"Tell the truth and don't be afraid"

BOG, UPI negotiations will continue Wednesday

By JILL BAUTER
 Senior reporter

Negotiations between the Board of Governors and the University Professionals of Illinois, the union representing faculty at Eastern and the other four BOG universities, will continue Wednesday afternoon at Chicago State University.

But Jayne Ozier, chief negotiator for the UPI, said she is only somewhat optimistic about reaching a settlement over faculty contracts. Since the previous contract expired Sept. 1, faculty at the BOG universities - Eastern, Chicago State, Governors State, Northeastern and Western - have been working under a contract extension.

The BOG and UPI have made slight progress in negotiations, Ozier said. "There has been very little motion," she added.

To prepare for a possible strike, UPI chapters at each of the BOG universities have recently formed strike teams. Ozier said the action teams will "develop appropriate action in response to negotiations." According to a UPI/BOG action bulletin, the teams were assembled "to coordinate future demonstrations and to prepare for a strike." Ozier said the UPI-represented faculty members at Eastern have responded well to the team.

According to a letter distributed to Eastern faculty and academic support professionals from UPI representative Don Dolton, the UPI is seeking an "equity pool of $12 million over the next three years to be distributed by faculty according to a formula we have worked out."

Faculty salaries at Eastern and the BOG universities are about 15 percent below national norms.

Currently, employee contracts are negotiated after the university has made all other major budget decisions, Dolton said. The equity plan the UPI is seeking "would force the university to give budgetary priority to the equity increases in advance," he added.

In addition, the faculty wants better health care benefits, early retirement options and equal treatment with other state employees.

Although the UPI is willing to undergo mediation, the BOG has yet to take action in that direction, Ozier said.

Faculty Senate passes resolution for handicapped accessibility

By JAMIE RILEY
 Administration editor

The Faculty Senate passed a resolution Tuesday asking that the university upgrade its buildings and facilities to make the school more accessible to people with disabilities.

The senate has been dealing with the issue of accessibility to Eastern's buildings for people with disabilities since it began discussing the Campus Master Plan, a three-part plan to improve Eastern.

The resolution, which passed unanimously, called for the administration to strive to make Eastern one of the most accessible campuses in the state to attract and serve people with disabilities."

The resolution will be sent to President Alan Rives; the Student Senate; the Board of Governors; Judith Anderson, director of Affirmative Action and cultural diversity; Charles Colbert, vice president for business affairs; Barb Hill, acting vice president for academic affairs; and Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, among others.

Also at their regular meeting Tuesday, the Faculty Senate briefly addressed the proposed university code of ethics and decided to send a statement to Bob Barger, head of the ethics committee, requesting to see the final draft of the code.

"Considering the fact that there were no faculty members on the committee ... it is necessary that we see a final draft to present to the faculty," Faculty Senate Chair David Carpenter said.

In other business, the senate discussed the Oct. 10 meeting of Faculty Senate representatives from almost all state colleges and universities in Illinois at the University

High winds unofficially open two new connector streets

By CHRIS SUNDHEIM
 City editor

Two new streets crossing campus were unofficially opened last week when high winds blew down the barricades closing them.

A new route connecting Fourth Street with Ninth Street and another new road linking Ninth Street with Illinois Route 130 have been used by motorists since last Tuesday, according to Charleston Street Commissioner Jim Dunn.

"I think the winds just blew the barricades down," Dunn said. "That's all that happened."

"We thought it would be best if we just let people use them," he added.

City officials had decided to postpone the official opening of the streets until after Eastern's homecoming. Then the streets could be officially named and local legislators could attend an opening ceremony, Dunn said.

"We wanted to wait until (Rep.) Mike Weaver, R-Ashmore, and (Sen. Harry) Babe Woodyard, (R-Chrisman), could be here," he added. "They helped us get some of the money for that project."

The road connecting Fourth Street with Ninth Street will likely be named Roosevelt Avenue. Proposed names for the street between Ninth Street and Illinois 130 range from Edgar Drive, after Governor Jim Edgar, or naming it after former Charleston Chief of Police John Pauley.

The Charleston City Council will likely vote on names at its regular meeting next Tuesday, Dunn said.

An official opening of the streets is planned for next week or early the following week, he added.

Construction of the streets began last fall in an attempt to alleviate traffic through residential areas along Taft and Woodlawn Avenues.

"A lot of people were using Woodlawn to get to campus from the east side of town," Dunn said.

Final costs for the new streets will range from $1.2 to $1.3 million, according to Mayor Wayne Lanman.

About one-third of the costs were part of a separate state grant, Dunn said. The remainder of the bill was covered by Charleston's share of the state motor fuel tax.

Eastern also donated some of the real estate for the roads, Dunn added.

"It's like anything else," Dunn said. "Some people like it and some don't."

Residence halls to hold various activities to celebrate Halloween

By CASSIE SIMPSON
 Activities editor

Ghosts and goblins will be wandering the campus residence halls the next few nights as various halls sponsor costume parties and other Halloween activities.

According to Carman Hall counselor Lisa Hikes, Halloween falls at a bad time this year, and therefore causes problems with the scheduling of activities and causes a lack of enthusiasm among students.

"With Halloween being on a Thursday night before fall break, it's at a bad time because a lot of students, especially freshmen, will be leaving on Wednesday or Thursday to go home for break," Hikes said.

Hikes also said students seem to express a lack of enthusiasm for Halloween this year due to fall break.

"I think if it had been at another time, more people would be into Halloween this year," Hikes said.

Carman residents will celebrate Halloween with a costume party, where prizes will be awarded and residents can munch on treats.

"We were going to have two functions, but one fell through," Hikes said.

A pumpkin decorating contest, which Hikes said went over really well with Carman residents last year, will not be held again this year.

NRHH hears report from conference

By TERESA JOHNSON
Staff writer

The National Residence Hall Honorary heard a report on the Great Lakes Affiliation of College and University Residence Halls conference that took place last weekend in Oshkosh, Wis.

