Before the crackdown, the Pentagon said about 2.5 million military personnel, civilian employees and congressional aides had clearances. Another 1.4 million individuals employed by defense contractors held clearances, along with 400,000 members of the Guard and Reserve.

Blood drive starts Monday

Eastern students are encouraged to give blood when the Fall '85 blood drive begins Monday at noon in the Union Ballroom.

Although Monday is technically an appointment day, no one without an appointment will be turned away, General Chairman Mary Purcell said.

The goal for this semester's blood drive is 1,585 pints, Purcell said, adding that the theme is "We Are The World, We Are The Blood Donors."

This year's goal is a slight drop from the 1,676 goal last spring.

Purcell said students should "give blood and encourage others to give, too." She stressed that it is impossible to contract AIDS by giving blood.

The drive will continue through Thursday. Students may walk in from 11 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. on these days, Purcell said.

Wednesday has been designated as "Buddy Day." "If you're afraid to give, come with a friend," Purcell said.

While Thursday is usually a busy day, Purcell said to "come over whenever you can give." It is usually less crowded at quarter before or after the hour, she added.

Senate

address the issue of the number of class meetings.

Rives said the petition brings the university back to the original question: if there is a fall break, do classes start earlier or go later?

The major consideration is the number of classes, he said.

Taber said fall break elimination helped restore academic integrity by increasing the number of classes.

"Whether students care about academic integrity, I don't know," he said.

Taber said when the issue was settled there was an opportunity for student input on the committee. Two students on the committee were former student body president Joe Butler and former Residence Hall Association president Leslie Garrigan.

And when the calendar for the 1985-85 school year was approved by the Student Senate, many of the same students trying to reverse the policy now were involved, Taber said.

Although Taber said it is the students' prerogative to petition, he believes it is time "to get off the issue and get onto something important."

O'Mera said the break is needed to give students living in the northwest suburbs of Chicago a chance to get home between Labor Day and Thanksgiving recess.

"One day doesn't make that much difference," O'Mera said. "You have to get away."

Rives said the time between Labor Day and Thanksgiving is "fairly long."

The petition is supposed to be circulated in cooperation with other BOG universities according to its wording, but O'Mera said he is not sure if the other schools have a fall break or not.

Student BOG representative Mike Ashack is responsible for getting participation of other BOG schools, O'Mera said.

BLOOMINGTON (AP)—A woman whose hair got caught in a running conveyor belt was listed in serious condition Sunday after undergoing 13 hours of microscopic surgery to reattach her scalp, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Sophia Cross, 24, underwent surgery from 11 p.m. Friday until noon Saturday at St. John's Hospital in Springfield after the freak accident at the De Kalb Pfizer Genetics Seed Corn Plant in Mason City, where she works as a laborer.

"She is in serious condition," hospital spokeswoman Mary Jo Gardner said Sunday. "She is acutely ill with a questionable prognosis," she said.

John Fletcher, supervisor of the Mason County Ambulance service, said preliminary reports indicate Ms. Cross, of San Jose, had been dusting with a small broom when her long hair became caught.

Johnny's effort gets education 'A' report card

Every fall, we hear the same complaints from Americans: Striking teachers are selfishly hurting our children. Education is going down the tubes, and Johnny can't read.

But a 14-year federal study released last week should be enough to shut up the education doom-sayers—at least for a while.

According to the study, which was released Wednesday, American school children at ages 9, 13 and 17 were reading better in 1984 than the same age group in 1971, with black and Hispanic children closing the education gap with white pupils.

There is further encouragement in last Monday's College Board report that scores on Scholastic Aptitude Tests showed their biggest gains in 22 years.

So what does all of this say about the state of education in America? It says our teachers really are earning the salary increases they have been denied for so long and are now fighting for. It says "back-to-the-basics" education and federally-funded programs for the poor—which were in full swing in the 1970s—really are working. It says Johnny really can read.

But along with this good news comes the reminder that we have not yet done enough to educate our children.

Although last week's study shows blacks and Hispanics catching up to white pupils, they are still far behind.

And the gains made by 9- and 13-year-olds leveled off in 1980, about the same time that the focus on reforming education switched from elementary schools to high schools.

Now that we know what we've done right, the obvious solution is to keep doing it.

That means giving the all-important teachers the respect they deserve. And it means continuing to stress "back-to-basics" education, with an emphasis on reaching poor and minority students.

Only by continuing this upward trend in education can we ensure that Johnny keeps reading.

