

6-15-2000

06/15/2000 - EIU Holds School of Technology Awards Program

University Marketing and Communications

Follow this and additional works at: https://thekeep.eiu.edu/press_releases_2000

Recommended Citation

University Marketing and Communications, "06/15/2000 - EIU Holds School of Technology Awards Program" (2000). 2000. 131.
https://thekeep.eiu.edu/press_releases_2000/131

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Press Releases at The Keep. It has been accepted for inclusion in 2000 by an authorized administrator of The Keep. For more information, please contact tabruns@eiu.edu.

00-135

June 15, 2000

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

EIU HOLDS SCHOOL OF TECHNOLOGY AWARDS PROGRAM

CHARLESTON – Eastern Illinois University held its School of Technology 2000 Scholarship and Awards Program on April 25.

Recipients and their awards are:

CRETE – Martin R. Wolfe, son of Randy and Rebecca Wolfe of Crete; 1996 graduate of Crete Monee High School; graduate student, Master of Science in technology degree program; received the Kenneth & Keith Kohanzo Industrial Technology Scholarship, established in 1998 by Kenneth Kohanzo and given annually to a major in industrial technology who has completed 60 semester hours of credit and shows outstanding promise of success in the field of technology.

DAHLGREN – Jeffrey R. Bowling, son of John and Vicki Bowling of Dahlgren; 1996 graduate of McLeansboro High School; senior industrial technology major; received the Walter A. Klehm Industrial Technology Award, established in 1976 by Walter A. Klehm, former chair of the industrial arts department from 1938 to 1970 and dean of the School of Industrial Arts and Technology from 1970 until his retirement; given to a major in industrial technology who has completed a minimum of 30 semester hours of credit and shows outstanding promise in the field of technology.

–more–

ADD 1/1/1/1

INDUSTRIAL TECHNOLOGY AWARDS

FISHER – John M. Cook, son of Ron and Karen Cook of Fisher; 1997 graduate of Fisher High School; junior industrial technology major; received the Roy E. Ehram Scholarship, established in 1979 by Florence Hart, sister of Roy E. Ehram, a postman in the Charleston area for a number of years who also worked as a carpenter and developed an intense interest in educating people for technical careers; given to a junior or senior technology education or industrial technology major who shows outstanding promise of success in the field of technology.

GIBSON CITY – Eric T. Wahls, son of Gerrald and Ida Wahls of Gibson City; 1996 graduate of Gibson City-Melvin-Sibley High School; senior industrial technology major; received the Lois E. Elliott Industrial Technology Scholarship, established in 1992 by Lois Elliott of Charleston and given to a major in technology education or industrial technology who has completed 60 semester hours of credit and who shows outstanding promise of success in the field of technology.

KANSAS – Michael R. Honnold, son of Paul and Joy Honnold of Kansas; 1997 graduate of Kansas High School; junior industrial technology major; received the Roy E. Ehram Scholarship, established in 1979 by Florence Hart, sister of Roy E. Ehram, a postman in the Charleston area for a number of years who also worked as a carpenter and developed an intense interest in educating people for technical careers; given to a junior or senior technology education or industrial technology major who shows outstanding promise of success in the field of technology.

–more–

ADD 2/2/2/2

INDUSTRIAL TECHNOLOGY AWARDS

LOCKPORT – John W. Tilleman, son of Evert and Kathleen Tilleman of Lockport; 1997 graduate of Lockport Township High School; junior industrial technology major; received the Walter A. Klehm Industrial Technology Award, established in 1976 by Walter A. Klehm, former chair of the industrial arts department from 1938 to 1970 and dean of the School of Industrial Arts and Technology from 1970 until his retirement; given to a major in industrial technology who has completed a minimum of 30 semester hours of credit and shows outstanding promise in the field of technology.

LOUISVILLE – Travis W. Hastings, son of Jack and Jennie Hastings of Louisville; 1997 graduate of Clay City High School; junior industrial technology major; received the Roy E. Ehram Scholarship, established in 1979 by Florence Hart, sister of Roy E. Ehram, a postman in the Charleston area for a number of years who also worked as a carpenter and developed an intense interest in educating people for technical careers; given to a junior or senior technology education or industrial technology major who shows outstanding promise of success in the field of technology.

ROCKFORD – Eric R. Schoembs, son of Ross and Mary Schoembs of Rockford; 1997 graduate of Jefferson High School in Rockford; junior technology education major; received the Lucille M. Klehm Technology Education Award, established in 1986 by former EIU industrial arts chair and dean Walter A. Klehm, in honor of his wife, Lucille, a long-standing supporter of the School of Technology; given to a major in technology education who has completed at least 30 semester hours of credit and who shows outstanding promise of success as a teacher of technology education.

–more–

ADD 3/3/3/3

INDUSTRIAL TECHNOLOGY AWARDS

STAUNTON – Gregory D. Lockhart, son of Dale and Deborah Lockhart of Staunton; 1996 graduate of Staunton High School; senior industrial technology major; received the John Henry American Society for Quality Award, given to undergraduate students from three universities, including EIU, ISU and UIUC, in honor of the late professor John Henry of UIUC, who pioneered the quality study and quality movement in the United States; also received the School of Technology Alumni Scholarship, established in 1987 from funds donated by the School of Technology alumni during the telefund drives, which are conducted each year; given to a senior or graduate student pursuing a master's degree and showing outstanding promise of success in the field of technology; also received the Society of Manufacturing Engineers Service Award, given to a student who has provided outstanding service and leadership to the Student Chapter of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers at Eastern Illinois University.

TINLEY PARK – Thomas M. Kens, son of Tom and Anne Kens of Tinley Park; 1993 graduate of Providence Catholic High School in New Lenox; junior industrial technology major; received the Residential Construction Employers Council Scholarship, given to a student in the School of Technology who has a concentration in construction. The recipient is selected by the Residential Construction Employers Council Scholarship Committee from applicants from several universities.

–more–

ADD 4/4/4/4

INDUSTRIAL TECHNOLOGY AWARDS

URBANA – Barry L. Mink, husband of Carolyn Mink of Urbana and father of Lauren and Alison; son of the late Dorothy L. Mink of Galesburg; 1979 graduate of Galesburg High School; graduate student, post-baccalaureate teaching degree in mathematics; received the Charles A. Elliott Technology Education Award, established in 1973 by Elliott, who was a member of the School of Technology faculty from 1945 to 1973; given to a technology education major who has completed 60 semester hours of credit and shows outstanding promise of success in the field of technology education.