Office Hours: MW 9:00-11:00, F 10:00-11:00, and by appointment

Required Texts and Materials

- The Bedford Book of Genres: A Guide and Reader, 1st ed., Braziller and Kleinfeld
- A composition notebook for your process journal

Please bring these materials to class every day unless instructed otherwise.

Course Description

College Composition I focuses on informative, analytical, evaluative, and persuasive writing and introduces students to college-level research. Students will develop sound writing processes, produce cogent writing, strengthen analytical reading skills, and work with sources.

Course Objectives

By the end of English 1001, you will demonstrate the ability to:

- Develop effective writing processes for producing documents
- Produce informative, analytical, evaluative, and persuasive prose
- Implement reading processes to evaluate sources
- Adapt written texts to suit the text's purpose, audience, genre, rhetorical situation, and discourse community
- Recognize how to transfer their writing processes, understanding of rhetorical principles, and genre awareness to other writing situations
- Find appropriate sources through secondary research, including the use of academic databases
- Integrate sources ethically and appropriately using at least one recognized citation style
- Use effective language and delivery skills through speaking opportunities
- Present work in Edited American English

Course Policies

Attendance

It will be very difficult to succeed in this class if you do not regularly attend. You are allowed up to five unexcused absences; however, absences strongly correlate with lower final grades. After five unexcused absences, I may deduct half of a letter grade for each missed class.

Tardiness

Please make every attempt to come to class on time. Four instances of tardiness will qualify as one unexcused absence.

Classroom Expectations

Constructive university classrooms require professors and students to respect differences—of background, thought, opinion, and belief. This notion holds special significance in a writing classroom, where you will routinely engage with your classmates' perspectives and experiences. Therefore, throughout the semester, respect will serve as the bedrock value and guiding expectation of our classroom.

On a daily basis, you will be required to bring the appropriate materials to class and to have completed assigned reading and writing tasks. Focused classroom discussion plays a vital role in the development of critical thinking skills, so you will be expected to participate. Please remember to turn off cell phones and remove headphones before class, as inappropriate use of electronics may result in the loss of participation points. If you must leave early, please let me know at the beginning of class.

Late Work and Make-Up Work

Unless otherwise noted, essays will be due at the beginning of class on the assigned date. I do not accept late essays unless qualifying circumstances are discussed with me beforehand. If you will be absent from class, you will still be required to turn in essays on time. I do not allow make-up work for missed in-class assignments or homework.

Revision

Because writing presents challenges that are best solved over time, revision practices are crucial to a writer's success. For this reason, you will have the opportunity to revise three (Rhetorical Analysis, Informative Essay, and Researched Argument) of the four major writing assignments. Upon receiving graded feedback, you will have two weeks to turn in your revision. For instance, if you were to receive graded feedback on October 1st, then your revision would be due by October 15th.

Policy on Plagiarism

Here is the English department's plagiarism policy: "Any teacher who discovers an act of plagiarism—"The appropriation or imitation of the language, ideas, and/or thoughts of another author, and representation of them as one's own original work" (Random House Dictionary of the English Language)—has the right and responsibility to impose upon the guilty student an appropriate penalty, up to and including immediate assignments of a grade of F for the assigned essay and a grade of F for the course, and to report the incident to the Judicial Affairs Office. Respect for the work of others should encompass all formats, including print, electronic, and oral sources."

For our purposes, all intentionally plagiarized assignments will receive a grade of zero, and subsequent instances of academic dishonesty will result in a course grade of F. You will not, however, be required to navigate the treacherous waters of plagiarism alone; we will discuss this issue throughout the term and will work together to ensure that you leave this course with a clear understanding of academic theft. If, at any point this semester, you find yourself uncertain about your use of sources, the best strategy is to ask me—before you turn in your assignment.

Academic Integrity

Students are expected to maintain principles of academic integrity and conduct as defined in EIU's Code of Conduct (<http://www.eiu.edu/judicial/studentconductcode.php>). Violations will be reported to the Office of Student Standards.

Students with Disabilities

If you are a student with a documented disability in need of accommodations to fully participate in this class, please contact the Office of Student Disability Services (OSDS). All accommodations must be approved through OSDS. Please stop by Ninth Street Hall, Room 2006, or call 217-581-6583 to make an appointment.

D2L

You will use D2L to view the syllabus, access supplemental readings, and turn in major assignments, so it will be important for you to familiarize yourself with the platform. If, at any time, you have questions about our D2L resources or encounter a course-specific problem with D2L, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Essay Formatting

All essays should be submitted in accordance with MLA document style (12 point Times New Roman font, standard headers, a correctly formatted Works Cited page, etc.). Please refer to our D2L site for more information, and feel free to contact me with additional questions.

Electronic Writing Portfolio

English 1001 is a writing-centered course; therefore, essays written in this class may be included in your Electronic Writing Portfolio (EWP). Please note, however, that any student who submits an essay from English 1001 will not be allowed to include an essay from English 1002.

Additional Support

Office Hours

Students who take responsibility for their progress have the greatest chance for success—not only in this class but in all university courses. For that reason, I urge you to visit me during office hours. If my office hours do not fit within the demands of your schedule, please contact me to make other arrangements—we will find a time that works well for both of us.

The Writing Center

I encourage you to use EIU's Writing Center located at 3110 Coleman Hall. This free service provides one-to-one conferences with writing center consultants who can help you with brainstorming, organizing, developing support, documenting your papers, and working with sentence-level concerns. The writing center is open to help any student from any major at any stage of his or her writing process, and its system of one-to-one conferences demonstrates value and respect for individual writers, all of whom can benefit from feedback about their works in progress.

To schedule an appointment, you can drop by the center (3110 Coleman Hall) or you can call 581-5929. The writing center is open Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. On Friday hours of operation are 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Student Success Center

Students who are having difficulty achieving their academic goals are encouraged to contact the Student Success Center (www.eiu.edu/~success) for assistance with time management, text taking, note taking, avoiding procrastination, setting goals, and other skills to support academic achievement. The Student Success Center provides individualized consultations. To make an appointment, call 217-581-6696, or go to 9th Street Hall, Room 1302.