NRHH member Rich Ruscitti, who reported on the conference, said the director of the conference suggested that Eastern be a brother school with Central Michigan University, and added that Eastern's NRHH members are doing a good job.

Patrick Bradley, Eastern's assistant director of housing, was named adviser of the year for the entire affiliation region by the executive board of the group and the national communication coordinators, which consists of one representative from each of the participating schools.

John Biernbaum, NRHH president and associate director/NRHH recruiter for the affiliation, was awarded an associate directorship and campus fundraiser distinguished service award for the organization of the group.

Biernbaum was also awarded with a silver pin from the president of the affiliation, which is the highest honor awarded at the conference, said Ann Rathgen, NRHH adviser.

Wednesday last day for writing workshop

By DELIA BAZAN
Staff Writer

Wednesday is the last day of the Writing Competency Exam Workshop that is being offered by the Writing Center in Coleman Hall room 226 from 4-6 p.m.

Chris Hess and Shannon Sherwood are the English graduate assistants who are in charge of the workshop. The workshop is open to anyone who wants help for the exam, Sherwood said.

Anyone who has signed up for the Nov. 12 test is encouraged to attend the workshop. According to Sherwood, the workshop is "a warm-up for the test" because most of the students taking the test have not written English papers since their first year of college. All students must take the writing competency exam when they have completed 60 hours of coursework and passed English 1001 and 1002.

In the workshop, concentration is on preparing for the exam, Hess said. "We will be going over formats and ideas and doing some practice writing," he added.

"Anyone is welcome to come in to the Writing Center for individual help if they miss the workshop, but you can still sign up for the workshop if you haven't already," Sherwood added.

Faculty

† From page one of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Senate secretary Anne Zahlan reported that the representatives discussed health care benefits.

"Because of negotiations with the state union, a cut in health care benefits had been negotiated with pension pick-ups in exchange for higher deductibles," she said.

Carpenter said a few members of the University Professionals of Illinois, the union representing the faculty of Eastern and the four other Board of Governors universities, attended the meeting.

"We had a few UPI representatives who were not members of their respective faculty senates who chose to show up," he said, adding that the faculty senate representatives voted to allow UPI representatives in the meeting only if they were part of a faculty senate.

"There was a great desire not to be inhospitable to people who came with presumable good intentions," Zahlan said.

Also at Tuesday's meeting, the Faculty Senate discussed the interviews for two candidates to fill the position of acting associate vice president for academic affairs.

Residence

• From page one of activities with the theme of "The Haunted Halls of Pem" for residents to enjoy.

"From 8 until 10:30 we're having a costume party for the whole hall," said Amy Waldron, chair of Pem's Halloween committee.

As a part of the party, costumes will be judged in the following categories: best look alike, scariest, most original and a surprise category that will be announced at the party.

Waldron said the pumpkin decorating contest results will be announced at the party along with the results of the floor decorating contest.

Andrews Hall opened its doors to trick-or-treaters on Tuesday evening as a part of the hall's celebration of Halloween.

Andrews counselor Mary Pat Krones said that about 125 residents signed up to give candy to the trick-or-treaters.

"Tomorrow (Wednesday) night RHA (the Residence Hall Association) is having a Halloween party in Andrews Hall basement after the Thomas Hall Haunted House," Krones said.

Krones also said each floor in Andrews painted a pumpkin in a pumpkin decorating contest and donated money to UNICEF.

Egg drop contest makes a splat

By CHRIS SEPER
Campus editor

Eastern technology students will display their construction skills — while others may be demonstrating their ability to edge — as the semi-annual Egg Drop and Bridge Crushing contest kicks off at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Martin Luther King University Union.

"It's an assignment in class that's basically based on problem solving skills," said Don Armel, assistant technology professor. The students choose one of two projects, either the bridge construction or egg drop.

Approximately 35 students in Technological Systems 1413 will be competing in the event, which has been in the works for more than three weeks.

According to Armel, the challenge of the egg drop contest is to design a package with a limited amount of paper, glue and tape that will protect an egg from a two-story fall — in this case, from the top of the union walkway.

"We've put it on display to throw the eggs off the roof," Armel said. "We estimate a 24-foot drop."

The problem presented in the bridge crushing competition is for the students to build a bridge — using no more than two boxes of tooth picks and some glue — that will hold at least 40 pounds, Armel said.

"Many times the bridges hold up to 150 to almost 200 pounds," he said. "They have an eight-inch span and we have a crushing stand to check them on."

The crushing stand is a type of "test until death" device where the student-made structures are placed, and are stressed with a screw device that puts added pressure and weight on the bridge. All bridges are tested until failure.

There are 18 students entered in the bridge crushing portion of the contest, with the other 17 opting for the egg drop.

"It (the contest) is just a chance for people to see the kinds of things we're promoting in technology," said Armel. "This is a freshman-level class, so you're not going to see earth shattering designs. At this point, it's just the challenge of problem solving."

Armel said the past survival rate of the eggs has hovered at 50 percent, while bridges have been able to stay over the .500 mark.

Passerbys are welcome to watch, but Armel said that anyone who is choosing to park their car near the union should be put on alert.

"We'd like to (have people come by)," he said. "That's why we moved to contact people at the union."

The semi-annual contest occurs in the spring and fall semester classes. Since this is an assignment for the class, Armel said that awards for the projects are grades in the class.

BSU raises more than $200 for conference

By ELLIOTT PEPPERS
Student government editor

The Black Student Union allocated more than $200 at its meeting Tuesday for transportation for members attending a leadership conference.

Approximately $238 has been allocated for a university minibus for 16 BSU members attending a leadership conference, scheduled to be held Nov. 7-10 at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, said Robin Williams, BSU parliamentarian. Yet Williams said more than $500 is still needed for lodging for the members.

"I'm not going to say whether or not we are going to have it (the $500) or not," Williams said. "Hopefully we will get donations from other organizations."

