FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHARLESTON, IL--The future of vocational education is the topic of a workshop at Eastern Illinois University Aug. 2-5, Monday through Thursday. Director will be James R. Galloway, Assistant State Superintendent, Department of Adult, Vocational and Technical Education, Illinois State Board of Education.

Dr. Charles Switzer, Director of Summer School, said the workshop will involve "issues, concerns, and the future of the state and national policy on vocational education, employment and training."

The course may be taken for either upper division undergraduate or graduate credit for one semester hour. Persons interested in registering may contact Switzer at (217) 581-2121. Classes will meet Monday through Thursday from 3:30 p.m. to 6:50 p.m.

As part of the Distinguished Visiting Faculty Series, Galloway will speak on "The Future of Vocational Education" on Tuesday, Aug. 3 at 7 p.m. in the Booth Library Lecture Hall. The lecture is open to the public without charge.

During the seminar, Switzer said, participants will interact with regional and national authorities actively involved in vocational education.

They include:

Carol Rhea, Associate Executive Director, State Advisory Council for Adult Vocational and Technical Education, Aug. 2;

Don Gentry, Indiana State Director of Vocational Education, Aug. 3;

Charles W. Radcliffe and Jack Jennings, staff members of the U.S. House of Representatives' on Education and Labor, Aug. 4;