Star Wars system should be junked

Why will some people support the notion of a strategic defense initiative, better known to most of us as the "Star Wars defense system?" I challenge anyone to give me a rational answer.

For those who have stayed in a political vacuum for the past two years, SDI is President Reagan's dream to render nuclear weaponry "impotent and obsolete." The vision calls for a space-stationed thingamabob to blast missiles en route to the Land of the Free.

And as Congress begins debating the funding to research producing such a gadget this month, we have some major questions on its feasibility—primarily from the people who could design it.

Speaking for 47 of 92 tenured physics instructors at the University of Illinois, Larry Smarr, the director of the National Center for Supercomputing Applications at U of I, said his colleagues were opposed to the idea. He added that the physicists would neither apply for nor accept grants for Star Wars research.

Statements like those are hard to come by in a time when research monies are scarce.

"It will not do what it was meant to do, and it will not anticipate everything the enemy might throw at it," he said.

That's good enough for me, but here's more.

Our top dog in defense, Caspar Weinberger, admitted most of the Soviet "breakthroughs" are from ripping off our technology. Can we safeguard Star Wars? I'm no expert, but I can certainly look at our security track record. Or lack thereof.

But if there are still some supporters of this system which could make the cold war an ice age and bring about our extinction, maybe they could focus on the cost. The defense contractors have.

As envisioned by the Reagan administration, we need to deploy $26 billion in the next five years and about $70 billion over the next eight for research alone. If that doesn't motivate us to think about tax bills, picture the ballpark figure of $1 trillion for complete Star Wars deployment.

Now imagine placing me in charge of figuring whether it was wise for the Daily Eastern News to cover the 1988 Olympics in Seoul, South Korea. Well, the defense contractors are those who will be asked by the House and Senate to testify on SDI's feasibility. And they're stumbling over each other to get their turn.

Off beat:

Jim Allen

When asked how they'll do it, they say it's classified.

Now consider the spend-now-scrap-later dilemma. Administrators have judiciously offered to scrap the idea if it proved to be an impossible project. History has shown that never happens in the capital.

Once a commitment is made in Washington, once billions have been spent, which of the elected bureaucrats will volunteer to announce to constituents: "Oh well, it was a mistake. We poured billions down the drain. It won't work. We'll stop now."

In a speech in March 1983, Reagan made a challenge to the scientific community utilizing the Western cultural myth that technology can overcome anything. The members of the scientific community answered 'no.' In fact, a recent study said for SDI to become a reality, eight breakthroughs—each the greatness of the Manhattan Project—would have to be made.

And if all of these problems are solved, there is no way to test the system, other than using a nuclear war. We can't use dummy missiles because we won't know what effect the fallout would have.

But technological and cost problems aside, the political ramifications will be earthshaking. The Soviets have vowed to either steal it, destroy it or produce enough nukes to make it ineffective.

If we, the students of the '80s, have been looking for an issue, it's been handed to us on a silver platter with a golden pricetag. I challenge someone to come up with sound political, social, cost-efficient reasoning for this defense monstrosity, an item that may prove to be the debacle of this cowboy administration.

But if you can't come up with sound reasoning and you still can't figure why you support this fiasco, send your application now to General Dynamics.

Nancy Yamin, editor in chief for the 1986 Warbler, said Monday and Wednesday will be walk-in days for portraits.

Yamin said walk-in days have been scheduled for students who missed their appointments or forgot to sign up for one.

Seniors may have their pictures taken Monday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and again from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The sitting fee for senior portraits is $4, Yamin said.

"The sitting fee covers the photographers cost for shooting and printing the proofs," she added.

The underclassmen walk-in day is Wednesday.

The sitting fee for underclassmen is $3.50.

Portraits will be taken in the Shelbyville and Sullivan Rooms in the Union addition.

In addition, Yamin said any group that still needs to sign up for an organization picture should sign up by Wednesday.

The last night that group pictures will be taken is Thursday, she said.

Annual greek Derby Days benefit children's charity

By ANGELA PAOLI
Assistant activities editor

Sigma Chi's annual Derby Days week was declared a success by Sigma Chi President Ed Huber, with benefits to go to the Wallace Village for Children in Broomfield, Colo.

Huber said Derby Days is a National philanthropic project put on by every chapter annually.

Huber added that the program was begun by John Wayne, who was a Sigma Chi.

Derby Days is a week of parties and activities with all the sororities participating. Sororities compete for points in volleyball tournaments and parties, and each submits it's choice for Derby darling, Huber said.

This year's winning sorority was the Alpha Gamma Delta, he added.

