MICHELSON RECEIVES AWARD

CHARLESTON -- Stuart Michelson, associate professor of accountancy and finance, recently received the Instructional Award in Collaborative Learning from Eastern Illinois University's Lumpkin College of Business and Applied Sciences.

Collaborative learning can lead to integration of business core areas and cross-functional perspectives on organizational issues. It also promotes leadership development, team work and effective interpersonal communications. The recipient of this award must have contributed to the collaborative learning process in one or more classes during 1996.

Michelson, who received his doctorate from the University of Kansas, joined the EIU faculty in 1991.