"Between all the fraternities and sororities (under the National Panhellenic Council), we should be able to get at least $100 in donations," said BSU member Shalonda Randle.

Williams said if no additional money is collected for transportation, members attending the conference will have to pay about $30 from their own pockets to cover lodging, which is in addition to the $55 registration already paid for the conference.

Williams said although the group's fundraising is supposed to meet the remaining need, he said they're "not betting on it."

The BSU announced that President Stan Rives will be attending its Nov. 12 meeting to answer questions and here concerns of members concerning fundraising for the organization.

"The main issue we will be addressing toward Rives will be funding for the BSU," said BSU President Kevin Evans. "We will be in direct contact with him (Rives) so we can get direct feedback from him. It should help."

BSU members submitted questions and concerns aimed towards Rives after the meeting. Evans said the Black Student Union executive board will review the questions and determine which ones will be presented to Rives at the meeting.

Evans also said the BSU will accept donations for the conference at the Student Activities Office located on the second floor of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

In addition, the BSU announced its first meeting for candidates for the Miss Black EIU Pageant, which is scheduled to be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Oakland Room of the University Union.

Student Senate to hold education forum

By CHARLENE BURRIS
Staff writer

The Student Senate will hold a "Get to Know Your Student Government Forum" to educate students, organizations and the administration on the purpose and activities of the senate.

The forum will be held at 6 p.m. on Nov. 7 in the University Ballroom of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

The senate will discuss the forum at its regular meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Arcola-Tuscola Room of the Union.

Student Body President Martha Price, Executive Vice President Kristy Koch, Financial Vice President Steve Macaluso, and Blake Wood, speaker of the senate, will speak on various topics concerning the senate and its activities, Wood said.

"There hasn't been a forum like this in many years," Wood said. "I hope it's going to be a big success."

Invitations went out to the administration, the Faculty Senate and recognized student organizations, Wood said. The forum is also open to the public.

In conjunction with the informational forum, an election forum will be held at 7 p.m. on Nov. 5 in Coleman Hall Room 120, he added.

“There hasn't been a forum like this in many years

Blake Wood
speaker of the senate

This forum is designed for the public to meet the candidates running in the fall Student Government elections, which will be held on Nov. 13, Wood said.

A new approach will be taken for the forum, he noted. A panel consisting of members from the Black Student Union, The Daily Eastern News, a graduate student, the Interfraternity Council, the Panhellenic Council and the Residence Hall Association will ask the candidates questions. The audience will also have the opportunity to add questions, Wood said.

Over 20 people have applied for the 15 senate seats open this fall, he added.

Student input welcome for concert

By LIZ SZORC
Staff writer

A survey set to be filled out by Eastern students hopes to give the University Board's concert committee additional input for a spring concert.

Jason Dotson, concert committee chair, said the survey will consist of a list of possible entertainers, and was put together by a committee mainly because of the cancellation of the fall concert.

"The reason we did this is to get students' opinions," Dotson said.

Dotson said he and his committee hope to see a lot of response to the survey.

"We would like to see students come forward and let the committee know how they feel and think," he said.

The survey, which will be printed in the The Daily Eastern News, is to be returned to room 201 in the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Clarification

To clarify a point quoted by The News from Lucy Gomes in Monday's paper, the National Residence Hall Honorary and the Association of International Students held a talent show Monday as one event to get each group to do more activities with other campus groups, not because the organizations are not well-known on campus.

The News regrets the error.

Abortion case may be conservative court's first test

With Clarence Thomas' ascension to the Supreme Court, conservative justices now hold a 7-2 majority on the nation's highest judicial body.

And that majority has led many individuals to question whether the Court will reverse its 20+ year record of protecting civil rights.

Specifically, there are questions as to whether the Court will reverse its 1973 Roe v. Wade decision that legalized abortion.

A Pennsylvania abortion law, which was recently upheld by a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and may work its way up to the high court, may prove to be Thomas' and the conservative court's first test in this area.

The Pennsylvania law, struck down by the Court in 1986 as an unconstitutional interference with "women's constitutional right to end their pregnancies," mandates a 24-hour waiting period for women who seek abortions and requires doctors to inform their patients about fetal developments and alternatives to abortion.

The Court's decision on this law, which may not be terribly controversial by itself, may set the tone for its future rulings on women's rights to have an abortion and on other civil rights issues.

We don't believe that the presence of a conservative majority on the Court necessarily translates either into a reversal of the civil rights rulings of the past 20 years or into a disregard for such rights by the Court.

Justice is justice; there should be no difference between conservative justice and liberal justice.

Through its ruling on the Pennsylvania case, the Supreme Court can demonstrate its commitment to such justice.

After all, there should be no distinction between conservative and liberal on such issues as women's rights and civil rights.

Rather, rights of the individual should remain paramount in a democratic society.

Eastern's greek population is not all that bad

I guess by the look of things money isn't the root of all evil; it's the greeks.

At least that what it seems like according to Jeff Fredricks. I don't know about you, but I am really getting fed-up listening to everybody whining about how horrible and evil the greek system is here. Come on, how much longer do we have to listen to people drone on how the greeks are the cause of problems on campus and were only put on this earth to do evil and nasty things?

Apparently a long time.

By the way some people act towards greeks around this campus, it's a good thing Adolph Hitler isn't the student body president. Otherwise he might turn Greek Court into a concentration camp. Then I guess wearing greek letters around campus wouldn't be a show of support for your fraternity or sorority, but a tag to show you are marked.

Fredricks has chosen to stereotype the entire greek system as the "immature cliques and ego-centered groups" he encountered during high school. He also believes "greek life is nothing more than a group of people, with an extensive need to consume alcohol, that are willing to sacrifice their identities to conform to the standards laid down by the friends they've bought!"

Now I know what a lot of you are thinking. "Durnell must be greek or something like that. Why else would she defend these people?"