Derby Days ended with a 100-keg party at Spring Haven with almost 1,500 attending, Huber said.

"$1,800 is being sent to the children's village and $300 will go to a local charity," Huber added. "Everyone had fun and cooperated well."

Water plant begins pipe flushing

Charleston's water treatment plant will be flushing water mains from Sunday through Wednesday, but residence halls should not be affected, a plant spokesman said Thursday.

The flushing of the water mains, done once every spring and autumn through fire hydrants throughout the city, normally causes residents to experience cloudy water but no serious problems, plant spokesman Dick Sherman said.

"We hope to reduce the problem by flushing the water mains during the night hours," he said, noting the city will do the work between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. nightly.

"It shouldn't affect any of the (residence halls), because their water is pumped from the tower by (Eastern's) physical plant on Seventh Street," Sherman said.

If serious problems arise, he said area residents should contact the water treatment plant for assistance.

Indian suicides on rise at Wyoming reservation

ST. STEPHENS, Wyo. (AP)—In less than two months, eight young male Indians have hanged themselves on the Wind River reservation, a sparsely populated, 2 million-acre tract of barren plains and rolling hills in central Wyoming.

The suicides have galvanized mental health agencies, educators, priests and social workers, but they admit they are at a loss to explain the deaths.

Counselors who have lived here all their lives say they have never seen such a mental health crisis before. Since the beginning of the year, there have been at least 48 reported suicide attempts, compared to fewer than 30 last year.

The suicides have focused a glaring spotlight on this tight-knit community at the base of the Wind River Mountains, where the unemployment rate among 6,000 Indians is nearly 80 percent, where many teen-agers have no prospects of going to college, where most of the people have a drinking problem, and where there are few recreational facilities for youths.

The rash of suicides began Aug. 12, when a 20-year-old jailed in Riverton for public intoxication hanged himself with his socks. Four days later, 16-year-old Donovan Blackburn hanged himself with his sweatpants from a tree.

Several days after Blackburn killed himself, Darren Shakespeare, 14, hanged himself from a tree with baling twine. Shakespeare had been at Blackburn's wake and threatened he would be next.

This month, five men and teen-agers committed suicide, all by hanging. The latest was discovered Saturday.

Stone say many students felt Blackburn's suicide was a courageous act. It makes her job tougher to show them the difference between courage and cop-out.

On a recent Friday, Stone was preparing for a suicide prevention session with some students. She apologized for not having an organized program, explaining she had spent the morning admitting one student to the mental health hospital in nearby Lander.

'E.T.' maker inaugurates alien search

HARVARD, Mass. (AP)—With the touch of a lever, "E.T." director Steven Spielberg on Sunday inaugurated a search for real-life extraterrestrials, switching on a giant antenna that astronomers hope will detect radio signals sent from outer space.

"This marks the beginning of a really powerful search that has a decent chance of finding something," said Paul Horowitz, a Harvard University professor who designed the 84-foot communications dish, part of the most powerful radio-scanning system ever used to hunt for aliens.

The dish, capable of scanning 8.4 million radio channels, marks an escalation of such efforts by The Planetary Society, which scans the skies for signs of life from its Oak Ridge Observatory in Harvard, a small town northwest of Boston.

Since 1983, the space-watching group had been searching with a simpler scanner, which picked up only 180,000 radio channels.

The new antenna, known as Project Meta, was built with the help of a $100,000 grant from Spielberg, the science fiction filmmaker whose credits include "Close Encounters of the Third Kind" and "E.T."

Spielberg whisked into Harvard just long enough to flip on the antenna with the help of his infant son, Max. The communications dish hummed as it rotated skyward.

"It's the most sophisticated search for extraterrestrial intelligence in human history," said Carl Sagan, the popular science writer and president of the Planetary Society, who joined Spielberg, Horowitz and other astronomers at the observatory to dedicate the antenna. Afterwards, they toasted the event with champagne.

Horowitz said the antenna was capable of reaching to the edges of the known galaxy.

Seeleys

only two alternatives. He would have to forgive or give up the entire relationship."

But Mrs. Seeley said her stepson was not seeing anyone else, "and he wanted it to be the same way" with Manbeck, who a day before her murder had been advised by her psychiatrist to avoid Seeley.

The cyclical behavior patterns Seeley displayed to his parents and others were consistent through eight years of various treatments, even though he had "completely stopped" his heavy use of hallucinogenics that started at the age of 14.

The most serious of his problems, his parents said, were stages of deep depression where Seeley heard voices that instructed him to do "bad thingy" and "made fun of him."

