FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHARLESTON, IL--Randy Harms (Wildwood-Gurnee Warren), Eastern Illinois University defensive tackle, started seven games for the Panthers before a knee injury sidelined him near the end of the season.

Harms had 38 tackles including 25 solos, three quarterback sacks, two tackles for loss, a forced fumble, fumble recovery and pass interception.

"Randy did a great job for a 210 lb. defensive lineman . . . he often was matched against someone 30-40 lbs. heavier and a couple years older," said assistant head coach Chuck Dickerson.

"Give him another winter in our conditioning and weight program, . . . that will be a real asset to improving his strength and quickness."

The Panthers finished 6-5, their fourth straight winning season. During the past four years EIU is 36-14, the best won-lost mark among Illinois state schools.