Let me make a few things clear: I'm not greek; I have never been greek and have no desire to become a greek. For a short time my freshman year I was a little sister for a fraternity and many of the people I became friends with, I still talk to. When I first arrived on this campus I believed the stereotype that every greek would be conceited and egotistical but, after meeting some of them during my short time as a little sister I was proven wrong.

I also have other few friends and acquaintances throughout my three years here who are part of the greek system, and they are not "nothing more than a group of insecure people, with an extensive need to consume alcohol, that are willing to sacrifice their identities to conform to the standards laid down by friends they've bought!"

Fredricks says he used to be bothered by the "in-crowd" attitude the greek system has, but now he "can see just how silly they really are and laugh." Well apparently not, because he's droning on about what a problem they are on page four.

By all means though, fraternities and sororities are not totally innocent and do deserve criticism at times.

Among those that have faced their share of controversy were former Eastern fraternities Sigma Tau Gamma and Phi Sigma Kappa.

I'm not about to put all greeks on a pedestal believing they are high and mighty and can do no wrong because just like the greeks I get along with, I have also encountered a few greeks I cannot stand and think are absolute jerks.

But I also know many non-greeks around this campus I cannot stand and think are absolute jerks. In any working or social capacity you are going to meet people who are pig-headed, conceited, loud, rude and obnoxious and are not necessarily going to be wearing greek letters.

In either argument no one is going to win. Either some greeks are going to say the non-greeks don't understand or the non-greeks will say the greeks are elitist. No one wants to understand one another and would rather say that this group is conceited and that this group is ignorant.

Greeks aren't the root of all evil. It's stereotyping.

-Laura Durnell is a staff writer and a columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Your turn

Reader: Don't believe the hype

Dear editor:

It's good to remember when reading articles like Doug Hettinger's (The Daily Eastern News, Oct. 24) that there is a basic incompatibility between conservative goals and what they must make people believe their goals to be. Conservatism is by definition that political ideology which tends to conserve and even increase the power and wealth of the powerful and wealthy, at the expense of the majority.

It is sad but true that so many people have been brainwashed into believing in such Orwellian conservative concepts as trickle-down economics and peace through war.

In the case of Doug Hettinger there is of course the obvious lie: the White Student Union doesn't exist. Then there is the basic error in his "research": the conclusions that he and his conservative mentors will draw rest on the assumption that a group dedicated to the concerns of underprivileged people (black or hispanic in this case) is morally and politically equivalent to one advocating the concerns of an overprivileged group (white people). Of course the conservatives know that there is a difference, but it is useful to them to claim that there is none.

The biggest lie, however, is that the news media are liberal. Just read many mainstream newspaper and count how many times the viewpoints of a George Bush or a James Baker are given without any critical analysis or opposing statements. How many stories have you read about the more than 50,000 children who died as a result of our bombing of Iraq? None.

In the case of The Daily Eastern News, why is it that a conservative like Hettinger is allowed nearly the entire editorial page, while guest columnists are usually restricted to less than half a page in order to leave room for the staff opinion and the conservative cartoon?

The News also edits out too-far-left titles of contributed pieces. I wrote an article on March 12 against the war and called it "George Bush's War," and it came out as "Bush wasn't proportional in his war." I wrote another article on April 16 called "Article supports dominant ideology"; this got changed to "Media has major influence on public perceptions of war."

I'm calling this one "Don't Believe the Hype." Don't take things at face value: you'll be suprised at how far from reality the conservatives really are.

Chicago comedian to perform in Union

By NANCY WALKER
Staff writer

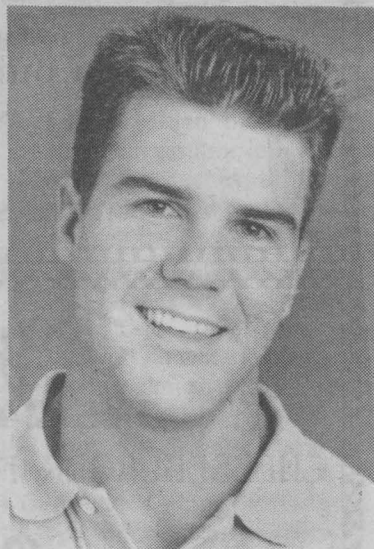

A Chicago comedian who has recently performed on MTV's Half-Hour Comedy Hour is set to take the stage on Eastern's campus Wednesday night.

Comedian Paul Gilmartin will be performing at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Rathskeller of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Subway Coordinator Cathy Enz said she "called comedy clubs for good recommendations," in the hopes of finding someone from the general area to perform.

Gilmartin, who is originally from the northern Chicago suburbs, was a comedian suggested by a Chicago area comedy club, Enz said.

The comedian, who is in his

mid-20's, currently has been traveling on the comedy club circuit. Besides appearing on MTV's Half-Hour Comedy Hour, Gilmartin has also performed on Caroline's Comedy Hour.

"(Gilmartin is) topical, he's funny about things that are going on now," Enz said.

According to Enz, Gilmartin can provide a "good tension release," for students.

The show can also be an "alternative to going out and about for pre-Halloween," Enz added.

Enz said she would like to see the results of calling the various comedy clubs by seeing how the students react to the comedian.

The University Board tries to sponsor at least one comedian a month, Enz said.

Comedian Chris Pendleton will be the next performer sponsored by the University Board on Nov. 6.

Faculty interviewing seminar scheduled

By PATTY CULHANE
Staff writer

A workshop for Eastern's faculty and administration supervisors entitled "Interviewing: Making the Right Match," will be conducted at 9 a.m. Wednesday in room 1895 of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

John Ady of the Champaign-based consulting firm John R. Ady and Associates will be instructing on the process of conducting a successful job interview.

"There are three main topics of the lecture," said John Irwin, a training and development specialist from the Human Resource Department.

Irwin said the workshop is scheduled to last until 11 a.m.