"He imagined a lot of the time that people could be reading his mind," Mr. Seeley said, his wife noting that there was a time that the young Seeley even believed people on television could see him and knew what he was thinking.

"I think he had been doing considerably better," Mrs. Seeley said. "I know he was having those kinds of problems. But with Jane, they were going places together. When the (relationship) problems started, they steamrolled."

Being "very close" to Manbeck, they said the couple appeared "equally disturbed," but that this was how they complemented each other, talking through similar problems and helping each other through periods of depression.

Manbeck also came to the Seeleys to talk out problems, they said, adding that she came to them seriously concerned over the possibility that she contracted "demons" within her during an American Field Service trip to Malaysia.

Manbeck's parents, too, said she had mentioned a fear that "demons" had entered her body, after she had been told during her trip by a Malaysian that she had napped in a place believed to be taboo.

Mr. Seeley said with similar problems, although stemming from different reasons, he could not understand why Manbeck felt compelled to leave his son because she continued to meet with him and date.

"Jim had gotten to the point that he had friends—not a lot of friends—but people he talked to. He's been in this condition long enough that a lot of his friends became like people that were having similar problems.

"You take two people with mental problems, and the problems are much more difficult to come to a logical conclusion. I know that Jim certainly did not want to lose Jane, and it appeared she didn't really want to lose him."

Long before the two met, the Seeleys said their son had been undergoing several forms of treatment—ranging from simple hospitalization to shock treatments—which they said helped him to varying degrees. Typically, Seeley was under two or three prescriptions at once.

"I don't think there's ever been anything said by any doctors that Jim would be cured or anywhere near 100 percent," Mr. Seeley said. "They were definitely saying he improved, though."

Lincoln's garbage proves interesting

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A pair of anthropologists inspecting Abraham Lincoln's home sniffed out a bit of history in a pile of garbage discovered under Honest Abe's back porch.

The rubbish—chicken bones, eggshells, pottery and glassware, among other things—may reveal some personal tidbits about the president's lifestyle when he was living in the two-story Springfield home, says anthropologist Floyd Mansberger.

Mansberger and Charles Markman, a Northern Illinois University anthropology professor, were hired by the National Park Service to analyze the stages of construction of the Lincoln home, the only one he ever owned.

While removing floorboards on the porch, the pair uncovered a well filled with garbage. They believe it's Abe's garbage because the porch was built after 1844, when the Lincoln's moved in and long after the previous owners had moved out.

"In some ways, the stories about Lincoln being very conservative were true," said Mansberger. "But in other ways it's not true."

"The popular dictum was he was just a poor country lawyer. When you look at his material, he really went for the finer things like English china," he said.

Some of the Lincoln litter was sent to laboratories for analyzing. Tests of the bone remains and plant matter may reveal clues about the presidential palate, such as what cut of meat he preferred.

Mansberger said he's not repulsed by scrounging through another man's garbage or even his privy.

There, he said, you might find stuff that falls out of a man's pocket when drops his drawers. "Archaeology is the study of garbage," he said.

More Lincoln garbage was found in the cistern in the backyard of his Springfield home in the 1950s. That trash is believed to be from a period after Lincoln's assassination and offered insights to the life of his widow, Mary Todd Lincoln, who suffered from depression and hypochondria.

Discovered there were prescription bottles, apparently dispensed for Mrs. Lincoln's various ailments.

But Park Service officials allowed only a few inches of the garbage to be excavated, hoping to preserve a kind of trash time capsule for the future.

Harriers place 10th of 12 at elite Illinois Invitational

By JOHN STROUD
Staff writer

MAHOMET—When Eastern's men's cross country team stood at the line, eyeing a stretch of cut prairie grass ahead with Illinois and Ohio State on either side of them, they knew it was going to be a long Saturday race in the Illinois Invitational.

Eastern finished 10th overall out of a field of 12 teams that included several Big Ten and Big Eight powerhouses.

The Panthers' first 10,000-meter race of the year was a "disappointing" venture on a somewhat less-than-spectacular course near Lake of the Woods in Mahomet.

In fact, the new course in its competitive debut took its toll on an already injury-riddled Eastern harrier squad.

About 3,000 meters into the race sophomore letterman Dale Righter stepped in a hole causing him to turn his ankle and knee. In his attempt to finish, Righter was pulled from the race by Eastern coach Neil Moore.

The Panthers were already without three of their top seven runners including seniors Scott Tracy and Dan Newman. Freshman Bruce Nie was out for the second weekend in a row.

