DELTA SIGMA PI RECEIVES HONOR

CHARLESTON -- Eastern Illinois University's Delta Sigma Pi Epsilon Omega Chapter has been ranked in the top 10 percent of national professional fraternity chapters for 1996.

"This is an honor that brings special distinction to Eastern Illinois University and the College of business," said Ted Ivarie, dean of the Lumpkin College of Business and Applied Sciences.

Delta Sigma Pi operates 173 chapters at business colleges, schools, and departments across the country whose activities focus on scholarship, management, professional events, service projects and participation in educational conferences.

Business operations of the fraternity are designed to compliment classroom instruction with practical business and leadership experience.

The top 10 percent list includes groups who achieved the highest operational standards according to the previously stated focus of activities. Each chapter