Irwin - the organizer of the lecture - said he developed the lecture so Eastern's faculty could learn how to develop key questions, format fair and impartial interviews and understand legal considerations.

Other topics, such as preparations for interviews and the development of key questions, will also be discussed.

Irwin believes this workshop

- which costs $18 to attend - is important because "knowing how to conduct an interview is a genuine skill which most management doesn't already know.

"One of the most critical needs of a campus is getting the right people which will fit into the existing system," he said.

According to Irwin, Ady is well respected throughout the Midwest and at Big Ten schools.

He is also the former director of personnel and public relations for Illinois Consolidated Telephone Communications in Mattoon.

Eastern grad will host book sale in Paris

By JAMIE RILEY
Administration editor

Two authors - one a graduate from Eastern - will be hosting the third annual Booklovers Day at The Book Shelf in near-by Paris.

Allen Englebright, a 1964 Eastern graduate, and Theresa Weir of Gladstone, will be promoting their books at the store on Saturday.

According to Book Shelf owner Damita Lewis, Englebright will be promoting "Decision Time in Dapro School District," his debut novel which explores the problem of education in the form of a fictitious novel.

She said the novel relates complex problems facing public education and touches on sensitive subjects that exist in every school district.

Lewis said the biggest attraction for Eastern students would be meeting an author who is an Eastern graduate.

Englebright teaches English and social studies at Mayo Middle School in Paris.

He insists the characters in his novel are stereotypes of teachers, administrators and board members that he has known in his 20 years of teaching.

Although distribution of the book is currently limited to The Book Shelf and bookstores in the author's hometown of Fairfield, Lewis said she believes the distribution will grow.

She also said Englebright is currently working on a second novel.

Weir will present and autograph her newest novel, "Forever," which is a story about a man whose memory loss allows him a fresh start in life.

Lewis said Weir is the author of several books, including the award-winning "Amazon Lily" and has also written for several series, including "Silhouette Romance" and "Silhouette Intimate Moments."

Other events scheduled for the annual celebration include a sports card show and several giveaways, including roses, books and dinners.

Six sports card dealers will be selling and trading cards.

In addition, Lewis said a book distributor from Fort Wayne, Ind., will present at the Booklovers Day.

The distributor, Lewis added, will pass out 10 copies of poetry books by Emily Dickinson at the event.

College gets first woman president

CARLINVILLE (AP) - Miriam Pride, acting president of Blackburn College since July, has been named the school's new president.

Pride, 43, is the first woman president in the college's 154-year history.

Pride came to Blackburn in 1989 as assistant for campus life to then-President David Brown. She was named vice president for administration in 1990 and became acting president this year, when Brown resigned because of his wife's illness.

Pride said she was attracted to Blackburn because it is a "work college" - one where all students are expected to work in some area of the college as part of their educational experience.

"I'm not sure I would want to be president at just any college," she said Monday. "But in a small liberal arts college, particularly a work college, we have something very special to give to students. We prepare students very well for the workplace. And we have something special to say about the education of the whole person." Maintaining Blackburn's liberal arts and work college traditions will be an important part of her role as president, she said.

She noted that admissions personnel are trying to bring enrollment up to 550 to 600 students from the current 485.

Ms. Pride came to Blackburn from Berea College in Kentucky, one of the country's other work colleges. She was at Berea from 1972-89.

Born in China to missionary parents, she has also lived in New England but she considers Kentucky her home.

She has a bachelor's degree in English from the College of Wooster in Ohio and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Kentucky.

AIDS victim sentenced to abstinence

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - A 27-year-old man has been sentenced to sexual abstinence for five years and house arrest for six months for knowingly spreading the AIDS virus by having sex with a girlfriend.

Alberto Gonzalez, who was accused of infecting 22-year-old Bridgett Pederson, pleaded no contest Monday to third-degree assault, a felony, and two misdemeanor counts of recklessly endangering others.

Prosecutors dismissed nine other charges, including a count of first-degree assault that alleged Gonzalez used a dangerous weapon - the AIDS virus - to intentionally inflict serious injury.

David Peters, the deputy district attorney who prosecuted Gonzalez, said Tuesday he would have been able to show that Gonzalez knew he carried the virus when he began his relationship with Pederson.

Shawn Hop, a previous girlfriend who would have been a key witness for the prosecution, has said she and Gonzalez both discovered that they were AIDS infected in 1988.

"He intentionally kept girlfriend one and girlfriend two from ever meeting," Peters said. "He consciously kept the second one from getting the information she would have needed to protect herself." Pederson has said she met Gonzalez in 1989, and that they found out they both were HIV positive when they visited a plasma center last year.

She later went to authorities to complain about other domestic problems involving Gonzalez. Police then learned of the circumstances under which she was infected, Peters said.

Both women said they fear Gonzalez has infected others. They said he frequented nightclubs and often made advances toward other women, even during his relationships with them.

Pederson remains in good health. Gonzalez told Multnomah County District Judge Janice R. Wilson that he suffers slight symptoms of AIDS.

The third-degree charge accused him of causing injury recklessly and with extreme indifference to human life.

Gonzalez was given a one-year prison term. But instead of going to prison, he will remain at home for six months wearing an electronic surveillance bracelet when he's not working at his job as a cabinet maker.

Gonzalez told the judge he had no problem complying.

"I have every regard for the public safety, my family's safety and my safety," he said.

Bush, Gorbachev urge peace

MADRID, Spain (AP) — President Bush and Mikhail Gorbachev urged Middle East antagonists on the eve of a historic peace conference to put aside ancient feuds and "act responsibly with great understanding." Israel and Palestinians made last-minute declarations of good intentions.

A senior Palestinian official signaled new flexibility on Tuesday, endorsing negotiations for autonomy within the occupied territories, as Israel has demanded, rather than immediate statehood.

And Israel said it would participate in the talks despite attacks on its soldiers in Lebanon and on settlers in the Israeli-occupied West Bank.