"If we hadn't had the injury I would have felt a lot better. We did well considering the course," Moore said.

"This is the roughest course we've run on since I've been coaching. It not only was tough footing but it was very narrow in some places."

Senior Mitch McClure paced the Panther squad passing freshman Donzell Jones in the last 1,000 meters to finish 44th out of 111 in 32:57. Jones was 45th (33:01) and sophomore Van Gardner was 54th with a time of 33:25.

Two new freshmen entered the team's top five this week to help pick up the slack. Jim Maton and Allen Oakes finished in 56th (33:36) and 62nd (33:57) respectively to round out the top runners for Eastern.

"I was very pleased with Maton and

Bears, Gault roll to 4th win

CHICAGO (AP)—Willie Gault's speciality is catching passes. He didn't catch a single pass Sunday but his 99-yard kickoff return for a touchdown turned things completely around for the Chicago Bears in a 45-10 victory over the Washington Redskins.

"Willie Gault's play was outstanding," said Bear Coach Mike Ditka. "It was the catalyst. The kickoff return turned on everybody, even the fans."

It also turned around quarterback Jim McMahon, who eventually was to throw three touchdown passes and catch another thrown by Walter Payton.

"It was the biggest play of the game," said McMahon. "It turned the whole game around. I had started out 0-for-4 with an interception."

Gault's kickoff return for a touchdown was his first in the National Football League.

"I felt it after the return," said Gault. "Everyone was pumped up and our defense started killing their guys. Then (Joe) Theismann's punt helped put us up by four points and it went on and on and on."

The Redskins were leading 10-0 when Jeff Hayes, who also punts, kicked off and Gault took it on the Oakes since they are both basically middle distance runners," Moore said. "They did a good job coming in when they were needed."

"A lot of times freshmen become spectators rather than competitors," Moore said. "We had a chance to evaluate some new people and we will be better able to look at them for the coming meets."

Nebraska took team honors with 58 points. They were followed by Ohio State with 70, Indiana 87, Illinois State 100, and Illinois 109. Eastern had 260.

Individual champion was David Halle of Indiana with a time of 30:43.6.

One factor the Panthers will have to look at is the finish of AMCU-rival Western in eighth place with 187 points. But Moore stressed that Western was running with their top line-up of runners on Saturday.

"Mitch (McClure) is the guy who gets the credit this week," Moore said. "He continues to be in the top two."

McClure has been student teaching in his home town since the beginning of the fall term, so he trains on his own rather than with the team.

"Donzell was running No. 1 until the last 1,000 meters. Mitch just slowly moved up on him and nipped him by a few seconds. His maturity and strength paid off," Moore said.

"They both (Jones and McClure) ran real well; there's some consistency there," he said.

Eastern will be sending two squads on the road next week. The varsity will compete in the Indiana Invitational and the junior varsity will go to the Danville Invitational.

"This will give them (the JV) a chance to run against some people more their age. It will be sort of an ego builder," Moore said.

"Right now we're just trying to get ready for conference. We want to enter the best eight people we can there," Moore said. "We're awfully young, but I'm optimistic about the future."

one-yard line and broke it for a touchdown. Hayes injured his foot on the kickoff and didn't return to the game.

"I can't believe what's happening right now," said Washington Coach Joe Gibbs. "We suffer a 99-yard kickoff return and lose our punter all on one shot."

"From then on it's field position and you can't get behind the Bears. They're a great pass rush team."

Hayes said he felt something snap in his foot when he kicked off and wasn't injured attempting to tackle Gault as most people thought.

Gault's return triggered a club record 31-point second quarter.

McMahon followed with touchdown passes of 14 yards to Dennis McKinnon and 10 yards to Emery Moorehead and he also caught 13-yard pass from Payton on a halfback option play.

Kevin Butler booted a 28-yard field goal with four seconds left in the half to give the Bears their biggest single quarter scoring splurge and a 31-10 halftime lead.

The Redskins, who dropped to 1-3, never recovered and the Bears put the game out of reach early in the third quarter when McMahon hit Payton with a 33-yard touchdown pass.

22:10 remaining was the most notable.

Co-captain Rick Lansing finally broke Eastern's drought, lofting a perfect shot high over the outstretched hands of Redbird goalie Rick Mancini to put Eastern on the board, 3-1. It was Lansing's third goal of the season.

At 4:51, Craig Hartman scored what appeared to be the Panthers second goal, but it was disallowed because the officials caught co-captain Neil Swindells pushing amongst the action. His teammates later said the foul was "nit-pickie."

