FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHARLESTON, IL--A faculty member from Longbrough University of Technology in England will speak to a number of classes and will give two public lectures during a visit to Eastern Illinois University March 21-25.

Robin Jones will be the fourth guest lecturer from England in four years. He will discuss dance for men, teacher preparation in the United Kingdom, comparative sports programs in Russia, Eastern Germany and England, and socialized medicine in the U.K.

On Wednesday, March 23 at 7 p.m. in the Phipps Lecture Hall (Old Science Building), Jones will present a slide/talk on sports facilities and programs he has seen in Russia and Eastern Germany.

Jones will conduct a health, physical education and recreation seminar on Tuesday, March 22 at 7 p.m. in the Varsity Lounge, Lantz Building. Dr. Walter Lowell, host for this presentation, said interested persons were welcome to attend.

John E. Schaefer, who will be Jones' host for his stay in Charleston, said Longbrough University "is a world-renowned institution for developing physical education programs."

Representatives from the University have assisted several countries in developing sports colleges and universities, he said. Several of its graduates are teaching in the United States.

Schaefer was a Hayes/Fulbright exchange teacher in England in 1978-79 and was a guest lecturer at Longbrough.