"Let's just open the conference and start working," Gorbachev said at a joint news conference with Bush at the Soviet Embassy.

Promised Bush: "We are here to be a catalyst." There was an air of suspense and anticipation as the world awaited the first Mideast peace conference in nearly two decades and the first-ever direct, formal negotiations among Israel and all her Arab neighbors, including the Pal-

Bush reassures Gorbachev

MADRID, Spain (AP) — President Bush on Tuesday wrapped a reassuring arm around Mikhail Gorbachev, declaring that the embattled Soviet leader is the man the United States will "deal with" in renewed talks to reduce long-range nuclear weapons.

In their first face-to-face meeting since the abortive Soviet coup three months ago, Bush also promised food and other humanitarian aid to help Gorbachev's economically weak nation. But he gave no indication at their joint news conference that he was prepared to provide direct financial assistance.

Together, Bush and Gorbachev will open the historic Mideast peace conference on Wednesday. And after their two-hour lunch Tuesday they appealed to Arabs and Israelis to reconcile their differences.

Bush used the news conference to stress his respect for the Soviet leader and his determination to keep working with him in the face of pressure from individual Soviet republics for separate dealings with the United States.

"I have had a history of very satisfactory negotiations with President Gorbachev," Bush said.

He said his administration and the American people support Gorbachev in seeking Soviet reform, "and so we'll deal with what's there."

"And I am very happy to see my friend again." After the coup attempt, which left Gorbachev under arrest for three days, Bush's opinion of Gorbachev did not change.

Bush and Gorbachev, cosponsors of the conference, will convene the meeting on Wednesday. The actual negotiations, if they stay on track, could stretch into months or even years.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir has offered the Arab nations peace after 43 years of conflict, but has ruled out relinquishing territory.

Cox is NL Manager of the Year

NEW YORK (AP) - Bobby Cox became the first to win manager of the year in both leagues when he was voted National League Manager of the Year on Tuesday by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Cox, the 1985 American League Manager of the Year with the Toronto Blue Jays, led the Braves to their first pennant since moving from Atlanta to Milwaukee in 1966.

Atlanta, the worst team in baseball in 1990 at 65-97, finished 94-68 this year and won the NL West title for the first time since 1982. The Braves, along with the Minnesota Twins, became the first major league teams this century to go from last to first.

The Braves beat the Los Angeles Dodgers by one game to win the division, beat Pittsburgh in seven games in the NL playoffs, then lost to Minnesota in seven games in the World Series.

"It was just a great year to manage with this ballclub," said Cox, who began his second stint as Atlanta manager during the 1990 season. "I'm a very lucky guy." Cox got 13 first-place votes, 10 seconds and one third for 96 points, easily beating Pittsburgh manager Jim Leyland, who got 74 points. Leyland received nine votes for first, seven for second and eight for third.

Joe Torre of the St. Louis Cardinals was third with 41 points, getting two first-place votes, seven seconds and 10 thirds. Tommy Lasorda of the Dodgers got five third-place votes and finished fourth.

"I don't take this honor lightly," Cox said. "You also don't get to achieve something like this without good players and staff." Two weeks ago, Cox was selected as The Associated Press major league manager the year.

"I feel great about this," Cox said. "But going into a season, as well as going out, these are things you really don't think about until it happens." He began his major league managing career with the Braves from 1978-81 and managed the Toronto Blue Jays from 1982-85, winning the AL East in 1985.

He returned to the Braves as general manager late in 1985 and took over as manager, too, when he fired Russ Nixon on June 22, 1990. Atlanta was 40-57 under Cox and finished last for the third consecutive year.

Yankees select Showalter while Plummer is in as Seattle skipper

NEW YORK (AP) - Three weeks after being fired as a coach by the New York Yankees, Buck Showalter was named the team's manager today.

Following the dismissal of manager Stump Merrill at the end of the season, Yankees general manager Gene Michael told Showalter that he was not being considered and should pursue other opportunities. But Michael was asked by ownership to consider Showalter as a candidate.

"I want to go on record and say I'm 100 percent for this and he has my support," Michael said. "He was not my first choice, but he is now." Showalter, 35, has been in the Yankees organization for 15 years as a player, coach and manager. He was given a one-year contract for about $200,000.

"After I was fired, I was worried what I was going to do with all that Yankee paraphernalia," Showalter joked. "Gene called me and said the Yankees wanted me back and it didn't take me long to decide." Showalter was dismissed Oct. 7 when the Yankees dumped Merrill and five coaches.

At first, Michael said he wanted to replace Merrill with a man who had major league managerial experience. Three former managers - Doug Rader, Hal Lanier and Davey Johnson - were believed to be his top choices.

Meanwhile, Showalter became a candidate for the vacant job at Seattle. That job went Tuesday to Bill Plummer.

Showalter - a popular figure with the players and a former minor-league teammate of Yankees captain Don Mattingly - graduated from Mississippi State, where he batted a school-record

.459. He played in the Yankees' minor-league system from 1977-83, coached at Fort Lauderdale in 1984, then turned to managing.

His teams finished first at Oneonta in 1985 and 1986, at Fort Lauderdale in 1987 and Albany in 1989, when he was named Eastern League Manager of the Year.

The naming of Showalter and Plummer leaves three managerial jobs - Milwaukee, the Chicago Cubs and Chicago White Sox - still open.

SEATTLE (AP) - Bill Plummer, backup catcher with the powerful Cincinnati Reds teams of the mid-1970s, will be the new manager of the Seattle Mariners, a team spokesman confirmed today.

Spokesman Dave Aust said Plummer was chosen as the manager Monday night. A news conference was to be held Tuesday to announce the decision.

Plummer, 44, was the Mariners' third-base coach this season, when the club broke .500 for the first time at 83-79 under manager Jim Lefebvre. Lefebvre's three-year contract expired at the end of the season and was not renewed.