Guzman scored his second goal of the contest at the 3:08 mark to up the score to 4-1 and nailed the Panthers to the artificial turf.

In the process of defeat, the Panthers may also have lost the services of Ossie Molinari, who shows signs of having a fractured right wrist. Mosnia will know for sure when Molinari has his hand X-rayed.

Meanwhile, Paul Kelly will not play in Tuesday's game at Lakeside Field against Evansville after receiving a redcard in the second half of Sunday's game.

All Mosnia can do is look ahead. "We can't let the loss get us down. We have to get up for Evansville. I just hope they don't get down," he said.

Spikers drop 4 straight; slump goes on

By DAN VERDUN
Assistant sports editor

CHICAGO—When Eastern's volleyball team reflects back on this season, this weekend's DePaul Invitational probably won't be among the first subjects brought up.

The Panthers entered the tournament with high hopes of winning the title and achieving their preseason goal of taking two tourney championships, but wound up losing all four games.

Those losses dropped Eastern's record to 11-7. The Panthers have now lost six of their last eight matches.

"It was one of those tournaments where everyone was evenly matched," Eastern coach Betty Ralston said. "Somebody had to lose, unfortunately this weekend it was us.

"Our blocking, hitting and play at the net were terrible. We lost the matches between the 10-foot lines."

Eastern dropped the invitational opener Friday night to Gateway Conference-rival Bradley by scores of 15-5, 17-15 and 15-10.

Outside hitter and co-captain Judy Planos led the Eastern attack with nine kills, three aces and one block solo.

Senior co-captain Misty Buckhold registered five kills and five block assists, while middle hitter Lori Berger added two service aces, four block assists and a block solo.

Despite Eastern's slow start in the tournament, Ralston didn't think the loss to Bradley carried an ill effect over to Saturday's matches.

"It (Bradley match) was closer than it looks," Ralston said. "We should have won the second and third games."

Although the day of the week changed to Saturday, Eastern's results remained the same.

Host DePaul—who Eastern had beaten the previous week—toppled the Panthers in four games, 15-4, 15-11, 9-15 and 15-4.

Buckhold headed the Panther offense with nine kills. Sophomore outside hitter Diane Eiserman added eight kills and 12 digs.

Eastern was then forced to swallow another bitter pill. The Panthers lost a five-game match to Mississippi.

Ole Miss knocked off the Panthers 15-8, 13-15, 15-7, 11-15 and 15-11.

Eiserman had 16 kills, 13 digs and three aces against the Rebels. Planos chipped in 13 kills and six aces, while junior Maura LeFevour added 11 kills, three aces and two block assists.

Eastern closed out the tournament by losing to Ball State, 13-15, 15-13, 15-0 and 15-9.

Planos collected 14 kills, two aces and a block assists. Eiserman added 13 kills, and Buckhold had eight kills and freshman Gianna Galanti earned seven kills.

"Nobody really stood out for us," Ralston said. "Nobody played consistent all the way around.

"We've got to be more consistent. When things are going bad, you tend to keep thinking about the previous match and it takes away (from your game)."

Despite Eastern's 0-4 performance, Ralston was pleased with certain parts of the Panthers' play.

"Our serving was the best it's been all year. Judy Planos really served well," Ralston said. "Our serve-receive and defense were also good this weekend."

Why us?

The look on Eastern coach Al Molde's face tells it all. Nothing went right for the Panthers Saturday and everything went right for Southern Illinois, as the 42-13 score indicates.

Golfers to host lone home meet

By MIKE MADIGAN
Staff writer

Fresh off Friday's second-place finish at the Kentucky-Wesleyan Invitational, Eastern's golf team will host its first tournament of the year Monday at the friendly confines of Mattoon Country Club.

The course, which is characteristically defined as tough but in good shape, should give the Panthers a slight edge over the other 18 teams present.

Among those 18, five will be from Illinois. Bradley and Illinois State have already competed against the Panthers at Illinois State earlier this year, with Bradley finishing first, ISU second, and Eastern third.

The other Illinois team that has accepted an invitation is Western Illinois. Eastern, meanwhile, will have two squads competing.

"Knowing certain little things about the course should give us a slight edge," team captain Dave Ransom said, "but Bradley, ISU, and Western have all golfed here before."

Eastern coach Paul Lueken has high expectations for the tournament.

"My expectations are to win it," he said. "It's a tough course and pretty long so the wind might come into effect."

