FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHARLESTON, IL --Scholarships sponsored by the Illinois Health Improvement Association (IHIA) have been awarded to two Eastern Illinois University students.

Each scholarship carries a $500 stipend. They were awarded to Randy Joe Bolin of Charleston and Kathy Kalmor of Tuscola.

The grants are intended to help improve "the health and care of Illinois residents." Officials of the IHIA said students "should demonstrate the emotional and intellectual assets necessary to become a practising credit to a chosen health profession."

Bolin and Miss Kalmor were selected by faculty members from the School of Health, Recreation and Physical Education. The recipients are health education majors.