Plummer was flying to Seattle today from his home near Redding, Calif., and closing the deal, which will pay him about $300,000 this season and next, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer reported.

Mariners players were pleased by the choice. "This is great news," said All-Star centerfielder Ken Griffey Jr., who had lobbied for Plummer. "He has the respect of the players already. I don't know of a guy on this team who wouldn't want to play for him."

Eastern's volleyball team went to Southern Illinois University at Carbondale Tuesday looking for its first Gateway Conference win, but came back with a winless conference mark.

The Salukis, who improved its conference record to 2-1 and their overall record to 12-13, downed the Lady Panthers, who are now 0-3 in conference and 10-16 overall, 2-15, 6-15, 15-13, 7-15.

"We started out extremely slow in that first game," said Eastern coach Betty Ralston. "We came along a little bit in the second game."

"We did real well in the third game. The hitters started to hit and things went our way," Ralston said.

In the fourth game Southern jumped out to an 8-0 lead and Eastern couldn't manage a comeback.

"Their blockers did a real good job. They shut us down," Ralston said about Southern's blockers. The Salukis outblocked Eastern 13-5.

Sophomore Susie Green led the way for Eastern. She had 16 kills and 12 digs to lead the team in both categories. Junior Beth Foster had nine kills and sophomore Kim Traub had eight kills in the losing cause.

"It was a long month of October on the road," Ralston said.

allowed nine goals and has a GAA of 0.81.

Zaber posts a record of 5-0-1 in his six starts and has allowed two goals all season, which is tops in the Midwest.

Clarke said that when you are highly ranked you must fear every opponent and Eastern is no exception.

"Eastern is a very good team," Clarke said. "We knew that Eastern would be one of our toughest opponents on our schedule."

The Eastern squad will look to counter the talented Billiken team with its one-two scoring punch of senior LeBaron Hollimon and freshman forward Paul Agyeman.

LeBaron Hollimon

Hollimon has scored nine goals this season and has assisted on six others, while Agyeman has 24 points on 10 goals and four assists.

Head coach Cizo Mosnia said that a victory over St. Louis would definitely be a feather in the teams cap.

"Every game is big on our schedule," Mosnia said. "But with the situation as it is right now (no chance at a Mid-Con title), it gives us much more incentive against them."

"A victory would help the situation out. No matter what kind of season we are having, a victory over St. Louis is always a big accomplishment for our team."

Proposed changes won't affect Illinois Marathon

CHICAGO (AP) - Proposed changes to the NCAA's investigation and discipline procedures might not have lightened penalties against the University of Illinois but they would have helped reduce the damage, says Illini basketball coach Lou Henson.

The proposed changes include a procedure to settle alleged violations quickly. The NCAA investigated Illinois' recruiting practices for 16 months before handing down sanctions, keeping the investigation in the headlines and the public consciousness.

"We'd have been a lot better off because of the adverse publicity," Henson said Monday.

The basketball team was barred from post-season play for the 1990-91 season, has completed one of three years of probation and has restrictions on recruiting and scholarships.

The proposals also include open hearings, tape-recorded interviews and sharing transcripts and recordings with all parties.

Illinois President Stanley Ikenberry agreed with Henson that long investigations take their toll. Ikenberry pushed for the changes proposed Monday by a special committee set up by the NCAA.

"With a complete sharing of the information - all the information - we can allow institutions to take over for 60 to 90 days, thus speeding up the process and reducing both the financial and human costs," said Ikenberry.

"Even though I'm not completely satisfied, I agree with the current direction," he said.

Henson said the changes would be a good start but long overdue.

"This should have been done 40 years ago. At last, we're getting around to it," he said. "It appears that we're making progress." The state this year passed legislation requiring the NCAA to follow many of the same procedures when investigating Illinois colleges. The law bars the use of illegally obtained evidence, allows cross-examination of witnesses and requires speedy hearings.

Another recommended change was to adopt a conflict-of-interest policy establishing circumstances in which an NCAA enforcement staffer could not be involved in a case. Ikenberry and Illinois Chancellor Morton Weir pushed for that change after the recruiting investigation, which involved prep stars Deon Thomas and LaPhonso Ellis.

Thomas also was recruited by Big Ten rival Iowa, and Ellis went to Notre Dame. The NCAA put an Iowan, Randy Rueckert, in charge of the Thomas portion of the investigation and a Notre Dame graduate, Bob Minnix, in charge of the Ellis portion.

The major charges against Illinois - including allegations that the university offered cash, cars and other inducements to the players - were dropped. The NCAA Committee on Infractions imposed penalties for "lack of institutional control." Coaches and others at Illinois, Missouri, UNLV, Florida and other schools have questioned the impartiality of the Infractions Committee. Illinois officials complained the NCAA fact-finders became prosecutors and then got intertwined with the infractions jury.

isn't a one time deal for Dosier, a native of Canton. He has already signed up to run in the St. Louis Marathon on Nov. 24.

"I've made the decision that anything that I do running is for him," he said. "He was paralyzed from the waist down and this is something I knew I could do for him."

Deitche, who is also signed up to run in St. Louis, will try to recuperate and make the St. Louis race.

"The chances aren't for me to make the St. Louis race," the South Holland resident said. "But if someone asked me if I could of run a marathon two and a half months ago I would of said no, too."

Booter's set to take on the Billikens

By KEN RYAN
Associate sports editor

A victory over St. Louis University might not help much as far as the Mid-Continent standings are concerned, but it would definitely be a big accomplishment for the Eastern soccer team.

The Panthers, who have a 3-3-1 conference record and have been eliminated from the Mid-Con race, will look to knock off the Billikens in a 2 p.m. contest Wednesday at Lakeside Field. The Panthers would have to come up with a strong performance if they plan on upsetting the Billikens.

St. Louis is currently ranked fourth in the country by Soccer America and have a record of 14-1-2, including 4-0 in the Great Midwest conference. Their lone loss came at the hands of sixth-ranked Indiana University, which beat them 2-1. The Billikens' two ties were against Stanford (1-1) and fifth-ranked San Diego State (0-0).

