Course policies:

--regular attendance is required. Missing classes, especially when papers are being read will affect your final grade.

--deadlines are critical and must be met consistently. There will be times when this will be flexible, but regularly blowing deadlines will affect your final grade. This also means showing up on time to class, especially when papers are being passed out.

--discussion counts. When we're talking about the papers people have written, how much you participate will affect your final grade.
