Community Invited to EIU Health Fair

Nov-08-2011

The community is invited to learn more about health topics, as well as local and statewide health resources, at the 14th annual Health Fair at Eastern Illinois University on Wednesday, Nov. 16.

The free event, set for 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Student Recreation Center, is to feature many vendors from EIU, Charleston community and beyond. Games will be available, and door prizes will be awarded.

The Health Fair, sponsored by EIU's Health Service and Health Education Resource Center, provides an opportunity for vendors to raise awareness of their organizations, as well as an opportunity for attendees to gain a greater understanding of their personal health and where they can go to increase their health and wellness.