Eastern's 'A' team will be headed by Joe Fremgen, who is coming off one of his best performances of the year.

Another factor that could determine the Panthers' fate is if Ransom can get back on track after a disappointing 80 at the Kentucky-Wesleyan Invitational.

Todd Lindsey, Clay Snyder and Mike Wollam will round out the five man 'A' team for the Panthers. Tee off time is at noon.

Stoner says pay student athletes

CHICAGO (AP)—Student athletes at the University of Illinois and other major colleges should be paid, the Big Ten Conference school's athletic director said Saturday.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Illinois Associated Press Editors Association, Athletic Director Neale Stoner also said the media and NCAA must do a better job confronting the real issues in major-college sports: recruiting violations, scholarships and the need for program audits.

"If you do that, you could cut that NCAA enforcement staff in half," Stoner said.

He told the newspaper editors that scholarships awarded to student athletes in Division I-A schools are inadequate and deny them the lifestyle enjoyed by most students on campus.

"If you walk across campus, you'll find some of them don't even have 15 cents in their pockets," Stoner said.

The athletic director said some members of the Fighting Illini football team, for example, have had to take extra jobs to pay for their trips home for the Christmas holidays because they had no extra money and others could not afford a night at the movies.

"Whether we call it a travel stipend or a social stipend, what we need is something to allow them to live like our other students," Stoner said.

Late explosion propels Cardinals by Packers

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Leonard Smith set up 10 second-quarter points with a blocked punt and an interception and Neil Lomax passed for three touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters, helping St. Louis past Green Bay 43-28.

The Cardinals, following a scoreless opening period, exploded for 26 points in just under 18 minutes extending to the third quarter. The Cardinals, 3-1, dropped Green Bay to 1-3 despite Jesse Clark's 80-yard run for the Packers, longest ever by a St. Louis opponent, and Lynn Dickey's three scoring passes.

Cowboys 17, Oilers 10—Dallas quarterback Danny White lofted a game-winning 1-yard touchdown pass to Fred Cornwell with 1:47 to play and the Cowboys' defense sacked Houston quarterback Warren Moon 12 times.

The comeback helped ease the misery for Dallas kicker Rafael Septien, who missed four field goals, including two that hit the uprights.

Chiefs 28, Seahawks 7—Bill Kenney fired two scoring passes to Stephone Paige and Deron Cherry tied an NFL record with four interceptions in leading Kansas City to a watery victory over the fumble-plagued Seahawks.

The Seahawks, 2-2, six days after a lopsided Monday night loss to the Los Angeles Rams, killed themselves with mistakes in the game played throughout a cold rain. The Chiefs won for the third time in four games.

Raiders 35, Patriots 20—Lyle Alzado scored on a fumble recovery in the end zone and Lester Hayes and Sam Seale returned interceptions for touchdowns as Los Angeles' defense made up for a sputtering offense and led the Raiders, 2-2, over New England, 2-2.

The Raiders broke a two-game losing streak despite playing nearly half the game with third-string quarterback Rusty Hilger, a rookie. Jim Plunkett missed the game with a shoulder injury and Marc Wilson sat out the rest of the contest after hurting his right ankle in the third quarter.

Giants 16, Eagles 10—Cornerback Elvis Patterson returned an intercepted pass 29 yards for a touchdown 55 seconds into overtime to boost the Giants.

Patterson, a second-year player from Kansas, grabbed a pass thrown by Eagles quarterback Ron Jaworski and raced into the end zone behind a host of blockers to give the Giants their third victory of the season.

Vikings 27, Bills 20—A 22-yard touchdown run by Ted Brown with just under three minutes to play led Minnesota over the winless Bills.

Quarterback Tommy Kramer threw three touchdown passes for the Vikings.

SIU flattens Panthers 42-13 in league opener

By JEFF LONG

Daily Eastern News Correspondent

CARBONDALE—This was murder on the football field, Southern Illinois style.

Eastern found itself smack in from of the Saluki steamroller Saturday. And not only did the Salukis flatten the Panthers, they danced circles around them en route to a 42-13 pounding.

Southern tailback Byron Mitchell did most of the dancing, both during and after the drubbing. Mitchell made

• Game statistics, page 15

Eastern's defense dizzy, carrying 22 times for 210 yards.

Mitchell's success spoke for the entire Saluki team. Playing what coach Ray Dorr labeled "a real show of character." Southern racked up 348 yards rushing and grounded Eastern Airlines to grab its first Gateway Conference win, and second overall against three losses.