St. Louis head coach Joe Clarke said that he attributes much of the teams success to the entire squad contributing.

"We generally play good overall games," Clarke said. "We have a total team effort and our scoring has been balanced all year."

Leading the way for the balanced Billiken attack is Brian McBride, who was the leading scorer on last year's team that finished 18-5-2. McBride has nearly matched last season's 29 points on 12 goals and five assists, as he has already scored 11 goals and assisted on five others. He also has three game-winning shots for St. Louis.

Mike Sorber has matched McBride with three game-winning goals of his own and is also second in the Midwest with 12 assists.

Despite their almost unblemished record Clarke said that there are still areas the team has to work on.

"We need to pass the ball quicker," Clarke said. "You always need to pass the ball quicker and we can also defend better."

One area that is not a weakness on this Billiken team is at the goaltending position. The St. Louis team has shutout their opponents nine times this season and have only allowed 11 goals,

Shaun Fogarty has whitewashed five teams, sharing one with Jay Zaber, who has four shutouts to his credit. Fogarty has appeared in 11 games and has a record of 9-1-1. He has only

Wolves cut ex-Panther Jay Taylor

In his third bid to latch on with an NBA squad, former Eastern star Jay Taylor has come up short again.

The 6-foot-3 guard from Aurora was released Monday morning by the Minnesota Timberwolves, who must cut their roster to 12 men by Friday - the opening day of the 1991-92 NBA season.

Of the seven preseason games the Timberwolves played, Taylor, the all-time leading scorer in Panther history, took part in six. He played 47 minutes and scored 13 points on 6-14 shooting.

Besides Taylor, the 1989 Association of Mid-Continent Universities Player of the Year, three others were sent packing including fellow guard Jim Farmer.

Taylor was released by the New Jersey Nets his first year out of college and failed to make the Milwaukee Bucks last season. His father, Frank, said he doesn't have any idea what his son is headed for now.

"He was talking about the Phillipines or the Continental Basketball Association previous to this deal," he said. "I haven't heard from him yet."

Taylor has had stints with the CBA's Wichita Falls, Texans and Grand Rapids Hoops as well as the World Basketball League's Nashville Stars.

The Timberwolves, who are under the leadership of first-year head coach Jimmy Rodgers, kept five guards on their roster including Jerome Richardson, rookie Myron Brown, Scott Brooks, Doug West and swingman Tony Campbell.

Thomas Hall pair run in marathon

By DON O'BRIEN
Sports editor

While most of the Eastern student body was sleeping in on their Sunday morning, a pair of Thomas Hall residents were among 8,000 people busy running the Chicago Marathon.

While the reasons for running the marathon were different for David Dosier, a senior sociology major, and Scott Deitche, a graduate student studying pre-med, their goal was the same; to finish the 26 mile, 385 yard course.

Both accomplished their goal as Dosier, who is also a resident assistant in Thomas Hall, finished in four hours and 22 minutes and Deitche finished in four hours and 49 minutes. It was both runners first attempt in running a marathon, which was won by Joselido Sliva of Brazil in two hours and 13 minutes.

Dosier was running the race in memory of his late brother Jerry, who passed away in a car accident a year ago at the age of 36.

"I decided to run in the race in May in memory of my brother," said Dosier. "This just seemed like an opportunity to do something on my own for him."

Dosier said the number he wore on Sunday will be put at Jerry's gravesite and the medal he received for finishing the race in less than five hours will be given to his wife.

Deitche, who attempted to walk-on with the Eastern track team two years ago, said that his involvement in the marathon came when he met Dosier earlier in the semester.

"I've always been an avid three-mile runner and always enjoyed running," he said. "I worked off of his motivation and he carried me quite a bit and he was very good at keeping my head in the game."

The training leading up to the race wasn't easy for Dosier and Deitche. Dosier described their workout as four days of moderate runs (five to 10 miles), an off-day, a hard day of running (10-15 miles) and another off day.

All of the hard work payed off for the pair as they both said the marathon was an experience to remember.

"It was one of the best things I've ever done in my life," Deitche said. "I can't believe how much excitement we packed into one weekend."

"It was an experience of a lifetime," said Dosier. "The people of Chicago were great. I didn't think that that many people would be there watching because if you see two or three people run by, why would you want to watch 8,000 people run by? But there were people that sat there for three or four hours cheering the runners on."

Dosier and Deitche weren't alone during the race as a group of eight friends and family cheered them on during the race which was an added lift to the runners.

"Even though we only saw them for 10 seconds at a time, it was neat to hear people call your name and to see people that you know," Dosier said.

There were also various ups and downs for the two runners during the course of their journey. While the pair were crossing the 14-mile mark, they were lucky enough to see Silva cross the finish line as the winner of the race. Another plus for the pair came as they ran through the south side of Chicago.

"The best part of the race was running through the south side," Dosier said. "Bands were playing and kids were coming up to the runners and asking for high fives. Scott and I hit almost all of

"Just slapping those kids on the hand was the least we could do for them," said Deitche. "That's what it was all about. To some extent it was half of the reason we were there because they were having fun. It was just a big festival."

The fun stopped for Deitche around the 18-mile mark when his right knee gave out on him and forced him to slow down the pace he and Dosier were running.

"The leg started to give out in training and broke down a week before the race, but I put it out of my mind on race day and the leg felt great," he said. "At the 18-mile mark it gave out again and I had to drag the leg while walking and skipping my way to the finish line."

Dosier, who won his age group (20-24 year olds) at a 10 kilometer race in Paris on Sept. 21, stayed with his companion until the 20-mile mark but broke away then to finish the race on his own.

"I felt miserable to slow him down," said Deitche, who apparently suffered some tendon damage to his knee. "After a while I was glad to see him go ahead and finish the race on his own."

The Chicago run for his brother