It was a rude welcome to the Gateway for Eastern, 2-2, which was the preseason pick to take the league title. The Panthers have now lost four of the last six meetings with Southern.

"We had backed ourselves into a corner," Dorr said of Southern's previous three-game losing streak. "We certainly rose to the occasion."

The contest had Saluki written all over it right from the start. Southern took the initial kickoff 80 yards in seven plays, six of them running plays.

"I think they dominated the line of scrimmage and that was the difference in the game," Eastern coach Al Molde said. "They also had excellent team speed, better than any team we've faced this fall."

On the ensuing kickoff, Eastern fumbled and Southern had it back again. The fumble proved harmless, but it wasn't until 8:24 of the first quarter that Eastern's offense took the field.

The offense would make brief appearances thereafter. By its second possession, Eastern already faced a 14-0 deficit after SIU's Ed Fashaw had returned a punt 63 yards for a touchdown.

STEVE PEKALA / Staff photographer

Panther quarterback Sean Payton is about to be sandwiched by SIU's Anthony Woods (95) and Darren Wietecha (94). Payton was sacked five times on the day, suffering his worst day ever as an Eastern starter.

The Panthers had only six possessions in the first half and five first downs as Southern rolled up a 21-3 lead.

"I think we got some bad breaks early in the contest and just never got started in the game," a dejected Molde said.

Mitchell had already compiled 133 yards rushing by half. Oddly enough, he was a questionable starter for the game due to an ankle injury suffered during midweek drills.

"Going into the pre-game it felt pretty good," Mitchell said of the injury. "After the first play, I didn't even feel it. We were pretty fired up for this one."

Eastern's first four possessions of the second half ended in punts after three plays. The Panthers eventually capitalized after a roughing the kicker penalty when Evan Arapostathis booted a 50-yard field goal.

The Panthers then scored on their very next possession after recovering a Mitchell fumble on the SIU 44. Six plays later, QB Sean Payton hit slotback Calvin Pierce with a 15-yard scoring strike.

It was the only moment of glory for the Panther offense, which entered the contest third in I-AA for total offense. Payton suffered through his worst day ever as a starter, and All-American wide receiver Roy Banks was shutout for the first time in his college career.

"We just didn't execute," Payton said. "We never got things going and played the whole game like we had our heads up our butt."

Payton left the game in the fourth quarter after completing just 13 of 38 for 151 yards. To make his day worse, he was sacked five times.

The Saluki defense was ranked 10th among I-AA teams in pass defense coming in. By double-teaming Pierce and Banks all day, the Salukis frustrated the Panthers and teed off.

"They double-covered me all game," Banks said. "Sean couldn't come my way because I was constantly double-covered. He'd try to go to the other side and that wasn't working either. They had a good defensive plan and it worked. They plain shut us down."

Booters' bid for revenge falls short

ISU hands Panthers first setback of the season

NORMAL—Eastern's soccer team disappointingly failed in protecting its undefeated record and avenging its loss to Illinois State a year ago.

The Panthers were outplayed from the start as they lost 4-1, dropping their record to 4-1-1 on the season.

"We were just flat," coach Cizo Mosnia said. "Playing up here (Hancock Stadium) is not an easy place to play."

Redbird coach Tim Carter said he felt a bit fortunate to get out of the gate so quickly. He said he thought the fact that he started six freshmen would hurt his team's chances.

"We beat them two years in a row and they're a very good team," Carter said. "I think there were so many ways they outplayed us especially in the second half."

Illinois State came out attacking like falcons, instead of Redbirds as they netted three first half goals. The stars of the game for the Redbirds were Paul Denning and Leo Guzman, who scored two goals each.

Denning scored the first goal with 35:52 left in the first half on an assist from senior midfielder Peter Bowers to make the score 1-0.

With 24:42 remaining until halftime, Guzman headed a corner kick from Denning past Panther goalkeeper Mark Simpson and quickly the score moved to 2-0 Redbirds.

ISU dominated the remainder of the half, keeping the ball in the Panthers' end most of the half.

The first real penetration by the Panthers occurred with 14:50 left in the half when midfielder John Glendinning hit the goal post from six yards out.

A minute later, Matt Gamache fired one that had the Redbird goalkeeper beaten, but the shot missed high.

While Eastern struggled to get some offense going, a break-away situation developed for Denning, who bounced a shot into the lower corner of the net to make the score 3-0 in favor of ISU.

During the second half, the Panther booters fired out of the locker room as they opened a few opportunities to score. Greg Muhr's near-miss with (See BOOTERS, page 13)
